RUSSIAN EMPEROR TRANSFERS GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS TO AN UNIMPORTANT POST IN SOUTH

IN COMMAND OF ARMIES IN THE CAUCASUS

Czar Assumes Leadership of Russ Military and Naval Forces.

Most Important Change Made By Any of Belligerent Nations.

Petrograd, Sept. 8, via London.—Grand Duke Nicholas has been transferred to the Caucasus by Emperor Nicholas.

The emperor took this action on assuming command of the military and naval forces of Russia. In transferring the grand duke, he appointed him viceroy of the Caucasus and commander-in-chief of the army in the southern front.

Supplants Grand Duke.

London, Sept. 8.—An army order issued by Grand Duke Nicholas, who has been commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, conveys the inference that Emperor Nicholas, in assuming supreme command of his armed forces, has supplanted the grand duke.

The order is addressed to "the valient army and fleet." The announcement, as forwarded from Petrograd to Reuter's Telegram company, says that the emperor has placed himself at the head of the military and naval forces. The grand duke thanks them for their heroism in the past. He predicts that, with the emperor leading them, they will perform fresh exploits.

"Today I have taken supreme command of all my forces of the sea and of the land armies operating in the theater of war.

"With firm faith in the clemency of God and with unshaken assurance of final victory, we shall fulfill our sacred duty to defend our country to the last. We shall not dishonor the Russian land."

The action of Emperor Nicholas in transferring his cousin, the Grand Duke Nicholas, to the Caucasus, is perhaps the most important change of this nature which has been made by any of the belligerent nations. The only com-

POSTOFFICE CLERKS DEMAND REFORMS

To Ask Reorganization of Night Work and Readjustment of Overtime.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—The resolutions committee of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks in convention here had before it today for consideration resolutions which are to be reported back to the convention with recommendations for action. These resolutions demand:

Satisfactory adjustment of the overtime system; reorganization of the night work system with a shortening of the hours for night workers; uniform regulations for subservice; the cessation of discrimination in promotions; reform to prevent the unjust and unfair dismissal of employes, including granting the right to employes to a hearing before dismissal.

Life of Civil Service Threatened.

The life of civil service in the postoffice department is threatened as a result of the mistreatment of aged employes, according to Secretary-Treasurer Thomas F. Flaherty who presented his annual report yesterday.

"With the aged men of the service facing demotion and dismissal, the situation cries out for immediate action if the civil service as an institution is to continue to exist," Flaherty said.

"It is a self-evident truth that permanency of position or life tenure necessarily means that men will become incapacitated to perform the arduous duties required of postal employes generally.

"The division among the civil service employes as to what form of retirement is most desirable furnished an excuse for congress to evade this issue."

AUSTRIANS OPPOSED BY SERBIAN FORCES

Nish, Serbia, Monday, Sept. 6, via Paris, Sept. 8.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The Serbian war office gave out the following announcement today:

WORCESTER POLICE HAVE MURDER SUSPECT

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 8.—Worcester police are detaining a suspect in the murder of Judge Willis Knowles of Providence, pending the arrival of officers from Providence to make positive identification. The man under arrest first gave the name of Henry Hudson, aged 23, and he said he lived in Worcester, but later said his name is Henry Edwards. He tallies closely with a description of a man wanted by the Providence police.

PRESIDENT MAKES AN UNUSUAL CALL ON THE SECRETARY OF STATE

Visits State Department Without Formality of Announcement.

Understood to Have Discussed Dumba's Statement With Lansing.

Secret Service Men Chase Executive to the Department Building.

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson went to the state department today and conferred with Secretary Lansing. It was generally understood they discussed the case of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador.

The president's action was so unusual that White House and state department attaches were slow to realize what had happened. So far as officials could recall the only precedent for a president going to call on a secretary of state was recorded when President McKinley went to call on Secretary Day.

The president's call was not arranged in advance. He left his study and passed out of the executive offices through a little-used entrance, crossed the avenue which separates the White House grounds from the state, war and navy building, and walked up the main stairway unattended while dozens of surprised tourists and employes stopped to look. The president continued on up the inner stairways and into one of the long corridors leading to Secreary Lansing's private office where he

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Prospects of an agreement between 1,600 striking employes of the United Traction company here and in Troy and the officials of the road were remote today. No arrangements for a conference between representatives of the men and officials had been made, though state mediators were still trying to arrange a meeting.

PLACE GOLD IN SUB-TREASURY

Third and Largest Shipment From England in Safe Quarters.

Not as Large as Reported Owing to Confusion in Terms.

New York, Sept. 8.—The third and largest consignment of gold shipped from England to the United States during the last few weeks was placed in the sub-treasury here today.

Great Britain's third shipment of gold to the United States within five weeks placed today in the sub-treasury here amounted to $19,465,000 and not approximately $66,000,000 as reported yesterday from Portland, Me., according to an official announcement made today by J. P. Morgan & Co., the consignees, the fiscal agents of the British government.

No statement was made officially as to the value of the American securities accompanying the gold, but these were reported to be worth $30,000,000, making the total value of the shipment about $50,000,000,000.

To Smelt British Coin.

The British coin, it was said, would be sent to the government assay office to be assayed and smelted down into bullion.

The gold in the shipment consisted of American gold coin to the value of $7,850,000 and 2,390,000 English sovereigns, amounting to approximately $11,615,000. A plausible explanation for the error in announcing the value of the shipment later was found in the latter items, the total dollar value apparently being given as pounds. Thus 11,615,000 pounds would have a dollar value of about $58,000,000, accounting for the difference.

This makes the value of the three shipments sent by Great Britain recently to Halifax on warships and thence transferred by rail to New York approximately the same, $50,000,000 each, or a total of $150,000,000, which has arrived her for England's account since early in August. This great sum, it is believed, has all been used in paying for munitions of war and other supplies shipped to England and France from this country.

FRENCH STEAMSHIP SENT TO BOTTOM

Guatemala Torpedoed and Sunk Off Belle Isle; Crew Saved.

Paris, Sept. 8, 10:45 a. m.—The French steamship Guatemala has been torpedoed and sunk about fifty miles off Belle isle. Her crew escaped in two boats. The men were picked up by a British steamer and taken into Nazaire.

The Guatemala, 5,913 tons gross and 387 feet long, was owned by the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, which also owned the Bordeaux, the sinking of which by a submarine was announced yesterday. The latest report of the Guatemala's movements was her arrival at St. Nazaire July 23 from Buenos Aires.

GERMAN TORPEDO DID NOT SINK HESPERIAN IS BERLIN REPORT

CONVICTION UNANIMOUS

Believed Ship Either Struck Mine or Explosion Was From Within.

One American in Crew Lost Life When Ship Went Down.

No Doubt But What Liner Was Armed With Big Gun.

Berlin, Sept. 8, via London.—Persons in a position to speak with authority, assert positively the conviction that the steamship Hesperian was not torpedoed by a German submarine; at least, under the conditions thus far described.

The assumption that the Hesperian was sunk by a German submarine is met with ever-increasing doubt in official circles. Although authorized quoted comment is withheld for the time the positiveness of the opinions expressed informally by individuals who may be assumed to have authoritative information, is noteworthy. In these quarters it is believed that the Hesperian must have struck a mine or possibly was destroyed by some agency from within; that it may be regarded as certain she was not torpedoed by a

THIRTY-NINE AUTOS BUT ONLY FOUR WATCHES IN ILLINOIS TOWN.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 8.—Pawnectown passes the time in its automobiles, but cares not how time flies. This is made plain when the report of the assessor was made to the county clerk yesterday. The clerk has received the township's report that there were but four watches in Pawnectown, three of which are owned by one man, and that there are thirty-nine automobiles. The population of the township is 1,500.

TEN PERSONS KILLED AND FORTY-EIGHT ARE INJURED IN AIR RAID

German Aviators Drop Bombs on the East Coast of England.

Three More Airships Fly Over Holland Toward England.

London, Sept. 8.—Ten persons were killed and forty-eight wounded in the German air raid on the east coast of England last night.

The official statement regarding the raid says:

"Hostile air craft revisited the eastern counties Tuesday night and dropped bombs. It is known there have been some fires and some casualties, but particulars are not yet available."

Airships Pass Over Holland.

Amsterdam, Sept. 8, via London, 1:47 p. m.—Three airships coming from the east, passed over Dordrech, in South Holland, at 6:30 o'clock this morning. They were traveling in the direction of the English coast.

Another airship passed over a suburb of Amsterdam. It came from the southwest and disappeared in an easterly direction.

Health Experts Talk.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Sectional meetings addressed by health experts largely comprised today's activities of the forty-third annual meeting of the American public health association.

Conductor Electrocuted.

Janesville, Wis., Sept. 8.—Samuel Belt, Beloit, conductor on a Rockford interurban trolley car, was electrocuted today while telephoning. A high tension wire broke and fell on the telephone wire and a 2,000 volt electric current passed through his body.

FAMOUS PIANIST IS SAFE; WILL REMAIN IN SECLUSION

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY.

New York, Sept. 8.—Leopold Godowsky, the pianist who has been missing for several days, is alive and well, according to a letter postmarked Hackensack, N. J., but not dated, received from him by his wife last night. In it Godowsky says he intends remaining in seclusion until he finishes some work.

IMPASSABLE RIVERS CHECK THE GERMANS

Streams Swollen By Autumn Floods Form Serious Barrier.

Offensive Movement By Allies in the West Is Looked for.

London, Sept. 8.—Weather conditions, which in past wars have proved an efficient ally of the Russians, are again intervening on their side. A dispatch published in a Copenhagen newspaper says the rivers have been swollen by autumn floods to such an extent that they promise to form an impassable barrier to a further advance of the invaders. This dispatch represents the immediate objective of the Austro-German campaign to be the seizure of the entire railroad system from Riga to Lemberg, thus insuring control of lines of communication for a further penetration of Russia.

Czar in Command.

Emperor Nicholas is now in supreme command of the Russian military and naval forces in the fighting zones, and Grand Duke Nicholas who, as commander-in-chief of the Russian army, was one of the most conspicuous figures of the European war, has been transferred to the Caucasus. London is speculating as to what section of the long eastern front will be selected by the emperor for his headquarters.

At the present moment Courland appears to be the critical sector of the line. Gen. Ruzsky is in command there and Field Marshal von Hindenburg apparently is not making any great progress against him.

Central Sector Held By Duke.

The central sector has been held by Grand Duke Nicholas and efforts of the Germans to drive a wedge through the swamps are proceeding very slowly. The Galician wing, in command of Gen. Ivanoff, is making a stubborn stand against the Austrians and Germans, who are engaged in a tremendous effort to drive the last Russian from Austrian soil.

On the other front, events point to a concerted movement by the allies.

ARMY WILL DO THE FIGHTING

Army Officers Given Full Command of Border Conditions.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 8.—The United States army today took the most important step it has yet made in the border complications of the lower Rio Grande valley when an order was issued here giving to army officers command over the actions of the civilians on the river bank in case shooting across the international boundary is resumed.

Local peace officers heretofore have been permitted to participate in, returning the fire of the Mexicans from the other side of the river. In some cases these peace officers have pursued bandits fleeing from the Texas side to the river banks and then held battle with them across the international line. Hereafter, the army will attempt to handle all situations of whatever sort which arise on the Rio Grande.

TRUST COMPANIES AND BANKERS MAY CLASH

Liable to Conflict Over a Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—After two days of preliminary work by committees and sectional meetings, the sessions of the forty-first annual convention of the American Bankers' association began today.

Following welcoming addresses by Governor Ernest Lister and Sir Rinehard McBride, premier of British Columbia, and the presidential address of William A. Law of Philadelphia, the business session of the forenoon was devoted to officers' reports, amendments to the constitution and an address by Frederick A. Delano, vice governor of the Federal reserve board of Washington, D. C.

Indications of Fight.

Indications were that there would be a fight in the convention between trust company representatives and national bank men over a proposed constitutional amendment, which requires that subjects of national or state legislation, originating in any section of the association, shall not be urged independently by another section.

The trust company delegates take the view that this amendment is designed to hamper them in their efforts to have repealed a section of the Federal reserve act which grants trust powers to national banks. Some talk has been heard that if the trust company section was denied independence of action, they would secede and form an independent organization.

"BE SURE YOU'RE RIGHT, THEN GO AHEAD."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Grand Duke Nicholas, who has been at the head of the Russian armies since the beginning of the war and directed their movements in the great campaigns on the eastern front, has been transferred by Emperor Nicholas to the Caucasus, where the comparatively unimportant operations against the Turks are in progress.

The emperor's action was taken when he assumed command of all of Russia's armed forces on land and sea, it developing today that he had placed himself at the head of Russia's naval as well as her military forces.

Count Von Vorontzoff-Dashkoff, who has been viceroy of the Caucasus, is congratulated by the emperor on his achievements in the region and is attached by imperial order to the emperor's personal staff.

German submarine activity, now increasingly in evidence off the French coast, has resulted in the torpedoing of another steamer, the Guatemala, of 5,913 tons, which went down off Belle Isle. The crew escaped in boats and were picked up.

Gun fire, presumably from a German submarine, sank the 1,600-ton British steamer Douro. Her crew was saved.

BIG GROWTH REFLECTED

Gary-New Duluth School Has 265 Pupils Enrolled Already.

Believe Capacity of New Building Will Be Taxed This Fall.

An attendance of 265 children is reported from the new Harriet Beecher Stowe school at New Duluth and Gary. This is an increase of more than 25 per cent over the attendance of the old New Duluth school, the Gary school and the store building used at New Duluth combined. The enrollment last year in these schools was 204 pupils.

The new building promises to quickly reach the normal capacity of the building which is placed at 300 children. Eight teachers under the direction of Principal John O. Anderson are in charge.

That the capacity attendance at the school will be reached within another month is the prediction made by residents of the suburbs. Every day the suburbs are increasing in population at the rate of one or two families.

Every house in the suburb is now occupied by a family according to realty men of New Duluth and Gary. The demand for additional buildings to house them is said to be strong and one realty man said that during the last week he could have rented houses at the rate of ten per day if these buildings had been available.

The prediction is made by real estate men that if there is not a sudden rush in building operations in the suburb that families will this fall be living in tents. Many workmen arriving from eastern points who will be unable to find homes in Morgan Park will have to locate at Gary or New Duluth. The homes in the Morgan Park district are being leased very rapidly to foremen, skilled mechanics and the higher grade of skilled laborers, while it is intimated that the common laborers and their families will have to seek quarters elsewhere.

W. B. Getchell, school director, said this morning that he did not expect any congestion in the new Harriet Beecher Stowe school this year. Although the district is growing fast the school facilities at present in that locality, he believes, are sufficient for the present.

LADIES OF MACCABEES ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Minnesota hive No. 4, Ladies of the Maccabees, held its annual election last evening at Gilley's hall, 322 North Central avenue. A class of new candidates was also initiated following which a social session took place.

The new officers are: Mrs. Anna Filiatrault, lady commander; Mrs. Minnie La Casse, past lady commander; Mrs. Henrietta Kringel, lady lieutenant commander; Mrs. Christena McLellan, record keeper; Mrs. Emeroy Melhorn, chaplain; Mrs. Ellen Salter, lady at arms; Mrs. Carrie Scott, sergeant; Mrs. Elizabeth Haney, sentinel; Mrs. Lyda Gilley, lady picket; Mrs. Anna O'Brien, pianist; Mrs. Jennie Harris, first color bearer; Mrs. Sarah Showers, second color bearer. The office of finance auditor was left vacant until the next meeting.

Mrs. Emeroy Melhorn, who has been a member of the society for many years and occupied several of the offices was presented by the society with a huge bouquet of flowers and a pair of gloves in honor of her seventieth birthday. Mrs. Melhorn was a charter member of West Duluth hive No. 73.

The installation of the new officers will take place on Sept. 21. Mrs. Minnie La Casse will be the installing officer.

Guilty of Assault.

Louis Montich, 30, was found guilty of assault on his wife at a trial held at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon before Judge Lanners of the West Duluth municipal court. The assault took place Monday night. Montich was fined $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. He was unable to pay the fine.

CLOQUET WEDDING.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Hazel Collins and Wendell P. Davis of this city were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins today by Rev. James Ward, pastor of the Episcopal church. The couple were unattended and only a few intimate friends and relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Davis left this afternoon for the Twin Cities, where they will make a short visit before returning to Cloquet to make their home here on Market street.

Both Mr. Davis and Miss Collins are popular in Cloquet. Mr. Davis is at present employed by the Cloquet Lumber company in their office. Miss Collins was saleslady at the Companies store until a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lynds of Cloquet and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lynds of Duluth returned to this city Monday from St. Paul, where they attended the speedway races.

C. D. Ohman and family returned from the state speedway fair and races Tuesday. They made the trip by automobile.

COURT SAYS ANDERSON WAS "MILDLY DISORDERLY;" FINES HIM

Three attorneys, with a dozen witnesses, worked for nearly three hours before Municipal Judge W. L. Windom yesterday afternoon, in an attempt to decide whether or not Charles Anderson, automobile mechanic, was "drunk and disorderly" Friday evening.

Anderson, with a party of friends, visited the St. Louis hotel cafe during the evening, and was ejected from the restaurant by the head waiter. While being led to the street by Special Officer Hart, words brought on blows, and Anderson came out second best.

Scarcely recognizable, he was brought into court Saturday with eyes blackened and his face swollen and bruised. The case was continued after he entered a plea of not guilty, in order to investigate the conduct of the special officer, who, witnesses claimed, was unnecessarily rough with his prisoner.

Contradictory testimony of the various witnesses caused several sharp arguments between Attorney M. E. Louisell and City Prosecutor Walter Gonska, and charges of "framing" were exchanged.

"Anderson certainly had been drinking," finally ruled Judge Windom, "and he seems to have been technically disorderly. It is a 'mild' case, however, in my opinion. I cannot pass upon the officer's conduct in trying a man upon this charge."

Anderson was fined $1 and costs.

MANY ATTENDING WARROAD HEARING

Canadians Have Raised Lake of Woods Nearly Five Feet.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The level of the Lake of the Woods has been raised about four and a half feet above its natural stage by the dams at Kenora, Ont., according to figures submitted to the international joint commission here by Engineer Myers, who has made the survey for the commission. The owners of agricultural lands along the lake which have been partially submerged are asking for the restoration of the natural level. They are represented at the hearing by Congressman Halver Steenerson of Crookston, while the water power interests at Kenora, who stand for the highest possible level, are represented by Mr. Rockwood of Minneapolis.

Evidence has been given that a very large amount of damage has already been caused by the high water. Several hundred people are in attendance at the hearing.

JITNEY ORDINANCE ACTION DELAYED

Haste Believed Inadvisable; Will Be Acted on Monday.

Final action on the new jitney ordinance will not be taken until the regular council meeting next Monday.

This was decided by members of the commission following a short conference this morning, when a special meeting was planned for the purpose of giving third reading to the measure and presenting it for final passage.

"We don't want to be too hasty," said Mayor Prince in explaining the postponement, "and as a result be criticised for attempting to rush legislation. It means a delay of but seven or eight days by waiting for the regular meeting."

At the council meeting yesterday Mayor Prince announced that a special meeting would be held at 10 o'clock this morning to give the jitney ordinance its third reading. Immediate action was necessary, he explained, for the protection of the public.

RURAL PUPILS WIN HONORS FOR WORK

St. Louis county rural school children won $157 and captured 139 prizes at the county fair held last week at Hibbing, according to H. B. Hursh, assistant county school superintendent, who returned yesterday from the range town where he had charge of the rural school exhibit at the fair.

"The children excelled in map drawing," he said, "and also did especially good work in illustrative expression, free hand drawing and free hand paper cutting. The various exhibits will be returned to the children if they apply to the office of the school superintendent."

FAIRBAIRN VISITS HIS OLD DISTRICT

C. T. Fairbairn of Birmingham, Ala., formerly general manager for the Republic Iron & Steel company in this district and for a number of years a well known resident of Duluth, came here last evening on a business visit. In company with Frank Webb, present general manager of this district for the same company, Mr. Fairbairn left last night for the Mesaba range where he and Mr. Webb are looking over mining interests today.

Mr. Fairbairn is now general manager for the Republic Iron & Steel in their southern United States district and has his headquarters at Birmingham.

INEXCUSABLE.

LAUGHS FOR EXAMINER

Funny "Breaks" Made By Candidates for Chauffeurs' Licenses.

How Engine Gets Gas—"What Do You Mean, Miss?"

Auto drivers who need guardians are fast being weeded out in Duluth, and the man who forgets to toot his horn, first cousin to the man who rocks a boat, soon will be a thing of the past.

That is the conclusion reached by W. H. Healey, local automobile man and member of the state chauffeurs' examining board, who today is conducting the last of five monthly exams for prospective drivers. Nearly 400 have qualified since May, he estimates.

In the many thousand answers to questions which Mr. Healey has propounded, he has acquired material for an automobile joke-book which would run into several editions, he believes.

"The man who called the driver the most important nut on a machine is not alone in his class," said Mr. Healey. "Here are some just as bad, or rather, just as good.

"This man," exhibiting a pink sheet of paper, "explains how the engine gets gas by saying: 'You buy it at some garage and pour it into the tank.'

"What Do You Mean, Miss?"

"I asked this man to give six reasons why an engine will miss and he writes: 'What do you mean, miss?'

"Another catch question that brought some funny answers was this one: 'If you knew your brakes would not work how would you go to the boulevard and back again, or what would you do?'

"One fellow wrote: 'I would drive out to the East End and come up gradually.'

"For your information," added Mr. Healey, "I'll tell you that the answer should be: 'I wouldn't go along the boulevard. I'd stop and fix the brakes.'"

After today prospective chauffeurs will not have a chance to qualify for a license, and will have to run chances of being arrested between now and next spring, according to Mr. Healey.

"In special cases they can arrange to take it some night this week," he said, "but after that I am going to the Twin Cities. Police will start to check up on them before very long."

Sample Questions.

"State the parts the power goes through from the engine to the rear wheels.

"Explain how the engine gets gas.

"What is the state law in regard to accidents?

"Give six reasons why the engine will miss.

"What nut or class of nuts on a car need the most attention?

"How long could you leave a car on the street unattended, with the motor running?

"Explain the use of the carburetor.

"Name four types of tires."

CITY OF SALVADOR WRECKED BY QUAKE

La Libertad, Salvador, Sept. 8.—A strong earthquake has occurred in San Salvador and Guatemala. Jutiapa, capital of the department of the same name in Guatemala, has been ruined.

In the city of San Salvador, no victims have been reported. In Santa Ana there were a few casualties. The churches in Santa Ana, Sonzonate and other villages of the republic, are in ruins.

While the above illustration is not exactly like the suite in every respect, it will give you a faint suggestion of the wonderful beauty of this suite. Only an actual inspection of it can convey to you its true value. It is only by pulling out the drawers and noting the general construction that you get a true understanding of the lasting way in which this suite is built and the wonderful bargain it is at this price.

NO ACTION BY CITY COUNCIL

Resolutions Asking Money for Operating Work Farm Read.

Certified copies of resolutions adopted by the city and county work farm board, requesting the commissioners to appropriate $26,500 as the city's share for the maintenance and support of the farm during 1916, were read at the regular council meeting yesterday afternoon.

No action was taken by the council and it is probable that the proposed appropriations will be considered when the 1916 budget is finally made out during the first week in October. In view of the fact that the council recently adopted a resolution backing out of its partnership with the county, the request for $26,500 will probably be denied. An appropriation will be made, however, covering the estimated cost of boarding the city prisoners at a per diem rate.

The resolution severing the city's partnership was introduced by Commissioner Voss, who contends that the cost to the city is too much in comparison with the benefits and that a per diem rate should be charged for prisoners brought from Duluth, as is done in similar cases with range cities. He expects to save about $15,000 for the city.

The certified resolutions are signed by Fred Ward, secretary of the board and superintendent at the work farm. In them the board states that a total of $46,000 will be necessary for 1916 and that the city still owes a balance of $3,500 out of an appropriation of $7,000 promised in 1913.

WILL BROADEN USEFULNESS

First M. E. Church Will Employ an Associate Pastor.

The First M. E. church will enlarge its field of usefulness as a big central departmental church.

That this expansion of the service may be properly and efficiently carried on, the church has called Rev. Robert E. Miller to act as associate pastor. The present pastor, Dr. John W. Hoffman will remain.

Rev. Mr. Miller is said to be a man of marked ability and unusually good preparation for work of this nature. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins university, the Boston School of Theology, and also has had three years military training. He is an all-round athlete.

The church will greatly extend its work in all departments and try to make itself of service in many lines of social and community work.

Dr. Hoffman has been in Duluth nearly two years, and has become one of the most popular ministers in the city. With a capable associate he is expected to make the First church one of the leading institutions in the Northwest. The removal of the Pilgrim church and St. Paul's to the East end, will leave the downtown field largely to the First M. E., the First Presbyterian and the Sacred Heart cathedral, and for such a field it is felt that a departmental church, rather than merely a place of worship, is needed.

WEST END

WILL SHORTEN STORE HOURS

Grocers Will Close Hour Earlier on Saturday After Nov. 1.

Movement for Earlier Closing Will Probably Be Extended.

West end grocers have begun an early-closing movement, and hope that other grocers will join with them as a result of their taking the initiative in the matter. Beginning Nov. 1, the grocers of that end of the city will close their stores on Saturday nights one hour earlier than they have been doing, and if the movement meets with approval, a further cut, perhaps affecting other nights of the week, will take place about Jan. 1.

After Nov. 1, grocery stores will close on Saturday at 9 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock as at present and on other nights at 6:30 o'clock. These will be the actual closing hours, and not merely nominal closing hours as at present.

The movement was started under the auspices of the Duluth Retail Grocers' association, and the West end members came to their decision at the regular monthly meeting held last evening at the store of F. W. Erickson, 2031 West Third street. It was determined that on the date mentioned, all stores west of the Point of Rocks will begin the early closing movement. Another meeting will be held about Oct. 1.

Public Favors It.

"The determination was reached," said George W. Peterson, secretary of the grocers' association today, "because of the apparent general willingness on the part of the public to have the hours shortened, together with the request of the clerks, and because of the further fact that the telephone and store service has greatly reduced the Saturday evening business. It is believed that the movement will be stamped with approval, and in such case other superfluous long hours will be dispensed with, probably about Jan. 1.

"Virtually all shopping can be done in a shorter space of time than has been given it, especially on Saturday night. When people become accustomed to the shorter hours—which will not take long—they will do their buying accordingly, and there will be just as good service to the buyers and better hours for the clerks and proprietors than in the past.

"There is no reason why a grocer or his clerk should work such long hours as at present."

BUSINESS MEN PLAN FALL FESTIVAL

Business men of the West end made plans for a fall festival, to be held this month or in October, at the noon luncheon at the Rex hotal today. The meeting was attended by about forty of the business and professional men.

A committee will be appointed to handle the proposed festival. It is probable that arrangements will be made with the West End Commercial club to hold the festival on the same evening that the club proposes to distribute its prizes to members of the West End Beautifying club. A conference to that end will be held between the business men's committee and the Commercial club's committee.

TROLLEY MEN WILL PLAY THIRD GAME

Motormen and Conductors to Line Up Against Office Men.

The third of a series of baseball games between a team representing the motormen and conductors of the Duluth Street Railway company and a team from the office force will probably be played next Saturday at the Thirty-second avenue grounds. The teams have each one victory to their credit, and rivalry for first honors is keen.

Early in the summer the office men took the first game. Until last Saturday no return game was played between these teams owing to the carmen's team being busy in the amateur league. The second game was played Saturday when the motormen and conductors rolled up a score of eleven while the office men were gathering in three.

The line-up for the teams will probably be as follows:

Carmen.		Office men.
Holland	cf	Anderson
Bullock	lf	Hokanson
Strong	ss	Johnson
Conklin	c	Morrison
Barboni	rf	Brown
McQuillan	3d	Baster
Patchin	2d	Jacob
Redmond	1b	Galbraith
Coning	p	Tims

It is probable that if an indoor baseball league is organized in Duluth that the men of the street car company would want to be represented in the league. Other teams such as basket ball, volley ball and other sports are being encouraged by the men and strong teams will be organized to represent the carmen.

WILL REORGANIZE BASEBALL TEAM

Trinity Lodge Fans and Players Will Meet Thursday Night.

At a meeting of the baseball fans of Trinity lodge No. 282, A. F. & A. M., and members of the team that represented the lodge last winter, a reorganization of the team will take place tomorrow night at the Duluth State bank. A captain and manager for the team will be elected.

This team last winter won the championship of the Masonic Indoor Baseball league. Practice is to begin early this fall, and many young men of the West end lodge will attempt to reach the lineup.

Activities in Trinity lodge will begin on Sept. 20, when a class of new members will be given the first degree at the Woodman hall. Plans for a number of social events to take place during the fall and winter will also be made.

OSTENSON FUNERAL THURSDAY.

Services for West End Woman Will Be at Church and Home.

The funeral service for Mrs. Christina Ostenson, aged 60, 421 Twenty-seventh avenue west, who died yesterday morning at St. Luke's hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence and 2 o'clock from the Swedish Mission church Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Rev. J. J. Daniels will officiate. Interment will be in Park Hill cemetery. Mrs. Ostenson had been a resident of the West end for twenty-two years. She leaves three daughters—Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Harry N. Baker and Miss Signe Ostenson, and one sister, Mrs. Anton Strand, all residents of the city.

SONS OF SWEDEN INITIATE TEN

A class of ten members was initiated at the meeting of Sons of Sweden lodge No. 170. Order of Vasa at the Woodman hall, last night. Following the ceremony, plans were made for a musical entertainment to be given for members and their friends on Oct. 5. The committee to plan the entertainment consists of Edwin Horngren, George Johnson, Hugo Nelson, Carl Carlson and John Gustafson.

Zion Notes.

The congregation of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will hold its monthly meeting this evening in the church.

Midweek services will be conducted tomorrow evening by Rev. J. H. Nervig.

The young people's society will entertain Friday evening at a musical and literary entertainment.

The newly organized confirmation class will meet with the pastor Saturday morning.

St. Paul's Church Notes.

The Luther Guild of St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the parlors of the church tomorrow evening.

Choir rehearsal will be held Friday evening.

Rev. K. B. Vaaler, pastor of the church, will organize a confirmation class on Saturday. The young people who intend entering the class are requested to meet at the church at 10 a. m.

CRAIG IS BOOMED FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Charles P. Craig, well known and prominent Duluth real estate man, and president of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, is being boomed for governor of Minnesota by Editor Granville S. Pease of the Anoka Union.

Mr. Pease, who is in charge of the legislative and state editorial headquarters at the state fair, and who is the father of the governorship boom for Mr. Craig says in his paper:

"Saying nothing whatever against any of the candidates now in the field, it seems to me that the time has come when we need a new candidate for the governorship. All the men mentioned thus far have been in public office for years and each has his enemies as well as his friends.

"There never will be a better time than this to make the change and inject some new blood. With a half dozen or more veteran politicians and officeholders fighting over the governorship, a new candidate will be more than welcome to the voters, and I know of no man who would make a better governor than Mr. Craig. I have said nothing to him about this, but I am going to start a boom for him in the Union and keep it going."

QUARTER MILLION SPENT IN AUGUST

City Treasurer Issues Statement of Business During Last Month.

During the month of August the city of Duluth spent a total of $264,727.36 in conducting its municipal business, according to the monthly report of City Treasurer McLean, submitted yesterday to Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division.

There was a balance on Aug. 1 of $356,988.95 and during the month the receipts totaled $472,513.94, bringing the total to $829,502.89. The total on hand at the opening of business on Sept. 1 was $564,775.53. This amount is divided in the various local banks as follows:

First National bank	$156,796.69
American Exchange National bank	156,175.61
City National bank	111,058.72
Northern National bank	46,209.47
St. Louis County State bank	12,000.00
Western State bank	8,000.00
Duluth State bank	5,000.00
Central State bank	5,000.00
Citizens' State bank	8,000.00
Certificates of indebtedness	50,000.00
Cash and checks in safe	6,535.04
Total	$564,775.53

TWO MORE BODIES RECOVERED FROM F-4

Honolulu, Sept. 8.—Two additional bodies were found yesterday in the engine room compartment of the hulk of the wrecked United States submarine F-4, in drydock here. The condition of the bodies was such that identification was impossible.

Officials in charge of the investigation as to the cause of the disaster, said they hoped to have the hull cleared of debris by Thursday. It has not been determined what disposition shall be made of the bodies recovered.

Train Strikes Auto; Four Dead.

Montague, Cal., Sept. 8.—A. Y. Anderson, deputy collector of customs at Astoria, Or., his bride of a few weeks, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, and a cousin, Aaron Anderson, were killed late yesterday when their automobile was struck by a train. The party was en route to the exposition at San Francisco.

TIRED LITTLE CHIPPEWA BRAVE FINDS "MOTHER" IN WOMAN'S WARD OF JAIL

"Never, Never Drink," Jennie Schwantz Tells Runaway Indian Lad Who Didn't Want to Go to School, and Then Begins Term for Drunkenness.

A tired little Chippewa brave, who had been on the big trail for three days, was captured by a paleface yesterday and taken to headquarters in the arms of a brawny policeman.

He was Raymond De Marr, 13, who, with Louis Cole, 15, ran away from the Odanah reservation near Ashland, Wis., Sunday and started out on a hunting expedition, rather than face a school teacher on Monday morning.

When the school bell rang Monday morning, Raymond and Louis were miles away, trudging along a dusty road toward Duluth. The chief sent out descriptions of the two disgruntled warriors, but they were not found until Tuesday.

Louis was not with Raymond when the younger boy was found in Duluth, and police think he went on to his home at Cloquet.

"Walked all way," said Raymond, with true redskin brevity, when asked how he reached Duluth.

The boy was placed in the woman's department at headquarters last night, as the boys' department was in use.

"Now, Jennie, he's just a little boy, so don't swear in front of him or anything."

True to her word, she cared for the foot-sore little brave as carefully as if he had been her own.

An hour later, when the matron returned, Raymond was sitting on Jennie's knee, and Jennie, who spends most of her time in jail for drunkenness and who was sure of a sixty-day sentence in the morning, was saying:

"Now, sonny, when you get growed up, never, never drink. If anybody gives you any firewater, you tell 'em to go to—I mean tell 'em to jump in the lake." And Raymond promised.

He went back to Superior later in care of Detective McDonald, and will be returned to school today.

Jennie went to jail for sixty days.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

SURPRISED AT CHARGES

Bishop Does Not Believe Grand Jury Report Was Well Founded.

Hospital Does Not Select the Physician, Says St. Luke's Secretary.

Charges that unfit surgeons perform major operations at will, made by the grand jury now in session, are denied by members of the governing boards of St. Luke's and St. Mary's hospitals, the two largest institutions of this kind in Duluth.

"To say that I am surprised at the charges would be putting it mildly," declared Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of the Duluth Catholic diocese and member of St. Mary's board.

"I do not think that it is possible for an unqualified physician to come in and perform a major operation, as the doctors on the hospital staff watch all the work that is done closely and would be able to detect any carelessness or inefficiency in short order.

"It is true that a hospital has nothing to do with the selection of a physician or surgeon, but I am sure that St. Mary's authorities do all they can to insure competent treatment of all cases and particularly of major operations.

"I believe the charges are without verification," he added.

A similar denial came from W. J. Johnson, secretary of the board of St. Luke's hospital. "It seems to me," he said, "that the question of a doctor's capabilities rests more with the patient than with the hospital. The hospital has nothing to do with the selection of a physician, as far as I know. Hospital authorities use all their influence to keep the standard of practicing physicians as high as possible."

WILL ASSUME MANAGEMENT

County Board Will Take Action Regarding Work Farm.

Woman's Branch for Institution May Be Established.

Steps to assume the exclusive management and ownership of the correctional farm for misdemeanants, now jointly owned and operated by St. Louis county and the city of Duluth on the Swan Lake road six miles west of the city, will probably be taken at the adjourned monthly session of the county board at the courthouse this afternoon.

On Aug. 23 last, the city council passed a resolution deciding to withdraw from the joint project. County board members are favorable to continuing the work farm as distinctly a county institution, and it is probable that such action will be taken today.

The board is also expected to take definite action with reference to the establishment of a woman's branch at the work farm. The work farm commission will be requested to approve and recommend a suitable site not contiguous to the present site for this purpose.

The Resolution.

The following resolution will be introduced by one of the commissioners at the afternoon meeting:

"Whereas, The county of St. Louis and the city of Duluth heretofore established a work or correctional farm for the confinement and care of criminal offenders, as a joint county and city institution, under the provisions of chapter 188, general laws of 1913, and are now jointly maintaining said farm; and

"Whereas, By resolution duly adopted by the city council of the city of Duluth on Aug. 23, A. D. 1915, and thereafter duly certified to this board, said city of Duluth has decided to withdraw from the joint ownership and management of said correctional farm January 1, 1916, and has decided to make no tax levy or appropriation for the maintenance of said farm after the year 1915; and

"Whereas, In the judgment of this board it will be for the best interests of St. Louis county to establish and maintain a work or correctional farm for criminal offenders as a county institution, without the co-operation of the city of Duluth, on the lands and within the premises now owned jointly by said county and said city of Duluth, on such terms and conditions as to the purchase of the interest of the city of Duluth in said property as shall hereafter be agreed upon; such lands being described as follows: All of section 1; the SE¼, S½ of NE¼, S½ of SW¼, and NE¼ of SW¼ of section 2, all in township 50 north of range 15 west, in said county.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, That the county of St. Louis does hereby decide to establish and maintain a work or correctional farm for criminal offenders on the lands above described and on such additional lands as may be purchased hereafter, as a county institution; such establishment and maintenance to begin Jan. 1, A. D. 1916.

"Be it further resolved, That the joint board of county and city work farm commissioners is hereby requested to select and recommend to this board for approval and purchase, a suitable tract of land, not contiguous to said above described lands, for the purpose of maintaining thereon a suitable branch of said correctional farm for the care of female offenders, all as provided in chapter 188, laws of 1913, as amended.

"Be it further resolved, That the chairman of this board and the other officers of said county are hereby requested to take such legal action as may be found necessary to effect the establishment and maintenance of such correctional farm for men and women, as a county institution."

UNABLE TO OPEN RURAL SCHOOLS

Inadequate Buildings and Lack of Teachers Cause Some Delays.

Although school began this week in most of the rural schools of St. Louis county, in a few of the districts either teachers had not been employed as yet or building facilities were lacking.

In District No. 45, north of Buhl, three schools will begin work on Oct. 1. N. A. Young, county school superintendent, has been asked to furnish teachers. In District No. 31, east of Zim, the school authorities have rented a building at Elisburg and are now waiting for supplies and for a teacher to be sent them by the superintendent. In District No. 47, east of Orr, the school building is not ready to be occupied yet. The superintendent has also been asked to furnish a teacher for this district.

According to Supt. Young there is no scarcity of teachers for the rural schools this fall. The average wage paid is $55 to $60.

FORTY ATTORNEYS WOULD LIKE JOB

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly forty attorneys in various parts of the state have filed an application for the vacancy in the state legal department caused by the death of A. J. Edgerton. J. H. Maybury of St. Cloud is being extensively boomed for the job.

Governor Names Delegates.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond today appointed the following delegates to the Water Power and Public Lands conference which will be held at Portland, Or., Sept. 21: E. T. Cox, St. Paul; Daniel Shaw, Thief River Falls and O. F. Olson, Brandon.

OLD AGE A CRIME

Some people are young at 60—red cheeked, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; step beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back; feel tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain.

In most cases, these are the danger signals to warn you tht the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect these natural warnings is a crime against yourself. If you have these symptoms, you can find prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. Prices are 25c, 50c and $1.00. Get them at your druggists. Do not take a substitute.

COAL ADVANCE IS EXPECTED

Chances Against Liberal Future Receipts at This Point.

Iron Ore Rush and Lack of Miners Both Handicap.

That there will soon be an advance of at least 10 cents a ton on bituminous coal is the feeling among coal men here. It is claimed that the only reason that prevents such an advance at this time is the fact that the docks here are crowded with coal now, and that receipts of late have been fairly liberal. It is claimed, however, that this condition is doomed to change before long.

The rush of iron ore to Lake Erie ports, which has seemingly started in earnest and will continue from now on until the end of the season, is bound to have an effect on the shipping of coal from below. The cars that are used to carry ore from the Lake Erie ports to the furnaces are the cars that are used to bring coal from the mines, on the return trip to Lake Erie; and it has always been the rule to give ore the preference; that is, when an ore rush is on, not much time is wasted in loading cars with coal for the return trip, empties being rushed back to the lake for more ore. As it is practically certain that iron ore will be sent down the lakes in large quantities for the rest of the season, it is not believed that coal is going to have much of a show.

Miners Are Scarce.

Another thing that is expected to militate against much coal being shipped for the rest of the season is the fact that a good deal of difficulty is being experienced in getting men to mine the coal. Thousands of the coal mine workers have been taken back to Europe to enter the armies of their respective countries, and this leaves a distinct shortage of mining help.

Consequently it is pointed out, the big stock of coal on hand at this distributing point is none too big in view of the probabilities in the matter of supply and demand during the coming fall and winter season.

The demand for soft coal is on the rapid increase at present, all of the docks being busy shipping about as fast as they can get cars, and it is expected that by the time that the cause of the present heavy demand—threshing—will have abated, the regular winter and industrial demand will have resumed normal proportions and the tax on the supply will continue.

INSPECT OVERHANGING SIGNS.

Crew of Firemen Starts Tour of Down-Town District.

At 5 o'clock this morning members of the fire department began inspecting overhanging signs.

A crew of eight firemen went out from the No. 1 firehall on the aerial truck under the command of Capt. Larson and inspected all the signs on Michigan and Superior streets, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west. They found several defective signs and will report these to Building Inspector Kelley, who will order them repaired.

Signs are to be inspected from 5 until 7 o'clock every morning from now on, according to arrangements made yesterday by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division.

BIRDS SCARCE THIS SEASON

Duluth and Range Nimrods Complain of Exceptionally Poor Shooting.

Ducks Are Plentiful at All Northern Minnesota Inland Lakes.

Most of the Duluth sportsmen who have been in the woods this week hunting grouse and chickens have returned home with empty sacks. They say there are no birds to speak of, and that shooting in the worst it has been since the big forest fires several years ago.

"Myself and my boy toured a good deal of the country near Duluth early yesterday morning in the hope of getting a crack at some chickens and grouse and had very bad luck," said Dr. Ned McNully. "We were in places where formerly could be found all kinds of game birds but this year they seem to have disappeared entirely. There were no partridge in the woods where we tramped for several hours. Of course we could not, under the law, shoot them at this time; but we did not see any.

"We talked with a number of farmers and others who are in the woods a good deal of the time and they all reported a great scarcity of birds. I do not know what the cause is unless it could be attributed to the long spell of rainy and damp weather which we had all through the early summer months, which form the breeding season for birds generally."

Shortage on Ranges.

People living in various towns on the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges also report a bird shortage. The iron ore districts always have abounded in partridge and grouse and were so thick in the country districts that they could be shot freely from automobiles.

All returning hunters report an abundance of ducks. The many lakes on the iron ranges, where there are rice beds are said to be filled with water-fowl. Many hunters, residing in Duluth and Virginia have hunting cabins on the shores of Pelican lake at Orr, Minn., and many have gone there to enjoy from ten days to two weeks shooting. R. R. Bailey, Dr. W. T. Bailey, Joseph Backus, Senator Harold Griggs, R. R. Griggs, Jay Stevens and several other Virginians will camp there this year, and have invited a number of their Duluth friends to join them. Charles Langbridge of this city has a beautiful summer home on one of the islands in Pelican lake and several Duluth nimrods will be his guests during the hunting season.

The Duluth & Iron Range passenger offices report a great influx of hunters to Vermilion and other lakes in the north country. This company has just received 800 pounds of wild rice which it will plant in Vermilion lake this week.

MONEY TURNED IN FOR TEACHERS' FUND

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trustees of the State Teachers' Insurance and Retirement fund today turned into the state treasury their first collection of moneys from teachers to be benefited. The amount is $4,371. The fund will be further supplied by a tax levy of one-twentieth of a mill. The question of how this tax shall be levied is now before Attorney General Smith for solution.

MRS. ARMOUR UNABLE TO IDENTIFY SUSPECT

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Mrs. J. Ogden Armour today failed to identify Melville Reeves, known to the police as the "Skyscraper Burglar," as one of the men who robbed her of $3,975, mostly in jewels, last Monday night.

Since his last previous trouble with the police Reeves has been working for a tire company. His resemblance to one of the masked bandits caused his temporary detention.

HAZARDS OF MINING ARE REDUCED BY "SAFETY FIRST"

Number of Fatal Accidents Shows Remarkable Decrease.

Only 2.09 Per 1,000 Killed, Compared With 7.48 in 1906.

RESULTS OF SAFETY FIRST.

1907	15,535	81	5.21
1908	13,313	54	4.05
1909	13,396	61	4.56
1910	17,613	71	3.32
1911	19,981	78	2.95
1912	15,398	51	3.31
1913	16,048	44	2.75
1915	11,436	24	2.09

Safety-first methods adopted by various mining companies operating upon the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges have brought about a marked decrease in the percentage of fatalities and serious accidents among the men employed, according to the annual report of W. H. Harvey, county inspector of mines, which was filed yesterday afternoon with County Auditor Halden.

Ten years ago the number of fatalities per 1,000 men was 7.48. During the year ending June 30, 1915, it was 2.09 per 1,000. "This decrease," says Mr. Harvey in his report, "can be largely attributed to the 'safety first,' 'first aid' and 'general welfare' movements which have been adopted and which are being actively enforced by all the mining companies throughout the county."

Companies Solicitous.

Mr. Harvey also adds: "In all cases I have found the mining companies solicitous for the best conditions of safety for their men and willing to comply with all reasonable requests for bettering conditions. And at the present time I know of no dangers in the mines other than those common to the risk of mining."

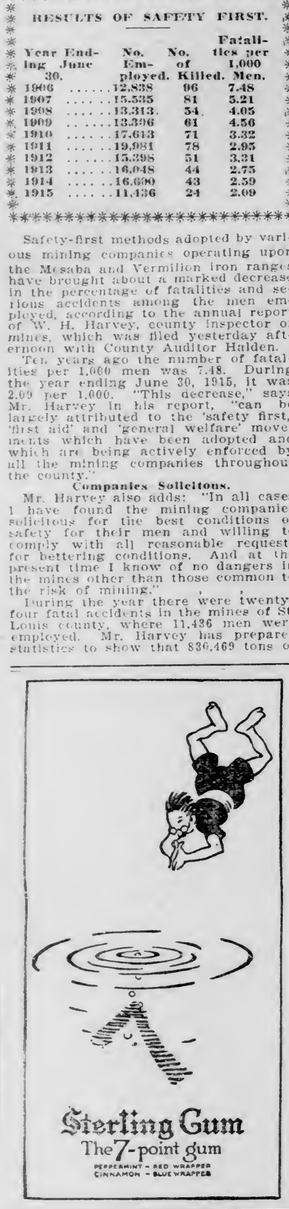

During the year there were twenty-four fatal accidents in the mines of St. Louis county, where 11,436 men were employed. Mr. Harvey has prepared statistics to show that 836,469 tons of ore was mined and shipped for each fatal accident.

Ninety-one mines were in operation during the period covered by Mr. Harvey's report. The total number of known iron mines in the county is 120, but out of this number 29 are not operating. Mr. Harvey made 270 visits and inspections during the year.

Of the 11,436 men employed, the inspector reports that 5,830 were employed in underground mining, 1,910 in open-pit mining, 1,722 in stripping operations and 1,974 on surface work. There were 13 fatal accidents in connection with the underground mining operations and 11 in connection with surface work, including open-pit mining and stripping operations. There were 28 serious non-fatal accidents. The average wage paid miners was $2.96 a day.

The total number of tons of ore shipped from the mines for the season covered by the report was 19,931,271, of which 11,445,511 tons were removed from open pits and 8,485,760 tons through underground operations. The number of cubic yards of stripping removed was 9,229,327.

Of the 24 fatalities, 9 were killed by cars and locomotives, 14 from cave-ins and falls of various sorts, and 1 from a premature explosion.

BUDGET CALLS FOR $73,784

Public Affairs Department Expenses Will Show Slight Increase.

Only Extra Sum Asked Is for Public Recreation Program.

In his 1916 budget, submitted to Commissioner Voss yesterday, Mayor Prince asks for a total of $73,784 to conduct the work of the public affairs division during the coming year.

The only additional expense over the amount levied for this year is a total of $3,990 for public recreation purposes, which will be appropriated providing the board of education makes a similar levy. Otherwise, this amount will be reduced and the recreation work handled as in former years.

The budget includes a total of $26,500 for operating the libraries of the city; $5,288 for the probation department; $2,506 for the municipal lodging house; $3,990 for public recreation and supervised play; $32,000 for parks and boulevards; and $7,500 to cover an unpaid award for property condemned during 1911 and 1912.

Commissioner said this morning that he will probably allow the budget to go through, as there is hardly any change from this year. All the budgets, including those of Commissioners Farrell and Silberstein, are now in and Mr. Voss will begin to prepare the general budget for presentation to the council during the first week in October.

POWER KNOWS NOTHING OF MANDAMUS ACTION

Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing, who is here today on legal business, was asked regarding his reported bringing of mandamus proceedings against State Auditor Preus to force that official to cancel the leases of the mining companies. Mr. Power said he knew nothing of the matter.

"There is really nothing new in the situation at Hibbing," said Mr. Power. "Everything is going along all right."

Mayor Power has been invited to speak before the labor unions of Minneapolis at a large assembly gathering which will be held in that city next Saturday night and which will be preceded by a grand street parade. He was uncertain at noon today whether he would accept the invitation.

THREE DAYS OF "OPENINGS"

Duluth's Fall Fashion Show Will Be Held This Month.

"Dress Up" Campaign Also Considered By Retail Merchants.

Everything in the line of new fall merchandise will be on display in Duluth Sept. 20, 21 and 22.

Those days have been selected for the "fall openings," which will be conducted this year by all the merchants of Duluth at the same time. This was decided on at the regular meeting of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association last evening at the St. Louis hotel.

On these three days not only will the shop windows be elaborately and artistically decorated, but the stores will have their latest fall goods on the shelves and on display within. The stocks by that time will be complete, and the last remnant of summer apparel will be relegated to the background.

The program has not yet been outlined for the fall opening, but it is expected that the merchants will make it an occasion long to be remembered by shoppers in Duluth, Superior and the ranges.

The windows will be decorated some time ahead, behind curtains. At 2 o'clock Saturday, Sept. 18, the curtains will be raised, and the artistic work of the window trimmer will be put before the public.

The stores will be open Saturday night preceding the opening, but will be closed evenings during the three days of the opening.

A novel campaign has been launched by the merchants. This is a "dress up" campaign. As the summer season wanes, the wearing apparel of the individual becomes somewhat the worse for wear and tear. As the fall opening is a popular time for buying, the public will undoubtedly swing into line and "dress up." During the last year Duluthians, in common with residents of other cities, have been "making the old clothes do," and they are expected to blossom forth this fall in the full glory of new fall and winter apparel.

The retail merchants will hold their next regular meeting Friday evening, Oct. 8, at the Spalding hotel. J. T. Kirby, field manager of the National Dry Goods association, will deliver an address on the fundamental principles of the retail business. All retail men of Duluth and Superior are invited to attend.

PLAY WILL BE SUPERVISED

Programs at City Playgrounds Will Be Resumed Saturday.

Skating and Social Center Work Planned for Winter.

Supervised play and social center work are assured for the remainder of this year.

Last Friday the board of education appropriated $700 as its share of a fund necessary to continue the play program up to Jan. 1 and at the council meeting yesterday afternoon Mayor Prince announced that there is $700 available in his funds to cover the city's share of the expense.

Regarding the $4,000 asked from the city, Mayor Prince said that the appropriation would be included in the 1916 budget, if the board of education agrees to levy a similar amount as its share of the fund.

With $1,400 now available to continue the work to the first of the year, Director Batchelor will open the three playgrounds at Chester and Harrison parks and Fifty-second avenue west on Saturday morning. The grounds will be open until cold weather sets in, when they will be flooded and public ice skating rinks made. A social center program will also be carried out in all the schools and public buildings of the city.

Director Batchelor's report on the activities of the last summer and his request for appropriations for next year follows:

"Play activities for girls were conducted for the first time in the city's history. They certainly appreciated it and to my mind it was one of the important results of supervised play.

"Special picnics and parties provided a social life of the highest order for boys and girls.

"Swimming parties were given and some were taught to swim. This should be a big feature another year.

"Marshmallow roasts were held at each ground. At these roasts 1,200 received marshmallows and 1,800 grown-ups looked on.

"On the fifth of July the first naturalization day program ever held in Duluth was given. In the morning a school relay race was conducted for a trophy given by the Evening Herald. In the afternoon about 110 newly naturalized citizens were given a reception. Splendid addresses were given by Judge Page Morris and Col. C. H. Graves.

"On Aug. 24, a big play fete was held. Six hundred children from the three playgrounds took part in this fete and more than 4,000 spectators cheered their efforts. The prizes for this festival were donated by the News Tribune.

"A fine spirit of sportsmanship obtained in all interplayground contests and the idea of clean sport, clean speech and clean habits upheld. The personal influence of the directors in several cases resulted in a higher standard of morality which ought to develop as the years go on.

"I believe that the work for these first two months has been gratifyingly successful. Much of the credit of this success is due to the cordial support of the public and the press.

"For the continuance of this work I recommend that the board of education and the city commission each appropriate $700 to finance the work from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, 1915, and that each party appropriate $4,000 to finance the work from Jan. 1, 1916, to Dec. 31, 1916.

"After this summer's experience I am of the opinion that the work can be conducted most successfully by being under the joint management of a committee from the board of education and the public welfare department of the city.

"Respectfully submitted,
"J. R. BATCHELOR,
"Director of Public Recreation."

WANT RESIDENCE DISTRICT NAMED

An ordinance designating a residence district for a distance of one-half block on each side of Vermilion road, between Oxford and Lewis streets, was introduced by Mayor Prince yesterday afternoon.

A petition requesting the establishment of the residence district was filed yesterday morning with City Clerk Borgen. It is signed by C. Francis Colman and virtually every other resident along the street.

Another ordinance was introduced by Mayor Prince, appropriating $900 from the permanent improvement fund to purchase three lots adjoining the boulevard drive at Twelfth avenue west, where motorists have digressed from the roadway to effect a short-cut drive.

The city clerk was directed to advertise for bids from local banks desirous of acting as depositaries of the city's money for a period of two years beginning on Nov. 1.

Yes; S. S. S. Is Purely Vegetable Nature's Safe Blood Treatment

Known for 50 Years as the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and the field, are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs, and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man, are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case write to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

DECISION BY PUBLIC ASKED

Property Owners Protest Against Storm Sewer Assessment.

Clapp Urges Special Election Rather Than Test Case.

That the public should decide at a special election, whether or not storm sewer assessments should be levied against the property owners or paid out of a general fund, instead of making the Exeter street owners bear the brunt of a test case, was the suggestion made at the council meeting yesterday afternoon by Harvey Clapp, former city attorney, who is representing the Exeter street property holders in their protest against the assessment just levied.

"Why make these few owners along Exeter street bear the burden and expense of a test case," said Mr. Clapp, "when the whole city is vitally interested in the proposed plan to assess for storm sewers. This matter should be presented to the charter commission and an amendment prepared for submission at a special election. Then, if the public accepts the proposition, the council can go ahead with its program without any trouble.

"Members of the council have tried to be fair and suggested to the owners that they appeal the assessments, so as to establish a test case. But why make a few owners on Exeter street, between Michigan avenue and Third street, bear the burden of such an expense?"

Mr. Clapp contended further that a majority of the owners were to receive no benefits from the storm sewer and that the assessment levied is unfair and arbitrary. The assessment is $19.88 against each 25-foot lot in the area.

William L. Bernard, former alderman and one of the owners protesting against the assessment, suggested that the council call a special election and submit the amendment suggested by Mr. Clapp.

Following a general discussion in which Mr. Clapp, City Assessor Scott and the commissioners participated, Mayor Prince moved that the resolution confirming the assessment be laid over until next week. In the meantime the commissioners will inspect the Exeter street sewer and decide whether the costs are spread fairly, in comparison to the benefits.

In view of the fact that the city is short of funds, the council recently adopted a resolution authorizing the assessor to assess property owners for all storm sewers. It is contended that the charter permits assessments for all street improvements.

PRAISES ANNUAL REPORT.

B. M. Rastall Says City Auditor's Offering Is Complete.

Praise for the 1914 annual report of City Auditor Campbell is given by B. M. Rastall, municipal expert, in a communication received yesterday by Mayor Prince.

"This is the first city report I have ever seen from which it is possible to gain a complete idea of the affairs of a city, as from the best class of corporations," wrote Mr. Rastall. "Mr. Campbell has done a tremendous amount of work on the system. I want to congratulate both him and the city."

Mr. Rastall will be remembered as having broached a local municipal plan shortly before the present commission government went into effect nearly three years ago. He is now located in New York.

FOR SALE
CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
Lake avenue and Second street. Building, organ, pews and other furnishings will be sold separately or together. Send bid to S. E. Matter, Standard Salt & Cement company, before Sept. 13. Telephone 282.

ACQUIRE SITE FOR MISSION

Canal Block on Lake Avenue Sold to M. E. Union.

An important transaction in Lake avenue south property was closed today in the purchase by the Methodist Episcopal Union of Duluth from L. S. and S. Loeb of the Canal block.

The property has a frontage of 100 feet and is regarded as exceptionally well situated for a wholesale warehouse site. The consideration was not reported, but it is understood to compare favorably with figures in recent sales made on Lake avenue.

It is the purpose of the purchasers to utilize the building for conducting a mission and it will be remodeled for that purpose.

FRESHIES-TO-BE ARE "PUT WISE"

College "Grads" Tip Prospective Entrants on What to Expect.

Dangers of college life were painted by "grads" for the benefit of freshmen-to-be at the annual "college men's dinner" at the Y. M. C. A. last night. About twenty men and youths attended the affair.

Former scholastic and gridiron stars told of their varied sensations when buying their campus tickets and treating "sophs," during their first year as college men.

In turn, the youths who will leave in a few days to enter college, told of what they expected to do—and find—during their freshman year.

Work was opened formally in the boys' department of the "Y" yesterday instead of on Oct. 1, as had been planned, and the increased attendance in all departments as a result of the opening of school was noticeable, according to department heads.

WHEAT RUSH IS NOW ON

Railroads Expect Record Traffic Because of Bumper Crop.

New Cars and Other Equipment Ready on All Lines.

With the movement of spring wheat now on in earnest, the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo railroads are rushed with traffic.

Additional train crews have been put on, and from reports coming to hand from over the Northwest, officials of the roads operating from the Head of the Lakes are of the opinion that they will be busy hauling grain from now on through the winter months.

An official of the Northern Pacific intimated today that its traffic department is counting upon handling a considerably larger grain tonnage from over its territory than during the record season of 1912. To take care of the initial rush, thousands of cars were spotted at points in the districts covered, and with co-operation on the part of the elevators in unloading cars at the terminals, it is hoped that congestion will be averted.

"It looks as if we are all going to be swamped," said a freight official of the Great Northern. "We are likely to have the busiest fall in our history, but with hundreds of new cars in commission, and plenty of motive power, our people are prepared to take care of a big traffic. In view of the heavy business in sight it may be asserted that the railroads are going to be strict this fall in the way of allowing cars to leave their tracks. Every good order car is going to be required and lines that own rolling stock will not allow others that are not so well prepared to use it in their local traffic as has been the case in other seasons."

S. J. Bigelow, local commercial agent of the New York Central lines, holds equally sanguine views. Westbound traffic of his system has been showing large increases over last year during the last two months, he said. That is taken to indicate that merchants are buying more freely in expectations of a heavy fall trade and they are having their goods rushed through.

COUNCIL TO HURRY JITNEY ORDINANCE

Special Meeting Called—Fifteen Now Have Licenses to Operate.

Three more jitney drivers were granted licenses to operate on Duluth streets, at the council meeting yesterday afternoon.

Although there is no jitney ordinance now in effect, fifteen jitneurs are operating under licenses granted by the city commission within the last three weeks. Two other drivers, who applications were read to the council yesterday, will have to wait several days in order to give the city attorney time to examine their insurance policies. They are: Alex Neman and Anton Tylewski.

J. O. Rennings, who operated the first jitney in Duluth early last spring, was granted a license yesterday. George Vuckovitch and Arthur Anderson are the other two given permission to operate on Duluth streets.

After the new jitney ordinance and the two repealing the old measure and its amendment, declared inoperative by Judge Cant, had been given their second reading yesterday, Mayor Prince announced that a special meeting of the council would be held today to hurry along jitney bus legislation. By passing the new measure today, it will go into effect one week earlier, he said, and conditions about the city warrant an immediate move. Unless there are no further developments, the new ordinance will go into effect on Saturday morning, Oct. 9.

"These drivers are careless and defiant," declared Mayor Prince in announcing the special meeting, "and it is up to the council to protect the public."

SHUMAN SAILS FOR SOUTH.

B. A. Shuman, formerly of Duluth, now secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Buenos Aires, S. A., has just written to friends here that he was to sail on the steamship Vasari for South America on Sept. 4. He is accompanied by his wife and children.

Mr. Shuman expects to reach Bahia about Sept. 18, Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 20; Buenos Aires about Sept. 27. Mr. Shuman and family were visitors in Duluth for a time this summer. Their next visit here is scheduled for 1921.

How to Save Your Eyes

Try this Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these 'windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wideawake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one tablet and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

LET CONTRACT AFTER DELAY OF MONTH

Colorado Street Will Be Paved; Work Will Cost $9,750.

After having been held up for more than a month, the resolution awarding the contract for the paving of Colorado street to J. Johnson was adopted at the regular council meeting yesterday afternoon.

The measure had been held up by Commissioner Farrell pending action on the proposed Grand avenue pavement. Property owners are circulating a petition for the paving of the thoroughfare, and Mr. Farrell decided to hold up several minor improvements, so that his department would have sufficient funds with which to start the paving of Grand avenue. A sufficient number of names has not been obtained as yet, and the works head has decided to postpone the improvement until next spring.

As a result, Colorado street will be paved this year from Fifty-first to Fifty-fourth avenues east. Mr. Johnson's bid was $9,750.45.

The resolution awarding John H. Brigham the contract to pave Eighth and Ninth streets in Fond du Lac was laid over until next week, as it involves more than $1,000.

A plank walk was ordered in Fortieth avenue west, from Sixth to Seventh streets, and the Duluth-Edison company was ordered to install incandescent lights at Eighteenth and One-Half avenue west and Third street and Forty-fifth avenue east and Pitt street.

Manager Reed of the water and light department was authorized to appoint A. R. Dillon as messenger at a salary of $30 a month.

Licenses granted yesterday follow: Saloon—Arthur Erickson, 214 South First avenue east. Cigarettes—Nicholas Jackman, 405 West Michigan street. Pool—Frank Majchrzak and M. J. Walczynski, 2401 West Superior street; Louis Manula, 14 North Sixth avenue west. House movers—H. W. Reau, 529 Fourth avenue east.

Indian Woman Suicides.

Odanah, Wis., Sept. 8.—The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Currant, an Indian woman who died here after drinking liniment during a spree, was held yesterday. It is said she had spoken of being tired of life and the suicide theory is generally sustained. It is said she was wall-to-do.

IMPROVEMENT IN PIG IRON MARKET

Quotations Have Advanced $2.50 a Ton in Six Weeks.

Vast improvement has come about in the pig iron market situation in the East during the last few weeks, according to information received by W. H. Locker, vice president of the American Manganese & Manufacturing company, from its headquarters at Dunbar, Pa.

Quotations in pig iron have been advanced from $12.50 to $15 a ton during the last six weeks, and a higher range of figures is predicted in the near future. Operators of iron ore properties without furnace connections are sanguine that the market will be placed on a much more satisfactory basis next season, and they are hopeful that ore prices will be fixed early in the new year. It is claimed that present ore figures do not admit of any margin of profit and that consequently many properties on all the ranges have not operated at all this year. As an evidence of betterment in the ore situation, attention is drawn to the fact that stock piles at the mines have been largely obliterated through the unexpectedly liberal shipments that have been made this season, and that stocks at the lower lakes docks are being kept down by the steady demand coming from the furnaces.

In a letter just received by Mr. Locker today, it was announced that the American Manganese & Manufacturing company proposes to place a second furnace in operation on Oct. 1. The furnace now in blast has been going steadily for nearly a year with the demand for its output on a broader scale since the early summer.

Though the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine on the Cuyuna range operated by that company only began to produce this season on Aug. 1, it is expected that its output up to the close of navigation will reach 50,000 tons. The output at present is on a basis of 300 tons daily, but with the installing of an electric compression plant this week, it is planned to raise production to between 500 and 600 tons a day for the balance of the season. The number of men employed will be correspondingly increased.

ANTI-CIGARETTE WAR STARTED IN BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 8. — (Special to The Herald.)—A crusade has been started against the sale of cigarettes to school children and Chief of Police Frank Ripple on Tuesday issued a statement that violators would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. He also asks the aid of the parents in enforcing the law. Pool hall proprietors are warned not to let any boys under the age of 18 years play in their halls and minors are excluded from the pool halls. A person found guilty of breaking the pool room laws or selling cigarets to minors is subject to a fine of not less than $25 and the boys found in such places are subject to a fine of $10 or not more than five days in jail.

Why Not Exchange Meals With Your Neighbors?

In the September Woman's Home Companion appears a department called "The Exchange" in which various readers report practical housekeeping ideas which they have developed out of their experience. A Pennsylvania woman writes:

"We live in the country where there is plenty of work and little social life. I enjoy keeping house and cooking, but I long occasionally to sit down to a meal that someone else has prepared. We have two neighbors living near by. Why not exchange meals? I talked to my neighbors; they were ready to try the plan, which works admirably. One family entertains the other two families each week at supper. We had some difficulty in getting our men to fall in with the plan; but they decided they would rather go along than eat a cold lunch at home, and now enjoy the plan."

Rev. Frank Will Speak at Women's Meeting

Fall Changes in Women's Hair.

In the September Woman's Home Companion, which by the way is called a "Fashion Forecast Number," the fashion editor comments in part as follows about the changes in coiffure this fall:

"There is to be a decided change in the coiffure this autumn. Simplicity has been the mode these past two or three seasons. Now there is a return to the pompadour and puffs and curls. This should be welcome news to many women, as this new style is far more becoming and softening to the features than the severely plain coiffure recently favored. The new pompadour is interesting as it is so different from the pompadour so popular in the past. It is called the slanting pompadour because it is very low in front and rises gradually until it reaches the crown, where it is finished with a group of small puffs or curls encircled with a soft coil."

Efforts to Raise $6,000 for American Hospital in Paris Meeting Success

The efforts to raise about $6,000 in Duluth for the American hospital in Paris are being rewarded. In all parts of the city women are giving afternoon affairs for three guests, each of whom pays a small amount toward the undertaking and pledges herself to invite three guests, making an endless chain.

Some women vary the plan by banding together and inviting a larger number of guests, each guest in her turn inviting three women to her home or arranging a larger affair with others who have been guests. West Duluth women have raised between $200 and $300.

Credits May Be Given for Music in Public Schools

Since the meeting of the Minnesota Music Teachers' association which was held at Albert Lea in June a committee, which numbers among its members William MacPhail, has formulated a plan by which credits for music shall be given in the public schools.

According to the plan harmony, history of music, chorus and orchestra shall be taught by the music supervisors of the high schools, while the study of piano, violin, voice and organ may be taught by teachers outside the schools and credit given where sufficient progress is made. The association will arrange the examinations and outline a required amount of study for a four-year course.

The high schools of many of the smaller localities are not supplied with music supervisors, but it has been found that among the teachers there is generally one who has had sufficient musical education to control the music work.

Standard Teaching.

As the standardization of music teaching is one of the great lines of activity of the Minnesota Music Teachers' association the accredited teachers will play important parts in the credits given for work done outside the schools.

The success of the plan would make Minnesota the first state to put music on a par with other subjects in its high schools, for while many large cities of America give credit for the study of music, it was the first state to offer examinations for the standardization of its teachers, later adopted by some fourteen other states, the advantage thus gained makes it possible to solve the problems of music study in the high schools.

Women Voters' First Convention

Plans Will Be Made at San Francisco to Support National Suffrage Amendment.

The Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage will hold a woman voters' convention at San Francisco, Sept. 14, 15 and 16.

The call to the meeting says:

"The purpose of this convention is to mature plans for definite political action on the part of woman voters in support of the national suffrage amendment.

"There are now approximately 4,000,000 woman voters. One-fourth of the national senate, one-sixth of the house of representatives, and one-fifth of the electoral vote comes from suffrage states. With this leverage in congress, the national suffrage amendment could idnt of the Woman Suffrage Association of Colorado, as a token of appreciation for the valuable educational work which has been carried on from the suffrage booth of the Congressional union at the exposition during the last six months. At the business sessions of the convention the political situation of the suffrage movement will be considered and plans devised for work with congress next session."

speedily be passed if the woman voters would unite in its support. This convention is an attempt to devise plans for united and effective action. It is the first political convention of woman voters that has ever been called, and is an event of historical significance.

"As every suffragist knows, a demand from woman voters for the establishment of national woman suffrage will be more effective at this time than all the arguments and pleas that the disfranchised women of the East can make.

"The convention is being carried through on a splendid scale. Delegates elected at state conventions of the Congressional union held in all the equal suffrage states, will take part in the deliberations of the convention. On the opening day of the convention, Sept. 14, the purple, white and gold banners of the Congressional union will fly from all the exposition palaces. On the last day a memorial will be presented by the governor of California, the mayor of San Francisco, and Alvin Pope, representing the exposition, to Miss Alice Paul, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Mrs. Dora Phelps Buell, president of the Woman Suffrage Association of Colorado, as a token of appreciation for the valuable educational work which has been carried on from the suffrage booth of the Congressional union at the exposition during the last six months. At the business sessions of the convention the political situation of the suffrage movement will be considered and plans devised for work with congress next session."

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Ideal Wife.

The only kind of a wife for a man to marry is the woman a man genuinely loves and the one who loves him as devotedly in return, whether she is the daughter of a millionaire or a girl who knows something about the hardship of earning a dollar. The daughter of a rich man will quietly and sensibly try to adapt herself to the circumstances and be happy in sharing them with her husband. The working girl is ordinarily too appreciative of the protection and retirement which her position as wife gives her and too thoroughly conversant with the trials of the wage-earner to be other than a real helpmate.

Money makes life pleasanter, but it is all abiding love and respect and confidence that makes the domestic machinery run smoothly, as is proven by the love matches made, wherein the woman sacrifices her former circumstances of ease and luxury to enter upon those that are less attractive from a point of physical comfort, and by the thousands of marriages based upon money which end so miserably.

I should say that the daughter of great wealth who decided that her truest happiness and usefulness lay in a union with a man of moderate means would make fully as desirable and helpful a wife as would the girl who had been earning her own living from the time she was able. To my way of thinking there is a girl in between these two classes who is more a menace to the happiness of the man that she marries and to her own chances of contented matrimony.

This is the girl whose father earns a very good living and lives up to every cent of his income. By hard scraping such parents rear her as though she was to inherit sufficient means to keep her in the style that she has known from childhood. There are thousands of girls who are brought up in leisure and ignorance of any really useful work to which they could turn if fate ever demanded that they should put their brains or hands to the task of earning their daily bread.

Seasonable Recipes for Pickles and Relishes

Dill Pickles—Select medium sized cucumbers, wash with a brush and cover with cold water. The next day drain them, wipe dry and pack closely in self-sealing glass or stone jars, using plenty of fresh dill between the layers. To each half gallon jar add also two small red peppers, a level teaspoon of pepper, two bay leaves and two thin rounds of horseradish root. To six quarts of water add a pound of rock salt and a level teaspoon of powdered alum. Heat the mixture to boiling, add a quart of pure cider vinegar and pour over the pickles. Fresh dill is preferable, but if it cannot be obtained use the dill seed in the proportion of a rounded teaspoonful to each half gallon jar.

Green Grape Catsup—Mix a quart of green grapes from which you have extracted the seeds with a pint of chopped apples, three-fourths of a cup of raisins (chopped) and a stalk of finely chopped celery. Cover with vinegar. Then add a large cup of light brown sugar, a tablespoon of calt, half a teaspoon each of dry mustard and ginger and a good sprinkling of paprika. Let the mixture stand overnight in a bowl or granite kettle. In the morning place over the fire and simmer slowly for four hours. Seal while hot.

Pickled String Beans—String a quart of small green beans, and if too long cut them in strips and halve them. Cook in boiling salted water till tender. Drain and cook for a few moments in a liquid made of a large cup of vinegar, half a cup of water, two tablespoons of sugar, a teaspoon of mixed pickling spices, and salt and pepper to taste. Bottle and seal while hot.

Chili Sauce—This is usually made much later in the season, but there is no reason for waiting until fall, as it is made from ripe tomatoes, of which there are plenty in the markets now. Scald and peel eighteen large ripe tomatoes and cook them with five onions and three green peppers, the latter chopped fine and seeds removed from the peppers. When soft add a cupful of sugar. Two and a half cups of vinegar, a tablespoon of salt and half a teaspoon each of allspice, cinnamon, cloves and a pinch of curry, tie the spices in a small bag. Cook the sauce for fifteen minutes, then bottle and seal while hot.

Spiced Grape Butter—Plums may also be prepared after this recipe, and are very good. Stem the grapes and mash them in a porcelain lined kettle, and to four pounds add ten whole cloves, a dozen allspice berries, a stick of cinnamon and a small bit of ginger root (the latter may be omitted.) Cook until the grapes are very soft, then press through a sieve, and add a large cup of vinegar and sugar to taste. Cook till thick and bottle.

Theater Gossip.

The posing act entitled "An Artist's Dream," featuring Mme. Rialto, is a big hit on the current bill at the New Grand theater. Mme. Rialto's assistant, a young man with an excellent tenor voice, sings songs, and Mme. Rialto carries out the idea in a series of posing numbers.

POSING ACT AT NEW GRAND.

Ted Bradley pleases his audiences with his clever and original line of talk, and shares headline honors with Mme. Rialto. Some of his jokes are "almost" new, which is saying a good deal in this time of trite vaudeville chatter.

There are two other good vaudeville acts, and a number of excellent film dramas. Yesterday and again today the $10,000 prize feature picture play, "The Diamond From the Sky," has been presented as an added attraction. Manager Phelps has found this picture a strong drawing card and it has done a great deal to keep up the Tuesday and Wednesday audiences at the Grand for many weeks. Each number of this picture seems to grow more exciting and thrilling, and it is undoubtedly one of the best serial pictures ever presented at the Grand.

What can't Elsie Janis do?

After seeing her lariat dance with the cowboys in her new production, "Nearly a Lady," at the Rex today and tomorrow, that is the first question that arises.

ELSIE JANIS AT THE REX.

Mimic, singer, dancer, author, Elsie Janis is gifted with the ability to assimilate almost any new pursuit and make herself the master of it.

In "Nearly a Lady," the Montana cowboys, headed by Art Accord, the famous rider, demonstrate some of those bewildering dances with Elsie Janis looking on. When they finish, she frankly doffs her riding skirt and uncomfortable riding breeches and boots, and proceeds to do the lariat dance she has just seen. With toes tripping prettily in perfect time, she dances inside the whirling rope which by means of her supple wrist all the time describes a flying hoop around her like the hoop of a crinoline. Her dance is said to be far more expert than those of Art Accord and his boys, who are genuine cowboys, bred and brought up on ranch and range.

"Father Love," featuring Fay Tincher in a "villainous" part, is a side-splitter, and clever as well as amusing. The story in brief shows what would happen if the weaker sex took on the pranks of the flirting husbands.

There will be no vaudeville at the Orpheum theater this season, according to an announcement made yesterday by D. J. Robson, new manager of the playhouse. "No vaudeville performances will be given at any time, occasional or otherwise," said Mr. Robson. "The Orpheum will this year be known as the Orpheum-Strand theater and will reopen under this name on Sept. 20. Only high-class photo films will be shown at this theater."

NO VAUDEVILLE AT ORPHEUM.

Manager Robson stated that in a few days he will announce a formal policy and give prices and plans.

At the Zelda today and tomorrow the World Film corporation will present the William A. Brady feature play "The Dollar Mark" with the well known dramatic star, Robert Warwick, in the leading role. The story of "The Dollar Mark" deals with Jim Gresham, owner of the Nelly Davis mines, who is approached by a scheming capitalist, Carson Baylis, with his friend Martin, to sell the mines under the pretense that he is taking a great risk due to government regulations. Jim, knowing the courts had decided in his favor flatly refuses the offer.

"THE DOLLAR MARK" AT THE ZELDA.

Several years later Martin has become a friend and partner in Jim's bank, which Baylis attempts to break.

The news reaches Jim while at a party. Seeking a means to get to New York, Alice's brother offers his yacht. During the voyage Baylis purchases the yacht and forces the captain to put to sea. Jim in desperation compels Baylis to enter a hatch, which he closes on him, while Martin, at the point of a revolver, directs the yacht. Jim reaches New York in time to save the bank and claims Alice as his prize.

Robert Warwick in the role of Jim Gresham gives many phases of his very clever work. On Friday and Saturday Emily Stevens will appear in the problem play, "The Soul of a Woman."

HARMONIOUS NEUTRALITY.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A few soldiers belonging to a sort of a Swiss regiment in garrison at Basel went to a certain cafe for refreshments. One of them sat down alone at a table. Later a civilian, a German, joined him, and the two began to talk war politics. "Would you shoot on the Germans if they invaded Switzerland?" asked the German.

"Oh, no, never!" exclaimed the soldier.

"Waiter, a pint of beer and a beefsteak for this brave man," ordered the civilian.

"And your pals sitting at the next table, would they also not shoot the Germans if they tried to invade this country?"

"Oh, no, never!" retorted the Swiss.

And addressing again the soldier, he asked: "Is this generally the view held in the Swiss army in regard to a possible German invasion? Are all the Swiss soldiers so Germanophile?"

"I don't know," replied the soldier. "But why should you not shoot the Germans?"

"Because we belong to the band."

WHAT LAW GOVERNS IN THIS LAND?

Are alien residents of this country, working here and participating in the benefits of American life, subject to the laws of this country or those of the country from which they came?

That doesn't sound like a question that ought to detain anybody long, but apparently it has been raised and it seems not so easy to answer as the average citizen will find it offhand.

Recently an American war correspondent, a partisan of the central powers, was arrested in England. In his possession were found confidential communications from Dumba, the Austrian ambassador to this country, to his government. In these communications Dumba discussed ways and means of embarrassing American manufacturers of war munitions intended for sale to Austria's enemies, including the calling of strikes, etc.

Publication of the startling contents of these letters brings from Ambassador Dumba the statement that he has a right to request, or even order, Austrians in this country to cease working for manufacturers of munitions that may be used against their countrymen. He admits that he has "subsidized" publications printed in the various tongues spoken by subjects of the polyglot Hapsburg empire to warn these people that they are violating Austrian laws, and he speaks offhandedly of calling "a peaceful walkout" of Austro-Hungarian citizens in the large steel mills.

Discussion at Washington develops the fact that this raises a question new to American diplomacy, and officials there doubt if any American law has been violated by the Hapsburg ambassador.

Perhaps not. Nevertheless, the proceeding seems impudent enough, and though it is easy enough to understand that Austria does not like to see its subjects manufacturing arms to kill Austrians, nevertheless there is room in this country for only one set of laws. The spectacle of the ambassador of a foreign country interfering with industry in this country on any pretext whatever, and exercising imperial though alien authority over men who are presumably citizens or prospective citizens of the United States, is not a pleasant one.

If there is no law this proceeding violates, it might be a good idea to enact such a law immediately.

Not until we find ourselves unable to handle our own affairs will the idea of having them managed for us by an alien government become tolerable.

Surely the weather wouldn't be so mean as to cheat poor Lo out of his summer, too.

A TAG DAY THAT WILL BE WELCOMED.

Sometimes it seems that the tag day business inclines to get itself overdone, but there is one new tag day, just announced, that will be cordially welcomed—at least it ought to be.

This is the tag day to be held September 25 to collect funds for the relief of Jewish war sufferers.

No cause could be more deserving. The Belgians appealed mightily to the pitying heart of America. So did the pitiful case of the Poles, over whose innocent heads the devastating war tide has surged again and again. But the Belgians occupy a small place on the map of Europe, and the Poles a relatively small place; but the Jews are everywhere—in France, in Galicia, in Poland, in Russia, wherever the flame of war has scorched, there have been Jews to suffer.

They need, these European Jews, and the Jews of America are doing a splendid thing in organizing for their relief. The rest of us ought to welcome the opportunity to help them.

Is it possible that we are also to hear of "Dumba-Americans?"

DEPOSITS FOR PUBLIC UTILITY SERVICES.

The state railroad commission of California, which is also the public utility board of that state, has issued an order requiring all public utility corporations to discontinue their practice of requiring consumers to make cash deposits to insure against losses from unpaid bills.

This means that the water, gas, electric light and telephone concerns must return to the consumers many hundreds of thousands of dollars, the free use of which they have had for years.

While the theory of this practice is that it secures the public utility corporation against losses, the fact of it, as it appeared to the railroad commission, was that it formed an easy way of helping to finance the corporations without the cost and bother of borrowing the money.

While the extent of losses from unpaid bills was not disclosed in the California case, probably it is not great. At the most a month or two is the extent of the period of services not paid for, because public utility concerns, private and public, have developed rather thorough systems of guarding against such losses, and refusal of service very promptly follows a failure to pay for it. It is doubtful if the percentage of loss is great enough to warrant the deposit plan in any case.

In Duluth the water and light department has adopted a system under which the consumer has the alternative of making a deposit or having his bills guaranteed by the owners or rental agent. How that is working out we do not know, but since owners and rental agents are seldom well enough acquainted with tenants to warrant guaranteeing their bills, we should imagine that in a great many cases it would mean that the consumer who is a renter—as most of them are—would have to put up a deposit.

As many of them cannot afford to have money tied up this way, even in small amounts, it is a question whether the public owned utility should not do what all the public utilities of California have been required to do—abandon the deposit plan entirely.

Just to make the office more interesting, why not amend the Constitution so as to make the vice president ex officio the personal leader of any force that has to take the field?

A SENSIBLE THING TO DO.

The city of Duluth had an opening for a man to inspect overhead signs. There was talk of giving the place to some deserving citizen.

Then somebody happened to think that this was work that firemen could do very nicely. The job has been turned over to the fire department, Chief Randall will detail men to attend to it, and there will be no new job on the city pay roll. The work will be attended to efficiently and completely, and the city will save a new salary.

This seems like an extraordinarily intelligent thing to do. To be sure, in private business it wouldn't be extraordinary at all; it is precisely what you'd expect. But when it comes to the public business, that's different: which is why you find such things as half a dozen state inspectors in the same town on the same day, doing work that one man could do as well.

If there were more of this sort of thing in handling the public business, taxes would be lower and there would be much less discontent with existing systems of government.

It would be interesting to know at the start how many phases the Thaw divorce suit is to be dragged through.

BERNSTORFF.

> Justice to Count von Bernstorff demands the acknowledgement that no small share of the credit for a peaceful settlement of the controversy between the United States and Germany belongs to him. Whatever his mistakes, and they have been many, he has labored indefatigably to bring the German government to a realization of the seriousness of the American attitude toward the German policy of ruthless submarine warfare. Nobody knew better than he that if Germany persisted in that course it would mean war, and his efforts to bring Germany to its senses deserve more than casual recognition. In this matter, at least, the German ambassador has proved himself a friend of both the American people and the German people.

Von Bernstorff knew, far better than the German government could know, the temper of the American people and the fiber of the president who presented, grimly but without passion, the demands of the American nation.

By the way, do Harry Thaw's lawyers pay an income tax?

A GIRL HERO.

The female sex, we know, is the "weaker sex." In the face of peril it shrieks and explodes into hysterics. A tiny mouse sends it in a panic to the top of the piano. When danger betides it collapses in a graceful heap on the shoulder of the nearest man.

Despite the equally well known fact that this "weaker sex" stands pain and disaster better than the average man, this view is widely held.

Monday Esther Kuspelser, a girl of twelve, happened to be walking along a railroad track near Chicago when she saw two sputtering fuses, attached to two sticks of dynamite, between the rails over which a passenger train was about to fly past.

Esther didn't faint. Perhaps she wasn't old enough. Perhaps there was no manly shoulder to faint against. At any rate she didn't do any of the silly things a fool superstition indicates that she should have done.

On the contrary, she coolly picked up those two sticks of dynamite by their burning fuses, carried them—at the risk of her life, of course—to the wayside and there calmly put out the fuses.

Then she told the authorities what she had discovered, and gave an intelligent description of three youths she had seen running from the spot just before she found the dynamite.

But of course when Esther gets to be twenty-one she will be too weak and irresponsible to vote.

The American dollar remains at the standard of one hundred cents efficiency.

Woman's Place Is—

From "Are Women People?" by Alice Duer Miller (Doran): Is it true that the English government is calling on women to do work abandoned by men?

Yes, it is true.

Is not woman's place the home?

No, not when men need her services outside the home.

Will she never be told again that her place is the home?

Oh, yes, indeed.

When?

As soon as men want their jobs back again!

Talks on Thrift

Issued by the American Bankers' Association.

Financial Preparedness.

"The United States will have to go through a long course of discipline before thrift is established as a national virtue to the same extent as it is in Great Britain."—The Toronto Mail and Empire.

The movement to improve our military preparedness is receiving national attention at this time. It is a matter of the utmost importance.

Another and somewhat similar problem which confronts the nation and its individual citizens today is the proper conservation of national and personal resources. It is admitted on every side by those who are in a position to know that just now is emphatically a time for everybody to save as much as he can for the best interests of all concerned.

Various plans have been inaugurated to encourage saving. It is not only banks that are back of these efforts. In various ways a great many employers are encouraging thrift on the part of their employes, and there is an increasing number of voluntary "thrift clubs" and investment associations. One of the latest of these to come to our attention is worthy of notice for the sake of others who may be interested.

This saving and investing organization is called the "Moody's Magazine Savings club." A. W. Ferrin, president of the Moody's Magazine and Book company, New York, says: "There have been a large number of these clubs formed and several of them have completed the first ten months, have allotted the bonds and have started in on a second series."

This certifies that ..... is a member of the Moody Magazine Savings club, No. ..... of ..... and that he has paid to the treasurer of the club the sum of ..... dollars the first of ..... monthly payments for the purchase of one one-hundred-dollar bond. (Name of bond to be written in when purchased).

Said bond to be selected by him, to be purchased for him and held by the treasurer of the club in accordance with the conditions and regulations adopted therefor, a full understanding of which he hereby acknowledges.

Signed ..... Signed .....
Member. Treasurer.

Thus it will be seen that the idea of the club is to help its members prepare for the future by building a bulwark of savings and storing up financial ammunition in the shape of good bonds.

This is an excellent idea, but if anyone who reads this article is so situated that he cannot join such a club, he can still carry out the principle on his own account. Let him save in a savings account and at the proper time withdraw some of his savings to put into a good bond, mortgage or other investment recommended by his bankers.

This has been the simple but sufficient plan of thousands who have solved the problem of financial preparedness.

T. D. MacGREGOR.

The Need of Army Officers

Kansas City Star: Maybe you can train American volunteers into good soldiers in a shorter time than soldiers can be made in Europe. But you cannot train them at all without officers, and you cannot make officers in the twinkling of an eye.

An army of one million men would require, roughly speaking, forty thousand officers. There are today in the United States 4,800 officers of the regular army—about six hundred more than are actually required for the line and staff of our present regular army. These extra officers are detailed to special duty of various sorts. Some of them are militia instructors, some of them are sent to military schools for boys and perform a very fine service in instilling into the boys the right sort of military virtues.

In addition to these regular army officers there are about five thousand men enrolled in the National Guard who would make capable volunteer officers. In other words, if we were called upon tomorrow to officer an army of one million men we would have about ten thousand men from the army and the National Guard to act as officers where forty thousand would be needed. In addition to the ten thousand, one may count upon the services of a considerable number of graduates of first-class military academies and American universities where there is military training. It is hard to estimate offhand the number of these young men, who would make good second lieutenants—certainly five thousand is a very liberal figure. Stretching the estimate then, to the farthest possible limit, we could produce today in the United States fifteen thousand men capable of acting as officers, while for an army of one million we would need forty thousand.

The provision for adding new officers is on the same fractional basis. West Point can graduate a maximum of two hundred a year. Hard work in the National Guard can add a small quota. So can a few good private military schools and some of our universities. One of the most, if not the most, striking need of national preparedness is preparedness in military officers.

Rock Me to Sleep.

Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight,
Make me a child again just for tonight!
Mother, come back from the echoless shore,
Take me again to your heart as of yore;
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep—
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

I am so weary of toil and of tears—
Toil without recompense, tears all in vain—
Take them, and give me my childhood again!
I have grown weary of dust and decay—
Weary of sowing for others to reap—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue,
Mother, O mother, my heart calls for you!
Many a summer the years have grown green,
Blossomed and faded, our faces between:
Yet, strong with yearning and passionate pain,
Long I tonight for your presence again.
Come from the silence so long and so deep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Over my heart in the days that are flown,
No love like mother-love ever has shone;
No other worship abides and endures—
Faithful, unselfish, and patient like yours:
None like a mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul and the world-weary brain.
Slumber's soft calms o'er my heavy lids creep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Come, let your brown hair, just lighted with gold,
Fall on your shoulder again as of old;
Let it drop over my forehead tonight,
Shading my faint eyes away from the light:
For with its sunny-edged shadows once more
Haply will throng the sweet visions of yore;
Lovingly, softly, its bright billows sweep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!

Mother, dear mother, the years have been long
Since I last listened to your lullaby song:
Sing, then, and unto my soul it shall seem
Womanhood's years have been only a dream.
Clasped to your heart in a loving embrace,
With your light lashes just sweeping my face.
Never hereafter to wake or to weep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
—Elizabeth Akers.

The English Answer to Vital Questions

Letter from T. Fisher Unwin to An American Correspondent, Published in the New York Times.

Thank you very much for the letter in which you raise several very farreaching and vital questions concerning Great Britain's response to one of the greatest crises in her history.

I am very glad you asked these questions. They are questions which ought to be put to us by our well-wishers in the neutral world, and I have for some time been aware that they were "in the air." Now that you have phrased them so pointedly I am given a long-wished-for opportunity of clearing up and setting forth the thoughts on this subject that have long been latent in my mind, and which are more or less representative, I imagine, of the general public opinion of Great Britain at this phase of the war.

First, then, there is your question about the continued inactivity on the western front. It is perfectly natural that that should trouble you in America. Even among us it has its depressing effect, though we are not so much in the dark as you as to its meaning. The western group of the allies is not really inactive; all the time a contest is going on, not so conspicuous or so drastic as a clash of arms, but equally momentous for the issue of the war. I refer, of course, to the competition in the production of munitions. Germany, who purposed the war, took care to pile up an immense reserve of munitions before she precipitated hostilities, and her long-thought-out arrangements for industrial mobilization have done her even more service than the actual stores in hand. But by the efforts we have initiated and are now constantly increasing, we hope, and hope with reason, to overhaul, equal and surpass the enemy output. Then, when our superiority has reached a certain point we look for an artillery avalanche along the whole western front—the sort of thing that was done at Neuve Chapelle by us or by the Germans on the Dunajetz, only this time from end to end of the line. It is this competition of the workshops that will decide the war—the whole industrial energy of one nation striving against the whole industrial energy of the other—and we believe that we shall prove ourselves stronger and more enduring in the end.

Second, there is your question about recruiting, and to that I can only answer that you are totally and absolutely misinformed. "The great body of unmarried men in England," you say, "seem to prefer to avoid the risk of active service," but the fact is entirely the contrary. The great body of unmarried men has volunteered its services and is now either fighting or learning how to fight. One of the most pressing tasks of the new munitions ministry is the recovery of skilled workers from the camp and their restoration to the workshop, while among the miners, whom you single out for blame, there has been a vast recruitment. When the news came last September that the Germans had battened down Belgian miners in their pits at Charleroi, men enough for five battalions presented themselves within ten days at the depots of the Durham Light Infantry, Durham being, of course, one of our principal mining districts; and that is only one instance out of many. The Durham battalions now number well over twenty in all.

Of course, you allude especially to the miners because of the South Wales strike, and it would be folly to pretend that such events are not deplorable. * * * The war has come upon Europe, and especially upon Great Britain, at a very crucial moment in the development of the social problem created during the last century by the industrial revolution. It is not really this or that section of the British nation that is to blame—not even the nation as a whole—but a phase of our common civilization which has brought much good to humanity, but has also confronted us with evils which it would have demanded all our intellect and energy to cure, even without the absorbing preoccupation of this struggle for existence. What is really striking is that the dispute has nevertheless been settled in the present instance with the minimum of delay, so that the coal supply has not been appreciably affected.

Third, you mention the "immeasurable loss of an untold number of the best of Englishmen." The loss is only too true, and the full consequences will reveal themselves, I fear, progressively during the next thirty years. But the cause of this calamity to the "upper classes" is not, as you suppose, any shirking or malingering on the part of the nation at large. The disproportionate number of casualties among the officers is simply one of the military phenomena of war as it is at present waged. To see this you have only to compare the British figures with figures taken from a belligerent that employs conscription and that, therefore, automatically distributes the human sacrifice of war among all strata of its citizens. For instance, compare the casualties of British officers with German, and you will find at once that whole German families have been wiped out; that the Junker class, which has always incarnated the spirit of Prussia, has, at any rate, paid personally for the catastrophe which it has precipitated, and has been practically wiped out. I have even seen an article contributed from Germany to an American magazine which tried to prove that the German army was now a democratic army. "Our aristocratic corps of regular officers," it argued, "has devoted itself on the field of battle, and our troops are now led by the officers of the reserve—lawyers, bankers, schoolmasters and representatives of all other walks of civilian life—In fact, by just such a body of men as would officer the American army if America ever embarked with all her strength upon a war." That, I think, shows that the losses among the upper class have nothing to do with the question of conscription versus voluntary enlistment. It certainly leaves us with a problem for the future which can only be met, I think, by democracy and education.

I am not going to lay down my pen without putting in a word for the British navy, which has accomplished results that beat the most ambitious forecasts. Our navy has banished German commerce from the seas, isolated the German colonies from their mother country, and insured our communications with our own colonies and with our allies as effectively as in time of peace.

An Insider's Opinion

Cleveland Plain Dealer: No American prominent in public life anywhere is more thoroughly competent to discuss "invisible government" than Elihu Root, president of the New York constitutional convention. He speaks from inside knowledge, for he has been an agent and spokesman of that kind of government for more years than many of the delegates at Albany have lived. His judgment is based neither on hearsay nor the prejudice of a professional reformer.

President Root's denunciation of "invisible government" before the convention has more than ordinary significance. It has startled observers familiar with the Root school of politics. It may well mark a complete severance of relations between the former senator and his partisan associates of many years. At any rate, it means an influential recruit for the short ballot and other causes designed to put a curb on government by bosses.

All Hail the Bad Boy.

Life: If anything were needed to prove that there is good material in bad boys the war has helped to produce more evidence. Among the English bad boys, three Victoria Crosses have been awarded to those from reformatories and twenty-five more have earned medals for distinguished conduct.

Most bad boys have courage and energy. In a crisis this is a combination hard to beat. In ordinary times, however, it may run into channels not approved of by the majority.

Dull.

"I should say so," agreed the second. "There ain't been anybody hit by an ambulance in a week or more."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments Taken From Minnesota Papers.

Especially This Year.

Wabasha Herald: A little summer now and then is relished by the best of men.

Crookston Times: If you want to find the people who start out Sunday morning in their automobile to worship God in nature, a ball game in some neighboring town is a good place to look.

Worthy and Well Qualified.

Walker Pioneer: "The American government can go to h—," declares Gen. Francisco Villa, a remark which qualifies him for membership in a number of organizations that have sprung into existence in the United States in the past few months.

Rah for Grand Rapids!

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: There is less spirit of pulling against the community in Grand Rapids than any other town of its size in the United States, and that is why we are forward in everything worth while.

Better Soon Than Never!

Echo Enterprise: We owe both bride and groom, as well as our readers, an apology for announcing the marriage of J. B. Philbrick to Miss Grace Agnes McGregor, in our last issue. A local paper was largely responsible for the wedding day dates becoming mixed up, but we presume they accomplished a grand scoop. But the wedding sure did take place on Wednesday of this week, and everybody should now be happy.

And It Isn't as If He Couldn't.

New Ulm Review: The Kansas City Star has it figured out that a man can walk across the United States without touching a state that has a legalized saloon in it. But he still has little cause for worry as long as he can get a drink there.

A Jury of Her Appears—Not Peers.

Mankato Free Press: Why is it that the shorter the skirts, the brighter colored the stockings?—Crookston Times.

Little Falls Transcript: They ain't. It's the brighter colored the stockings, the shorter the skirts. And any man with half an eye can see why—and does, too.—Little Falls Transcript.

As the latter paragraph was written by a woman, it ought to carry more weight with a jury than that one which was penned by mere man.

Harmonizing Things.

> Chairman Hilles being quoted as opposed to holding the next Republican convention at Chicago, the Tribune gives assurance that it will see that the Coliseum is fumigated if only the national committee will come through.

This may be looked upon as one of the sure ways of bringing about that unanimity of feeling which will reunite the two branches of the Republican party.

Come Right Along.

Calumet News: With an estimated output of 26,000,000 pounds of copper in the single month of August, with more employes and greater salary lists than at any time in their history, the mines of the Copper country are amply demonstrating their ability to "come back."

Remembering That Which Is Good.

Battle Creek Moon-Journal: Let us not, in our anguish of spirit, forget that Georgia gave to the world Ty Cobb.

A Bid for the Student Vote?

Hancock Copper Journal: Many teachers admit, privately at least, that they give examinations to make it easy to say "passed" or "failed" to the student. A mere subterfuge. It is a good sign when all exams, as such, are done away with. It can't come too soon.

Count 'Em.

Grand Rapids Press: Mr. Bryan complains that Mr. Roosevelt's words mean war, thereby differing from Mr. Bryan, whose words just mean $5.50 per minute during the tent season.

Applying the Principle at Home.

Houghton Mining Gazette: "There are," says the interstate commerce commission, "too many passive directors who acquiesce in what is being done without knowledge and without investigation." Quite so. And in every community the individual citizen is or should be a director. It is the passive citizen who permits various ills and evils to overtake the body politic.

That's the Only Way You Can Bolster Up Some Arguments.

Marquette Mining Journal: The Bangor mayor who in making a case against commission government sets forth that Marquette has already used the recall three or four times, is one of those men who make up the facts to fit the argument, rather than be at the trouble of relating the argument to the facts.

Turn About Is Fair Play.

Life: All bankers in this country are soon going to be in a bad way, according to Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

This gentleman says that we are soon going to do such a tremendous business that the bankers will be at their wits' end to know how to handle it.

So far as filthy lucre is concerned, all the American bankers will be in much the same position as the old woman who lived in a shoe found herself with regard to her children.

In this distressing situation what can be done to relieve the bankers? A call should be issued for citizen volunteers to help them store their money.

The Moo-Cow-Moo.

My pa held me up to the moo-cow-moo
So clost I could almost touch,
En I fed him a couple of times, or two,
En I wasn't a fraid-cat much.

But ef my papa goes into the house,
En mamma, she goes in, too,
I just keep still, like a little mouse,
For the moo-cow-moo might moo!

The moo-cow-moo's got a tail like a rope,
En it's raveled down where it grows,
En it's just like feeling a piece of soap
All over the moo-cow's nose.

En the moo-cow-moo has lots of fun
Just swinging its tail about;
En he opens his mouth and then I run—
'Cause that's where the moo comes out.

En his eyes stick out o' their place,
En the nose o' the moo-cow-moo is spread
All over the end of his face.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

One hundred taxpayers of St. Louis county met in the old postoffice building on Fourth avenue west last evening and organized themselves into the St. Louis County Taxpayers' league. Judge J. R. Carey was elected chairman and E. P. Alexander secretary. The chair appointed C. A. Congdon, C. R. Haines, A. H. Crassweller, R. S. Munger and D. A. Petre as a committee on permanent organization, and Col. C. H. Graves, W. B. Silvey, E. R. Jefferson, J. D. Holmes and H. S. Mahan as a committee to draft a constitution. While the committees were out, addresses were given by Judge Carey, W. G. Joerns, Francis W. Sullivan and M. O. Hall. After the committees reported, Judge Carey was elected president of the new league, A. R. Macfarlane vice president, and C. H. Gray treasurer. A general committee was chosen as follows: G. G. Hartley, A. R. Macfarlane, R. M. Hunter, W. E. Lucas, J. H. La Vaque, S. T. Harrison, G. W. Buck, C. A. Congdon, F. W. Paine, W. B. Silvey, C. H. Graves, J. P. Johnson, D. A. Petre, C. R. Haines, E. Just a Moment

Christ of love, give me room in my heart for earth's little ones. I have room for the heights but not the vales of humanity; let me descend with Thee into the vale. Let me not vaunt my powers of flight before the face of my walking brother; his walk is like Enoch's, a walk with Thee. Let me travel by his side along the dusty way. When I stand on the mount of Thy love, the height shall dissolve the difference between the great and the little ones.—"Matheson."

"And Jacob said, God Almighty appeared unto me—and blessed me."—Gen. xlviii. 3.

Lord, give me the blessing of Jacob, his best blessing—his power to bless. Doubtless it must come with a shrunk sinew. I cannot keep the song of the lark when I get the seal of sonship. I must enter into the pain of my Lord. Yet that pain is better than the world's joy. I have heard men speak of pain as a blot on Thy universe. They were wrong; it is the birthright of the unblotted. Give me this birthright, O God,—From "Day to Day."

Effects of the Panama Canal.

Chicago Tribune: Commercially speaking, the Panama canal might prove anything but a boon to the entire middle western section of the country. The business men of this section, including manufacturers and retailers, might find themselves in the anomalous position of paying taxes toward a waterway which will hand over their export and import business with the western coast to the cities on the eastern fringe. The lower water rates through the canal give the East a distinct advantage. The natural route for a shipment of salmon from the northwestern coast to Duluth would be over a direct transcontinental railroad to Duluth. Since the canal has opened it is much cheaper to ship by water through the Panama canal, up to the eastern coast, to Chicago by rail, and to Duluth.

By an immense expenditure of public money the regular and established trade routes over land have been threatened and geographical strength more than offset. The Tribune emphasizes this aspect of the problem to add as much as possible to the arguments that have been and will be presented by Chicago business men and the transcontinental railroads in their efforts to get reductions in long haul rates to the western coast. There is no other method of holding the lucrative trade back and forth. The reductions that have been secured so far from the interstate commerce commission have been a distinct advantage and would probably protect the markets if the present water rates held. But with the coming of peace and normal freight rates in the Atlantic and Pacific trade, water tariffs are likely to drop to a new low level. Before the present scarcity of bottoms, the rates through the canal were quoted fully 40 per cent lower than any one had dared predict. It is an indication of what will happen later on, with even more boats bidding for the business.

The Middle West is not asking for anything more than it has a right to ask. It helped pay for the canal and it in turn should get some help from the canal. The East and West get it through lower water rates. Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, and Indiana must get it through lower freight rates. Otherwise the benefits of the canal will not be national.

To Each His Place.

Collier's: Men have died of homesickness for the narrow fields and elm-shaded hollows in the hills of old New England in the same spirit that sends others toiling painfully back to the brown sand dunes about San Francisco bay. Some have lost their hearts to the deep pine woods of the north and others to the stately moss-hung live oaks that line the shell road to Mobile. Some would come to the city of their souls through the low, warm mists that overhang Chesapeake bay, and others prefer to see the lights of home shining clear in a rise of the great plains thirty miles away as the crow flies. The truest thing Kipling ever said is that "God gave all men all earth to love, but, since their hearts are small, ordained for each one place should prove beloved over all." That place is home, and they have lived who find it.

The Sound of Shrapnel.

E. Alexander Powell in Scribner's: Have you ever heard shrapnel, by any chance? No? Well, it sounds as much as anything else like a winter gale howling through the branches of a pine tree. It is a moan, a groan, a shriek, and a wail rolled into one, and when the explosion comes it sounds as though some one had touched off a stick of dynamite under a grand piano. And it is not particularly cheering to know that the ones you hear do not harm you, and that it is the ones you do not have time to hear that send you to the cemetery.

AMERICA'S HISTORIC METHOD OF DEFENSE

To the Editor of The Herald:

Disarming an enemy before he strikes a blow is the best defense. It is the historic method of the United States. It has been employed by the United States more often than by any other power and has been brought by the United States to a higher degree of efficiency than by any other power.

For a hundred years there has been but one departure from that policy of defense—or one and a half. The was with Mexico was more than a departure from the American method of defense, it was a breach of the American policy of defense—it was an aggressive war for conquest, the one war of which Americans are ashamed. Of course the American system of defense would not apply to a struggle which was not defensive.

The half instance was the war with Spain. Not a war of aggression, though we fell heirs to conquests from it, which have made us uncomfortable ever since, it was not a war undertaken to maintain our honor, our rights or our dignity. It was provoked by sympathy with struggling Cuba, plus the accident to the Maine. There is much reason to believe that Spain had nothing to do with the destruction of the Maine and good ground to believe that what was gained in that war could have been accomplished without its cost.

Otherwise for a hundred years the United States has settled all its differences with other powers by the American system of defense.

It was not invented last year. Wilson, building on the achievements of his predecessors, has brought it to a higher efficiency and has made it cover more ground. But it was tried once or twice before the Civil war, it was relied upon in matters of extreme difficulty during that struggle, it was sufficient to dispose of the Alabama claims, the Bering sea dispute, the Venezuelan question and forty others, some trivial and some aggravated breaches of international law.

Some people think, in spite of all history, that it is not practical. Well, here is what Grant said:

"Though I have been trained as a soldier and have participated in many battles, there never was a time when, in my opinion, some way could not have been found to prevent the drawing of the sword."

To be sure, Grant was an idealist. So were the men who fought at Bunker Hill—if they were not idealists they were of all men most foolish. Making all that fuss over a three-penny tax. America is idealist. We are all marching toward our ideals as fast as we know how.

In pursuing the American system of defense, the disarming of every enemy, we are gaining on our ideals every year—except the years of the Mexican war and of the Panama episode. We have gained more the last three years toward that ideal than is given many men to see in a generation.

The American system of defense again and again, notably in the last six months, has proved itself invincible. INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

Duluth, Sept. 7.

TO SECURE PEACE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

After the war what? Most likely a defensive alliance for all the European states will be the outcome of this last great war among them. A certain section of these warring nations who trusted in the power of might to conquer and rule all the world, as well as the remaining ones who believed only less in the power of arms and armaments, will thus be led to see that the brotherhood of man is the basic principle of all permanent peace. Awful as the present experience of Europe is, it has probably hastened by hundreds of years the universal acknowledgment and adoption of the principle that right, not might, is the best law for the welfare of nations. Then why prolong (a year's carnage has been decisive of nothing) an unnecessary and useless conflict, that can only result in the exhaustion of these self-same powers and the century-long misery of the great masses of all these peoples? If a new Hague conference were to sit continuously until the peoples of these countries compelled their rulers to submit their differences to its decisions, peace might come sooner than anyone would imagine. What greater role could America have than to be the first to take this decisive step, and work for it incessantly until its fulfillment came? Yours truly,

F. L. FISHBAUGH.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Beds and Backs

HALF of woman's ills may be summed up in one word—backache. The almanacs, the nostrum maker's literature, the various fake "doctor books" published in the interest of big quack medicine firms, and the circular that comes wrapped around the 79-cent bottle of faintly medicated booze highly recommended for woman's ills, all dwell upon the seriousness of this symptom in word and in picture. Yet we dare say the situation of the trouble in a good many cases at any rate is in the bed she sleeps on.

The joint between the sacrum at the base of the spine and the hip bones on either side is easily strained by lying in a bed which sags under the weight of the body. In women which more than in men the ligaments and muscles which support these joints tire under strain and relax, permitting slight slipping or mobility in these joints. The result is backache, which is distinguished by the fact that it is modified by changes of posture—unlike the back pains which sometimes accompany internal derangements in women.

The woven wire springs so commonly found on beds almost invariably stretch after a time and sag under the weight of the body. And then some of the cheaper mattresses people buy under a mistaken notion of economy are nothing but hillocks and valleys after a few weeks' use.

To any woman, or any man either, who is troubled with backache or lame back without good and sufficient cause, we would suggest a careful examination of the bed for signs of inanition and collapse. If the springs or mattress seems to be run down or in need of a good tonic send it to the Salvation Army and indulge in a new one. There is no mistake in investing money in good bed springs and good mattresses even if you have no lame back. You will get more pleasure from hitting the hay if your bed is alluring.

So often, so very often, a doctor has to order a couple of slats slipped under a sagging bed spring in order to relieve the tired, aching back of the patient under his care. It is surprising how people will lie in a veritable crater and wonder what in thunder makes their back ache so much.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Short and Sweet.

Queries, like prayers, are most effective, in our opinion, when made short and sweet. At any rate we scan but scantily those duodecimo volumes which some readers inflict upon us. Another shortcoming of ours is the fact that we generally neglect to read the other side when a correspondent writes on both sides of the paper. And of course we can pay no attention to the anonymous query, even though it is signed "Sincerely yours, A Constant Reader"—as though sincerity and anonymity could ever be compatible!

Is it ever necessary for a baby 16 months old to have an operation for adenoids? demands a worried father. My doctor says our two children have them and they should be operated on at once. They are 16 months and 4 years old, respectively.

Answer—Your doctor is probably right. It is often necessary to operate on babies a few months old for adenoids, and it is a lot safer than to let the trouble go untreated. If neglected, the child's face, chest and general development will suffer permanently.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Reader, Hibbing—Is there anything in the Minnesota game laws to prevent a minor from shooting game? Does a minor need to procure a license to hunt and shoot game?

Answer—According to good authorities on the game laws, the Minnesota statutes are silent as to minors shooting game, and for that reason it is considered legal for them to do so. The statutes say all persons "over 21 years of age" must procure a license to hunt game. It is therefore not necessary for a minor to secure a license.

William Lomasney, Robinson Lake—I wonder if you could oblige me with information on the following points: I wish to manufacture and sell, probably through storekeepers, a new furniture polish. Do I need to be licensed in any way? Do the ingredients of the preparation have to appear on the bottle as with patent medicines? Is it necessary to register or patent the preparation to prevent anyone else making and selling it. Can you give me names and addresses of wholesalers of vinegar?

Incidentally, might I make a suggestion: In London, Eng., where I hail from, a certain daily paper has a humorous cartoon on topical events, and at the end of each year, these cartoons are published in book form at 12 cents, and I believe, command a big sale, and I have often thought that if the adventures of the irrepressible "Scoop" were published in a similar way the public would patronize the book largely and it would be good business from your point of view. Of course, I only make the suggestion for what you might think it's worth, and hope you will not take umbrage at my doing so.

Answer—If the polish contains ingredients coming under the pharmacy or narcotic laws, a license would be necessary. In certain places a peddler's license would be necessary, also. The ingredients must be labelled on the outside of the bottle if they contain narcotics or other drugs. It is necessary to patent and register the preparation to prevent its being made and sold by others. Any wholesale grocer sells vinegar.

NATIONAL DEFENSE ISSUE IN NORWAY

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Christiania, Aug. 15.—Unusual importance may be attached to the forthcoming elections of members of parliament, for which the different parties have already adopted their platforms. The storthing, as the entire Norwegian legislative body is called, is elected every third year, direct by the people, with women now entitled to vote under the same conditions as men. The election will take place this fall.

In common with a number of other countries, an issue in Norwegian politics this year is the question of national defense. The war crisis a year ago found the country very poorly prepared to meet any emergency. The army and navy were by no means up to the standard required by the military experts, and the people have but lately realized how largely the country is dependent upon foreign countries for food supplies. The latter circumstance is due to the fact that in the last two or three decades farming has diminished, the young people of the rural districts having passed more and more freely into the industrial work in the cities.

Consequently it has been increasingly difficult for the farmers to get help, and the situation has made competition with foreign products almost out of the question. For grain, flour and sugar, for instance, Norway has been dependent on the imports from the United States, Russia and Germany. The war brought about a great curtailment in these importations, and has impressed the Norwegians that something must be done to make their country more self-supporting.

The Conservative and Liberal lefts, in their platforms for the coming election, have made their chief demands, therefore, for the strengthening of the national defense to the full extent that the country can economically bear, and for an increased duty on imports of grain and flour so that Norwegian farmers may be able to regain their lost ground in competition with foreign products.

The party that is at present in power, however, asserts that there is no need of strengthening the defense of the country at present. They point to the fact that the government has been able to conduct the country safely through a situation when everything was ablaze around it. So far as the protection of the farmer is concerned, they propose a guarantee that the government pay the farmer a stated price for grain or establish a state monopoly in this particular trade.

The national committee of the party in power has recommended cooperation with the Socialists rather than concede the demand made by the armament advocates. The Socialists in Norway still adhere to the doctrine that the international Socialistic fraternity is able to prevent war between nations, and instead of increasing means of defense, the party would have Norway keep no army or navy at all. The Socialists at the last election numbered two-fifths of all the voters. Since then the party has gained considerably, so it is not impossible that in combination with non-armament sympathizers they may get control of the next storthing.

OLD SETTLERS HONOR RICHARD WHITESIDE

In memory of the late Richard Whiteside of Duluth, who died recently at Ely, Minn., while attending a meeting of old settlers, the Old Settlers' Association of the Vermilion Range at their annual meeting adopted the following resolutions showing their esteem for the character and work of Mr. Whiteside:

"Whereas, The Great and Supreme Ruler of the universe has in his infinite wisdom removed from amongst us, one of our worthy and esteemed old settlers, Richard Whiteside of Duluth, Minn., while participating in the festivities of the annual gathering of the association on the evening of Aug. 27, 1915; and whereas, the long and intimate relation held with him during his life in this community makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore,

"Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of the organization, and will prove a serious loss to the organization and the public.

"Resolved, That with deep sympathy for the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this association, and a copy be forwarded to the bereaved family.

SPEEDWAY WORKMEN CLAMOR FOR MONEY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—The offices of the Sperry Realty company, St. Paul, the headquarters of the Twin City Speedway association, figured in a near riot yesterday when the police cleared the rooms of a large number of workmen who were clamoring for money past due. Two carpenters, A. M. George and C. E. Jackson, were so vigorous in their demands that they were arrested.

The men left after being told that the money would be forthcoming Friday.

Bryan Has Another Grandson.

Washington, Sept. 8.—A son was born here yesterday to Mrs. Richard Brown Hargraves, second daughter of W. J. Bryan. The boy is the seventh grandchild and the fourth grandson of the former secretary of state.

HOUSE WILL BE SCHOOL

Morgan Park Pupils Will Have Temporary Quarters This Fall.

Permanent Building Will Be Provided When Needs Are Known.

House "No. 57" in the Model city will be used as Morgan Park's school house until the children become so numerous that they cannot be housed in the building.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld announced yesterday that temporary accommodations would have to be made until the plant actually started, and until there was some way of estimating, accurately, the probable school attendance.

At the last meeting of the board of education President F. A. Brewer of the board read a communication from George L. Reis, vice president of the Minnesota Steel company, in which it was estimated that the school should be equipped to accommodate between 350 and 600 children by the latter part of October.

Mr. Reis, in his letter, offered the board a four-acre site and material at cost, to expedite the erection of a suitable school house. He also recommended that the "Gary" plan be adopted.

"Last year we had forty-four pupils at the Morgan Park school," declared Supt. Denfeld, "and today Miss Soderburg telephoned that she did not have enough room for all of them, as there was an increase."

Desks and apparatus sufficient to fit out another room in the same house will be taken to Morgan Park from Gary, and another class probably will be started.

"We won't be able to install the 'Gary' system right away," stated Mr. Denfeld, "for we have no idea how many pupils to expect. For the time being, or until matters are more definitely settled, the school will be ungraded, with the teacher doing just the best she can."

The Gary plan, although still in the experimental stage, is widely known as an economical scheme for year-round vocational training, and was originated by Supt. Wirt at Gary, Ind. It is said to be particularly adaptable to an industrial center such as Morgan Park.

No definite action has been taken by the board of education, although a committee of five was appointed to report at the next meeting. Some of the directors proposed a trip to Gary, Ind., to investigate the plan thoroughly. Supt. Denfeld and Directors Davis, Cobb, Getchell, Grannis and Colman comprise the committee.

"DARE NOT BRING MATTER INTO COURT"

Mayor Power Discusses His Quarrel With Mining Companies.

"They are trying to stop us from paving a street they know it is absolutely necessary to pave. They dare not bring the tax matter into the courts. They know they will be beaten."

This was the declaration of Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing last evening at the St. Louis hotel with reference to the latest turn of Hibbing's quarrel with its principal taxpayers, the mining companies.

The mayor asserted that the injunction which is now being sought from the district court by the mining companies, is merely an effort on their part to have the court listen to a citation of the extravagances of his administration.

H. B. Fryberger of Fryberger, Fulton & Spear, has been engaged by the Hibbing mayor to conduct the defense for the village in the injunction case. Mr. Power, however, will assist in the case.

Mayor Power denied that his visit to Duluth had anything to do with the tax squabble or the injunction matter.

MUST BE APPROVED BY CITY ATTORNEY

Elimination of Errors in Resolutions Would Prevent Delays.

In the future all resolutions calling for street improvements, street vacations or special action will be submitted to City Attorney Greene for approval.

This was decided by members of the city commission yesterday afternoon, when the city attorney asked to see two resolutions presented for passage. He said that there might be some doubt about several technicalities and suggested that in the future all such measures be sent to him for approval. He cited the recent trouble over the East First street pavement, which was held up because the resolution calling for the improvement failed to include the following four words, "public necessity and convenience requires."

As a result the resolutions calling for the installation of a sanitary sewer in Seventh street, from Seventeenth to Eighteenth avenues east; the awarding of the contract for paving Third avenue east, from Seventh to Eighth streets, to J. D. O'Connell on his bid of $2,706, and the vacating of a strip ten feet wide on each side of Thirty-third street, Park Point, were all held up for one week, pending their approval by City Attorney Greene.

The measures, Mr. Greene said, will be presented next Monday for passage.

All Well on Isthmus.

Washington, Sept. 8.—A cabled report to the war department from the Panama canal zone last night announced that all was well on the isthmus, except for slides which occurred several days ago. News of violent earthquakes in Central America Monday had caused the department to ask whether the canal suffered. Ships will be passing through the canal again within two days, according to last night's report.

CUTTING ROAD FUND SCORED

Normanna and Lakewood Township Residents Criticize County Board.

Work on Highways Is Stopped; Petitions for New Roads Received.

Normanna and Lakewood township residents today registered a protest with the county commissioners against the action of the board at its last meeting in deducting $10,000 from the road fund of that district. The money had been appropriated to the Second district and Commissioner Little strenuously objected when his fellow members on the board voted it away from him.

The protest, which came to the board today, was signed by the Normanna Farmers' club, which represents about thirty farmers residing in Normanna township and by several farmers of Lakewood township. It is pointed out that the original appropriation to the Second district was $30,000. Afterwards $10,000 was added to the fund, but the board at its August meeting took it away. Last year, the Second district received a total of $65,000 for road work.

"The result has been," says the petition to the board, "that all work has been stopped on the county roads in the district."

Several petitions for new highways were received and dates for hearing set. Among the improvements petitioned for were: New highway in 51 and 52-19 near Floodwood; new highway in 53-18, Fifth district; rerouting Lindstrom road in the Seventh district; improvement of highway in 62-19, near Cook. M. C. Francisco and others petitioned the board for an early completion of the work on the Cloquet-Saginaw road.

* * *

The board granted an extension of two months' time to Contractor Joseph Gorenc in order that he might complete his contract for the construction of the Steckel road in 63-20, in the Seventh district.

* * *

J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, notified the board that he had appointed Miss M. E. Nordahl as stenographer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Pearl Sundby. The board also approved the appointment of Carl O. Zuck as chauffeur for the sheriff in place of Robert Wendlandt, resigned. The appointment was made by Sheriff Meining.

SUPERIOR

Held for Burglary.

George Allison and James Harris are being held by police of Superior in connection with entering the home of Charles Hoffman, 2126 Butler avenue. An alarm clock was stolen from the residence. The two men will be given a hearing on Sept. 11.

Episcopal Pastors Return.

Methodist Episcopal pastors of Superior were all returned to the city by the conference of Northern Wisconsin, which closed yesterday at Eau Claire. There are three Methodist pastors in the city. They are Rev. W. I. Kern of the Cummings avenue church, Rev. Ernest Clark of the Fifty-ninth street church, and Rev. A. M. Harkness of the First M. E. church.

Viaduct Repaired.

Preliminary repairs to the Twenty-first street viaduct so that ultimately the viaduct will be able to carry double truck street cars were begun yesterday by the Great Northern railroad. The bridge supports are to be strengthened and redecked. It is believed that the larger cars may be operated over the bridge to Billings Park after the repairs have been made.

Struck By Auto.

W. F. D. Long, station agent for the Northern Pacific at South Superior, was run down and seriously injured by an automobile owned and driven by M. J. McGuire, a Tower avenue saloon keeper. Mr. Long was riding east of Fifty-ninth street when the accident occurred. He was removed to St. Mary's hospital.

EMPRESS SITE TRANSFERRED

East Superior Street Theater Property Passes Into Local Hands.

The Empress theater property on East Superior street was sold today at a consideration of $60,000. Title in the fifty feet frontage passed from Lottie M. Koon of Washington, D. C., to the Puritan Land company, in which Duluth capitalists are interested. The deal was effected through the office of W. M. Prindle & Co.

War tax fees on the transfer filed at the recorder's office came to $60.

The sale is regarded by realty men to have been made on a favorable basis for the purchasers, the 50-foot frontage at Superior street and Lake avenue having been turned over at $100,000 two years ago.

The building on the lot is now being remodeled into stores with the upper story to be used for lodge rooms. The consideration does not include the cost of the building on the property.

THIS IS JEWISH NEW YEAR'S EVE

This is the Hebrew New Year's eve and the Jewish people of Duluth will begin the celebration of the advent of the new year by special services at Temple Emanuel. Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits will speak.

The Jewish New Year's festival is the oldest of all festivals celebrated in the civilized world. But it is unique for its significance as well as for its antiquity. The secular New Year, it is pointed out by Rabbi Lefkovits, is a day of gratifications; men rejoice in what they have achieved; it is a day for sordid inventories. The Jewish New Year's day, however, is a time for serious thought on the meaning of life; it evokes pious contemplation of the difficult and inevasible problem as to right and wrong and its appeal is not to get more out of practical life but value more genuinely, more truthfully, more morally the life God has entrusted to mankind.

The antique features of the ritual of the day express the aspirations all men feel equally. The trumpet calls, constituting the central part in the worship of that day, are appeals for the moral stir which men should feel when they contemplate the experiences and seek for re-enforcement of their hopes.

The government of Chile has established an aviation school near Santiago, where army and navy officers are being trained.

RICHESON RETURNS TO CITY AND SAYS HE CAN EXPLAIN EVERYTHING

Deputy Court Clerk Indignantly Denies Charges Against Him.

Engine Broke Down Twenty Times on the Return Trip.

Walter J. Richeson, deputy municipal court clerk, returned to Duluth shortly before noon today and upon learning of the discrepancies alleged to have been found in his court records by state examiners, indignantly denied having taken a single penny that belonged to the city. He knew nothing of the charges until he reached home.

"I have not taken a single penny and deny absolutely that my records will even show a $1,000 shortage. I want to go over my books again and the seventy-seven discrepancies they claim, before making any further statement. You can say for me that I am innocent and can explain everything."

He made this statement over the telephone from his home and when asked if it is possible that there are any errors in the court records, declared that, if there are any discrepancies, he is simply the victim of a most loose method of keeping accounts.

Complained of System.

"I have complained time and again of the bad system in force," he added, "but those in charge never listened to me. The probation officer very often paroles a man, without my knowledge, or even that of the court, and as a result the police blotter and my books never tally. I have discovered similar discrepancies on numerous occasions. On other occasions, I have found that a prisoner was released by the probation officer, after he had promised to pay his fine in monthly installments. This is also done without my knowledge and although the police books show that the fine was paid, my records merely show a commitment. The money, when paid, is sometimes given to me, while many times the parole officer turns it in with his accounts. There is no record kept of monthly installments and the records are absolutely at sea regarding them.

"The bond money has all been returned. We very often make out records on slips of paper to file away because separate books are kept for the various offenses and these are very often not handy. But I can explain everything. I am sorry these charges were made before I returned, or had an opportunity to give an explanation."

Mr. Richeson and his companion, Winn Francesco, spent last night at Two Harbors, leaving that city at 7 o'clock this morning. They arrived at the dock at Fifteenth street and Minnesota Point about 11:15 o'clock. They were accompanied by Harold Holt of Port William, Ont., a master mechanic, who helped them repair their engine twenty times on the trip.

Broke Down Twenty Times.

"We broke down twenty different times," said Mr. Francesco this afternoon in explaining the long delay in reaching home. "And each time we took the engine apart and put it together again. On one occasion a bearing broke and we borrowed solder and old pieces of brass from a steamer and moulded our own bearing. This happened at Sturgeon Bay.

"Our engine first broke down just before entering the harbor at Port Arthur on Friday, Aug. 20. A mechanic informed us that we would have to send to Toronto for new parts and we had to wait for these until last Friday, Sept. 3. We remained at Port Arthur for two weeks.

"We left Port Arthur on Friday and just as we reached the breakwater at Fort William the engine broke down. We were compelled to spend the night at the breakwater and in the morning obtained the services of Mr. Holt, who accompanied us to Duluth."

Mr. Francesco declared that Mr. Richeson had showed no signs of worry and that as a matter of fact had insisted on reaching Duluth before Labor day.

"Walter told me he wanted to get back," Mr. Francesco said, "in order to start work on Tuesday of this week. This morning as we reached the pumping station at Lakewood, Walter almost jumped with joy. 'I'm just as tickled to get back and go to work as I was to get away,' he shouted."

Mr. Richeson has been a deputy clerk in the municipal court for the last eight years and two weeks ago the state examiners reported that they found seventy-seven discrepancies in his accounts for the year from Aug. 1, 1914, to Aug. 1 of this year, involving a total of $1,000. They asked city officials to investigate these, believing them to be the result of some mistake, and insisted that the matter not be made public until Mr. Richeson returned from his vacation. However, the matter was published two weeks ago yesterday in the morning paper.

An investigation of the case is now being made by the September grand jury.

Books and records of the court, the county jail, the work farm and the police station were brought before the inquisitorial body, it is understood. John G. Ross, former clerk of the municipal court; A. G. Fiskett, police captain; Fred Ward, superintendent of the work farm and other city and county employes were called before the grand jury as witnesses.

WALTER W. ZUEHLKE, B. A., C. P. A., HAS AN INTERESTED CLASS AT DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

The class in auditing and higher accounting, which received its first lesson from Mr. Zuehlke last evening, was a very interested class and very appreciative, judging from the remarks made by the members present. Mr. Zuehlke is certainly master of what he has attempted to teach, and has the advantage of a practical as well as a theoretical knowledge, also the happy faculty of imparting in a way that will enthuse and interest his students. No course at the Business university will prove more popular than this course in higher accounting. The assistance that Mr. Matteson and Mr. Pratt will give Mr. Zuehlke will warrant the students getting a broad-gauged, thorough course. Those who have begun this work by correspondence or who have listened to lectures once a week will find the methods here of having such an efficient staff handle this work three evenings a week for two hours an evening will warrant success where they otherwise may have been discouraged. Those interested are invited to call and visit the class room any Monday, Wednesday or Friday evening between 7 and 9. Students may begin at any time. Location, 118-120 Fourth avenue west, Christie building. W. C. McCarter, principal. Both phones.

GRAND JURY SCORES LAX HOSPITAL RULES

Serious Operations Performed By Inexperienced Persons, Say Jurors.

Regulative Legislation Is Asked; County Urged to Build New Jail.

Laxity, which has in certain cases virtually amounted to criminal carelessness, is charged against the hospital authorities in St. Louis county by the September grand jury, which submitted a partial report to Judge Bert Fesler in district court last evening.

The jury declares that it is possible for any physician or surgeon, or any person representing themselves as such, to enter the hospitals of this county and perform surgical operations without any question on the part of the hospital authorities as to whether such person is in fact an authorized surgeon who has been properly admitted to practice.

Such practices, the grand jury states, have in the past and may again result in the loss of human life. "The attention of the grand jury," says report, "has also been directed to the fact that serious major surgical operations are frequently being performed by inexperienced and incompetent persons."

Legislation Needed.

As a result of its findings, the grand jury recommends that the evil be corrected by suitable legislation, that laws be passed requiring all persons performing surgical operations to be properly licensed and registered for practice in this state and that statutes be enacted under which no person could perform a major surgical operation except after having proper experience for a period and in a manner determined by the legislature and also having passed a suitable examination.

It is believed that the grand jury's attack upon the hospitals of the county grows out of the investigation of certain charges against a former Duluthian. Among the Duluth physicians who were subpenaed to testify before the grand jury were Dr. W. H. Magie, Dr. F. A. Coventry and Dr. Eliason. This subpena was issued by the clerk of the district court. Just what action the grand jury took with reference to the particular charge has not been disclosed.

Local hospital authorities expressed surprise at the report of the grand jury, declaring that they had never heard of such an accusation against responsible American hospitals.

The grand jury also directed attention to the necessity for a new jail, pointing out that the county commissioners pay no attention to the repeated unsatisfactory reports made by former grand juries. "We feel," says the jury in its report, "that the county commissioners should be compelled, if there is any way to compel them, to take immediate action to provide better quarters for prisoners at the county jail, especially for the women."

Text of the Report.

The full report of the jury is as follows:

"To the Honorable Bert Fesler,

"Judge of the District Court:

"We, the grand jury which convened at the September, 1915, term of the district court of St. Louis county, Minnesota, beg to submit the following report:

"On our visit to the city jail in the rear of the Central police station, we find these quarters in a somewhat insanitary condition; especially in the men and boys' quarters. The women's quarters are in a fair condition. We would recommend a coat of paint for the men and boys' department, and a thorough cleaning and scrubbing throughout.

"We find the county jail in good condition. It is altogether too small to handle the number of prisoners sentenced to confinement in this jail. We find the quarters provided for women entirely too small. There are accommodations for twelve women prisoners and we find seventeen crowded together, regardless of color or physical condition, in one cage, presenting the appearance of what might be pictured out as a cage of wild animals at a circus.

Better Jail Quarters.

"The object of this confinement for women should be for the bettering of their moral character, but we feel that many young women being thrown in with a lot of old timers, as you might call them, would be apt to come out worse than they went in. A number of reports along the same lines as these have been made by nearly every grand jury of the district court for a number of years back, and the county commissioners take no notice whatever. We feel that it is time that the county commissioners should be compelled, if there is any way to compel them, to take immediate action to provide better quarters for prisoners at the county jail, especially for the women. We feel that Sheriff Meining is doing the best he can under existing conditions, and is making everything as comfortable, for both men and women prisoners, as possible.

"On our visit to the county work farm we find everything in first-class condition, plenty of room, and every part of every department kept clean and sanitary. We could find no place where we could offer any suggestions for improvement. We can frankly say that Mr. Ward is entitled to credit for the well-regulated system that he has adopted in all departments. We also wish to express our opinion that the joint board of county and city work farm commission have used good judgment in selecting the superintendent, the officers and the assistants they have to manage the county work farm.

Hospital Conditions.

"Information having reached this grand jury that it is possible for any physician or surgeon, or for any person representing themselves to be such, to enter the hospitals of this county and perform surgical operations without any question on the part of the hospital authorities as to whether such person is in fact an authorized surgeon, who has been properly admitted to practice in the state of Minnesota and properly registered in the county, and that such practices have in the past and may again result in the loss of human life, this grand jury recommends that the matter be brought before the next session of the legislature of the state of Minnesota and suitable laws provided which will require all persons performing surgical operations to be properly licensed and registered for practice in this state, and a record of such license and registration be required to be kept open for public inspection at each hospital.

Major Operations.

"The attention of the grand jury having been directed to the fact that serious major surgical operations are frequently being performed by inexperienced and incompetent persons, this grand jury recommends that legislation should be provided by the next legislature of the state of Minnesota under which no person could perform a major surgical operation except after having proper experience for a period and in a manner to be determined by the legislature, and having also passed an examination as to general knowledge and qualifications for the performance of said major surgical operations, such as is required for membership in the American College of Surgery. Respectfully submitted.

The French commander-in-chief, Gen. Joffre, has returned from a visit to his Italian colleague, Gen. Cadorna. British warships and the guns along the Belgian coast have joined the chorus of artillery fire along the western front. All this gives support to the growing belief in London that an offensive movement of some nature will soon mark the operations of the allies in the west.

The eastern counties of England were again visited by raiding Zeppelins last night. The dirigibles caused some fires and a number of casualties, concerning the extent of which there has as yet been no official announcement.

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 8, 2:30 p. m.—The artillery fighting along the battle line through France continues, according to the statement given out this afternoon by the French war office.

There has been cannonading from Belgium on the north as far south as the Woevre district.

German aviators have bombarded towns in France and aviators of the allies have thrown down bombs at Ostend.

The text of the communication:

"Last night was marked by artillery fighting in Belgium; to the north of Ypres; in the Artois district; around Arras; in the region of Roye and on the plateau between the Oise and the Aisne.

"At several points along the front in the Champagne district between Reims and the Argonne there has been fighting with bombs and rifle firing, together with intervention on the part of the artillery, but without the infantry taking part.

"In the Argonne there was yesterday a violent bombardment in the Harazee sector, together with fairly active cannonading in the north part of the Woevre. The night passed without incident on the remainder of the front.

"Five German aviators this morning threw down bombs on the plateau of Malzeville, where no damage was done, and also on Nancy, where there were some victims.

"Acting in co-operation with British naval aviators, French aeroplanes have bombarded the German aviation camp at Ostend. One of our air squadrons threw down about sixty shells on the aviation field at St. Medard and on the railroad station at Dyesecur."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 8, via London.—The war office last night made public the following official communication:

"In the Riga district the situation is unchanged. South of Friedrichstadt, the enemy has delivered since the night of the 5th energetic attacks on the River Lautzer, which were repulsed. Between the Sventa and the Villya and on the Villya and the Niemen the situation is stationary. German attacks during the 6th against the district of Orany and the lower course of the Miranxenzaca were repulsed. In the direction of Vinsk and Vienciany there is nothing of importance to report.

"On the Middle Niemen the enemy continued on the 5th and 6th to develop his operations from Grodno east and southeast. Further south our rear guards on the morning of the 6th had to sustain very obstinate fighting in the region of Wolkowyska and some further southward on the whole front as far as Pruzana.

"Between Hasselda and Aelda in the fighting on the line of Chomsk-Drohiczyn we continue to hold the enemy's offensive.

"In the region of the Koval-Sarny railroad our cavalry operated successfully against the enemy, carrying out a series of desperate charges which were especially successful near the village of Volosch in the region of Koval and near the Kolki district on the River Stry, where they captured three officers and 138 soldiers.

"On the right bank of the Upper Stry since the morning of the 6th stubborn combats have been engaged in the region of Radziewan between the Rivers Slenowka and Ikwa. Under pressure of the enemy's forces, which were considerably superior numerically, our troops received an order to occupy a stronger position on the Rivers Goryna Stubel and Ikwa. On the Sereth, the enemy, who is generally remaining passive, undertook on the 6th repeated attacks to open an offensive in the region of Tarnopol. These proved futile."

German submarine under the conditions set forth in press dispatches and in accounts given by passengers.

American Lost.

Queenstown, Sept. 8.—It has been established that an American named Wolff was lost on the Hesperian. Wolff signed as an able seaman of the Hesperian's crew. He came from Newark, N. J., and was of Dutch parentage.

Information Asked.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Secretary Lansing today cabled Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to forward any information available on the sinking of the steamer Hesperian.

A state department dispatch from London indicating that one American was lost is inconclusive, and officials do not accept it as final.

American Said to Have Drowned.

London, Sept. 8.—Wesley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, informed the American embassy here today that he had received an unconfirmed report that one of the missing sailors of the Hesperian was an American citizen. Thus far Mr. Frost has been unable to verify the report.

Lieut. Lewis B. McBride, a naval attache of the American embassy, is expected to return to London today from Queenstown, whither he went to collect information concerning the sinking of the Hesperian. He has forwarded no report to Ambassador Page, who therefore has transmitted nothing to the state department at Washington concerning the Hesperian's armament, except Mr. Frost's statement that the vessel mounted a 4.7-inch gun astern.

It was reiterated by state department officials today that it has not been established that the Hesperian was torpedoed. No steps will be taken by the United States until Ambassador Gerard is heard from.

Gun on Hesperian.

Queenstown, Sept. 8.—There is absolutely no doubt that a gun was mounted on the Hesperian.

It is understood the gun was visible to all who cared to look at it, no secret being made of its presence.

A NERVINE TONIC

In many severe nervous disorders the best remedy is often a tonic. The most active tonic treatment is recommended by the highest medical authority to arrest the progress of such diseases.

It is impossible to reach the nerves directly with medicine. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a nervine tonic but they act on the nerves through the blood, enabling the blood to carry to the nerves the elements needed to build them up.

Neuralgia, sciatica, sick headache and a number of more severe nervous troubles are properly treated by building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are often entirely corrected in this way.

If you are nervous you can help yourself by refusing to worry, by taking proper rest, sleep and vacations, by avoiding excesses and by taking out-of-door exercise. For medicine take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the non-alcoholic tonic.

Sufferers from nervous disorders who have been taking treatment without benefit should investigate the tonic method. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." It will be sent free on request.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, fifty cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

passed by the messenger on the door and entered unannounced.

Mrs. Lansing was calling on her husband and the secretary was at his desk with his coat removed, as is his custom ready to begin a day's work.

Secret Service Men Follow.

Men of the secret service guards piled out of the White House and into the state department building through all entrances and some of them finally caught up with the president as he was about to enter Mr. Lansing's office.

It has been customary for the president to summon the secretary when he wishes to confer with him. President Wilson, however, has departed from that custom a great deal by using the telephone. He has shown it to be his habit, however, to visit officials when he has something important to talk about and as was the case of today, he does it without being announced.

Late yesterday Ambassador Dumba conferred at length with Secretary Lansing about the correspondence taken from an American correspondent by British secret service men which disclosed that the Austrian ambassador was concerned in a project to interfere with the operations of American munitions plants. The ambassador explained that his government had instructed him to give widest publicity to a decree making it a criminal offense for any Austro-Hungarian to be concerned in the manufacture of munitions of war for his country's enemies.

Action Not Disclaimed.

So far as was known the ambassador did not disclaim his action nor did he disclaim having reported on the project to his home government in documents which were found on the American correspondent. The state department takes the view that there is no precedent to cover his case, but it regards the use of an American passport for a messenger to one of the belligerent governments as serious.

Secretary Lansing heard all Dr. Dumba had to say and let it be known that he would present the ambassador's explanation to the president. It is known that officials regarded Dr. Dumba's statement that he had acted on instructions of his government as making the situation more grave, as they probably had assumed that he was acting for himself.

Corridors Thronged.

After spending fifteen minutes with Secretary Lansing the president started back for the White House. The state department corridor by that time was thronged by clerks to get a glimpse of the president on such an unusual occasion. No attempt was made to keep them back and as the president moved on he was surrounded by correspondents who asked about his talk with the secretary.

"The state is not trembling," he said, "I just brought over some papers of a routine nature, which ordinarily I would have sent over. There is nothing new at all."

President Wilson was asked if there was anything new in connection with Ambassador Dumba's case.

"Nothing at all," he said. "The secretary is handling that."

Then, surrounded by the secret service men, Mr. Wilson walked downstairs and across the street to his office by the same route as he came.

Although the full text of Ambassador Dumba's letter has been received by the state department, it is said to have contained an enclosure which has not been included in the copy sent to the department. The enclosure hitherto published refers to Consul General von Nuber communicating with the editor of a foreign language newspaper in relation to arrangement of strikes in the Bethlehem works, and in the Middle West.

Secretary Lansing refused to discuss that feature further than to say the enclosure had not been received. He said he had no arrangements for further conferences with the ambassador and made it plain that the final decision was resting with President Wilson.

RUSSIAN EMPEROR TRANSFERS GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS

parable incident was the retirement by Emperor William in October of last year, of Lieut. Gen. Count Helmuth Von Moltke as chief of the German general staff.

Relative Unimportance.

The post to which Grand Duke Nicholas has been transferred is of relative unimportance, as compared with the prestige and vast powers of his former office as commander-in-chief of all Russia's great fighting forces. The Caucasian campaign presents only a minor aspect of the war. The Russian and Turkish forces involved in the struggle in the Black Sea region are not large.

Although there was heavy fighting in the Caucasus earlier in the war, hostilities have been conducted in only a perfunctory manner for several months, as both of the nations involved had need of all available forces in other quarters.

London Surprised.

London, Sept. 8.—Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia, who has been acclaimed as one of the greatest strategists of the war for his masterly retreat in the face of the Austro-German onslaught, has been relegated to the comparatively unimportant post of leader of the Russian forces opposing the Turks in the Caucasus. Nominally the grand duke is succeeded by the emperor. What military men or what general staff will in fact assume the active leadership of Russia's hard-pressed forces is not announced in the emperor's order relieving the grand duke of his important post.

On Thursday last Gen. Alexiev was appointed chief of the grand duke's staff. Some military commentators hazard the guess that upon his shoulders will devolve the chief responsibility.

The removal of Grand Duke Nicholas came as a great surprise to England, where during the last few weeks he had received constant praise for extricating his armies from the Teutonic grip. Now that winter is approaching and the Austro-German forces are moving more slowly, it was believed that what with a shortage of ammunition and other difficulties, he had accomplished all that was humanly possible in the circumstances. His transfer, therefore, was a bolt from a clear sky and marks the most important change of command in any army during the great war.

Has Honorary Command.

In times of peace Emperor Nicholas is invested by law with the honorary command of the army and navy and the announcement that he had assumed this post in person did not at first bring with it any intimation of impending important changes. It was then thought of as noteworthy principally for its moral significance and the impression which it would make on the Russian troops that their sovereign was in close touch with them and had determined to carry the war to a successful conclusion. London newspapers took this view until receipt of the news from Petrograd that the grand duke had been removed.

It is the general impression here that Emperor Nicholas will not determine personally upon the strategetic formula to be followed, but will entrust the destinies of his armies to the chief of the general staff.

As the religious head of the Russian nation the emperor's move, it is pointed out, should prove to be a great moral stimulus to his troops. It is also regarded here as disposing effectually of rumors that Russia contemplates conclusion of a separate peace.

Torreon, the objective point of Gen. Obregon's army advancing from Saltillo. No new advices on the military situation were received at the state department. A decisive engagement is expected within a few weeks.

Secretary Lansing said today that plans for next week's meeting of the Pan-American conferences had not yet been completed.

PEOPLE FLOCK TO STATE FAIR

Lowering Skies Do Not Deter Those Who Would See Exposition.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lowering clouds were expected to keep down the early attendance at the state fair today, but toward noon the street cars were carrying almost the usual loads. It was said that many persons preferred cool weather to the heat of the first two days even if an occasional shower compelled them to seek shelter.

Attendance yesterday was 30,339, against 32,415 on Tuesday a year ago. Minneapolis day started out well, but the shower and wind in the afternoon are believed to have deterred many from visiting the grounds. The rain caused some of the races to be postponed and they will be run off this afternoon in addition to the regular program.

James J. Hill was to speak at the fair today, before the Short Horn Breeders' association in the agricultural building.

NORTH DAKOTAN SHOT.

Lutherans to Meet.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 8.—The general council of the Lutheran church in North America convenes in Rock Island tomorrow. The activities of the council extend into forty states of the Union and six provinces of Canada. The meeting will continue sixty days.

THE EFFECT OF WAR.

Frederic Schreibman in the Engineering Magazine: The objection might be raised that all those who cannot fight are not absolutely lost; most of them have been wounded only. To this I must answer that even those who have not been killed will not again be strong men. Those who by a miracle have not even had the slightest scratch would not dare boast that their strength was as great after the war as before. Indeed, one cannot with impunity lead a life full of great physical and moral privations and suffering through months and perhaps even years such as that now being led in the trenches. I must believe that all who have taken part in the war and who have been in its great battles will lose part of their power to produce, and from this condition I must believe, therefore, that all the European factories will lose a part of their ability to produce.

AN EXPERT OPINION.

Youth's Companion: Among the many humorous anecdotes that have appeared since the outbreak of the war is this from Tit-Bits: The commanding officer of a certain regiment was much troubled about the persistent untidiness of one of his men. Reprimand and punishment had proved to be of no avail.

A brilliant idea struck the colonel. Why not march the man up and down the whole line of the regiment and shame him into decency?

It was done. The untidy warrior, who hailed from the Emerald Isle, was ordered to exhibit himself and march up and down the entire regiment, and the men were told to have a good look at him.

After the ordeal was over the unabashed son of Erin halted, saluted the colonel, and said in the hearing of the whole corps:

"Dirtiest regiment I iver inspected sor."

JUNEAU READY FOR FOOTBALL

Wisconsin Gridiron Candidates Will Soon Report for Work.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 8.—Plans for the 1915 football season at the University of Wisconsin started early this week when Head Coach "Bill" Juneau arrived in the city to look up the eligibility of some of the men on whom he is counting to fill places in the Badger lineup. The coach was non-committal when asked as to the results of his visit but it is rumored that there is an excellent chance for most of the A-1 men to become eligible before the season opens.

Coach Juneau has a large squad of men under advisement at the present time and most of them are now basking in the sunshine of eligibility. Of the others, among whom are a number of varsity caliber, most of them are within a slight margin of the required notch—7-7. In case they are allowed to do additional work in order to raise their grades they will undoubtedly be seen in varsity suits when Lawrence comes to open the season.

Coach Juneau will be assisted this year by his old staff of assistant coaches but the division of the work has not yet been determined. It is certain that "Tom" Wilson, former Princeton Tiger, who coached the line last year, will be back on the same job. Wilson was new to western football last fall but with the benefit of a year's experience with western tactics and with a first-hand knowledge of the material he ought to develop a stronger line than Wisconsin had a year ago.

Jones May Coach.

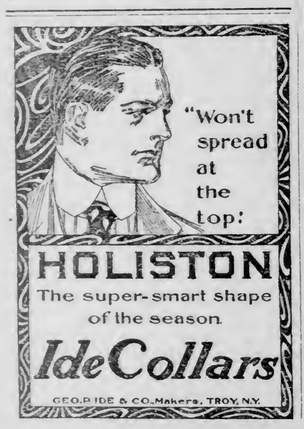

There is a chance that Tom Jones, track coach and "father" of all the freshman teams last year, may forsake his yearlings and devote his time to the varsity. There are a number of people who would welcome such a step. Coach Jones' freshmen last year did phenomenal work against their older opponents. Their work was characterized by dash and fight that it would have paid the varsity to pattern after. He knows the game thoroughly, is a keen judge of material, inspires confidence and could be of great assistance to Coach Juneau.

In case such a step is taken, Earl Driver, who had charge of the second squad, will be given the freshmen to work on. He has had considerable experience with yearling aggregations in the past with marked success. This change would not interfere with his efficiency as a "scout." Driver has done practically all of the "sightseeing" for the Badgers for the last few seasons and he has no peer when it comes to watching opponents in action and getting a line on their attack.

With this staff, the Badgers ought to be as well equipped for coaching material as any team in the conference. It is also probable that when the time for the big games comes round many former stars will be on hand to render any assistance that may be desired. "Jimmy" Dean, captain of the 1910 team, has now completed his medical education and is practicing in the city so that his services can be had whenever they are needed. He was one of the best ends Wisconsin ever had and he ought to be able to give many valuable pointers to the Badger candidates.

Keeler to Help.

"Tubby" Keeler, captain of the 1914 team, is in the banking business at La Crosse and, should present conditions be maintained, he will be able to give a number of hours to the 1915 men. With three years of experience, two of them as an All-Western selection, the guards ought not be wanting for expert advice on "how to do it."

Cubs Trim Cards.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 8.—Singles by Vaughn, Good and Saier and Zimmerman's double in the sixth inning sent Meadows to the clubhouse in favor of Robinson and gave Chicago a 3 to 1 victory over St. Louis here yesterday. In this inning Fisher and Manager Bresnahan were put out of the game for disputing O'Day's ball and strike decisions. The locals' lone tally came in the fourth when, with the bases full, Vaughn passed Butler, forcing in Miller. Score:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Tigers Suffer Defeat.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Chicago defeated Detroit yesterday 10 to 8 in one of the most exciting games of the season. The locals won the game in the sixth inning. They bunched hits and this, coupled with the erratic fielding of Vitt, Stanage and Bush, clinched the game. Chicago batted all the way around, Jackson being at bat twice. Six hits were massed by Chicago which netted six runs. Manager Jennings used seventeen men in the battle in an effort to stop Chicago. Score:

Yankees Win Over Boston.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8.—New York bunted its way to a third victory over the league leaders yesterday 8 to 3. They scored five runs, their margin of victory, in the third inning on five bunted balls, on which there were two errors of commission and several of omission, and two passes. Bauman made the circuit of bases on one bunt. Shore then gave way to Collins, who was hit hard at times. Mogridge was erratic but steadied when needed. Score:

Mackmen Really Win.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—Philadelphia and Washington split even here yesterday, the former winning the first game 6 to 5, and the visitors the second, 7 to 4. Philadelphia scored the winning run of the opening event in the eighth inning when Strunk tripled and tallied on Milan's wild throw. In the second game Washington won by knocking Fillingim off the rubber in the sixth inning. After the second inning, Rice pitched in fine style for the visitors. Schang was spiked in the thumb during the first game and was forced to leave the field. Scores:

FORMER GOLF CHAMP STAGES "COME BACK"

ROBERT GARDNER.

Robert Gardner, who won the golf championship of the United States at Detroit, is a former champion, having taken the title in 1909. He has never reached the finals since but has always been regarded as a dangerous man because of his ability as well as his nerve. He was a champion polevaulter at Yale and undoubtedly owes the strength of his wrists, forearm and shoulders to that fact.

CALIFORNIA TENNIS STAR HAS DISASTROUS SEASON

MAURICE E. M'LOUGHLIN Of San Francisco.

The former holder of nearly every American tennis championship seems to be "going back." His invasion of the East this year has resulted in defeats in every event on which his heart was set. Yesterday he was beaten out of the American national championship, which he held up to a year ago, by Johston, a youthful star of McLoughlin's home city, and his permanent possession of the cup was delayed at least one year. Johnston outplayed McLoughlin in every department of the game. "Youth must be served," and McLaughlin's greater experience had to bow to greater stamina.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Another No-Hit-No-Run.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 8.—Davenport pitched a no-hit, no-run game here yesterday and enabled St. Louis to shut out Chicago 3 to 0 in the first game of a double-header, but the visitors, in a ninth-inning rally, took the second game 3 to 2. Watson held St. Louis scoreless until the eighth inning of the second game, while the locals scored twice. In this inning, Hendrix singled and scored on Zelder's double. Flack and Zeider worked a squeeze play and the latter tied the score. In the final inning Westerzell doubled and brought in the winning run on Weiss' single. Scores:

Pittfeds Take Two.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—Pittsburgh bunched hits in two games here yesterday and defeated the locals 3 to 2 and 4 to 2. "Bone" Loses Game.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Indianapolis won the first game, 2 to 1, and the second was a 5-to-5 tie, called at the end of the eleventh inning because of darkness yesterday. A stupid play by First Baseman Miller, who held the ball after catching a foul fly, while Kelly scored from third with the tying run in the tenth inning, prevented Louisville from winning the second game. The first game was won through the effective pitching of Victor Aldredge, a recruit, who held the visitors to five hits and one run. Scores:

COLLEGE TEAM GOLF.

Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania Win in First Matches.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 8.—Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania were the winners in the first of the team matches for the intercollegiate golf championship yesterday over the links of the Greenwich Country club. Yale defeated Harvard seven points to two; Princeton, the championship combination of last year, won from Williams, 8 to 1, and Pennsylvania defeated Cornell 7 to 2.

Many of the matches were one-sided and it was not until late in the day that there were any hard-fought contests. No less than five were carried to the home hole or beyond.

NEW REFEREE TO OFFICIATE

George Barton or Bill Hoke in Ring at Local Shows.

Duluth Athletic Club Completes Card for This Month.

When the Duluth Athletic club stages its next show on Sept. 23 the third man in the ring will be either George Barton, sporting editor of the Minneapolis Daily News, or Billy Hoke, well known Gopher sportsman, who has figured in athletics for many years and who has a large personal acquaintance in Duluth. Both of these officials were appointed by the state boxing commission.

Another new feature which will be welcomed by the Duluth fans is the fact that John Doran, prominent in amateur theatricals in this city and a big favorite with all classes of fans, will do the announcing.

Displeased with the showing made here in the first show, when Ad Wolgast boxed Joe Welling, the club officials have placed the taboo on former champions, has-beens and trial horses. For their next show they have secured three slashing matches in which six of the rising young boxers of the country will participate.

In the main bout Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul will tie up with Walter Monahan of Pittsburgh, the weight being 145 pounds and the distance ten rounds. Both of these boys pack healthy kicks and each is an aspirant for the world's welterweight title. In the semi-windup Billy Whalen of St. Paul will meet Jerry Dalton of Indianapolis and, like the main go, this should prove a ripping encounter. "Kid" Billings, the Superior lightweight, and Steve Gardner of Duluth should give the fans a roaring battle during the ten sessions they are booked to show. Both boys are fast and clever and each is a most willing performer. It is certain that there will not be an idle moment in this bout.

The coming show will be staged in the Lyceum theater, which has a seating capacity, including the stage, of 2,200. The construction of the theater makes it ideal for boxing shows, every seat affording a good view of the arena.

Giants Sign Cuban.

New York, Sept. 8.—Joseph Rodriguez, a first baseman of the Reds of Havana, has been signed by the New York Nationals. He will report to the Giants next spring.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET ON SCHEDULE FOR SUNDAY

Finnish Athletes of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota to Compete.

Effort Will Be Made to Break Several Olympic Records.

What will probably prove to be the greatest field and track meet ever held in the North will be staged next Sunday at Billings Park, Superior, when the Finnish Athletic association of the city across the pond, will put on its first annual show.

Many of the more prominent features that figure in Olympic games will be on the program and hundreds of stalwart athletes will come from distant cities to participate. The meet is not restricted to any one particular society, nationality or class; but is open to everyone, professionals as well as amateurs. It is expected that several records, made in the Olympic games in Stockholm, Sweden, will be equalled and some may be broken.

The great Finnish colony of Duluth, which is one of the largest in the United States, will be strongly represented on the Superior program and many hundred men, women and children will go to the Wisconsin side of the harbor to root for their favorites.

The copper and iron districts of the upper peninsula of Michigan and the cities and towns on the Mesaba and Vermillion ranges will have several entrants in the big athletic show. Many of these have real class and will, undoubtedly, make a strong bid for the prizes which have been hung up.

Putting the shot, throwing the discus, throwing the javelin, running broad jump, running high jump, standing broad jump, standing high jump, 100-yard dash, two-mile run, 100-yard swimming race.

In all of the throwing and putting events the contestants must use both their right and left hands and in the jumps both right and left feet. The winners will be determined by the point system.

The women have not been forgotten for they will have a program all their own which will be pulled off just before the men's events start. The fair athletes will sprint and jump and take part in some novelty contests.

YOUTH BEATS EXPERIENCE AND MAKES NEW TENNIS CHAMPION

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The thirty-fifth annual national lawn tennis championship tournament will close today with the round for the title in doubles. Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco and Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles, who have held the championship for the past three years will defend it against another team of Californians—William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin.

A new national tennis champion was crowned here yesterday, when William M. Johnston of San Francisco defeated Maurice E. McLoughlin of the same city in a gruelling four-set match for the singles title.

The youthful Californian dashed the hopes of the more famous internationalist by winning at 1-6, 6-0, 7-5, 10-8 and thus preventing for a year, at least, the former champion's hope of clinching permanent possession of the huge silver all-comers bowl.

With two legs already to his credit on the trophy, McLoughlin made a sensational battle to win it permanently, but neither physically nor with racquet wizardry was he able to compete with his younger opponent.

Brilliant and Mediocre.

The four-set match showed everything from mediocre play to the tennis of the master. Both players had their flashes of brilliancy or poor play, but at all times the pace and strain was terrific, and in the long run Johnston's youth served him better than the greater experience of McLoughlin.

There was no hint of the impending defeat of the champion of 1912 and 1913 when Johnston and McLoughlin started play. McLoughlin was at his best, and at first made his younger opponent look like a novice, racing through the set before Johnston could shake off his nervousness. Only when the latter got going, the whole complexion of the match was changed. Little by little Johnston solved the tactics and strokes of the older master, and, increasing his speed and control, beat McLoughlin in almost every department of play. A careful study of the stroke analysis shows that despite Johnston's wavering and uncertain start, he outpointed McLoughlin 4 service aces to 3, 52 placement shots to 51, restricted his nets to 37 as against McLoughlin's 42, and his outs 26 to 38.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

In double faults alone did he exceed the former champion, the records being 6 to 3 in this department. During the four-set contest Johnston scored 24 games and 140 points against 19 games and 123 points for McLoughlin.

Johnston Better General.

This analysis does not show, however, the skill and cleverness with which Johnston worked out his victory. Considering the match as a whole, he proved his better generalship and stroke ability by forcing McLoughlin to play mid-court most of the time.

In the first set it was quickly revealed to Johnston that he had absolutely no chance, for McLoughlin swung his racquet close to the net. McLoughlin showed the physical strain as early as the second set, which he lost at love, thus establishing what is said to be a record in his tennis career. He appeared to realize that the crucial moment in his remarkable court career had arrived with the opening of the third set. The rallies were long and terrific, but in the long run it was Johnston who won the deciding points, and McLoughlin was tired and doubtful when he went to the clubhouse for the seven-minute rest following the third set.

The intermission did not appear to help him much, and when the players took the court again, McLoughlin was slow in covering ground and in stroking the ball. He was game to the finish, however, and brought the last iota of experience and technique to his aid in a futile effort to hold Johnston in check.

HUNTERS GET RIGHT ON LAW

Attorney General Clears Up Mooted Point on Bird Bags.

Many Duluth hunters took advantage of the first day of the open season for ducks and chickens and departed yesterday for the fields and lakes in this part of the state where they fervently hope to get some good shooting. Several of the local nimrods went to Pelican lake and other inland bodies of water which lie close to the Canadian boundary. It is said that ducks are plentiful and the Duluthians expect to enjoy some good sport and come home with full bags.

For the reason that many hunters cannot get away from their business or jobs during the week, the first big day's shooting is slated for next Sunday.

Some New Laws.

Several new laws in regard to the number of birds a hunter may kill in one day have been made this year. A new state statute says that any one hunter shall not have more than 45 ducks in his possession at one time. The old law had the limit at 50. Fifteen ducks and ten chickens is the limit for a day's bag, according to the new law.

Law Interpreted.

The change in the "bag" limit laws made by the last legislature is so confusing that a local hunter has obtained an opinion from the attorney general as to the exact intent of the new statute on the subject.

The attorney general holds that the law permits the hunter to shoot 10 chickens and 15 ducks in one day and to have 30 chickens and 45 ducks in his possession at one time. Here is the opinion:

"You ask for a construction of that portion of Chapter 237, General Laws of 1915, which fixes the bag limit of birds. The language of the act to which you refer is as follows:

"'But no person shall, in any one day, take or kill more than 10 birds of any and all birds, except wild ducks, of which not over 15 shall be taken or killed in one day, or have in his possession at any time more than 30 game birds of any and all varieties, except wild ducks, of which not more than 45 may be had in possession at any one time.'"

HEAVY TRACK FOR STATE FAIR RACES

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 8.—A somewhat heavy track slowed up the Great Western races at the state fair yesterday which were witnessed by a large crowd. Results follow:

2.16 trot, Minneapolis purse, $3,000; unfinished; Miss Perfection, first; Slip Past, second; The Proof, third; best time, 2:08¼.

2:16 pace, purse, $900; unfinished; Madame Mac, first; Dicto, second; Byron Lockheart, third; best time, 2:07½.

Killifer Out of Game.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—William Killifer, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, may be out of the game the rest of the season, according to Manager Moran who returned here from Brooklyn. Killifer did not accompany the other members of the team to this city, but remained in New York under the care of a specialist. He felt a twinge in his shoulder in the afternoon game Monday. He had to retire early in yesterday's game, however, because of the injury.

CADDIES HIKE OFF TO SCHOOL

Starting of Classes Interferes With Four Golf Tournaments.

Many Interesting Events on Fall Schedule of Country Club.

Four golf tournaments which are under way at the links of the Northland Country club had to give way to the opening of classes in the various schools of the city yesterday when the caddies, who have been working all summer at the club grounds, responded to the summons of the big school bells. While some of the club members took part in friendly games yesterday and in matches against their old comrade, Colonel Bogey, no contests in the various tournament events were staged.

It is expected that when the caddies get through with their school registration work and get their studies lined up, the boys will have more time to devote to carrying golf sticks and chasing balls.

The summer handicap has reached the semi-finals with C. R. Rust to play E. N. Whyte and F. B. Ferguson to play W. G. Hegardt. The winners of these two matches will meet in the finals. George H. Crosby is the first player to reach the third round of the club championship tournament while W. G. Hegardt and J. Q. A. Crosby have reached the finals in the Veterans' Cup Summer tournament.

Through the default of E. B. Hawkins, J. Q. A. Crosby goes into the first round of Veterans' Fall Handicap tournament, the draw for which was made on Aug. 21 and which follows:

YOUNG SOUTHERN GOLF CHAMPION SENSATION OF WOMEN'S TOURNEY

Chicago, Sept. 8.—With the field narrowed down to sixteen players, the second match round in the women's national golf championship tournament was decided today at Onwentsia Country club, Lake Forest.

The performance of Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., the Southern champion, attracted a large gallery today as the 17-year-old Georgia star played at the top of her game yesterday. She was paired with Miss Laurie Kaiser, holder of the women's championship of Chicago.

The East had eight players among the survivors of yesterday's play, and six represented the West. The South had one representative in Miss Stirling, while the burden of carrying foreign honors fell to Mrs. W. A. Gavin of Shirley Park, England.

Few upsets marked the first match round yesterday, the better known players defeating newcomers in several of the sixteen contests, while the few struggles in which equally famous golfers were paired usually depended on a shot or two for decisions.

Star Match of Day.

The closest match yesterday was that in which Miss Sterling defeated Mrs. Harry D. Hammond of Indianapolis, last year's Western champion, and runner-up this year, in 19 holes. Miss Sterling led all the way after the sixth hole until Mrs. Hammond squared the struggle on the eighteenth green by driving 200 yards, approaching well and holing in 4 while Miss Sterling flubbed her approach and took 5 for the 266-yard hole. Miss Sterling outdriven at almost every hole, outplayed Mrs. Hammond in the short game and was straighter with the wood.

When Miss Stirling saw a prospective victory slipping from her at the eighteenth hole, she continued to play coolly and deliberately. At the extra hole, 400 yards, Mrs. Hammond drove nearly 200 yards but sliced to the edge of the course, between a row of trees and the boundary fence. She raised a good mid-iron shot but the ball hit a tree and bounced out of bounds. Her third was 125 yards short of the flag. Miss Sterling drove straight 175 yards and put her second ahead of Mrs. Hammond's third. Mrs. Hammond's approach was a trifle strong, reaching far side of the green while Miss Stirling was fully as short. The Southern champion's uphill putt grazed the cup and was an easy 5, while the Indianapolis star missed by a foot on her fifth.

Other Matches.

Another tight contest was played by Mrs. R. H. Barlow, a Philadelphia expert, and Marion Hollins of New York, the Philadelphian winning on the home green one up when Miss Hollins barely missed a 30-foot putt to square the match.

Miss Elaine Rosenthal, Western champion, easily disposed of Ethel Chatfield of De Kalb, Ill., 7 and 6 and was still picked as the best chance of the West to win the championship. She plays Marion Edwards of Chicago, today. Mrs. Charles H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, gold medalist in the qualifying with eighty-five strokes kept up the pace and accounted for Eleanor Chandler of Philadelphia 7 and 6.

Mrs. Gavin of England, will play Mrs. Fox of Philadelphia tomorrow in the second round and Mrs. J. V. Hurd (Dorothy Campbell) of Pittsburgh, will meet Miss Allen of Boston. Another interesting match will be between Miss Hyde of New York and Mrs. Barlow of Philadelphia. Miss Sterling will meet Laurie Kaiser, Chicago champion, while Miss Goldham of Toledo will play Mrs. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia.

CHICAGO MOTORBOAT FIRST IN TITLE RACES

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Disturber IV, James A. Pugh's big Chicago motorboat racer, won the first of the series of races for the national championship and the Harley cup in easy style yesterday. Miss Detroit was second. The course was twice around the outer cribs, a distance of 30.5 miles. Disturber IV made the first round, or fifteen miles, at the rate of 55 miles an hour, but Skipper Pugh, finding that his speedy craft had a great advantage, reduced his speed and the average rate for the entire distance was 49.4 miles an hour.

Six motorboats of the ten originally entered for the United States motorboat championship competed. The time of the first four was: Disturber IV, 36:58; Miss Detroit, 42.37; Baby Reliance, 42.37 4-5; Peter Pan, 42:38 3-5.

The second of the series of races will take place today.

FIVE HEATS AND NO FINAL RESULT

Thrilling Trotting Race at Hartford Has to Be Continued.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 8.—After five heats yesterday, replete with thrills in every one, the 2:10 class pace was put over until today before a winner could be decided in the second day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak park.

Hal Boy took the first heat in a close finish from Russell Boy and then Judge Ormonde obtained the next two, Russell Boy both times being the contender.

In the third heat Hal Boy was distanced, but after a statement to the judges by Drivers McMahon and Murphy, Hal Boy was placed because of unintentional interference on the part of Murphy with Peter Farren. The fourth heat was a thriller. Geers, who was in second place, sent Russell Boy out to the front, when Judge Ormonde, driven by Valentine, leading, was seen to swerve out and force Russell Boy to one side, just winning by a head. Geers protested, declaring that three times in the heat Valentine had forced him to the outside as he was about to take the lead, and the judges finally distanced Judge Ormonde for foul driving.

The other two events on the card were tame affairs, Volga winning the 2-year-old race in straight heats and Mirthful never being in danger in the 2:10 trot.

CONNECTICUT YACHT WINS NATIONAL HONOR

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The Josephine, Addison J. Hannan's class P sloop of the Indian Harbor Yacht club, Greenwich, Conn., by defeating the Valiant, owned by Fred Price of the Columbia Yacht club, in the third and deciding race yesterday, won the Manhassett cup, the Ocean-Great Lakes trophies, and the national championship for fifty-foot sloops.

The Josephine's time for the sixteen miles was 2:56:47. The Valiant's time was 3:05:50, a difference of nine minutes and three seconds. The race was over a windward-leeward course.

CENTRAL HIGH TEAM STRONG

With the exception of four players lost through graduation, the Duluth Central high school football team will be the same as last year. Kerr, Taylor, Bartlett and Neff are the members who will not be with the crew this year.

With the main body of the 1914 team reporting, Duluth should have strong claims to the state high school championship. All of the boys who performed last year were fast but there was hardly enough beef on the team to make it a great success. Most of the boys that will be back this fall have taken on weight and with the experience gained through their work of last season, should be strong contenders for the highest football honors in high schools of Minnesota.

The "D" men, who reported to Coach Blake yesterday, follow: Mann, Richards and Jentoft who will tryout for end positions; Lawson, O'Brien, Lewis and Walsh, candidates for the backfield and Rasmussen and Capt. Warner.

Candidates for the team were given a delightful thrill yesterday when it was announced that Skull Hrutford, champion sprinter of all the Duluth schools, will be a candidate for one of the back or end positions. "Guinea" Brown, former high school player, who showed great ability several years ago, may also report.

Hoene Wins Prize Cup.

A. Hoene, Duluth golfer, was returned the winner in the President's cup play at the Northland Country club on Labor day. At first it was announced he had tied with A. L. Ordean, but it now develops that the score made by Mr. Hoene was 5 up on bogey, while Mr. Ordean's score was 2 up.

M'INTYRE HEADS BASEBALL LEAGUE

Masonic Indoor Players Begin Activities for Season.

A. D. MacIntyre was elected president of the Masonic Indoor Baseball league at the annual meeting of the organization last evening at the Masonic temple. Ray W. Fenton was chosen secretary-treasurer. The board of directors consists of the presiding officers of the various Masonic bodies supporting teams in the league.

A meeting of the directors will be held in the near future to arrange a schedule for the coming season. It is expected that the same teams will enter this year as last.

LEAGUE RACES ARE GETTING EXCITING

Brooklyn - Boston Series May Eliminate One or Other.

New York, Sept. 8.—The on-rushing Brooklyn Nationals took another step toward the achievement of their pennant ambitions yesterday by making a clean sweep of the series with Philadelphia, decreasing the Phillies' lead to a little over a game. The result of the game at Ebbetts field also placed the Boston champions, who won from New York, nearer first place, although they are still a little less than two games behind the Superbas.

With the three teams bunched closer together than at any time since the race began to tighten, changes are likely to happen and the games between the Braves and Superbas at Brooklyn today and Thursday may reduce the race to a two-team affair.

If Brooklyn can maintain its present rate of speed and take the series from the Braves, the Bostonians virtually will be eliminated.

The contenders for the flag in the American league suffered defeats yesterday. Boston is now one game ahead of Detroit, the Red Sox dropping another game to New York, while Detroit was losing to Chicago.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PIONEER OF TWO STATES

Beers Johnstone, Early Settler of Minnesota and North Dakota, Dies.

Served in Gopher Indian War and Was Brother of Duluthian.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 8.—The last rites were said here this afternoon from his home for Beers Johnstone, a pioneer of Minnesota and North Dakota and veteran of the Minnesota Indian wars, who died Monday, aged 82, in full possession of his mental faculties until the end.

Mr. Johnstone has a brother living in Duluth, Samuel Johnstone. The late Mr. Johnstone was born in lower Canada on the shores of Lake Champlain, of Scotch-Irish descent, and was married in March, 1857, to Miss Frances Wharin of Kingston, Eng. They lived in Vermont until 1858, when they removed to Henderson, Minn., where he remained until after the Civil war. He enlisted in the Tenth infantry, Minnesota Volunteers, Company H, and was en route for the South when the Indians broke out in Southern Minnesota, and his company was ordered back to help withstand the attack. So Mr. Johnstone served under Col. Sibley throughout the Indian massacres.

Moves to Dakota.

In 1867 he moved to Glencoe, Minn., where he remained until 1883, when he came to Grand Forks county, being among those who dared claim the new regions, satisfied to pay the price of sacrifice and hardship.

He was a natural linguist and spoke several languages with ease. He was quite an authority on life and customs and the language of the Indians. He had been active and had enjoyed life until eleven weeks ago, when he was taken with a severe illness incident to old age, and suffered intensely till his death yesterday.

He is survived by three sons and three daughters, Bert Johnstone of Emerado, N. D.; Henry Johnstone of Emerado, N. D.; George R. Johnstone, Ferndale, Wash.; Miss M. Beatrice Johnstone, superintendent of schools in Grand Forks county, Grand Forks; Mrs. Ben Osborne, Emerado, N. D., and Mrs. Carrie Working, Henderson, Minn., and three brothers, Thomas in Allendale, Samuel in Duluth and James in Vermont, and two married sisters in Quebec.

Prefers Death to Insanity.

Dillon, Mont., Sept. 8.—The body of B. A. Smith of Dillon was found hanging from the limb of a tree a mile from here by fishermen. A search of the pockets of the swaying body disclosed a note which read: "Feeling that I am going nutty, I thus take this way of ending it all.—Smith."

CROOKSTON SCHOOLS HAVE NEW TEACHERS

Nineteen Not Formerly Connected With Schools on Job.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 8.—With nineteen new teachers the Crookston schools opened yesterday what promises to be a successful year. The new teachers are:

High school—C. H. Geise, principal; Miss Sophie Silverson, Latin and Norse; Miss Charlotte Boller, mathematics; Miss Edna Pammel, elocution and German; Miss Mildred Coe, music, and Miss Mabel Shannon, English. Junior high school—Miss Florence Lindow, arithmetic; Marie Hooverson, arithmetic and geography; and Miss Estella Burroughs, arithmetic and geography. Old high building—Miss Marie Sargeant, second grade; Miss Myrtle Anderson, first and second grades; Franklin building—Catherine Morgan, third grade, and Miss Ida Ormsrud, first and second grades. McKinley building—Clara Eastwold, principal; Miss Stella Hanson, third and fourth grade. Washington building—Miss Gertrude Tideman, principal. Eugene Field building—Margaret Lewhan, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Grace Welch, second and third grades and Miss Dora Fisher, first grade.

BADGER METHODISTS BUSY AT CONFERENCE

New York Bishop Stirs Delegates By Address on Great War.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 8.—Fired by the well timed address delivered last night by Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York city, president of the conference, the delegates to the Wisconsin conference of Methodist Episcopal churches, entered upon today's program of activities with an enthusiasm that promises to accomplish much before the close of the session.

Speaking extemporaneously the bishop among other things, touched upon the European war. He drew an analogy between the struggle of today and the Napoleonic wars of the nineteenth century, referring to them as a "combat between Corsica and Galilee," and said that now as then, the end must see the destruction of the selfish enemies of man.

The regular business session today opened at 8:30 o'clock and was followed by a memorial service. This afternoon there will be a meeting of missionary societies.

One of the general questions coming up for discussion during the conference will be that of establishing a fund for the aid of aged ministers.

SEED TAKEN OUT OF HEN'S CROP

Bunch of Garden Peas Exhibited By Cook County Citizen.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—A bunch of garden peas in the Cook county agricultural exhibit at the state fair has a story behind it as unique as the plants are interesting when their home in the northeast corner of Minnesota in "the county off the map," also without a railroad, is considered.

The variety is called Howenstine Pennsylvania Dutch and is as sturdy as its name. The peas were being brought from Pennsylvania by one of the Howenstine pioneers in the middle of the last century. A hungry hen discovered the bag and was swallowing the last seed when the pioneer farmer, hundreds of miles from more of the choice seed, came on the scene.

Off went the hen's neck and the seeds were rescued for the spring planting. From the small group of ancestors whose adventures rivaled that of Jonah came the luxuriant growth of green which the Cook county exhibit, under C. C. Monker of Grand Marais, has to show.

MINING MEN ARE DOING STATE FAIR

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Lake Superior Mining institute, who spent yesterday looking over the Cuyuna range and holding a business session here in the Franklin school building, ended their meeting last night and left by special train for Hamline, where they are taking in the state fair today.

At the business session the following officers were elected: President, P. E. Lawrence, Palatka, Mich., general superintendent of the Verona Mining company; secretary, J. Youngbloth, Ishpeming, Mich., secretary of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, re-elected; treasurer, E. W. Hopkins, Commonwealth, Mich., general manager of the Ogleby-Norton company.

There were nearly 300 in the party, which arrived from Duluth by special train early in the morning.

Visit Several Mines.

They were taken over the range on flat cars arranged with special seats, and visited the Armour, Thompson, Kennedy, Pennington, Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Hill Crest mine, and finally were taken to Riverton to inspect the Rowe mine and concentration plant.

While at Riverton the party was the guests of Supt. Barr at a Dutch lunch. The party returned to Crosby at 3 p. m. and held a business meeting in the Franklin school building, listening to papers prepared on mining subjects.

At 5 o'clock all were given a big barbecue by the Commercial club and George H. Crosby at his Hickory lodge farm. A 340-pound steer was roasted and served with plenty of side dishes.

Well Known Men in Party.

Among well-known mining and railroad men in the party are:

J. E. Jopling, Ishpeming, chief engineer of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company; J. H. Hearding, Duluth, assistant general manager of the Oliver Iron Mining company; Charles Fairburn, Birmingham, Ala., of the Republic Iron and Steel company; Earl E. Hunner, Duluth, of the Great Northern Ore company; F. A. Wildes, Hibbing, state mine inspector; Jesse C. Madson, captain of the Leetonia mine, Hibbing; W. C. Hart, superintendent of the M. A. Hanna company, Wakefield mine; Capt. Barr and Frank Hutchinson of the Pittsburgh Stee Ore company; John Lutes of the Pennington mine; W. E. Wearne of the Inland Steel company; Col. Gust Carlson of Hibbing and Duluth; Francis J. Webb, superintendent of the Republic Iron and Steel company on the Mesaba; C. A. Stillman, president and general manager of the Rogers-Brown Ore company; W. A. Barrows and Carl Zapffe of Brainerd; W. P. Chinn, general superintendent of the Pickands-Mather company, Mesaba range; L. P. Brewer of the committee on arrangements; N. Flodin, Marquette, Mich., of the South Shore Engine Works; Mr. McNair, president of the Houghton School of Mines; J. R. Michael, superintendent, and David R. Williams, trainmaster, of the Soo railway; O. W. Johnstone, Soo ore traffic agent; E. L. Pearce, Marquette, Mich.; Joe Fay, Marquette; William West, Hibbing, general superintendent of the Oliver Iron Mining company, Hibbing district; J. H. Cooke, Superior, ore dock agent of the Northern Pacific railway; State Auditor J. A. O. Preus; J. G. Vivian, secretary and treasurer of the Duluth Diamond Drilling company; F. W. Denton, general manager Copper Range company, copper mines in Michigan; W. H. Strachan, Duluth, superintendent Lake Superior division Northern Pacific railway; L. W. Burnham, traffic agent Northern Pacific, St. Paul; Felix A. Vogel, Commonwealth Mining company, Commonwealth, Wis.; D. E. Sutherland, superintendent Oliver Iron Mining company, Ironwood, Mich.; Capt. N. B. Roscorla, Iron Mountain mine, Cuyuna range; William Kelly, general manager Cambria Steel and Iron company, Vulcan, Mich.; George H. Abecl, Ironwood, Mich.; Capt. Peter W. Pascoe, Cleveland-Cliffs, Republic, Mich.; Capt. William Pascoe, Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine, Cuyuna range; Capt. W. J. Richards, Crystal Falls, Mich., general manager Corrigan-McKinney company; Capt. H. M. Lawry, Iron River, Mich., formerly in charge of Adams mine, Cuyuna range; and several others.

Not Senatorial Candidate If Several Republicans Seek Honor.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Former Congressman James A. Tawney will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator if the opposition to Senator Clapp is to be divided among a group of Republicans.

Inasmuch as the field is to be so divided, Mr. Tawney's decision will be regarded as a final elimination of his name from consideration.

The decision which Mr. Tawney has reached was made in a statement here just before leaving for Warroad, where the International Joint commission held a public hearing yesterday.

Sees Democratic Victory.

"If the opposition to Senator Clapp is to be divided and if several candidates are to enter the field in opposition to him, I shall most certainly not be a candidate. If the opposition to Senator Clapp divides its strength, Clapp will be nominated and will be defeated by a Democrat. For me, I am not anxious to contribute to such a result by adding to the complication by becoming a candidate. There is only one chance for the Republicans to select the senator and that is to unite on some one for the nomination and then elect him."

ONE MAN IS KILLED, ANOTHER BADLY HURT

When Their Automobile Turns Over Near Barnesville, Minn.

Barnesville, Minn., Sept. 8.—Louis Engh, a former Moorhead bartender, was instantly killed, Harry Rogers, formerly the Moorhead agent of the Duluth Brewing company, suffered probably fatal injuries and two other men barely escaped when the Engh automobile turned over, eight miles northwest of here, where the four had celebrated Labor day.

Engh, who was driving, was pinned beneath the car. His head was crushed. Both he and Rogers are married and have several children.

EAU CLAIRE MAN HAS HONDURAS MINE JOB

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 8.—George B. Drummond has accepted the position of cashier of the Ulcawas Gold Mining company, situated in the interior of Spanish Honduras, Central America. He left here yesterday and will proceed via New Orleans arriving at the mines in about a fortnight. Mr. Drummond's duties besides the important one indicated by his title will include the purchase of all mining supplies, machinery, etc.

SPOKANE, WASH., MAN IS CALLED IN CASS LAKE

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 8.—The funeral of Herman Davis of Spokane, Wash., a young railroad man, formerly living here, who died Monday at Cass Lake of diabetes while visiting Frank Gorenflo, will be held here tomorrow. He lived here for several years, holding the position of ticket agent for several years. He was married in this city in 1904, to Miss Kate Hurley, who survives him and accompanied the remains here.

Relatives in the city to attend the funeral are: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis of Long Prairie, father and mother of the deceased, and William Davis of Grafton, N. D., a brother, also John Hurley of Crookston, N. D.; Herbert Hurley of Grand Forks and Edward Hurley of Seattle are also expected.

FATAL MINE FALL.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 8.—When employes of the Croft mine went to work yesterday they found the body of John Book, aged 18, employed in the mine, lying at the bottom of the shaft, torn and lacerated by a fall, estimated to have been about 260 feet. Every bone was broken and death must have been instantaneous. No one saw the fatality, but it is presumed he accidentally fell down the shaft while on his way back to work after eating his lunch.

MINE RESCUE CAR ON CUYUNA RANGE

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mine Rescue car No. 7 of the U. S. Bureau of Mines of the Gogebic range, accompanied the Lake Superior Mining Institute to Crosby and the car will remain six weeks on the range visiting every mine and instructing first aid to injured crews. Moving pictures of life-saving methods will be shown to further illustrate their work.

Soo Train Wreck.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 8.—A wreck on the South Soo branch Monday tied up traffic on the road for the entire day. Two freight cars and the caboose on a heavy freight left the rails, and before the engineer could stop the train several hundred feet of track had been ripped up. The wreck occurred between Fredonia and Kulm. A wrecking crew was sent out at once, and had the track cleared in a few hours. No one was injured.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Tomah—The funeral of Col. George Graham, former head of the Wisconsin militia and originator of the plan which resulted in the state military reservaton at Camp Robinson, was held Saturday afternoon at the Graham home here. Rev. James Smith of the Episcopal church officiated.

La Crosse—Mrs. Ingebor Knudson, wife of Lars Knudson of Bowman, N. D., died Sept. 6 at the home of Rev. M. E. Holseth, formerly a La Crosse resident. Mrs. Knudson was 88 years of age. The body was brought to La Crosse for burial.

Eau Claire—High school opened Tuesday with an attendance of 547, 317 of whom are freshmen or sophomores, and 230 of whom are juniors and seniors.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Sarah K. Edgerton, 87 years old, Oconomowoc, Wis., who died on Sunday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. H. Seaman, 168 Kavanaugh place, Wauwatosa, was one of Milwaukee's pioneers, coming here in 1834 as a child of 6 years.

Wausau—Two hundred delegates and visitors are attending the thirteenth annual convention of Master Horseshoers of Wisconsin. A banquet and musical and literary program was tendered them. Mayor John Ringle and local President Fred Schroeder extended the delegates a hearty welcome.

Milwaukee—Robert A. McKee, department manager of the steam turbine department of the Allis Chalmers company, died in New York on Sunday.

Neenah — Arrangements are being completed for the efficiency institute to be held at the Company I armory next month.

Birchwood—Although water in the lake here has been lowered by opening the sluice gate, no trace has been found of little "Jackie" Soner, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Soner, who mysteriously disappeared more than a month ago.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee — Ray Brotherton, the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's land department engineer, has returned from Rumely, where he spent a week superintending the construction of a silo at the company's Rumely farm. It was constructed entirely of redwood. It is thirty-six feet high and has a diameter of twelve feet.

Ishpeming—At the annual meeting of school district No. 1 Monday in the Central building, the taxpayers present voted unanimously for a resolution calling for the spreading of $65,000 on the general tax roll, the money to be used for school purposes. The same amount was raised last year.

Iron River—Two fatal accidents occurred in the mines of the Iron River district last week. In addition, one man was injured for life. Joseph Nordi met death and Felix Marco lost the sight of his left eye when they drilled into a "missed hole" in the Zimmerman mine. Nordi was killed instantly, his body mutilated almost beyond recognition.

Marquette—Mrs. Sophia Dupras, 63 years old, died Sept. 6 at the home of her son, Frederick Dupras, after an illness which began Saturday. She had lived here forty-three years and her husband died only two years ago. She had twelve children.

Marquette—William F. Morgan, who for the last eighteen years has been in the employ of the M. M. & S. E. railroad, and who has been dock agent at the company's Presque Isle ore dock for the last six years, has been appointed superintendent of transportation, which department has heretofore been in charge of H. R. Harris, general manager of the road.

Ishpeming—Coroner Prin returned from Big Bay, where he was called because of the death of J. M. Mullins, who died from injuries received while working in the mill there. The coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary.

Houghton—The 1916 session of the Michigan Medical society will be held in Houghton, it was decided at this year's session at Grand Rapids.

Ironwood—A new charter for the city of Ironwood will be ready for submission to the people for approval within a month, members of the charter commission announced.

Iron River—This city is without a city attorney. The resignation of Attorney Embs ten days ago after a disagreement with the common council was followed by the resignation of I. W. Byers, his successor, who disagreed with the council on the question of salary.

Palmesdale—The cornerstone of the new Odd Fellows' temple will be laid on Saturday, Sept. 18. The temple will cost $20,000. The plans were prepared by Architect Eschweiler of Milwaukee.

Calumet—Mr. and Mrs. Larry Duggan, who motored from Butte, Mont., to the Copper country some time ago and have been visiting here with friends, have left on their trip for home, traveling in their automobile. They went from Calumet to Milwaukee, planning to go from there to Chicago, thence west.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Bemidji—George Clark, homesteader on the Northwest Angle, who was operated on at St. Anthony's hospital, was taken back to the county jail to await action of the grand jury on a statutory charge.

Crookston—John Goodwin of Angus has threshed 5,000 bushels of wheat, averaging thirty bushels to the acre and has another 1,000 bushels yet to thresh. Thus far he sold his wheat getting 87 cents per bushel.

East Grand Forks—At a meeting of the city council the salaries of the elective officers were materially decreased. This in said to be the first step to be taken to reduce the expense of the city in preparation to meet the lower revenue as the result of the loss of the saloon license money.

Spooner—Several forest fires are raging along the Canadian and United States side of the river between here and Fort Frances. A great amount of timber is burning near Stratton, the fire extending as far east as Emo. Another fire is reported opposite Pinewood. So far no particular damage is reported outside of the loss of the timber.

Graceton—Pat Woods of Williams is erecting a commodious store building at Graceton, which will be used for general merchandise and supply house for the many homesteaders around here.

Mankato—Mrs. W. J. Morehart of this city has been appointed a member of the woman's section, national committee of the Navy League of the United States to organize the local work of that body in arousing the women of the United States to the necessity in the present days of stress and peril to work for the ends of patriotism and national defense.

Crookston—Mrs. Sarah M. Webb of East Granville, Vt., mother of Mrs. Love A. Braley and grandmother of Mrs. P. H. Wood, both of this city, celebrated her 100th birthday there Monday by giving a birthday party which was celebrated by a large number of relatives and friends. Five generations are living from the son of her first marriage.

Bemidji—Friday, Sept. 24, will be Bemidji day at the third annual fair at the Red Lake Indian agency, Red Lake. Plans are being made to declare a holiday in this city and secure a special train for the citizens to attend the fair.

Little Falls—Mrs. Charles Anderson, aged 76, who was in a critical condition as the result of a fall Friday night in the dooryard of her home in Green Prairie is improved. She was removed at once to Hall's hospital here and an operation performed, a quart of clotted blood being removed and the vessel ligated. Her age and the loss of blood weakened her very much, but her condition is favorable.

Moorhead—The normal school kindergarten has opened. Miss Ethel Banta is in charge as director, and she has associated with her Miss Wilhelmina Meyer.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Forest River, N. D.—Thieves broke into the general store of Sell Brothers here by smashing out the glass in the door and springing the lock. They stole a number of shirts, some shoes and other merchandise to the value of $75.

Valley City, N. D.—Trouble between the butchers of Sanborn is to be aired in Judge Moe's court at Valley City next Thursday. Chas. Brandenburg lost a pig from his pen recently and he thinks he knows where it went. At any rate he swore to a complaint charging Henry Ruble with guilty knowledge of its disappearance.

Minot, N. D.—Minot merchants have agreed not to leave their automobiles in front of their places of business in order to allow for the parking of the cars of the shoppers.

Grafton, N. D.—The separator of Radford & Hornes was destroyed by fire on the James Hanson farm north of here. The origin of the fire is mysterious as the separator had been drawn away from the engine when threshing stopped and cleand of straw and chaff.

Park River, N. D.—The barn of J. D. Robertson of this city, situated in the rear of his residence, was practically destroyed by fire. The automobile of Mr. Robertson, which was kept in the barn, was saved.

Aneta, N. D.—Ole Gronlie, a pioneer of Griggs county, died recently in Norway. Mr. Gronlie had been ailing for the last eight or nine months and finally decided to go to Norway to seek treatment, having received a cure for the same ailment there a good many years ago and thinking that he could get the same again.

All Babies Destined to Great Achievement

To be born is to be great. For there are possibilities in every tiny human infant. And for this reason every one should remember that whatever is done to aid the mother, to relieve her of distresses during her trying months, will surely be of marked benefit to the child.

Among the sterling aids is a splendid external remedy known as "Mother's Friend." It is what is called an embrocation. It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in by your own hand guided by your own mind. It makes the muscles pliant, they expand quite naturally and the effect upon the nerves is such that they adjust themselves to the process of expansion so that pain from this source is almost eliminated. Women who use "Mother's Friend" refer to the absence of morning sickness, they are relieved of a great many minor distresses, all apprehension disappears and those peculiar nervous "fidgets" no longer disturb the nights. It is well named "Mother's Friend." Get a bottle today of any druggist. Then at once write for a most entertaining and instructive book for all prospective mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 405 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

The Gordon hat is a great trade example of demand created by popular approval. Because of sterling qualities it is accepted without reserve by men who know. It has won the confidence of the buying public on its merits. It appeals to hundreds of men who count the cost and who demand value received first, last and all the time.

USE OF MUSIC HAS VERY GOOD EFFECT

Has Beneficial Influence on Patients With Nervous Diseases.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—The use of music in the treatment of nervous diseases may become permanent at the City hospital if experiments now being conducted are successful. The suggestion that music be tried as a beneficial influence on patients came from Dr. George P. Pipkin, superintendent of the hospital.

"The good effect of a recent concert was especially noticeable in the nervous patients," Dr. Pipkin said today. "Of course the same music does not appeal to all patients, and we are now trying to work out a scheme whereby individuals or groups similarly constituted can be given the music best suited to them without annoying the other patients. All that will come in time. Perhaps individual musicians will be employed or asked to give their services, or perhaps the phonograph will offer the best solution.

"I understand that music has been employed with marked success in some European hospitals and sanatoriums, some even going so far as to employ only nurses with musical accomplishments, so I don't see why American patients should not derive the same benefit from it. The results of the first experiment are very promising."

Mill City to Hear Bryan.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8.—William Jennings Bryan will make a special lecture trip to Minneapolis Saturday night to speak at the Swedish tabernacle, Eighth avenue south and Seventh street. The lecture will be a benefit for Minnehaha academy, the preparatory and business school conducted by the Swedish Evangelical Mission Covenant of the Northwest. Mr. Bryan is to speak on "Causeless War," the topic he used at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The tabernacle will accommodate nearly 3,000 persons.

LAKE STATION SENDS MESSAGE TO HONOLULU

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The government wireless station at the naval training station at Lake Bluff, Ill., was placed in operation yesterday after a severe test which demonstrated that messages could be sent from the station to Honolulu. The station is for the exclusive use of the United States government, and no commercial messages will be accepted. The station will be utilized chiefly for the flashing of government messages to the stations on the Panama canal and to San Francisco for the direction of the Pacific fleet, and for relay to the Hawaiian islands.

TO PRESENT EVIDENCE IN MOHR CASE TO JURY

Providence, R. I., Sept. 8.—All the evidence which the state has against the three negroes charged with the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr and against Mrs. Mohr, who is accused of being an accessory to the crime, will be presented to the grand jury when that body convenes on Sept. 20, it was announced last night. If indictments are secured, the case will go to an immediate trial, it was stated.

Miss Emily G. Burger, the doctor's secretary, who was shot down with him in an automobile last Tuesday night, is still in a serious condition.

GERMAN AIRMAN DROPS WREATH FOR PEGOUD

Belfort, France, Sept. 8.—A German aeroplane flying at a great height appeared over Chavannes, an Alsatian village on the old frontier. The aviator dropped a wreath which bore the inscription: "To Pegoud, who died like a hero, from his adversary."

The noted French aviator, Adolphe Pegoud, while making a reconnoissance recently near Petite Croix, was killed by a German aviator whom he had attacked.

E. J. Tweed Tells What Tanlac Has Done for Him.

Has Been Resident of Duluth Nearly Thirty Years.

Few people in the big and properous section of Duluth known as the West end do not know E. J. Tweed.

Mr. Tweed has resided at 2223 West Third street for nine years, and has been a resident of Duluth for nearly thirty years, coming here in 1887. He has been a resident of the state for fifty-four years, and can therefore be classed as a pioneer. For many years he owned a gents' furnishings store on Garfield avenue.

Mr. Tweed is one of the many Duluthians who have willingly told what Tanlac has done for them. Here is what Mr. Tweed told the Tanlac man:

"I suffered from rheumatism of the hip and catarrh of the head. My hearing was affected by the catarrh and I suffered from pains in my hip, especially after sitting still a while. I bought Tanlac because I saw it advertised in the newspapers, and it has relieved my catarrh so much that I now hear well. The pains in my hip are almost gone, and in fact it doesn't bother me any more at all. I recommend Tanlac because of the real relief it has brought to me, especially to my catarrh."

Tanlac, which Mr. Tweed recommends so highly, may be purchased in Duluth from the store of William A. Abbett, the cardful druggist, at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Merendin, "The Tanlac Man," or an assistant, is constantly in charge to explain its merits.—Advertisement.

SCULPTOR USES PNEUMATIC CHISEL.

Scientific American: Lorado Taft, the Chicago sculptor, has installed in his studio a pneumatic chisel, by means of which the work of outlining marble statues is greatly simplified. The old method of carving with mallet and chisel is not only laborious, but rather awkward for the sculptor, since only one hand is left free to guide the chisel. In the case of the pneumatic chisel both hands may be used for this purpose. The pneumatic chisel is driven by compressed air, at a pressure of seventy-seven pounds a square inch, operating through a flexible tube, the air being compressed in a large tank by means of an electric motor. The air passing through the tube has the effect of driving the chisel back and forth against the stone just as if it were hit by a mallet. The chisel, of course, is used only to outline the statue roughly, the finishing work all being done by hand.

The Irtish river in Siberia is 2,200 miles long and drains 600,000 miles of territory.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires a constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease is driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint is used in this way as it acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a slight tonic action that facilitates the recovery of the patient. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial.

MUST STAND TRIAL AGAIN

Charge Against Robertson This Time Is Breaking Into Car.

Because his "pal" turned state's evidence after having stood pat for several months, George K. Robertson, Northern Pacific switchman, who was acquitted last April on a charge of complicity in the stealing of $3,000 worth of copper anodes from a box car, in November, 1913, must again face trial in district court for his alleged connection with one of the biggest thefts which has come to the attention of the local police in years.

The September grand jury, in a partial report to Judge Fesler in district court last evening, returned an indictment against Robertson on a charge of burglary in the third degree. He is charged with the crime of breaking into the box car and is not accused of the theft.

Pal Snitches on Him.

Joseph Regall, who was jointly indicted with Robertson for the crime of grand larceny and who stood by Robertson through his first trial, appeared at a witness for the state before the grand jury yesterday and gave testimony, it is believed, which incriminated Robertson. Both are switchmen.

In September, 1913, a car containing copper anodes worth about $100,000, was shipped from Anaconda, Mont., to Pittsburgh, Pa., via Duluth. On Nov. 4, 1913, while in the local yards, the car was switched to the yard of the Duluth Iron & Metal company, where $40,000 worth of the metal was removed and hidden under a pile of scrap and rubbish. It was discovered by a watchman in the employ of the metal company a year later.

Zalk Confesses.

Zigmund Zalk, foreman for the metal company, confessed his part of the theft and turned state's evidence. He was the "star" witness for the state in the prosecution of Robertson, but the jury acquitted. Since the trial, it is understood that Regall has made a complete confession and that he has implicated Robertson. Robertson was arraigned in court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on bail.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon also indicted C. J. Lehman of the town of Pine Lakes. He is charged with the crime of incest with his 16-year-old daughter. The offense is alleged to have been committed on April 1 last. Lehman pleaded not guilty when arraigned this morning.

Earl B. Lozway was indicted on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. He was arrested on a charge of stealing 20 cents from a pool-room operated by Herman Brown on Aug. 23, last. Lozway was held to the grand jury on a charge of burglary in the third degree. He also pleaded not guilty.

Other arraignments today in which pleas of not guilty were received came from:

William Larson, charged with second degree assault.

H. J. Schell. Proctor druggist, charged with illegally selling liquor.

Onni Maki, robbery, first degree.

John Wallinches, charged with indecent assault.

ENGLISH WOMAN GOLFER PLAYING STAR GAME

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The second round of match play in the woman's national golf tournament at Onwentsia club today was played under a blazing sun with no breeze to relieve the players. The greens were slow owing to a heavy shower last night.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England was 3 up at the end of the first nine holes on Mrs. Caleb Fox of Philadelphia. The British player was holing long putts, needing only one on four of the first nine holes.

Miss Eleanor Allen of Boston was 4 up at the turn in her match with Mrs. J. V. Hurd (Dorothy Campbell) of Pittsburgh. The former British and American champion was off her game generally, while Miss Allen, the sole New England contender, was good in all departments.

FRED CLARKE, PIRATE PILOT, WILL RETIRE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 8.—Barney Dreyfus, president of the Pittsburgh National League Baseball club, today announced that Fred Clarke, manager of the club, had resigned, to take effect with the close of the present season.

"Clarke has been anxious for some time to give his entire attention to his business interests in Kansas," said Mr. Dreyfus.

NAVAL ACADEMY TO BE REORGANIZED

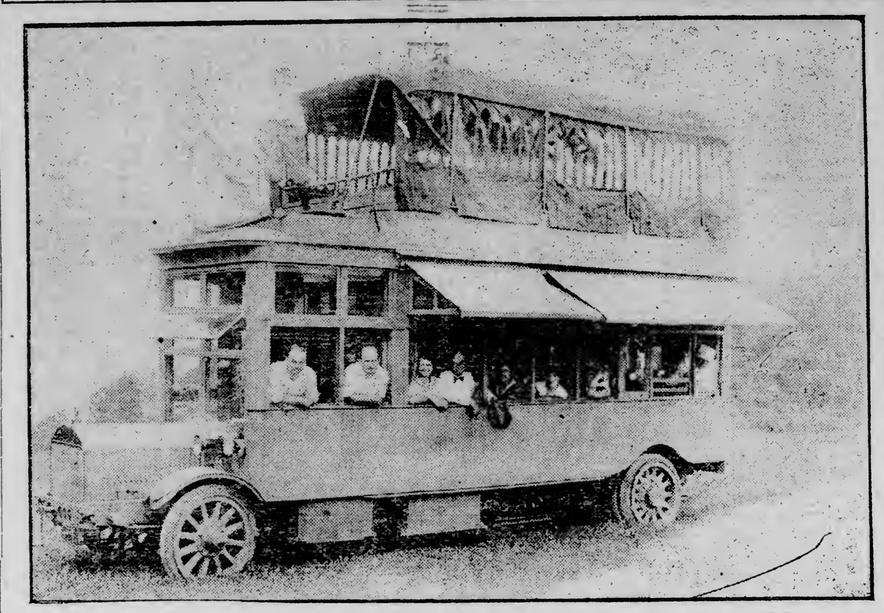

Washington, Sept. 8.—Secretary Daniels today announced a general reorganization of the forces of the naval academy at Annapolis. Heads of nearly all departments were ordered detached for duty elsewhere, the changes to be effective Sept. 20. The reorganization is a result of the recent investigation of the academy.

OBITUARY

Edward B. Moore, 63, former United States commissioner of patents, died at Washington Sept. 7. For thirty years he was connected with the patent office and as commissioner from 1907 to 1913. He took a prominent part in the negotiations of many treaties relating to patents during his administration, and represented the United States at several international congresses. He was born at North Anson, Me.

James N. Boyd, president of the Planters' National Bank of Richmond, head of the James N. Boyd Tobacco company, and widely known as a cotton financier, died at Richmond, Va., Sept. 7. He was 65 years old.

VERITABLE HOUSE ON WHEELS

This land yacht got shipwrecked in Westchester county, New York, on its first voyage. It was built by Roland R. Conklin of New York to take him and his family to the San Francisco fair. It is a veritable house on wheels. On the main deck or first floor is a compartment containing a couch and easy chairs convertible into two beds. There are also four folding berths. In the driver's compartment forward are two folding berths. There are also a toilet with shower bath, an ice box and an electric range; and two large tanks on the upper deck provide running water, hot and cold. A roof garden completes the outfit in which Mr. Conklin, his wife and children, a chef and a chauffeur were to make the entire trip to the Pacific in leisurely fashion avoiding hotels. The first day out the land yacht went into a ditch and the Conklin family went to a hotel for the night.

ENROLLMENT OF SCHOOLS

Nearly 12,000 pupils reported for classes at the public schools of Duluth Tuesday morning, the exact figures being 11,850. It is said by Supt. Denfeld that these figures will be increased before the school year is many days older for the reason that many students, for various reasons, did not report on the opening day.

Uncle Sam Wants Men to Fill Vacancies in Customs Service.

Uncle Sam wants clerks, storekeeper, gauger and storekeeper-gauger in the customs service in a large number of cities in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and North Dakota. The cities in Minnesota where positions will be filled are: Duluth, Austin, Bemidji, Brainerd, Minneapolis, Pipestone, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Virginia, Wilmar and Winona. For full details regarding examinations applicants should apply to E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry division, Duluth postoffice.

FOUR CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 8.—Four children, ranging in age from 4 to 10 years, were burned to death in their home near Lorette, Man., early Tuesday morning, when the little farmhouse in which they were asleep was consumed by fire. The children's father, R. Wolfsohn, is in the St. Boniface hospital suffering from terrible burns.

The mother, who was asleep downstairs, escaped with an infant child. She is not seriously burned, but is also in the hospital.

Great Britain Justified.

Bristol, Eng., Sept. 8.—The British Trade union congress, now meeting here, at today's session adopted a resolution expressing belief in the complete justification of the position of Great Britain and her allies in the war.

MANITOBA CASE AGAIN REMANDED

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 8. — The case against the four former cabinet ministers, charged with conspiracy to defraud the province in connection with the parliament buildings, was remanded today until next Monday. Sir Rodmond Roblin, J. H. Howden and G. R. Coldwell appeared in court but Dr. Montague was unable to come through illness. The remand was asked for the reason that E. F. Johnston of Toronto, who is to be counsel for the defense, could not arrive in Winnipeg before Monday.

FOUR DROWNED IN FLOOD IN KANSAS

Iola, Kas., Sept. 8.—The known list of dead as the result of the flood caused by Monday night's cloudburst during which six inches of rain fell, is fixed at four. Four railway section men were washed from their hand car and took refuge on a crossing sign. The sign was later washed away and the men were drowned.

Great confusion still prevails and it is impossible to secure an accurate casualty or death list.

Heavy Property Loss.

Fort Scott, Kas., Sept. 8.—Property damage of $200,000 was caused early yesterday by a thirty-foot rise of the Marmaton river which flooded sections of Fort Scott.

GOOD BULGE IN BUTTE & SUPERIOR

Butte & Superior was the feature in the mining stocks list at Boston today. It closed $2.25 up with buying on dividend expectations at tomorrow's directors' meeting.

Stocks were quiet but strong generally. American Zinc closed 62c up at $53.75; Copper Range $1.12 up at $54.75; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $33.50; Mohawk $2 off at $70; Quincy unchanged at $82 and North Butte slightly off at $29.50.

A wire received by Paine, Webber & Co. said: "Success has declared a monthly dividend of 6 cents, payable Sept. 20 to stock of record Sept. 15."

* * *

* * *

At St. Louis lead closed at 4.80@4.85 cents and spelter nominal at 14@15 cents.

* * *

Greene-Cananea's production for August was 2,902,000 pounds copper; 101,112 ounces silver and 473 ounces gold.

* * *

A dividend of $1.50 was declared by Old Dominion payable Sept. 29 to stock of record Sept. 15.

* * *

Mines in the Lake Superior district are at present working overtime in the effort to keep up with the demand for copper from manufacturers of munitions especially. Some of the producers are reported to have sold their output for the next three months ahead, and the volume of business handled has become largely a question of ability to produce.

The Lake Copper company is gradually increasing its shipments to the Trimountain mill. At present 250 tons are going. A furnace for the manufacture of nitric acid has begun operation at the Nevada-Douglas Consolidated mine.

The seventh-level drift at Isle Royale is reported to have opened rich ground more evenly mineralized than any other in the mine.

LITTLE GIRL'S FIRST TRAGEDY WAS HER PUPPY'S DEATH

Brooklyn Eagle: Little Ingrid Halvorsen, daughter of Aortal Halvorsen, captain of a lighter, held a dead woolly puppy wrapped in bandages in her arms the other day and tried to tell how the tiny animal had saved her life a few hours before, when a 500-pound reel of barbed wire fell from its place and would have killed her had not Bubbles interposed his little bulk between her and the heavy jagged mass.

It was not a very connected story, either. Ingrid's sobs as she kissed the torn fragment in her arms interrupted her again and again. She is a little girl and this is her first tragedy. For five years she has lived in the lighter, Henrita H., named after her mother, Mrs. Halvorsen. For five years it has been nearly all the world. One day she was on the fringe of Jersey City and the next at Windy Weehawken, always a vagrant at the end of a tow line, pulled about willy nilly by one tug after another, through the four seasons.

A broken doll, odds and ends of a tin toy train and the little songs that her mother taught her when she was not busy helping her husband handle cables, have been all the education that Ingrid has had until death taught her the meaning of sorrow.

Early in the morning the lighter was picked up at the West Shore Railroad terminal by a big tug and hurried down the North river and out through the bay to the Bush terminal, where the wife was to be loaded on board the Russian ship Novgorod. Ingrid had found a clear space at one end of the lighter and was playing pillow fight with Bubbles.

Often the little girl ran dangerously close to the edge of the lighter's deck, but her little legs were good sea legs, for she never ran unsteadily. But once, when she had run with the pillow close to the edge of the lighter in sudden attack, as the tug edged its way through the tortuous passage in the slip, brought the Henrita against another craft. The jar dislodged one of the great reels of wire. It fell with a weight that shook the deck on which Ingrid stood and rolled directly toward her. All her muscles grew weak and she stood still.

Then there was a rush and a scramble from Bubbles, who probably thought that the big dark object rolling across the deck was nothing more harmful than the feathery pillow. The reel of wire bounded on something soft, changed its course a little and rolled past Ingrid with the impaled puppy whirling with it, over the edge and down out of sight.

Bubbles came up after a little while and Ingrid insisted that her father should fish him out and give him to her. She dried the curly white hair and wrapped him in torn strips of her dollie's white dresses. But she could not get Bubbles to play pillow fight that night and she never will again.

FUTURE OF FLYING.

Lieut. O. A. Dickinson in the Engineering Magazine: It is but a question of reliability. If this war, as it bids fair now to do, perfects the machine and so standardizes its manufacture that one may order his aeroplane or hydro-aeroplane as one does his automobile, the field for its use is already waiting and established. We may then confidently look for as great a boom in aeroplane manufacturing soon after the war as we saw in the sudden development of the automobile business once the machine's reliability was an assured fact. Indeed, a more rapid growth, due to the forcing process in development arising from war's necessities, is possible than obtained in the case of the automobile.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.

The Petition of Peter G. Pastoret, as representative of the above named decedent, together with his final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on his bond.

It is Ordered That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 27th day of September, 1915, at ten o'clock a. m., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law.

By the Court,
FRANCIS A. WATKINS,
Judge of Probate of Carlton County, Acting Judge of Probate of St. Louis Co., Minn.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of two thousand one hundred and eighty-two and no .100 dollars ($2,182.00), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by Lida Osborn, unmarried, mortgagor, to J. B. Sattler, mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of September, 1911, and with a power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota on the 7th day of September, 1911, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., in Book 291 of Mortgages, on page 230 thereof.

Said above described mortgage is upon and covers certain real estate therein and hereinafter described, which said real estate, after the execution and delivery of said mortgage, was, pursuant to the order and decree of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, in and for the County of St. Louis, brought under the operation and provisions of an Act Concerning Land Titles, being Chapter 205 of the General Laws of the State of Minnesota for the year 1905, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and the title to said real estate duly confirmed and registered by the Registrar of Titles as in and by said Act provided; which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by said J. B. Sattler, mortgagee, to Louis Cameron, by a written instrument dated the 26th day of August, 1913, which said instrument was acknowledged, however, on the 25th day of July, 1913, and duly filed and registered in the office of said Registrar of Titles on the 26th day of August, 1913, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, as document No. 12662, and entered in Register of Titles No. 56, on page 281 thereof, as a memorial upon the Certificate of Title numbered 17230, covering the mortgaged premises hereinafter described, said above described mortgage also being referred to in said certificate of title; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now Therefore, Notice Is Hereby Given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, and situate in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, namely:

Lot eighteen (18), block thirty-one (31), Virginia, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County; reserving all minerals, with the right to mine and remove the same; with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at his office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 4th day of October, 1915, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage indebtedness and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars ($75.00) as attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 17th, 1915.

ON THE IRON RANGES

FIND DISPROPORTION IN ELECTRICITY TOLL

Hibbing Water and Light Board Has Problem Put Up to It.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The alleged injustice of allowing rates of 4 cents per kilowatt hour for motors and 6 cents for electric lights was emphasized at the water and light board meeting last night by Commissioner D. D. McEachin, following the complaint of a local motion picture theater operator that he had been paying regular 6-cent rates for fan motors for two years.

"A recent report received by this commission shows the generating and distributing current costs the village 6 2 cents per kilowatt hour," Mr. McEachin said. "If any of this current is sold for 4 cents the taxpayers have to pay this difference, which is not fair. The special rates for motors was evidently passed to encourage the use of electricity during the day when the load on the engines at the power plant is light and thus get some revenue from them which otherwise might be lost. I don't believe it is fair to sell electricity to some for 4 cents and to others at 6 cents. It would seem more equitable to establish a day rate for motors."

The request by the motion picture theater proprietor that he be reimbursed for paying regular 6-cent rates for motors was tabled until a future meeting.

The Hibbing Lumber company was awarded a contract to supply thirty-five cedar poles for electric light extensions.

A petition presented by Alice residents for an electric light extension to the crossing of the D., M. & N. railroad south of Alice was deferred. The extension, according to J. Rowen, superintendent of the water and light plant, will require thirty poles.

Many residents of Alice petitioned that the village permit the construction of galvanized pipe connections from lot lines to buildings instead of lead pipe connections because of the high cost of the latter. The petition was taken under advisement.

This petition was presented to the village council meeting yesterday afternoon but was referred to the water and light board. Two plumbers, who asked the village council to rescind the ordinance providing for plumbing licenses, presented the petition.

EVELETH TO HAVE SCHOOL ELECTION

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special school election will be held next Saturday at the high school to decide on the purchase of a piece of residence property opposite the high school to be used as a domestic science hall.

The property consists of two lots and a residence and is owned by J. J. Gleason, who values the property at $8,000, and if the voters favor the purchase the board will have full authority to go ahead and close a deal for the purchase of the building.

DESIRES NUMBERS INSTEAD OF NAMES

Virginia Council Asked to Make Changes in Street Designation.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. F. Marion, representing the Commercial club, last night asked the city council that the streets and avenues of the city be numbered and changed from their present names. Chestnut street would retain its present name, while the streets south and north of it would be numbered.

City Engineer Edward F. Johnson suggested that the present names be continued and the number plan also provided. The matter was finally referred back to the Commercial club.

The Troy laundry asked permission to run a pipe line to the city's reservoir. The matter was referred. The water and light commission has denied the request.

The bill of Dr. J. M. Fisher of the Lenont hospital for $35 for treating John Jones, was referred back to him for more explanation.

William Merrill was granted the liquor license once held by George Hamilton, who died recently. Merrill sought to have the license transferred to him, but this was denied, being illegal, but on direct application, he was granted the license without opposition.

Meat Inspector Engle reported that he had condemned beef at the butcher shops of Leonard Paul, M. B. Booth and I. Zupetz.

A petition from four Ridgewood addition residents, asking that arc lights be placed near the addition, was referred.

Bill Against Railroad.

A bill of $200 against the Canadian Northern Railroad company for allowing the company to use city lands, was referred to the city attorney for collection as was the bill against Our Lady of the Lourdes church for $351 for a cement sidewalk to Calvary cemetery.

Lawrence-McCann of Eveleth was authorized to pave Hickory street from Mesaba to Railroad avenue and Larch street, from Central to Cleveland avenue, with creosote blocks. The same thoroughfares will also have curbs and gutters installed by Risberg & Marwick of this city. The water and light commission was instructed to have gas and water connections made on the two streets.

VIRGINIANS WILL DISCUSS CHARTER

Mass Meeting Will Consider Draft of Proposed Document.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city hall is expected to be thronged tonight when the proposed city charter providing for the commission form of government is considered.

Lively debates are expected on the amendment proposed by John Costin, Jr., chairman of the commission, providing that the water and light funds be paid for by general direct taxation. The city manager plan will also be discussed.

The commissioners expect a large crowd and will be present to learn the views on the proposed charter. The commissioners will meet next Monday to finish their labors and set a date for the vote on the charter.

ITASCA COUNTY TO VOTE ON BONDING

Question of Borrowing $150,000 for Roads to Be Submitted.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of county commissioners Tuesday let the contract for the paving of the portion of Third street fronting the Itasca county courthouse to Pogue & Mitchell of Grand Rapids and Bovey. This piece of street, consisting of about two blocks, has been one of the worst roads in the village. It will connect with the Third street pavement on the west end, and with the crushed rock macadamized road built by the township last year on the east end.

Big Bonding Proposition.

A resolution was passed calling for a special election for the purpose of voting on the question of bonding the county for $150,000 for road purposes, the purposes to which the money is to be put being principally for funding the road and bridge fund which has been more or less overdrawn owing to the necessity of paying contracts already made, and to finish up certain roads which are being built at this time. The proposition was originally to bond the county for $500,000, but the commissioners decided to ask only for enough to fund the road and bridge fund, and to finish the work which is started. Numerous minor matters were also disposed of.

JITNEY ORDINANCE OF EVELETH GETS READING

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Besides passing a number of bills last night the city council gave the jitney ordinance its first reading. It provides for a license fee of $5. The council has the privilege of refusing licenses and will be able to protect local drivers from the competition of drivers from other cities who come here on special occasions.

The city attorney reported that the case of Milna Wilnikinen against the city for $12,000 damages alleged to have been received from a fall on a defective walk has been laid over until the December term of court at Virginia.

EVELETH SCHOOLS TO TEACH IN PRINTING

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Printers' Supply company of Minneapolis has been awarded the contract for the machinery and equipment for the print shop which is to be fitted up at the manual training building, at a cost of approximately $1,550.

The outfit to be installed includes a press, type cabinets, imposition stone, perforator, punch, paper cutter, type and all necessary equipment. A good room has been set aside on the second floor of the building for the print shop and the equipment is the best that could be procured for giving instruction in the art preservative.

T. H. Peterson of the News will have charge of the classes in printing.

FIVE BALL GAMES.

Hibbing Colts and Virginia Ore Diggers Start Series.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing Colts and the Virginia Ore Diggers are playing the first of a series of five games here this afternoon.

"Chief" Williams, pitcher and outfielder of the Duluth White Sox, will umpire the five games.

Hibbing is strengthening for the series, and it is understood, Pitcher Ralph Bell of the Fargo Northern League club will be used by the visitors. Outfielder Flaherty, also of the Fargo Grain-growers, will be used by the Colts.

Hibbing fans will send big crowds to the games here. Tomorrow the teams also play here. Friday and Saturday the nines battle at Hibbing and on Sunday, play the final contest of the series here on the Oliver grounds.

MORE EVELETH WORK HAS BEEN STARTED

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lawrence-McCann company has begun work on its sewer contracts, and the Eveleth Construction company has resumed laying sidewalks in accordance with its contract. The paving on Adams avenue cannot be done until the Mesaba Electric Railway company has put its track in shape, but it is not expected that there will be much delay on this account as the management has been urged to start work at once so that the job will not be held up until too late to complete this season.

CHISHOLM JOTTINGS.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial band's services were highly appreciated at the county fair Saturday, the aggregation making a showing that was a credit to the town and to the boys themselves. Hearty applause greeted every selection played.

Rev. Father J. E. Schiffrer of St. Joseph's church has returned after a three weeks' vacation in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Roth, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Peck and Mr. and Mrs. A. Sapero are among the Chisholm visitors at the state fair, making the trip in the Roth car.

Miss Mary Berg was given a surprise party at the home of her parents Saturday evening by about twenty of her friends, the occasion being her twentieth birthday. She was presented with a handsome lavalier.

John Dwyer has returned home after a several days' visit in Chicago.

MUST PAY ONE-HALF.

Hibbing School Board Expected to Help Fix Up Ball Park.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board will have to pay one-half of the expense of the improvement of the local baseball park if a bill for this amount is accepted by the village council. According to a verbal agreement alleged to have been made between members of the school board and village council members, the former consented to this.

The council meeting yesterday afternoon considered routine business. Mayor Power immediately after the meeting left for Duluth where he is appearing today in district court.

BREAKS LOADING RECORD

Crew at Union Mine Near Virginia Makes Ore Fly.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—The Mesabe ore loading record is believed to have been broken at the Union mine near here a few days ago when ninety-six cars of iron ore were loaded in six hours with a single shovel. Gregg Maxey was in charge of the shovel and Thomas Peterson was cranesman. There were no delays during the run, but at the end of six hours there were no cars available for loading. So far as information available today extends the previous record was made at a mine in the Hibbing district when 136 cars of ore was loaded in ten hours.

LOATH TO LEAVE STATE.

Itasca County Man Sells Farm to Live in New York.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. M. Sisler has purchased the George W. Moore farm, adjoining the Sisler farm in the Laprairie community, consisting of fifty acres, with excellent buildings, and considered one of the finest in this section. Mr. Sisler will turn the farm over to his son, Raymond Sisler, who will take hold this fall. Mr. and Mrs. Moore are selling most of their belongings, and will move this fall to New York state where Mr. Moore will buy a small place near Utica, his former home. Ill health induced Mr. Moore to sell, and he says that if he had been in good health, nothing could have induced him to dispose of his place, as he considers that there is no place where he could make more money at farming than right here.

LARGE WOMAN BURIED.

Mrs. Simpser, Two Harbors Pioneer, Is Borne to Grave.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Simpser, aged 59 years, was held yesterday afternoon from the Simpser residence on Poplar street, Rev. Mr. McKee, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Two Harbors cemetery.

Mrs. Simpser died Monday following a long illness. She leaves a husband but no children. She was a large woman, weighing in the neighborhood of 350 pounds, and was one of the old residents of this city, coming here about twenty-five years ago.

BOVEY MAN PASSES IN STATE ASYLUM

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remains of H. J. Heikala of Bovey, who last week was taken to the state hospital at Fergus Falls, were brought back yesterday and taken to Bovey for interment. Mr. Heikala had been mentally wrong for several months, and had been taken to a sanatorium at St. James, from which he had been discharged. Last week he tried to hang himself, and to do other things which were not quite right, and he was adjudged insane, and taken to Fergus Falls.

CHISHOLM SCHOOLS HAVE MORE PUPILS

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 8.—The local school enrollment is larger than ever, showing a steady growth of population. The school in Balkan township will open next Monday, when it is expected that the living apartments, recently erected for the teachers, will be ready for occupancy. Miss Marjorie Spates of Lakeland will teach the upper grades and Miss Elizabeth Leary of Chisholm the lower grades.

HIBBING'S ELEVEN IS NOW BEING SELECTED

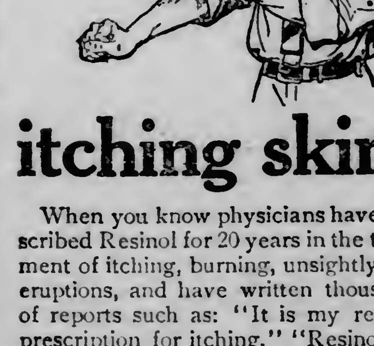

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next week will see the beginning of practice of Hibbing gridiron aspirants.

Capt. Del St. Julien, star quarterback last year, is confident that the team this year will be one of the strongest which has ever represented Hibbing and announces that more than thirty-five men will compose the squad which will endeavor to make the eleven. That this competition will spur every one to give all that is in them, is the opinion of Capt. St. Julien. Al Bierman, former star halfback for the Minnesota university aggregation, will do the coaching.

For quarterbacks, several likely looking candidates have been announced.

Adams, dependable, fast and strong on the offensive, will again play fullback.

Resinol heals

itching skins

When you know physicians have prescribed Resinol for 20 years in the treatment of itching, burning, unsightly skin eruptions, and have written thousands of reports such as: "It is my regular prescription for itching," "Resinol has produced brilliant results," and "The result it gave was marvelous in one of the worst cases of eczema," doesn't it make you say to yourself, "that's the right kind of treatment for my skin-trouble?" Resinol is sold by all druggists.

DULUTHIAN'S CAR HITS VIRGINIA BOY

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8. — While crossing Chestnut street, Clarence Peterson, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Peterson of 107 Hickory street, was thrown to the ground by an automobile driven by D. Kriedler of Duluth and received a broken arm. He was picked up by Mr. Kriedler and taken to the Lenont hospital. He will be laid up for a month. The boy darted across the street in front of the car.

HIBBING MAN DIES IN BEMIDJI HOSPITAL

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Clark of Hibbing, who has spent the summer camping on the shores of Lake Bemidji died at St. Anthony's hospital from liver trouble. The body was shipped to Hibbing Tuesday and burial will be made at that place.

EVELETH CHURCH HAS BEEN REMODELED

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected that the Methodist church will be completed so that services can be held Sept. 19. John Ericson is rushing the work and expects to complete it in about a week. It was necessary to rebuild the main auditorium in order to make the building safe. The work will greatly improve the appearance of the church.

HIBBING BRIEFS.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Special services in celebration of the Jewish New Year are being held at the Workers' hall throughout the week.

Mrs. J. J. Connors and little daughter, Agnes, have returned from Duluth, where the latter received treatment.

Carl H. Schirmer and Joe Sherr of this village have purchased the Bijou theater in Eveleth. The theater is being decorated and a new modern up-to-date system will be installed. The name will be changed from the Bijou to the Strand.

Mrs. Theodore LaFave has left for Detroit, Mich., to consult an eye specialist.

Mrs. George Bodoh and three children, Margaret, Ralph and Lloyd, are home from Eau Claire, Wis., where they have been visiting Mrs. Bodoh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fletty.

Miss Hazel Hanson left yesterday for the state university to take the academic course.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Dyer left yesterday for Boylston, Minn., to visit their son, Charles Williams.

Mrs. Mary Brince and Mrs. George Kotze have returned to their home in Eveleth after a several days' visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Zucailly.

APPLES FOR EVELETH.

County Commissioner Pentilla to Bring Back Carload From Montana.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Everyone should be eating apples here on County Commissioner Charles Pentilla of this city, when he returns from Montana, as he says he will ship here a carload of the famous McIntosh reds that he raises on his twenty acre fruit farm in the Bitter Root valley, south of Missoula. Mr. Pentilla has gone to his fruit farm to look after the harvest of his crop of apples and other fruits.

VIRGINIA PERSONALS.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Schonleber has returned from a week's vacation spent at Lake Vermilion.

Rev. H. Kvisgaard, Mrs. J. S. Swanson, Miss Rowan, Miss Helen Peterson and H. Oswald, who represented the local Norwegian M. E. church at a district meeting in Duluth, have returned.

Mrs. F. Fuller, employed in a local store, has resigned and is now employed by a Duluth wholesale house.

Miss Agnes Lundgren has returned from a visit at Hibbing and other western range points.

Mrs. H. Vietala has resumed her store duties after spending her vacation with her brother at Chisholm.

Miss Beatrice Kanter of this city, who has been employed at Eveleth for several months, has accepted a position in the new store on Chestnut street.

Miss Thelma Abramson of Aurora is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Kenner of Walnut street.

Hibbing Fire Chief Back.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 8.—Fire Chief McIhargey has returned from the meeting of international firemen, held at Cincinnati, O., and says he believes he benefited by attending the big gathering, where many subjects pertaining to fire fighting were discussed by experts from all over the United States and Canada.

Peter Graton Buried.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Peter Graton was held Monday morning from St. Joseph's church, the Rev. Father J. E. Shiffrer officiating. Rev. Father C. V. Gamache of Nashwauk preached the sermon. The remains were laid to rest in Calvary cemetery beside those of his wife, who died last January. His daughters, Mrs. Victor Gagnon of Sterling, Ill., and Mrs. W. H. Ogden of Ironton, attended the funeral.

HIGHER WAGE FOR DOCK MEN

Employes Reject Compromise; Walkout Brings Desired Results.

Coal dock men on the Island Creek, Carnegie and Great Lakes coal docks struck yesterday afternoon for an increase in pay, demanding a restoration to the figure that prevailed until last fall, and ultimately won out, all of the docks consenting to the increase.

Up to last fall the men were paid 27½ cents an hour, but owing to the fact the movement of coal out of Duluth to the northwestern territory was slow, and there was little or no work, the scale was reduced to 22½ cents an hour.

Recently, now that the movement of coal is increasing, demand has been made for a restoration of the old rate and some of the docks complied. Yesterday the docks involved in the walkout sought to compromise and offered 25 cents an hour. The men refused to accept and quit work. After considerable dickering, late in the day the matter was settled by the dock managers agreeing to the old scale, 27½ cents, and all but sixteen men went back to work. These were not again hired by the Island Creek management for the reason, Supt. Fluegel said today, that they seemed disposed to hold out even at that.

MORE GRAIN FROM CANADA LAKES HEAD

Receipts Show Improvement—Not Much New Grain Yet.

The weekly letter of F. & W. Jones, lake transportation agents of Fort William, Ont., show that coal receipts there have fallen off, but that grain shipments are looking up. The letter follows:

"Shipments of grain this week show a fair advance over last week. They totaled 449,831 bushels of all grains. This grain was carried in seven steamers, all of Canadian register, and all delivered at Canadian ports. Receipts from the West show a decided improvement, this week's receipts being 213,651 bushels more, or better than double, those of last week's. The new grain coming in is not arriving in any great quantity—we would say about 20 to 30 cars per day, but it is of very good quality. No shipment of any note of new grain has yet been made. In Manitoba 75 per cent to 80 per cent of the harvesting has been done and threshing is general all over the province. Saskatchewan is not quite so advanced, there being not over 50 per cent of the harvesting done. Alberta will rank with Saskatchewan. Southern Manitoba suffered from a tornado last week, but its effect was only local and the damage is of little note when put alongside the whole. Stocks in store the end of last week and receipts and shipments during the week were:

	Stocks.	Receipts.	Shipments.
Wheat	367,081	320,911	298,029
Oats	61,778	46,744	95,560
Barley	59,140	45,920	13,110
Flax	1,079,928	8,201	43,132

"Coal unloading fell off the last week in August, only six cargoes being unloaded as against nine the previous week. Five of these were bituminous and one anthracite. Four were in Canadian steamers and two in American. Five cargoes are reported as en route, four bituminous and one anthracite. Car shipments to the West are on the steady increase. Every car available is being rushed west to bring forward the new crop and they are being given loads wherever possible. The stocks on the docks here, however, are very heavy and shipments will have to get much above normal before any serious depletion of stocks will show itself. Still, it is quite expected that arrivals will get heavier as the fall advances.

"Two cargoes of ore went east during the week, totaling about 6,000 tons of pyrites ore. There is still a quantity of ore on the docks and much to come forward. One charter is reported to load early next week."

SNYDER RELEASED.

Steamer Uninjured By Grounding and Will Reload Coal Cargo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 8.—The steamer William P. Snyder, which went ashore in a fog Sunday night, near Rain's Landing, was released by the tug and lighter Reliance yesterday and arrived at the Sault last evening. About 2,000 tons of coal were lightered and will be returned to the steamer here today. She expects to get away tonight. The vessel was uninjured.

A drizzling rain and mist has caused steamers to move slowly the last twenty-four hours.

FLOUR PRICE HAS DECLINE

Drops $1 Per Barrel Within the Last Three Weeks.

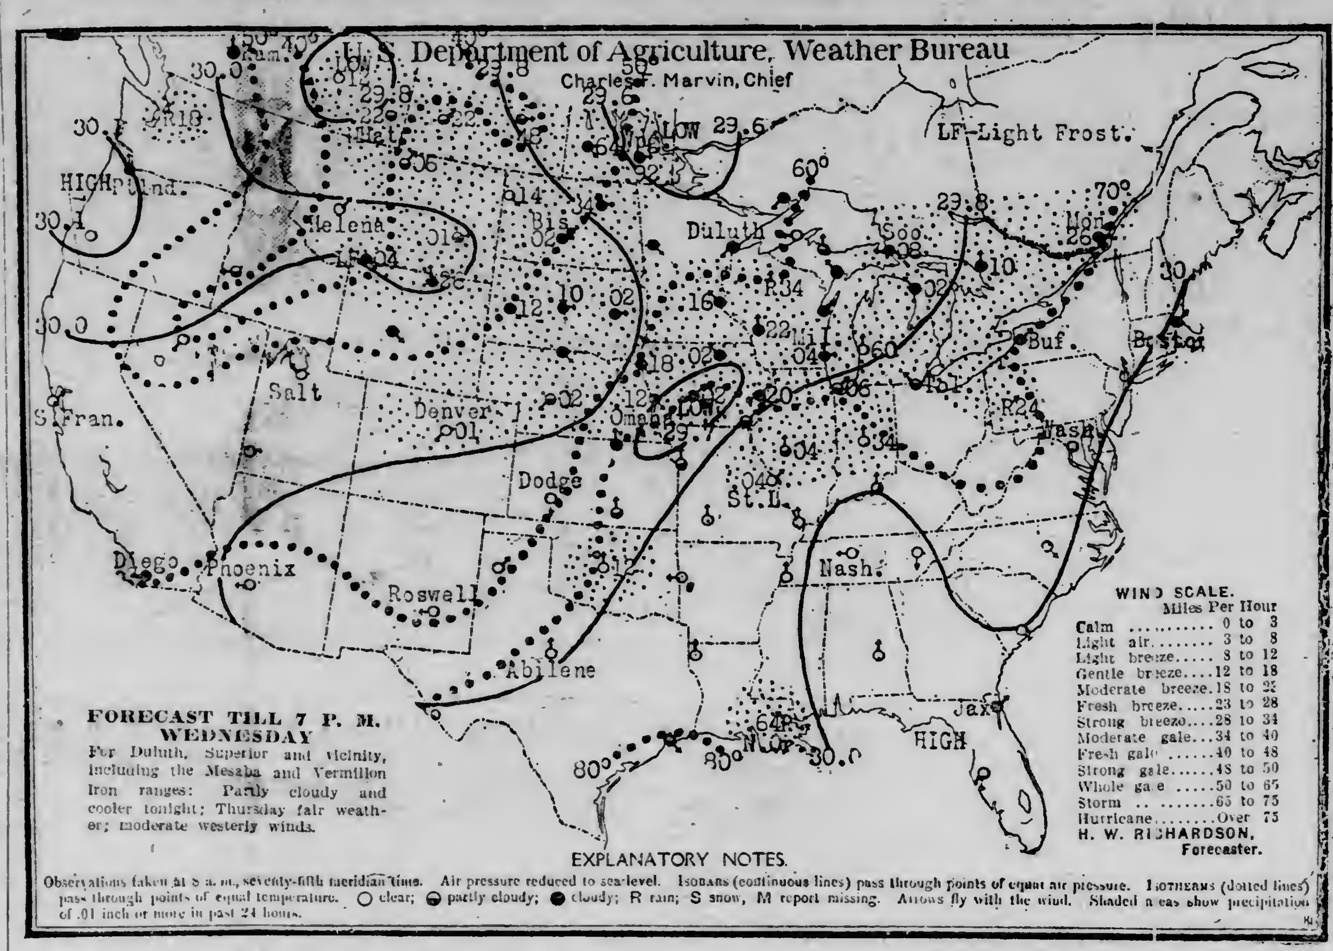

Flour prices have declined approximately $1 a barrel during the last three weeks and are now about where they were when the war broke out.

This is a result of the steady drop that has come about in wheat quotations on all the American markets within the last month.

An official of the Duluth-Superior Milling company said today that with new wheat family patent flour now selling at $4.75 a barrel, the demand now dealers in this territory and Eastern jobbers is showing considerable improvement. Many of the largest flour operators are now placing orders, in the belief that the market is now upon a reasonable basis, he averred.

Export inquiry is being received by the local milling company, but on account of the high freight and insurance rates, which the foreigners are unwilling to meet, it has been found difficult to work any trade of late.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

Are the clouds bluffing, or do they mean business? So far, there has been no rain with more than a whole day of heavy clouds, but, of course, there is no telling when the showers will start. The atmosphere is not disagreeable, being cool but not cold; but sunshine would help a whole lot.

A year ago today was pleasant. The sun rose this morning at 5:36 and will set this evening at 6:35, giving 12 hours and fifty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has turned somewhat cooler throughout the Northwest, Rocky mountains and Plateau region. Frost last night at Yellowstone, Wyo. Rather warm weather prevails from Kansas and the Central Valley states southward. During the last twenty-four hours local showers fell over Louisiana, Oklahoma, most of the Northern states, Eastern Canada, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy and cooler tonight; Thursday fair.

Wisconsin—Unsettled weather with thunder showers this afternoon or tonight in east and south portions; cooler tonight; Thursday partly cloudy with cooler in east portion.

Iowa—Thunder showers this afternoon or tonight; cooler tonight; Thursday partly cloudy.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; cooler in east portion tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Lower Michigan—Probably showers tonigth and Thursday; cooler Thursday.

Upper Michigan—Probably showers tonight and Thursday; cooler.

MARKET HAS FAIR UPTURN

Wheat Turns Strong on Northwest Rains and Light Receipts.

Flaxseed Closes Slightly Up With Crushers' Call and Small Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 8.—The market was easier around the close with some offerings. September wheat closed 1⅛c up; December 1⅜c up, and May 1@1⅛c up. September durum closed 1c up; October 1⅝c up, and December 2c up.

Oats closed ⅛c off at 32⅝c for on the track; rye unchanged at 89c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 44c to 53c.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at 88⅛c, and calls at 91¼c asked.

Light rains over the Northwest, predictions of unsettled weather and lighter receipts than had been expected contributed to a strong market in wheat today. After the recording of bulges extending to 1½c around the opening, however, liberal selling was met and quotations reacted fractionally.

A disposition on the part of growers to hold was reported by operators of interior elevators in the Northwest and receipts at the terminals here and at Minneapolis were not as heavy as had been counted upon, leading to a revision of opinion regarding the immediate course of prices by operators. Inspections at Duluth came to 330 cars against 569 last year, and at Minneapolis there were 499 cars compared with 797 a year ago. Marketings at Winnipeg fell off, receipts there coming to 350 cars against 1,309 last year.

The high grade of the wheat coming to hand is being commented upon by Duluth operators. Today with receipts at about 60 per cent of a year ago, there were 21 cars of No. 1 hard against 5 last year. Of No. 1 northern grade there were 130 cars against 81 last year.

Advices regarding the progress of threshing and results are encouraging, some remarkable yields being recorded.

Fair milling inquiry materialized today, but with Canadian wheat offering on a basis of several cents below Duluth, there was nothing doing in the way of export trade.

Business in coarse grains was quiet. Oats found a fair sale but the call for barley and rye was limited. The congested condition of the barley market at Winnipeg was shown in a sale of No. 3 Canadian barley here for September delivery at 45c.

September wheat opened ⅝c up at 90⅜c, advanced to 91⅜c and then receded to 91c at the noon-hour. December opened ½c up at 89½c and gained 1c more. May opened ⅞c up at 94⅜c and gained ⅝c more.

Durum was stronger than spring wheat on reported export inquiry at the seaboard. September durum opened ⅛c up at 94⅝c, and gained ¾c more. October opened ½c up at 92c, and moved up 1c more. December opened ½c up at 89½c and gained ⅝c more.

Flaxseed Strong.

Moderate inquiry from crushers led to moderate advances in flaxseed at the start. After the filling of orders in dealers' hands, trade dried up and prices rested. The close was strong on a resumption of bidding.

September flax opened ½c up at $1.62¼, and closed 1¼c up at $1.63 bid. October opened unchanged at $1.62½, and closed ⅛c up at $1.63¼ bid. November opened unchanged at $1.63, and closed 1c up at $1.64 asked. December opened unchanged at $1.62½, and closed ½c up at $1.63 bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 1⅛c up at $1.42 bid, and December ¾c up at $1.43½ bid.

At Buenos, flax closed ⅜c up at $1.23½, and London ⅞c up at $1.94⅝.

W. O. Falk of the Duluth board of trade received a wire today from Paul Anderson of Roseau, Minn., to the effect that he had threshed 893 bu of marquis wheat from twenty-one acres. This is a yield of 42½ bu an acre, and it is believed to establish a record for Minnesota.

Continued good millers' demand was reported for cash wheat on the Duluth board of trade today. Spot No. 1 northern wheat and to arrive Sept. 15 sold on the same basis as yesterday at 2c over September.

* * *

At Minneapolis there was a good cash demand. Mills were active buyers, and premiums were firmer. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5@6c over September, and to go to outside mills at 7@8c over September, and velvet chaff at 1½@3c over September. Bulk of the offerings were at 2@3c over September. Flour sales were reported good. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 90⅝@94⅞c and No. 2 northern at from 87⅝@91⅞c.

Paine Commission company had the following from Winnipeg: "Northwest Grain Dealers' association estimates the crop of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta: Wheat, 250,800,000 bu; oats, 300,593,400 bu; barley, 39,202,000 bu; flax, 4,836,000 bu.

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Easy American cables yesterday started the market lower but later there was more disposition to support and offerings became lighter which resulted in a steady undertone. Spot market was quiet but steady, unchanged. Cargo market was firm, winters 3d higher; Manitobas at 3d to 6d higher; Platas unchanged and Indians at 6d higher. United Kingdom weather is still unsettled and the movement is light with millers taking all offerings.

"Corn was quiet with Plata arrivals liberal and of good quality. Shipments from Africa are fairly liberal. European wheat threshing is disappointing, both as to yield and quality, and although arrivals are taking care of the immediate demand it is believed that constant fair purchases will be made for mixing and later on the amount will develop of large proportions."

Price Current estimates the yield of corn on Sept. 1 at 1,811,378,000 bu, compared with government final report for 1914 of 1,486,065,000 bu. If favorable weather continues it estimates that the surplus producing states will have over 300,000,000 bu more corn than last year.

NOTE—Weekly summaries of condition in the grain region will be telegraphed from Washington, April 13, and each Tuesday thereafter during the growing season, except that this summary will be telegraphed and published on Wednesday whenever the preceding Monday is a holiday.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending Sept. 7, 1915.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8, 1915.—The week was highly favorable in the spring wheat belt where gathering of a large crop of excellent quality progressed uninterruptedly.

In the winter wheat belt good progress was made with delayed thrashing but much remains unthrashed, especially in portions of the Ohio valley and Kansas, and complaints of damaged grain continued. In Kansas thrashing is only about half finished. Soil conditions are generally good; plowing progressed satisfactorily, except in portions of the Ohio valley and locally in other sections where it was too wet.

Warmer weather and more sunshine greatly benefited corn in most of the belt and the crop made good advancement.

Further reports indicate considerable damage in northern portions by frost near the close of the preceding week.

Local Forecaster.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Falling Off in Receipts Gives Wheat Prices Upward Turn.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Wheat prices took an upward turn today in response to a falling-off in receipts here and in the Northwest. A good deal of covering by shorts resulted also from efforts to even trades so as to be prepared for an expected bullish crop report from Washington. Besides crop advices from Europe and Argentine were adverse to the bears. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼@1½c higher, with September at 93½@94c and December at 90½@91⅛c, were followed by a slight reaction and then a fresh advance.

Subsequently notwithstanding that wet weather counted against the bulls, absence of export demand led to something of a setback. The close was firm, ⅞@1 to 1⅜c net higher with September at 93⅞c and December at 91⅛@91¼c.

Corn rose with wheat. The market was also affected by the Iowa state report showing 8 points loss in the crop condition during August. After opening unchanged to ⅜c off, prices scored a moderate general advance.

Later a bearish reaction occurred owing to the prevalence of high temperatures over the entire belt. The close was weak at 1⅛ to 1⅜c net decline.

Wet weather gave firmness to oats. Trade, however, was not large.

Provisions felt the influence of unsettled quotations for hogs. The market was nervous within a narrow range.

Rye No. 2, 91½@93c; barley, 52@62c; timothy, $5.50@8; clover, $8.35@13.25. Pork, $12.10; lard, $8.10; ribs, $7.62@8.25.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Only the light grades of hogs were in much request today, the packing house demand having been materially cut down. Liberal receipts weakened the cattle market. Supplies of sheep and lambs were also abundant.

Hogs—Receipts, 21,000; unsettled at yesterday's average; bulk, $6.40@7.60; light, $7.25@8.12½; mixed, $6.25@8.05; heavy, $6@7:45; rough, $6@6.20; pigs, $6.75@7.90.

Cattle—Receipts, 20,000; weak; native beef cattle, $6.15@10.25; western steers, $6.90@8.90; cows and heifers, $3.10@8.50; calves, $8@12.

Sheep—Receipts, 14,000; weak; sheep, $5.45@6; lambs, $6.25@8.85.

Call money steady; high, 2 per cent; low, 1¾ per cent; ruling rate, 1¾ per cent; last loan, 2 per cent; closed bid, 1¾ per cent; offered at 2 per cent.

London Money.

London, Sept. 8.—American securities lacked vigor, but the list advanced on the decline in exchange. United States Steel and Union Pacific were the most active shares. The closing was steady.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Hogs—Receipts, 3,200; steady; range, $6.25@7.55; bulk, $6.50@7.55.

Cattle—Receipts, 4,600; killers, 10@15c lower; steers, $4.50@9.25; cows and heifers, $4.50@6.75; calves, steady, $4.75@10.50; stockers and feeders, weak, $4.25@7.50.

Sheep—Receipts, 1,400; sheep, steady; lambs, 50@75c lower; lambs, $4.50@8; wethers, $4.75@5.75; ewes, $35.25.

WAR SHARES THE FEATURE

Early Gains Followed By Active Selling After First Hour.

General Recoveries in Late Trading With Closing Steady.

New York, Sept. 8.—Manipulation of war shares was the feature of today's early trading. General Motors made an initial gain of 3 points to 253 and Crucible Steel rose 1¾ to 86, with gains of a point in others of that group. Tennessee Copper was the only metal issue to record a gain, advancing 2½ to 57½. Railways were irregular, Reading's advance of a point to 151⅝ soon being lost. Rock Island was heavy, losing 1¾ to 18¼, probably as a result of the withdrawal of an important interest from further connection with the property. The local market derived no encouragement from London, where Americans manifested further weakness.

Active selling set in before the end of the first hour, the decline having its origin in rumors of fresh international complications. Stocks of the caliber of Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific and United States Steel sold under yesterday's lowest quotations and heaviness prevailed in other parts of the list. Before noon attemps were made to rally the market by another advance in the high priced specialties but the movement met with indifferent success, trading becoming apathetic. There was a marked falling off on commission business but this was neutralized by light foreign offerings, although exchange on London remained heavy. Bonds were irregular.

A gain of 9½ points to 299½ for Bethlehem Steel and five to 89¼ for Crucible Steel were the only features of the early afternoon, the balance of the list showing no marked changes.

There were general recoveries in the late trading, the favorable crop report stimulating fresh buying and short covering. The closing was steady.

INCREASED PROSPECT FOR BILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP

An Increase of 15,000,000 Since August Prediction Was Made.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Prospects of a billion-bushel wheat crop this year were increased by today's government report which forecast 981,000,000 bushels based on its Sept. 1 canvass.

Spring wheat indicates a crop of 322,000,000 bushels, an increase of 15,000,000 since the August prediction was made.

More definite information as to the size of the important farm crops, several of them the largest ever grown, and which are now being harvested or approaching harvest, was given today by the department of agriculture's crop reporting board which forecast the production from reports showing the condition of the crops on Sept. 1. These forecasts are given below with the forecasts based on Aug. 1 conditions, the final production in 1914, and the average production for the five years from 1909 to 1913:

ORIGIN OF "GERRYMANDER."

James Melvin Lee in the Cartoons Magazine: Gilbert Stuart, who is best remembered for his portrait of Washington, was also a cartoonist, and it was he who designed the famous Gerrymander cartoon.

In 1811 the struggle between the Democrats and the Federals for the control of Massachusetts was extremely bitter. The Democrats had elected Elbridge Gerry governor, and had carried both houses of the legislature. To retain this supremacy they remapped the senatorial districts, and divided the power of their political adversaries by paying no attention to county boundaries. In Essex county the relation of the district to the town was most absurd, and a map of the county thus laid out hung in the office of the Massachusetts Sentinel.

One day as Stuart gazed at the map, he remarked that the towns as they had been assembled looked like some monstrous animal. A few touches of his pencil added the wings and claws, and he christened the creature a salamander. At the suggestion of Editor Russell the name was changed to Gerrymander. The cartoon thereafter frequently appeared in a "broadside" while the term became one of reproach to the legislature that had distinguished itself by this act of political turpitude.

REAL COW'S MILK.

Baltimore Sun: Wayne MacVeagh, the lawyer and diplomat, has on the outskirts of Philadelphia an admirable stock farm. One day last summer some poor children were permitted to go over his farm, and when their inspection was done, to each of them was given a glass of milk.

The milk was excellent. It came, in fact, from a $2,000 cow.

"Well, boys, how do you like it?" the farmer said, when they had drained their glasses.

"Gee! Fine!" said one little fellow. Then, after a pause, he added: "I wisht our milkman kep' a cow."

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

BUY A LOT IN THIS ESTATE AS AN INVESTMENT.

You are bound to make from $200 to $300, as these lots are surrounded by property selling at from $300 to $400 a lot above prices asked by the estate for these choice homesites.

No long waiting for the neighborhood to grow; there are some of Duluth's finest residences located in this district now—a $12,000 residence in same block. Two blocks away, on Woodland avenue, lots similar to these are selling at from $3,000 to $5,000. School and church near by; paved street alongside of property.

But chances are that if you buy one of these lots on speculation, you will be charmed by the beauties of the neighborhood and will build there.

Notwithstanding the exceedingly low prices, these lots can be purchased on easy terms—$25 cash and long time on balance. Prices range from $635 to $750.

A QUICK, SURE WAY OF GETTING ADDITIONAL FUNDS

One of the quickest, surest and most satisfactory ways of raising additional funds is the "For Sale" columns of the "Herald want ads." The slight amount you pay for their service of salesmanship is forgotten when the returns come in. Think a moment and decide which one of the following classifications can be of service to you:

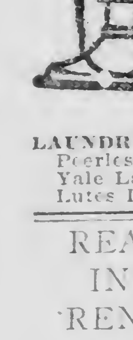

For Sale Miscellaneous, Musical Instruments, Machinery for Sale, Motorcycles, Bicycles, Automobiles, Live Stock, Horses and Vehicles, Poultry, Homesteads, Relinquishments, Timber Lands for Sale, Farm Lands for Sale, Acre Tracts for Sale, City Property for Sale.

Amounts ranging from a few dollars to hundreds and thousands are raised every day by means of these and other classifications. Let them help you.

Call at the Duluth office of this paper, use your phone if a Duluth resident; use the mail if an Iron Range resident, or leave your "want" ad with The Duluth Herald agent in your home town.

RUSSIANS CLAIM TO HAVE INFLICTED SEVERE DEFEAT ON THEIR OPPONENTS NEAR TARNOPOL IN GALICIA

U. S. CANCELS PASSPORT OF AMERICAN WHO ACTED AS DUMBA'S MESSENGER

First Official Act in Diplomatic Situation With Austrian.

Archibald to Be Given Emergency Passport to Reach Home.

Will Then Be Decided Whether He Has Violated Any Law.

Washington, Sept. 9. — Secretary Lansing has cancelled the passport of James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent, upon whom British secret service men found communications from Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, to his foreign office on the subject of fomenting strikes in American munitions plants. Archibald now is at Rotterdam, and American Minister Van Dyke has been instructed to issue an emergency passport to permit his return to the United States, when the department of justice probably will be called on to decide if he has violated any law of the United States in acting as a messenger for one of the European belligerents.

First Official Act.

Cancellation of Archibald's passports is the first official action in a diplomatic situation which it has been suggested might possibly extend so far as to cause the departure of Dr. Dumba from this country.

American government officials were amazed at the disclosures which followed Archibald's detention at Falmouth and were particularly annoyed that an American passport had been used to carry what practically amounts to military information.

Dr. Dumba has made his explanations to Secretary Lansing, saying the

HOURS REDUCED; NO CHANGE MADE IN PAY

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The Warner Manufacturing company, extensive manufacturers of automobile parts, announced today that the company would reduce the working hours at its plant to forty-eight hours per week during October with no change in the scale of wages.

The reduction is voluntary and is being made as an experiment.

ATTEMPTS AT REFORM FAIL

Former President Taft Gives His Views to Bankers' Convention.

Says Radical Efforts to Halt "Big Business" Retard Progress.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 9.—Former President William H. Taft today told the American Bankers' association, in convention here, that practically all of the radical reforms attempted in connection with politics, railroads and "big business" had failed of their purpose, causing the nation to halt in its progress, and that there must now be a "retracing to the line of moderation and justice."

In giving an "economic and political summary of the generation just closing," Mr. Taft said that the latest outstanding feature appeared to be the widespread growth of the spirit of the brotherhood of man, despite the fact that the war had shattered the dreams of unversal peace.

In his opening remarks Mr. Taft outlined the growth of large combinations in business; their successful adoption to politics, and how the "chase for the dollar" had absorbed all the people until they suddenly realized they were almost in the grasp of a plutocracy. It was then that agitation for reforms swept the country, he said, and public indignation became acute.

Excess of Remedy.

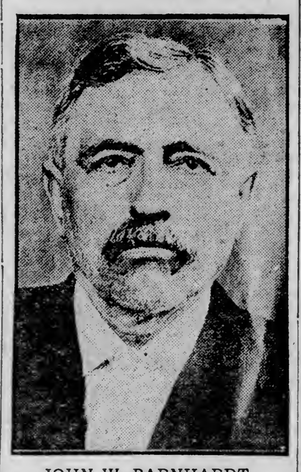

"The leviathan of the people cannot be stirred to such action as has been taken and stop short at the line of moderation," said Mr. Taft. "The hostility of legislatures and congress came to be directed against all successful investment of capital without discrimination. Nothing is so timid as capital, and nothing is so easily able to take care of what it has."

He then said that a deplorable feature of such excess of remedy was that the wage earners suffered most.

"The close and absolute supervision over the management of railroads," said Mr. Taft, "and the restriction upon the rates charged by them in interstate commerce and in commerce within states, together with the increase in cost of maintenance and of wages through the efforts of labor unions has ground the railroads be-

REMOVAL OF GRAND DUKE

Berlin Papers Take Various Views of Summary Action of Czar.

General Belief Is That Change Is Due to Political Reasons.

Berlin, Sept. 9, via London.—The removal of Grand Duke Nicholas from the position of commander-in-chief of the Russian armies is the text of long articles in Berlin newspapers this morning. The Tageblatt says the grand duke was removed because, notwithstanding his undeniable gifts in the strategy of retreating, he bears the responsibility for the Russian catastrophes in Poland and Galicia, his influence being shattered in consequence.

Reasons Political.

A view more frequently expressed is that the retirement of the grand duke was dictated by political reasons, and aimed particularly at the party represented by the present Russian government, which has grown too strong. The Lokal Anzeiger says the displacement of the grand duke removes the government party's strongest supporter and means a loss to the army, which saw in him the appointed leader. This newspaper pays a frank and generous tribute to the former commander-in-chief as a brave and honorable enemy and an able leader.

The Morgen Post, on the other hand, terms Grand Duke Nicholas "a brutal and bloody man, without leadership talent." It adds that the moment demands a leader of Titanic strength.

The Vossische Zeitung finds in Emperor Nicholas' move "final proof of the approaching breakdown of the army and state." It asserts that the government, in view of repeated defeats, saw itself compelled to summon new leaders for the army, and the political position of the grand duke made the decision of the emperor easy.

The Boersen Zeitung believes the change may be calculated to impress the other members of the quadruple entente with the feeling that Russia is doing everything possible to ward off impending events.

The Tages Zeitung says, "The grand ducal party, whose head was the former commander-in-chief, has suffered a very real defeat."

WIDOW MURDERED AND ROBBED OF GEMS

Half of New York Police Detectives Trying to Find Assassin.

New York, Sept. 9.—Half the police detectives in New York were at work today trying to find who murdered Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, a wealthy widow, and robbed her house of a small fortune in jewels. Mrs. Nichols, after a desperate struggle, was strangled to death about 9 o'clock last night in her home on East Seventy-ninth street, just off Fifth avenue, in the heart of the millionaire residence district.

The murderers stripped diamond rings from the woman's fingers and tore valuable jewels from her ears. It was reported that they carried away a strongbox containing jewels worth several hundred thousand dollars.

GERMANY'S ANSWER TO ARABIC SINKING GIVEN AMBASSADOR

Destruction of Liner Called Act of Self Defense By Submarine Captain.

Believed Maneuvers of Steamship Indicated an Attack on Him.

Germany Offers to Refer Question of Reparation to The Hague.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 9.—Germany's note to the United States concerning the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine has been communicated to James W. Gerard, the American ambassador. The note ascribes the destruction of the liner to an act of self-defense on the part of the submarine, expresses the German government's deep regret that American lives were lost thereby, and offers to refer the questions of reparation and compensation to The Hague for adjustment.

The note reveals in detail the instructions to submarine commanders concerning their treatment of liners. They are ordered not to attack a passenger steamer except in case of an attempt to escape after it is ordered to halt, or unless its actions indicate an intention to attack the submarine.

Acted Within Instructions.

The submarine commander, according to his report concerning the sending of the Arabic to the bottom, said he believed the Arabic was about to attack the submarine, and therefore he acted within his instructions.

GERMAN MILITARY WRITER AT FRONT

Gen. Von Bernhardi Given Command at His Own Request.

Berlin, Sept. 9, via London.—Gen. Friedrich A. J. Von Bernhardi has been assigned to a field command at his own request by Emperor William. He has already left for the front.

Gen. Von Bernhardi is one of the best known military writers of Germany. In a book entitled "Germany and the Next War," written in 1912, he forecasts many of the main features of the present campaigns. Before going to the front he served as commander of the Fiftieth army corps which consists of home units.

SENT TO PRISON FOR LYING ABOUT LUSITANIA'S GUNS

GUSTAV STAHL.

New York, Sept. 9.—Gustav Stahl, the German reservist, who swore he saw four guns on the Lusitania just before she sailed from here on her last trip, but later admitted his affidavit was false and entered a plea of guilty to perjury, was today sentenced by Federal Judge Hough to eighteen months' imprisonment in the Federal prison at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $1.

SHIP WAITS WHILE MINES ARE CLEARED

Russian Steamer Detained for Six Days Outside of Archangel.

New York, Sept. 9.—The Russian steamer Dwinsk which arrived today from Archangel, reported being detained six days outside of Archangel while trawlers swept German mines from the channel entrance. After sailing the Dwinsk passed north of Iceland and did not sight any German war vessels.

Youth's Alibi Good.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 9.—The alibi offered by Henry Edwards, the Scituate youth arrested at Worcester, yesterday, in connection with the murder of Justice Willis S. ZEPPELINS APPROACH NEARER THE CENTER OF LONDON; KILL TWENTY Wednesday Night's Raid Brings the Total Casualties to 122.

In Addition 349 Persons Have Been Injured By Bombs.

London, Sept. 9.—Twenty persons were killed and eighty-six injured in last night's Zeppelin raid.

These figures were given out here officially today. The German airships flew over the eastern counties of England and the London district.

The official statement gives the following list of casualties:

Killed, 12 men, 2 women and 6 children.

One soldier was killed and three were injured. All the other victims were civilians.

Total Killed 122.

The attack of last night brings up the total of casualties from Zeppelin raids to 122 killed and 349 injured. On the previous night 13 persons were killed and 43 wounded.

The Evening Standard speaks of the coolness shown everywhere, but warns the public against "the noticeable widespread and dangerous disposition to regard the affair as a species of spectacle."

Last night's official statement concerning the airship raid stated that the Zeppelins "visited the eastern counties and the London district."

The foregoing guarded references indicate that the Zeppelins approached the heart of the city more closely than on previous occasions.

CARRANZA'S REPLY EXPECTED SOON

Washington, Sept. 9.—Secretary Lansing announced today that Gen. Carranza's reply to the Pan-American peace appeal was expected tomorrow or Saturday.

The secretary said he had no advices as to its nature. One report, however, indicated that Carranza will decline to join a joint conference of the Mexican factions.

As soon as Carranza's answer has been received a meeting of the Pan-American conferees will be called.

PLANNING FOR GREAT ATTACK

Allies Are Concentrating Large Forces at the Dardanelles.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 7, via Berlin and wireless to Tuckerton, N. J., Sept. 9.—According to information received by reliable sources the allies are now concentrating large forces, including heavy artillery for a general attack on the Dardanelles.

The presence of mine sweepers at Seddul Bahr, near the entrance to the straits, is regarded as foreshadowing increased activity, including a vigorous bombardment of the outer Dardanelles forts.

Heavy Fighting.

London, Sept. 9.—There was heavy fighting throughout Tuesday on the Gallipoli peninsula in which the fleet of the allies joined, according to the Daily Telegraph's Mitylene correspondent. The correspondent adds that progress was made by the allies on the Suvla bay front.

BEAR CAUSES STRIKE IN LUMBER CAMP

Bruin Eats Grub and Men Refuse to Work While Hungry.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 9.—When a bear visited a road camp of a lumber company today and ate all the provisions, work was stopped for several hours because the men refused to work without something to eat. The teams of the company were being used on a new road under construction between here and Three Lakes, and as camp was more than a mile away from the place where the men were working they took their meals with them in a large basket. Bruin smelled the good things and what he didn't eat he scattered over the ground. The men refused to continue their labor until more food was brought from camp.

RUSS TROOPS STRIKE BACK NEAR LEMBERG

Eight Thousand Prisoners Taken Exclusive of Dead and Wounded.

German Center Forging Slowly Ahead Under Sustained Pressure.

London, Sept. 9.—For the first time in many weeks the Russians, according to their own statements, have inflicted a severe defeat on their opponents. The battle of Tuesday near Tarnopol, seventy miles east of Lemberg and near the Galician frontier, while not conclusive, is regarded in England as indicating that the Russians are reaching the stage where they purpose striking back after their long retreat.

Take 8,000 Prisoners.

The Teutonic forces engaged in this battle included not only Austrian, but German forces. The Russians maintain that 8,000 prisoners, exclusive of the dead and wounded, measure the extent of their victory and that it would have been more pronounced but for their inferiority in artillery.

The German center is forging forward slowly by virtue of sustained pressure, but in the north Field Marshal von Hindenburg is still unable to force a passage of the Dvina.

Nicholas Moving South.

Grand Duke Nicholas, removed as commander in chief of the Russian forces, is today on the way to his new headquarters in the Caucasus. Pending further developments, the Russian and English press is unable to fathom just what this transfer signifies. It is suggested in some quarters that the shift may be forerunner to an important Russian diversion on the Turkish frontier, in connection with the Franco-British attempt to force the Dardanelles.

By means of air raids, gunfire from the sea and artillery bombardments at many places on the western front, the French and British continue to hammer German positions without launching infantry attacks.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 9, via London.—Near Tarnopol, the Russians have defeated the Third German division and the Forty-eighth reserve division, with an Austrian brigade, capturing 8,000 prisoners and thirty guns besides a quick firer, according to an official statement issued at the war office.

The communication follows:

"On the Riga-Dvinsk front, the general situation remains unchanged. German attempts to advance Tuesday in the region of the railway station at

BRITISH TRANSPORT IS REPORTED SUNK

Berlin Report Says Steamer Southland Torpedoed in Turkish Waters.

Berlin, Sept. 9, by wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.—A statement given out by the Overseas news agency today quotes the Weserzeitung of Bremen as saying that the British steamship Southland, serving as a transport, was torpedoed recently in Turkish waters. The news agency says:

"The Weserzeitung of Bremen points out that the transport Southland was torpedoed in Turkish waters. The Southland formerly was the Red Star liner Vaderland. These steamers flew the Belgian flag up to the time of the occupation of Belgium and then sailed under the American flag. Now the Southland, which lately was flying the American flag, suddenly was changed into a British transport."

No previous report has been made concerning the torpedoing of the Southland. A wireless dispatch from Berlin last week quoted a telegram from Sofia to the effect that a British transport had been sunk by a mine off the entrance to the Dardanelles with the loss of 1,870 men. It was thought at the time that the Berlin report might have been an inaccurate version of the sinking of the British transport Royal Edward in the Aegean sea, Aug. 14, by a German submarine.

The British government has made no announcement of the sinking of another transport.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Last night's Zeppelin raid on London and the English east counties resulted in the killing of twenty persons and the injury of eighty-six others. This makes a total of thirty-three persons killed and 129 injured in the raids of two successive nights.

A dispatch from Berlin carries the report that the British steamer Southland, formerly the Red Star liner Vaderland, which was serving as a transport, has been torpedoed in Turkish waters.

Large forces are being concentrated by the Entente allies for a new general attack on the Dardanelles, according to information received in Sofia, Bulgaria.

Violent attacks in the Argonne region were renewed last night by the Germans. Paris declares that except for the taking of one section of trench the German attack failed.

The Russian war office claims an important success near Tarnopol in Galicia. The defeat of two German divisions and an Austrian brigade and the capture of more than 8,444 prisoners, thirty cannon and machine guns, is recorded.

RANGE ENGINEERS COMING SATURDAY

Sixty Will Have Outing in Duluth and Vicinity.

About sixty mining engineers, employed on the ranges, will come to Duluth next Saturday to enjoy an outing for the day. A large number will come down in autos tomorrow to be on hand, the others coming by train.

The program begins at 9:40 o'clock Saturday morning, when the party leaves Duluth for Thomson on the Northern Pacific, arriving there at 10:30 o'clock, where they will interest themselves in viewing the Great Northern power plant. Luncheon will be served at the Spirit Lake branch of the Duluth Boat club. The afternoon will be spent in a survey of the steel plant of the United States Steel corporation. At 5:30 o'clock the return to Duluth proper will be made, headquarters then being made at the Holland hotel.

WEATHER—Fair tonight and probably Friday; slightly warmer.

MISSABE ROAD LEASES TERMINALS THAT CIRCLE DULUTH AND SUPERIOR

Acquires Spirit Lake, Interstate and Duluth Terminal Lines.

Gives Unbroken Rail Facilities From Both Ranges to Wisconsin Point.

Steel Plant Given Railway Service on Both Sides.

To facilitate the handling of its general business, but especially with a view to giving proper attention to the shipping of products from the steel plant and the receipts or iron ore, coal and supplies for the furnaces of the Minnesota Steel company, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company has just closed long-term leases on three additional railway lines, and as a result, has the most complete terminal equipment of any road entering Duluth. The new lines have been operated by the Missabe on a letter agreement for several weeks, and the leases are just now closed.

The three lines are:

The Spirit Lake Transfer Railway line, which swings around Duluth from Adolph on the main line of the Missabe road to Steelton; also from Steelton, north, to the steel plant.

The Interstate Transfer railway, which completes the arc from Steelton to a junction with the Omaha road, over near Wisconsin point in Superior.

Complete Line Around Cities.

The acquisition of these lines gives the Missabe road an unbroken route from Adolph on its own line to the Omaha railroad in Superior, and leaves only about five miles to build to the end of Wisconsin point, property which the Steel corporation has acquired with a view to building ore and coal docks there when it is found necessary. The new arrangement also gives the Missabe road facilities from the Adolph-Wisconsin point line right in to Missabe Junction at Twenty-seventh avenue west and Railroad street, where it will join the main line.

The leased lines will give the Minnesota Steel company rail service on both sides and through its plant. The Spirit Lake Transfer railway from Adolph, runs along the west side of the plant, giving influx for ore direct from the range, and its branch running north from Steelton, is along the east side of the plant, bordering the St. Louis river. The matter of spur tracks will be simple.

Steel Plant's Facilities.

Some wonder has been expressed that the Minnesota Steel company did not want the St. Louis river dredged to freight-carrier depth up to its plant, in view of the fact that it would have to receive lime and other materials by the lake, and would do a good deal of its shipping by that route, and it was inferred that a dock would be a handy thing up there.

While the railroad officials do not say so, the lease of the transfer railway lines probably explains this, it is believed. Such material as the steel plant will have brought by lake, and such shipping as will be done by it down the lake, can be handled by rail to the Missabe docks, for the railroad facilities are now ample, and for the present the dock facilities are, too. The Missabe road not only has its four ore docks, but has another dock at Thirty-fourth avenue west which it uses for the receiving and storing of coal and lime. Coal and lime have been received there all season. C. H. Fugel is superintendent.

No New Docks Yet.

Asked as to whether the Steel corporation expects to build the additional line to the Wisconsin point property and build docks there soon, President W. A. McGonagle of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road said yesterday that nothing will be done for the present.

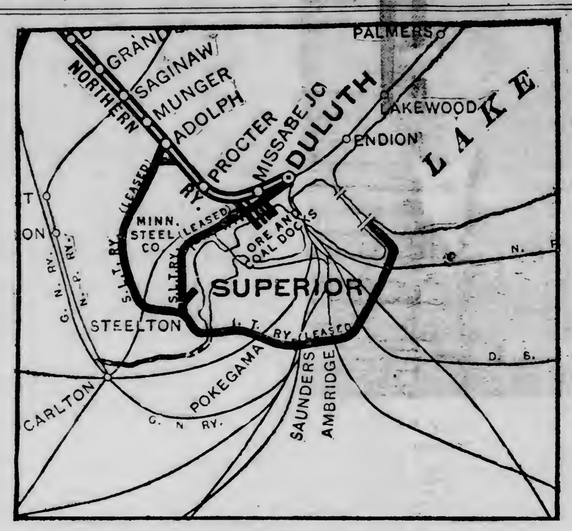

"We have acquired that property with an eye to the future," said Mr. McGonagle. "Just now we have ample facilities, but that will not always be the case. As business develops, and as the steel plant grows, we will need more dock room and we have the site for it on Wisconsin point. For instance, we expect that more dock room will be necessary for coal, lime and other materials needed, and for shipping facilities for the steel plant. When that condition will have been reached we will construct docks on the Wisconsin point property, but there is nothing being considered in that line at the present time, except, of course, in a tentative way."

Unexcelled Terminals.

When one takes into consideration the fact that the Duluth & Iron Range road is a subsidiary company of the Steel corporation, it will be seen that that organization has a complete railroad belt around the two cities at the Head of the Lakes, terminal facilities, which, considering the neecssities, are unexcelled anywhere.

The additional roads acquired, in their swing around the cities, touch at the stations of Steelton, Pokegama, Saunders and Ambridge, and cut the Northern Pacific's line to St. Paul, Northern Pacific's Fargo line, Northern Pacific's line to Ashland, Great Northern's line to St. Paul, Soo's line to St. Paul; Soo's line to Brooten, Soo's line to Chicago, South Shore's line to the Sault, and the Omaha's line to Chicago.

The mileage acquired is as follows: Spirit Lake road from Adolph to the steel plant, 11.25 miles; the Interstate road from the steel plant to the Omaha line, 12.19 miles; total, 23.44 miles.

WEST END

DULUTH AND RANGE LODGES WILL MEET

Degree of Honor Will Hold Annual Convention Here Sept. 29.

The annual convention of Degree of Honor lodges of the Duluth district will be held on Sept. 29 at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Delegates from the four lodges of Duluth and delegates from Superior, Cloquet, Carlton, Two Harbors and range cities will be present.

The delegates will be guests of Progressive lodge No. 6, while in the city. An entertainment for the visitors is now being planned by a committee consisting of Mrs. Ellen Srigley, Mrs. R. Reamer, Mrs. Lena Serville, Mrs. T. O'Neill and Mrs. Mar Gottschald.

Mrs. Clara Bender of Buffalo, Minn., grand chief of honor of the lodge, and Mrs. Elizabeth Schroeder of St. Paul, past grand chief of honor and district deputy for the society, will be among the higher officials who will attend. Mrs. Schroeder is expected to arrive tomorrow to take charge of a membership campaign to be conducted during the next two weeks.

The convention will be called to order at 2 o'clock, Sept. 29. It is expected to complete the business meeting during the afternoon. A banquet will be served at the hall at 6:30 o'clock. In the evening a large class of candidates will be initiated.

WILL PLAN CELEBRATION

Business Men Will Hold Joint Meeting With Commercial Club.

At a business meeting of merchants of the West end to be held Wednesday or Thursday evening next week, plans for a celebration to be held in this end of the city jointly with the West End Commercial club will be made. It is probable that the meeting will be held on Thursday evening, that being the regular meeting night of the West End Commercial club.

An inspection of the West end for the purpose of viewing the work carried out by the West End Beautifying club during the summer will be made within the next week by a committee consisting of L. A. Simonson, K. A. Franklin and A. B. Width.

Owing to a number of the business men being out of the city attending the state fair the noon luncheon scheduled for yesterday was postponed.

CAR MEN WOULD PLAY COURTHOUSE TEAM

The baseball team of street car conductors and motormen is looking for a game for Saturday afternoon with the courthouse team. Manager Morrison said this morning that he expected to be able to arrange the game if he could get in touch with the members of the courthouse team. If the game is arranged it will be played at 2:30 o'clock at the Thirty-second avenue grounds.

Woodmen Will Initiate.

Class initiation of several new members will take place at the meeting of Duluth camp No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, at the Woodman hall, Friday evening. John L. Sundeen, state deputy for the order, will have charge of the ceremonies. Mr. Sundeen has been in the city for several days assisting local members in securing an increase in the membership of the lodge.

Mission Meetings Planned.

Mission meeting will be held this evening at the Bricklayers' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, under the auspices of the Pentecostal assembly. The speakers will be: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lawler and Miss Beatrice Lawler, who have served several years as missionaries in China. The visitors will also speak at the hall Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Dies in Hospital.

Herman Gustafson, aged 25, died yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's hospital following a short illness. The body was taken to the West end undertaking rooms, where funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon. He leaves a sister, Miss Minnie Gustafson, 2522 West Second street, his parents, four sisters and a brother living in Sweden. The Benevolent Order of Beavers will have charge of the funeral.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Morterud, 2626 West Fifth street, are spending a few days attending the state fair.

Miss Inga Brende, 2616 West Fifth street, has returned from Iowa, where she was visiting relatives for two weeks.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will speak on "Christian Healing" at the mid-week service in the church this evening.

Mrs. J. H. Evans and four children, 417 North Twenty-first avenue west, have returned from Monona, Iowa, where they have been visiting relatives for the last three weeks.

J. A. Laubach and son, William Laubach, 303 Twenty-second avenue west, are in the Twin Cities attending the state fair.

The Young People's society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church will entertain at a musical and literary program at the church tomorrow evening.

PYTHIANS PLAN NOVEL MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Something new in a membership campaign will soon be launched by the North Star lodge, No. 35, Knights of Pythias, if plans now under consideration mature.

It was announced last evening that Charles S. Palmer and Stephen A. Hearn are favored as delegates from the Duluth lodge to the convention of the grand lodge of the domain of Minnesota which will be held in the Twin Cities on Oct. 12. Instructions to delegates are now being discussed and prepared. Messrs. Palmer and Hearn received the past chancellor's rank last January and if they go to the Twin Cities they will probably receive the grand lodge rank.

It is reported that Duluth Pythians may have one of their members in the supreme body. The name of the man to be so honored is withheld.

PLAN CIRCUIT OF THEATERS

Messrs. Phelps and Cook on Trip to Study Conditions.

Northern Wisconsin and Range Houses May Be Taken Over.

A widening of local vaudeville interests may prove of decided interest to Duluth theater-goers. It is said that the New Grand theater owners intend to enlarge their field and acquire several theaters outside of this city, and form them into a new vaudeville and motion picture circuit.

Manager Frank Phelps and Treasurer B. J. Cook of the Grand are now in the East looking over the field to see what bookings might be secured for such a circuit and also to investigate conditons in various cities to see if such a plan would be feasible. It is said that correspondence has been going on for some time with theatrical men in Ashland, Superior and range towns to form such a circuit.

Messrs. Phelps and Cook are expected to be back in Duluth Saturday, and they will undoubtedly be able to make a definite statement regarding the matter at that time.

Local theater-goers are interested in the matter as they believe it might eventually better theatrical conditions at the Head of the Lakes. At present the New Grand is the only vaudeville theater in Duluth. Duluth, with nearly 100,000 inhabitants, is considered an excellent field for vaudeville.

OBSERVE NEW YEAR AT TEMPLE EMANUEL

The Jewish New Year, which was celebrated throughout the world last evening by orthodox Jews, was duly observed in Duluth at Temple Emanuel, where Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits spoke on "The Blessings of Peace." The subject for his sermon was chosen after Mr. Lefkovits had been informed by the Central Conference of American Rabbis that the first sermon of the year should be on the subject of peace.

Rabbi Lefkovits spoke again this morning at 10:45 o'clock at the temple, when his subject was "Remember." A special musical program was given and the attendance was large.

With the appearance of the evening star yesterday services at Adas Israel synagogue were begun. This was according to an ancient custom. This morning at 7:30 o'clock the observance of the new year was begun and will last until noon. There will be other services tonight.

Tomorrow the orthodox Jews will have devotional exercises, morning, afternoon and evening. "Yom Kippur," the "Day of Atonement," which is the most solemn of the entire Jewish year, will begin at sundown on Sept. 17 and will continue twenty-four hours. There will be three consecutive Jewish holidays this year, as Friday, the Jewish Sabbath, follows "Rosh Hashanah," the New Year's day.

EVEN UMBRELLAS WILL BE FUR TRIMMED

Umbrellas trimmed with fur will be the last thing in rain sticks this fall, according to advance announcements made by the leading local dealers. All of the fashionable ones will have sprinkler shields decked out in the fuzzy hide of some animal.

For the reason that fur is being so generally used in trimming dresses and suits this fall, the price of fur is said to be going up. Ben Beckman, head of the Beckman Fur factory of this city, brings this information from the East, where he has been on business. Mr. Beckman brought back a number of models in furs and coats. He says that furs have never been so stylish and beautiful as this year and that business in the East is improving with fine prospects for the fall months.

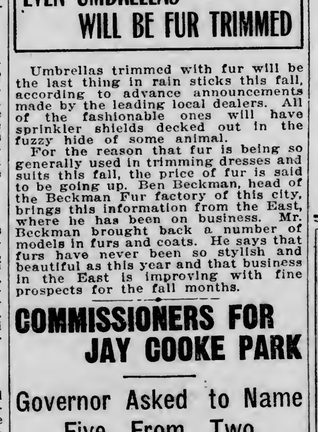

COMMISSIONERS FOR JAY COOKE PARK

Governor Asked to Name Five From Two Counties.

Governor Hammond has been asked to name two St. Louis county and three Carlton county citizens as commissioners for the new Jay Cooke State park, according to Senator Fred D. Vibert of Cloquet, who with Judge W. A. Cant of this city, submitted the five names for the executive's consideration.

The 1915 law authorizing an appropriation for the new state park extending from Fond du Lac in St. Louis county to Thomson in Carlton county, provided that the governor should appoint one or more commissioners to act with the attorney general of the state without pay. The commissioner or commissioners are authorized to acquire for the state by gift, purchase or condemnation not to exceed 4,000 acres.

The governor may appoint all or as few as he chooses or may reject all and ask for new names. Neither is he bound to appoint upon suggestions from St. Louis and Carlton counties. Senator Vibert fathered the bill in the legislature and Judge Cant of this city was among the most enthusiastic supporters of the measure.

WILL SUE FOR SALARIES.

North Dakota Tax Commissioners Will Start Court Action.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — Preliminary arrangements are being made for the suit that will be started by the members of the state tax commission to test the validity of the action of the last legislature in refusing an appropriation for the members of the commission salary.

Commissioner Wallace succeeded in drawing his salary for the current month, but when the other commissioners, F. E. Packard and H. H. Steele, presented their vouchers, they were informed that there was no appropriation.

Commissioner Wallace received his salary from the balance that remained in the fund from the last previous appropriation, completely exhausting the available fund.

A mandamus against the state treasurer and state auditor will be the course of action resorted to by the commissioners.

Proposed Electric Line.

Hettinger, N. D. Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lignite coal mines at Haynes, near here, will be provided direct marketing facilities by the construction of an electric line from the mines to the Milwaukee railroad at Haynes. The scheme is to be financed by Aberdeen, S. D., backers of the mining project. They anticipate making the Haynes mines among the biggest producers in the state, and the company will add considerable equipment with this object in view.

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair

(Toilet Tips)

It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered delatone, apply to hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

TEACHERS NOT "CITY BROKE" TO THE NEW TRAFFIC RULES

A pretty little woman, tailor-made and city broke, stood at the corner of Third avenue west and Superior street displaying a feeling of indignation that nearly caused her to explode. Her face was purple from the rage that surged through her possible 125 pounds, her pretty little feet shod in prim patent leathers beat a tattoo on the cement walk and her chin was poised high in the clear refreshing atmosphere of the early morning. She was sure cross.

An East Fourth street car rounded the corner and the trim little figure on the walk tripped out to the tracks with the evident intention of becoming a passenger. The car moved rapidly up the hill while the conductor waved his hand smilingly at the fluffy being shouting in the middle of the avenue for the car to stop.

"That's the third car that has gone right by me with the conductor refusing to stop," protested the woman to the traffic policeman at the corner. Before the latter could answer, she continued: "And to make matters more humiliating every one of the conductors smiled at me and waved his hands, trying to strike up a flirtation. I'll bet if all their brains were put in a delicate cambric handkerchief they would not make a stain. I'll report this insolence to the superintendent of the road and find out if these cars are being operated for the benefit of the public or to give low-brow conductors an opening to flirt with respectable women."

When the speaker paused for breath, the big cop laughed. Then he explained. "You see the hill cars do not stop on Third avenue any more, but rather on Superior street. And the conductors were not trying to flirt with you, but rather to indicate, by the waving of their arms, that you should move over in front of the Alworth building, where the hill cars stop. You live in Duluth?"

"No; but I taught school here last year and am teaching here again this year," answered the little woman, now somewhat chagrined. "When I left here last June the hill cars stopped near the First National bank building. I did not know of the change."

MAY BECOME CITY DUMP

Lake Shore Near St. Croix Avenue Now Being Considered.

City Officials Confer With U. S. Engineer for Use of Ground.

The lake shore near St. Croix avenue, along the approach to Minnesota Point, again may be used as a public dumping ground, if the government grants its permission.

Mayor W. I. Prince, with Commissioners Voss and Silberstein, conferred with Maj. E. D. Peck at the United States engineer's office this morning with the view of arranging to use this stretch of shore as a dumping ground. Maj. Peck is in charge of the engineering work in the Head of the Lakes district.

This action was taken after commissioners learned that the dumping ground adjoining the municipal incinerator plant at Fourteenth avenue west and the bay front, was full of refuse, and could not accommodate any more garbage.

"It may be necessary to build another incinerator," said Mayor Prince, "but if the government allows us to use the lake shore, as formerly, it will solve the problem for the time being. We do not like to go to the expense of constructing a large incinerating plant unless we have to."

On Nov. 29, 1913, the government through Maj. Peek, notified city officials that the strip of shore paralleling St. Croix avenue should not be used as a public dumping ground any more.

"He told us today," said the mayor, "that the land probably could be used, if the proper cribs and piling were constructed. The cribs would prevent refuse from washing into the lake and would be a necessary protection."

No action has been taken on the new plan as yet.

NIGHT SCHOOL! NIGHT SCHOOL!

Every young person in Duluth should know about the Duluth Business university night school. Twelve teachers are in charge of the night school work. Courses are given in stenography, bookkeeping, penmanship, English, court reporting, higher accounting, salesmanship and transportation. Satisfaction is guaranteed in all departments. For full particulars, call at the college office, 118-120 Fourth avenue west, Christie building. Office open from 8 a. m. to 12 p. m., from 1 to 5:30 and from 7 to 9. New classes will be organized in all departments on Monday, Sept. 13. Location, 118-120 Fourth avenue west, Christie building, W. C. McCarter, principal.

Boys' Glee Club Meets.

New officers for the Boys' Glee club of the Central high school will not be elected until the organization is perfected. This was decided at a meeting of the club held yesterday afternoon at the Central building when the members assembled in the music room and listened to an interesting talk by Mrs. Dixon, musical director. Lorimer Linder, president of the class, also delivered a short talk. The club will meet again next Monday afternoon.

For War Sufferers.

A number of Jewish people of Duluth will take part in the presentation of "Der Alte Vater," a play to be given for the benefit of war sufferers' relief fund on Sept. 22 at the Finnish hall, 432 Cummings avenue, Superior. The play will be presented in Yiddish.

New Steamship Company.

A. C. Gillette, C. M. Van Norman and H. A. Carmichael are incorporators for the Standard Transit company, which today filed articles of incorporation with Charles Calligan, register of deeds. The new corporation is organized to engage in the vessel transportation business. The capital stock is $50,000, divided into 500 shares at $100 each.

For Presbyterian Women.

All the women of the First Presbyterian church have been invited to meet socially at the residence of Miss Anna Upham, 1523 East Third street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. An "aero trip" to many countries will be taken and songs of different lands will be sung by Mrs. John C. Currie, Miss Myrtle Hobbs, Miss Florence Williams, Mrs. F. B. Carey and Mrs. L. E. Marvin.

Sets Aside $500 Verdict.

Judge Dancer of the district court has set aside a $500 verdict returned by a jury on May 21 last in favor of Samuel H. Hoar against the Kabekona Iron company and has granted a motion for a new trial, which was urged by the defendant company. The action is one to enforce a contract for royalties on a certain eighty acres of land in section 9, 58-19.

Will Discuss Playgrounds.

The Duluth Rotary club held its weekly luncheon at the Hotel Holland this noon and listened to a report by A. C. Kienly on the San Francisco meeting of the national association, to which he was a delegate from the Duluth club. Col. C. H. Graves read a committee report on the matter of continuing the playgrounds provisions and making appropriation therefor. The report was favorable, and while it was the sense of the club to support the committee, it was determined to, if possible, make arrangements for two speakers on the matter at the next meeting, one to be for the project and one against.

Grand Jury Still in Session.

The final report of the September grand jury, which has been in session for the past week, is not expected before tomorrow. The grand jury spent the morning investigating the Richeson case, it is believed.

Says Company Is Trespasser.

B. Christenson today applied to the district court for an injunction against the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company to prevent it from continuing to trespass, as he alleges, on property leased to him. Since April 14 last, he asserts, he has been entitled to immediate and exclusive possession of a certain forty acres of land in section 36, 67-17. The lumber company, disregarding his rights, constructed a camp on the land and permitted horses to graze over his hay and grass crops, he claims.

Social at St. Luke's Mission.

SEVEN MIDSHIPMEN ARE TO BE DISMISSED

Washington, Sept. 9.—Seven midshipmen have been recommended for dismissal from the naval academy by the acting superintendent for hazing or for falsehoods in connection with the recent hazing investigation.

Secretary Daniels today notified the accused midshipmen, offering them opportunities to make explanations. Their names were not make public.

In addition to those recommended for dismissal a large number were recommended for disciplinary action.

WILL VISIT COUNTY FAIRS

Three Trips Arranged for Duluth Boosters, Beginning Sunday.

Twelve County Exhibitions Will Be Visited in Tributary Region.

The trade extension committee of the Duluth Commercial club has completed its arrangements for the three county fair trips taken by the Duluth boosters each fall, and will leave on the first one next Sunday night. The second will take place on Sept. 17 and will include Two Harbors alone, for that will be the time of the Lake county fair. The third trip will begin on Sept. 21.

The first and last mentioned trips will be in charge of Frank X. Gravel, booster general, and each will take a week to make. The trip to Two Harbors will be in charge of one of Mr. Gravel's many efficient assistants, and will be made by auto.

The first trip will take in the county fairs as follows:

Monday, Sept. 13, Bagley, for the Clearwater county fair; Tuesday, Park Rapids, for the Hubbard county fair; Wednesday, Park Rapids, Wadena, for a visit, and Aitkin, the latter to attend the Aitkin county fair; Thursday, Aitkin, then Carlton, for a visit, then to Barnum for the Carlton county fair, later going to Pine City for the Pine county fair; Friday, Pine City and then Rush City for the Chisago county fair; Saturday, Princeton, for the Mille Lacs county fair; then back to Duluth, reaching here that evening.

For the third trip, leaving Tuesday morning, Sept. 21, the visits will be as follows:

CONFESSIONS BY HALLBOY

Had Part in Robbery and Death of New York Widow.

New York, Sept. 9.—Owney Talas, a Russian Finn, for two and one-half months a hallboy in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, the aged widow who met death last night at the hands of masked men, who robbed her of gems valued at $10,000, was arrested today after he had confessed, the police assert, to having played a part in the crime. He was formally charged with murder.

Talas, in what the police claim was his confession, is alleged to have said that for some time several men had been endeavoring to get him to "stand in with them" to rob Mrs. Nichols, but that he had refused such advances until Tuesday night when he consented, upon the understanding that Mrs. Nichols was not to be harmed. He is further alleged to have told the police it was understood that jewels his employer wore on her person were to be taken.

Police Version.

The police version of the confession quotes Talas as saying the men arrived at the Nichols home at 9 o'clock last night by appointment and in response to a double ring at the basement door he admitted them. He told of being backed into a corner by the men and of the finding by them of the maid in the butler's room. The maid, he is alleged to have said, was threatened and tied up. One man was left to stand guard over her while the others hurried upstairs to the apartment of Mrs. Nichols.

Talas is said to have asserted he was entirely ignorant of what happened in the apartment as he heard nothing in did say, however, that the men were upstairs ten or fifteen minutes, leaving by the basement door and passing him by without comment. Other details of the alleged confession, Inspector Faurot, chief of the detective bureau, said he was not at liberty to disclose at this time.

Had Time to Rob Safe.

He declared the men had ample time in which to have opened the strongbox containing a fortune in jewels and securities, but that contrary to previous reports, the keys to Mrs. Nichols' strongbox and various jewel cases were not taken. He said they were all found intact at the end of a ribbon about her neck.

The inspector said he planned to take Talas around town with him later in the day in an effort to run down those connected with the crime.

All other servants in the house were freed of suspicion, Deputy Police Commissioner Lord announced. Preliminary examination of Mrs. Nichols' body revealed the probability that she had died of fright and not of strangulation, as at first supposed, Mr. Lord said. An autopsy to be performed late today will disclose the exact cause of death.

Although the burglars stripped their victim's fingers and ears of diamonds and other jewels worth $10,000, they failed to rifle the strongbox of her safe in which she kept gems valued from $250,000 to $500,000.

MAIL CARRIERS TO REPORT FOREST FIRES

Uncle Sam Forwards Instructions to Postmasters.

The United States government will co-operate with the various states in an effort to prevent forest fires and in checking them after they have been started. By an order just received from Washington, Postmaster William E. McEwen will instruct all rural route carriers to report fires along their routes.

This action will be taken in all states that have established by law a system of fire protection. Mail carriers will report all fires to the state forest officers or state fire warden as soon as possible. If no state forest officer nor fire warden lives on the route, the carrier is authorized to notify some other responsible person who will wire the designated officers at once.

Postmasters and star carriers also are directed to report forest fires.

Thin Folks Who Would Increase Weight

SIMPLE DIRECTIONS EASY TO FOLLOW.

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

If every way you've tried to put on weight has failed try these simple directions. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note your weight. Sargol does not of itself make fat but mixing with your food its purpose is to help the digestive organs turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. A great deal of this nourishment now passes from thin peoples bodies as waste. Sargol is designed to stop the waste and make the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is non-injurious, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Boyce Drug Store and other leading druggists are authorized to sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

BARBER HIGH GUN AMONG POLICEMEN

Nosing out Officer Nystrom, holder of the shooting record on the police target range, Lieut. E. H. Barber was high gun this morning in the weekly police shoot.

Several high scores were chalked up, the bluecoats handling their revolvers in a way which should make prospective bad men sit up and take notice.

Officer Nystrom was but one point below Lieut. Barber, with 44. Sergt. Andree of West Duluth scored 41, and Officer J. W. Johnson made a record of 40.

FOR CONDUCTING DISORDERLY HOUSE

Mrs. Mary Alma Martin Indicted By Grand Jury.

Mrs. Mary Alma Martin, indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of conducting a disorderly house at 16 West Second street last July, was arraigned before District Judge Fesler in district court yesterday afternoon and entered a plea of not guilty. In default of $1,000 bail she was remanded to jail.

Mrs. Martin is charged with having conducted the house where, on the night of July 21, two Chinamen lured two 16-year-old Superior girls. The grand jury investigated the cases of the Chinamen, it is believed, but whether indictments were returned against them, has not, as yet, been disclosed by the court officers. Unless a person indicted is in custody, the counts are regarded as secret.

Style!

You know style when you see it—it is that indefinable something that gives individuality to YOUR clothes.

This season we have made very special efforts to secure high style at moderate cost.

This concentration is reflected in the aristocratic suits at $25.00 to $35.00, and the very clever coats at $18 to $30.

You can, of course, pay more but that is unnecessary. Present showings prove that. Please yourself about that.

Tomorrow will be a good day to enjoy the display.

EDUCATORS HELP ALIENS

School Men in St. Louis County Would Americanize Prospective Citizens.

Night Schools in Range Cities Held; Movement Nation-Wide.

School authorities in St. Louis county are falling into line with educators in other parts of the state and country and are co-operating with the bureau of naturalization of the department of labor relative to the nation-wide movement having for its object the Americanization of alien residents of this country.

The movement has been started with the view of instructing aliens in the English language and the principles of government, so that when citizenship has been acquired they may be producing instead of dependent members of the community. Among the St. Louis county educations who have been particularly active in the work are B. O. Greening, superintendent of schools at Eveleth; P. P. Colgrove, superintendent of the Virginia schools, and Claude C. Alexander, superintendent of the Hibbing schools.

Wish to Co-operate.

In letters, which they have written to the department at Washington, they have expressed their keen interest in the plan and have signified their desire to co-operate with the bureau of naturalization in the furtherance of its educational program.

Write to Department.

In a letter to the department, Supt. Greening said: "We are carrying on night school for the prospective citizens and if you will give me the names, I will be pleased to write them a letter inviting them to attend our school."

Supt. Alexander of Hibbing wrote: "We have had a night school in Hibbing for the last six years. Our night school meets three nights per week and for nine months out of the year. Our attendance has been between five and eight hundred each year, one hundred of whom are women. All of our students in night school are grown men and women.

"The majority of our courses are for those who desire to learn to speak and read the English language. We allow only twelve students to a teacher. Some of our students have been with us for the full six years. We give them such instructions as will enable the advanced ones to take out their naturalization papers. More than a hundred of the students of our night school received their citizenship papers here the Fourth of July, the papers having been granted earlier. This is part of the work we are doing in our night school."

Twenty-seven Nationalities.

Supt. Colgrove's remarks were: "I have received your circular letter concerning the care of our newly made citizens and I wish to say that I will be only too glad to do everything in my power to help in their education. We have a large percentage of foreign population here in Virginia, there being, I believe, some twenty-seven different nationalities.

"We conduct a night school in which we teach English to foreigners five nights of the week, two hours each night. Last year we had an enrollment of about 1,100. We are going to continue this work next year. I am endeavoring to co-operate with the district judge in the matter of giving aliens a course in English and elementary civics before they come to him to be naturalized.

"I believe that the foreigners should be required to complete a prescribed course of study in our public schools before they are allowed to receive their naturalization papers. The scope and extent of this course of study would be quite limited, but they should be able to read an ordinary newspaper, answer fundamental questions in civics and know some of the most salient points in American history.

"I will be very glad indeed for any assistance you may extend through your bureau."

Emphasizing the necessity for the education of the aliens residing in St. Louis county along the lines indicated, the latest statistics available show:

Among approximately 14,000,000 foreign-born residents of the United States, 1,650,361 foreign-born whites are classed illiterate. "These illiterates," says a bulletin which is being circulated by the bureau of naturalization, "are the natural prey of designing and scheming foreigners and natives, as well, at every turn. They compel them to pay tribute, both in cash and blood, for every service, both real and imagined, and in the gratification of their desires, however unscrupulous or unnatural.

"For years this condition has been studied by the bureau of naturalization in its application to the administration of the naturalization law. It is safe to state that although 85,000 foreigners have been refused citizenship because of mental and moral unfitness, at least that many have been admitted to citizenship, in spite of these deficiencies, during the period of Federal supervision. The courts have been reluctant to refuse citizenship to a candidate, even though he be ignorant of our institutions or of the privileges conferred upon him. Especially is this so where there are no facilities offered by the cities and towns where the petitioners live for overcoming these defects. In many places the public schools have, under the inspiration of the bureau of naturalization, opened their doors to the foreigner and have taught him the duties of American citizenship, and in these places the courts have readily responded to the new order of things and refused citizenship unless the candidates could come up to the higher standard which has been brought about by the Federal supervision. This system the bureau has tried out for years and with success in various localities throughout the country. There is scarcely a state in the whole country that does not now have citizenship classes carried on either by the public schools or under the direction of private agencies.

Nation-Wide Movement.

"In many localities where there are hundreds, and indeed thousands, of citizens admitted annually, no cognizance had been given this important proceeding by the general public, municipal officialdom, public school or other authorities until brought to their attention by the representatives of the bureau of naturalization.

"It is confidently believed by those who have made an exhaustive study of existing conditions that this great nation-wide educational movement will, beyond question, change that portion of the alien body which is now in a condition ranging from helpless dependence and mere self-maintenance to a state of productive capacity."

AGED PIONEER SUMMONED

Was County Commissioner Several Terms; Originated Famous Strawberry.

Amaziah McComber, one of the early St. Louis county commissioners and a resident of Duluth since 1870, died at his home, 1531 East Fifth street, yesterday afternoon. He was 80 years old.

Six children, all residents of Duluth, were at the bedside. They are Warren E. McComber, William A., Charles H., Franklin A., Miss Mary McComber and Mrs. M. C. Williams, whose husband is an attache of the city clerk's office. Sixteen grandchildren also are living.

Mr. McComber was closely associated with the early political life of the village of Duluth and even before that time was prominent. He entered politics shortly after he came to Duluth in 1870 and served two three-year terms as county commissioner.

Subsequent to this he entered the floral and seed business, retiring in 1895, when he disposed of his interest to Smith & Seekins. Mr. McComber experimented with small fruits at his home and originated a strawberry that was awarded first prize at the St. Louis world's fair in 1904.

AMAZIAH M'COMBER.

Mr. McComber was of an old English family, his forefathers having come to America in 1630. Their descendants fought in the French, Indian and Revolutionary wars with such valor that they received land grants from the king of England and the colonial government. Mr. McComber fought in the Civil war as a member of the First New York light artillery and served as a guard to President Lincoln's funeral trains which stopped at Herkimer, N. Y., his home, when the body was en route to Illinois. He was a member of the Willis A. Gorman post, Duluth.

Mr. McComber was born in Macdonough, Shenango county, N. Y., Dec. 14, 1835. He came to Duluth from Herkimer, N. Y., in 1870 and lived here continuously from then on.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, it was announced today, although arrangements have not been completed.

Cruiser Blows Up Mine.

New York, Sept. 9.—Passengers arriving on the Holland-American liner Ryndam said that while the steamer was held up for twenty-four hours off Deal by British authorities, they saw a large floating mine dangerously near a passing Norwegian vessel, and within two ships' lengths of the Ryndam. A British cruiser fired at the mine and it exploded with great force, the passengers added.

WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS USED BY ROBBERS

Jefferson, Okla., Sept. 9.—Tactics borrowed from the trench warfare in Europe enabled three robbers to loot the Farmers' State bank here early yesterday. Before entering the bank, the men broke into a hardware store and procured several coils of barbed wire, with which they erected entanglements about the bank, leaving only a small, inconspicuous exit for themselves. Four charges of explosives were used to wreck the bank safe. The first aroused the townspeople, but before the citizens could devise a way of overcoming the wire barrier, the robbers had taken $2,000 and escaped in a motor car. Posses followed them as far as Hunnewell, Kan., but they lost the trail.

STOLEN COUNTERFEIT COIN PROVES UNDOING

Results in Two Fargo Negroes Being Held on Robbery Charge.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A counterfeit dollar may be the means of convicting two men of grand larceny as it was sufficient to cause them to be bound over to the district court.

The bogus coin was at one time in the possession of John Zocks, an Austrian, but when he was robbed in his room in a lower Front street rooming house the robbers got the coin as well as Zocks' money. Raymond Scott and Otto McCurtis, both colored, who were rooming in the same house, were suspected and when searched the counterfeit coin was found on Scott.

Zocks had tried to make a purchase with the "artificial" coin, but was unable to do so and when he found it was no good he cut a notch in it, so that he could distinguish it from any good dollars he might happen to have.

The fact that Zocks identified the coin caused Judge Augustus Roberts to bind the two negroes over to the district court in the sum of $1,500 each, which they were unable to furnish, and are now in jail. It is reported that they will plead guilty.

INJURED BALLOONIST TO TRY GAME AGAIN

Fessenden, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Wright, the balloonist who fell nearly 600 feet while making a parachute leap here, will not abandon the flying game.

For months Wright has been in a local hospital, recovering from the effects of his injuries, which included several fractured ribs, a badly wrenched back, a sprained arm and a spralned leg, and when he leaves the hospital, expects to return to the balloon game.

WILL APPEAL FROM RULING ON PENSIONS

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friends of the mothers' pension act in North Dakota, which County Judge Hemmi of Stutsman county rules is unconstitutional, plan to bring the matter to the attention of the supreme court before accepting the finding, and will soon appeal.

FORMER GOVERNOR LIKES NEW DUTIES

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 9.—Supt. J. M. Devine of the North Dakota reform school, who recently took charge, has abandoned the construction of a new superintendent's residence in order that the money may be used for the general improvement of other departments.

Mr. Devine, who formerly was state superintendent of schools, and one time governor of the state, declares he likes his present job the best of any he has ever held.

The reform school classes were resumed this week, with Thomas Ray of Valley City, J. Bell of Oberon, Miss Lenore Stowers of Valley City and Mrs. J. Chalmers as instructors.

Former Jamestown Rector Dies.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received here of the death in New York city of Rev. A. Alexander, the first rector of the Grace Methodist church of this city, and one time resident of Minneapolis. Rev. Mr. Alexander, for the last seventeen years, has been located in Pittsburgh, Pa. He graduated from the Seabury divinity school in 1889, being ordained by Bishop Walker. His first charge was here.

LIST OF MISSING AND DEAD FROM HESPERIAN

Montreal, Sept. 9.—A list of dead and missing passengers from the liner Hesperian, which was recently sunk in the war zone, was made public yesterday at the Allan line's offices. The list contains ten names as follows:

Dead—MISS CARBURY.

Missing—Miss Alice Bannister, Joseph Fowler, Mrs. Fowler, Emily Morrey (infant), Mary A. Jenkins, Maria Barr, Ellen Taylor (4 years old), W. Cownley and a Canadian soldier, name unknown.

The list also gives the names of sixteen members of the crew and includes the name of F. J. Wolff, who, dispatches from Queenstown said, was an American citizen.

Letter Carriers Meet Next in Dallas.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 9.—Dallas, Tex., was selected for the next biennial convention of the national association of letter carriers, at the closing session of the convention yesterday. Edward Gaynor of Muncie, Ind., was elected president.

Hull of F-4 Cleared of Debris.

Honolulu, Sept. 9.—The clearing of debris from the submarine F-4 is practically completed. The hull will be towed to Pearl harbor to await such disposition as the navy department may order.

School Children Can't Afford Handicaps

In a remarkable test, recently made under the supervision of the State Board of Health of Minnesota, over 9000 school children were questioned as to what they ate for breakfast.

A large percentage of the breakfasts consisted of coffee, bread and butter; coffee and oatmeal or some other cereal; coffee and hotcakes; coffee and biscuits; coffee and coffee cakes, or coffee alone. Probably the same conditions prevail everywhere throughout the country.

"IS IT ANY WONDER," SAYS THE EXAMINING PHYSICIAN, "THAT 23 PER CENT OF THESE CHILDREN HAVE FREQUENT HEADACHES?"

He was thinking of the chief cause—coffee. And it IS no wonder when we consider that coffee contains the powerful drug, caffeine, a nerve poison and notorious cause of headaches, heart trouble, sleeplessness, irritation, and other ills!

Parents often wonder why their children are sickly, dull and backward in school, when frequently the cause lies in the homely, accepted habit of giving them a beverage containing an insidious poison.

When scientists and Boards of Health everywhere are speaking out against the dietetic dangers to which children have been so long subjected, it is high time that parents take heed and correct these conditions. No child should be permitted to use coffee. It is easy to furnish them instead the pleasant, pure food-drink—

Instant Postum

Made from wheat, roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses, Postum contains the goodness of the grain and is a most delicious beverage, economical, convenient and free from coffee drugs or any other harmful substance.

Postum comes in two forms: The original Postum Cereal, which has to be boiled; Instant Postum—soluble—made in the cup with hot water—instantly. They are equally delicious, and the cost per cup is about the same for both kinds.

FRIEND IN NEED TO HER

Tanlac Only Medicine to Give Duluth Woman Any Relief.

"It is the only medicine I have found in four years that has helped me a particle."

That is what Mrs. C. J. Hall told the Tanlac man this week.

Mrs. Hall resides at 2704 Huron street, in the West end. She has been a resident of Duluth for six years, and her husband is a railroad man. She has many friends in the western end of the city.

"I was run down physically and very weak," she said. "Loss of appetite and sleepless nights left me so weak I couldn't work, and I was bothered with nose bleed and dizziness. I saw Tanlac advertised and decided to try it. I now sleep well. The dizziness has left me and I have no more bleeding of the nose. I am as strong as I was four years ago when I was first taken ill. Tanlac is the only medicine I have found during that time that has done me any good."

Tanlac, the wonderful remedy which Mrs. Hall indorses, may be purchased in Duluth from the store of William A. Abbett, "the careful druggist" at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Meredith, "The Tanlac Man," or one of his assistants, is in charge.—Advertisement.

NO IDLE MEN IN DULUTH

Prosperous Conditions Like Those of Late Nineties Have Returned.

Every Industry Active; Wages Higher, Living Costs Lower.

There is not an unemployed man in Duluth unless he prefers idleness to employment.

This is the consensus of opinion among employment agents along Michigan street, who are very cheerful regarding the present situation for labor and also for the prospects of great activity in all lines of business next winter.

"Conditions now point to great activity in every line of business and steady employment for men until snow flies," is the way one employment agent summed up things today. "The crop appears to be the biggest in the history of the country, and with the prices of foodstuffs making steady declines, it looks as if work would be plentiful and the cost of living much reduced, bringing about a condition very similar to that in the late nineties when prosperity prevailed throughout the land. There was never a time when the country was in better position to make progress and for the laboring man to get his just dues.

Money in Circulation.

"The movements of spring wheat is now on in earnest, and the sound of the threshing whistle can be heard all over the Northwest. And with the movement of grain, the circulation of money is begun, causing activity in every direction.

"There was never such a good situation for the laborer as now. The employers of labor, the farmer, the manufacturer and merchants are all in a prosperous condition with heavy demand for their wares. Wages have gone up and the cost of living reduced. About the only things that have gone up in price are the things ordered from the belligerent countries of Europe. The local consumer and producer are benefited in two ways."

In summing up the local labor situation, agents say that the demand for men in this city has been good for several weeks, and is getting keener right along. The industrial plants of all kinds are busy—the steel plant, the sawmills, the coal and ore docks, the grain elevators and so on. There is hardly an enterprise in the whole city at this time that is not operating with a full crew.

Condition Fine on Ranges.

The situation on the iron ranges this year has improved wonderfully over that of last year, thus doing much to help Duluth. Last year many of the mines were inactive and there was little demand for ore. Thousands of men had nothing to do, and large numbers of these headed into Duluth crowding the employment offices, the Bethel and the police station. Work in the woods dragged and wages were low. The war has brought about a complete change of affairs on the ranges. Money is circulating freely in all range cities, and the old-time prosperity has returned.

This general activity at Duluth and on the ranges has been reflected on the Great Lakes and the movement of coal and ore has been much heavier and more boats have been operating this year than last.

As far as the labor unions are concerned there is little cause to complain on their part. Virtually all of their demands have been met by their employers and no labor troubles are in prospect further than now exist at two of the local theaters.

PROMINENT MINING MEN ARE INDICTED

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 9.—Announcement was made today that the attorney general of British Columbia had laid indictments for manslaughter against Thomas Graham and J. H. Tonkin, two of the most prominent mining men in Canada. They are charged with carelessness in connection with the disaster that caused the loss of nineteen lives in the Reserve mine near Nanaimo on Feb. 15 last.

Graham is chief inspector of mines for the provincial government. Tonkin is manager of the Pacific Coast Coal company, which has large collieries at Nanaimo and large selling depots in San Francisco and other coast cities.

A wall 400 feet thick was supposed to separate the Reserve mine from the old workings of South Wellington mine, which had been flooded for years. A blast in the Reserve broke the wall into the South Wellington mine and nineteen miners were drowned in the flood which poured through the opening.

It was found, it is asserted, that Tonkin had been directing operations, basing measurements on copies of maps of the old Wellington workings. The copies had been drawn into a different scale from the originals, and the wall of 400 feet, which was supposed to exist, was mined up, it is said, as a result of the difference between the maps. Tonkin, it is alleged, could easily have obtained the originals. Graham, it is said, left everything to Tonkin.

CLOQUET COUPLE WED.

Miss Annette Keller Becomes Bride of Oscar Waller.

Cloquet, Minn, Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Annette Keller and Oscar Waller were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller, yesterday at 11 o'clock a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Waller will make their home in Cloquet after a short wedding trip to the Twin Cities and Wisconsin points. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller and has a great many friends in and about Cloquet. Mr. Waller came to Cloquet five years ago and is now employed as shipping clerk by the St. Louis River Mercantile company. The wedding was attended by only a few of the nearest relatives. Rev. Mr. Olson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, officiated. The couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Waller will be at home after Nov. 1 in Cloquet.

FORDS BLAZE WAY.

Spooner and Baudette Men Motor to International Falls.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 9.—To James Tebeau and Andy Stocklinger of Baudette belongs the honor of having made the first automobile trip between Baudette and International Falls on the United States side of the river. The trip was made last Saturday in Mr. Tebeau's Ford runabout, leaving Baudette at 9 a. m., and arriving here at 2 p. m.

Sunday the trip was emulated by A. M. Robertson of Spooner with his Ford touring car. Mr. Robertson left home at 8 a. m., and arrived here at 7 p. m., bringing the following six young men with him: Kenneth Weeks, Lloyd Robertson, Percy Williams, "Dutch" Fuller, Walter Eagan, Walter Myers and Ralph Meloney.

CLOSING DAM GATES LOWERS RAINY RIVER

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 9.—The water in the lower river has been lowered so much by the closing of the gates of the dam that launches plying between here and Loman are finding it difficult to navigate. The Dan Patch coming up from Loman Tuesday night had to anchor and wait for daylight, on account of deadheads and rocks. W. F. Marvin's boat was damaged near Loman by striking a rock, and the Alice and mail boat on their trips here yesterday had to run on reduced power most of the way, greatly delaying their arrival. Passengers could only be taken aboard, in most cases, where they could reach the launches by rowboats or other small boats.

EFFICIENCY COMMISSION WILL MEET ON FRIDAY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new efficiency and economy commission will meet tomorrow at the state capitol at which time a statistician will be named and plans made for the winter's work. The new commission is the one authorized by the last legislature.

HAVE FAITH IN RICHESON

No Successor Appointed Pending Investigation of His Case.

Reported to Police as Soon as He Heard of Charges.

Belief that Walter J. Richeson, deputy clerk of Duluth's municipal court, will be able to explain satisfactorily alleged discrepancies of about $1,000 found recently by state examiners, grew today, according to city officials.

"In my opinion, the affair has been exaggerated," declared Chief of Police R. D. McKercher. "Mr. Richeson telephoned me yesterday, as soon as he learned of the charges against him, and came to my office to see me, as I had anticipated."

Mr. Richeson's return to the city yesterday, after a vacation of six weeks, which was lengthened because of engine trouble on the motor boat in which he was traveling, revived interest in the case. A report of the alleged discrepancies was made public during his absence.

"Nothing will be done about filling Mr. Richeson's place until the affair is entirely settled," declared Municipal Judge W. L. Windom today. "I intend to see to it that he is given every possible chance to clean up these charges against him and sincerely hope that he will be able to do so."

Edward C. MacArthur, 514 West Fifth street, was appointed deputy court clerk yesterday by Clerk John G. Ross and took up his duties at the desk formerly occupied by Mr. Richeson in Judge F. H. Cutting's division of the court. Mr. MacArthur formerly was employed by the S. F. McLeod company.

Judge Windom denied that Mr. MacArthur would replace Mr. Richeson, and stated that his appointment was made merely because the usual staff of deputies was short, and that court work required more assistants.

In case Mr. Richeson returns to the office Judge Windom intimated that Mr. MacArthur would be assigned to the duties performed by George Hallada, former deputy clerk under Judge W. H. Smallwood.

M. S. Lloyd, chief deputy, resumed his old position in Judge Windom's courtroom today, where civil cases were under consideration.

"In the fifteen years I have been connected with Duluth's municipal court," said Judge Windom, "nothing has ever happened out of the way and I hope that this misunderstanding can be cleared up."

Mr. Richeson has been deputy clerk for eight years, having been appointed by Clerk Ross in 1907.

Investigation of the case has been made by the September grand jury, now in session, but no report has been returned as yet.

Mr. Richeson today was silent as to the steps he would take to clear himself.

"I have hardly had an opportunity to get my breath yet," he said, "and so naturally would not like to make any statement as to what I intended to do."

FEWER APPEALS FOR CHARITY RECEIVED

Better Labor Conditions Are Reflected in August Report.

Marked improvement in labor conditions which have resulted in decreasing the number of unemployed in the city are reflected in the August report of the Associated Charities, which was given out today by Miss Edna G. Meeker, secretary.

The report shows among other things a decrease in the number of applications for relief which came before the charities. Last month, thirty-three new cases were handled as against fifty-five for August, 1914. The thirty-three cases in August, 1915, involved 107 persons, while the cases in the same month of the previous year involved 115 people.

	August, 1915.	1914.
New cases	33	55
Persons involved	107	115
Cases referred by other societies or individuals	21	39
Personal application	11	16
Widowers	0	1
Widows	2	1
Transient men assisted	11	30
Transient women assisted	2	0
Visits to homes	110	178
Reference calls	223	208
Business calls	45	62
Calls at office	602	485
Telephone calls	667	637
Visitors' calls	378	448
Pieces of clothing given out	190	497
Pairs of shoes given out	20	43
Men given employment	11	6
Women given employment	16	9
Pieces of household goods given	3	0

Miss Meeker declared that work was more plentiful in August, 1915, than during the previous month and that there were fewer applications for relief. She also declared that the public had been very generous in responding to the appeal sent out for clothing for school children in the homes of the city's poor.

MOST METERS NOW BOUGHT

City Has Given $56,305 in Credit to Former Owners.

With about 200 meters still to be purchased, the city water and light department has credited property owners with a total of $56,305.03, according to a report from the public utilities division today.

"Practically all of the meters have been purchased," said one of the members of the department, "but this last report does not include about 200 machines. When they are included, the total will reach the $57,000-mark, I expect."

Early in August, when statements for the month were sent out, citizens owning meters were notified that they might sell their meters to the city, the purchase price being taken out of their bill.

This plan was in accordance with a decision reached by Commissioner Merritt of the utilities division and D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department. The department heads effected that more efficient service could be given consumers if the city owned the meters, and that first-class service would not be guaranteed under the system then in use.

"It will be practically a $60,000 rebate," said Commissioner Merritt at the time, "and we hope to be able to accomplish it without any increase in water rates to offset the heavy expenditures."

His statement has been verified by developments since the plan was instituted, and present indications are, say department members, that no increase in rates will be needed.

The records now show that 7,966 five-eighths-inch meters, such as are commonly used in medium sized residences, have been bought at a price ranging from $2.50 for the machines installed before 1500, up to $9 for the new ones. This latter price is considered high, as the city can buy new meters for about $5, according to Manager Reed.

In addition to the five-eighths-inch machines, 428 meters of larger size have been bought up. These were installed in larger homes, laundries, wholesale houses, greenhouses, etc.

The rebate on the small meters amounted to $48,724.62, and on the larger ones to $7,580.41.

STATION AGENT DIES OF INJURIES

W. F. D. Long Succumbs at Hospital Without Regaining Consciousness.

W. F. D. Long, station agent for the Great Northern railroad at South Superior, who was run down by an automobile owned and driven by M. J. McGuire, a Tower avenue saloon keeper at Tower avenue and Fifty-ninth street, Tuesday evening, died at 3 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's hospital. Concussion of the brain was the cause of death.

Mr. Long was riding home on his bicycle when the accident occurred. In attempting to dodge the machine he lost control of his wheel and was struck a glancing blow, which threw him ten feet. His head struck the curbing. He was picked up unconscious and failed to regain consciousness after the accident.

Mr. Long had been a resident of Superior for more than a quarter of a century. He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

BUY BALL PARK FOR PUBLIC PLAYGROUND

James Tuohy yesterday morning purchased the Hislop baseball park at the sheriff's sale for $335.96. Six hours later the park property was turned over to the newly organized Superior Business Men's Athletic association. A sum amounting to $1,000 will be raised by popular subscription to pay for the park and necessary improvements. Of this sum $800 had been raised this morning.

AERIAL SHAM BATTLES AROUSE GREAT INTEREST AT COUNTY FAIRS

Harry Webster, Duluth Airman, Engages in Many "Fights" in Dakota; Militia Active in Sport; New Mode of Warfare Revolutionizing Aeroplane Game, He Says.

Because of the wide interest in the European war, the patrons of county fairs and other outdoor amusements in the Northwest, want entertainment of a military nature this season, according to Harry Webster, Duluth aviator, who writes to The Herald from the aerial regions of South Dakota, where he is throwing bombs and other explosives from his aeroplane to entertain the citizens of many towns. He says he has developed quite a strong whip from bomb throwing.

These aeroplane "raids," he says are being worked out in such minute detail that they are taking the form of real battles although nobody is actually killed. The raids are usually held in conjunction with operations by the militia company of the town and people for miles around come to see the sham battle. Dummies are taken up in the aeroplanes, and dropped out at opportune moments, making a marked impression on the crowd, who as far as they can see, are witnessing the actual destruction of an aviator, brought down by some crack marksman. Militia men also drop at various places on the field as the "deadly" bombs are dropped. No line of entertainment in years has created such a wide interest, especially in country districts and in small cities, as this new form of warfare.

Flying Revolutionized.

Mr. Webster declares that the European war is revolutionizing the flying game. Such great improvements are being made in the manufacture of aeroplanes that aviators may fly just as securely in these new machines as they could if sitting in a steel coach on the most up-to-date train. The machines are being made larger, and with several motors, so that accidents in ordinary flying are next to impossible, providing the driver keeps cool and has his machine in proper condition.

Recently Mr. Webster did a clever stunt in Illinois, when he blazed a trail through the air in Illinois for the first aerial mail route. He dropped mail—as an experiment—5,000 feet.

Mr. Webster has been flying for two years and has made a number of cross-country flights. He is now planning to procure one of the very latest air crafts with several motors, which would enable him to make an ocean-to-ocean flight if desired.

He speaks very interestingly of the extensive work being done by the aeroplane manufacturers of this country, who are putting out thousands of machines for the allies. The United States government, also, is taking a marked interest in the aeroplane game, and is constantly looking for improvement in its aerial corps, and the securing of expert airmen and improved machines.

CHANCES FOR RECOVERY GOOD

Judge Cant's Illness Not Expected to Prove Fatal.

Judge William A. Cant of the district court, who was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Luke's hospital yesterday, is reported to have good chances for recovering. His condition, though regarded as serious by attending physicians, is said to be as good as can be expected under the circumstances.

Judge Cant was the victim of a sudden and acute attack. He was at the courthouse all day Tuesday and appeared in perfect health, although his physicians say that he must have been critically ill at the time. In the evening, his illness became so pronounced that medical assistance was called in and he was immediately removed to the hospital. After a consultation between Dr. S. H. Boyer and Dr. J. J. Eklund it was decided to operate at once in order to save his life. The operation was performed by Dr. Eklund yesterday shortly before noon.

"I think he will recover all right," said Dr. Eklund, "but he is a very sick man."

there is no other course open to submarines under present conditions, when, they assert, every merchantman, from liner down to fishing smack, is a presumptive enemy and perhaps carrying guns and ready to seize any opportunity to attack the vulnerable submarine by gunfire or by ramming.

Awaited at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Germany's note explaining the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic, with the loss of American lives, was awaited today by administration officials, who declined to comment on versions of its text contained in Berlin press dispatches. The note, delivered by the Berlin foreign office to Ambassador Gerard on Tuesday, was understood to ascribe the liner's destruction by a submarine to self-defense, express regret over the loss of American lives and to propose to refer to The Hague questions of reparation and compensation.

Affidavits bearing on the sinking of the Arabic, taken by American embassy officials at London, were received today by Secretary Lansing. He declined to discuss them.

The state department so far has no information on Berlin dispatches, saying a German submarine commander reported he torpedoed the Arabic because it was about to attack him.

Sunk in Self-Defense.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The commander of a German submarine which has returned to its base has reported to the admiralty that he torpedoed the liner Arabic in the belief that the Arabic's auxiliary cruiser indicated she was about to attack the submarine, and that he fired in self-defense.

According to the submarine commander's report, the submarine was engaged in destroying a freighter, when the Arabic was sighted. The submarine then was on the surface.

The Arabic, the commander declares, swung around and headed toward the freighter as if to attack the submarine. The commander of the under-sea craft remained in doubt as to the intentions of the Arabic when the latter changed her course a few points, but still kept headed in a direction that was bringing her nearer to the scene.

Again Changed Course.

The captain of the submarine reports that he continued to observe the actions of the liner until he saw the Arabic again change her course and head directly for the spot where the submarine lay, as if the Arabic had sighted the under-sea boat. Then the commander of the submarine, believing his craft was in danger, he declared, submerged her and fired a torpedo.

This news was communicated immediately to James W. Gerard, American ambassador, for transmission to Washington. Prior to the receipt of the report of the submarine's commander, admiralty officials believed that the submarine had been lost. No reason for her delay in returning to port has been given.

Had Adequate Reasons.

A high official of the foreign office, in discussing the case with the Associated Press, said the commander of the submarine evidently had adequate reasons for believing the submarine was about to be attacked, and was justified in taking steps necessary to save his boat and crew. The torpedoing of the Arabic, according to this official, could not be considered an unprovoked attack without warning, but a method of self-defense which the commander of the under-water boat was compelled to adopt by the alleged suspicious actions of the Arabic.

The news of the return of the submarine and the commander's report has not yet been published in Germany. There is still no report available with regard to the sinking of the Allan line steamer Hesperian.

RUSSIANS CLAIM TO HAVE INFLICTED SEVERE DEFEAT ON THEIR OPPONENTS

Gross Ekau (south of Riga) and Neuhut, were repulsed. In the direction of Dvinsk, there were only unimportant advance post actions. The fight for the river Lautze continues. In order to occupy a more covered position, our troops removed a little to the right of the Lautze.

No Changes Toward Vilna.

"There have been no important changes on the routes toward Vilna. The Germans directed a violent artillery fire, accompanied by asphyxiating gases, against our troops occupying the outlets from the lakes in the region of Novo Trokh. Near the town of Orany, the enemy yesterday made attempts at an offensive.

"From Grodno stubborn German attacks continue in the region of the railway station at Druskeniki and toward Skidel. In the latter direction repulsing the enemy, we inflicted on him great losses and took some scores of prisoners.

"South of the Niemen, the enemy made determined attacks at Walkowisk on both sides of the railway leading to Slondim.

"On the roads from Lutsk to Rovno there has been no change. In the region of Doubhok and Rementez, we occupied new positions on the rivers Ikwa and Upper Goryn.

Achieve Great Success.

"In Galicia, near Tarnopol, yesterday, we achieved a great success against the Germans. The German Third guards division and the Forty-eighth reserve division, reinforced by an Austrian brigade with great quantities of heavy and light artillery, according to statements made by prisoners, had been preparing for several days for a decisive attack. This was fixed for the night of Tuesday-Wednesday. Forestalling the enemy, our troops took the offensive and after a stubborn fight on the river Doljonka the Germans were completely defeated Tuesday evening."

"At the end of the engagement, the enemy developed an artillery fire of most extraordinary intensity. Only the impossibility of replying with the same weight of metal prevented us from further developing the success we had obtained. The Germans, besides suffering enormous losses in killed and wounded, left prisoners in our hands more than 200 officers and 8,000 men. We captured thirty guns, fourteen of which were of heavy caliber, many machine guns, gun limbers and other booty.

Emperor Pleased.

"After a brief pursuit, our troops occupied their former positions on the River Sereth. The emperor, having received a report of the defeat inflicted upon the enemy, sent an order to express to his valorous troops his joy and thankfulness for their success and the heavy losses inflicted on the enemy.

"Further south in the region of Trembowla, on the 7th, we dislodged the enemy from a series of villages, making prisoners over 40 officers and nearly 2,500 soldiers, together with three guns and a dozen machine guns.

"Between the Dniester and the left bank of the lower Sereth, the Austrians passed to the offensive in the course of the 7th near the village of Voriatyntze. By flank attacks one of our battalions arrested the enemy's offensives and took prisoner eleven officers and over 1,000 Austrians with machine guns.

"The fortunate withdrawal of our armies from the difficult position on the Vistula, where they were surrounded by the enemy, is beginning to make itself felt now by partial successes."

Russians Pleased.

Petrograd, Sept. 9, via London.—The brilliant victory won by the Russian army near Tarnopol is regarded here in the nature of a fitting celebration of the assumption of chief command of the Russian armies by Emperor Nicholas, and as an omen of success to come.

As a strictly military event, great importance is attached to the victory by military circles which point out that the Germans had collected a force of Prussian guards and Austrian brigades, strengthened by both light and heavy artillery on a twenty-mile front for the undoubted purpose of breaking through into the rich grain provinces of Southwestern Russia.

With inferior resources, the Russians were able to defeat the plan, inflicting severe losses and shattering, it is claimed, an entire army corps.

The fact that the Russians could not follow up the victory at Tarnopol was due entirely to the superiority of the Teutonic artillery, it is declared. There is no lack of war stores, according to war office officials and the Russian supply of shrapnel is sufficient, but the army was unable to take the offensive against the heavy guns of the Germans.

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 9, 2:39 p. m.—There was very violent fighting last night in the Argonne region, according to announcement made this afternoon by the French war office. The Germans attacked the French lines with great ferocity, but with one exception these lines held fast. The French took some prisoners.

The text of the report reads:

"In the Artois district there has been fighting with hand grenades and rifle firing. There was cannonading south of Arras and near Roye.

"In the Argonne, not far from Fontaine Aux Charmes, very violent fighting took place last night. The Germans renewed their attacks with great ferocity. With one exception, however, of a section of a trench to the east of Layon de Binarvillo, our lines held fast.

"During the night of Sept. 8-9, one of our dirigible balloons bombarded the railroad station and certain factories at Nesle, in the department of the Somme."

Italian Statement.

"From the positions in the upper Camonica valley our artillery repeatedly hit shelters at Maurone, at the head of the Genova valley, driving out the enemy's troops and occupying the shelters.

"In the Lassio valley, Neurnberger-Huette shelters and a vast group of huts adjacent on the southwestern slope of the Marmolada range were completely destroyed by our fire.

"On the plateau northeast of Arsiero, the enemy's artillery concentrated vainly against our positions on Mone Maronia, which continue securely in our possession.

"In Cadore, our troops advanced, taking the offensive in the whole Monte Croce-Comelico zone. We have occupied several enemy positions and a number of trenches. The offensive was stopped, nevertheless, before strong defenses the enemy had constructed on positions naturally formidable.

"A squadron of enemy aeroplanes made two raids at brief intervals on one of our aerodromes in the lower Izonso zone throwing thirty-seven bombs. Fortunately there was no loss of life or material damage. During the second raid, our aeroplanes took the air amid bursting bombs, but the enemy squadron made off rapidly. On the way back enemy aeroplanes dropped bombs on one of our camps, killing three soldiers."

MOORHEAD HOTEL RAID.

Proprietor and Four of His Guests Caught in Dragnet.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Brauer, proprietor of the Northern hotel at 212 First avenue north, was arrested on a charge of operating a disorderly house and James Marry, C. F. Preston, May Anderson and Jessie Gregor were also arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct when the police, under the leadership of Chief Melvey, made a raid on the hotel.

The police state that they have had the place under observation for some time, but that the first evidence that they have been able to obtain was during the raid. Brauer has demanded a trial by jury.

KINDS OF RHEUMATISM

In popular language the word rheumatism is a term that covers a multitude of ills of which pain is the chief symptom.

Articular rheumatism, inflammatory rheumatism and rheumatic fever are all names for the same disease. Muscular rheumatism affects the muscles and does not spread from one spot to another like inflammatory rheumatism. Lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism.

Some people have rheumatism every winter especially those people who inherit a rheumatic tendency. They will continue to have recurring attacks until the blood is built up to a strength sufficient to overcome the rheumatic poison. External applications and drugs that simply relieve the pain are useless. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and really correct the trouble.

With the poisons in the blood there is a continual combat between the health forces and the disease. When the rheumatic poison prevails the blood gets thin rapidly. When the blood is made rich and red by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the poisons are destroyed and expelled.

The free booklet "Building Up the Blood" tells the whole story and the diet book "What to Eat" will be sent on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

MANY MEXICANS VOTED IN TEXAS

Corpus Christi, Tex., Sept. 9.—Two congressmen, elected in November, 1914, at the general election which forty-one officials and citizens of Nueces county are charged with conspiring to corrupt, will testify for the defendants in the United States district court here, it was said today.

Congressman John N. Gardner of Uvalde and Jeff McLemore of Houston, congressman-at-large, it was said, would be called to the stand for the defense. Congressman Gardner has been here since the trial opened Monday and has occupied a seat with counsel for the defense. Testimony already introduced by the prosecution has been in an effort to prove that many Mexicans were allowed to vote who were not residents of the state and that they received money from some of the defendants after they cast their ballots for the so-called Timon Democratic ticket, headed by County Judge Walter F. Timon, one of the men now on trial.

BISHOP'S ASSAILANT HELD TO GRAND JURY

Father Lesches Waives Examination; Bishop Heffron to Hospital.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 9.—Father L. M. Lesches, the demented priest, who, on Aug. 27, last, shot and twice wounded Bishop Patrick R. Heffron, was brought before Judge S. H. Somsen in the municipal court for the second time this morning for a preliminary hearing, this time being represented by counsel in Attorney J. J. Fitzpatrick, who asked that examination be waived, which action was accordingly taken by the court and Father Lesches held to the grand jury, which will sit on Sept. 20, next. It is improbable, in view of the early sitting of the grand jury, that bail will be asked. Father Lesches in court was calm and composed during the proceedings, but said nothing.

Bishop Heffron has so far recovered from his injuries that this afternoon he is being taken to St. Mary's hospital at Rochester to finish his recuperation. While there an X-ray picture to locate the bullet which penetrated the prelate's lung will be taken. Whether it will be removed will depend on what the picture shows.

MOVEMENT IS BACKWARD

Falling Off in Receipts of Grains During August.

Lateness of Crop Cause of Delay in Marketing.

The backwardness of the new season's grain movement was evidenced in a falling off of 1,678,000 in receipts of all grains at Duluth in August, the totals standing at 1,464,314 bu as compared with 3,142,898 bu during the corresponding month last year.

By a peculiar coincidence the entire decrease was accounted for in wheat marketings, which totaled only 458,888 bu, against 2,136,993 bu a year ago.

Except in barley in which receipts of 578,227 bu were reported, the movement was light in coarse grains. Flaxseed receipts were the smallest of any month in years, amounting to just 41,985 bu. Shipments of the seed were more liberal, footing up to 459,987 bu, or 11,300 bu under last year's August figures. A feature in that trade was the taking over by the American Linseed company of 301,000 bu of Canadian flax that had been held in bond in the Great Northern elevator here for months. The duty was paid upon it and it was shipped down to Buffalo and Minneapolis at the end of last week.

Shipments of all grains from the Head of the Lakes elevators during August aggregated 1,488,253 bu against 2,623,973 bu last year. Stocks in the houses were decreased just 14,000 bu in the month.

The figures in detail are as follows:

CONTINUE EFFORTS TO SETTLE STRIKE

Meeting of Representatives of Both Sides to Be Held in Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Efforts to end the strike of employes of the United Traction company in Albany, Troy and surrounding towns were to be made today at a meeting of representatives of the commercial clubs of Albany and Troy to be held here. Representatives of the company and the strikers were invited to attend the conference.

William B. Fitzgerald, chairman of the executive committee of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employes, was expected to arrive in Albany early in the day. Union leaders said Mr. Fitzgerald was coming as the personal representative of President William D. Mahon. Local leaders of the strikers declared that they expected Mr. Fitzgerald to make an effort to reach an agreement with the company.

MOORHEAD TO HAVE SPECIAL ELECTION

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday night there will be a special meeting of the city council to set the time for a special election to vote on the proposition of a $4,000 bond issue to be used for the defraying the expenses of the alterations made to the city jail.

The bond ordinance was placed on its third reading and passed by the council. An ordinance establishing paving districts passed its second reading at the session.

Loss By Flood $1,200,000.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 9.—The property loss from floods in Allen and Bourbon counties this week will total $1,200,000, it is believed. Governor Cooper today declared martial law in the flooded section of Fort Scott and detailed militia to compel residents to clean up their property.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Misery" writes: "I have been a worn-out man for the past few months. My physical and mental forces are much impaired. I do not seem to be able to think clearly. I am much depressed all the time and my usual ambition and energy seem to have died. I have headache and pains in my back."

Answer: Your condition is identical to thousands of others brought to my attention yearly. Yes, your physical and mental forces are, as you say, much impaired, but you need not be alarmed over your condition. The use of three-grain cadomene tablets should soon put you back in normal condition and fit to combat any troubles. Cultivate regular habits of living.

* * *

"Mite" asks: "I seem to be shrinking in size. I am very pale and thin. I do not feel sick, but I'm very weak. I want to increase my weight."

Answer: You are anaemic and the food you eat does not properly nourish your system; three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets cause proper food assimilation and increase weight and strength. Take them, with your meals. Sold in sealed packages.

* * *

"Mrs. Ella M." writes: "Please prescribe for me again. This time for my kidneys. I have chills and fever, look bad, have puffs under my eyes and my urine is dark in color and of bad odor. Sometimes my back hurts."

Answer: You should get almost instant relief and permanent benefit from the use of balmwort tablets. I have prescribed these in numerous cases of kidney trouble and they have given excellent results. Most drug stores carry these tablets and they come in sealed tubes with proper directions.—Advertisement.

"Mrs. W." asks: "What can I do for a long continued case of constipation? I have headache and dizziness and my complexion is sallow. At night I can't sleep I'm so nervous."

Answer: Continued constipation affects the blood and makes it impure. You need a good blood purifier and laxative. Use three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They aid digestion, act on the bowels and clean and purify the blood.

* * *

"S. F. E." writes: "I have a very severe case of dandruff. My scalp itches and my hair is coming out in handfuls."

Answer: Get a jar of plain yellow minyol at your drug store. Wash the hair and, while still wet, rub well into the scalp the plain yellow minyol. Rinse out thoroughly and your scalp will feel clean and active. Repeat this treatment three or four times after washing, and in a few weeks all your dandruff should disappear and your hair become healthy and soft.

* * *

"Corpulent" asks: "What will overcome corpulency? I am so fat as to be in my own way. I'm short of breath and cannot stand exercise."

Answer: To reduce safely, use five grain arbolone tablets. They are the most reliable reducers I could prescribe. Many are pleased with results from arbolone.

I am a Farmer in Perfect Health

Three Years Ago I Was Sick Doctors Failed Peruna Cured Me.

I Can Do Farm Work Without The Least Fatigue.

Mr. W. J. Temple, No. 300 W. Lincoln Ave., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "I am a farmer and so necessarily must be exposed to all kinds of weather. About three years ago last winter, I was taken sick with bowel and stomach trouble. One doctor called it ulceration of the bowels, another called it colitis. Another doctor helped me temporarily. Then a druggist recommended Peruna and I followed his advice. I took altogether five bottles and I consider myself a well man. Before using Peruna, it was utterly impossible for me to do a day's work, but now I can do farm work without the least trouble or fatigue. I consider Peruna the best medicine and tonic on the market. I had not eaten a meal for five years without distress until I took Peruna. I have recommended it to several friends with good results."

Another Farmer Writes.

Mr. J. C. Crumpacker, Hoover, Ind., writes: "I can say that I have nothing to complain of now. I feel well, rest well at night, have a good but moderate appetite, can eat almost any kind of food. I have no aches or pains anywhere, and can do some kind of work every day. I must say I can stand as much fatigue as I ever could, and feel good over it. The hemorrhage has yielded to Peruna, the grip has done the same, as well as pains and aches of all kinds. The roaring noise has entirely left my ears and head, my mind is clear, my recollection is good, my bowels are regular, and I just simply feel easy all over. The cure of my case was surely a victory."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna in tablet form.

AT AN informal tea given this afternoon Mrs. George S. Richards of 212 South Sixteenth avenue east announced the engagement of her niece, Miss Willabelle Pearson, to Samuel Lee Stroud of this city. The wedding will take place this month.

Receiving with Mrs. Richards were her mother, Mrs. S. E. Stinchfield, and Miss Pearson. Assisting about the rooms were Miss Cordelia Paine and Mme. Maurice Blandin of Carlton, Mrs. John Stephenson and Mrs. Charles P. Craig. Those who assisted in the dining room were Miss Lydia Woodbridge, Miss Margaret Craig, Miss Helen Potter and Miss Margaret Taylor of Cloquet.

Parts Are Assigned For Greek Pageant.

The division into sets, which took up the rehearsal hours of the Greek pageant preparations yesterday, showed the results of the ensemble work, which the selected company has enjoyed for the first fortnight's meetings. The nymphs who will attend Diana; the Horae who will attend Minerva, and other Olympian creatures were easily picked out, the girls finding a new interest in their knowledge of Greek art, when they were selected because they looked like a famous statue.

The Ladies' Guild of the First Baptist church has secured the tea shop for the pageant. Tables for after theater refreshments may be reserved in the tea shop in advance.

The punch bowl and flower shop will be in charge of the young women of St. Cecilias Guild of Trinity cathedral. The receipts from these booths will go to the church work of the societies conducting them.

The downtown headquarters of the pageant, 205 West Superior street, was connected today by telephone. Here Mr. Pierce, in charge of tickets, may be reached daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mrs. McCourt Entertains Housewives' League Presidents

Mrs. D. W. MacCourt of St. Paul entertained at luncheon today in honor of Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the National Housewives' league. The guests were the presidents of the Housewives' leagues of the towns and cities of Minnesota who are attending the fair. Among the number was Mrs. J. T. Watson of Duluth.

Mrs. Watson, who will report for the Duluth branch tomorrow, was joined in Minneapolis by her sister, Mrs. Seymour of Chicago, who will return with her to Duluth for a visit.

Will Entertain Visitors at Kitchi Gammi Club

Miss Marie Elston and Miss Florence Mars will entertain at cards at the Kitchi Gammi club Saturday afternoon for Miss Dorothy Castle of Chicago and Miss Dorothy Wood of Kansas City, who are the guests of Miss Elston, 1609 East Superior street.

Country Club Musical Program Is Postponed.

As only a few reservations were made for dinner at the country club last evening, the program of songs which was to have been given by Miss Perie Reynolds and Edward Scriven, accompanied by Miss Jeannette Welbanks, was postponed until the dinner-dance next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. William H. Salter and Mrs. C. W. Stilson won the prizes at bridge at the club yesterday afternoon.

Miss Earhart Tells of California Missions

Miss Frances Earhart spoke on the Franciscan missions of Southern California before the women of Glen Avon Presbyterian church last evening. She illustrated her talk with photographs of the missions and the Santa Barbara country which she collected on her western trip this summer.

Brown-Duxbury Engagement

Mrs. Laura Brown of Brookville, Pa., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Lucile, to Leland S. Duxbury of Duluth, son of Senator F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia, Minn. The wedding will take place Oct. 14 at Brookville and Mr. Duxbury and his bride will come to Duluth soon after that time to make their home.

Miss Brown is a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music and is a singer and pipe organist. Last year she taught in the Arts club at Lexington, Ky.

Mr. Duxbury, who came to Duluth recently to practice law, was graduated last year from Harvard, where he was a member of the Acacia fraternity. During the last session he was first assistant secretary of the senate.

Nilsen-Sneen Wedding.

Pink and white were the predominating colors of the decorations for the wedding of Miss Agnes Othelia Nilson and Nels Sneen, which took place at 8 o'clock last night at the residence of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Peter Nilsen, 31 East Fifth street. The parlors were festooned with asters, gladioli and pink roses. The bride's gown was of white charmeuse, trimmed with real lace. She wore a bridal veil, with cap effect, trimmed with lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Constance Nilsen, a sister of the bride, wore a gown of blue charmeuse. Little Margaret Katherine Olson, flower girl, was dressed in white.

The officiating clergyman, Rev. Nicolay Nilsen of Minot, N. D., is a brother of the bride. Mr. Sneen's brother, Oliver Sneen of Red Wing, Minn., was best man.

Mrs. A. H. Davis, sister of the bride, gave a group of piano numbers before the ceremony. Just before the entrance of the bridal party she sang "O Promise Me" and after the ceremony sang "At Dawning," by Cadman.

Those who assisted in the dining room were Misses Mabel Larson, Bertha Ahle, Sophie Solheim and Laura Arneson.

The out-of-town guests, in addition to the officiant and the best man, were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sneen of Stanley, Wis.; his brother, Sigwald Sneen of Stanley, and Miss Nellie R. Anderson and Oscar Sneen, both of Minneapolis.

Mr. Sneen is an employe of the F. A. Patrick company. Mrs. Sneen was born and raised in Duluth. They will spend a month on their honeymoon trip, which will include Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Ont., and perhaps other Canadian points. Upon their return to Duluth they will occupy their own home at 722 Twelfth avenue east, which Mr. Sneen had all ready for housekeeping before the wedding.

This Little Girl Has Acquired Three Fairy Godfathers

PEGGY GAY.

Peggy Gay has a fairy godfather—three of them in fact. Peggy is the daughter of Mrs. Estelle Cooper Gay. Her father is dead and her mother is just now the central figure in a sensational news story which is developing in Cincinnati. Mrs. Gay, who has been on the stage, lived for four years with Col. J. C. C. Mayo of Kentucky who died recently, leaving an enormous fortune. A child was born to them and Col. Mayo, according to Mrs. Gay, was to have settled half a million dollars on it; but he left nothing to either Mrs. Gay or the child in his will. Mrs. Gay has been without money since his death and Peggy often went hungry. They moved from one hotel to another leaving unpaid bills behind them. One day recently Peggy, who is 14, was sitting in the reception room of one of the biggest hotels in New York when an elderly man spoke to her and asked her why she looked so sad. Peggy said it was because she had had nothing to eat for several days. Then she told the elderly man her story. Promptly he offered to be her fairy godfather. He organized a syndicate of three wealthy men who put Peggy in charge of a reliable woman who is to look after her, see that she gets plenty to eat and pretty clothes and everything a little girl could desire. So whether Peggy's mother gets anything out of the Mayo estate or not, Peggy's future is assured.

Work of Nopeming Patients Shown in Window Display

The articles made by patients at Nopeming sanatorium, which were exhibited at the sanatorium last week, are on display at 313 West Superior street.

The display includes a bed spread made of four wide strips of crocheted lace in basket design, joined with scrim; a cross stitch square, a sofa pillow embroidered in violets, baskets, doll furniture, photographs and posters.

The east ward boys of the children's cottage mounted bees and clover blossoms. A small tray with a wooden frame has two large butterflies and one small specimen, together with grasses, under a glass. The wood carving includes a chain, key and sphere in a box; a map of the United States, colored and showing mountain ranges, with the artist's name, "Eddie," also carved, and a picture frame.

The clay work includes several heads and a bas-relief called "The Protest"—an Indian on horseback.

Speaker at the State Fair

Duluth Woman Tells of Farm Women's Department at Lake County Fair.

Mrs. J. M. Hickox returned last night from the state fair where she spoke yesterday on the work done in establishing a farm women's department at the Lake county fairs.

The Lake county women living on farms and doing a great deal of the farm work, felt they could not compete at fairs with town women who had far more leisure. The opening of a department exclusively for women living on farms was the idea of Mrs. Hickox, who formerly lived in Two Harbors, and during her residence there and for several years after she came to Duluth was superintendent of the farm women's department and vice president of the association. Mrs. Thomas Owens of Two Harbors, who also was an active worker during the early days of the fair, is now superintendent of the farm women's department.

Mrs Hickox's talk was given before an audience composed largely of farm women. It was in part as follows: "Nine years ago this month the first country fair was held at Two Harbors, in a little building 24x50 feet. The following two years it was held in the opera house. Now the buildings of the society cover approximately 10,000 square feet.

Farm Women's Department.

"The farm women's department was organized the third year of the fair.

"At the time of the organization of Lake county fair there were but two separators used in the county, and now more than 150 women are using them on their farms. The first exhibit included a cheese, made in a crude home-made press.

"A woman living in the Silver Creek district, about eight miles north of Two Harbors, is the proud owner of one of the six dairy herds in Minnesota which pay $100 per head a year. This woman was the owner of one of the two separators nine years ago.

Community Centers.

"Lake county has four community centers, supported by the farmers. The one at the Silver Creek district, eight miles northeast of Two Harbors, is held in its town hall, the other three in the pretty modern school houses that are equipped with splendid ventilating systems. They hold their neighborhood picnics, parties, dancing and singing clubs. Certain evenings are set apart for certain subjects, poultry raising, milk tests, etc. They also have their home evenings when they meet at the different homes. The agricultural instructors and domestic science teachers of the Two Harbors schools give demonstrations on these evenings.

"This county is rapidly working into dairy farms.

"The Duluth & Iron Range railroad has done much toward developing the county as it has allowed its ground at Two Harbors to be used for the agricultural buildings for the fair and leases to farmers, at a nominal cost, 2,500 acres extending back from the lake at that town.

Putnam School.

"The Putnam school at Two Harbors is entering on its third year. It combines agricultural and industrial work and is the only school of the kind on the range.

"The wonderful hay crop harvested in some of the localities this summer is due largely to the efforts of the women who have taken the men's places in the hay field while the men were out in the Dakota harvest fields adding to the family income. During the winter some of the farm women again take charge of affairs on the farm while the men are out on Lake Superior reaping their other harvest, for many of the farmers living adjacent to the lake have interests in the fisheries. There are approximately 6,000,000,000 fish, mostly herring, shipped from Two Harbors annually.

"Efforts will be made to get more town and country women of St. Louis and Lake counties to join the Minnesota Farm Women's congress that has 'co-operation' for its keynote."

Speak to Women.

Among those who spoke at the women's meeting at the fair yesterday were Mrs. J. B. Irwin of Richfield whose subject was "Women's Work in the Dairy," and Mrs. R. E. Olmstead of Excelsior, a strong advocate for the single tax who spoke on "Co-operation."

Mrs. Hickox was one of the few women, about twelve, who had luncheon yesterday in the model farm house on the fair grounds. Among the others were Mrs. D. W. MacCourt, president of the Minnesota Housewives' league; Mrs. Charles Neale, president of the Minnesota Farm Women's congress and Mrs. J. T. Watson, president of the Duluth Housewives' league.

Miss Helen Rankin of 1918 West Third street has returned from a motor trip to the Twin Cities.

Miss Marion McDonald has returned from Omaha and the Twin Cities, where she visited a month.

Suffragists Will Speak Last Word to Congressmen

Preparations for giving congressmen in the non-suffrage states farewell parties when they leave their home towns for Washington in the fall are going rapidly on throughout thirty-two states, according to Mrs. Medill McCormick, the originator of the farewell-party idea and the chairman of the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association. Local suffragists in these states plan to meet for a district convention at this time and will state their belief in the need of an amendment to the Federal Constitution which would enfranchise women, calling upon their congressman for his support. In this way it is thought that the attitude of every United States congressman on this question can be assured this fall before ever he sets foot in the national capitol or has a chance to vote on woman suffrage in the house or senate. Special attention will be paid by the local suffragists to the new members of congress of whom there are 130 this session.

Conventions will be held in five congressional districts in Minnesota, and the suffragists will interview E. E. Ellsworth of Mankato, C. R. Davis of St. Peter, C. C. Van Dyke of St. Paul, Thomas D. Schall of Minneapolis. A favorable vote was secured last year when the question of woman suffrage came before the house of representatives from Sydney Anderson of Lanesboro, G. R. Smith of Minneapolis, C. A. Lindbergh of Little Falls, A. J. Volstead of Granite Falls and Halvor Steenerson of Crookston. The women believe that they will have the support of the new member, Mr. Schall, this year, since he is a Progressive, and are counting on Minnesota for much aid. Mrs. Andreas Ueland of Minneapolis is at the head of the various congressional committees in her state.

State congressional chairmen have been appointed by Mrs. McCormick, and these chairmen, turning to their records, have marked the several congressional victims in their respective states and are reporting to the Washington office of the national committee the number of districts for which they will undertake to account. The women are making no allowance for the possible friends of suffrage who may be found among the new congressmen, but put the number of districts in which the conventions are due to be held as 212. This does not include New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts, where campaigns are now on for equal suffrage, and the state workers are concentrating upon these. Nor does it include the eleven equal suffrage states, all but one of whose forty congressmen voted for or were paired for the woman suffrage amendment last year. But in all the other states the congressional district meetings will be held and suffragists believe that they will have a decided influence upon state as well as national legislation in regard to woman suffrage.

"This is according to the time-honored policy of the National American Woman Suffrage association," Mrs. McCormick points out. "We believe in building firmly in the states, while at the same time doing our work in Washington. We realize that our committee in Washington has force and effect only as it is backed up by the congressmen's constituents. So we help the state workers in their state campaigns and they help us in the congressional districts. As congressional districts combined make states, and conversely, states are subdivided into districts, we are preparing for the ratification of our amendment as we go along."

The Newlyweds.

"My husband," said the bride just returned from her honemoon, "has thus early developed traits of character that I never once dreamed he possessed. The hardest one for me to accustom myself to so far is the very decided stand he takes on all matters pertaining to our combined interests. He does not seem to be of the mind that I am as well able to decide for myself as I was before we were married."

I happen to know that the young wife who has so soon discovered that she cannot have her own way in all things, was particularly exacting in the demands she made upon her lover. He had to go and come at her bidding or else she was offended. She expected him to meet her whenever and wherever she said, and as he was employed by his father he could do so, though his parent was not a little put out by the girl's apparent lack of common sense.

There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that this girl loves her husband deeply. His lover-like homage and devotion was something delightful and entirely new to her. It gave her an added feeling of importance to make him bend to her will in all things, and though it might be termed selfishness on her part, I am confident that thoughtlessness and youth were really most responsible for her actions.

Now he intends to be master in his own home and make her step about as lively at his bidding as he ever did at hers. Perhaps he is only human for wanting to taste a little of the joy of having a wife to make do as a husband wills. Turn about is only fair play and it will do the young woman good, provided she does not commence to resent his commands and begin to brood over his changed attitude toward her.

All the older folks are for leaving this couple to themselves the first year. They claim they will settle their own difficulties in that length of time or not at all. If they are sensible they will quickly learn to defer one to the other. They will see that no matter how much they love each other they cannot always hold the same opinion on a subject and one will yield to the other.

Theater Gossip.

Comedy is the keynote in the new bill at the popular New Grand this afternoon, but despite the fact that every act is a laugh getter, there is enough variety on the bill to prevent the cloying of interest.

COMEDY KEYNOTE IN GRAND SHOW.

A classy novelty with bits of musical comedy interpolated is the offering of the Gordon boys and Walton. Their songs are new and of the whistling kind and the comedy is clean cut, original and entertaining.

Billy Doss, blackface comedian, furnishes plenty of fun in his singing and talking creation. He is a past master in the art of entertaining and his quaint and original mannerisms are said to be inimitable.

Zeno, Jordon and Zeno offer a comedy casting act with plenty of thrills and sensations intermingled with the funmaking.

Stein and Hume entertain with an interesting line of talk and songs that are new and mirth provoking.

Charlie Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite" furnishes the fun among the photoplays. "The Melody of Doom," a thrilling drama in two reels; one of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "Train Order No. 45;" "Dreamy Dud," a cartoon comedy, and the Hearst-Selig News of events in the making of world's history complete the bill.

The Zelda theater was well filled all day yesterday, the attraction being

ROBERT WARWICK AT THE ZELDA.

Robert Warwick in the William A. Brady five-reel feature photoplay, "The Dollar Mark." Robert Warwick appears to advantage in the photoplay as the lover, Jim Gresham, while his support is all that could be desired. Not only was the acting of the picture film story good, but the photography and scenery were excellent. The rescue scene in "The Dollar Mark" is portrayed very realistically.

Emmy Wehlen, the brilliant Viennese actress, last seen in New York at the Casino theater in "Marriage a la Carte," will make her screen debut at the Zelda theater tomorrow and Saturday in B. A. Rolfe's romantic story, "When a Woman Loves," in which she will be supported by an all-star cast including the noted film actor, Arthur Ashley.

"When a Woman Loves" is in five acts, 206 scenes and required three months of diligent effort to complete.

"Nearly a Lady," the third Elsie Janis play, is filled with action of a new kind that carries

A fine cast supports Miss Janis, including Owen Moore, Frank Elliot, Myrtle Stedman, Harry Ham and Roberta Hickman. Her directors have apparently spared no effort in selecting locations and scenes of striking beauty as a setting. The photography is superb in every scene. Miss Janis portrays a girl of the cowboy regions—this time it is Montana.

Fay Tincher, the loud dresser, is guaranteed to scare away for good the worst case of grouch. Archibald's wife, Frances, has acquired the club habit. She neglects to take him to the theater, and he must pass the lonely evenings tending their infant. Fay. The chauffeur, out of pity for the slighted husband, falls in love with him an dbegs him to elope with her. His duty to the baby, however, constrains him to decline. Fay makes up her mind to win Archibald at any cost. She kidnaps him in the auto. The wife at the club hears what has happened and rushes to the rescue. The balance of the story of "Father Love" would be spoiled by the telling.

A TOWERING FIGURE.

Size—bigness—is only relative.

We get our conceptions of it mainly by comparison.

One who has lived all his life in the foothills believes them to be mountains, and knows what a mountain is only when he moves to the higher levels.

Woodrow Wilson, in the light of his peaceful triumph for law, humanity and civilization, makes some men who have hitherto seemed big look most amazingly small.

It might not be such a bad scheme to annex Mexico and keep it as a sort of preserve to which to send persistent hunters for trouble.

PROSPERITY.

All the factors—commercial, industrial, transportation and agricultural—that spell the word "prosperity" abound in this land.

The manufacturing industry in all its branches seems to be throbbing with unusual activity. Even the war, which threatened disturbance, has added to this activity by cutting off European supplies and forcing buyers to patronize home industries, and by creating an enormous export demand for supplies of all kinds. Railroads, for the first time in many months, report their freight cars all in service. There is scarcely a branch of business that has not felt the new impetus.

And on top of all this the department of agriculture keeps up its reports of record-breaking crops—and agricultural success is to American prosperity what the foundation is to the house.

Yesterday's report shows the wheat yield crowding the billion mark, with every prospect that that mark will be reached for the first time in history. The crop is now estimated at 981,000,000 bushels, ninety million bushels more than last year's record crop. Corn production prospects have increased many millions of bushels in the month, and the total assured is now close to three billion bushels—110,000,000 bushels more than last year's crop and only about four per cent below the record. Oats may reach a record, and there are indications of record crops of barley, rye, tobacco, rice and hay.

One of the most interesting of present day occupations is to try to guess what th' blazes is forecasted by that change in Russia.

PARTING WILL BE SWEET SORROW.

Austrian Ambassador Dumba says that the Austro-Hungarian subjects in this country are ignorant, and that they are pitifully enslaved by industry.

They brought their ignorance with them, and if they are enslaved by industry that is one of the fruits of the ignorance which appears to be their sole inheritance from their native land.

If Dumba feels this way about it, and believes that Austro-Hungarian immigrants are unhappily placed in this country, it is plainly his duty to herd them together at an Atlantic port and ship them home.

He should, it goes without saying, accompany them. And if his excursion consists only of those who prefer to go rather than to stay, it will be a very small party.

But if it includes only himself, it will be large enough to satisfy this country.

Closing an editorial on "Hedging in the Grain Trade," the Devils Lake, N. D., World says: "ulaws tsoaHC:pfifldorakogoeagrowers." The World should remember that it is always better to be temperate than to fly off the handle completely, though sometimes the provocation is almost intolerable.

THE REPUBLICANS AND THE PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY.

Minnesota has a presidential preference primary law, under which the rank and file of the voters of the parties will select delegates to the national conventions and instruct them how to vote.

No longer will delegates, policies and candidates be dictated by back room conferences—if the laws of this state are given a fair chance.

This new law, which will next year be put in operation for the first time, applies alike to Democrats and Republicans.

But just now it is the Republicans—the leaders, that is—who are discussing it, and it is interesting to note that they are unanimously eliminating the "dis."

These Republican leaders are occupied solely in trying to find a way to avoid this pestilential primary law, and to contrive somehow to let the backroom conferences decide things without putting them up to the people.

There is talk of getting the candidates for delegateships together to combine in refusing to express a preference before the convention. There is talk of ignoring the law altogether, of holding an old-fashioned convention and trusting that the national convention will recognize the delegates of the organization and ignore the delegates lawfully chosen by the party rank and file—by the people.

It will be interesting, and valuable, to watch the attitude of the Republicans of the state toward the presidential primary law.

The way the party in this state treats this progressive law, this instrument whereby the people are given a chance to defeat the devices of the "invisible government," will show what sort of influences dominate the Republican party of Minnesota.

That the "leaders," the surviving members of the Old Guard, should be talking of evading or ignoring this vitally important law, shows a strong determination to react to the old convention influences and to disregard the people, if they can.

If this determination prevails, it will show the Old Guard triumphant again in Minnesota, and the back-room conference will handle affairs, as of old.

The fifteen-year sentence of that Austrian who sold poor grade shoes to the government ought to serve as an inspiration to all other countries.

THE SUBMARINE EXPLAINS.

The commander of the submarine that sunk the passenger liner Arabic explains that he did it in self-defense. He was busy destroying a freighter when the Arabic appeared and headed his way. He thought the Arabic was after him, so he submerged and fired the torpedo that sunk her.

The commander of the Arabic, on the other hand, manifestly had no idea that he was heading for a torpedo boat. If he had known it, and had kept on, he should be strung up forthwith. According to his view of it he was going to the relief of the stricken freighter, and had no knowledge that a submarine was near.

What the commander of the submarine says is part of the evidence. There was a report that the survivors of the freighter declared that the submarine lay in ambush for the Arabic behind the freighter. That, if it can be verified, would be an important part of the evidence, too.

It seems like a case that ought to be tried out fairly and fully, and Germany proposes that it be tried out at The Hague. That will be perfectly proper providing Germany, in the meantime, makes clear exactly what its submarine policy is now, and providing this policy meets the demands of the United States, as the German authorities have indicated that it would.

The main thing is an assurance from Germany that it has adopted a submarine policy that can be approved by this country, which is speaking for law and civilization. If that is forthcoming, arbitration of the Arabic case at The Hague will be completely satisfactory.

No doubt it is just an example of Mexico's strikingly democratic character that one of her generals should be killed while trying to steal cattle in a neighboring country.

NICHOLAS TO NICHOLAS.

Nicholas, czar of Russia, has put himself in the place of Nicholas, grand duke and commander of the Russian armies, and has banished the latter to the ignoble Turkish front in the Caucasus.

Unless all the information that has come to this country about the character of the two Nicholases is wrong, this is a very mysterious proceeding, and not very promising to Russian hopes of a better experience in warfare than it has been having.

The grand duke has been pictured as a man who could bid the czar keep his place, and make him keep it; as a man whom the armies would follow, even against the czar himself. We had supposed that though Nicholas the grand duke had been pretty thoroughly whipped during the last six months, the fault was not his but that of the bureaucracy, treachery, incompetence and peculation that filled the court of Nicholas the czar; and we have seen that despite a steady pursuit by overwhelming forces vastly better equipped than his own, Nicholas the grand duke has kept his armies from actual destruction, and has shown amazing skill in so doing.

Nor has Nicholas the czar been pictured as a man we would pick to handle the Russian campaign; yet he proposes to handle it, and he has shipped his tall, grim, indomitable uncle off to a very remote byway—and uncle is going!

The fall rains now, and soon winter itself, are coming to the relief of the much battered Russians. Possibly they will even help the czar to victory. But so strong a prepossession in favor of the abilities of Nicholas the grand duke and against the meager abilities of Nicholas the czar has been instilled, that if we had been foolish enough to make a bet on Russia's success in this war, we most assuredly should by now be seeking a chance to hedge it.

The Chicago News diagnoses Mexico's trouble as "an acute form of fractional patriotism." Move to amend by inserting the words "and fractious."

Uncle Surprised Him.

"Dear Uncle: If you could see how I blush for shame while I am writing you would pity me. Do you know why? Because I have to ask you for a few dollars and do not know how to express myself. It is impossible for me to tell you. I prefer to die. I send you this by messenger, who will wait for an answer. Believe me, my dearest uncle, your most obedient and affectionate nephew.

"P. S.—Overcome with shame for what I have written, I have been running after the messenger in order to take the letter from him, but I cannot catch him. Heaven grant that something may happen to stop him, or that this letter may get lost."

The uncle was naturally touched, but was equal to the emergency. He replied as follows:

"My Dear Jack: Console yourself and blush no more. Providence has heard your prayers. The messenger lost your letter. Your affectionate uncle."

Teddy's Castor in the Ring

By Savoyard.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is obvious that Teddy's hat is again in the ring; indeed, it has never been out of the ring since that day in February, 1912, he cast it within the ropes. That he is a candidate for president was made manifest the other day at the military camp at Plattsburgh when he delievered himself of a scurrilous assault on the administration of Woodrow Wilson. Not only was it the announcement of his candidacy, but he revealed his paramount issue in the following paragraph of his oration:

"If the administration had displayed one-tenth the spirit and energy in holding Germany and Mexico to account for the murder of American men, women and children that it is now displaying in the endeavor to prevent our people from being taught the need of preparations to prevent the repetition of such murders in the future, it would be rendering a service to the people of this country."

That war in Europe is yet young and will be raging with uninterrupted virulence all of the year 1916, Wilson's endeavor is to preserve the neutrality of our government; Roosevelt's voice is for war. And he is not without a formidable following. This country is teeming with adullamites with tickets in the lottery of Moloch, and Teddy is the very man they would have for captain.

Just one thing stands between Theodore Roosevelt and the Republican nomination, and that the fear that the war issue might bring defeat. Tammany was never as hungry and thirsty as the "party of Great Moral Ideas" is right now, and the platform will demand war with Germany if the leaders can see a majority ahead of it. Of course if we shall be at war with Germany before the election there would be no hope for the G. O. P. even with the colonel for leader; but at this reading it appears that Germany has no notion of forcing the war, and all are agreed that Wilson will never force it.

Touching domestic matters Roosevelt is at odds with the Republican party unless enough of the Progressives have returned to the fold to give him a majority, and if the Republican claims are true Roosevelt already has that majority and can send the squad that supported Taft in 1912 to the rear. But the Progressives in 1914 polled half as many votes as they got in 1912, and that fact would argue that there are some 2,000,000 Progressives in the land who have not "come back." The G. O. P. is bound to have these gentry election day or go to another disastrous defeat.

* * *

It is Roosevelt's hope to rub out all the old issues, except the platitude about the tariff, and substitute the war for paramount, and if our relations with Germany should be what they are now, and the country is in the temper it is now, he will realize it. That will give him the nomination; but it is a far cry from the nomination to the White House. We have never had a declaration of war for a paramount issue in an American election. If the country had known in 1860 that war would follow, Abraham Lincoln would not have received a single vote in the electoral college. Though ours is a warlike people, yet we love peace, and it is not likely that we are going to war to turn the Democrats out of political power and put the Republicans in.

When he shied his castor into the ring the other day Roosevelt gave another exhibition of ignorance and prejudice as follows:

It is always in order to abuse Buchanan, for the average American is an ignoramus as to the history of his own country. No more patriotic man was ever president of the United States than James Buchanan, and very few abler men have filled that great place.

After secession, Buchanan called on the war department to know what troops were available to help Federal officials enforce the laws in the seceding states, and it appeared there were less than 2,000. He asked congress, then become Republican in both houses because of the withdrawal of Southern members, for means to enforce the laws, and congress refused.

Lincoln came in some weeks later and did not one single thing to change the policy of Buchanan. He did not even call congress together to get men and money. He pursued the identical course that Buchanan did, except that he did not ask for additional forces. And it was not till Fort Sumter was fired on that Lincoln ceased to be a molly coddle.

* * *

Now, Roosevelt knows that—unless he got his history out of some partisan school book—and that is not only possible, but likely—and he made his assault on the memory of a better man than himself because he imagined that it would advance his political fortunes.

The main thing that ails Roosevelt is that he labors under the strange and vain delusion that he is the only living man—the only man who ever lived—fit to be president of the United States. Constituted as he is by nature and by training, possibly he is not to blame for his egoism and his damphoolery.

"He Kept Us Out of War"

Boston Herald: It is easy to foresee the slogan of next year's Wilson campaign. It will be the words in quotation marks over this article—assuming that they are still true. And that assumption acquires increasing strength in the latest news from Berlin. If the European war ends, as it seemingly must before our ballots fall in 1916, and we have kept out of it, and if joint action of the American republics results in some sort of a stay of anarchistic proceedings in Mexico and we have kept out of that, too, President Wilson will go before the country as a man who, though badgered and derided by Roosevelt and the whole military crowd, has kept the greatest republic in the world, and the dominant force in this hemisphere, out of hostilities into which nearly everybody else had fallen. This is evidently what he is working for. It is no unworthy ambition. Its realization will afford him no small place in history.

Any one who thinks "he kept us out of war" would be a weak and unattractive campaign cry makes a very low estimate of the mind and heart of the American people. We can think of few greater accomplishments. One of these, perhaps, would be to bring the world war to a close, and in the mediatorial office the president's turn may yet come. With war no such chance would have been possible. Since there are times when loyalty to country, with every right-minded citizen, should greatly outweigh any concern over party welfare, there should be no faint response in any quarter to the tribute which all Americans owe to a president who, in these troublous times, "kept us out of war."

The Question of Education.

John Mez of Munich in an address before the National Education association last week: Those in my country who made war meant it for the world's gain. They did not mean to destroy. They are the victims of a wrong system of education. They have been taught nothing beyond an irrational conception of militarism. Every one who lives in the United States and loves civilization and humanity should be grateful to the man who has kept America out of the war. Education in internationalism means educating the old men first to change the idea that collective homicide is the proper thing. The first duty of a man is to defend his country, but not to attack any other country. * * * Education is the one great agency which will wipe out the stupidity of militarism.

The Shifty Feet of Adamzad

Editorial in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Despite the seeming brilliancy of the drive, and the territorial proofs thereof, the Germans may learn to their sorrow, by Thanksgiving or Christmas, that they have erred in following so impetuously the footprints of the shifty feet of "Adamzad, the man who walks like a bear."

The fundamental principle of the German campaign as planned in advance of "The Day" was adequate preparedness which should make it possible to march with seven league spiked boots across all obstacles to the heart of the enemy's country. Expectations based upon a profound belief in the power of the German arms have been disappointed. Last September it seemed probable that the Germans would reach Paris, despite the heroic resistance met with in Belgium. They did not get to Paris. The result of a year's fighting on the western front is not encouraging to the German strategists who planned an elan which should carry the Teutons into France with strength to stay, as the Arabs, in their smaller-scale advance some centuries ago, swarmed into Spain to hold and till the vegas of coveted Andalusia and build the citadel and the palace of Alhambra at Granada. The 42-centimeter guns thundered on the battle line and shook the earth, but the campaign sputtered before the trenches of the allies who were ill-prepared and taken unawares, but showed waxing strength and the determination of the invaded. So stood, and stands, the situation with regard to the first and greatest objective.

The bear, like the "chulos" of the "plaza de toros," baited the bull on the eastern front and the animal fought "to form," charging savagely at the red cloak held up to madden him. The bull succeeded in bathing his horns in blood, undoubtedly. But he has not succeeded in the effort to corner the enemy and crush him. The blood is in his eyes. Much of his great strength remains, but much has been exhausted. His hot breath fans an ever-receding line so long that it cannot be covered and pressed back much longer. The banderillas are sticking thickly in his neck. It seems not unlikely that Grand Duke Nicholas will be able, when the Russian frosts have congealed the blood of the wounded and wearied pursuer, to play the role of the matador who enters the ring clothed in suggestive black and sheathes a long straight blade in the vitals of the spent and baffled "toro."

Petrograd is not as nearly within grasp as Paris seemed last autumn. And Russia might, conceivably, lose Petrograd, and yet not lose a winter campaign to an enemy worn out and far from home.

As an example of amazing strength the German military establishment stands, so far, unmatched. But the task undertaken was too large at the beginning. After the passing of a year it looks larger, with Italy punishing Austria, while the British and the French hold their ground with their capital very far in their rear. Germany has Germany and Austria to draw upon for men. In her effort to arrive at objective points at any cost Germany has sacrificed military units with recklessness as complete as if she had the population of China. It looks as if, despite heroic fighting and marvelous equipment, the point of exhaustion must be reached sooner or later, with the strength of the allies still not greatly impaired. Russia's part in the fighting may not in the final accounting be as inglorious as the ground given before the German advance in Poland now makes it appear to the eyes of many observers.

Vacations as Investments

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A local employer has refused to give his hands a vacation because his plant happens to be busy. This is the final Q. E. D.

These theories of vacation simply are'nt tenable. People do not think of the shore, the mountains or the exposition because they are just naturally flighty or crazy. Back of the desire for pleasure is a primary cause: Workers desire vacations because they are tired. A vacation is not a luxury or merely a relief from the horrid grind of the workaday occupation. It is naturo crying for recuperation after the year's fatigue.

Fatigue is dangerous and it must be fought off by the antitoxin of rest. Toil and responsibility by constant repetition produce a poison which affects the constitution of the blood; but this is no menace to the person who takes time and trouble to restore exhausted vitality.

In human beings fatigue has the practical disadvantage of decreasing efficiency. Physical strength is gradually sapped. Reflex actions of the brain are less alertly responsive. Depression is bred—merely another term for lowered vitality—which spells inefficiency.

Vacations are really an investment with dividends in health and efficiency. The routine is broken. The vacationist gains an inestimable value in a change of thought and a new outlook. We must all keep clear of the rut. We must beware of ourselves when we want to do only one thing.

The employer who refuses vacations to his workers has no right to his control over them. The employe who fails to take a vacation—to take it rompingly and zestfully—has no right to boast of his fatuity.

Father's Idea.

Weekly Telegraph: Gertrude was home for the Christmas holidays, and in her honor the old folks were holding a reception. And in their honor Gertie brought forth her new garments.

Picking up a beautiful creation, she held it up before the admiring crowd and said: "Isn't this perfectly scrumptious? Just think, all this silk came from the little insignificant worm."

"Gertrude, he said, "that is not the way to refer to your father."

The Tuneful Watermelon.

Springfield Union: Our idea of a natural and unassuming person is one who eats his watermelon harmonica fashion.

Northern Minnesota, Land of Opportunity

Chorus of Minnesota Boosters.

More Proofs Offered.

St. Hilaire Spectator: Northern Minnesota is proving its oft-repeated assertion that it is the garden spot of the world. Its crops are normal and conditions in general are far better than in any other section of the country.

If You Never Tried It, Do So.

Aurora News: Northern Minnesota is a paradise for those red-blooded people who love the simple life and through coming into direct contact with the simple things in nature forget their cares in life and regain their health and vigor. One week spent in the great woods, on the beautiful lakes and along the pretty rivers, will give new life to anyone, and put one in fit condition for another year's grind. The popularity of the many summer hotels and lodges is shown by the number of summer visitors at this time. With the beautiful lakes within easy reach of Aurora it is regrettable that we have no local summer resort. A well regulated summer place brings in people at a time when business usually is quiet and helps to make the old world merrier for all.

No Crop Failures.

Biwabik Times: Kindly bear in mind that this section of Minnesota has never had a crop failure. This year will be no exception to the rule. An exceedingly late spring has been followed by growing conditions that have made up for much of the lost time. Roots are growing; fast and the potatoes will mature with a couple of warm weeks. Farmers who do not want a crop failure should grab a piece of land in this section.

More Glories Ahead.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: Another advantage almost always succeeds the one which has passed away. The stumps that represent the past glory of our timber business can be uprooted to make way for the farmer and this is being done rapidly in Northern Minnesota.

Minnesota Leads.

Delano Eagle: Pennington county is one of the Northern Minnesota counties that is fast settling up with contented farmers who are able to show grasses, grains and clover, which, like the whole of Northern Minnesota, is far ahead of any other section in the state. The Thief River Falls Times says Canadian land agents were present at a recent county fair and secured all the samples that they could procure. They take these around and exhibit them as the products of the great Canadian Northwest. The settler who takes up Canadian land in preference to farming in Northern Minnesota is a fool ten times over.

Good Advice.

Warroad Pioneer: The prospective settler in Northern Minnesota should not buy too much land. An eighty-acre tract is usually large enough and often forty would be better. The part of the land not under cultivation is an expense—no income to pay taxes and interest.

It's Never Failed Yet.

Hill City News: We are about to enter upon the first of the autumnal months and, if we are to get what is coming to us, we have a long, delightful spell of fall weather ahead of us.—St. Paul Dispatch.

There is no "if" about it in Northern Minnesota. We always have a delightful fall here.

There Is No Place More Worth Boosting.

Dodge Center Star: Northern Minnesota is a vast empire of wealth, one of which the editors of the northern part of the state like to sing praises, and, by the way, those editors are a "live bunch and boosters." They would make you believe that Northern Minnesota was the only place on the face of the globe and they were there in numbers, always keeping the visitors' minds fresh with the thoughts of its greatness.

A Connubial Paragon.

Portland Oregonian: Edward K. Fischer of St. Joseph, Mo., is a married railroad clerk who has been widely celebrated for his connubial excellencies. The love of money, which is the root of all evell, has been extirpated from his heart. Before he was married he laid up $500 on a salary of $50 a month and since he acquired his wife he has saved enough to build a house, though he gets only $60 to this day. This would seem to prove him somewhat miserly, but for spending money he reserves to himself only 25 cents a fortnight. The rest of his earnings he dutifully turns over to his wife and walks two miles to the office every morning to save carfare. It goes without saying that this paragon of husbands has no bad habits such as smoking and chewing gum. Nor does he while away the golden hours of morn snoozing in a slothful bed. He is up bright and early every day and on Monday he begins his matins at 4 o'clock in order to do out the family washing before business hours. He washes the dishes, tends the babies and has taken but one night off each year since his marriage. Could perfection shine more radiantly?

But he has done more. He has sent his wife away on many lovely trips. Omaha, St. Louis, Chicago and many another center of literature and art have been the scenes of her wanderings while Mr. Fischer remained faithfully at home performing a husband's duties. What is the outcome of all this devotion? It is just about what might have been expected. Mrs. Fischer grew weary of a husband who had so little sense. Her heart strayed afar in search of a man who had some will of his own and some little appreciation of his rights in the world. Nobody likes to live with a wan and pallid shadow. Self-denial can be carried so far that it becomes repulsive. The perpetual sight of a man crawling in the dust at her feet made Mrs. Fischer long for a companion who had some self-respect. In this way the third party crept into the story and the model Mr. Fischer is now suing for a divorce. If his wife had sued for one we should not have been surprised and in most states she would have obtained it readily enough. Idiocy in the husband is commonly accepted as good ground for dissolving the marriage tie.

They Deserve Pensions.

Chicago Herald: The plan to pension retired preachers which was indorsed by the recent church congress at San Francisco suggests a justice too long deferred. Preachers' salaries have undoubterly been increased during the last few years, and for the moment the city preacher may be favorably placed. But what of his country brother and his income of almost nothing a year?

There are few Americans whose childhood and youth was passed in the country or in the small towns who do not cherish pleasant memories of the rural preacher. Whatever the denomination the country preacher was itinerant, for his district was always larger. In the days before Ford and the social center revolutionized the country the preacher was guide, philosopher, friend, physician and more. Except for the occasional court day or the visit to the cross roads store there was little social life not inspired by the preacher.

The country preacher continues uncomplainingly to serve. He earns less than the members of any other profession and not as much as many artisans. He cannot save. Thrift at his wage is a vice. He and his wife and dependent children deserve pensions. And now that fortune seems bent on turning favorably toward the preacher none will begrudge him the recognition so long deferred.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

At the instance of Alderman B. F. Howard an ordinance regulating the speed of vessels in the harbor is being prepared by the city attorney. It will limit the speed of vessels inside of the harbor to five miles an hour and the penalty for a violation is fixed at a fine of $100 or ninety days in jail. The question of city control outside of Minnesota point is a debatable one, and no restrictions will be applied to vessels outside the canal entrance.

There is a rumor that the Duluth, Mississippi & Northern railroad will soon be extended from Hibbing to Biwabik and that the independent mine operators along the Mesaba range are encouraging the move.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 52; maximum yesterday, 65; minimum yesterday, 49.

The Minnesota Swedish Baptist Young People's union has been in session at the Bethel Swedish Baptist church, corner of Ninth avenue east and Third street, for several days. The officers of the union are: President, Rev. Olof Bodien of Minneapolis; vice president, Rev. L. J. Ahlstrom of Minneapolis; secretary, Rev. M. Larson of Duluth; treasurer, J. Albert Hagstrom of Minneapolis; member of executive committee, Mrs. Frank Peterson of Minneapolis.

Henry Oestriech, the 15-year-old son of Julius Oestriech of Third avenue east and Superior street, received a 22-caliber bullet in the muscles of the right arm, by the accidental discharge of a target rifle at Woodland yesterday afternoon. No serious results are feared.

It is stated that W. H. Burke, formerly editor of the News, will return to Duluth in a few days and resume newspaper work here.

Capt. W. H. Smallwood, who has been confined to his house by illness, is again able to be out.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Minnesota Canal company, the following officers were elected: F. J. Hanchett, president; H. H. Hanford, vice president; I. H. Simonds, secretary and treasurer.

On Sept. 11, Miss Marion E. Bacon and L. R. Wilson will be married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. C. Osborn. Mr. Wilson is secretary of the Millers' association of the Head of the Lakes.

The Rhodora.

On being asked, whence is the flower?

In May, when sea-winds pierced our solitudes,
I found the fresh Rhodora in the wood's damp nook,
To please the desert and the sluggish brook.
The purple petals, fallen in the pool,
Made the black water with their beauty gay;
Here might the red-bird come his plumes to cool,
And court the flower that cheapens his array.
Rhodora! if the sages ask thee why
This charm is wasted on the earth and sky,
Tell them, dear, that if eyes were made for seeing,
Then Beauty is its own excuse for being:
Why thou wert there, O rival of the rose!
I never thought to ask, I never knew;
But, in my simple ignorance, suppose
The self-same Power that brought me there brought you. —R. W. Emerson.

Als Ich Kann!

Collier's: After a year of war the kaiser still reiterates his sacrilegious vaunt, "God is with us!" We have heard this commented upon unfavorably in Canada, but we have also heard Canadian clergymen express their opinion that in fighting for the British empire the young men of Canada fight on God's side. Now, we sympathize with Canada in this war, and with Belgium; and yet the attitude which has most of dignity, force, and sincerity is not the British one. It is the attitude of France, perhaps the only country fighting that hasn't dragged God into the argument of blood. France, like England and Germany, counts among her soldiers and leaders both self-styled Christians and frank infidels—but France appeals to no religious passion—only to love of country. That is enough. The French soul was interpreted for us a few years since in what is the greatest book that the twentieth century has so far given us: Romain Rolland's "Jean-Christophe." As Christopher's name saint carried the Christ over the water, so has France bravely borne the burden of civilization—a heavy burden in these last thirteen months. One recalls, therefore, the words of advice spoken in M. Rolland's book by a philosophical old German—a German imagined by a Frenchman:

> Do not abuse life (said Jean-Christophe's uncle); live in today. Be reverent toward each day. Love it, respect it, do not soil it. See, it is winter now. Everything is asleep. The good earth will warm again. You have only to be good and patient like the earth. Be reverent. Wait. If you are good, all will go well. If you are not good, if you are weak, if you do not succeed, well, you must be happy in that. Why be angry because of what you cannot do? We all have to do what we can. Als Ich kann. A hero is a man who does what he can.

All France is hero today—hero in the Jean-Christophe sense, and with no lugging in of deity or devil. Rolland, who has deeply loved the good both in his own great country and in Goethe's, dedicated his epical romance to "the Free Spirits of all Nations who suffer, fight, and will prevail." They are fighting over there in Flanders, over there in France. Long live the free spirits—free of tyrants, free of tyrants' cant!

The Nevermore.

Look in my face; my name is Might-have-been;
I am also called No-more, Too-late, Farewell;
Unto thine ear I hold the dead sea-shell
Cast up thy Life's foam-fretted feet between;
Unto thine eyes the glass where that is seen
Which had Life's form and Love's but by my spell
Is now a shaken shadow intolerable,
Of ultimate things unuttered the frail screen.
Mark me, how still I am! But should thou dart
One moment through my soul the soft surprise
Of that winged Peace which lulls the breath of sighs—
Then shalt thou see me smile, and turn apart
Thy visage to mine ambush at my heart
Sleepless with cold commemorative eyes.
—Dante Gabriel Rossetti.

He Decided Not to Call.

Kansas City Star: Andrew Lang once invited a friend to dinner when he was saying in Merlowe's road, Earl's Court, a street away at the end of that long Cromwell road, which seems to go on forever. The guest was not very sure how to get there, so Lang explained:

"Walk right along Cromwell road," he said, "till you drop dead, and my house is just opposite."

BAYVIEW HEIGHTS SCHOOL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

At a recent meetig of the school board, a delegation of citizens from Bayview Heights protested against the closing of the school at that place. A petition was also presented, signed by citizens of Bayview Heights, protesting against such action. Now we have no fire or police protection, none of the advantages of living in a city, but are taxed to help support them all. Now they propose to close the school and give us the same sort of school conditions that they have in rural districts. If we are to have rural conditions why not a rural tax rate? Today the children were at the school building all day, but no teacher put in an appearance. Perhaps, after a few days, they will have the building in shape and send a teacher unless the increase in salaries has so depleted the funds that they cannot do so, or have they permanently adopted the "motto" raise salaries and close schools. Isn't it time the outlying districts were given a little justice?

"WE 'GOTCHA,' STEVE."

To the Editor of The Herald:

One of the functions of the editorial section of a modern newspaper is to give its readers an interpretation of current events in their relation to social development, and the psychological influences exerted thereby. The Herald fulfils this function admirably, and it is only on rare occasions that its editor seems to lose himself in the complexity of the process of social phenomena.

"Real Internationalism" in a recent issue may be cited as an instance, for it would not easily convince your modern economist.

It is generally conceded that the substructure of social phenomena is essentially economic in its modes of manifestation and as such the basis of the present war is primarily and distinctly economic.

It there apears that the present combat is caused by antagonistic forces in society, in the aggregate, that have their source in the monopolistic tendencies of a wage-economy both irrational and unscientific. Concentration of wealth develops a national plutocracy, and the greed and aggrandizement of these factions in the social organism become a tangible menace to social equilibrium.

The attainment of a homogeneous development throughout all parts of society is the goal to which the best thought of the world is directed. Social science has disclosed the way the change will be wrought by the principle of co-operation, viz., the scientific control of the industrial and social forces by the collective mind of society.

Looking back over the known past, and aided by the light of the past, it may be asserted that until this transition is realized internationalism of any sort is an extremely remote possibility. Yours very truly.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

H. Clark, Ranier—Will you please publish in the Open Court column the fastest schedule time made by any passenger train in the world? Also the fastest schedule time across continent from coast to coast? Please publish this as soon as convenient and oblige me. Is the Twentieth Century Limited the fastest train?

Ans.—The fastest time on record for a short distance was probably a run of five miles on the Plant system made in 1901 when a speed of 120 miles an hour was attained. Among the fastest regular trains are the Empire State Express between New York and Albany, 143 miles in 175 minutes, and the Congressional Limited from Jersey City to Washington, 227 miles in 286 minutes. The Twentieth Century Limited is now a twenty-hour train, so its average speed is hardly as great as the first of the two above mentioned, and about equal to the second. There is no trans-continental train in the United States. In May, 1906, the Harriman special went from Oakland to New York in 71 hours and 27 minutes, the fastest transcontinental time on record.

L. J. Nellis, International Falls—Please print the answer to this problem in the Open Court of The Herald. An article costs $1.00 and sells for $1.25. What per cent of profit is made on the transaction?

Ans.—Profit is figured on the basis of cost price, and in this instance it is therefore 25 per cent.

Taxpayer—Can you inform me if there are any jobs of paving called Rocmac under way at present in Duluth? And also if the job just completed on Fifth street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east, is a fair sample of the Rocmac proposition? Who are the agents for the Rocmac material in Duluth?

Ans.—A Rocmac pavement has just been laid on Fifth street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east, while the same material is under consideration for the paving of Third avenue east, from Seventh to Eighth streets Hilliard & Julien are in charge of the East Fifth street job. Thomas McGilvray, Palladio building, is the local agent for the company, which is located at Cleveland. He states that Rocmac is simply a binder for macadam and takes a long time to set. He refers to Twenty-third avenue west between Seventh and Eighth streets as a sample of Rocmac which has set.

PINE COUNTY FAIR WILL BE NEXT WEEK

Plans About Perfected for Show Beginning Sept. 16.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-eighth annual fair of the Pine County Agricultural society will open here Thursday, Sept. 16 and run the remainder of the week. Secretary Perkins says that the final arrangements are about all made and that everything will be in readiness when the fair opens.

Many improvements have been made on the grounds. A new ticket office has been erected; the old grandstand has been torn down and a fine new structure is going up in its place. The race track has received considerable attention and will be faster than ever. The harness races this year also promise to be out of the ordinary.

Webster, the loop-the-loop aviator, has been secured for two days, Sept. 16 and 17. There will be two fast ball games and any number of other attractions.

CLOSE HANCOCK HOTEL.

Lack of Patronage Closes Doors of Hotel Scott.

Hancock, Mich., Sept. 9.—The doors of the Scott hotel were closed Monday and will not be reopened unless arrangements are made whereby a new management will take over the house. This is the statement of William Beilke, manager for the last two years. The hotel has been operated under direction of the Scott estate.

According to Mr. Beilke the Scott has been losing money for several months, due in part he says to failure of Hancock business interests to give the hostelry proper support. The employes were paid off yesterday, and the hotel equipment was stored.

It is understood that several merchants in the city are attempting to make arrangements to have the hotel reopened on the European plan.

Marquise de Mores Aids Bridge.

Medora, N. D., Sept. 9.—The two sons of the late Marquis de Mores, who was well known here thirty years ago, are now serving in the French army. The Marquise de Mores has sent a contribution of $200 toward the erection of the Red Trail bridge at Medora. She says, in her letter, that it was a dream of the late marquis to see Medora a town, and she wants to help it along.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Marks of Degeneration

DEGENERATION, in the medical sense means a distinct deviation from the normal or usual. It is shown by faulty or unbalanced development of the body, and by nervous and mental peculiarities. Neurotic individuals, those with hereditary tendencies to insanity, alcoholism, drug habits, and the like, are most likely to exhibit the stigmata or marks of degeneration. However, anatomical stigmata are very often seen in absolutely healthy stock; most of us can boast some little freakish trait if we will. Indeed, the medical conception of insanity permits no fast drawn line between sane and insane; there are very vague gradations, eccentricities, peculiarities, monomanias, between the frankly sane and the theoretically normal. That is why medical expert witnesses and criminal—very criminal—lawyers have such difficulty in reaching conclusions in court. The legal conception of insanity is an arbitrary one; the medical conception recognizes the resistance to classification offered by human nature.

Asymmetry of the skull, very small head, very large head, peculiar shapes of the skull, excessive prognathism and very large jaws are included in the list of marks of degeneration. So are projecting teeth, very irregular teeth, double teeth; very thick lips or very thin lips; narrow palpebral fissure (the width of opening of the eyelids), and shaky, jerky eyes; projecting ears, too large or too small ears, ears too high on the head or too low on the neck, floppy ears, ugly ears, ears without lobes or with lobes adherent to the cheeks.

Supernumerary fingers or toes, webbed fingers or toes, excessively long arms, excessively long legs—like the swell fellers in the fashion plates—and, last, but not least, gossips will please take notice, an excessive amount of tongue.

Mental stigmata are egotism, eccentricities, emotionalism.

If any one can conscientiously go over the list and declare himself or herself free from every recognized stigma we will present his or her name to the next legislature for a suitable memorial resolution. But any reader who finds a great collection of these stigmata about his person would do well to make quite sure he is competent and responsible. Just another way of expressing our favorite slogan: See your doctor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

His Features Are Plastic.

Several years ago, deplores M. R., I had some paraffin injected in my face to fill out hollow cheeks. Now it has all gone to lumps. Is there any help short of surgical operation?

Answer—We fear not. But you ought to go back and exhibit your face to the operator who injected the paraffin.

Footstrain—Tired Business Woman.

What shall a perfectly healthy, normal business woman do to stop the tired, aching misery in her feet? She is much on her feet, and from the prints on the bathroom floor she imagines the arches are partly broken down.

Answer—She must wear shoes with straight inside sole lines—that is, shoes whose toes do not diverge. The soles must be as broad as the naked foot under the weight of the body. The heels should not be more than one and a half inch high, and broad as the naked heel is. Perhaps she should have her feet strapped with adhesive plaster by the physician. Then she could find relief and still not put the muscles and ligaments out of business.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

BIG SLUMP IN FOODSTUFFS

Flour Drops $1 a Barrel; Price Reduction on All Sides.

Bumper Crop Starts Cereals on Toboggan; Metals on Opposite Course.

A drop of $1 a barrel in flour quotations during the last three weeks furnishes a striking index as to how the costs of edibles are declining as a result of the bumper crops being garnered in all parts of the country.

Compared with a year ago, the cost of living has been materially reduced and grain operators and commission men do not feel by any means sure that the slump is over yet in cereals and general foodstuffs.

It is interesting that spring wheat patent flour is now selling wholesale at $4.75 a barrel, compared with a high of $8 reached during February. Eggs are 2 cents a dozen cheaper than this time last year. Butter is 5 cents a pound lower; granulated sugar 1½ cents a pound lower and coffee 1 cent a pound lower. Besides everything in the fruits and vegetables lists shows substantial declines in quotations owing to the abundant yields.

Meats are also cheaper with beef cattle at Chicago being quoted on a basis of $6.25 per 100 pounds as compared with $6.75 last year; hogs at $6.50 against $8.85; short ribs at $8.10 against $12.30; and mess pork at $18 against $20.06.

Metals Advance.

Turning to the other side of the slate, all metals have advanced owing to the heavy demands of munitions manufacturers. Copper, selling at around 18 cents a pound, is up 5 cents. Pig iron at Philadelphia is quoted 25 cents a ton higher at $15; steel billets at Pittsburgh are $2.50 up at $23.50 and lead is at 4.80 cents a pound compared with 3.87 cents.

Hides have advanced around 5½ cents a pound; leather 1 cent a pound; wool over 6 cents a pound, and cotton nearly 3 cents a pound.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on forty-two standard commodities made up to this week and corresponding quotations a year ago:

NEGRO BAPTISTS ARE PUGNACIOUS

Only Presence of Police Prevents Free-for-All Fight at Meeting.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Tumultuous scenes marked the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Negro Baptist church yesterday and only the presence of policemen prevented innumerable fist fights. At the afternoon session heated arguments over a proposed new charter was followed by a struggle for possession of a megaphone which, but for the police, might have developed into a free-for-all fight.

The trouble began at the morning session shortly after the convention had been called to order in the First Regiment armory by Dr. E. C. Morris of Helena, Ark., the president. As a result, Morris and the other administration officers left the convention and opened a meeting at Olivet Baptist church. In the afternoon the bolting faction returned to the armory and a struggle soon developed over a megaphone which a delegate used to make himself heard in the arguments on the proposed new charter. Morris secured it and drowned out the voices of the faction which remained in charge of the convention after the bolt. A wild scramble for the megaphone gave the police a great deal of trouble before the belligerents were subdued.

GRANARIES INADEQUATE.

Big Crops Find Morrison County Farmers in Predicament.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 9.—A condition exists this year in Morrison county which probably has never been before witnessed and which many may not believe, but it is a fact that many farmers of the county are this year forced to make two threshings to care for their crop of small grain.

During the pest few years farmers have gone much into stock raising and have erected large barns for caring for their cattle and horses. Little acreage was put into small grain and new and larger granaries were not thought necessary. To these farmers a surprise was in store this year. When rye threshing was finished their storage granaries were bursting with grain. If the wheat and oats were threshed no place could be found to store the product. The result has been in many places that when the rye was threshed the wheat and oats were left in the stack until such a time as the rye could be hauled to market to make room for the storage of the other grains.

UNCEASING MISERY

Some Duluth Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there's kidney backache. You suffer twinges and "stabs" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. Thousands have testified to their merit.

Proof in Duluth testimony:

Mrs. C. J. Petruschke, 8 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, Duluth, says: "A dull, constant ache in my back kept me in misery. At night I could not rest well as it hurt me so and in the morning I felt tired and lame. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Erikson's Drug Store, was enough to cure me of the trouble after other medicines had failed. My back has been strong and well since and I have had no cause to complain of kidney trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Petruschke had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: SEPT. 12.

1. Kings xix, 8-18: Elijah's Flight and Return.

CONNECTION.

This flight came after his great success in the contest on Mt. Carmel. God answered with fire; the people rose up and helped him kill the priests of Baal; Elijah held a feast at which the king ate, then went to the top of the mountain to look for signs of rain and waited till his servant, at last, saw a cloud no bigger than a man's hand which rapidly spread over the whole sky; then Elijah bade the king ride for dear life, while the splendid man, at last convinced that he had won back the king to a right life, ran before his chariot for the twenty-five miles to Jezreel, like a thoroughbred. He thought that, as God had shown His power in the fire test and the rain and the new enthusiasm of the people, the repentance of the people and their king was permanent. He seems to have thought he would be safe anywhere. He even thought, so it would seem, that Jezebel would fall in with the reform. But no man was ever more mistaken. She raged; she roared; she not only determined to kill the prophet as he had killed her prophets, but wanted him to know.

Elijah was caught in the reaction after the high tension of the contest and he was panic-stricken. He ran and never stopped running till he got to Beersheba, a hundred miles south, and then he didn't stop, but left his attendant and went a day's journey alone. Yet God was with him as he sat under the juniper tree wishing he might die. God's angel put him to sleep, then woke him and gave him something to eat, put him to sleep again and awoke him to eat some more. That was what he needed first of all. What a wonderful God we have!

THE LESSON.

I

The Inglorious Flight, 8, 9.

"And he arose, and did eat and drink, and went in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights unto Horeb the mount of God. And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there."

1. FEAR.—The fear was inspired by Jezebel. In her anger at him and her fierce message he saw that she had regained her ascendency over the king and that meant the failure of his mission, so it seemed. In spite of God's wonderful deeds on Mt. Carmel in which he stood out against the crowd he ought to have had proof that she could not hurt him, for he ought to have known that God could continue to protect him, as in the cave and on the mountain. That fear was due to the suddenly perceived fact that he still had the terrible queen and the king against him in a life-long struggle, to the fact that he seemed to stand alone, with the prospect that all the people would return to their idolatry and his work be undone, and the relaxed condition of his nerves. The reaction is a thing that all people of large experience know about. Besides, living by himself, he didn't understand all the conditions. That made it worse.

2. DESPAIR.—That was worse than fear. He was foolish, for I've no doubt that Jezebel, like all evil doers, was something of a bluffer and probably sent word to him with the view of giving him a chance to get away. With 450 of her prophets gone she was afraid she might lose the 400 household prophets. His flight and flight suited her exactly and made his work harder for the future. It was not despair of God, but loss of faith in himself as God's servant, loss of faith in the capacity of the people for repentance, anxiety for God's honor and desire for the salvation of the people making it harder. He was also ignorant of all the facts in the national life. He had not had those various forms of experience that give one completer self-control. It was not wounded vanity but a wounded heart. Having lived alone he went off to be by himself.

II.

The Patient Effort of God, 9-18.

"And, behold, the word of Jehovah came to him, and he said unto him, What doest thou here, Elijah? And he said, I have been very jealous for Jehovah, the God of hosts; for the children of Israel have forsaken Thy covenant, thrown down Thine altars, and slain Thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life, to take it away. And he said, Go forth, and stand upon the mount before Jehovah. And, behold, Jehovah passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before Jehovah; but Jehovah was not in the wind; and after the wind an earthquake; but Jehovah was not in the earthquake; and after the earthquake a fire; but Jehovah was not in the fire; and after the fire a still small voice. And it was so, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle, and went out, and stood in the entrance of the cave. And, behold, there came a voice unto him, and said, What doest thou here, Elijah? And he said, I have been very jealous for Jehovah, the God of hosts; for the children of Israel have forsaken Thy covenant, thrown down Thine altars, and slain Thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life, to take it away.

"And Jehovah said unto him, Go, return on thy way to the wilderness of Damascus; and when thou comest, thou shalt anoint Hazael to be king over Syria; and Jehu the son of Nimshi shalt thou anoint to be king over Israel; and Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abelmeholah shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room. And it shall come to pass, that him that escapeth from the sword of Hazael shall Jehu slay; and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha slay. Yet will I leave me seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kissed him."

1. REFRESHMENT.—There were two kinds of refreshment, food and sleep. He had probably not slept since the day before the contest and he had walked—or run—about 100 miles since. We know what that means. He had not wanted to sleep or eat and now he is hungry. So, before having a chance to say much, he is allowed to take a long sleep, then food, then more sleep and still more food. That food lasted a long time because his mind was still on his trouble and he was absorbed in it. No doubt he drank water abundantly.

2. SOLITUDE.—As he was a man of solitudes, he could be approached more thoroughly in a place that would make him feel at home. It was first under the juniper tree, then in the cave, perhaps eighty miles further south, at Sinai. There the work of recovery will be hastened.

3. TALK.—In the talk there were two elements of value. He would vividly know that God had come every step of the way with him—God, his friend and former protector. Then he was encouraged to speak it all out. God knew all about that before our modern neurologists taught us the value of psychanalysis. There is a way of hunting down in the nooks and corners of the soul for little things that explain certain abnormal or pathological conditions of mind. That will help Elijah—telling out his darkness and despair about being the very last friend that God has left and how he is hunted to his death. It not only relieves him but gives God a new chance.

4. REVELATION.—God displayed Himself in wind and fire and earthquake to show that Elijah had sought external signs of godliness in Israel; then God crept into his heart and, with persuasive voice, told him He was everywhere, that He was in the reverent souls of 7,000 good men in Israel and that He was at work with others, both in and outside the favored nation.

5. WORK.—The restoration would be complete when Elijah got to work, and God gave him striking tasks, to anoint two rulers in place of present rulers, in Damascus, and in Israel, and his own successor Elisha. That meant that God would punish Ahab, which would hearten Elijah; that He was even taking an interest in the heathen people of Syria and that He was going to take care of the religious work through a man chosen to be Elijah's successor. The work assigned and the truths taught would bring him back to normal very soon.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Much of Elijah's strength misses proper direction because he was subject to the sharpest reaction. The recoil is inevitable when an object is sent full speed; reaction is always seen when great energy has been displayed. When stress is laid on, strain must follow. The man who knows when his reactions are likely to come, how to regard them when they do come, and how to rise above them in thought, has learned a most valuable lesson in life. A simple, sincere faith will overcome any reaction. Children, particularly, are subject to depressions of spirit.

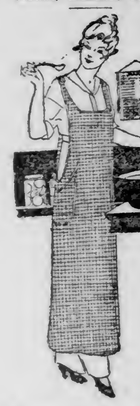

God sent him on a hallowed pilgrimage to bathe his wearied spirit in the memories of a brighter past. He reached Mt. Sinai and came to "the cave" and took shelter there. And as God had pointed out to him the way to restore his bodily strength by sleep and food so now He opened before the prophet the remedy of renewed activity.—Farrar.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. How may you get the mastery of your moods?
2. Why are good bodily conditions important in the Christian life?
3. How may we most easily discern the presence of God?
4. Why are there so many unsuspected followers of Christ?
5. Why is contentment with your own work a means of efficiency?

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

PAVING IS UP TO COURT

Appeal Taken on Paving of Approach to Congdon Park.

Objecting Property Owners Claim Council's Action Is Illegal.

East First street taxpayers have taken an appeal to district court against assessments for paving the approach to Congdon Park, according to notices filed with City Clerk Walter Borgen yesterday.

Ten individual land holders and two realty companies, through their attorney, have notified the city that they will not accept the recent decision of the city commissioners to go ahead with the paving, and reiterate charges that the work was not ordered in the proper manner.

The appellants are: William E. Richardson, Alexander W. Gordon, Carolyn S. Harrison, Anthony Puck, Clarence C. Whiting, Elmer N. Whyte, Arthur P. Barnes, Carl E. Oberg, Eleanor S. Dunning, F. Lois Marvin, the Duluth Home company and the Idelwild company.

All of these own property on First street between Twenty-eighth avenue east and Congdon Park. They hold, in the notice of appeal, that the city council had no jurisdiction to make or confirm the assessment, which, it is alleged, is illegal in consequence, and charge that the improvement was not authorized by a valid petition of 25 per cent of property owners controlling a like amount of property assessed.

It is set forth in the appeal that the resolution authorizing the paving was defective because it failed to give the cost or declare the necessity and territory affected, and that the council did not allow sixty days to elapse, but illegally entered into a contract.

Assessments are not in proportion to benefits, it is claimed, but exceed them, and the council did not exercise its judgment in making apportionments, and failed to ascertain what they should be, it is charged.

The appeal will be read to the commissioners at Monday's council meeting.

NOISY DRIVING LEADS TO ARREST

Motorcycle Cop on Watch for Drivers Using "Cut-Outs."

Noisy automobile driving will not be tolerated, as five drivers learned last night to their sorrow.

Motorcycle Patrolman A. L. Root, with Officer James Woods, was detailed to watch Woodland avenue and Kent road, whence had come complaints of driving with "cut outs" open.

In two hours the officers, following instructions to take the names of every driver who opened his muffler, had five names. They were William Boren, 1929 East Sixth street; Simon Clark, 1833 Woodland avenue; David Olson, 1721 Piedmont avenue; H. S. Wenger, 512 East First street, and Chester Wright, 1808 East Fourth street.

Mr. Boren paid a $3 fine in municipal court this morning, and Mr. Clark succeeded in convincing police that the noise he had made was due to defects in the engine, rather than to any desire to disturb slumbering East end residents. He was permitted to leave. The other three were not arraigned in court this morning.

SEEKING FIRST HAND EVIDENCE

Commissioners Investigate and Then Grant Three Petitions.

Seeking first-hand evidence on petitions presented to them for consideration, Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Silberstein this morning visited Minnesota Point, the East end and the West end.

After looking over the ground they decided to grant the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway company permission to install an overhead steam line across Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west. The line is intended to be used in carrying steam from their power house to the coach yard, so that trains can be heated.

Property owners who want Seventh alley vacated between Sixth and Seventh avenues east and between Twenty-seventh avenue east and Wallace avenue will have their wish. A vacational petition affecting Thirty-third street between Minnesota avenue and Lake avenue, on Park Point, also will be approved.

Before returning to the city hall shortly after 12 o'clock the commissioners stopped for an inspection of the municipal lodging house at the request of Mayor Prince, head of the welfare department.

REFUSES TO WORK SO HE GOES TO JAIL

Charles G. Scott Declined to Cut Work Farm Lawn.

Charles G. Scott, in common with many other Americans, doesn't like to work, and in fact refuses to work, so an ever-accommodating county arranged to have him spend three months in jail, instead of at the work farm.

About a month ago Scott was sent to the work farm for four months from Virginia, after he had been found guilty of second degree grand larceny.

When Supt. Fred Ward, at the work farm, assigned him to the task of cutting a section of lawn, he rebelled, and defied the officers to make him do it.

Before Judge F. H. Cutting yesterday he was sentenced to three months at the county jail for resisting an officer.

BADGER METHODISTS HEAR PLEA FOR FUNDS

Racine, Wis., Sept. 9.—The Wisconsin M. E. conference here today deferred action on the question of joining the eastern and western conferences until Saturday morning.

This morning's session was largely given over to the consideration of the status of theological students in the conference course of study.

The committee appointed a year ago to consider ways and means for the raising of a conference claim endowment fund recommended that a minister of the conference be selected as campaign manager for a term of three years and that he give his time to this work exclusively. No action, however, was taken at this time.

Large Sum Needed.

Dr. Charles M. Boswell of Philadelphia, read a copy of the report of the board of home missions stating that $1,560,000 was needed to carry on the work of the board and said that 4,000 foreign missionaries were on the payroll. The report dealt with the work being done in Porto Rico, the Philippines and Hawaii and concluded with an appeal to the Wisconsin conference for financial assistance.

This afternoon, addresses were delivered by Rev. J. McCoggins, Atlanta, Ga., and Rev. J. S. Lean, Milwaukee.

AMERICANS MAY HAVE BEEN HURT

Air Raid Over Part of London Where Many Gather.

Washington, Sept. 9.—As late as 3 o'clock this afternoon no dispatches had been received at the state department from Ambassador Page or Consul General Skinner on the Zeppelin raid on London and officials did not know if Americans had been harmed or endangered. As the raid was over a section where many Americans gather there was some apprehension.

HOOVER IS DUE HOME FRIDAY

Many Friends Will Go to Station to Extend Sculler Glad Hand.

While no definite information has been received by the Duluth Boat club officials, it is generally believed by them that Walter Hoover, who represented Duluth in the senior single sculling race at Philadelphia on Labor day, when the Middle States regatta was held, will arrive home tomorrow in company with Coach Jimmy Ten Eyck, Jr.

Dan Mahoney, president of the Duluth Boat club, stated this afternoon that no arrangements had been made for a reception for Hoover, but that many of his friends would probably go to the station to shake hands with him when he steps from the train.

THREE-I LEAGUE MEN VICTORIOUS IN MAJORS

Davenport, Iowa, Sept. 9.—The class of Three I league twirlers was demonstrated in the major league yesterday. Jesse Barnes of Davenport won for the Boston Braves over Brooklyn 4 to 1, allowing five hits; Sheehan of Peoria, pitching for the Athletics, gave the Boston Red Sox seven hits and blanked them 1 to 0; McCabe of Decatur won for the St. Louis Browns over Cleveland 5 to 4, allowing seven hits. All three are youngsters, and all have advanced to the majors within the last two months.

ST. BONIFACE PLAYERS HAVE BACK PAY DUE

St. Boniface, Man., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Players on the St. Boniface club in the Northern league had twenty-one days' back pay coming when the Northern league season closed this week. It is understood, however, that the financial troubles of the club will be adjusted.

Charles Moll, formerly in the Wisconsin league and one-time scout of the Milwaukee club, seems to have lost a considerable sum during the season —his first in the Northern.

The Winnipeg and St. Boniface clubs left yesterday for Regina and Saskatchewan to stage a series of exhibition games previous to the visit of the St. Paul American association team in Winnipeg.

ENGLISH CONTENDER IN SEMI-FINALS

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Emily Gavin of England will meet Miss Ernestine Pearce of Chicago tomorrow in one of the semi-final matches for the women's golf championship of the United States. Mrs. Gavin defeated Eleanor Allen of Boston, 4 and 2, and in the third round today eliminated the only New England contender, by playing good golf all the way.

Miss Ernestine Pearce, former Chicago champion, furnished the upset of the day by winning from Mrs. R. H. Barlow, the Philadelphia expert, 4 and 2. Miss Pearce played in splendid form. At the sixteenth tee Mrs. Barlow pulled her tee shot to the 135-yard green which Miss Pearce pitched perfectly dead, made 3 to the Philadelphian's 4.

The other semi-final match will be between Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, the 17-year-old Southern champion, and Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia. Miss Stirling readily won from Miss Marjorie Edwards of Chicago, 5 and 4. The young Southerner held the fast pace she set at the start of the tournament when she covered the long Onwentsia course in 91, third best qualifying score.

The Vanderbeck-Belfield match was exciting all the way and furnished the best golf of the tournament thus far. Mrs. Vanderbeck went out in 41 and Mrs. Belfield was only two strokes higher. Mrs. Vanderbeck played the bye hole in 4, making her medal score for the 18 holes, 84, women's par and a new women's record for the 6,435-yard course.

Grand Forks Golf.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks Golf club has just concluded the most successful season of tournament play in its history, and during the year it also has succeeded in interesting a greater number of new players than ever before. In the final tournament of the year, play being for the Lovejoy trophy cup, H. D. Paulson was the winner, play being on a handicap basis. Paulson turned in a net score of 77, with Dr. F. P. Fletcher turning in a net score of 78, second.

VIENNA WILL BE CALLED TO ACCOUNT

United States to Take Some Action in the Dumba Incident.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Unless the Austrian government itself takes some step in the case of Dr. Constantin Dumba, its ambassador here, the diplomatic incident growing out of the disclosure of the ambassador's connection with plans for hampering manufacturers of war munitions in the United States, probably will be called to the attention of the Vienna foreign office.

Further developments in the case today awaited receipts of certain documentary evidence which President Wilson and Secretary Lansing are expecting from London.

GERMAN VICTORY IN THE ARGONNE

Capture French Positions Over Front of Two Kilometers.

Berlin, Sept. 9, via London, 5:50 p. m.—An important victory in the Argonne was announced today by the war office. French positions over a front of two kilometers (1¼ miles) and 300 to 500 yards deep were captured.

The war office also announced that in the Zeppelin raids over England on Tuesday and Wednesday nights bombs were dropped on docks and other port establishments in London and vicinity. The German airships returned safely.

SUMMON WITNESSES FOR THE MOHR TRIAL

Providence, R. I., Sept. 9.—The police today began serving summons on witnesses who are to appear before the grand jury Sept. 20 when the evidence against Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany Blair Mohr and the three negroes accused of complicity in the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, will be presented.

William H. Lewis of Cambridge, a former United States assistant attorney general, today visited C. Victor Brown, George W. Healis and Henry Spellman, the negro defendants at Bristol. The attorney said he had been asked by Brown's wife in Boston to talk with the men. Whether he would become their counsel depended on the interview.

DISEASE AMONG DUCKS.

Thousands Reported Dying in North Dakota and Montana.

Helena, Mont. Sept. 9.—Montana duck hunters view with alarm reports from the Milk river country, in the northern part of the state, of a strange disease among wild ducks infesting Lake Bowdoin that is said to be killing the fowl by the thousands. So far as known the disease is not prevalent in other haunts of the water fowl in this state.

The disease is also reported prevalent in North Dakota, in the vicinity of Minot, a local sportsman having received a letter from Minot stating that a party of duck shooters went hunting on Mouse river there, and that thousands of dead birds were found along the shores and out in the water. As is the case at Lake Bowdoin, only the young ducks are affected. The letter says that while dozens of ducks were shot, not a single one was taken home for fear the malady might be communicable.

This fact, and the fact that the disease was noticed among the ducks that annually migrate to the shores of Great Salt Lake last year, has led hunters to believe that the quackers have contracted a disease similar to that which practically annihilated the wild pigeons several years ago, and that within almost a single season.

At Salt Lake and in the marshes of Utah last year, thousands of ducks died of a peculiar malady similar to that which has killed so many on Lake Bowdoin. It is said that the disease affected the ducks that fed on only one side of the lake while those on the other side were free from it.

WAS PREPARED FOR HER.

Chicago Tribune: "Bobby," said his mother, "did you wash your face before your music teacher came, as I told you?"

"Yes," said Bobby.

"And your hands?"

"Yes."

"And your ears?"

"Well, mamma," said Bobby truthfully, "I washed the one that would be next to her."

Dyspeptics easy prey for many fatal diseases

How to Get Rid of Dyspepsia and Be Safe.

If you have dyspepsia your food is only partly digested. Probably you can not eat as much and as many kinds of food as your system really needs. Insufficient quantity and variety of food impairs the action of the stomach, liver and intestines. When these organs are not operating normally the blood becomes impure. When the blood is allowed to remain impure for a considerable time the whole system becomes weakened. This weakening, "run down" condition comes on so gradually that most people don't realize their condition until they are in really dangerous shape. It is this "run down" condition that makes people very susceptible to sudden attacks of typhoid fever, pneumonia, pleurisy, and many other diseases. The old, old maxim about "an ounce of prevention" applies with great force to this subject. It is the simplest matter in the world to prevent or overcome ordinary dyspepsia which is caused by an excess of acid in the stomach. All that is necessary is to neutralize the excess acid. To do this simply take a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia, dissolved in a quarter of a glass of water, after each meal. People trying this simple acid neutralizer for the first time are amazed by the instant relief and the quick restoration of normal appetite and digestion. Be sure to get bisurated magnesia as other forms of magnesia are not suitable. Any druggist can supply you. Boyce Drug store, 331 West Superior street.—Advertisement.

It's Easy Now to Curl Hair to Stay Curled

(National Hairdresser)

To curl the hair to stay curled, nothing equals plain liquid silmerine. If a little be applied to the hair with a clean tooth brush before retiring, the loveliest wavy effect imaginable will be in evidence in the morning, and this will last a long time, regardless of temperature or weather.

This simple method is not to be compared with curling by means of a hot iron because, instead of injuring the hair, it is really beneficial. A few ounces of the liquid, which may be procured at any drug store, will last for months. One can curl the hair in any style desired and the effect will be one of perfect naturalness. The best way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten each of them from root to tip. The hair will be beautifully glossy, yet without the least greasiness or stickiness.—Advertisement.

CIVIC NEEDS IN THE SUBURB

Team Work for Community Recreation.

By EMILY S. JOHNSON.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The larger cities of the country, waking up to the chaotic condition of their reforms and charities, have been having themselves organized and "surveyed." The suburbs go unsurveyed. It is in the suburbs that the charitable societies are seldom coupled together, seldom try for team-work. It is in the suburbs that the ladies' aid society refuses to perform anything but a solo part in the music of the spheres, making its independent, independable contribution to the community, raising money wildly and spending it wildly.

For no ladies' aid society—the term is used generically and not limited to any church organization—has a common standard or a common aim with any other. Trained workers do not have anything to do with spending the funds, for trained workers are not employed. There is no attempt to plan ahead toward improving next year's town. All the money that is not spent for the sectarian uses of one or another congregation is devoted to giving food, medicine, or clothing to the very poor or to nursing the sick. Essentially, this is the old-fashioned woman's way of "doing good."

A Wrong Start.

The truth is that women got started wrong years ago. The trouble began with the Pilgrim Fathers in the cabin of the Mayflower. The day long, while the men looked forward, planned constructively for the future, the women sat together mending up torn garments, knitting up raveled stockings, cutting over old clothes for the children, and saving all the tiny scraps of fabric by making patchwork quilts. And every woman, for a moral certainty, pieced her own material all into her own quilt, minded her own task. Team work in mending Elder Brewster's doublet was unthought of. Cole, Carver and Bradford patches were never pooled to make one quilt! Regular "aid society" work, right at the start of things.

Women have been a very long time learning the principle of co-operation, the multiplied power there is in community of effort. Some of them in this country are learning it now. The labor unions and the suffrage movement are grinding it into them day by day. Certainly, modern industrial life is shaping the long dormant instinct for group-work. Some groups already have a sense of identity, of power, of purpose.

Millions Wasted.

Now, just as in Elder Brewster's day, women's vital activity is the nurture of their own households, the safeguarding of children, the nursing of the sick,—this whether by their own hands directly or by the maintenance of hospitals and nursing societies. In work for children and sick people, women's societies raise and dispense millions of dollars a year in this country. Some other millions, women raise for churches. There are some millions of the total wasted, some worse than wasted. The spending lacks teamwork, and has no plan toward an ultimate end.

I have in mind an industrial suburb with meagre opportunity for recreation. Had $3,000 been spent to provide some wholesome, democratic desirable place of amusement for working boys and girls the town would save amazingly on the court costs and community costs of juvenile crime.

Recently, a group of women in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., published one issue of a daily paper of that city as a women's edition. Women's work in community life was especially to be sought after. But the more one traveled, talked, saw, the more one realized that constructive civic work in the suburbs could not be written about,—because it wasn't there. Instead, one found the omnipresent social patchwork club at work, as it was at work that day in the Mayflower's cabin. There was no disposition to team work. There was nowhere any plan. No society even knew, except by chance gossip, where another ladies' aid was giving financial help to some local case of need.

The suburbs of Wilkes-Barre are typical, I think, of the industrial boroughs of any of the Northern states where foreign labor has come in in where foreign labor has come in in variety to do the community's rough work. These towns are incredibly rich in church buildings, each edifice proper to a sect of its own, or to a part of a sect holding its worship in a foreign tongue. There are too many divisions. Each builds a church too big for it on a mortgage bigger than the congregation, and then makes the paying off of the mortgages its chief contribution to community life. There is an irrational amount of money put into these factional church buildings in the little towns; and once built, they are usually dedicated away from any secular or week-day use of even the working religionists who build them.

Young People and the Churches.

The youthful part of the congregation get no good even of the basement. Games and dancing, basketball, straw-ride parties with a merry supper to come back, a "smoker" debating society for the young men, Boy Scout campfires for the smaller fry, amateur theatricals—these are the things the youngsters of the congregation would like to wring from the mortgage. As a consequence of the premature independence forced upon many children in their early teens by the fact of their working in mills for wages, there is a tremendous pressure for evening amusements in compensation. Girl workers and boy workers cannot settle to the treadmill. Youth and health call even weary feet out of doors after supper. "We got to go somewhere, ain't we?" as one phrased it. "Just setting to home is so dull!"

So the women of the little towns, split up into little groups, are so absorbed in the service of the church mortgage or the church deficit that they forget to plan the lives of their sons and daughters.

In the Wilkes-Barre district, the suburban towns need no one thing so terribly, so dangerously, as amusements. Recreation young people will have, even if they go short of food and fire and sleep to buy it. Especially is there a demand for five-cent and ten-cent amusements for evenings, something as democratic as the moving picture shows, but with more air and more chance for visiting, talk and laughter.

Community Amusements.

Amateur theatricals, singing societies, band concerts, midsummer waterside sports with races, outdoor fairs and markets, even by moonlight—any of these the joint efforts of all the women's aid societies of a suburb could push to lively success. Why should not a civic club, for instance, own the best "nickelet" in a little town, show the best pictures to be had, set a standard of ventilation and cleanliness, and make money on the business?

The most immediate need of all in the district which I use by way of illustration is for good cheap dancing places, not for next year, but for somewhere, but definitely here and now in the suburbs. Every little settlement has at least one undesirable dance hall, if not actually a bad one. Yet denouncing the bad dance hall achieves precisely nothing but the waste of valuable "hot air." There must be competition, competition upward.

If what is true of the Wilkes-Barre district is true of all the industrial towns of the onth today, women's societies the country over have an unparalleled opportunity for constructive work. The amusements of all the little towns waiting to be energized, controlled, made over, multiplied ten-fold! With team work in poor relief, team work in the nursing of the sick—enough, at any rate, to prevent the waste of effort and meddlesome overlapping from which we suffer now—women ought to have a margin of energy left.

To use it in intelligent organizing of public amusements would be a peace time service to the state comparable only to the Red Cross service in time of war.

WHAT A TREE MEANS TO MEN

Henry W. Lauer in the World's Work: Man that is born of woman is, thank heaven, ever under the necessity of attempting to imitate what his brain and heart see to admire in the world about him. Instinctively he turns toward the beautiful, as a flower turns toward the sun; and even as the plant grows under the soft spell of sunlight, so does a man's esthetic nature take to its secret nourishment those subtle spiritual foods that it finds in the visions of other men.

One might well illustrate the development of the art instinct through the single change in, say, a man's attitude toward a tree. To the first settlers trees were enemies, in the way of wresting a living from the soil. They extirpated them, root and branch, as they did the Indian aborigines. Then came the lumberman, or the farmer appreciating that this was the only crop which he could reap without sowing, which meant help in paying off the mortgage with no sweat of his brow; to them, trees became significant only when ripped into lumber, that is, dollars.

Followed the more leisurely country dweller, to whom a 100-year-old oak or elm was a possession, useful for shade, desirable as an ornament, conferring a sort of distinction upon its possessor, so that the rich man who made his country estate over night paid hundreds of dollars to move a single big tree to where it would fit in with the carefully arranged landscape around his new mansion.

And presently, with more leisure, men of imagination, who loved Nature, and her myriad miracles, began to see that a man might study one of these great spreading centenarians all his life and never fail to find fresh beauties of inter-tracing winter limbs against the cold, yellow-green lichens, of the marvel of unfolding red spring buds—for what monarch of all the world had ever a palace comparable to the great oak where hundreds of generations of squirrels and hawks and owls and flickers and scarlet tanagers have lived at home?

And at the apex of the progression comes a poet-artist like the painter, Henry W. Ranger, to whom a Connecticut white oak is at once a thing of marvelous beauty—in its tracery of limbs and twigs, in its spread of concealing, revealing foliage, in its manifold changes of season and atmosphere —and a symbol of slow, enduring strength, an epitome of its native country, an impressive reminder of short-lived man's insignificance in the cosmic order.

This America of ours has passed through a similar cycle on a large scale: first, the pioneer period of fighting, with kings for liberty, with Nature for necessities of life. It has had nearly half a century of tremendous material expansion, with the inevitable refinement and luxury which has always in the past been a large element in calling forth the artist's achievement. It is a good time, while our twentieth century is still young, to take account of stock, to see what we have accomplished in art, and what the promise is for the future.

HIS ONLY GUIDE.

Youth's Companion: The distinguished and well-beloved bishop of a certain Southern state is so absentminded that his family is always apprehensive for his welfare when he is away from them.

Not long ago, while making a journey by rail, the bishop was unable to find his ticket when the conductor asked for it.

"Never mind, bishop," said the conductor, who knew him well, "I'll get it on my second round."

However, when the conductor passed through the car again, the ticket was still missing.

"Oh, well, bishop, it will be all right if you never find it!" the conductor assured him.

"No it won't, my friend," contradicted the bishop. "I've got to find that ticket. I want to know where I'm going."

THE FIRST OFFENDER.

Each of two little Boston girls had a black-and-tan terrier dog, we read in the New York Evening Post Saturday magazine. It was not long before the two dogs fought, and it required the efforts of a man to separate them.

Each little girl was disposed to blame the other's dog for starting the trouble, and one of them said to the other:

"Well, so is your dog!" was the reply. "And this time it snooked first, too!"

A St. Louis physician has discovered that the common electric soldering iron can be used successfully for cauterizing in surgical work. Electric cauteries have been made for surgical use, but they proved expensive and unreliable. However, the electric soldering iron of good quality happens to have just the temperature that is so desirable for cautery work. It destroys tissue, turning it into a white, cooked mass with hardly any charring and no hemorrhage, yet its continuous unvarying heat makes it work rapidly.

tween the upper and nether millstones. All this is to the detriment of the business of the country, and especially to the comfort and happiness of the wage earners dependent on normal business and normal demand for labor.

Are Interdependent.

"We are all in the same boat. The prosperity of one class is dependent on the prosperity of all. This is no reason why we should not repress injustice and punish abuse of power. But it is a reason why we should not indulge in excess.

"We must promptly grant increased rates to the railroads when conditions require it. We must not allow the outrageous injustice to continue by which we inaugurate the real reform of parcels post, and do it at the cost of the railroads by compelling them to carry the enormous increase of traffic for nothing. We should repeal the full crew bills that inpose upon the railroads the burden of employing unnecessary labor. In curing these excesses there is no reason why we should not retain the real progress we have made in dethroning plutocracy."

Mr. Taft said that conditions identical with those affecting the railroads were to be found in all lines of business where large combinations of investment have been made.

Direct Legislation.

"Another most important development in this country has been an attack upon our representative system of government as a cause of the corporate and corrupt control of politics. It was said that the system involved the selection of agents by the people to act for them in executive and legislative work who too often proved faithless and that the only method of carrying on the government safety was to dispense with legislative agents and let the people legislate directly.

"A most formidable wave of public opinion in favor of such a change swept the country and found expression in the iniative and the referendum. After a study of the working of these innovations, I do not hesitate to say that it proves the unwisdom of such changes. If it be true that a people have not information and intelligence to select from their own number competent and honest agents to do their work, they certainly have not the capacity to perform the much more difficult task of passing useful judgment on statutes, frequently difficult to construe or understand. Again, the duty imposed upon the people in legislating by initiative and referendum is so much more burdensome than that imposed by the representative system in selecting agents to do this work that the majority of the voters too frequently refuse to perform their electoral duties.

The Recall.

"The institution of recall deals with the executive and judicial branches of the government. With both its operation is injurious to the public service, though in the case of judges it is much more dangerous.

"If an executive officer is dishonest he can in effect be recalled by impeachment or by criminal trial and conviction, and sentenced to the penitentiary. Under the new system of recall an honest official, before he has time to work out and vindicate his policies, may be ousted by an ambitious rival through misrepresentation in the press and the hasty judgment of the minority of the electorate who go to the polls. Under such a system Lincoln would have been recalled.

"The evil of the recall of judges and judicial decisions is, however, much greater. The tenure of a judge or the right of the individual litigants is to depend on the chance and uncertainty of one popular election. In the nature of the case, the people cannot be advised of the legal arguments pro and con even if they could understand them. Again the power of a reckless press would be enhanced and justice and equity would play little part in the result.

Constitution Attacked.

"The evil tendency of such so-called reform is in the destruction of the sanctity of our Constitution. Under the initiative and referendum, no greater consideration by the people is required in the passage of a constitutional amendment than in that of any temporary and unimportant measure.

"The system of representative government is an institution hammered out in the struggle for liberty by our Anglo-Saxon ancestors for 800 years. The system of written constitutions and an independent judiciary has vindicated itself in the strenuous life of the Republic for 125 years and there is nothing in the actual results of the initiative, referendum and recall that commends them as a substitute.

"What is true with respect to the state is true with respect to the party. Parties are essential to popular government. In no other way practically can the will of all the electorate be interpreted and embodied in affirmative action, legislative and executive.

"The convention system gave rise to abuses. Bosses and machines were able to control the convention, but even under the worst boss and the worst machine the convention was a body with a sense of some responsibility growing out of its desire to nominate a ticket which would win in the election; and therefore while it may have nominated many machine candidates whose selection did not make for the public interest, it frequently nominated men of strength and popularity and high character in order that the ticket might be a vote-getting one.

No Such Responsibility.

"Under the system of the general primary there is no such responsibility. Especially is this true in the selection of the subordinate officers. Circumstances of no real or proper significance in the selection of qualified candidates affect the choice in such cases.

"Nor is it true that the general primary is any less subject to the control of a machine and the boss and a political organization than a convention. Primaries are usually attended by a minority of the party. In other words, the result is much affected by the number who can be aroused to come out to vote, and that depends upon organization. This places in the hands of the politicians who have an organization the means to control.

"The representative system in legislatures and in conventions will work well if the people who ought to vote will turn out, and it will work for the reasons I have stated a great deal better than the initiative and referendum and the general primary. But we should realize under any system the politicians will control, if the people fail in their electoral duties."

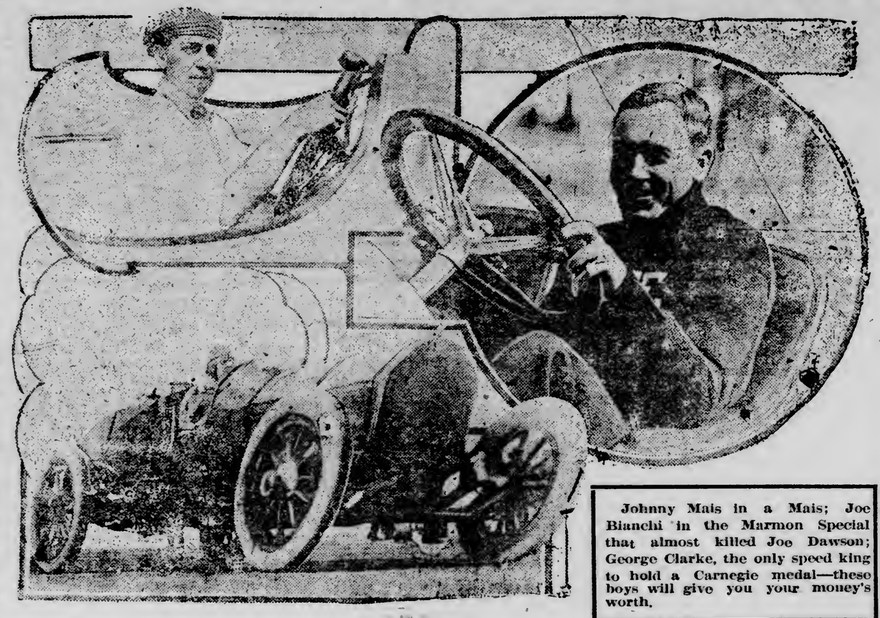

Mr. Taft said trades unions had secured much benefit for their members through the political influence they have exercised; that they are here to stay and will remain powerful factors in the progress of the community. He held that the chief ground for criticizing the recent policy of trades unions is that with the power they have legitimately acquired by combination they are now attempting to place organized labor in a privileged class. He declared that the Clayton act, making legal a secondary boycott, might work great hardship upon employers.

GENERAL 50c ADMISSION

RESERVED 50c SEATS

Thrilling Aeroplane Race Staged at Great Minnesota State Fair Saturday by two greatest Aviators in America —Art Smith and De Lloyd Thompson.

Johnny Mais in a Mais; Joe Bianchi in the Marmon Special that almost killed Joe Dawson; George Clarke, the only speed king to hold a Carnegie medal—these boys will give you your money's worth.

THE TWO GREATEST AIR STARS IN THE WORLD WILL BE SEEN AT THE MINNESOTA STATE FAIR Saturday. These two birdmen have never competed against one another, but they will do it at the Fair Grounds in a wonderful five-mile race over a one-mile course. Five times they will pass the Grandstand. Official records willbe kept of it.

* * *

YOU ALL KNOW WHAT ART SMITH CAN DO. Over 250,000 persons have been enthralled at his wonderful stunts in the air. Smith loops the loop like a real artist. Each afternoon of the week he has written his name in the air with the smoke from the pots on the two wings of his machine, looped the loop again and again DOWN NEAR THE GROUND.

* * *

THE MORE AIRMEN, HOWEVER, THE MERRIER. So the Fair management decided to hire De Lloyd Thompson, the other big star in the world of aerial sport—Thompson, with his "tumble act," his fancy flying, his daring loops, his race in the air with Art Smith.

* * *

WHO IS DE LLOYD THOMPSON?

* * *

EXAMINE THOMPSON'S RECORD. It speaks for itself. In 1914 Thompson was given the Medal of Merit by the Aero Club of America for his feats in the air. He holds the American civilian altitude record, made without an oxygen apparatus to help in the higher strata, a record of 16,000 feet. He was the first living American to loop the loop and fly upside down. Art Smith and he are incomparable.

* * *

WHO IS ART SMITH?

* * *

For months this boy aviator has been astounding hundreds of thousands of visitors with his daring flights at the great Frisco Exposition. His appearonce there for so many weeks the leading entertainment attraction has earned him the title, "King of the Air."

* *

SMITH has TURNED MORE LOOPS IN ONE FLIGHT than any other aviator who ever lived. He has a record of over thirty loops in succession. Nor does he loop the loop like other airmen. His machine looks like a falling leaf when he is executing his famous loops. It wobbles from side to side as though he had lost control of it. The last loop has been made only as far as 300 feet from the ground. Other flyers have been careful to loop the loop only when the machine has been so far up in the air that a person could hardly see it, but Smith performs the feat so near the earth that none can miss it.

* * *

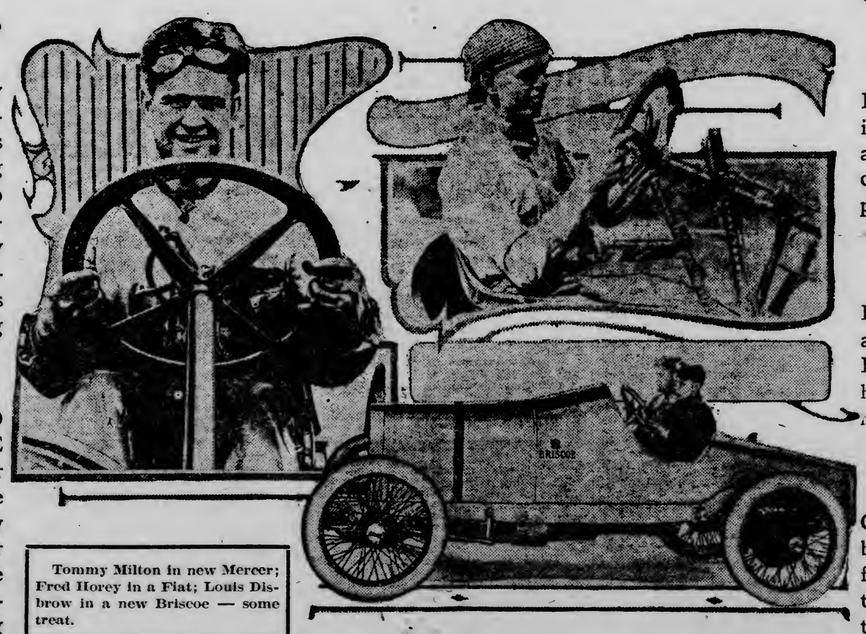

ART SMITH DOES ONE THING THAT NO OTHER AVIATOR HAS EVER ATTEMPTED. HE LOOPS THE LOOP AGAIN AND AGAIN WITH HIS HANDS OFF THE STEERING WHEEL. Others have given exhibiton flights with the hands off the steering wheel, but not WHEN A LOOP WAS BEING MADE. Smith is on contract to loop the loop each day with hands outstretched and off the wheel, nor will he do it so far up in the air that no one can see him.

* * *

A FLIGHT BY NIGHT, HOWEVER, IS SMITH'S STAR ACT. Rising in the darkness like a great night bird, he completely disappears from view. His path through the heavens can be followed only by the puttering of his powerful motor. Then comes a blaze of colored lights, red, green, yellow, in succession. It is Smith. His machine looks like a great comet as it flashes across the sky.

champion woman driver of America, is a five-mile race for blood. This old grudge has got to be settled somewhere. Why not at Hamline? That's what the Fair thought. So here they are.

* * *

WORLD'S RECORDS MUST FALL SATURDAY. Louis Disbrow is coming, and Disbrow holds more world's records than any other driver. He broke one at the 1914 Hamline meet. He may break two Saturday. And those other lads, watch out for them. Eddie Hearne, Bill Endicott, Bianchi, Mais, Le Cocq, Clarke, and the other eight will give you their best.

* * *

THE ONE-HOUR RACE WITH A CHOKED FIELD AND ITS ELIMINATION TRIALS is going to be a hummer. Seventy-five miles of action, and a dozen fast cars to supply the zip and go! It is conceded to be a star sport event of the season in this part of the country.

* * *

HAVE YOU EVER SEEN A RACE WITH FRONT AND REAR TIRE CHANGES made in an auto racing meet? It's booked at Hamline, Saturday. Front tires must be changed at the end of three miles, hind tires changed at end of six miles, and some time made at the end of nine miles to get in on the money.

* * *

ALL CRACK MOTORCYCLISTS IN THE COUNTRY ARE COMING. Fifteen of the best boys from coast to coast are to drive in the two professional events. The amateur race is filled with all the Minnesota Stars. Three, five and ten miles are the distances. Watch those boys go it.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FACULTY HAS NEW MEMBERS

Five New Professors Are Added to Fargo College Faculty.

President Hansel Has Infused Some New Blood Into Institution.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the vacation at Fargo college, President John M. Hansel has been scouring the country for a new faculty and when the local institution opens next Wednesday, Sept. 15, there will be five new faces among the faculty members.

The department of psychology and education will be headed by Dr. Franklin O. Smith, who comes from the University of Utah, where he has been assistant professor of educational psychology for the last three years.

The department of religious education will be organized and headed by Walter E. Bachman, who has had three years' experience teaching in Leander-Clark college. This new department of the college is in no sense a theological seminary as its purpose is to provide regularly accredited courses in religious and moral training and the work will not all be confined to the college class room, the intention of the new faculty member being to conduct this work in communities in North Dakota, Eastern Montana and Western Minnesota as well.

In the department of chemistry and physics there will also be a new head, William T. Pearce, who for the last year has been associated with the chemical department of the University of Chicago.

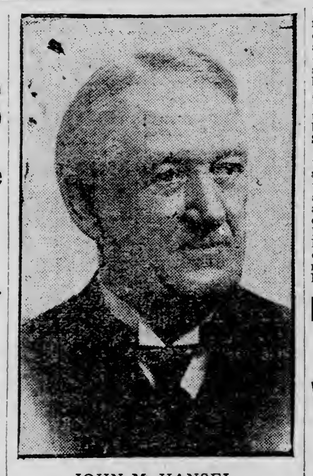

From Michigan "U."

I. D. Benedict of the University of Michigan will be another new member of the corps, having been chosen to head the department of rhetoric and oratory.

The two positions of preceptress and matron of Jones hall have been combined this year and will be filled by Miss Flora Lyon, who comes to the institution from Richmond, Ind.

Other than the department of religious education, which is in reality a reorganization of a similar department that has been in existence some time, there will be no other vital changes in the curriculum of the college this coming school year.

Owing to the excellent crop conditions prevailing all over the Northwest, Fargo college, like all other educational institutions of the state, is expecting a record-breaking enrollment before the opening of the work.

JOHN M. HANSEL,
President of Fargo College.

PLAN RECEPTION FOR MINISTER AT BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Presbyterian church plan a reception for Rev. S. E. F. White, D. D., who returned to the city last week from a three months' vacation, during which time he was present at the commencement exercises of Wooster, University of Wooster, Ohio, and received the honorary degree of doctor of divinity. The reception will be given on account of his return to Bemidji to begin his eleventh year as pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, his tenth year ending last spring. The program which will consist of vocal and instrumental music and readings will be given in the auditorium of the church after which refreshments will be served in the basement. All the affiliated societies of the church will be represented in the program and invitations have been sent to the congregations of the other churches of the city.

HUNTING AROUND LAPORTE.

Reported Good and New Hotel Has Been Opened.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 9.—Another convenience for hunters in this vicinity is now available in the opening of the new Laporte hotel situated in a village in the heart of the hunting district. The hotel was opened last Saturday night and several local people attended.

Laporte is located in one of the best trout fishing districts in Northern Minnesota with creeks that are flowing into Kabekona lake and around Kabekona lake. In that large unsettled hardwood district, there is a great area for pheasant hunting in the early part of the fall, as well as duck hunting along the bays and inlets of the arms of Leech lake, of which Kabekona is a part, and later on these same roads lead to some of the finest deer hunting grounds in Northern Minnesota along the divides of the water sheds between the Leech river basin, the Crowing basin, and the Mississippi, La Salle and Schoolcraft river basins.

The height of land between all of these water-shed centers is within easy access by automobile roads south and west of Laporte and within from one and a half to three hours' ride from any point of it to Bemidji. Good accommodation can now be had for the hunter and tourist at Laporte hotel, Laporte or Pine Cone camp No. 3, at the east end of Kabekona lake, where the river leaves Kabekona and flows into Leech lake.

FOREIGN-BORN ARE HEAVY DEPOSITORS

Way Ahead in Money in Ironwood Postal Savings Bank.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 9.—Depositors born outside the United States hold more than four-fifths of the postal saving deposits here, according to figures on the nationality of postal savings depositors compiled by the department at Washington.

On July 1, there was on deposit at the Ironwood office $147,885, of which the foreign-born owned $116,897 and the American-born $28,988.

Austrians Lead All Others.

The Austrians led all other foreign-born depositors with $29,949 to their credit, and followed the representatives of Great Britain and her colonies with $29,326, the Finns with $14,148, the Italians with $13,055, and the Swedes with $12,620. A dozen other nationalities were represented among the depositors. Eighty-nine depositors have reached the $500 limit and can deposit no more, despite their appeals to do so. Of this number seventy-four are foreign born.

NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

Is Ruling of North Dakota Judge on Mothers' Pension Law.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 9.—The mothers' pension law enacted by the last North Dakota legislature was declared unconstitutional by County Judge J. U. Hemmi in an opinion yesterday following a hearing in his court. The county commissioners and the state's attorney raised the question as to the court's jurisdiction of such cases under the state constitution.

The law allows a maximum of $15 a month to a woman without means of support who has children under 14 years of age.

Judge Hemmi believes the constitutional provisions do not authorize such extraordinary power of acting upon applications for mothers' pensions under the law.

SHORTAGE GROWS LARGER.

More Discrepancies in Rhinelander Treasurer's Accounts.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 9.—Further shortage in the accounts of A. D. Sutton, city treasurer, have been reported to the city council, bringing the total to $12,000.

Bonds of the treasurer for the years 1894 to 1902 are missing. Auditors in making a report stated that in addition to the shortage several thousand dollars had been expended in addition to the $12,000, apparently for personal use, and a further investigation will be needed.

LAKE NEBAGAMON TO ENTERTAIN PRESBYTERY

Lake Nebagamon, Wis., Sept. 9.—A feature of the presbytery to be held here next Tuesday and Wednesday will be the dedication of the remodeled Presbyterian church, which was originally built in 1901, and has been largely built over and a cement basement put in. It is expected at least thirty pastors and elders will be present from Superior, Eau Claire, Ashland, Chippewa Falls, Bayfield, Hudson and Ironwood, Mich.

Rev. Carl Franz, pastor of the local church, anounces the dedication exercises will be on the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Rev. R. S. Donaldson, pastor of the Milwaukee Presbyterian church, will be the principal speaker at the ceremony. Among the other speakers during the presbytery will be Harry W. Jones, well known church architect, on "Modern Problems in Church Architecture."

General discussion during the first session will deal with the war's effect on Christianity.

The Lake Nebagamon church formerly was served by student ministers, many of whom now are pastors in churches in other Wisconsin cities and villages. It is expected that many of these may attend. Rev. J. H. Shelt, now of Bayfield, but predecessor to Rev. Franz, has written that he will attend.

CONFERENCE UNION COMES UP AT RACINE

Wisconsin M. E. Conference Considering Uniting Two State Divisions.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 9.—The election of conference officers having been disposed of late yesterday, the Wisconsin conference of M. E. churches this morning turned its attention to the question of uniting the Eastern and Western Wisconsin state conferences. This matter was expected to come up for a vote some time today.

Secretary, Rev. A. A. Bennett, Weyauwega; assistant secretaries, Rev. Peter F. Stair, Kenosha, and Rev. Edwin M. Oliver, Sharron; statistician, C. W. Heywood, Neenah; treasurer, Rev. F. J. Tyner, Sheboygan.

Rev. Thomas P. Walter of the Minnesota conference, and Rev. I. W. Ellis of the Dakota conference, were accepted into the Wisconsin conference.

Rev. Hardy A. Ingham of the Grand avenue M. E. church, Milwaukee, was given a transfer to the North Minnesota conference.

GUARDED LINCOLN'S BODY.

Wisconsin War Veteran Gets Final Call at Portage.

Portage, Wis., Sept. 9. — Andrew Klaila, who died at his home in Lowville, was born at Nalls, Bavaria, Germany, April 9, 1836. He came to America in April, 1860, enlisted in the Civil war on April 14, 1861, in company C, Thirty-eighth New Jersey volunteer infantry. He received one gunshot wound in the right shoulder and three buckshot in the back at the first battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861. He was taken prisoner and was three months in Libby prison.

Mr. Klaila was one of the guards of honor when President Lincoln's body lay in state at the capitol. He was on duty when Mrs. Surratt, Payne and others were hanged for conspiracy.

He was married in June, 1872, to Miss Mary Gilligan.

NEGAUNEE SUICIDE.

Railroad Man Out of Job Hangs Self in Box Car.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 9.—Despondent, it is believed, over losing his job on a local railroad, Charles Frick, aged 55, hanged himself in a box car, his body being discovered by his landlady on a siding near the boarding house.

Frick, who had lived in Negaunee about thirty years, and who was well known, was melancholy, it is believed, over the future facing him as old age approached. He was without work all last winter and was taken care of at the county poor farm. This summer he procured work as a section hand. Saturday he was laid off. Sunday and yesterday he was morose and apparently discouraged.

DECLINES TO SING.

Says Bartender Hit Him and Now Man Wants $5,100.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 9.—John M. Keyes of Minneapolis stood at the bar in William V. Bauman's saloon on Hennepin avenue a few weeks ago. It was noised among those present that he had a wonderful voice. The bartender suggested that if Keyes would sing he would set up the drinks to the crowd. The drinks consumed, Keyes was asked to fulfill his part.

"I'm in poor voice today; I don't think I shall sing," he said. Whereupon the bartender is alleged to have assaulted and damaged him to the extent of $5,100.

Such is the story told in a suit for damages filed by Keyes in the Hennepin county district court yesterday.

RAINY RIVER FIRES.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 9.—Several forest fires are raging along the Canadian and United States sides of the Rainy river between here and Fort Frances.

A great amount of timber is burning near Stratton, the fire extending as far east as Emmo. Another fire is reported opposite Pinewood, Minn.

BISHOP TROBEC IS HONORED BY CLERGY

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 9.—The ordination of Joseph Trobec into the Catholic priesthood and the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Bishop Joseph Trobec, retired, his uncle, were celebrated yesterday at St. Stephen, Minn.

Among the prelates attending were Rev. John Selliskar, a nephew of Bishop Trobec, from St. Paul seminary, Rev. F. X. Bajec and Rev. Frances Missia of St. Paul.

INDIANS GATHERING WILD RICE CROP

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chippewa Indians on the Couderay reservation are now gathering their winter's supply of wild rice in the swamps, bays of rivers and lakes, drying it and storing for winter use. As all the berries froze this summer, their principal crop is wild rice for this year.

Illegal Hunting Experience.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 9.—Albin Bellstrom, Mark Sleeman and William Mitchell, all of Negaunee, were arrested at Lake Michigamme by Deputy Game Wardens John Mohr and E. D. Mosher on the double charge of hunting without a license and of hunting ducks from a motorboat. The arrests were the first made in Marquette county under the new game laws. The men were arraigned before Judge I. H. Argal in this city. They pleaded guilty. Each was fined $10 and costs for hunting without a license, and $25 and costs for using a motorboat in shooting ducks, a total of $41 each.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—Miss Marion Grace St. John, daughter of H. A. St. John, and Julius E. Johnson of Ironwood were married Tuesday night at the home of the bride's parents at 316 East Hewitt avenue. The Rev. P. T. Amstutz, pastor of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

Negaunee—Miss Leona Hooper, who spent the past month with her mother in Duluth, returned to Ishpeming Tuesday.

Marquette—Walter Humphries, the Marquette prison convict who walked away from the penitentiary farm Monday afternoon, was captured in Negaunee Tuesday by Officers Richard Yelland and John Larson.

Painesdale—The twelfth annual show of the Painesdale Flower club will take place at the Memorial library next Saturday. The show is this year open to both adults and children, and vegetables as well as flowers will be shown.

Bessemer — Farmer-Congressman H. Olin Young of Ishpeming, for many years a stockholder and director of the First National bank of Bessemer, has disposed of his holdings in that institution, and William J. Trevarthen has been chosen a director to succeed him.

Houghton.—The raspberry and blueberry crops this year were among the poorest ever seen in this section of the country.

Dollar Bay.—The remains of Mrs. Josephine Chaput of Dollar Bay were laid at rest in Forest Hill cemetery, Houghton, Sept. 7. Mrs. Chaput died Sunday morning. She was 70 years of age. The funeral was held from St. Francis church.

Hancock.—Executive Officer Paul Ruppe of the Yantic has commissioned Helmar Lundbeck to install a new 2,000-pound radio wireless set on the U. S. S. Yantic, training ship of the Hancock naval reserves. It will have a three kw. transformer and is one of the largest sets in the Upper Peninsula.

Escanaba.—Two carloads of the John M. Smyth company's catalogues have been delivered by parcel post through the surrounding territory. The present shipment of catalogues makes up a total of seven car loads that have been handled through the local postoffice in the last month.

Marquette.—Miss Margaret Jeanson, clerk in a bakery, sustained injuries to her hip Monday when she was struck by Mrs. Ada Mapes' automobile at the fair grounds.

Ishpeming.—The Swanson Furniture company has been awarded the contract to furnish the Michigamme high school, which is in the course of construction, with desks, chairs, office furniture, teachers' desks and chairs and shades.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Dickinson, N. D.—Albert Donker, a Hollander, who had a leg broken in a runaway four years ago, is to enter the local hospital and have his leg rebroken and reset.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Martin Van Buren Walk, aged 76, died Sept. 6 at the family home in Spearfish. Three times he made the long and perilous journey across the plains during the early settlement of the West. For some time he was a government scout and at another time was a professional buffalo hunter.

Streeter, N. D.—Martha, the 3-year-old daughter of Emil Kuch of Streeter, was severely injured when her dress caught in the gears of a washing machine that was driven by a small gasoline engine. The child received a number of severe bruises about the face and head.

Lidgerwood, N. D.—N. B. Matuska of Fairmount severed the artery in one of his wrists while at work near here. He was chopping wood with an ax, holding the material with one hand and using the tool with the other, when the ax glanced and inflicted a terrible wound in his wrist.

Rock Lake, N. D.—Mrs. Nellie Johnson of Rock Lake suffered the fracture of one of her legs when she and her husband and a farmhand, all of whom were eating dinner in the loft of the barn, were precipitated to the ground when the floor gave way.

Fargo, N. D.—Fargo and Moorhead laboring men joined in a monster celebration in Island park Labor day, and the weather was ideal for carrying out the program. A program of sports was given in the morning, followed by a band concert and several addresses in the afternoon. A baseball game in Fargo college stadium between the Moorhead White Sox and Fargo Athletics closed the outdoor events.

Mayville, N. D.—E. D. Lum, formerly editor of the Valley City Times-Record, has consummated a deal whereby he takes over the Mayville Tribune-Farmer. He expects to move here soon.

Fargo, N. D.—The Hebrew congregation elected officers as follows: President, Samuel Poper; vice president, M. Levitz; treasurer, W. Butz; secretary, Paul Salzberger; first trustee, A. Rosenbloom; second trustee, I. Solow;; third trustee, S. Yuster, and fourth trustee, S. Zuckerman.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Grand Rapids—The first accident of the hunting season occurred Tuesday morning when Frank Schaick, a young man of Grant, was shot by a companion while hunting chickens. Jacks, his companion, shot at some chickens and hit Schaick in the arm and breast. He was not seriously injured.

Milwaukee—John Shenners, pioneer resident of Milwaukee and father of M. J. Shenners, president of the Milwaukee Real Estate association, died at the home of his son Tuesday afternoon at the age of 80 years.

Fond du Lac—Robbers, believed to be the same as those who held up stations at Oconomowoc and Beloit, visited Fond du Lac early on Tuesday and held up Night Operator Steeves of the Soo road, obtaining $155.

Oconomowoc—The Rev. John Weyer of New Ulm, Minn., has accepted the call to the pastorate of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Oconomowoc and will take up his duties here the latter part of September.

New Richmond—Directors of the Inter-County Co-operative Packing company of New Richmond completed the organization of the company and elected the following officers: President, T. J. Davis of Clear Lake; vice president, W. H. Casey of New Richmond; secretary, W. T. Doar of New Richmond; treasurer, Carl Cook of Spring Valley; executive committee, the foregoing and Mayor H. M. Traiser of New Richmond.

Oshkosh—Sheriff Williams, Winnebago county, has in custody an epileptic who does not know anything of himself, nor his name, except that he came from West Allis.

Madison—If the plan being considered by the committee in charge of Wisconsin's livestock exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition is adopted, the state will be represented by a "hand-picked" display. It is proposed that first consideration be given to an animal which wins first prize at the state fair.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—J. F. Craig, who has been acting as temporary secretary of the Commercial club since the resignation of W. A. Ross several weeks ago, was elected secretary of the organization at a regular monthly meeting. Plans for a membership campaign were begun.

Brainerd — Ivor Benson and C. E. Hansing returned from the state fair Tuesday, where they arranged the county exhibit, leaving it in charge of County Agent A. J. Gafke and D. C. Henderson. Both spoke of the exhibit in glowing terms.

Little Falls — The prospects are bright for the Morrison County Co-operative Agricultural society's fair, to be held here, Sept. 22 to 25. Indications are for at least as many and probably more exhibits than were entered last year. The late crop will not affect any of the exhibits except corn and possibly vegetables, it is thought.

St. Cloud—The Stearns county Sunday school convention will be held in Paynesville Sept. 23 and 24. All members of Sunday schools should plan on attending at least part of the convention. Local, county and state officers will be in attendance.

Bemidji—Father Philippe left Sunday for Columbus, Ohio, accompanied by Frank Schaulz, who will enter the Josephinium college there. Father Philippe will return to Beraidji the latter part of next week. Father Stahl of the St. Anthony's hospital will take Father Philippe's place here during his absence.

Crookston—H. Olson, while fishing in the Red Lake river near the new dam Monday, caught a catfish that tipped the scales at eighteen pounds. In order to land the big fish Mr. Olson spent nearly an hour's time.

Red Wing—Red Wing's two seminaries, the Lutheran Ladies' seminary and the Red Wing seminary, began their fall terms Tuesday under auspicious conditions.

St. Cloud—With a heavy enrollment that promises to tax the capacity of the institution, the state normal opened its fall term Tuesday morning.

Stillwater — Arrangements are completed for the forty-first annual convention of the St. Croix Valley Old Settlers' association, to be called to order at 1 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 15, at the Sawyer house. A banquet will be served at 2 p. m.

Moorhead—Joseph Wallace and Mike Zimke, who pleaded guilty under the statute and were sentenced Friday, have been taken to Stillwater. Wallace and Zimke were bound over to the grand jury July 28 for grand larceny, having enticed a man into the woods and robbed him.

Faribault—With the stock subscriptions well over $150,000 and subscriptions in sight which will bring the total close to the mark required for the beginning of building operations, it seems assured the new packing company will be ready for business in time for this year's packing.

Barnesville—It is reported that Barnesville business men will make an attempt to have the saloons here close at 6 o'clock instead of 11 o'clock at night in the future. The saloons here have until Nov. 17 to remain open and then will close under the provisions of the county option law.

Moorhead—Herman Wilk, proprietor of the Empire Bottling company, is at home with a broken breast bone, a broken rib and several bad cuts about the head as a result of an automobile accident early Monday night on the west side of the Red river near Hickson, N. D. Mr. Wilk was diving his roadster and was turning from a prairie road down a hill, toward the river. It was dusk and he did not see an approaching threshing engine coming up the hill. His car struck the front of the engine with force enough to throw him against the wheel and the windshield, the glass breaking and cutting his face in several places.

TOWN OF HARRIS FAIR.

Farmers Living Near Grand Rapids to Show Products.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Monday, Sept. 20, the town of Harris people will hold their annual community fair at the town hall, four miles south of Grand Rapids, near the C. K. Mundy place. The object of the fair is primarily to assemble products of the township from which will be gathered the best of the products for the township exhibit at the county fair this month. A small premium will be offered on all the entries, and the farmer winning the largest number of prizes will receive in addition the sum of $1. The judging will be done by W. J. Corwin, agricultural instructor of the schools of District No. 1.

MURPHY IS PROMOTED.

Now District Superintendent of the Canadian Northern.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—M. B. Murphy, formerly division superintendent of the Virginia and Silver Lake divisions of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway, and for the past several years superintendent of the second and third districts of the central division of the Canadian Northern railway, has been promoted to a position as district superintendent with headquarters at Calgary. The employes in all branches of the service honored Mr. Murphy last Saturday at Fort Rouge with the presentation to him of a handsome diamond ring in token of the esteem in which he is held by the employes of the Canadian Northern under him. The presentation was made by W. L. Crooker chief dispatcher and the address was read by J. D. McKinley, general yard agent. Mr. Murphy left Virginia, where he was very popular, about four years ago and has since had his headquarters at Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lamson of Washington street left Wednesday for the state fair.

The Norwegian ladies' aid society are being entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Richter of 501½ McKinley street.

EVELETH MINISTER GETS WYOMING CALL

Rev. Phillip Schwarz Asks to Be Relieved of Range Charge.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Presbyterian church, and it will be acted on by the congregation at a meeting to be held immediately after services on Sunday evening. It is not known what action will be taken on the resignation, but it is possible that the congregation may vote not to accept it.

Rev. Mr. Schwarz has received a call from the Congregational church of Lander, Wyo., where he served during the month of August. Mr. Schwarz was favorably impressed with the western field, and if his resignation here is accepted, will accept the Wyoming call. Mr. Schwarz asked to be released Sept. 30.

Rev. Mr. Schwarz came to Eveleth in April, 1909, and has been pastor of the Presbyterian church for over six years. He has made many friends who will regret to have him leave the city, while wishing him the best of success if he accepts the call from Wyoming.

MOUNTAIN IRON LEVY.

Village Council Decides to Expend the Sum of $70,100.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Sept. 9.—The village council has fixed the tax levy at $70,100.50, which is somewhat below the figure levied last year. Of this amount $20,500 goes to pay for the new village hall, $30,450 will be used in taking up outstanding warrants and $19,100.50 is apportioned to the fund provided for general corporation purposes.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special tto The Herald.)—The funeral of James Herman Clarke, a local confectioner, who died Tuesday in a Bemidji hospital was held this morning from Our Lady of Lourdes church, Rev. Father Powers officiating and interment was in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Clarke is survived by a widow and two sons, Elmer, aged 10; Leslie, 3, and a daughter, Marjorie, 6. He was born in Chippewa Falls, Wis., Aug. 4, 1875.

EVELETHIANS SUBSCRIBE.

Giving Liberally Toward New Curling Club Building.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over $2,200 has been pledged toward a new building for curling, and the Eveleth club is assured of a fine new building for use this season.

A meeting of the club will be held next week to discuss the new building, and steps will be taken then to have work started on it at once.

FEW EVELETHIANS GET LICENSES TO HUNT

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—So few small game licenses have been issued in Eveleth that it is believed that most of the hunters do not understand the provisions of the game laws which requires that all hunters have permits to shoot small game unless confining their activities to their own land. Barely a dozen licenses have been issued.

STATE OFFICIAL IS PLEASED WITH MESABA

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. C. Wiprud of the state auditor's office, and L. E. Moody, stationed at Hibbing in the same department, under F. A. Wildes, were Chisholm visitors Tuesday. Mr. Wiprud is enjoying a vacation and seeing the wonders of the Mesaba range. He is deeply impressed with the immense mining operations carried on here.

LITTLE WOODS WORK DURING NEXT WINTER

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Little preparation is being made by the loggers here and at Cohasset to get out much stuff the coming winter. The close of last season left many of the operators with thousands of ties on their hands, and there seems little prospect at this time that they will be able to dispose of them before the opening of the logging season. This will leave the operators with little money to go ahead and log the coming winter, and will nto give them much courage nor inclination to do so. Much the same conditions might be said to exist in the other lines of timber products.

WILLIAMS' HOME RUN.

Duluth Player Sends Ball Over Virginia Fence.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nine Hibbing Colts strained their backs at Robertus Wright's slants yesterday afternoon and struck out, while the heavy hitters of the visiting club were only able to collect seven scattered singles off his delivery in the opening game of the post-season series between the Ore Diggers and Hibbing at Oliver park yesterday afternoon.

Cyrus Rieger was on the mound for the visitors and was hit steadily. His support was ragged at a critical moment in the fifth frame. In this round the locals made four tallies, enough to win the game with ease.

In the eighth "Chief" Williams of Duluth, who was performing in right field for the Diggers, sent the pill over the leftfield barrier.

Last Hibbing Games.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Baseball fans will see the last exhibition of the season here tomorrow and Saturday afternoons when the Brady Colts and the Virginia Ore Diggers will play. The last game of the season will take place Sunday at Virginia.

ELY LAKE BOULEVARD.

County Board to Be Asked to Make Improvement.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A plan is being agitated for a boulevard along the south shore of Ely lake and a petition to the county board for the road has nearly 100 signers from this city and Gilbert E. C. Romieux of this city has the petition and it will be presented to the board at its next meeting.

The proposed boulevard would begin at the city park on Ely lake and follow the south shore line as far as the high land extends, swinging back in a straight line to the Miller trunk road. The boulevard as outlined would be about five and a half miles long and the scenery cannot be excelled.

BUFFALO BRAKEMAN MAY SURVIVE HURT

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The condition of Mike Radich, age 24, who had his leg amputated Tuesday afternoon following an accident in the Buffalo pit, is reported from the Adams hospital as considerably improved and indications are that the other leg will be saved.

Radich was employed as brakeman and fell between two cars and had one leg run over while the other was badly cut up. He was rushed to the Adams hospital where one limb was amputated. The other, although badly fractured and cut in places, has been saved. Radich lives at 126 Second avenue, Brooklyn addition. While being taken to the hospital he begged some one to shoot him.

CONSUMPTION CLAIMS CHISHOLM STRANGER

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Hnatko, aged 24, died here of the white plague. He was a stranger in Chisholm, having come here the latter part of the week in search of work. He applied at the house on the county road for board and was accepted. He was extremely weak from the ravages of the disease and his death was hastened by exposure and neglect. An effort is being made to raise funds for burial expenses by subscription.

CHISHOLM AUTO AND WAGON IN COLLISION

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — A large automobile owned and driven by Matt Borlin and a delivery wagon of the John Snyder Grocery company were in a collision near the corner of Pine street and Third avenue Wednesday.

The driver of the automobile rig was thrown to the ground escaping with slight injuries. Two boys, who were riding home from school, were at first thought to be injured, but escaped with but a bad scare. The horse was uninjured.

RANGE PROBATE COURT.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—Judge of Probate S. W. Gilpin is holding a session of probate court here today considering the following matters: Appointment of administrator, Santa Fontana, Erick Seppala, August Benson, Gabriel Korpela; proof of will, Enos Rentier, Renier; petition to sell land, Joseph Futo; hearing on claims, Adam Samanka, Thomas York; final account, John Tscholl, Higgupus Wuori, John Hagen, Bruno Bertucci.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

At last the weather deadlock has been broken. For two days Duluth waited, in resignation, for rain that seemed to be threatened by the clouds that hung over the city, but no rain came. Fair weather has again broken over the city and bids fair to continue. Well, see if we care.

Fine weather prevailed a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 5:38 and will set this evening at 6:33, giving twelve hours and fifty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Cooler weather prevails in the Western Lake region, Central and Northwestern states except Montana. Light frost occurred last night over portions of Wyoming, North Dakota and Saskatchewan. Temperatures 90 degs. or higher were the rule Wednesday in most of the Southern states. Showers fell during Wednesday or last night over Canada, the Lake region, Mississippi and Missouri valley states. Heavy rain fell at Kansas City, Mo., and Keokuk, Iowa."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Minnesota—Fair and warmer tonight; Friday partly cloudy.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer Friday.

North and South Dakota—Increasing cloudiness with probably showers Friday and in west portions tonight; warmer tonight.

Montana—Probably showers tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Lower Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Friday, slightly cooler tonight.

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Friday; slightly cooler in east and central portions tonight.

EVELETH JEWS GIVE $500 FOR SUFFERERS

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The call for money to aid Jewish sufferers from the present great European war did not fall on dull ears in this city. At a meeting held at the local synagogue today in connection with the celebration of the Jewish New Year's, the sum of $500 was raised for the fund after N. B. Booth of Virginia and Carl Bublick of Eveleth had spoken, calling attention to the need for aid for the members of the Jewish race in all of the war-stricken countries. There are only twenty-five Jewish families in this city and the amount subscribed is considered a fine testimonial of Jewish liberality in a great crisis.

The synagogue on Jackson and Adams, where the New Year's services are being held has been repaired and redecorated at a cost of over $250 and the services are largely attended.

AURORA ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS LARGER

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora schools opened this week with a greatly increased enrollment over last year. The reports from the teachers in the outlying schools have not yet been received, but it is evident from information at hand that the enrollment will reach 750 for the district.

In the kindergarten department in Aurora there are seventy pupils enrolled and this will doubtless be increased to ninety or 100 within a few days. High school and some of the higher grade pupils are being transported this year from Mesaba, Adriatic and Stevens.

TOWER HATCHERY SITE IS BEING CONSIDERED

Tower, Minn., Sept. 9.—Agent G. C. Carlson of the Iron Range railroad is in St. Paul and will meet with the fish and game commission in the interest of the proposed fish hatchery, for which $2,500 has been appropriated by the state. The site for the building has so far been undecided, and has held back the erection of the hatchery.

CLEARING LAND AROUND COHASSET

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are quite a number of good sized clearings being made west of Cohasset this summer. W. C. Tyndall is putting the finishing touches on a clearing of about fifty acres, having burned the brush off the last twenty acres of the clearing this week. Skally Bros. are just finishing clearing up thirty acres on the old Lyons place adjoining Cohasset. This is one of the farms close to the village of Cohasset, which has lain idle until the present owners got hold of it, and they are turning it into a most productive and pretty spot. Ten miles west of Cohasset, James Skelly is burning the brush, etc., off thirty acres, which he has just had cleared. This will make him between eighty and 100 acres under cultivation when he gets it broken and worked up. Mr. Skelly is also building himself a fine farm house. The building will be 28x36, frame, and when completed will make him a fine home.

Chisholm Child Buried.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 3-three-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Pietrantonio died Tuesday morning of inanition. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Joseph's church, the Rev. Father C. V. Gamcahe of Nashwauk officiating at the services. Interment was made in Calvary cemetery.

Successful Winton Dance.

Winton, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dance given the evening of Labor day at St. Croix hall for Miss Nellie Whitten and Miss Corine Simpson was a success. The hall was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns and sweet peas. Young and old attended. Cards were indulged in from 8 to 10 p. m., after which dancing began and continued until 2 a. m. Refreshments were served in the shape of delicious cake and ice cream. The honor girls departed Tuesday to resume their normal school work the coming term.

JURY DELIBERATES ALL NIGHT ON CASE

Unable to Arrive at Verdict in Eveleth Theft Case.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—After deliberating all night a jury in district court appears to be unable to agree as to the guilt or innocence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Red, both colored, and James Burns, white, tried yesterday on a charge of stealing some goods from Julius Thibault, a Grand avenue, Eveleth, merchant, about a month ago. The jury had not agreed up to noon and if no decision is reached before court adjourns this afternoon the twelve men may be discharged.

Accused Quits Fight.

After the state had rested its case against him, Peter Radakovich of Chisholm, through his attorney, Edward Freeman, agreed to plead guilty to a charge of assault in the second degree. He was accused of knifing a Chisholm friend. He will sentenced later in the week.

James Kane, arrested on a bench warrant for selling liquor to Indians, will be arraigned before Judge Hughes this afternoon. Lawrence Carson, charged with entering Hibbing stores and making a haul, pleaded guilty, but will be sentenced later in the week.

Installing Eveleth Tank.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Construction company has men working on the excavation for the reservoir tank. The outlet has been completed and the excavation is ready for the concrete work for one tank. About thirty-five men are employed. Ed Grip is foreman, and O. B. Nelson of Minneapolis, has been engaged by the city as inspector.

Football Games Sept. 26.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—With either Biwabik or Ely for opponents, the Hibbing football eleven will open the season Sept. 26, according to Manager Saxby. An effort will be made to have this game played here. The first practice of the season will take place either Friday or Saturday.

Chisholm Chief Back.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief George Nitch has returned from Cincinnati, where he attended the international convention of fire chiefs attended by 2,000 chiefs from all parts of the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Taconite People at Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 9.—Mrs. Case Downing and daughter, Catherine, of Taconite, Minn., former residents, arrived in the city Tuesday to spend the winter. Miss Downing will be a student at the Ishpeming high school.

First Eveleth Candidate.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Marra is the first man to announce his candidacy for a city office at the coming fall election. His petition for councilman is being circulated.

HAD TWO POLICIES.

Harrison Accuses Taft of Advocating Opposite Plans.

Manila, Sept. 9.—Francis Burton Harrison, governor general of the Philippines, said in reply to statements on the administration of the Philippines voiced by Former President William H. Taft in a recent address at San Francisco, that he attached no importance to Mr. Taft's statements.

Governor Harrison declared that when Mr. Taft was in the Philippines he was the most prominent among those advocating Philippine independence, but was "the leader of the retentionists" when in America.

LUTHERANS BEGIN BIENNIAL SESSION

Rock Island, Il., Sept. 9.—Four hundred delegates were in attendance when the biennial meeting of the Lutheran church of North America was opened this morning at the First Lutheran church, Moline, the sessions to be alternated between Moline and Rock Island. Dr. T. E. Schmauk, president of the council, in his opening sermon today, condemned the departure from Christian teachings that has made the present war in Europe possible. Even America, he said, has abandoned the altruistic for the material.

MICHIGAN IRON IS IN STRONG DEMAND

Gladstone, Mich., Sept. 9.—Shipments of pig iron from the Kipling furnace are increasing. The Lackawanna loaded this week, and nearly 2,000 tons have been shipped out by rail during August. The increased demand for good-quality iron is benefiting the Michigan trade. The iron is in special demand for engine castings, rolls, etc.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes Every Man and Woman Adopts This Splendid Morning Habit.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice the drinking of phosphated hot water before breakfast, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-checked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons in the bowels which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

MARINE

SEAMEN BILL FIGHT CERTAIN

Will Be Resumed in Congress at the Next Session.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 23-year fight over a seamen's act, which resulted in the passage of the La Follette law during the closing days of the last session of congress, will be reopened this winter. This was made certain when Attorney General Gregory's opinion that the law does not apply to any of the great foreign maritime nations was given out.

The decision does not affect the Great Lakes directly, but it makes the amendment of the law certain, and when the measure is reconsidered in congress it will be subject to change in its provisions affecting the Great Lakes as well as the oceans.

Attorney Edwin H. Duff, who represents several steamship companies in Washington, has submitted drafts of a proposed amended law to a number of steamship companies for approval.

The law was intended to make every ship entering an American port comply with its provisions. In that manner the framers of the act presumed foreign vessels would be put on a plane with American vessels.

Another opinion just made public is to the effect that the seamen's law cannot apply to any of the 163 ships that have been admitted to American registry since the outbreak of the war. These ships have a tonnage of 505,512 tons. This opinion is that no ship admitted to American registry by transfer of the flag is subject to the provisions of the seamen's law for two years.

COLGATE IS SOLD.

Pittsburgh Steamship Company Disposes of Old Whaleback.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The steamer Colgate has been sold by the Pittsburgh Steamship company to out of town parties. Neither the identity of the purchaser nor the price was made public. The negotiations were conducted through a local broker.

The Colgate will remain on the lakes and will continue under American registry. She is 308 feet keel, 38 feet beam and 24 feet deep. She is a steel whaleback of the type produced in the early nineties, having been built in 1892.

Light on Job Again.

The Isle Royale light (unwatched), recently reported not burning, was relighted Sept. 6, according to notices sent out by Edward L. Woodruff, lighthouse inspector.

Wind and Weather on Lakes.

The following were wind and weather conditions on the Great Lakes at 7 o'clock this morning, as reported by the weather bureau:

Portage (Lake Superior) — West, cloudy, 12 miles.

Duluth—West, clear, 18 miles.

Port Arthur—West, partly cloudy, 14 miles.

Sault—West, partly cloudy, 10 miles.

Notice to Masters.

The Lake Carriers' association has issued the following notice to vessel masters:

"Beginning Sept. 10, a temporary white light will be displayed during the construction of an intake crib off Wilson avenue, Chicago. The light will be thirty-five feet above water and 1,970 yards due east of Lake View crib."

"WATCH OUT FOR GOPHERS!" WARNS COACH ZUPPKE

Says Williams' Men Will Be Hardest Team in West to Defeat This Fall—Frank Hinkey Will Head Yale Coaching Staff.

"Watch out for the Gophers!"

That's Bob Zuppke's dope on the conference football campaign soon to open. The little Illini coach, with a championship hanging at his belt and excellent material with which to defend it, believes that Dr. Williams' Northmen will be the hardest nuts in the West to crack this fall.

While Zuppke acknowledges that Wisconsin and Chicago will also prove stiff propositions, he doesn't see where they have a look in as far as ranking with the men from Minneapolis.

"Dr. Williams has almost his entire 1914 eleven to begin with," Zuppke argues. "That includes Solon, and Solon is worth a whole team in himself. While everybody seemed to rank the 1914 Gophers as a green team I couldn't see it. They were all men of much experience. They gave Illinois its hardest game last year. My losses are much heavier than Coach Williams'. He has an eleven almost ready to put in the field next week picked.

"I believe Wisconsin's line will be good and the Badgers' future depends on how the backfield shows. You've got to have the backs—and good backs, fast boys—these days. Coach Stagg may be depended upon to have a capable eleven, although he lost some mighty good men. By the time we meet the Maroons they ought to be a hard proposition for any eleven. Purdue and Ohio may spring some surprises, but after looking it all over as well as one can at this time Minnesota looks the best of the contenders.

"I hope Illinois will be strong. It is idle to suppose, however, that men like Chapman, Armstrong, Graves and Schobinger, not to mention Rue and Wagner, can be replaced instantly. They had learned their football after three long years of work and so must the sophomores on whom we have to depend to fill at least five places on the Illinois varsity."

Zuppke has mapped out the Illini strategies for the fall. The problem of a new fullback to take Schobinger's place in the great backfield combination of 1914 is one of his most acute difficulties. It is necessary to have strong blocking and interference to enable Pogue and Clark to get away for their wonderful runs. Macomber is a past master in the art of clearing a path, but a fullback must be found to work as well.

Hinkey to Coach Yale.

It is now certain that Frank Hinkey will head the coaching staff of the Yale football team for the year 1915. Capt. Alex Wilson of the Yale eleven announced that he had selected his staff to assist Hinkey in the fall. Dr. William Bull will direct the backfield work. Nate Wheeler, Percy Cornish and Brann will be on the resident list. Ted Driscoll and Osborn will assist them and Heffelfinger will come to New Haven for a couple of visits, as will Jack Gleb, Guy Hutchinson and Ned Glass. Capt. Nelson Talbott of last year's team will be here all season as regular line coach, while Marting and Dunbar are expected also. Billy Marting, coach of last season's center men, will coach the Yale freshmen-team this year.

More About Ty Cobb.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb, recognized as the greatest baseball player in the world, recently celebrated the tenth anniversary of his debut as a major league player.

Cobb's path of fame which he blazed for himself has probably never been equaled in the history of baseball. For eight successive seasons he has been champion batsman of the American league. His average for the present season is about .380, and it seems almost a human impossibility for any of his rivals to wrest the crown from him this year. No batter has ever made such a record. On Aug. 26, 1905, a tall, nervous-appearing boy of 19 years, from the Augusta, Ga., club, in a class C league, donned a Detroit uniform and was sent to center field by Manager Bill Armour to replace Dick Cooley. The player was Cobb; Cooley never got his job back.

Cobb became a regular that afternoon and has never felt the sting of being benched. Only once in these ten years has the mighty Cobb been replaced by a pinch hitter. When Cobb was a youngster, "Doc" White of the Chicago club was his nemesis. Catcher Freddie Payne was sent to bat for Cobb against White on the single occasion. In 1906, his first full season, Cobb hit .320. That has since been his low mark.

Cobb has always played right or center field. Only one day during his Detroit career did he perform elsewhere. He acted as volunteer second baseman, and Cobb, as well as Manager Jennings, admitted after the game that the infield did not lose anything when the Georgian's first manager made an outfielder of him.

Evers Never Scrappy.

An Eastern contemporary says that John Evers' complaint about never being scrappy on the ball field and everybody giving him the worst of it is sweetly reminiscent of Nellie, the beautiful cloak model, and the heavy villain. In Act I. the villain tied Nellie on a railroad track in front of an advancing train; in Act. II. he threw her off a precipice; in Act III. he hit her on the head with a club, stabbed her with a stiletto and sank her in the East river. Then, when he met her in Act. IV., he exclaimed, pathetically, "Why do you shun me, Nellie?"

Japs Are Golf Stars.

Four Japanese merchants of New York rank among the best golfers enrolled as members of the North Jersey Country club. They took up the game about a year ago and have shown such wonderful skill at it that they are able right now to give a real battle to the best players among the white members of the club. They are T. Awoki, H. Yoshida, K. Ichinomiye and S. Nomura.

"Golf is a wonderful game," said Nomura. "We are fascinated by it and play it whenever we get a chance. We try always to improve our game by watching the expert Americans play. We never miss a championship contest in this section in which the American stars are contestants."

OLDHAM MAY NOT CURL NEXT WINTER

Hoosier Sportsman Visits Duluth on Way to Canadian Farm.

John M. Oldham was in the city yesterday even though it is yet summer. He came to Duluth from his home in Valparaiso, Ind., to spend a day while on his way to his farms in Alberta province, Canada, where he is going to superintend the threshing of his crop. Mr. Oldham's property in the Canadian West has yielded largely this year, and he disposed of a considerable part of his crop some weeks ago at a much higher price than is now prevailing.

Mr. Oldham gave out the unwelcome news that he will not be in Duluth for the curling season during the coming winter. His friends absolutely refuse to believe it; but he says that such is the case. He will spend the winter in Pennsylvania on a business matter, which requires his attention.

Duluth possesses now and has possessed in the past a plethora of curling enthusiasts who might be called "curling fiends." To carry out the comparison properly, Mr. Oldham would be termed "the arch-fiend of curling." He got the curling habit years ago, when he lived in Duluth, and now, each year, he comes up from his home in Indiana just when curling is ripe and remains until the players have to put sails on their rocks to get them down the ice. Year before last he was head of the games committee and last year was secretary. He was the hardest worker of the club and a great deal of the club's success, it is admitted, was due to his tact and enthusiasm. And he is "some" curler, too.

If he carries out his threat not to appear here during the coming winter, the club will suffer a severe loss.

"I'll probably sneak up here for bonspiel week," he amended his threat, however.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Braves in Second Place.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 9.—By losing two games to Boston here yesterday, Brooklyn went into third place and the Braves took second place in the pennant race. Boston won the first contest easily by hammering Marquard and Appleton hard, the result being 12 to 1. Nehf became ill from the heat in the fifth inning and fell in the box. He was able to walk off the field. Boston took the second 4 to 1. Rucker lasted until the eighth inning in the second game, when he weakened. A fumble by Cutshaw, two hits and a pass netted the Braves three runs. Joseph Barnes made his first start for Boston and held Brooklyn to five hits. Scores:

Phillies Beat Giants.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—Hard hitting gave Philadelphia an easy victory over New York yesterday. In the opening inning, the home team scored five runs on a pass, Paskert's home run, Whitted's triple, doubles by Cravath and Luderus and singles by Niehoff and Chalmers. Schupp took Ritter's place in the fourth and Perritt went to the rubber in the eighth. Chalmers was effective until the ninth, when the visitors made three hits and scored two runs. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Blow-up Loses for Tigers.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Grover Lowdermilk, the latest acquisition to the Detroit pitching staff, went wild in the ninth inning yesterday and met his Waterloo at the hands of the Chicago White Sox, 10 to 9, in the last clash of these two clubs here this season.

"Apparently hopelessly beaten in the first two innings, when Jennings' men drove both Faber and Benz from the mound with a total of eight hits, which produced an eight-run lead, the Chicago club gamely hung on and played an uphill battle, tied the visitors in the "lucky seventh" by driving Boland and Dubuc off the mound, and won out in the ninth when Lowdermilk lost control.

In the ninth inning, Jackson and Fournier walked. Weaver moved both up a base on a sacrifice, and Jackson by a beautiful slide under Stanage, beat Kavanaugh's throw to the plate on John's grounder, Schalk followed with a single to right, and Fournier romped home with the winning run. Score: R. H. E.

Detroit .....4 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—9	11	1

Batteries—Crowell and Lapp; Gregg and Carrigan.

Johnson Shuts Out Yankees.

New York, Sept. 9.—Walter Johnson shut out New York yesterday for the third time this season, Washington winning 1 to 0. Shawkey also pitched well, but the visitors scored a run in the first inning, when Moeller hit a scratch single, stole second, took third on an out, and scored on Milan's sacrifice fly. Friday's game between New York and Washington will be played today as the second one of a double-header. Score: R. H. E.

Batteries—Johnson and Williams; Shawkey and Krueger.

Browns Beat Indians.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 9.—St. Louis defeated Cleveland yesterday 5 to 4, McCabe, a recruit, outpitching Morton, who was driven from the box in five innings. What proved to be the winning run was scored by Howard in the seventh on his triple and Pratt's single. Sisler's clean steal of home while Morton was winding up in the fifth, was a feature. Score: R. Buffalo Wins Double-Header.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The local Federal league season was brought to a close yesterday with the Buffalo team scoring a double victory over Baltimore, 4 to 0 and 5 to 4. Schulz allowed five widely scattered hits in the first game, and beat Johnson in a pitchers' battle. A home run by Hal Chase brought about the second Buffalo victory. With Buffalo two runs behind in the fifth inning, Chase hit into the bleachers, scoring Lord ahead of him. Singles by Enzlo and Allen gave the locals the deciding tally in the eighth. Scores:

Nearly Ties a Record.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 9.—Although Danforth came to within one of equaling the league record by striking out fifteen Minneapolis players in nine innings, he lost 7 to 4. In the ninth inning Derrick muffed two pop flies, Stansbury missed a throw and Midkiff misjudged a fly, letting it go for a three-base hit, giving Minneapolis the winning runs. Corridon lifted a home-run into the left field bleachers, the second time this has been accomplished in the history of Eclipse park.

GOPHER CHINAMAN WINS TRACK MEET

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Fifty Chinese athletes, representing six universities of the Middle West, participated in a track meet at Northwestern university athletic field yesterday. The meet was held in connection with the sixth annual conference of the Middle West section of the Chinese Students' alliance, which is being held in Evanston this week. A trophy for highest individual honors was won by W. H. Pan, University of Minnesota. Pan was all-around Eastern champion of the Eastern Olympic held at Manila.

Stecher Wins Easily.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 9.—Joe Stecher, Nebraska's champion heavyweight wrestler, who recently won from Charles Cutler of Chicago, last night defeated George Guestensen, Canadian heavyweight, in straight falls. Stecher was not compelled to exert himself, winning the first fall in four and a half minutes and the second in three and a half.

ST. PAUL TEAM TO PLAY HERE

Manager Norsted Denies Defeat By Superior Semi-Pros.

With the leaves and flowers awaiting that tint that always comes with the annual visit of our friend Jack Frost and with the moleskin wearers dusting their togs and listening for the football referee's whistle, the amateur baseball players of Duluth and St. Paul are still in the field waiting for the final diamond battle that will determine a state championship.

The West Publishing company team of St. Paul and Parker's Rexals of the same city will meet next Sunday at Lexington park in St. Paul, when the city amateur championship will be decided. The winner of this game will come to Duluth and play the Edison club on Sept. 18 and 19 for the amateur baseball championship of the state.

Edwin Norsted, manager of the Edison team is all rolled up over a statement from Superior that the Superior Box factory team defeated the Edisons 11 to 2 in a recent game. "In this regard I wish to say that the Edisons have never played the Superior team," said Manager Norsted this morning. "Four players from the Edison club did perform with some scrub players who went to Superior on Labor day, but the Edison team was not there.

"We have not played a team outside of Duluth this year, all of our games being confined to local diamonds in various parts of the city. We played thirteen games and won twelve. If the Superior Box factory team, which is a semi-professional crew, desires a game with the regular Edison team, we would be glad to meet him next Sunday at Athletic park in this city, I have no doubt we can defeat them."

CITY CHAMPIONSHIP IN SEMI-FINALS

Singles and Doubles in Tennis Games Finished By Saturday.

Mists and a leaden sky that prevailed over Duluth all yesterday forced the tennis players who are performing in the city championship tournament, now being staged at the Longview club courts, Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street, to postpone play until this morning, when it was resumed with a vim.

Play in the singles is now down to the semi-finals. In the singles Lauren Kennedy will meet Walter Fraker and Walter Kennedy will contest with "Mac" Washburn, while in the doubles Washburn and Dickerman are slated to compete with Walter and Lauren Kennedy.

It is expected that play will be concluded by Saturday, providing the weather remains as favorable as it is today.

WINNIPEG HAS SLIM CHANCE TO BREAK INTO ASSOCIATION

In major league cities little hope for a transfer of the Cleveland American Association baseball franchise to Winnipeg or Omaha is entertained, despite the fact that many favorable reports have been sent out from the cities mentioned.

These reports, of course, are not taken seriously by those familiar with the rules concerning territorial rights, but for the benefit of those not conversant with the national agreement and the rules of the national association it can be explained what a complicated proceeding a change of circuit really is.

The only way in which the American association could secure either Omaha or Winnipeg without the consent of the Western league or Northern league, respectively, would be for one of the major leagues, American or National, to draft a city in the present American association circuit and to install there an American or National league club. Then the class AA league could draft a city from a league of lower classification to fill its vacancy.

The majors are given this right of draft of territory through an article in the national agreement which provides a fixed fee of $2,500 for such draft. The article further provides that the major so drafting shall recompense the club whose territory is taken for its park, lease, and all other property rights.

In the failure to agree upon the terms of compensation provision is made for an arbitration committee of three, to consist of a chairman, a representative of the national association, to which all minor leagues belong, and a representative of the major league club seeking to enter the city, but this representative shall not be connected with the club drafting the territory.

Unless American association territory was so taken, it could not acquire Omaha or Winnipeg without obtaining a series of consents. It would first have to get the consent of the league clubs which were losing a member, and it is unlikely that either the Western league or Northern would consent to give up one of their most attractive cities, although, of course, all things are remotely possible in these war times.

The consent of the American association's clubs, more easily gained, also would be needed, and lastly the sanction of the national commission. All of which goes to show how far from possible the whole affair is.

If an American association city were taken, however, the draft from a lower league would be made in much the same manner that the major leagues may draft, with a price of $2,500 for the drafted territory and compensation for property rights and provision for an arbitration committee in the event of a disagreement over terms.

NEW DOUBLES TENNIS CHAMPIONS MADE IN CLOSE STRUGGLE IN EAST

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 9.—In the most remarkable exhibition of doubles tennis play witnessed in this country in many years, William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin, both of San Francisco, wrested the championship from the three-time holders, Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco and Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles here yesterday afternoon. The scores were 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

For more than two hours the four California stars engaged in a court duel that aroused unbounded enthusiasm among the 7,000 spectators that filled the grandstands and clubhouse galleries. How closely the contest was waged is shown by the fact that the victors won 23 games and 153 points to the losers' 22 games and 154 points.

Johnston and McLoughlin stood out as the individual stars of the match, although both were ably supported by their partners.

In the beginning the team work of the champions was superior to that of the challengers. As the match progressed, however, the veterans were checked in their chosen form of attack, and the younger men, adding speed to each service and stroke, forced their opponents into errors of judgment and stroke, which was the eventual cause of their undoing.

This is clearly shown by a study of the stroke analysis, wherein it is seen that although the winners of the match and title were outaced and outplayed, their opponents were guilty of a sufficient number of nets and outs to more than nullify the advantage in their ability to pick openings. Notwithstanding the fact that Johnston defeated McLoughlin in the singles titular contest Tuesday, the famous Davis cup player showed great improvement in form yesterday, and, considered individually, was the star of the match.

With less ground to cover than was the case in Tuesday's battle, he showed a return of his wonderful net-smashing game and deadly service. Bundy early in the match followed the pace set by McLoughlin and the pair quickly swept into the lead by smooth team work, in which the Los Angeles player repeatedly succeeded in splitting the opposing team with terrific returns through the center of the court.

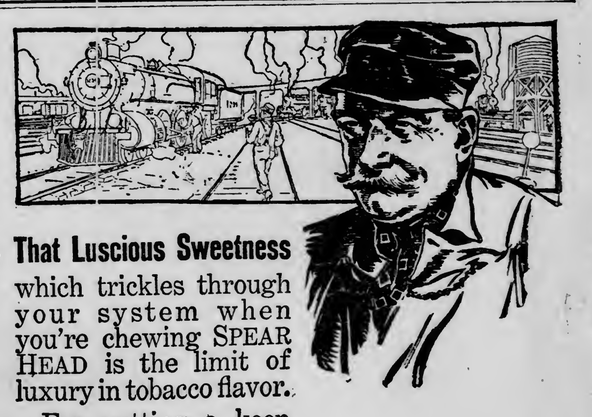

Johnston and Griffin, by increasing their speed, took command of the situation in the third and fourth sets, outgeneraled and outplayed their older opponents, while keeping their errors to a minimum. Following the rest between the third and fourth sets, the champions returned to the court considerably refreshed, and by taking the net at every opportunity, scored in brilliant and prolonged exchanges, in which Bundy's clever lobbing and McLoughlin's deadly smashing and placing, disconcerted the ultimate winners, who appeared unable to find any permanent weakness or opening in the veterans' game and court.

With the opening of the fifth and deciding set, it was a case of touch and go with all four players. First one pair would rush to the net, only to give way a moment later to their opponents, and then all four would charge inside the service lines, where the ball would be hammered back and forth until at last one of the four players was thrown out of position for just the fraction of a second needed to flash the ball through the opening thus made.

Under the stress of this unusual speed and strain, the veterans began to slow up. Johnston was quick to grasp the advantage, and, calling upon Griffin for an extra spurt, the younger pair worked to the fore by some of the cleverest stroking and generalship and took the set and match.

MANY CANDIDATES FOR CENTRAL TEAM

Twenty-Five High School Boys Report for Preliminary Work.

Well pleased when twenty-five brawny Central high school youths appeared at Athletic park yesterday afternoon to report for the first football practice of the season, Coach C. S. Blake predicted a winning team for Duluth.

Simple limbering up exercises were indulged in, and this form of work will continue for two weeks, when positions will be assigned and regular skirmish practice started.

EIGHT SURVIVORS IN GOLF TOURNEY

Two Philadelphia Women Looked on as Dangerous for Title.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Eight survivors of match play in the women's national golf tournament started in the third round of the competition over the links of Onwentsia Country club, Lake Forest, today. The course was slow, because of last night's drenching rain.

The two Philadelphia players, Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, and Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, were regarded as dangerous contenders for the championship as a result of their victories yesterday. Mrs. Barlow was paired with Miss E. Pearce of Chicago and Mrs. Vanderbeck with Mrs. Ernest L. Belfeld, another Chicagoan.

Miss Alexa Stirling, the 17-year-old star of Atlanta, Ga., teed off with Miss Marjorie Edwards of Chicago. Miss Stirling, who holds the Southern championship, has been playing a fast game throughout the tournament and her performance today was watched with unusual interest.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin of Shirley Park, England, the sole remaining British player in the competition, was sent away with Miss Eleanor Allen of Boston.

The weather was threatening when play started.

TAME AT HARTFORD.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 9.—Eight very tame and uninteresting heats in four different classes made up the third day's program of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak park yesterday. The unfinished 2:10 pace from Tuesday drew two starters, the two-heat winners, for the sixth heat, and Russell Boy was an easy winner over Ital Boy.

Single G., the Chamber of Commerce winner, showed his superiority over a field of five starters, taking the lead and holding it all the way in the first two heats, and overcoming Lelia Patchen's slight advantage in the third heat at the half mile and winning in straight heats. The two drives by McConnell of Rastus in the last two heats, were features of the day's racing, his strong finishes bringing in second money.

The 2:04 trot had four starters and Margaret Druien was never in danger of losing, while the 2:24 trot saw only three horses at the start, and in this Geers sent De Roche through just as he pleased.

DIRECTUM WILL TRY TO LOWER RECORD MARK

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 9.—The novelty on today's card in the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak track will be the attempt of Directum I, the world's champion pacer, to lower the track record of 2 minutes flat, made by Star Pointer in 1899. Tommy Murphy will hold the reins over the pacer. The track is in good shape for the trial.

Other events carded are the 2:14 trot, with seventeen eligibles, and the 2:21 trot, with twenty-five paid up entrants, each race for a $2,000 purse. Some close heats in these races were looked for.

FOOTBALL MEN BUSY

St. Louis County Will Have Many Strong Professional Teams.

Cub Lajoy Will Manage Duluth Eleven—Players to Report Soon.

Professional football is being boomed in various cities and towns of St. Louis county this fall, but just what kind of teams will be developed and what will be their horse power cannot be determined at this time, because none of the crews has given out its lineup.

Cub Lajoy has taken over the interests of John Geistman in the Adams football team of this city and has secured the lease on Athletic park for this season. The new owner is busy getting material lined up to report on Sept. 20, when the preliminary work of forming a squad to go into training will start. There seems to be a vast amount of good timber in Duluth and a strong and fast team should be developed. Caulkins, former Central high quarterback, who has since played with some college team, will coach the Duluth team. He has plenty of pep and dash, has a good head and has proven himself to be an excellent general. He should run the team in a most capable manner. As usual the squad will have its headquarters in the West end, where the clubrooms are now being placed in shape for use.

Hibbing fans are all warmed up over the prospect of developing a championship crew. A large squad of candidates has already reported and practice is taking place every evening at the beautiful baseball park in that village. A regular coach is directing the play and the team already looks like possible champions. Hibbing had a good team last fall, but was short on training. The individual players were among the best in the Northwest, but had been gotten together on short notice and did not have time for the long period of work that is required to develop endurance in play.

Nothing From Virginia.

So far no word has been heard from Virginia, and it begins to look as if the range metropolis will not be represented in the football pastime. Doc Lindsay, always a prominent figure in football at the Queen City, has left Virginia and is now making his home in some cyclone-swept Texas town where he allows the gentle hurricane from the gulf to toy with his auburn tresses. "Stocko" Meehan, Dr. Raymond, Frank Cummings, "Bugs" Oglesbie, "Hank" Boyle, Doujon Hayes, "Judge" Eaton, "Bill" McGrew, Toney Macketts, James Reed, "Muck" Levant and several other members of the 1914 Virginia crew are still "at home" and with a little enterprise on the part of some brilliant young man who would like to break into the managerial limelight, these players could be whipped into line and made one of the best teams in the state.

Ely, although one of the smaller towns in this section, always has a pretty fair football team and this year will be no exception. Chisholm did not appear on the gridiron last year, but may have a team this fall. There are a number of "collegers" working around the mines of Ralph O'Neill's town and all of them have had football experience.

A team which all of the Minnesota professional elevens will have to reckon with is now being formed in Superior and will be ready for play when the first whistle blows. There is a heap of material in the Badger town and, it is said, the boys will be given strong financial support by the fans.

NATIONAL RACE IS BECOMING CROWDED

New York, Sept. 9.—The Boston Nationals, last year's world's champions, swung into second place yesterday by the narrow margin of one point over Brooklyn, as the result of their double defeat of the Superbas, while Philadelphia, although winning a game from New York, dropped a few points of its lead over the Braves.

Boston increased its lead over Detroit in the American league race yesterday to two and a half games by dividing a double bill with the Athletics, while Detroit was losing a game to Chicago.

The Braves and Superbas are now less than three games behind the leading Phillies.

Hamline Races Postponed.

REVIEW OF BRITISH TROOPS AT FRONT

Scene on Parade Ground Not Many Miles From Trenches.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

British Headquarters in France, Aug. 20.—Officers who have been through the campaign since its start at Mons a year ago speak of the recent review of the British troops at the front as one of the most compelling scenes they have ever witnessed. The spot was a parade ground not many miles from the trenches. Three battalions of guards made a wall of khaki which melted into the background of sward and hills. At a review in England they would have formed a most brilliant display in their gorgeous parade uniforms—these famous crack regiments officered by sons of the famous families of England. Again and again their ranks had been thinned and refilled. Officers of the old regular army who had come as spectators recognized familiar faces of the survivors among the officers and saw many strange faces who had taken the place of those had fallen.

Visit by "K."

"But the guards are still the guards —Scots or Irish or Grenadiers or Coldstream," said one of the officers. Lord Kitchener and M. Millerand, the French minister of war, who were seeing the British front together, were to review them. It was the second visit to the front paid by "K" as every officer calls him.

Sir John French appeared first, walking across the parade ground to the reviewing station where he welcomed Lord Kitchener and M. Millerand, who arrived in a big limousine. Perhaps there were in all fifty spectators, mostly officers stationed in the neighborhood, of a scene which had a thrill for all that no review in England watched by a big concourse including gaily dressed women ever had. Not a woman was present, not a civilian except the correspondents. A bright sun was shining. Five or six thousand feet overhead a British plane was patrolling the air in a great circle throughout the ceremony.

Bayonets in Gleaming Lines.

As the secretaries of war of England and France faced the guards their bayonets rose at present arms in gleaming rigid lines. Lord Kitchener's khaki made him hardly discernible against the wall of khaki as the party walked the length of the front ranks in formal inspection. M. Millerand in his black suit with short coat and his slouch traveling hat and trousers tucked into a pair of gaiters was a distinct moving black point. When they returned to the reviewing station the band struck up the Marseillaise and while Lord Kitchener and Sir John and the other officers stood at the salute that one civilian figure in this military scene stood uncovered.

Then with the march past the band played the airs associated with the regiment whose companies were going by. One officer at the head of his veterans was conspicuous because he saluted with his left hand. His right sleeve was empty. Guardsmen must be tall; and some of the giants were taller than Lord Kitchener himself. A number of the men in the ranks had fought at Mons and on the Aisne and survived, too, from the first and second battles at Ypres. Others had yet to see a battle. Every rifle, every hand that held a rifle, every foot as it was lifted seemed perfectly in line.

Know How to March.

"The guards still know how to march past though they have been to war for a year," said a staff officer who had been in the guards.

As the last company was going past another kind of music was heard. All the chauffeurs of the party were cranking up their cars. It is well known that "K" wants no time wasted between functions and inspections when he is at the front. A volley of clicks as limousine doors were closed and the two war ministers who are at the head of the armies of France and England were away to other scenes. Naturally they also inspected portions of the new army—which the French peasants and villagers all call the "Keecheenaires."

"I had always heard of 'K' as a grim stern sort of man," said a lieutenant of the new army. "But he was smiling and genial to us—quite different from what we expected. We were a little frightened when we heard he was going to inspect us."

LIBRARY POPULAR DURING AUGUST

Reading is a popular pastime during August according to figures compiled by Miss Frances Earhart in her report for the public library during that period. She says that 1,959 more books were read during August this year than there were last year. The total number of books borrowed during that period this year was 10,556. Of this number 8,107 were read by adults and 2,449 were read by children.

The total number borrowed from the main library, West end, West Duluth branches, and Duluth Heights and Lester Park stations is 15,641. There are now 21,031 library cards in circulation. Persons who failed to return books on time, paid fines amounting to $64.74.

There were 153 books added to the library during the month, and 288 new cards were issued. The total gain for the month over August, 1914, might have been greater but for the fact that the Cobb school station was closed. In August, 1914, this station loaned 175 volumes.

The reading room of the library has been well attended, and the reference department also has been well patronized.

THIEVES IN DULUTH LUCKY DURING AUGUST

Thieves were more successful in August than during any previous month this year, judging from the report of N. U. G. Terry, pawnshop inspector, which shows a recovery of 48 per cent on goods lost or stolen.

Police usually recover from 80 to 90 per cent of property lost or stolen. The value of goods stolen in August is estimated at $3,143.67.

Six burglaries netted $230.86, and there were fifty-six petit larceny cases, twelve grand larceny cases and two of larceny from the person.

"FRAMERS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S.A." NO. 6

John Hancock—"Father of the Revolution"

UPON the Declaration of Independence his name may be read without spectacles. His signature was the first subscribed to the world's most famous State document. In the most realistic sense John Hancock pledged his life and his fortune to the cause of the Revolution. He was one of the richest men in the colonies, holding investments in banks, breweries, stores, hotels, and also owning a fleet of vessels. The seizure of one of these precipitated the Boston massacre. In Revolutionary days and until his death he was a popular idol. When it was proposed to bombard Boston, though it would have resulted in greater personal loss to him than to any other property owner, he begged that no regard be paid to him because of his financial interests. While Hancock did not sign the Constitution of the United States, he used his great influence in its behalf, which awakened the gratitude of Washington. "He was prepossessing in manner, and passionately fond of the elegant pleasures of life, of dancing, music, concerts, routs, assemblies, card parties, rich wines, social dinners and festivities." Until the end of his life the people of Massachusetts delighted to honor him. In the stirring events preceding the Revolution he was one of the most active and influential members of the Sons of Liberty. To this tireless worker for American Independence Liberty was the very breath of life. He would have frowned upon any legislation which would restrict the natural rights of man, and would have voted NO to prohibition enactments. It was upon the tenets of our National Spoken Word that Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago founded their great institution. To-day throughout the length and breadth of the Free Republic their honest brews are famed for quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor. Their brand BUDWEISER has daily grown in popularity until 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

NO PROVISION FOR WOMEN

Board Says Time Is Not Ripe for Work Farm Expansion.

Plan Favored for Later Date; Contract Let for Making Road.

Although county commissioners at their adjourned monthly meeting yesterday afternoon decided to continue the joint county and city work farm as a county institution after Jan. 1, 1916, when the withdrawal of the city of Duluth will take effect, the board members declined to take any action with reference to the establishment of a women's department at the farm.

After some discussion, a clause in the resolution calling for action on the part of the board in the matter of securing a site for use as a women's department was stricken. Commissioners Little, Swanstrom and O'Neil each expressed themselves as favoring the project, but they asserted that the time was not ripe. It was pointed out that the number of female offenders now confined at the jail would not justify the undertaking at this time. The matter was tabled and may be revived at any subsequent meeting of the commissioners.

The 1915 legislature passed a law authorizing the establishment of a women's branch to be erected on a site not contiguous to the present men's work farm and not exceeding forty acres. The law provided that the management of the institution should be under the control of the work farm commission and that both departments should have the same superintendent.

Contracts were awarded by the board yesterday afternoon to W. I. Stevens for the construction of a section of the McGonagle road from the Whiteface river to the southwest corner of section 1, 53-19, on his bid of $1,000, and to Fred L. Mattson for construction work on the West Kelsey road from the Great Northern Railway tracks to the southwest corner of section 1, 54-18 for $346.

Charles E. Adams, attorney for the board, was instructed to communicate with the engineer in charge of Judicial Ditch No. 3, with reference to conditions on the Prairie Lake road since the completion of the project. It has been claimed that large quantities of waste have damaged the highway.

The board yesterday afternoon dissolved school district No. 20, located in townships 51 and 52-12. In the future, the schools will be conducted under the direct supervision of the county board of education and the county superintendent of schools.

NEGRO IDENTIFIED BY WATCH NUMBER

E. J. Poole Will Be Brought Back From Montana.

Because he once sought police aid in locating a lost watch, Edward J. Poole, Beau Brummel among Duluth negroes and formerly a porter at the Kitchi Gammi club, probably will face a charge of assault with intent to kill.

When a negro answering his description was arrested Saturday in Missoula, Mont., the Western police wired for more particulars, which would warrant them in holding the suspect.

Acting upon suggestion of Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, pawnshop inspector, numbers of Poole's watch works and case were wired to Missoula. The negro did not have a watch, but officers found a pawn ticket from a Butte, Mont., shop bearing the identical numbers.

Police Capt. A. G. Fiskett and Detective Herman Toewe left last night for the West and will bring back Poole, after they secure extradition papers. The man under arrest denies all knowledge of the affair and refuses to come without extradition.

Poole shot his wife, Ida, Aug. 21, four bullets entering her body. She still is in a critical condition at St. Luke's hospital.

LABORED TO FIND PERPETUAL MOTION

Song Writer and Sculptor Worked on It Many Years.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Laney, 93 years old, song writer and sculptor, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Welton, a few days ago after having spent seventy years of his life in search of the secret of perpetual motion.

"Father labored untiringly year after year," said Mrs. Welton today. "At times he felt that he was so close to success that he trembled with expectancy."

Mrs. Welton and other close relatives added that in the last few years of his life Mr. Laney destroyed many charts and mechanical contrivances that represented years of intensified mental labor that burned at white heat.

Sat for Years Over Study.

"From dusk in the evening until the morning sun streamed through the windows father sat for years over his study," Mrs. Welton said. "A little stone ball that traveled about a groove in a board held father's attention for months. So successfully did the contrivance operate that he felt the arm of success closing about him. Then the little ball began losing its momentum and finally came to a stop. He destroyed the chains and weights and other paraphernalia and began at the first again."

Sure It Will Be Found.

"Perpetual motion," Mr. Laney said shortly before he died, "will yet be found. There can be no doubt of it, when it is found the world will be astounded, not alone by the stupendous changes that it will bring in all industrial life, but by the simplicity of it. Millions will wonder why no one ever thought of it before."

"I am an old man," he continued. "I saw the coming of the railroads, the telegraph, the automobile and the more wonderful things of later years. Back in 1850 I predicted that the world would one day see the horseless wagon and it came. Perpetual motion is no more wonderful than these things. When the one simple little elusive link is found the simplicity of perpetual motion will be amazing."

Mr. Laney, who was born in Scotland, declined offers of several well known inventors who wished to join him in his work.

RECORD LIST OF MUNICIPAL CASES

Calendar Combines Actions for Two Months; Seventy Trials Scheduled.

Municipal Judge W. L. Windom today will begin work on what is probably the largest civil calendar ever prepared in Duluth's municipal court.

No civil cases are tried during August, as court activities are confined to the criminal "quist" and the September civil list is always a long one.

When court convened yesterday a small army of attorneys appeared before Judge Windom to assist in arranging the calendar, and, although a large number of cases were stricken or continued, about seventy remain to be considered.

The list of jury cases, as announced by Clerk of Court J. G. Ross, includes: Herbert C. Lewis vs. Arthur Miller; Paul Cohn vs. George Harris et al; William Kraus vs. H. F. Agnew et al; Max Snider vs. Joe Popkin; August Niemann vs. Joseph Jaglowsky; H. M. Lawrence vs. Charles W. Eden et al; Louise L. Frye vs. Barbara Craven; Thomas J. Brown vs. Hugh Bell; P. J. Bowling & Son vs. B. B. Madden; David Topiltzke vs. Max R. Mann; Peter Myanovich vs. Northern Pacific Railway company; Latana Myanovich vs. Northern Pacific Railway company; Louise Plisson vs. A. In addition to this there are a large number of court cases.

MARKET HAS GOOD UPTURN

Wheat Advances on Light Receipts and Sharp Millers' Demand.

Lower Cables Lead to Moderate Declines in Flaxseed Prices.

September wheat closed ¾c up; December ⅝c up, and May ½@⅝c up. September durum closed ⅛c up, October ⅛c off and December ⅛c up.

Oats closed ⅛c up at 32⅞c for on the track; rye unchanged at 89c for on the track, and barley 1c up at from 45c to 54c.

There was too much enthusiasm shown on the bear side around the opening of the wheat market this morning. To begin with quotations went off 1¼c on the score of the bearish government crop report. Millers and operators generally then got busy and on good buying quotations were advanced to over yesterday's close. The impetus for the upturn was furnished in light receipts on all the markets, and the reported inclination on the part of growers to hold back rather than allow grain to go at around present prices. Under these circumstances many operators became anxious as to their ability to obtain sufficient grain to cover outstanding September contracts, and they went out for everything offering.

On the other hand, it is known that considerable grain has been bought to arrive and is en route this way. Heavy receipts are consequently predicted for early next week. Call for cash wheat was especially in evidence at Chicago today, and with shippers and elevators in the market, premiums were advanced 1c. Offerings were limited. An interesting development reported down there, is that spring wheat is being substituted for winter to a considerable extent by operators who are finding themselves unable to pick up grain from the Southwest in sufficient volumes to fill sales made at the seaboard. If threshing in the Southwest is any longer delayed, it is predicted that buying will become quite a factor in the spring wheat trade and lead to a firming up in its market.

Demand for durum became fairly brisk shortly after the opening and specialists in it are predicting that a good export trade will be put through in the near future.

September wheat closed ½c off at 90½c, eased off ¾c more and then moved up around the noon-hour to 91¼c, or fractionally above yesterday's close. December opened ⅜c off at 89½c, sold down to 89c, and then bulged 1¼c. May opened ¼@⅜c off at 94⅝c and held at around that basis.

September durum opened ⅜c off at 94½c, and later firmed up ½c. October opened ¼c off at 93c, weakened 1c and then advanced to the same extent. December opened ½c off at 90½c and braced up ¼c.

Flax Turns Weak.

Flaxseed opened firm and scored fractional advances on light offerings and some scattering demand from crushers. Its market weakened later in sympathy with lower cables and the development of some selling pressure.

September flax opened ½c up at $1.63½ and closed ½c off at $1.62½ asked. October opened ¼c up at $1.63½ and closed ⅜c off at $1.62½ bid. November opened unchanged at $1.64 and closed ¼c off at $1.62¾ bid. December opened unchanged at $1.63 and closed ¾c off at $1.62¼ bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed ⅜c off at $1.41¼ bid and December ⅛c off at $1.42¼ asked.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to Investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Demand for cash wheat was good on the Duluth market. Millers were willing to absorb everything offering on the tables and there was a call by operators to fill September contracts. No. 1 northern on the track and to arrive Sept. 15 sold at 2c over September.

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Government report was bearish but strength in Winnipeg and America offset this influence, and offers were light with arrivals small. Spot market was steady, unchanged, and the cargo market was firm. Winters were unchanged, Manitobas 3d higher, Plates unchanged and Indians 6d higher and offering nothing. United Kingdom weather was more favorable, but native arrivals are being absorbed quickly at slightly advanced prices. Improved demand came for springs and the continent is taking quietly of imported wheat.

"Corn—Larger Argentine shipments than expected caused pressure, though trading was dull. Cargoes were 3d lower and the spot market unchanged."

* * *

Broomhall says: "The American government report confirms a large yield, and good weather in Canada further assures a very large crop. Other importers except Great Britain will be dependent on the United States, and it is confidently believed that purchases will continue on a moderate scale, for the present, and later assume proportions. Australia indicates a large crop of perhaps 132,00,000 bu. Still, much difficulty will attend shipping it, as Canada will be a competitor."

* * *

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Chicago: "I feel that if we assume a maximum loss of 200,000,000 bu, we may still be in a bearish position on wheat. I am firmly convinced that the Dardanelles will be open before Nov. 1 which will supply European buying countries with wheat enough to last them until some time next year. Our premiums for cash wheat cannot last a great while longer. The fact that we have the premiums for winter wheat disproves to a certain extent that the loss is as severe for milling purposes as some people think."

* * *

At Minneapolis there was a good cash demand. One northern bluestem sold at 5c to 7½c over September and velvet chaff at 2c to 2½c over September.

Fair volume of flour sales were reported. Cash one northern wheat sold there at from 89⅞c to 95⅜c.

* * *

Foreign crop summary:

India—Weather continues dry and hot and seeding is delayed.

Northern France—It is estimated by some that wheat crop will be 20,000,000 bu over last year.

France—Wet weather has delayed native arrivals.

Italy—Crop outlook is unfavorable.

Hungary—Yield will be small.

Russia—Yield will be disappointing.

Argentina—Drought has seriously affected the acreage and crop prospects very disappointing.

Bartlett Frazier company had the following from New York: "Overnight acceptances for wheat were reported light with early demand today limited. Sentiment was a little better in some quarters due to the nominal advance of 1½c in foreign exchange. There was a fair inquiry for oats, but it is understood that a part of this is being diverted to Canadian oats."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Selling, Induced By Bearish Nature of Crop Report, Drops Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Wheat went down in price today as a result of selling induced by the bearish nature of the government crop report. Wet weather, however, tended to make the September option relatively firm. The opening which ranged from 1⅛@1¼c lower to ⅛c advance, with September at 93⅞c to 94c and December 90¼c to 90¾c, was followed by a slight rally and then a fresh decline.

Subsequently the market favored the bulls owing to evidence of a more urgent cash demand from millers and shippers and because of a rise in foreign exchange. The close was unsettled at ¾@⅞ to 1¼c net advance, with September at 95⅛c and December at 92@92⅛c.

Corn sagged with wheat and in consequence of the bearish crop figures from Washington. After opening ¼c off to ¾c up, the market scored something of an upturn but later suffered a moderate setback all round.

Storm damage advices from Illinois and Iowa resulted afterward in a substantial bulge in prices. The close was steady at ½@⅝ to 1¼c above last night.

Oats acted in unison with corn.

Stop-loss selling carried provisions lower.

ADVANCES ARE SENSATIONAL

War Shares Gain Rapidly and Some Specialties Make New High Records.

Coppers and Eastern Railways Rise Materially Near the Close.

New York, Sept. 9.—Further sensational advances in war specialties overshadowed all other operations in today's early market. Bethlehem Steel opened 3 points up to 302, rising gradually to 310, to which it immediately added another 5 points, exceeding its previous high record by 4 points. The preferred opened at 150, a gain of 9½. Crucible Steel showed an overnight gain of 1¾ at 89, soon advancing to 90¼. Other issues in this group rose 1 to 3 points. United States Steel made an initial gain of a fraction, later rising to 76 a full point. Among railways, Reading, Canadian Pacific and Erie first preferred rose a point each, while Morris and Essex, a Lackawanna subsidiary declined from 176¾, its last previous quotation to 168.

General Motors was added to the strong war specialties today advancing 10 points, a new record of 265, while Airbrake at 150 and Studebaker at 117½ rose 3 and 4, respectively. Inquiry for United States Steel preferred at a gain of 1¼ to 114⅛, its highest quotation since 1912, was ascribed to investment demand. Profit-taking caused some recessions in war shares, Bethlehem Steel losing 6 points but suddenly recovering just before noon and advancing to 329, an over-night gain of 21 points. Grangers and Pacific were bought on the crop outlook and New Haven's pronounced strength was attributed to favorable earnings. Bonds were firm.

Railroads were in further demand after midday, greatest strength being shown by the northwestern group. Rock Island was the heavy feature of that division. Continued improvement was made by specialties, Bethlehem Steel extending its gain to 325.

New high records in some of the war specialties and moderate strength in investment issues featured today's dealings.

Inactive specialties, coppers, and some of the eastern railways rose materially in the final trading. The closing was strong.

NEEDED THE OTHER, TOO.

Public Ledger: A lawyer having offices in a large building recently lost a cuff link, one of a pair that he greatly prized. Being absolutely certain that he had dropped the link somewhere in the building, he posted this notice:

That afternoon, on passing the door whereon this notice was posted, imagine the feelings of the lawyer, who observed appended thereto these lines:

"The finder of the missing cuff link would deem it a great favor if the owner would kindly lose the other link."

CARRIER SERVICE FOR SUBURBS

Deliveries Will Be Made When Car Line Is Extended.

The branch postal station at Morgan Park which Postmaster W. E. McEwen has applied for to the postal authorities at Washington will only be a temporary arrangement, according to a statement given out by the postmaster today. Ultimately it is intended to establish carrier service which will take care of the entire western suburb.

A daily average of 150 letters and about 200 newspapers and parcels is being received at the New Duluth post office. With more than 300 families at Morgan Park by Oct. 15, other arrangements, such as the postal station, will be needed.

With the extension of the street railway line to Morgan Park it is probable that a carrier service with deliveries twice a day will be established, according to Postmaster McEwen. This delivery can be made just as easily from West Duluth postoffice as the present delivery of mail is made to Lakeside from the Central postoffice, according to the opinion of the postmaster. With such a delivery system in operation, delays in the delivery of mail, which is now felt by the residents, will be obviated

EVERYTHING READY FOR LINE EXTENSION

Specially Made Switches Will Be Used in Making Improvements.

Specially made switches, which will be required by the Duluth Street Railway company in extending its line west of Seventy-first avenue to Morgan Park, are ordered and expected to arrive about the last of this month, according to officials of the company. These switches will enable the company to leave its present loop for turning the cars around at Seventy-first avenue. They will cost about $1,000 each.

With the arrival of these switches the company will, according to expectation of officials, have all the material on hand necessary for the construction of the line. Work will begin then as soon as the road, on which contractors now are working, has settled sufficiently to allow the laying of the rails.

The tracks will be doubled from Sixty-second avenue west to Seventy-first avenue. The track is now double to the former point. A single line will accommodate the cars this winter west of Seventy-first avenue with probably two switches located between that point and Ninety-third and Zimmerly avenue. The track will be doubled from that point to the terminal at Morgan Park.

With the street construction crew well out of the way, officials say that the line can be constructed in about six weeks.

ARE EAGER FOR JITNEY SERVICE

Morgan Park Residents Say Rich Field Is Open.

"Wanted—Jitney drivers to operate between Seventy-first avenue west and Morgan Park. Lucrative returns promised."

Such an advertisement as the above was what a resident of Morgan Park wanted inserted in order to attract better transportation service to the western suburb.

"We have nothing but a poor train service to depend upon," said the woman at the telephone. "The street car service will not be established for some months yet and we have no way of getting in or out of this place.

"There are 600 people now in the park. Fully 100 families are now located here in the company's houses and with the roomers that the families accommodate the number will easily reach 600.

"The people here are willing to pay 15 cents between Morgan Park and Seventy-first avenue if we can get the service. There are now plenty of jitneys operating between Seventy-first avenue and New Duluth, but none of these will stop here."

A number of students attending high school at West Duluth, as well as the normal number of women who wish to do shopping uptown are interested in having a bus service established between the suburb and West Duluth.

ARRESTED FOR TRESPASS.

Railroad Trying to Prevent Workmen Walking in Dangerous Places.

Joseph Kmcicich, 50, was arrested last evening on a charge of trespass on the property of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad at Twenty-ninth avenue west. Kmcicich was walking through the company's yards on his way home from work at the limestone dock. In police court this morning he drew a suspended sentence and was placed on parole for a year.

Goodman Solem, another employe of the company, was arrested the evening before on the same charge. He also drew a suspended sentence.

The company has warned employes from walking through a certain section of the yards which is considered exceptionally dangerous and, according to Supt. J. W. Kreitter, has provided a special crossing for them to use. Many of the men in their hurry to get home are said to have been cutting across the tracks at almost any place and are said to be in constant danger of being run down by trains.

The arrests were made by Special Officers Ness and Wahlstrom.

AFTER SCALP OF THE DULUTH HEIGHTS TEAM

Tine Zenith Furnace baseball team is out in earnest looking for the scalp of the Duluth Heights team. A challenge to play a game for a side bet of $50 is issued, according to members of the West Duluth aggregation.

The locals feel somewhat peeved at the reports given of a game with the Duluth Heights team last Sunday. The locals claim to have won the game by a one-sided score, but blame the Duluth Heighters for published reports appearing Monday which credited the game to the Heights team.

"We can trim them any time and are willing to post $50 as a side bet on the game," said Richard F. Wade this morning. "We are willing to lay them next Sunday at any place they mention."

WEST DULUTH YEOMEN VISIT SUPERIOR

A delegation of twenty members of Non-Excelled homestead, No. 4276, B. A. Y. of West Duluth, attended a social session of Garlund homtstead of Superior last evening. Dancing followed a banquet spread by the Superior members. The delegation left following a business meeting of the West Duluth homestead.

At the business meeting it was decided to entertain socially following the meeting of the lodge on Sept. 22. The committee in charge of the entertainment consists of Miss Anna Duggan, Mrs. Fred Brassard, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. Ella Fortier and Mrs. A. Renaud.

Plans for a Children's festival to be held Oct 27 will be made at the next meeting of the homestead

Grytdahl Funeral.

The funeral services for Miss Anna Grytdahl, aged 19, who died at Nopeming sanatorium Tuesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Olson's undertaking rooms and at 2 o'clock from the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Rev. J. M. Nervig will officiate. Interment will be in Park Hill cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mrs. Hans A. Lunding, 5815 West Grand avenue, who has been spending a month visiting relatives in the Twin Cities, Iowa and Wisconsin, returned home yesterday.

Miss Rosella Habert, 107 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, has returned from Lake Nebagamon, where she has been spending the summer with relatives.

Arvid Johnson, one of four offenders brought in from New Duluth this morning, was sentenced to twenty days at the workfarm for being drunk. The others were given suspended sentences.

Mrs. M. J. Doyle and children, 1127 North Central avenue, have returned from Crosby, Minn., where they have been spending several days visiting relatives.

Miss Lydia K. Johnson has returned from a visit to her former home at Ogdensburg, N. Y., where she has been spending a month.

PIKE AFTER ITS PLACE IN THE SUN

New Athletic Association Issues Challenge to World for Race or Ball Game.

Pike Athletic association of the town of Pike, this county, has entered the arena and challenges all comers to all kinds of sports.

Its challenge is a standing one, having been drafted in its articles of incorporation which were filed yesterday afternoon with the register of deeds.

The aim of the association as set forth in the articles on file is "to give an opportunity to practice exercising and all other sports."

To this is added: "Whenever opportunity offers, this association is willing to race any other such athletic association or play ball with them."

The membership fee is 25 cents, but if any one is expelled and wants to get in again it will cost him 50 cents.

One of the rules prescribed in the articles of incorporation is that "all kinds of gambling, quarreling and intoxicants are positively prohibited in the district which is possessed by the association."

Leander Lundstrom is president; Charles Myntti, secretary; and Toivo Matts, treasurer. The directors are John Jacobson, August Matts, Jacob Finni and Arvid Hill.

The articles also provide that if the membership drops to five, "they are bound to choose a guardian from the members or public."

SANDBARS NOW OBSTRUCT COURSE

Old Pilot Tells of Former Conditions on Rainy River.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—That when the water of the Lake of the Woods was at its natural level, four feet below the present level, boats could pass freely from the lake into Rainy river, was brought out in the testimony of Capt. Alonzo Wheeler, lake pilot since 1883, at the hearing before the international joint commission. Now the passage is obstructed by sandbars caused by lack of current in the river, allowing soil carried from the river to settle in the channel.

Testimony by numerous farmers shows that since the dams at Kenora were established the shore line has been pushed more than a quarter of a mile over the land, destroying thousands of acres of agricultural land and partly spoiling much more. The sewer system of the village of Warroad has been put below the lake level by the raise and now has to be operated with pumps. The average value of land on the lake shore, based on wheat it produces, has been set at $100 per acre.

MOTHER OF SEVEN SEEKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Carrie Mason, 32, mother of seven, today filed suit for divorce in district court against Edward Mason, 37, on the grounds of cruel and inhumane treatment. They were married Nov. 18, 1898 at Spencer, Wis. Mrs. Mason alleges that her husband has beaten and choked her and that on many occasions he has addressed vile epithets to her and has accused her of infidelity. Mason is now a resident of Park Falls, Wis. She asks for an absolute divorce and the custody of the children, who range in age from 14 to 3.

INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

Duluth Schools Expected to Have 13,000 Pupils Within Few Weeks.

Total May Reach the 14,000 Mark Before Thanksgiving Day.

That there will be a substantial increase in the number of children attending Duluth schools this year over that of 1914 is shown by the first day's registration records in the office of Secretary Bronson of the board of education.

In the thirty-six public schools which are now open there are 12,496 pupils in attendance. The Lincoln grade school and the Lincoln junior high, both of which are located in the West end, will soon open and these should add several hundred more students to the list, bringing the total up to about 13,000. The opening attendance of 1914 was 13,634.

Last year there were forty-two schools in Duluth, but at a recent meeting of the board of education it was decided to close the schools at Bayview Heights and at Cobbyville for the reason that the attendance was not of sufficient importance to warrant keeping them open. One other suburban school, the Kruger, was also ordered closed for the same reason.

The new school at New Duluth opened this year with that district showing a decided increase in the number of students.

With this showing during the opening week of school the teachers believe that the enrollment will reach close to the 14,000 mark before Thanksgiving, as many pupils do not register during the first few weeks.

EARLY CROWD AT THE STATE FAIR

Cool Weather Makes Perfect Day for Attendance at Big Show.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cool weather and grounds made perfect by showers resulted in an early crowd at the state fair today and the management looked for a big Thursday. The last three days of the fair have always been considered good from an attendance standpoint.

The management believes that the heat of the first two days and the rain of yesterday kept many away from the grounds, but these are looked for today and tomorrow.

Today is Territorial Pioneers' and Old Soldiers' day, and in addition to special exercises in the pioneers' building, several other programs were prepared.

HAD NO LICENSE.

Costs East Grand Forks Man $17.20 to Learn He Must Have One.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 9.—Game Warden William Munch of this city caused the arrest of Ed Bray of East Grand Forks on the charge of hunting without a license. He was taken before Judge Rasmusson there Tuesday and he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $10 and costs, amounting in all to $17.20.

Bray is the first man to be arrested in Northern Minnesota since the season opened. According to Mr. Munch, he was not aware of the fact that every hunter is required to have a hunting license this year whether he is hunting in the county where he resides or not.

FORESTER PETERSON BURIED AT BIG FALLS

Big Falls, Minn., Sept. 9.—The Methodist church here was crowded Sunday when the funeral of C. A. Peterson, one of the well known members of the Minnesota forest service, was held.

Rev. Mr. Belsaas officiated and interment was made here. State Forester Cox and several forest patrolmen were present.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

STEEL PLANT FARMS.

TWENTY ACRES AND INDEPENDENCE—When you buy at the Steel Plant, don't buy a measly 25-foot lot for which you pay $500 to $1,500. Buy 20 acres that you can plat and sell in 25-foot lots. We have eight tracts left—every one a beauty—just six miles south of the new $25,000,000 Steel Plant. These are the best farming tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless, and most of it can be cleared for $5 to $10 an acre. Every tract faces on an excellent road and is in direct touch with the mammoth new steel plant.

THE STEEL PLANT RUNS IN NOVEMBER—Consider the speculation attached to these tracts. Consider the market you have for your products. But consider this—The time is surely coming when these tracts, which we offer to you now at from $20 to $32.50 an acre on easy terms, will sell for ten times this amount. Let us show you these tracts at once—18 of them have been sold in the last three weeks. See us now.

160 ACRES OR 320.

HERE IS AN EXCELLENT 320-ACRE TRACT of fine land, especially suitable for stock or dairy farm; good stream crosses property; 20 to 30 tons of red top growing wild is cut yearly off small corner; tons and tons going to waste every season. Part of land is timbered and part is open meadow; land is easily cleared. This land is located in the midst of well-settled farming district, good roads; rural mail route, etc.; only six miles to Barnum (live, prosperous little town); 3 miles to Bemidji; 8 grade schools within less than 2 miles. This land is offered at only $15 per acre, while adjoining land is selling at from $20 to $25 per acre. This is absolutely the best situated tract for dairy purposes we have had this year; it's worth considerably more than much of the adjoining property for dairy purposes. Any reasonable terms accepted, or will exchange for city property.

TO OUR

FARMER FRIENDS

Duluth and vicinity offers a flourishing and steady market for farm produce — not only direct to the consumer, but to commission men and dealers, too. You can reach these people in their homes and offices through Herald Want Ads—which cost very little but bring excellent results to all farmers who use them. Write to our classified manager for rates.

UNITED STATES MAY REQUEST THAT OTHER DIPLOMATS OF GERMANIC ALLIES BE RECALLED FROM THIS COUNTRY

RICHESON MUST STAND TRIAL ON TWO CHARGES OF TAKING CITY FUNDS

One Indictment Accuses Him of Misappropriating Specific Sum.

Other Is Cumulative Covering More Than Year's Time.

Walter J. Richeson, deputy clerk of the municipal court, must defend himself before a petit jury against charges of malfeasance.

He was indicted on two counts which were returned by the September grand jury in a late afternoon report to Judge Bert Fesler in district court yesterday.

Both indictments accuse Mr. Richeson of misappropriating public funds. One count charges that he appropriated to his own use $691, covered by receipts given by him from Aug. 1, 1914, to Aug. 3, 1915.

The other indictment is not cumulative in its nature and charges the misappropriation of $17 on Aug. 3, 1915.

Mr. Richeson was arraigned before Judge Fesler this morning shortly before noon and entered pleas of not guilty. He was released upon furnishing $500 bail in each case. Walter J. Dacey appeared as his counsel.

The offense with which he is charged is punishable as a felony upon conviction.

Friends of Mr. Richeson are convinced that the young man will be able to give a good account of himself, as soon as he is permitted. Since his return to the city, he has not been asked for any explanation. The grand jury was in session when he returned but he was not asked to appear before it.

Six Other Indictments.

Six other indictments and one no true bill were also returned by the grand jury last evening. Of the eight indictments, only three were made public. Besides the two Richeson indictments, the grand jury also found a count against James Jacob Schuhe, an ex-convict, who is charged with forgery under the habitual criminal act.

The no true bill was returned in favor of Frank Laine, who had been held to the grand jury on a charge of stealing $60 from one Frank Veika near Brookston on July 28, last. Laine will be released from jail.

The grand jury will probably conclude its deliberations this afternoon. No morning session was held. Since convening last Wednesday, the inquisitorial body investigated thirty-nine cases, returning twenty-six indictments and thirteen no true bills.

AUSTRIANS CAPTURE FORTRESS OF DUBNO

London, Sept. 10.—A dispatch to the Central News from Vienna says it is officially announced that Austrian Landwehr cavalry entered the fortress of Dubno, in the Lutsk-Dubno-Rovno triangle of fortresses Wednesday.

Dubno, with a population of some 15,000 is in the government of Volhynia, on the Ikva river, a short distance north of the east Galician frontier. Lutsk, another of the forts of the triangle, was taken recently.

TALK ON FIRE PREVENTION

State Fire Marshals From All Over Country Meet in Chicago.

Would Reduce Immense Fire Waste of Their Various States.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—State fire marshals from all over the country, charged with the duty of attempting to reduce the immense fire waste of their respective states, met here today. Their organization, the Fire Marshals' Association of North America, has been holding annual conventions for the exchange of information and ideas, since 1905.

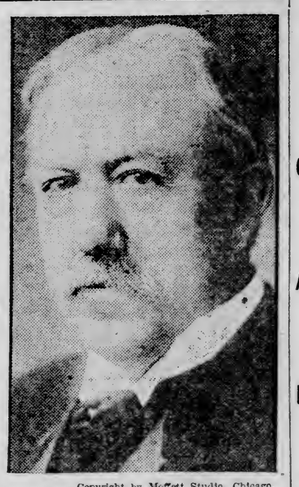

Walter H. Bennett, of Quincy, Ill., fire marshal of Illinois, in an address insisted that fire prevention can best be taught in the public schools.

"You talk fire prevention to a business man and he immediately looks for the Ethopian in the woodpile," said Mr. Bennett. "You go to a community with your wise and helpful preventive measures, and forthwith it is decreed that there must be a selfish motive somewhere in the rear; or you are met with the inquiry, 'How will that benefit me?'

"It is surprising how many people are still of the opinion that a loss 'fully covered by insurance' is no loss

FOREIGN PRIZE COURTS BUSY

Several Ships Detained at Kirkwall Are Allowed to Sail.

Hamburg Court Makes Announcement Regarding Pass of Balmaha.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Dispatches to the state department today outlined the activities of the British prize claims committee and the Hamburg prize court in cases of condemned or detained ships and cargoes involving American interests. Consul General Skinner advised the department that the American ship Corning, from Baton Rouge to Malmo, Sweden, with refined petroleum naphtha had "arrived" at Kirkwall while the American ships Storaker and John Blumer had sailed. Officials interpreted the dispatch as indicating that the Corning voluntarily put in to Kirkwall, to obviate her seizure by British cruisers as a suspect. The state department has handled numerous cases of Standard Oil ships, most of which have been released upon representation.

Hamburg Prize Court.

Another cablegram stated the Hamburg prize court had announced claims must be filed within two months in the case of the American ship Pass of Balmaha. That vessel with a cotton cargo for Great Britain was overhauled by a German submarine and taken into prize court to determine ownership.

Similar notice was given in the cases of the Norwegian steamers Trondjemsford and Baldwin, the Portuguese steamer Cysne, the Russian schooner Marie and part of the cargo of the Norwegian steamer Vega. Three weeks extension of time was given in the case of the ship Davanger, nationality unknown.

A department cablegram from London stated the British prize claims committee had announced its intention to consider claims by British allied or neutral third parties against ships or cargoes condemned or detained by prize court orders and had given notice that all claims must be sent with necessary particulars to the committee, at the board of trade, within three months of the prize court's action.

BRITISH PATROL FLEW U. S. FLAG

Said to Have Sunk Submarine on Day Arabic Was Torpedoed.

New York, Sept. 10.—Confirmation of the London report that a German submarine was sunk on Aug. 19 while shelling the British steamer Nicosian, was received here today from passengers who arrived on the steamer Lapland. It was also learned that the British patrol boat, which sank the submarine, flew an American flag while approaching the scene. Just before she was ready to open up with her guns, the American flag fluttered down to her deck and the British ensign was hoisted in its place.

This German submarine was sunk on Aug. 19, the day the Arabic was torpedoed and not far from the scene of that tragic event. This gave rise to the report and belief in Great Britain that the Arabic's assailant had been sent to the bottom.

BITTER FIGHTING BETWEEN THE ALLIES AND GERMANS EXPECTED IN THE ARGONNE IN FEW DAYS

CONFLICTING CLAIMS MADE BY BOTH SIDES

Germans Capture French Trenches Near Hartmans-Wilerkopf.

Asphyxiating Shells and Flaming Liquids Used By Teutons.

French Counter-Attack Results in Recapture of Part of Trenches.

London, Sept. 10.—French and German claims are so contradictory that it is impossible at this time to obtain a clear view of the situation in the Argonne. It is likely that this region will witness some of the bitterest fighting in the west during the next ten days.

French Trenches Taken.

Berlin, Sept. 10, via London.—French trenches near Schratzmannele and Hartmans-Wilerkopf, in the Vosges, have been captured by storm by German troops, army headquarters officially announced today.

Germans Use Flaming Liquids.

Paris Sept. 10.—Artillery fighting continued yesterday and last night along the lines in France, according to announcement made today by the French war office. In the Vosges the Germans made use of asphyxiating shells and flaming liquids, as a result of which a French trench of the first line had to be evacuated. A French counter-attack, however, resulted in the recapture of the greater portion of the lost ground.

The statement given out by the war office reads:

Artillery Fighting.

"There was continued artillery fighting last night in the vicinity of Arras in front of Axroye and on the front in Champagne.

"The Argonne, in the sector of Laparazee, there was fighting with hand

BELIEVED CESSATION OF TEUTON OFFENSIVE IN THE EAST AT HAND

Germans Said to Be Fortifying Themselves in Vicinity of Vilna.

Russians Win Another Victory Over Austrians at Trembowla.

Over 15,000 Prisoners Taken in Two Days' Fighting in Vicinity.

London, Sept. 10.—Basing its judgment on reports that the Germans are fortifying themselves strongly in the vicinity of Vilna together with the trend of events on the southern wing of the eastern front and the slow progress of the Teutonic center, the British feeling is that cessation of the Austro-German offensive in the east may be at hand.

Another Russian Victory.

The Russian victory at Tranopol, Eastern Galicia, has been followed by another effective blow at the Austrians at Trembowla, twenty miles further south. In the combined actions more than 15,000 prisoners have been taken, according to Petrograd's reports.

As was the case at Tranopol, the Russians were unable to follow up the advantage gained at Trembowla owing to their inferiority in artillery, and the Austrians were not pushed beyond the line of the river Sereth.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 10, via London—An official communication made public here, announces another big success for the Russians in Eastern Galicia. Following their reported victory at Tarnopol, it is stated that southwest of Trembowla during the 7th and 8th, the Russians took as prisoners 130 officers and 7,000 men and that the Teutons retreated hastily toward the river Stry. The communication adds that the Russians captured since Sept. 3, on the Sereth front total 383 officers and over 17,000 men and a great quantity of guns.

EXPLOSION OF BOMBS KILLS TWO AVIATORS

Machine Strikes Barb Wire Entanglements While Making Landing.

Geneva, Sept. 10, via London.—Two French aviators were killed at Deyingen, Alsace, when their machine struck barbed wire entanglements as they were making a landing, causing the explosion of bombs aboard the aeroplane. They had been forced to descend because of motor trouble. The airmen were buried by the Germans with military honors.

A FAITHFUL ALLY.

LIKELY TO FOLLOW DEMAND ON AUSTRIA TO REMOVE DUMBA

Activities of Count von Bernstorff and Military Attache and Austrian Consul General Are Being Reviewed.

Known That Capt. von Papen of German Embassy Sent Communication By Archibald, the American Messenger.

Washington, Sept. 10.—President Wilson's request to Austria to recall her ambassador, Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, has brought about a situation which contains possibilities of extending to other diplomats of the Germanic allies.

Dr. Dumba used James J. Archibald, an American, bearing an American passport, as a messenger, to carry a communication to the Vienna foreign office. Although it has not been called officially to the attention of this government, the state department understands unofficially that Archibald also carried a communication for Capt. von Papen, military attache of the German embassy.

Abuse of Passport.

Secretary Lansing said today that the American government considers the sending of any communication in the manner which Dr. Dumba used an abuse of an American passport.

While all officials refused to discuss the situation further, it is known that the activities of Consul General von Nuber of Austria as well as those of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, are again being reviewed by the state department.

Capt. von Papen's letter which was a private communication to his wife, is now on its way to the state department from London. Officials said the fact that it was a private and not an official communication did not alter the case any. It is understood that the writer made slighting references to American officials.

Await Document.

Another document for which officials are waiting is an enclosure in Dr. Dumba's letter which referred to negotiations between Consul General von Nuber and the editor of a foreign language newspaper concerning bringing about strikes in the Bethlehem works and other war munitions factories.

It was made plain, however, that while the state department for some time has been fully advised of the activities of Count von Bernstorff he was not involved to the extent of being in the same position as Dr. Dumba but that there was serious consideration of whether Capt. von Papen or Consul General von Nuber should be allowed to remain longer in the country.

Von Bernstorff Had Strike Bureau.

New York, Sept. 10.—When Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, suggested to his government that Austrian subjects might be induced to quit work in ammunition plants, Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had already begun work on Dumba lines among Germans in this country.

With the approval of the German ambassador, Germans employed in munition plants for more than a month have been in receipt of notices that by working in such places they violated the law of Germany, and for those who

ARABIC NOTE CONSIDERED

Reply of Germany, Explaining Sinking, in Hands of President.

Does Not Acknowledge Any Obligation to Grant Indemnity.

Washington, Sept. 10.—President Wilson and his advisers began consideration today of Germany's note explaining the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic. The communication was understood to be of considerable length and there were no intimations of the time that would be required for determining the government's attitude.

German Note.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 10.—In its note to the United States on the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic the German government says that it "most deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander; it particularly expresses this regret to the United States on account of the death of American citizens," and adds:

"The German government is unable, however, to acknowledge any obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic."

Germany's note is in the form of

BERLIN "SYSTEM" TO PROVOKE WAR

Reichstag Member Says Extent of American Exports Exaggerated.

Berlin, Sept. 10, via London.—Dr. Karl Bachem of Cologne, clerical member of the reichstag, has contributed an article to the Cologne Volks Zeitung suggesting the possibility that the nature and extent of American exports of munitions of war has been exaggerated in certain quarters for the specific purpose of provoking war between Germany and the United States.

Herr Bachem declares he recently was assured by a prominent American that American munitions exports never even approached the quantity reported by German newspapers. Hitherto, the unnamed American is said to have asserted, moderate quantities of small arms ammunition had been delivered, but not a single shell. Herr Bachem asserts that it is hard to escape the belief therefore that there is a "system" behind reports concerning immense American war exports, "and that we are systemically to be incited through exaggerated reports of American war supplies in order to impel us to war against America. Caution and reserve in this matter in criticizing the commercial methods of the American government at this moment are the duties of every enlightened citizen."

BULGARIA'S POSITION IS CONSIDERED GOOD

Outlook for the Future Is Favorable, Says Premier Radoslavoff.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Wednesday, Sept. 8, via Berlin and London, Sept. 10.—"Bulgaria's position is now good, and the outlook for the future is favorable," said Premier Vasell Radoslavoff in an interview today with the Associated Press correspondent. He added:

"It is improbable that Greece and Serbia will adopt a joint policy regarding Bulgaria."

The premier expressed the hope that all political parties in Bulgaria, especially the Agrarians, would support the government in a whole-hearted manner in its efforts to achieve the national ideals.

NEW LEADERS ARE NEEDED

England's Only Hope of Winning War, Says Prof. Wilkinson.

Old-Fogyism and Red-Tape of Foreign Office Indicted.

Oxford, Eng., Sept. 10.—That England's only hope of winning the war lies in her finding new leaders, both for the army and for the state, from among her young college men, is the conclusion of Dr. Spencer Wilkinson, professor of military history at Oxford university, in a review of the war work of Oxford men. His review is a forcible indictment of old-fogyism and red-tape, as exemplified by the present "system" of the British war office.

"I have been amazed," writes Prof. Wilkinson, "through all these months of the war, to see that the army is unable to distinguish between men of various capabilities and possibilities who are granted officer's commissions. It makes them all second lieutenants and grades them according to the dates when they joined, so that very often the youngest rank above their

STORIES FOR LITTLE FOLKS

"Children's Hour" at Public Library Will Begin Saturday.

Miss Morrow Will Tell Cycle of Tales From "The Odyssey."

One of the most interesting and profitable features of the work at the Duluth public library will begin tomorrow forenoon. At 10 o'clock Miss Marjorie Morrow will begin her work for the year, consisting of story-telling for children. The "children's hour" has long been one of the most popular periods of the day's activities.

It is expected that seventy-five children will be on hand to meet Miss Morrow. With open mouths and their faces full of interest these little folk have the "time of their lives," listening to the stories of the wandering Ulysses, Robin Hood, and other heroes. Animal stories such as those of Ernest-Thompson Seton, Rudyard Kipling, and a host of others are told.

Miss Morrow does not "read" stories to the youngsters. She tells them, putting in the most interesting parts and picturing the hero or heroine with all possible realism. In fact her work might be called word motion pictures.

At the beginning of the season Miss Morrow will begin a cycle of stories taken from "The Odyssey." This will consist of about eight tales, covering briefly the journeys of this wise old warrior from the time he left the burning walls of Illium to the end of his wanderings, including his temptations by the sirens, his fights with giants and monsters, and various other experiences, all of which delight small folk. Robin Hood, the bold huntsman and outlaw, will furnish amusement later in the season.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

KENNEDY GOES INTO FINALS

Defeats "Mac" Washburn and Will Contest With Brother or Fraker.

Duluth Tennis Season Will Be Wound Up Saturday Afternoon.

When the games in the city championship tournament, now being played on the courts of the Longview club at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street, are finished tomorrow evening, Duluth tennis players will have wound up a most successful season.

There remain but few games in the present tournament and all of them will be over by tomorrow. Yesterday Walter Kennedy fought his way into the finals of the city championship singles by defeating "Mac" Washburn, 8-6, 6-3 and 6-3. He will now have to meet the winner of the game which is being played this afternoon between Lauren Kennedy and Walter Fraker.

There are several sets remaining to be played in the doubles. Bissonnette and Deighton are already in the finals and they will have to meet the winners of the match between Kennedy brothers and "Mac" Washburn and Walter Fraker, which will either be played this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

SOUTHERN GIRL FINALLY BEATEN

Young Golf Star Defeated By Philadelphian in Semi-Finals.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Miss Alexa Stirling, Southern champion, was defeated in the semi-finals of the women's national golf meet today in 22 holes by Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia. The other match went to Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of England, who eliminated Ernestine Pearce of Chicago, 5 and 3.

FREIMUTHS TO PLAY STRONG EDISON TEAM

Game Will Be Staged Sunday at Athletic Park; O'Brien Umpire.

What promises to be one of the best ball games staged at Athletic park this season is booked for next Sunday, when the fast Freimuth team, independent champions of the Head of the Lakes, will meet the strong Edison crew, amateur champions of Duluth.

The Freimuth team has defeated most of the best teams in the Northwest this summer, including the speedy Box Factory club of Superior. Both teams will have their strongest lineups next Sunday and a great battle is assured the fans.

Darby O'Brien, manager of the Duluth White Sox, has been secured to umpire the contest.

Manager Norsted of the Edisons stated this morning that the Superior Box Factory club manager had refused to play the Edisons.

BERNSTORFF AND DUMBA CONFER

Ambassadors Meet in New York City for Private Conference.

New York, Sept. 10.—Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, ambassador from Austria-Hungary, whose recall has been asked for by the United States government, today conferred in his suite in an uptown hotel with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. The subject of the conference could not be ascertained. Both Dr. Dumba and Count von Bernstorff remained in seclusion in their respective hotels the better part of the day. Dr. Dumba denied himself to all callers and it was repeatedly said by officials of the hotel that he had left for the summer embassy at Lennox, Mass.

GOVERNOR HELPS TO PREPARE FLAG

Complies With Request From Brooklyn, Also Sends Autograph.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond today received from the East End council, Junior Order United American Mechanics of Brooklyn, N. Y., a handsome autograph album which he was asked to sign and a silk flag, one of the stars of which the leading lady of the state was requested to sew on. The first he complied with personally and the sewing on of the star he turned over to Mrs. Andrist, wife of C. M. Andrist, his private secretary. The album and flag is being sent to the president and each governor in the Union with requests to sign and affix a star. The book and flag will be sent from Governor Hammond's office to the executive department of Illinois.

WILL SELL CITY BONDS

Investors Will Be Offered 5 Per Cent for Three Years.

Money Will Be Used to Make Payments to Contractors.

City improvement bonds bearing 5 per cent will be sold over the counter within the next week.

At the council meeting next Monday afternoon Commissioner Voss will introduce a resolution ordering a $100,000 bond issue, in $1,000 lots, to be sold direct to investors at par. This plan follows the one last fall, when $60,000 in bonds were sold in the city treasurer's office.

The bonds will be sold against the permanent improvement revolving fund, so that the city will have sufficient funds with which to pay contractors on city paving jobs now nearing completion. The cost of the improvements, although assessed against property owners, is paid in four quarterly installments, and as a result the city is hard pressed for the money. The charter permits an issue of bonds equal to 75 per cent of the total aggregate sum of the assessments for street improvements.

The resolution prepared by Commissioner Voss directs that the bonds be dated Oct. 1 of this year and made payable Oct. 1, 1918, carrying interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable semi-annually—on the first day of April and October of each year. The certificates will follow the form of those sold last fall.

In addition, the council will authorize the city treasurer to take up the balance of $40,000 in the $100,000 bond issue of last year, when it was found that only $60,000 was necessary to meet the cost of street improvements completed during the summer. The money will be taken up in the sinking fund and interest paid, as if the amount was in a bank.

The aggregate amount of assessments for improvements to be extended and for which the bonds will be sold follows: Paving of Twelfth street, on Minnesota Point, from Lake avenue to Minnesota avenue, and Minnesota avenue from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth streets, $38,000; Highland street, from Fifty-ninth avenue west to Getchell road, $16,000; Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to the north line of Kent road, $13,000; Ninth street, from Seventh avenue east to Fourteenth avenue east, $18,000; Sixth street, from Fifteenth east to Eighteenth avenues east, and Sixteenth avenue east, from Sixth to Eighth streets, $15,000.

WARROAD HEARING.

Many People Attended International Joint Commission Session.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warroad has been much on the map this week with the hearings held here of the international joint commission of the Lake of the Woods level. The commissioners arrived Monday and remained until Wednesday evening. The commission consists of some of the ablest men in both Canada and the United States, James A. Tawney, Obadiah Gardner, and a number of the best attorneys of the country, representing principally the water power interests, also a number of engineers. Mr. Wyvell of Washington, D. C., represented Secretary of State Lansing, while Congressman Halvor Steernerson looked after the interests of the settlers affected by the high water.

A telegram announcing the election of Mr. Willner was received this noon by his fellow workers at West Duluth.

LABOR DEPARTMENT IS PRAISED BY EXAMINER

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Public Examiner Fritz, in a report made today covering the financial affairs of the state labor department, compliments those in charge on the conservatism of the traveling expenses of that department. The bureau disbursed $58,928 during the year ending July 31 last, of which about $48,000 was for salaries. The traveling expenses of the department were $5,709.33.

KING'S ENGLISH BECOMES SADLY MUTILATED IN BUSINESS TELEGRAMS

Jumbles of Letters That Mean Nothing to the Uninitiated Are Freely Interpreted By the Average Duluth Business Man.

The hurried and harried business man in almost every line of endeavor of the financial world has a language of his own—that is, his "chatter" and communication pertaining to his business are couched in terms that are likely to puzzle the uninitiated about as much as. Hottentot or Sanskrit would. But the ne plus ultra of his vernacular is to be seen and not heard, for it is communicated in the form of telegrams. For instance, what would the layman think of this—and it is not an exaggeration:

Hardtack, Duluth. Quote C. L. or L. C. L., C. I. F. 6d F. O. B. seaboard, 4d here, 2d all K. D. If S. U. 50 per cent increase, S. D. B. L.
"Phlox, London."

It isn't code as one might suppose, nor is it cryptic in any way, but is just plain every-day business English. To translate, one simply spells out the abbreviations, and, disregarding the address and signature, which are in code, the message says:

"Can quote carload or less than carload at your cost, insurance and freight, 6 pence, freight on board at seaboard, 4 pence here, 2 pence if knocked down. If set up, 50 per cent increase. Sight draft will be sent with bill of lading."

Those who are "in the know" have no difficulty, of course, but those whose lives do not bump into the rush of commercialism would probably be dazed or would think somebody had left out a letter should they receive a bill with "C. A. F." marked on it in explanation, and might indignantly declare that he had no interest in a calf or livestock of any kind. But C. A. F. simply means "cost and freight," and when on a bill, means that the receiver pays all cost, including freight charges. Another puzzler, which is simple, is "N. O. I. B. N.," and which means "not otherwise indexed by name."

Shippers, railroad men and telegraph operators all blame each other for the corruption or multiplicity of the gentle art of abbreviation in business. Here are some of the every-day abbreviations used in business communications:

K. D.—Knock down.
S. U.—Set up.
C. O. D.—Collect on delivery.
C. I. F.—Cost, insurance and freight.
C. A. F.—Cost and freight.
F. O. B.—Free, or freight, on board.
C. L.—Carload.
L. C. L.—Less than carload.
B. L.—Bill of lading.
S. D.—Sight draft.
4tl—Four time first class rate.

TWO MEN KILLED BY FUMES OF LILY BULBS

New York, Sept. 10.—George Trossit, a steward, and William Leushelm, a coal passer, were killed while at work in the hold of the steamship Ryndam of the Holland-American line at her Hoboken pier yesterday. Gaseous fumes from lily bulbs, which formed a large part of the Ryndam's cargo, are said to have caused death. The men were discovered unconscious by other members of the crew. Frank Drews, a Hoboken fireman, volunteered to rescue them. Wearing a helmet, he entered the hold, but was pulled out unconscious after a few minutes. Ropes finally were placed around the other two, who were dead when taken out.

MET AT 9:09 ON NINTH DAY OF NINTH MONTH

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10.—Hoo Hoos from all sections of the United States gathered at the House of Hoo Hoo at the Panama-Pacific exposition at 9:09 yesterday, the ninth day of the ninth month, to celebrate Hoo Hoo day at the fair.

The convention of the "Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoos," an organization of lumbermen, will be held today at the exposition. The principal business, it is said, will be a reorganization of the order.

WEST END

TWIN LAKES NOW NEARLY COMPLETED

City Restores Beauty Spot; Popular Resort for Young Folk.

Twin Lakes, one of Duluth's beauty spots on the Boulevard drive, are nearly completed. Harry Cleveland, superintendents of parks and playgrounds, said yesterday that only a few remaining touches were required to complete the job and make the former lakes a permanent feature of the driveway.

The Twin Lakes are situated at the summit of Central Park and at a point on the boulevard at Thirteenth avenue west. One of the lakes is situated above and the other below the driveway. A dam provided with a sluiceway to allow overflow in case of heavy rainfalls, has been built.

The Twin Lakes were destroyed during a heavy rainfall during the latter part of July, 1909. The retaining wall gave way under the enormous pressure. The work of rebuilding was started early last year, but owing to the handicap of limited money in the treasury, the park department was unable to complete the work until this year.

In summer hundreds of people visited the place daily to hold picnics near its banks and in winter the spot was favored for skating by the young people of the hillside district of the West end. While the lakes are each but the size of a small pond, they provide a surface large enough for healthful sport during the winter.

"We expect to have the finishing touches made before the end of next week," said Mr. Cleveland. "The department has been handicapped for the lack of money, but we are making every dollar go 100 cents worth."

Series of Entertainments.

The first of a series of fall and winter entertainments planned by members of Beta council No. 2, Modern Samaritans, will be held Monday evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Cards will be played and a musical program given. Mrs. Grace Goward is in charge of the committee of arrangements. Initiation of a class of new members will take place before the social session.

Funeral Saturday.

The funeral service for Herman Gustafson, aged 25, who died Wednesday at St. Luke's hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home of his sister, Miss Minnie Gustafson, 2532 West Second street. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Beavers of which Mr. Gustafson was a member.

Open Hardware Store.

B. E. Wellberg, a well known business man of the West end has opened up a hardware store at 2816 West Third street under the name of Wellberg Hardware company. Mr. Wellberg has been in various lines of business in this end of the city, being in the clothing business on Superior street for several years and later in the real estate business.

Mr. Wellberg announced yesterday that the company intended carrying a complete line of hardware, paints, sporting goods and cutlery. Builders hardware he said would be one of his specialties.

Rally Meeting.

Ehe Epworth League Society of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street will hold a rally meeting Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The meeting is the first held since June. The officers of the society are Henry A. Anderson, president; Meyer Skog, N. G. Sorum, Miss Alice Sorenson, Miss Emma Iverson, vice presidents; Forbie Selseth, secretary; Roy Sorenson, treasurer and Miss Mabel Christianson, organist.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Linglebach and son Reiner, 2822 Helm street, have returned from a motor trip to the Twin Cities where they visited the fair early this week.

Miss Alma Wolean, 2112 West Fourth street, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Minneapolis to attend the state university. Miss Wolean was a member of this year's graduating class of the Central high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baxter, 2619 West Fourth street, and son Donald, returned yesterday from a visit to the state fair. The trip was made in an automobile.

Miss Marie Pease of St. Paul, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Turge, 3901 West Third street, left yesterday for her home.

Mrs. J. Monahan and Mrs. Michaud were hostesses yesterday afternoon for the Rosary society of the St. Clements church. The affair was held in the church club rooms.

SIX DEAD FROM EXCESSIVE HEAT

Three in New York and Three in Philadelphia—Hottest Sept. 9 in Years.

New York, Sept. 10.—Three persons died and eight were prostrated, as the result of the excessive heat here yesterday. It was the hottest Sept. 9 New York has had in thirty-one years. The temperature reached 92 degrees toward noon, and hovered around 90 nearly all day.

At Coney Island last night nearly 10,000 people slept on the five-mile stretch of beach from Brighton to Seagate. Most of the sleepers were women and children.

Three Dead in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—Excessive heat and humidity caused three deaths and a large number of prostrations here today. It was the hottest Sept. 9 since 1884, the mercury reaching a maximum of 92 degrees. The humidity was 85 per cent.

TIMBER IS CUT FROM STATE LAND

State Will Attempt to Recover From Federal Government.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state of Minnesota probably will bring action soon to collect from the Federal government from $50,000 to $75,000 as payment for timber cut from state lands, according to announcement at the office of J. A. O. Preus, state auditor.

The attention of the state auditor has been called to the matter by one of his assistants, B. F. Case, who has been estimating timber at Cass Lake, which he declares is all that is left. Mr. Case added that the government land has been cut over, and that it would be well for the state to dispose of its holdings while there is an opportunity to do so.

"In my investigation," said Mr. Case today, "I have found considerable state land that the timber has been cut from under government sale and supervision in the last twelve years. For some time I have known of this condition, but have never been in close touch with the different descriptions of land until the last few weeks.

"A close investigation, I believe, will reveal a cut of from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 feet of pine timber, which, valued at the sale price obtained by the government, would amount to from $50,000 to $75,000."

Mr. Case added that the money has gone into the Indian fund, and that it would necessitate action by congress to reimburse Minnesota.

MORE TROUBLE AMONG THE NEGRO BAPTISTS

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Trouble broke out afresh late last night, and for the second time within the last twenty-four hours the two factions of the National Negro Baptist convention were at odds, this time apparently without hope of restored harmony.

Being unable to agree on several different issues, prominent among them being the leadership, the two factions separated and met in different places.

Lutherans Elect President.

Moline, Ill., Sept. 10.—The general council of the Lutheran Church of North America yesterday elected as president, Rev. Theodore E. Schmauk, Lebanon, Pa., and treasurer, A. G. Anderson, Rock Island, Ill.

Three Killed at West Frankfort.

West Frankfort, Ill., Sept. 10.—Three persons were killed and two others severely injured when an automobile in which they were riding ran into the engine of a Chicago & Eastern Illinois passenger train near here yesterday. The dead are: A. H. Brown, owner of a carnival company, playing at West Frankfort; Thomas McDonald, his manager, and Albert Brown, his 6-year-old son.

SAYS FATAL ERROR WAS MADE BY UNLICENSED PHYSICIAN

Blunder During Operation Caused Death, Association Members Told.

Grand Jury Report Was Partly Based on This Incident.

Criticism of methods used in Duluth hospitals recently by a St. Louis grand jury was based on a case in which an unlicensed physician performed an operation resulting in the death of the patient.

This was a statement made before members of the St. Louis County Medical association at the Commercial club last night by Dr. W. A. Coventry.

"I complained of the case to County Attorney W. E. Greene," said Dr. Coventry, "and he informed me that the case was one for the grand jury. He told me that an endeavor would be made to have the practitioner indicted on a charge of manslaughter. I do not know whether he was indicted or not. The report issued by the jury was based partly on that incident, although I suppose other extensive investigation was made."

Dr. Coventry's connection with the case, he explained, was due to the fact that he is chairman of the censorship committee of the association.

"This doctor," Dr. Coventry said, refusing to reveal his name, "came to Duluth three or four months ago and opened offices here, claiming that he was a graduate of the University of Geneva, Switzerland.

Taken Ill at Theater.

"On the evening of Aug. 16 the patient in question was taken ill suddenly while attending a performance at the Grand theater. He was removed to a local hospital and was placed under the care of Dr. X, as I will name this physician.

"Dr. X decided upon an immediate operation, and the patient was placed upon a table shortly after midnight of the same day. The complication is known to physicians as gastroenterostomy.

"Instead of circuiting the first part of the small intestine, Dr. X connected the large intestine, and then, upon finishing his work, closed the wound, despite objections from attendants, who told him, I understand, that he had made a mistake.

Second Operation Fatal.

"The next morning, worried over the patient's condition, he called Dr. W. H. Magie into consultation, and decided to operate again, in a desperate attempt to right the wrong. The patient died on the table the second time.

"Any physician of standing would certainly be too familiar with anatomy to make a similar mistake, in my opinion," he continued.

"The case was so glaring an instance that the committee decided to refer it to Attorney Greene, and this was done."

"It is well known among physicians of the city," continued Dr. Coventry, "that the Duluth hospitals do permit unlicensed physicians to perform difficult and serious operations. Under the state law a physician must be registered, but many do not comply with this requirement.

"The grand jury report," he concluded, "does not get at the real facts in the case, and I believe the medical association should drop all discussion of the question."

SALARY CLAIM REJECTED

Judge Windom Fails to Secure $1,000 for Back Salary.

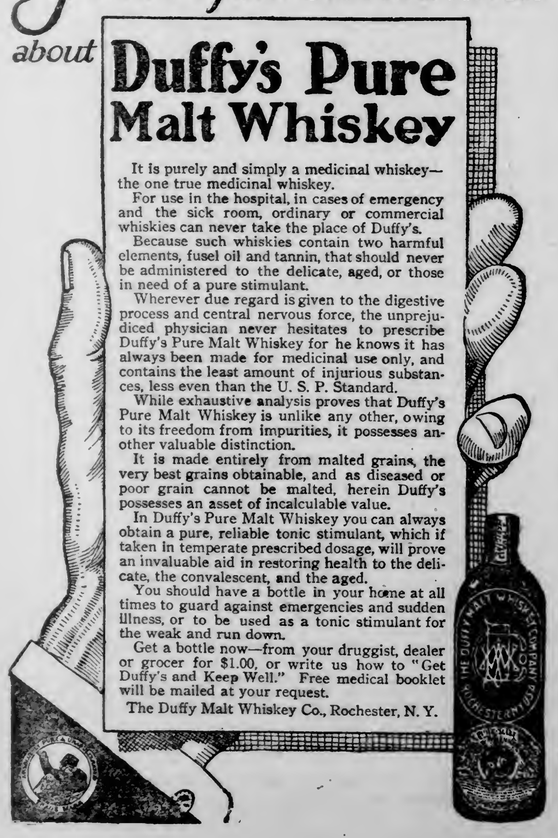

Mayor Prince yesterday refused to approve salary claims of Judge Windom amounting to $1,000.

Judge Windom claims back salary for four months, from the time that the district court rendered its decision in the Smallwood-Windom municipal court controversy.

In refusing to sign the warrants, Mayor Prince said that he was acting on the advise of City Attorney Greene and that similar action was taken when Mr. Smallwood's claim for salary was presented.

Facts you Should Know about

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

It is purely and simply a medicinal whiskey—the one true medicinal whiskey.

For use in the hospital, in cases of emergency and the sick room, ordinary or commercial whiskies can never take the place of Duffy's.

Because such whiskies contain two harmful elements, fusel oil and tannin, that should never be administered to the delicate, aged, or those in need of a pure stimulant.

Wherever due regard is given to the digestive process and central nervous force, the unprejudiced physician never hesitates to prescribe Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for he knows it has always been made for medicinal use only, and contains the least amount of injurious substances, less even than the U. S. P. Standard.

While exhaustive analysis proves that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is unlike any other, owing to its freedom from impurities, it possesses another valuable distinction.

It is made entirely from malted grains, the very best grains obtainable, and as diseased or poor grain cannot be malted, herein Duffy's possesses an asset of incalculable value.

In Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey you can always obtain a pure, reliable tonic stimulant, which if taken in temperate prescribed dosage, will prove an invaluable aid in restoring health to the delicate, the convalescent, and the aged.

You should have a bottle in your home at all times to guard against emergencies and sudden illness, or to be used as a tonic stimulant for the weak and run down.

Get a bottle now—from your druggist, dealer or grocer for $1.00, or write us how to "Get Duffy's and Keep Well." Free medical booklet will be mailed at your request.

ADVANCE IN BUTTER PRICE

Dairy Products and Eggs Now Sell at Higher Figures.

Peaches Feature in Fruits; Winter Apples Are Now Coming in.

With a heavy consumptive demand both locally and in the East quotations in butter and eggs are advancing, and higher ranges are predicted in the near future by dealers.

Eggs are quoted a cent higher on the Duluth market today at 23@25c a dozen. Receipts of eggs from over this district this season are reported to have shown a large increase over last year, owing to the wider market afforded through the development of business with Eastern points. On the present outlook it is predicted that the expansion will be even more marked next year, provided that a satisfactory service is accorded by the package freight steamers running from here to Buffalo.

The same criticism applies with equal force to the butter market. Shipments of dairy products down the lakes have set new records since last June, and a considerable tonnage is still being forwarded weekly by the Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company. Owing to the natural falling off in production at this season butter prices have been advanced ½@1c, quotations standing at 26@27½c a pound for prime creamery.

It is interesting to note that butter figures are now 4c a pound lower than at this time last year, so consumers are considered by dealers to have no ground for complaint.

Splendid variety in fruits is being offered by Michigan street houses and equally gratifying to consumers is the fact that prices are still tending downward in most lines.

Peaches are still the feature, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Culbertson Bros. company. It is thought that next week will be the last big one of the season in peaches, so that householders are recommended to arrange for their supplies for canning. The movement of that fruit has been heavy this season on account of its good quality and the reasonable prices prevailing.

Apples Are Plentiful.

The later varieties of apples are now on the market. Dealers say that their quality is good and the opinion is expressed that Eastern barrel fruit will have the call over Western box apples this fall, owing to prices of the latter promising to rule high. It is thought the apple crop will be not far short of last year's, but shipments will be distributed from over more districts.

Washington and California pears are being offered freely, and on account of supplies beginning to fall off, their market is higher than last week. Malaga and Tokay grapes are coming to hand in quantities now, but there is thought to be no immediate prospect for any declines in prices as the crop is smaller than a year ago. The canteloupe season is nearing its end, but prices are unchanged. The market in oranges and lemons is firm with a steady demand being reported by dealers.

Homecrofting Counts.

Duluthians have gone in so extensively for homecrofting that dealers are finding the movement in vegetables extremely slow. Pickling goods are coming in and consumers are recommended to pick up anything they want without delay, as supplies were materially cut down through the frosts at the end of last month.

The potato market is weak also on account of the large quantities grown in private gardens. They are being offered today at 45 cents a bushel. It is thought that the movement of roots will be light till the first killing frosts materialize.

SUBMARINE DEAD SHIPPED TO U. S.

Remains of Only Four Out of Twenty-Two Identified.

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—The dead of the submarine F-4, in eight caskets draped with the American flag were placed yesterday aboard the United States steamship Supply and shortly afterward the vessel sailed for San Francisco.

Four of the bodies which had been identified, occupied separate coffins, and will be sent to relatives. The fragmentary remains of only nine others of the remainder of the crew of twenty-two were recovered from the debris-filled wreck of the submarine and these occupied the other four coffins, which will be sent to the national cemetery at Arlington, Va.

As the funeral cortege, escorted by three batteries of artillery and a military band moved through the streets crowds stood with bared heads.

Governor L. B. Pinkham, Mayor J. C. Lone and military and naval officers had places in the procession and attended the services held at the naval station.

The four identified bodies taken from the F-4 were those of George T. Ashcroft of Los Angeles, Ivan L. Mahan, Lima, Ohio; Charles H. Wells, Norfolk, Va., and Frank H. Herzog.

NIGHT CLASSES FOR FOREIGN PUPILS

Boys Working During Day Will Be Taught at Public Schools.

Eight night school classes for foreigners, in addition to those for boys compelled to work during the day and those more advanced in grade school subjects, will be conducted this fall and winter, according to W. H. Schilling, assistant superintendent of schools, who is in charge of this division of Duluth's educational program.

Night schools for foreigners will open on Oct. 4 and classes will be conducted every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, from 7:30 until 9:30 o'clock, at the Central high school and Lincoln and Monroe schools.

High school subjects, Mr. Schilling said, will be taught if as many as fifteen enroll for the work. Boys, who have permits to work are required to attend the night schools, he said.

Zeppelin Destroyed.

London, Sept. 10.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange agency says: "A Zeppelin, which left Brussels in the direction of Antwerp Tuesday evening and returned Wednesday morning, lost a propeller over Stockem. Near Brussels, it fell and was entirely destroyed by an explosion. The members of the crew were killed."

BADGES REPLACE STARS.

Duluth's "Finest" Are Presented With New Insignia.

Police badges, replacing the well known stars worn by "cops" since Duluth had a police force, are being distributed today by Fred Johnson, secretary to Chief R. D. McKercher.

The new insignia, 124 of them, are in the form of a shield, about three inches high and two inches wide. They are patterned after those used by the New York police department. Each carries the city's seal, with the patrolman's number, or the officer's title. One hundred of the badges, numbered consecutively, are designed for patrolmen.

The numbers or titles are set in a stencil-cut square with the blue of the uniform as a background. In the lot are two gold badges for Commissioner Silberstein and Chief McKercher, with the rank in bold blue enamel lettering.

CELESTIAL DENIES CHARGE.

Quong Wong Arraigned on Complaint of Young Girl.

Quong Wong, 28, Chinese cook, indicted by the September grand jury on a serious charge preferred by 15-year-old Marion Finsland of Superior, pleaded not guilty yesterday afternoon when arraigned before District Judge Bert Fesler. His cash bond of $500 was continued as bail. Wong is one of the two Chinamen who were accused of having lured two young Superior girls from a local Chinese restaurant to rooms which the Celestials had rented. John H. Norton appeared in court as his attorney.

ISLAND FARM STOCK TAKES ELEVEN PRIZES

Guernseys of Local Herd Make Excellent Showing at State Fair.

Gold Lassie's Julian, 2-year-old sire from the Guernsey herd on Island farm, owned by G. G. Hartley of this city, won first prize as a junior herd sire at the Guernsey show at the state fair this week.

The bull is the first son of the farm's senior herd sire, Julian, to be exhibited. The 2-year-old later in the show gave the famous Marsh herd of prize winners from Waterloo, Iowa, a hard run for the senior championship.

Island farm had seven individual entries and captured prizes in ten classes. They will bring back ten ribbons and one first prize.

Dissolution of Partnership.

The partnership heretofore existing by and between M. R. Manheim and C. H. Oppel, doing business at 924 East Superior street, Duluth, Minn., under style and firm name of the Guarantee Garage, has this day been dissolved, the said C. H. Oppel to continue the said business, collect all claims in favor of the said firm, and pay all bills against the said firm.

Dated Duluth, Minn., Sept. 9, 1915.

JAMES SCHUHE IS INDICTED UNDER THE HABITUAL CRIMINAL STATUTE

Well-Known Police Character Began Career of Crime Nearly Twenty Years Ago; Divorced and Remarried; Now Faces Long Prison Term If Convicted.

JAMES JACOB SCHUHE.

James Jacob Schuhe, familiarly known to the Duluth police as "Jake" Schuhe, who has served two terms at Stillwater penitentiary and one at St. Cloud reformatory, faces another prison sentence. Under an habitual criminal indictment charging forgery, Schuhe was arraigned yesterday afternoon in district court before Judge Bert Fesler. He pleaded not guilty and in default of bail was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

The indictment was returned by the September grand jury, which has been in session since the opening of the term on Sept. 1. The count against him was drawn under a special statute covering habitual offenders. He is charged with the crime of forgery in the second degree, which carries with it a sentence of not more than ten years in state's prison. Under the habitual criminal act, Schuhe, if convicted, may be required to serve from ten to twenty years. The maximum sentence in the ordinary case becomes the minimum sentence in the case of second offenders and the maximum sentence is doubled.

Has Many Aliases.

Schuhe is known by a long string of aliases. The indictment returned against him by the September grand jury mentions the name of James J. Hughey as one of his aliases. Others he has used at different times are E. J. Leslie and John C. Clow.

Schuhe began his career of crime nearly twenty years ago. He was first arrested in Duluth on May 7, 1897, on a charge of forgery. This arrest is recalled by the police as a spectacular one, as Schuhe was known to be hiding in a barn near Proctor. Chief Troyer and several officers surrounded the barn, but after they had gained admission it was found that he had fallen asleep. A rifle was lying across his body. This was seized and he was placed under arrest. He was convicted and sent to the state reformatory at St. Cloud.

After he had been released, he again fell into trouble. On Sept. 27, 1901, he was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. He was convicted and sent to Stillwater for five years. On Aug. 6, 1905, he was released from the state's prison, but three years later, on July 5, 1908, he was picked up on a forgery charge and given seven years at Stillwater. On July 26, 1913, he was released from prison on account of his good behavior, although his term did not actually expire until July 5, 1915.

Remarries Former Wife.

One of the interesting incidents in the ex-convict's life was his remarriage with his former wife, Mrs. Josephine Schuhe, shortly following his release from the prison. During the summer of 1912 she had obtained a divorce from him on the grounds that he was a criminal and a convict. But after he had been released, love's fire was rekindled, the past forgotten and they decided to live together again. Mrs. Schuhe is now 41 years old and Schuhe is 38. They were first married in Duluth on July 19, 1901, by Former Judge of Probate J. B. Middlecoff. On Sept. 5, 1912, she secured a divorce in Judge Ensign's court.

Last November, Schuhe was arrested on a charge of swindling Mrs. Anna Hanson, a domestic, out of $6.50 by means of a false letter. In municipal court he was given sixty days at the county jail. He was posing, the police claimed, as an insurance collector.

On Aug. 22, 1914, the latest indictment against him charges Schuhe passed a forged check for $45 on Nick Witt, an acquaintance. The police also claim that they have other charges against him, but if a conviction is sustained in the case now pending, the other accusations will be dropped.

Schuhe was arrested last week. He was found hiding in a trunk at his home on East Second street.

TO SUPPLY ROUGH STEEL TO MILLS

Duluth Plant to Rush Roll Billets and Blooms for Gary.

According to the Iron Trade Review, the plant of the Minnesota Steel company in Duluth will manufacture roll billets and blooms, which will be shipped to the mills of the Illinois Steel company at Gary and South Chicago and there be transformed into bars and other finished products. The schedule calls for rolling operations to begin Nov. 1. Says the Iron Trade Review:

"As at present organized, rolling capacity of these plants is considerably in excess of the ingot capacity, and as the Duluth plant will work rapidly to a production of 1,500 tons per day of billets and blooms, this will relieve the situation materially in this district."

WANT SCHOOL REOPENED

Bayview Heights Residents Organize to Make Protest.

Thirty-five residents of Bayview Heights met last night and made a protest against the board of education in closing the school in that community. Officers were elected and the organization plans to continue their effort to keep the school open.

William Ryberg was chosen president and R. Zimmerman was elected secretary and treasurer. Members of the committee to visit the school board in an endeavor to have the school reopened are: M. Wright, William Ryberg, William Ives, Mrs. William Emberg and Mrs. Mary B. Wilson.

AUSTIN BOY WINS BIG BREEDING PRIZE

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 10.—Gordon McCourt, 15 years old, who lives at Austin, is the champion pig breeder of Minnesota. Young McCourt won in the boys' pig-raising contest at the state fair, his favorite taking the first prize in the lard class and also the grand championship, and he now proudly displays a chestload of ribbons and badges. Gordon's "Bridget" carried off the honors. She weighed 216½ pounds on Aug. 23, when she was 5½ months old.

FOUR MEN HURT IN SOO COLLISION

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 10.—The booster special train on the Soo line advertising the Northern Wisconsin state fair, leaving here with 200 persons aboard early yesterday, crashed into a westbound freight taking a siding at Boyd, twenty miles east.

Six box cars loaded with merchandise were knocked off the track, the engine of the special train was badly damaged and four men were hurt, Dr. Harry Wands, Joseph Korbitz, Oscar Fossum and R. J. Emerson. Others sustained minor bruises.

IS VICTIM OF HEAT.

Aged Resident of Kanabec County Dies Very Suddenly.

Mora, Minn., Sept. 10.—The body of Garret Van Nees, aged 80, who died suddenly Monday of heat prostration at the home of his nephew, F. A. Sheldon, at Knife Lake, was taken to Bloomington, Hennepin county, for burial. He had been a resident of Kanabec county for about a year, having moved here from Hennepin county. He was a native of Canada, but he lived in Minnesota since 1865 and was an unusually well-preserved man for his age. Last week he went to the auditor's office and took out a hunting license, intending to take advantage of the opening of the chicken season.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A county convention of Sunday schools will be held at Crosby, Sept. 11. Sunday school superintendents of Brainerd will leave in autos to attend the convention which will be held in the Presbyterian church. A banquet will be served in the evening. Among those going from Brainerd will be H. F. Michael, G. A. Beale and C. Bruhn.

Floodwood Teachers.

Floodwood, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following teachers have been engaged for the four schools in the district: Gertrude Brandmier, Dolly Peterson, E. Rhud, Harriet Laabs, Theresa Linkbiel, M. Creary, and Helen Lalin, Lincoln school; Kathryn Berry, Moore school; Florence McDonald, Whiteface, and E. Callaghan and Leona Perrine, Gowan.

Seven wagons are required to transport the pupils to the different schools. The school census just taken shows 281 children between ages of 6 and 16 in district No. 19. A. G. Lindgren is superintendent of the consolidated schools.

The Glass Block

The Shopping Center of Duluth

As the Birds Begin to Fly South!

Fall merchandise arrives in ever-increasing shipments. If by any chance you've just returned from a trip East, you'll find at the Glass Block the very novelties which you have just seen displayed as "brand new" in New York! That's the "Glass Block way!" Our buyers are ever keen in their search for what is smart, and new, and "different."

Every day there are new style features—suits and coats and dresses showing the latest trend of Fashion. Our new Fall coats are awakening any amount of enthusiasm; fur trimmed, "boxy", with the new silhouette, so different from last season — they range from $10.75 (dresses) up to $58.75 (suits). If you haven't seen the latest style "tricks"—the adaptations of the "military" theme now being developed—don't fail to see our Fall showing. Second Floor.

Now That School Has Begun

It's time to be thinking of school apparel for girls. We resolved this year to offer girls' suits, coats and dresses, such as we'd never shown before—the very best it was possible to obtain. As a result, we are able to offer you this week—

The Most Attractive Fall Coats We've Ever Shown for Children

Really, they're delightful, these smart little Fall models in girls' coats, made in panne plush, velvet, corduroy, zibeline, broadcloth, serge, chinchilla, shepherd checks, and all sorts of mixtures. Prices from $3.50 up to $15.00. They show the quaintest, most alluring, little variations of the styles for Fall in older women's coats. Cunning hand smocked effects; fashionably "flarey" styles — little coats made with the popular "box" swing, now so popular.

And Our School Dresses for Girls Are Really Enchanting!

Like the coats, they're far and away the prettiest we've ever shown. Never before have the makers of girls' coats and dresses achieved such attractive little styles. Beginning at $3.50 and going as high as $15, we're showing clever Fall models in navy blue serges, (white collars), plaids, corduroys, wool batistes and challis, Taffeta, shepherd checks etc. (Belted styles, all the latest fashion tricks.) We're conservative when we say these little dresses are extraordinary in their charm and real "value"! All of them bear typical Glass Block prices—'very moderate.'

(Second Floor)

WOULD CHANGE LAWS OF NATURALIZATION

Chancellor Jordan Advocates Admitting Orientals to Citizenship.

Stanford University, Cal., Sept. 10.—David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford university, advocated changing the naturalization laws of the United States so as to admit Chinese and Japanese to citizenship, in an address here last night before the conference of war, peace and international policy.

The topic of the evening was "Japanese-American Relations," and in his address Dr. Jordan traced the history of naturalization laws from their origin in this country.

Our naturalization laws, he said, always have been subject to change to meet changing conditions, and that now was the time to change it so that Orientals could share with Europeans the privilege of acquiring American citizenship.

"By far the best of my pupils in the officers' training classes since the war began have been the young college tutors, the pick of the university graduates. When the government awakes to its responsibilities, means will be found to discover these men and give them opportunities of leading in proportion to their powers. But the government is still tied up in the red tape of thirty years ago, and will never throw it away except in deference to some strong expression of the national will for efficiency."

Finest Manhood Enlists.

Prof. Wilkinson has been in close touch with undergraduate life at Oxford for six years, and he declares that until this war came, the college men who planned to enter the army were far from being the best class of undergraduates. The war has given the British army for the first time the really finest manhood of the country.

"After a year or two of work at Oxford as professor of military history," explains Dr. Wilkinson, "I came to the conclusion that the army was not taking any of the best men from Oxford. Officers' commissions were given to men below the average of intelligence and training in the university. I felt that for such a war as I believed to be coming—I had discussed it in a volume written just before coming to Oxford as a teacher—the army would need leaders of the highest stamp, men of the same intelligence as is expected of those who are about to make a mark in the learned professions. The best soldiers at the war office agreed with me, but no definite action was taken.

All Join Army.

"Then came the war. Immediately the whole of young Oxford joined the army, becoming officers either in the Territorials or in the new regular regiments. Each term a class of these new candidates attended my lectures. They worked with a zeal without precedent in my experience and quickly mastered the elements.

"Even in these classes, I noticed the difference in powers. There were among them men whose ability stamped itself upon all that they did, men who after eight weeks were writing orders as well as any general in the army. There were other men of only average powers. All alike were interested in their work, diligent and keen, and all learned quickly. They have now held their commissions for several months. I have been sure from the beginning that these men would do their duty well, and that the best of them would make splendid officers. As for the men of special talent, of university distinction, a free field and no favor would soon bring them to the head of any profession."

UNITED STATES MAY ASK OTHER DIPLOMATS BE RECALLED

quit work after warning, aid has been forthcoming from 136 Liberty street, where such an employment agency as Dr. Dumba explains he had in mind, is in operation.

Letters Sent Out.

From that building circulars and letters have been sent out by the hundreds warning German subjects of dire consequences if they continue to work in industries which manufacture war materials for Germany's enemies. Advertisements have been placed in German newspapers throughout the country suggesting German workmen to leave such employment and assuring them of financial aid and good positions in "peaceful industries."

Relief For Loyal Germans.

German workmen were asked to report at once to Hans Liebau, manager of the employment and relief bureau for German subjects who have left their jobs in war munitions factories.

A reporter found the man in room 305. Nothing in its outside appearance suggested it was occupied. There is no name on the door.

A small, bearded man with a harsh voice was standing in the doorway telling a group of men of foreign appearance to report the following day. In answer to a request to see Herr Liebau, he turned and said: "Dr. Liebau is not here. I am in charge. What do you want?"

Are Guilty of Treason.

When told reports had been current about the activities conducted by his office, he waved his caller into an inner office, shut the door, and said:

"There is nothing mysterious about our business. Everything we do is frank and open. We are here to save Germans from doing wrong. They are doing wrong when they assist in the manufacture of war materials which may kill their own kindred.

"In such cases Germans are morally guilty of fratricide and legally guilty of treason. We are trying to help them from committing these crimes by securing them other employment in peaceful industries and helping them financially until they are placed.

"The German embassy naturally is interested in this movement for the good of Germans in America. But the bulk of financial contributions comes from patriotic Germans and German-Americans who realize the justice and righteousness of our cause."

Sewing Circle With Much Whispering

Before the stork arrives there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic. And there is sure to be someone who has used or knows of that splendid external help, "Mother's Friend." It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in and has a most pronounced effect as a lubricant. It soothes the network of nerves, enables the muscles to expand naturally, relieves strain on the ligaments and thus sets at ease any undue strain on the organs involved. And it does this with perfect safety. Expectant mothers thus go through the ordeal with comparative ease and comfort. Knowing mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" speak in glowing terms of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and a freedom from many other distresses.

You can get "Mother's Friend" at any drug store or they will gladly get it for you. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 401 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book of great value to all expectant mothers. It contains a valuable expectancy chart, rules on diet and is brimful of suggestions that all women will appreciate.

AIDS TO DIGESTION

Whatever improves bodily conditions in general aids digestion.

Cheerfulness, exercise, fresh air, baths and good habits makes your digestion better able to take care of any burdens you impose upon it. But the greatest aid to good digestion is good blood. Anemia, or thin blood, is a common cause of indigestion. Normal action of the stomach is impossible without healthy, well-oxidized blood.

Dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment may be quickly corrected when the blood is enriched Many people have secured relief from chronic forms of indigestion by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make the blood rich and red, capable of carrying an increased amount of oxygen, the great supporter of human life.

Have you ever seriously considered giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial to tone up your digestion, increase your vitality and make life better worth living? If your blood is thin and your digestion weak you certainly need them. Send for a diet book. It is free and will help you decide.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Austria Notified.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Ambassador Penfield at Vienna has been instructed by cable to inform the Austro-Hungarian government that Dr. Constantin Dumba no longer is acceptable as an envoy to the United States, and to ask for his recall.

Secretary Lansing formally announced the action last night. It was the answer of the American government to Dr. Dumba's explanation of his intercepted letter to Vienna outlining plans for handicapping plants in this country, making war munitions and supplies for the allies.

Ambassador Penfield was instructed to deliver the following note to the foreign office:

"Mr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Washington, has admitted that he proposed to his government plans to instigate strikes in American manufacturing plants engaged in the production of munitions of war. The information reached this government through a copy of a letter of the ambassador to his government. The bearer was an American citizen named Archibald, who was traveling under an American passport. The ambassador has admitted that he employed Archibald to bear official dispatches from him to his government.

No Longer Acceptable.

"By reason of the admitted purpose and intent of Mr. Dumba to conspire to cripple legitimate industries of the people of the United States and to interrupt their legitimate trade, and by reason of the flagrant violation of diplomatic propriety in employing an American citizen, protected by an American passport, as a secret bearer of official dispatches through the lines of the enemy of Austria-Hungary, the president directs me to inform your excellency that Mr. Dumba is no longer acceptable to the United States as the ambassador of his imperial majesty at Washington.

"Believing that the imperial and royal government will realize that the government of the United States has no alternative but to request the recall of Mr. Dumba on account of his improper conduct, the government of the United States expresses its deep regret that this course has become necessary and assures the imperial and royal government that it sincerely desires to continue the cordial and friendly relations which exist between the United States and Austria-Hungary."

Announcement Delayed.

In making his announcement Secretary Lansing explained that it had been delayed in order that the note might reach Vienna before its publication in this country. Ambassador Penfield had not been heard from, but it was assumed he received the communication some time during the day.

News that Dr. Dumba's recall had been requested created a sensation in the capital. It had been known in official and diplomatic circles that President Wilson and Secretary Lansing regarded the conduct of the ambassador as a grave breach of propriety, but there had been a well-defined impression that the only immediate step would be the cancellation of the passport of Archibald, the American who carried the intercepted dispatches.

Dr. Dumba left Wednesday for the summer embassy at Lennox, Mass., to await word as to whether the administration was satisfied with the explanation he made to Mr. Lansing Tuesday. He had come to Washington on his own initiative after news of Archibald's detention and extracts of his dispatches to Vienna had been published in this country. No statement was made either by the ambassador or Secretary Lansing concerning the conference, though it was learned later that Dr. Dumba frankly admitted having employed Archibald as a messenger and his plans for withdrawing Austrian-Hungarian labor in munitions factories.

Instructed by Foreign Office.

It was stated at the embassy that the ambassador had been instructed by the foreign office to give the widest publicity possible to a decree against the aiding by Austro-Hungarians in the manufacture of munitions for enemies of their country, and that this was the only step contemplated in orders so far received. The plans proposed for embarrassing plants and calling out laborers in bodies originated with the ambassador, who was said to be taking no action toward putting his ideas into actions until further instructions. The choice of Archibald as a dispatch bearer both for the German and Austro-Hungarian governments, it was declared, was without sanction from abroad.

While everywhere it was admitted that the situation created by the American note might prove a serious one in its effect upon the relations between the two governments, it was pointed out that the language indicated clearly a desire to have Dr. Dumba recalled without making a diplomatic issue of his case. No mention was made of the order given the ambassador to proclaim his government's decree to Austro-Hungarians working in this country. An ambassador is the personal representative of the head of his government, and a request for his recall does not necessarily mean more than that he is personally objectionable.

Would End Situation.

If the Vienna government should take this view of the case and withdraw Dr. Dumba without entering into the question as to the propriety of his conduct or its right to control the action of Austro-Hungarians in this country, it is declared that there would be an end to the situation for the present at least. On the other hand, persons versed in diplomacy say a disposition to uphold Dr. Dumba would be accompanied with a severance of diplomatic relations. This would be a serious development, even if no declarations of war followed, not only on account of the position in which it would leave the Austro-Hungarians here, but because of its effect upon the part the United States is playing as diplomatic representative of Austro-Hungary and other belligerents of Europe.

Diplomats in close touch with the Austro-Hungarian embassy declare, however, that there is little room for doubt that Mr. Dumba will be recalled immediately upon receipt of Secretary Lansing's request. Baron Von Zweidenek, counselor, probably will be made charge d'affaires to remain as head of the embassy until the end of the war. While ordinarily the failure to send a successor to an ambassador would indicate the displeasure of his government over the request for his recall, the difficulties which would attend the coming of a new ambassador made a distinct difference in this case.

May Follow Own Course.

It is understood Mr. Dumba will not be handed his passport, but will be permitted to follow his own course and await word from Vienna. If he should desire to return home, it would be necessary for the American government to secure a safe conduct for him from the allies.

Constantin Theodor Dumba presented his credentials immediately after the inauguration of President Wilson, succeeding Baron Hengelmueller, then dean of the diplomatic corps. It is significant that in an interview given out shortly after his arrival in America, Dr. Dumba sounded the keynote of his whole activity in the country—improvement in the conditions among Austro-Hungarian laborers in America. He has been one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps, and although in his terms of nearly three years in Washington there had until recently been no momentuous matter which brought him into official relations with the American government, his personality and his frank manner made him a welcome visitor at the state department.

Thirty-four years in the diplomatic service, including posts in London, St. Petersburg, at the Quirinal, Bucharest, Paris, Serbia and Sweden, rounded out his career, which, if it had not been for the present difficulty, probably would have closed here with retirement at the end of the war.

Help Smooth Rough Places.

Ambassador Dumba will leave his signature on no important treaties or memorials, but he will be remembered as a prominent factor in helping to smooth over the rough places when the German situation was at its worst. His visit to President Wilson and his request for the latter's personal intervention for the Austrian prisoners in Siberia was one of the acts which has been placed to his credit at home.

His ardent activity in the interests of his nationals which his friends say was the thing that led him to take the unfortunate step resulting in the request for his recall, was his chief interest.

According to a recent statement to a friend when the possibility of his recall was mentioned, the ambassador's main regret was that he would be forced to leave his post thus destroying his only chance to serve his country in her time of need. He urged that he was unfit to take part in military activity and that his only opportunity lay in representing Austria-Hungary in the capital of her greatest friend among the neutrals.

at all; that such a condition is an even break.

Fires Increase.

"In an effort to reduce the tremendous fire waste we have appealed to the people to be more careful, and the fires increase; we have warned them against their own folly, and the losses grow greater. What then, can we do?

"Of all the fruitfull avenues of information, open to the child's mind, there are none that appeal more directly or respond more quickly and thoroughly than the things that he can see or hear or feel about him. For that reason I am now convinced that the subject of teaching fire prevention in the schools is a most helpful and prolific one.

"I have had the very rare and pleasing opportunity during the past year of talking to some of the school children of Illinois along this line, and it can be truthfully said that the most appreciative and the most responsive audience that one can have are these same school children; quick to catch the point, ready to adopt your theory and anxious to try it out; withal the most fruitful field of sowing imaginable."

Information for Children.

The speaker discussed means of getting the information to the children, and results that might reasonably be expected from the teaching. He said that a 16-page brochure addressed in 1912 to the school teachers of Illinois has developed into a permanent text book known as the "Fire Prevention School Reader." It is now in the press and is designed to be a part of the school course. Lessons are provided in it on the origin of fire; matches, gasoline, kerosene, sparks from flues, lightning, spontaneous combustion, defective chimneys, Christmas trees and kindred subjects. The lessons are drawn from actual occurrences.

"On Aug. 18 a German submarine stopped the English steamer Dunsley about sixteen miles south of Kinsale and was on the point of sinking the prize by gunfire, after the crew had left the vessel. At this moment the commander saw a large steamer making directly toward him. This steamer, as developed later, was the Arabic. She was recognized as an enemy vessel, as she did not fly any flag and bore no neutral markings.

Altered Original Course.

"When she approached, she altered her original course, but then again pointed directly toward the submarine. From this the commander became convinced that the steamer had the intention of attacking and ramming him.

"In order to anticipate this attack, he gave orders for the submarine to dive, and fired a torpedo at the steamer. After firing, he convinced himself that the people on board were being rescued in fifteen lifeboats.

"According to his instructions, the commander was not allowed to attack the Arabic without warning, and without saving the lives, unless the ship tried to escape or offered resistance. He was forced, however, to conclude from the attendant circumstances that the Arabic planned a violent attack on the submarine.

Conclusions Obvious.

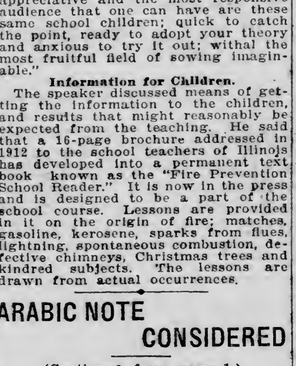

"This conclusion is all the more obvious as he had been fired upon at a great distance in the Irish sea on Aug. 14—that is a few days before—by a large passenger steamer apparently belonging to the British Mail Steam Packet company, which he had neither attacked nor stopped.

"The German government most deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander. It particularly expresses this regret to the government of the United States on account of the death of American citizens.

"The German government is unable however, to acknowledge any obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic.

"If it should prove to be the case that it is impossible for the German and American governments to reach a harmonious opinion on this point, the German government would be prepared to submit the difference of opinion, as being a question of international law, to The Hague tribunal for arbitration, pursuant to article 38 of The Hague convention for the pacific settlement of international disputes.

"In so doing, it assumes that, as a matter of course the arbitral decision shall not be admitted to have the importance of a general decision on the permissibility, or the converse under international law, of German submarine warfare."

"In the Vosges the enemy yesterday attacked our positions between the Lingekopf, as far as Barrenkopf, making use of asphyxiating shells. At Schratzmannele a trench of the first line had to be evacuated following the throwing by the enemy of flaming liquids.

"Yesterday evening the Germans delivered an attack against our trenches on the summit of Hartmannns-Wellerkopf, which resulted in their winning a foothold during the night. We, however, delivered a counter-attack, recapturing the lost trenches, and drove the enemy back to his line.

"Our aviators then bombarded the German mines and batteries in the forest of Nonnenbruck, the railroad station at Luttegach and the railroad station at Grand Pre."

German Statement.

Berlin, Sept., 10.—The text of today's statement by German army headquarters follows:

"West of Souchez, an advanced French trench was taken. The occupants, with the exception of a few prisoners, fell at the point of the bayonet.

"In the Vosges, trenches near positions on Schratzmannele and Hartmanns-Wellerkopf were stormed. Two officers and 109 men were taken prisoners.

"We captured six machine guns and one mine thrower. A counter-attack on Schratzmannele was repulsed with sanguinary loss.

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: The situation between the Baltic and the Niemen is generally unchanged.

"Near Skidel and in the Milwlanka sector fighting is proceeding. The heights near Klecski on the Milwianka were stormed and 1,500 prisoners taken.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: Our pursuing columns are approaching the railway station of Kossow on the road from Kobrin to Milowisy.

"Southeastern theater: "Germon troops have driven the Russians in the direction of Tucnyow on the Sereth south of Tarnopol. Southwest of Tucnyow and near Tarnopol stubborn enemy attacks were repulsed."

MOORHEAD MAN GIVEN SIXTY DAYS

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Failure to pay a fine of $75 and costs caused James Brauer, proprietor of the Northern hotel, to be sentenced to sixty days in the county jail on his being convicted by a jury of having conducted a disorderly house. Despite the finding of the jury, Brauer maintained that he was innocent and that for this reason would not pay the fine. James Murray, May Anderson and Jessie Gregor, who were taken in Brauer's hotel at the same time he was arrested, were each fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct.

HOUSING PLAN TEST PLANNED

Des Moines Proposes to Try System of $8 to $12.50 Apartments.

Des Moines Register: A practical demonstration to prove that individual apartments with modern plumbing, sanitary conveniences and absolute privacy for each family can be built to rent for from $8 to $12.50 a month and yield a reasonable profit to the builder is being made by the Octavia Hill association, in the Kensington district.

The association, which has won a reputation for expert solving of housing problems, has worked out the plan to the smallest detail, and is building houses of this description on a plat 166 by 212 feet at Cambria and Chatham streets. The houses will provide for forty-five families and be completed by October.

The investment, including cost of land and construction of houses, will produce a gross income of 10.9 per cent to the association and a net income, after deducting taxes, insurance, water rents, cost of collection of rents, social work among tenants and allowance for repairs, depreciation and unlets, of 5.7 per cent.

It is a test case to prove that the insanitary and bad housing conditions which prevail for the low salaried workingman are criminally unnecessary. It is voicing an unanswerable protest against the crowded tenement, the dilapidated and insanitary house which is virtually the only kind offered to the man who must pay less than $15 a month rental. The solution to the situation is a business proposition, not a utopian scheme incapable of execution.

Have Only Playground.

There will be sixteen houses built for two families to a house. Each family will be entirely separated from the other, each apartment having its individual entrance. Apartments consisting of two rooms, bath, kitchenette and cellar will rent for $8 a month. Those with three rooms, bath and cellar will rent for $10 a month. Sixteen one-family houses, containing five rooms, bath, cellar and furnace, will rent for $12.50 a month. Each family will have a separate back yard.

One important feature of the properties will be the provision for the children. About 3,000 square feet of ground in the center of the land and inclosed by the dwellings will be used for a playground. The rent collectors are trained social workers, competent to deal with the problems which confront the man trying to pay for life on a small income. There probably will be volunteers to start the playground activities.

The houses, which are of red brick, will be simply finished, with sufficient trimming to keep them from being severely plain. From an architectural standpoint they will surpass anything in the neighborhood, and from a sanitary standard are considered perfect.

Association Supplies Capital.

Before the plans were drawn or the ground purchased, the association consulted representatives of the social service departments of ten institutions and organizations. They believe the result will open the eyes of the municipal authorities to a practical solution of a situation actually existing in the city.

To finance the undertaking, the association has organized the Philadelphia Model Homes company, a separate corporation, which has a capital stock of $20,000, purchased by the Octavia Hill association. The balance of the money required, or $35,250, is being raised by the sale of first mortgages, paying 4.4 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and each mortgage secured on a separate lot and dwelling.

While the apartments represent the first actual demonstration of the kind made by the association, it has been engaged in purchasing, restoring and under-draining run-down, dilapidated and insanitary dwellings in the poor section of the city for eighteen years. It now owns or manages 353 dwellings, which house approximately 2,500 individuals, and never has failed to pay 4 per cent a year to its stockholders.

WAR REPAIR SHIP.

Indianapolis News: Specially equipped "repair ships" to mend breaks and furnish broken parts are a necessary adjunct to the battle fleet. Every modern battle ship carries a blacksmith's forge and a small repair shop which makes minor repairs; but for serious breakdowns the elaborately fitted "repair ship" is used. The most famous of these ships are the Ark Royal, the Vulcan, the Cyclops and the Assistance. The Ark Royal, said to be the only one of its kind in the world, is a floating aeroplane factory, which is equipped for mending seaplanes, aeroplanes, engines and parts, and is capable of building an entire aircraft. The ship is at present with the British navy at the Dardanelles. The Cyclops, a "regular" repair ship, carries 300 skilled mechanics, a complete foundry, where castings can be made, and various repair shops. She is capable of turning out a complete propeller for a big battleship. In addition, the ship carries a large distilling apparatus sufficient to supply fresh water to a number of ships, an ice-making machine and a big steam hammer. The Assistance is a smaller vessel, which makes smaller repairs, which are, however, too big for the battleship repair shops. The Vulcan is a special repair ship for torpedo boats. She carries two huge cranes amidships, which are worked by hydraulic power, and will lift a small vessel clear out of the water in half a minute.

MUNICIPAL COURT SYSTEM OF KEEPING RECORDS IS SCORED BY GRAND JURY

"Is Cumbersome and Woefully Lacking in Co-Ordination."

Clerk, Auditor and Official Heads Are Severely Criticized.

Urge That the City or County Establish Public Hospital.

Severe criticism of the incomplete and inefficient manner in which the auditing of the records of the municipal court has been done for many years past was made by the September grand jury in a report to Judge Bert Fesler in district court at 5:30 o'clock last evening.

The grand jury after spending nearly two days investigating alleged discrepancies charged against Walter J. Richeson, deputy clerk of the municipal court, censures the clerks of the municipal court under which the system was permitted and the city auditors for their inefficient manner in checking the records of the various departments.

The jury also supplements its previous report on hospitals by recommending that the proper authorities take steps to establish a public hospital, with a competent staff of physicians and surgeons, to be maintained and conducted by either the county or city or jointly by both.

Criticism is also made of the financial and judicial departments which have permitted this state of affairs to exist. Its report to Judge Fesler declares that the records of the municipal court are cumbersome and "woefully lacking in co-ordination with the accounts of other departments with whom the clerk's office must have very close relations, with the result that opportunities are presented for dishonesty."

Other Records Complete.

The jury reports that the records of the police department, the work farm and the bureau of public welfare are very complete and seem to be in good shape. The report also criticizes the present system of handling bail monies.

The report in full follows:

"To the Honorable Bert Fesler, judge of the district court:

"We, the grand jury, which convened at the September, 1915, term of the district court of St. Louis county, Minnesota, beg to submit the following report:

"In the course of our deliberations we have found it necessary to inspect the records of the police department, the municipal court, the work farm and the bureau of public welfare.

"The records of the police department, so far as they are kept by employes of that department, seem to be complete and in good shape.

"The records of the municipal court, however, in so far as they are kept by the clerk of court, are cumbersome and woefully lacking in co-ordination with the accounts of other departments with whom the clerk's office must have very close relations, with the result that opportunities are presented for dishonesty.

"The records of the work farm and bureau of public welfare are very complete and any matters reaching the hands of the gentlemen in charge of those departments are well accounted for and complete records kept thereof.

"We find under the present system that the police department keeps a record called a 'blotter,' in which are kept the names and other information respecting prisoners, including the property found on the prisoner and the amount of bail put up, with proper receipts showing the disposition of such property or bail or fine moneys. From this 'blotter' the police department makes a register in duplicate. It has been the practice for the deputy clerk of the municipal court to get one of these registers from the police department and copy from said register a docket of the cases for the use of the judge of said court on the trial of said cases. During the trial of the cases one of the police department registers is in the hands of the police captain, another in the hands of the court officer, and these two parties keep a record of the disposition of the cases as made. After the trial the book which has been in the possession of the court officer, and the docket book, which has been in the hands of the judge, have been taken by the said deputy clerk, who copies from the court officer's record into the docket book a memorandum of the disposition of the cases.

When Fines Are Paid.

"In cases where fines are assessed and paid to the police department it has been the practice for the said deputy clerk to go to the police department and get these fine monies receipting therefor in the police 'blotter.' These fine moneys are presumed to be taken by the deputy clerk to the clerk's office and surrendered to the clerk of the municipal court, accompanied by slips bearing consecutive register numbers, such slips stating the amount of the fine and the title of the case in which they have been assessed. The clerk has no record of these monies, except as they are turned over to him on these slips. The clerk makes his report to the auditor by making a list of these slips and the amounts represented thereby. The auditor in checking up these monies does not go back of the slips which have been given to the clerk by his deputy.

"We also find that in cases where prisoners are committed to jail or to the work farm, because of inability to pay a fine, and after reaching the jail or work farm, either pay a part of or all of said fine, or in cases where prisoners are given in charge of the probation officer to pay fines on the installment plan, that the moneys are handled in much the same manner, as above outlined, in connection with the police department, namely, the deputy clerk receipts for these moneys to the sheriff or to the welfare bureau and is presumed to turn said moneys over to the clerk on a slip in the manner above stated. There is apparently no check whatever between the receipt given by the deputy clerk to these various departments for these fine moneys and the slips given to the clerk. Not only does this practice seem devoid of proper system, but apparently no books are kept of any kind, or in any place, where the accounts of these different departments, bearing upon the same matter, may be brought together and proper records kept. The clerk of the court appears to be in total ignorance of whatever might be done prior to the time he receives moneys accompanied by a slip. We strongly recommend that this matter be given the attention of the proper parties in the city government to see that these faults are immediately corrected.

Record of Bail Money.

"Another matter which calls for severe criticism on the part of this grand jury is the fact that, where bail moneys are surrendered into the hands of the clerk on the slips above outlined and subsequently refunded in whole or in part, no adequate record is made of the handling of these moneys. We find that recently, when the office of the clerk of the municipal court was transferred from one incumbent to another, an unexplained balance of thirty odd dollars to the credit of the clerk was found to exist. Upon checking up some of the records of the clerk's office we find that thirteen dollars and some odd cents of this amount represented a fine, which was held out of bail money, in the possession of the clerk, part of which was returned to the prisoner or his attorney. The amount of bail was $25.00. The deputy clerk took a receipt from the prisoner for the whole amount, but deducted the amount of the fine and made no record whatever of this fine.

"These matters call for immediate correction. We believe it our duty on the facts as presented to us under oath by numerous witnesses to censure the clerks of the municipal court under whose administration these abuses were practiced for many years; the city auditor, whoever he may have been, for the incomplete and inefficient manner in which the auditing of the records has been done, and the official heads of the financial and judicial departments who have permitted this state of affairs to exist.

"Supplementary to its previous report on Duluth hospitals the grand jury would recommend that the proper authorities take steps to establish a public hospital, with a competent staff of physicians and surgeons, to be maintained and conducted by the county of St. Louis, or the city of Duluth, or both jointly.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS OLAFSON,
Foreman of the grand jury.

Dated at Duluth, St. Louis county, Minnesota, on the 9th day of September A. D. 1915."

S. S. S. Greatest Blood Remedy Gives Results When Others Fail

Nature's Remedy for Blood Troubles.

The purifying and curative properties of Nature's great remedy have made "S. S. S. for the Blood" a household saying. Thousands today enjoying perfect health owe their recovery from blood or skin diseases to this universally used blood purifier. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, which possess cleansing and healing ingredients. You cannot be well when your blood is impure; you lack strength and energy natural with health; your complexion becomes pale and sallow; your vitality is weakened. When waste or refuse matter, which Nature intends shall be thrown off, is left in the system, it is absorbed into the blood and boils, pimples, rashes, blotches and other eruptions of the skin appear.

S. S. S. goes into the circulation and removes every particle of blood taint or poison of every character. All skin diseases and eruptions pass away, and the smooth clear skin, glowing with health, shows that the body is being nourished by rich, pure blood. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, all are deep-seated blood disorders, and for their treatment nothing equals S. S. S. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. If yours is a peculiar case write S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

SLEEP, EAT AND WORK IN CELLARS

Spirits of Last Thousand People in Arras Are Undaunted.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Aug. 20.—The comparison made between some of the towns destroyed by war and the ruins of Pompeii is not applicable to Arras. Here there is no uniformity nor logic in the destruction. In the midst of groups of demolished edifices, houses are found nearly intact. In some cases the devastation began at the top, in others at the bottom, depending upon the point of explosion of the projectile.

The population of Arras, which was 26,000 before the war, dropped to 4,000 at Christmas, after two and a half months of bombardment, and was only 3,000 at Easter. In June there were still 2,500 people there, but 850 needy persons, 100 persons suspected of pillaging and about 500 citizens whose presence was not useful have been sent away since. The 1,000 persons remaining have been able to justify their presence by some utility to the town. They are obliged to stick to the cellars; they sleep, eat and work there; what business goes on is transacted there. "The fancy goods store is in the cellar." This sign, which has its counter-part in many places, is seen posted on the doorpost of one building.

The use of shells emitting suffocating gas when they explode complicates cellar existence, by requiring the stoppage of the windows with sacks of moistened sand, yet the spirits of the last thousand are undaunted; their greatest fear seems to be that the authorities will take them away forcibly.

German aircraft are regularly circling over the town and their appearance is generally a prelude to bombardment.

A Foe to Tuberculosis

The Journal of the American Medical Association (August 9, 1913) reviewing an article on "The Influence of Calcium Salts on Constitution and Health," said: "They (the authors) report numbers of concrete instances in which patients gained in vitality and energy after taking calcium."

Doctors agree that in tuberculosis lowered vitality and lost energy must be overcome.

One of the constituents of Eckman's Alterative is calcium (lime), in such combination with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person. To this, in part, is due its success in the treatment of tuberculosis—a service which even some ethical practitioners have acknowledged to their patients. We make no wholesale claims for it but since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, a trial is safe. From your druggist or direct.

SOLDIERS BEING TAUGHT TO PLAY

Part of the Curriculum of the Embryo German Soldier.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Frankfort, Germany, Aug. 10.—"Learning how to play," is now a part of the curriculum of the embryo German soldier who is being prepared and trained for the front. In every garrison and barracks in the empire there are at present thousands upon thousands of recruits, young and old, and every last one of them has to know how to play before he is considered fit for the trenches.

This new policy is based upon the sound principle that the soldier, in the hours or days when he is resting behind the front while his relief fights, must have something to occupy his mind and keep his body fit.

An Associated Press correspondent recently made a fairly comprehensive tour of southern, western and central Germany, and there was not a city without its thousands of men hard at work at the paradoxical combination of fighting and playing.

Rigorous drilling has by no means been omitted from the curriculum of the soldier under training, and he can probably do the famous goose step quite as well as he could in peace time. But, nevertheless, vastly less attention is paid to it than in former years, for the reason that the goose step is not exactly an essential in the trenches of France or Russia.

Frankfort's largest barracks are built around a square—perhaps 500 feet square—a square large enough to accommodate easily a dozen or a score of groups of soldiers. There is the customary marching, exercising in saluting, bayonet duel work, setting up drill, and dummy shooting practice.

The first impression is almost invariably one of confusion, as squads go charging across the parade ground, throwing themselves suddenly to the earth, rising, and charging again.

To the extreme rear of the ground is a series of wooden walls, rising higher and higher into the air. They are imaginary fortress walls that have to be scaled, and for hours the white-clad soldiers mount on each others' shoulders and clamber over. It is this strenuous work that is most popular.

One corner of the parade ground is reserved for the playing, chiefly such simple games as blind man's buff, tug of war, leap frog and the like. The favorite game is one in which a score of soldiers form a circle, while two of their number, blindfolded, attempt to catch each other in the center. It is all absurdly simple, and interesting to watch for a moment, but experience has shown that it has great value in relieving mental strain. The soldier coming out from under fire has about two desires—to sleep and to eat—and after he has done these no amount of reading, or conversation, will make him forget himself as well as physical exercises that relieve cramped limbs and make him laugh.

It takes approximately six weeks of training in the garrison or barracks to equip an infantryman for the field nowadays. If a portion of each day is devoted to target practice, the man of average intelligence can shoot with a reasonable degree of accuracy in four weeks. The cavalry and artillery training take longer, the latter about ten weeks, because the soldier must know something about the mechanism of a gun and its use.

The infantryman does not have to learn anything about a cannon, nor the artilleryman a great deal about marching or bayonet work, and the cavalryman's chief attention is to his horse and his sabre and lance work. But all three have to know how to play, and are taught how with characteristic German thoroughness.

DEATH IN ACTION OF NOTED FRENCH ARTIST

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Aug. 20.—The death in action is announced of Daniel de Losques, an artist whose poster sketches of well known Frenchmen, published in Figaro, have had a wide popularity during the last few years. De Losques was a member of the French Army Flying corps. News of his death reached the French lines through a German aviator who dropped a letter pinned to a small flag, saying de Losques had fought bravely.

CHISAGO COUNTY FAIR.

It Will Be Held at Rush City Sept. 13 to 15.

Rush City, Minn., Sept. 10.—The Chisago county fair will be held here Sept. 13 to 15. A special train will be run from Taylors Falls to Rush City and also from Grantsburg, Wis., to Rush City, on Sept. 14.

The secretary, C. M. Johnson, reports an unusual amount of entries this year in all departments especially dairying and grains.

The fair closes Wednesday with the annual fair ball, following a home talent play at the auditorium.

There are more entries for horse races this year than ever and the track is in excellent condition.

Happy, Happy Wash Day! SKITCH Made It So

No More Rubbing Clothes on a Washboard—No More Making Your Hands Tender And Sore in Hot Suds—Use SKITCH.

"I should worry! No rubbing needed now—SKITCH does it all for me!"

Who'd be so foolish as to rub clothes on a wash-board now when SKITCH will clean your clothes better and quicker without rubbing? SKITCH is a wonder! Use three teaspoons of SKITCH to a boilerful of clothes and it just skitches the dirt out of the clothes while you sit and rest or do up your other work. Mrs. Alice Juhre of 540 Stowell Ave., Milwaukee, says: "My clothes are all out on the line now by 9 o'clock. It used to be 12 and often later before I was done. And I would be so worn out from bending over a wash-board. SKITCH is a perfect godsend to women."

Don't worry for a minute that SKITCH can hurt your clothes. SKITCH positively is guaranteed not to injure the finest fabric. It's so harmless you can even eat a handful of it without hurt.

Get a 10 cent package of SKITCH from your grocer and try it—seven big washings in every package—just a little over a cent to save the hard work of a wash day—less than the soap used in the rubbing would cost. If your grocer won't supply you with SKITCH send his name to me and I'll send you a free sample. Hans Fichtenberg, Milwaukee, Wis.

COLORS, AUTOS, BIRDS, WEIGHTS AND SEASONS REPRESENTED IN DIRECTORY

Swan Lyon and August Wolf, Peter Big and Guy Small, Peter Packard and All the Little Fords, in List of 38,000 Names.

In hurriedly scanning the nearly 38,000 names that are listed in the new Duluth city directory which R. L. Polk & Co. will issue tomorrow it will be observed that all of the colors of the rainbow, all the directions of the compass, most of the well known automobiles, many geographic descriptions, weights and dimensions, birds and animals, trades and occupations, seasons of the year, etc., are represented in the names of Duluthians.

There is Swan Lyon of 315 Fariibault street, August Wolf of 1423 Belmont road, Otto Beaver, clerk at the Y. M. C. A.; Fred S. Bird, an engineer on the D., M. & N., who resides at Proctor, and Mr. Swallow of the Swallow & Hopkins Lumber company. Then there is Gust Valley of 102 West First street, J. E. Dell of the East end, Fred Lake, a baker, employed by the Kaleva company, George W. Pond of 527 East Fourth street, Charles River of 126 West Second street, Jacob Bay of 1307 East Fifth street, Margaret Mountain of 1915 West Superior street, and any number of Hills.

Points of Compass.

The compass is represented by Eva North of 415 Piedmont avenue, Joseph East of 1922 West Superior street, William P. South of Proctor, and John J. West of 315 West First street. Weights and dimensions are represented by Peter Big, a laborer, who resides in West Duluth; Guy W. Small, a publisher, and William J. Small of the People's hotel on Lake avenue; Leslie S. High, attorney in the Providence building; Leon C. High, instructor in the local public schools, and many Lowes. This list is supplemented by eleven Littles of both sexes, all sizes, ages and descriptions.

The gasoline buggies come in prominently with George Maxwell, 525 North Thirteenth avenue east; Attorney T. T. Hudson, John Case, a salesman residing at 606 East Cascade; Thomas E. Chalmers, clerk in the register of deeds office; J. Herbert Paige of 2610 Minnesota avenue; Charles Saxon of 307 Sixth avenue west, and Peter Packard of the poor farm. There are any number of Carters and Whites, and Fords, but "Iona Ford," unfortunately is lacking.

In the color department there are many Whits, Browns, Blacks, Grays and Blues, but only one Violet. John E. Violet of 606 West Third street has this distinction. In tastes there are Solomon Sweet of 464 Mesaba avenue, Ambrosia Sour of 1717 East Eighth street and Miss Lulu Bitter of 619 West Second street. Precious metals are recalled by the names of Miss Bessie Silver of 21 East Second street and Sam Gold of 512 Lake avenue north.

Seasons of Year.

The seasons of the year come in for their share of publicity through mention of Willis W. Spring of Fifty-eighth avenue west, Frank Summers of 224 West Winona street, Leonard J. Fall of 1922 West Third street and Capt. Charles Winter of Minnesota avenue. The commercial end is there, too, with B. E. Baker of 2231 East Third street, Fred D. Ash of 1521 Juniata street; Will Shine of 204 Lake avenue south, John Trader of 1015 East Tenth street, Joseph Talk of 901 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, F. N. Banker of 528 East Seventh street, Thomas Brain, compositor on The Duluth Herald, Miss Alice Brewer 57 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, Arnold Bright of 6116 Raleigh street, C. M. Boss of 4029 East Superior street, Eustace Barber, lieutenant of police, residing at 1105 East Sixth street, Daniel Cash, lawyer in the Manhattan building, Edward F. Chalk of 622 Eighth avenue east, Featherstone Plows of 4721 West Sixth street and Charles Pippin of the East end.

MILLE LACS FAIR.

Governor Hammond and Senator Nelson Will Deliver Addresses.

Princeton, Minn., Sept. 10.—Two notables will feature the annual Mille Lacs county fair, the twenty-fourth one, which will be held here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday as Governor W. S. Hammond and Senator Knute Nelson have both promised to come here and speak, the governor on Saturday at 2 p. m. and the senator on Thursday at 2 p. m. The coming of both of these distinguished Minnesotans is expected to draw large crowds to the fair. Another feature of the fair will be the better baby contest. There also will be some good races.

The buildings and grounds are in splendid condition and there will be ample space for the effective display of all exhibits. All exhibits must be in place by Wednesday evening.

PEARSON DENIES CHARGE OF PERJURY

Indicted for Alleged False Testimony Before Judge Fesler.

Charles E. Pearson, plasterer-contractor, indicted by the September grand jury for perjury alleged to have been committed while giving testimony before Judge Fesler on July 6, last, apepared before the same jurist yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty.

The case in which Pearson is alleged to have given false testimony was one brought by Frank L. Johnson, contractor against J. J. Le Bortous, florist, to recover about $400 claimed to be due as a balance on a contract to construct a greenhouse.

Pearson was a witness for the plaintiff. He testified that he had secured an invoice for certain material from the Duluth Builders' Supply company. The invoice when introduced as an exhibit showed that an alteration had been made in one of the items. The word "cement" had been written in where an erasure had been made, so that the invoice showed that "cement plaster" instead of "hardwall plaster" had been purchased.

On cross-examination, Pearson denied he had made the erasure. Later Anton Pierson of the Builders' Supply company took the stand, and testified that Pearson had come to him on the previous day and asked him for a copy of the invoice and had requested him to make the change.

Judge Fesler interrupted the proceedings and declared that the contradictory testimony was a proper subject for grand jury investigation. The grand jury reported a secret indictment against Pearson and he was arraigned yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He pleaded not guilty and was released on $500 bond.

DULUTH CATHOLICS WILL BLESS GRAVES

Nine Parishes Will Be Represented at Sunday Ceremonies.

Duluth Catholics, representing nine parishes, headed by Bishop James McGolrick, will take part in the ceremonies Sunday at Calvary cemetery, when the graves will be blessed. Bishop McGolrick will be assisted by two priests.

The bishop and his assistants will meet at 3 o'clock at the central mound in the cemetery and, followed by parishioners from all parts of the diocese, reciting the rosary, will march through the grounds, blessing the graves, until the central mound is again reached.

After these ceremonies Bishop McGolrick will preach a sermon in English, which will be followed by one in German by Rev. Father Francis Hufnagel of St. Anthony's parish and one in French by one of the oblate fathers of the parish of St. Jean Baptiste.

Following the sermons the graves will be decorated and cared for and prayers said for the dead.

SPANISH WAR RIFLE CLUB CLOSES CHARTER

Limitations of Membership Lifted; Shoots Will Soon Begin.

Members of the Duluth Spanish War Rifle club closed their charter at a meeting in Memorial hall last evening.

It is now planned to open the membership of the club to other than Spanish war veterans, although it was organized under their auspices.

At the meeting last night it was announced that the rifles are expected during this month, and the program of shoots will begin some time in October. Meetings of the club will be held on the first and third Thursdays of each month.

INDOOR FANS WILL MEET

Baseball Men of Trinity Lodge Would Organize Winning Team.

The meeting of the indoor baseball team of Trinity lodge No. 282, A. F. & A. M., scheduled for last evening, was postponed until tomorrow evening. Members of the team will meet at the Duluth State bank. The election of a captain and manager of the team will be the principal business.

The team won the championship of the Masonic indoor Baseball league last winter. It is planned to get together candidates for the team's lineup that will make the organization again a winner this winter. Practice may begin next week say members of the organization.

AITKIN COUNTY FAIR WILL BE NEXT WEEK

Aeroplane Flight and Other Features to Entertain Public.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are about completed for the Aitkin county fair, which will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the society's organization next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The event will be on a larger scale than ever before attempted. The premiums aggregate $2,363.25 and the purses for the racing program amount to $600. A large number of contestants have entered.

Aeroplane flights will be made on Tuesday and Wednesday. Wednesday afternoon State Auditor Preus will address the audience from the grandstand.

Rochester Man Dies.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 10.—Charles M. Johnson for many years resident agent of the Western Elevator company and prominent in civic affairs, died here Sept. 8 after an illness of four months. Mr. Johnson was 65 years of age. He had served as a member of the board of education and also as alderman of the Third ward. He was active in Masonic circles, and had filled the highest offices of the three bodies in Rochester.

DULUTHIANS AT BAGLEY.

Zenith City Men to Take in Clearwater County Fair.

Bagley, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village and the people of Clearwater county will be hosts to a party of Duluth people next week who are coming here Monday to visit the ninth annual Clearwater county fair on the first day. The party will arrive on the early morning train and will remain in the village until 11:07, then leave on the east bound train for Bemidji. The object of the trip as stated in a letter received by the secretary is to meet the people of this locality and become better acquainted.

Word has been received from Mr. Brown, secretary to James J. Hill, assuring the board of directors of the county fair that Mr. Hill will be here on Wednesday, the last day of the fair and will deliver an address.

SLIGHT RAINS MAY BOTHER THRESHING

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rain fell in this district last evening and may delay threshing operations some. Up to today there has been no delay in threshing. Rain on Tuesday evening held up operations Wednesday only, the threshers going back to work yesterday.

NORTH DAKOTAN IS ROBBED BY GUESTS

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hallum, transients, were bound over to the district court here on a charge of having robbed J. W. Summerfield, a shoemaker of Casselton, of $44. The two spent the night at the Summerfield home at Casselton some time ago and after their departure in the early morning Summerfield claims that he discovered that his money had gone also.

Mrs. Hallum waived preliminary examination and was bound over while her husband stood examination. Both were unable to furnish the bonds imposed and are in the county jail awaiting trial in the district court.

Mill City Musician Dies.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10.—Hermann Wuerz, well-known Minneapolis musician, who died Wednesday in St. Barnabas' hospital, after two years' illness, was buried today. He was 69 years old. Mr. Wuerz was a member of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and of the Metropolitan theater orchestra, and won a reputation as an oboist back in the days of the Frank Danz orchestra. He was born in Germany and came to Minneapolis thirty-five years ago. Illness forced him to retire from the symphony orchestra last spring.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS TAKES ST. CLOUD GIRL

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 10.—With one death reported and with eight cases under treatment it has been decided to placard every home in which infantile paralysis is discovered, Miss Ida Waite, the 20-year-old daughter of Clark Waite, died Sept. 8 from the disease with which two of her sisters are suffering.

Mill City Near Suicide.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10.—Elsie L. Bassett, 26 years old, employed in the library of the University of Minnesota, attempted suicide here by throwing herself from the Washington avenue bridge into the Mississippi river, a fall of ninety feet. The plunge into the cold water revived the girl and she swam ashore. She will recover.

N. P. Officials at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—On an inspection trip in Northern Pacific railway shops and yards yesterday were: R. J. Rapelje, general manager of the Northern Pacific Railway company; H. M. Currie, superintendent of motive power; A. M. Burt, chief engineer; O. C. Wakefield, supply agent; G. C. COMPLETES 1916 BUDGET

Voss Will Submit His Figures to Council Before Oct. 1.

Total Tax Levy for Year Will Amount to About $913,000.

Announcement was made this morning by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, that the 1916 budget is practically completed and that final action will be taken by the council within the next two weeks.

According to the city charter, the finance commissioner must submit to the council before Oct. 1 a complete estimate of the probable expenditures of the city government for the ensuing year, stating the amount required to meet the interest and maturing bonds of the outstanding indebtedness and showing specifically the amounts necessary for each department. For next year the city will have a total of $913,000, which will be raised by taxation on the $55,000,000 estimated real estate valuation of the city of Duluth.

Amounts in Various Funds.

There will be a levy of $100,000 for the interest fund and $80,000 for the sinking fund. A total of $306,000 is included for the general fund, out of which will come all the salaries for the year: $41,400 for street lighting; $56,350 for hydrant rental and fountains; $26,000 for sprinkling; $5,000 for a soldiers' monument; $22,370 for the maintenance of the municipal court, and $7,700 for the upkeep and operation of the aerial bridge.

No levy is made for the utility or finance divisions, the former operating out of its own fund, while the expenses of the latter come from the general fund.

Improvement Fund.

The permanent fund is not complete as yet, although Commissioner Voss expects it to amount to $150,000. Out of this amount will come the expense of improving Mission creek and building the $15,000 fire hall and police station at West Duluth.

Although Commissioners Farrell and Silberstein ask for considerable increases over the budgets of last year, Commissioner Voss said that the $24,000 increase from the 13-mill tax levy and the reduction in the work farm appropriation, will be divided equally among all the departments. Mayor Prince asks for a total of $73,000, including $4,000 for supervised play during the coming year, and Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell, approximately $292,000 and $162,000, respectively.

Farrell Asks More Money.

Commissioner Farrell's budget calls for an increase of $30,000 over last year, but this will be cut down considerably. Mr. Voss said this morning, giving him a probable appropriation of $140,000. Commissioner Silberstein asks for an increase of about $12,000 for additional patrolmen and a new automobile and $4,000 for two garbage incinerator units in West Duluth and Lakeside, but he will receive approximately $12,000 additional altogether, the finance commissioner said.

After passing the 1916 budget sometime before Oct. 1, the council must transmit a statement of the accounts to the county auditor before Oct. 10.

EXCURSIONS UP RIVER.

Beauties of Nature in Autumn Dress Will Be Viewed.

Beautiful in their autumn dress, the trees and shrubbery along the banks of the St. Louis river always present a rare picture at this season of the year. Many Duluthians are planning on going to Fond du Lac next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock on the steamer Chicora, which will run an excursion. The boat will return to the city at noon and at 2 o'clock will make a second trip, returning in the evening at 6 o'clock.

The steamer Columbia, another of the Glow-Nicholson boats, will leave here Sunday morning at 9 o'clock for Two Harbors, returning in the evening.

CRAIG BOOM IS DISCUSSED

Twin City Paper Deals With Duluth Man's Chances for Governor.

Jobholders Opposed, for Craig Favors Economy and Efficiency.

Ever since "Granny" Pease, editor of the Anoka Union, started a boom for Charles P. Craig of Duluth for the governorship, and declared that he is going to keep the memory of it fresh and green, there has been a lot of speculation throughout the state. Mr. Craig has not been home since and therefore no direct statement could be obtained from him regarding the matter but the Twin City papers quote him as saying that "it can never be."

But some of the Twin City papers, like many in other parts of the state, are not satisfied with that. They recall that Mr. Craig has done a lot for the state, serving without pay on boards that worked hard for the welfare of the state, and footing the expense himself, notably the economy and efficiency commission of recent existence, of which Mr. Craig was chairman. He is also president of the state agricultural society, and is enthusiastic in advertising the state in a way that will bring settlers. A St. Paul paper has the following concerning the boom for the governorship:

Job Holders Against Him.

"President Charles P. Craig of the state agricultural society refuses to get excited over the gubernatorial boom that was started for him at legislative headquarters by G. S. Pease.

"'There are at least a half dozen reasons why that can never be,' said President Craig.

"But he declined to go into the reasons, because he has his hands and his head full of fair business.

"There were others on the grounds, however, who were discussing the Pease statement and they were not so certain as Mr. Craig that it could never be.

"They admitted that the fellows who hold down more or less superfluous state jobs under the present system would oppose his election, because he favors cutting off the extra jobs, but they could not see how that attitude would hurt him with the voters and taxpayers throughout the state.

"Besides, the idea of having a competent new man in the field appealed to them. The boom is going on for the present, whether it reaches the primaries or not."

Trieste, which once proposed to make marriage compulsory, might have taken a leaf out of the book of Korea. In Korea until comparatively recently a man was not allowed the dignity of trousers until he had taken to himself a wife. Your gay bachelor had to wear a skirt, and brand himself in the public view as one who had not yet attained a position in which he could support a wife.

ROSS TURNS OVER KEYS

Resigns Municipal Court Clerkship After Long Fight for Office.

Lloyd Assumes Duties; No Change in Staff of Deputies.

After a three months' fight to prove his right to the position of municipal court clerk and that of W. L. Windom to the position of municipal judge, John G. Ross handed his resignation to Judge Windom yesterday afternoon.

It was accepted, and Mountford S. Lloyd, former first deputy, was appointed by Judge Windom to the position of clerk. Today Mr. Ross tendered Mr. Lloyd a check for $1,486 in court funds and turned over the office to him.

His action was not unexpected, as Mr. Ross was appointed humane agent shortly after Judge W. H. Smallwood supplanted Judge Windom and E. A. Thompson was appointed clerk.

When the fight for possession of the municipal bench turned against Judge Smallwood, and Judge Windom again assumed charge, Mr. Ross performed the joint duties of clerk and humane agent.

He announced at the time that the arrangement was temporary, and that he was doing the court work at the request of Judge Windom, so that the records could be kept up to date, and so that the work of the court would not be hindered. Mr. Ross was clerk thirteen years.

Mr. Lloyd, who today for the first time signed warrants as clerk of court, was appointed deputy twenty years ago, when Thomas F. Fairfax was clerk and W. D. Edson presiding judge. He has served since that time, the only interruption being when he was supplanted for a short time by Edward Furni, Judge Smallwood's appointee.

Mr. Lloyd stated that there would be no change in the staff of deputies. Miss Harriett A. Walker, for years deputy clerk, now becomes first deputy clerk, and Edward S. MacArthur, appointed two days ago by Clerk Ross, will continue as deputy.

"For the time there will be no third deputy," stated Mr. Lloyd. "I intend to wait until Mr. Richeson's case is adjusted."

FALL PLAY WILL BEGIN AT ONCE

Two Grounds' Supervisors Appointed and More Looked for.

Two playgrounds will be opened for supervised play tomorrow morning.

J. R. Batchelor, recreational director, announced this morning that he has appointed Richard Duffy and Hugh Shook as his assistants and that they will be in charge, respectively, of the Fifty-second avenue west and Chester park playgrounds, which will be opened to the children tomorrow. The Harrison park grounds will not be opened until an assistant is selected by Director Batchelor.

In addition, Director Batchelor is now looking for a young woman to take the place of Miss Pauline Strode, who resigned yesterday. She has been in charge of the girls and little children throughout the summer season and, it was understood, had planned to remain in Duluth. However, she has accepted an offer to do settlement work in Chicago, her home, and will leave for that city within a few days.

During the last week the city council and board of education appropriated $700 each for continuing the supervised play program from Sept. 1 up to Jan. 1 next. As a result Director Batchelor is today installing all the playground apparatus and his fall program will begin tomorrow.

During the fall there will be a grade school football league, lawn hockey for girls and field sports. Ice skating, coasting, skiing, tobogganing, indoor sports and social center work are included in the program planned for this coming winter.

CHARIVARI TOO NOISY

Former Commissioner Tried to Stop It By Peaceful Means.

Finally Used Force and Is Arrested on Assault Charge.

Roderick Murchison, Duluth's first commissioner of public works and chief clerk of the board of public works for years previous to that, was arrested today and charged with assaulting Morris Brown, a 15-year-old boy living at 517 Eighth avenue east.

The warrant was signed by Oliver Brown, the boy's father, who is a landscape gardener. When arraigned before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting Mr. Murchison pleaded not guilty. He will be given a hearing Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, and was released on his own recognizance.

The complaint reads that Mr. Murchison assaulted the boy by "strangling him with his hands, throwing him to the ground, and kneeling on him."

On the evening of Sept. 6 Miss Louise Murchison, the former commissioner's daughter, was married at her parents' home to Clarence Evans of San Francisco.

The Brown boy was one of a charivari party which surrounded the Murchison home, singing, yelling and pounding on tin pans, according to the version given by Mr. Murchison.

Wife Was Ill.

"Mrs. Murchison was not feeling well," he said, "and I went out and asked the boys to be quiet. They refused at first and, after, telephoning for a policeman, I went back outdoors, intending to watch until he should arrive.

"Finally I seized the Brown boy by the collar and threatened to hold him there until the police arrived unless he would promise to behave and go to his home.

"He refused to answer me and tried to squirm out of my grasp. In so doing, he twisted the collar off his coat and choked himself a little, I understood. I certainly did not raise my hand to him."

The boy's parents claim that he was severely injured by Mr. Murchison, according to police.

As soon as the warrant was sworn to before Clerk M. S. Lloyd, Fred Johnson, secretary to Chief McKercher, telephoned Mr. Murchison and he presented himself to headquarters.

He was led to the jailer's room by Lieut. N. U. G. Terry and Jailer Louis Johnson asked the usual questions, preparatory to entering his name on the "blotter" or "doomsday book."

The former commissioner gave his age as 54 and his birthplace as Canada and seemingly took the proceedings very seriously, although witnesses were inclined to treat the matter as a joke.

Jailer Johnson did not ask him to give his occupation.

CITY BEACH IS SUCCESS

Bathing Facilities Closed for Season; Well Patronized Since Opening.

Commissioners Will Make Improvements for Next Year; Pavilion Planned.

Duluth's municipal bathing beach at Fairmont park was closed yesterday afternoon for the year.

Before the beach is opened again next summer, it was announced this morning by Mayor Prince, a pavilion will be erected and a number of dressing rooms installed. Provision will be made to accommodate much bigger crowds, he said.

"The beach," Mayor Prince said, "has been an unqualified success and will be continued. Next spring we will erect a pavilion in place of the temporary tent used this summer, and will also install enough dressing rooms to accommodate the large crowds that are expected.

"We realize that the beach needs dredging and that many smaller improvements could be made to the natural harbor, but the expense is too large to be considered at this time. However, these improvements will be made before very long, and we expect to have a complete bathing beach."

The bathing beach at Indian point in Fairmont park was opened to the public on July 5 and during the last two months has been visited daily by an average of 200 men, women and children. The road from Grand avenue leading up to the grounds was improved last spring by Henry Cleveland, park manager, who had charge of the beach opening. A temporary tent was erected for the use of picnickers, while twenty-four portable dressing rooms were installed for bathers.

CROWDS AT NEW GRAND.

Charlie Chaplin and Classy Vaudeville in New Show.

With a classy and varied vaudeville show and Charlie Chaplin in a new photo-comedy, the new bill at the Grand made an exceptional hit with the audiences yesterday. Large audiences were present afternoon and evening.

The Gordon boys and Walton offer an excellent act combining song, dance and chatter, all of which is well done and of an entertaining variety. The comedy is clean-cut, and the songs are tuneful and of the popular kind.

Billy Doss, a black-face comedian, has a wealth of good jokes and parodies. His quaint mannerisms and original style of delivery make him a favorite at once.

Zeno, Jordan and Zeno present a comedy acrobatic act of unusual skill and variety. Much of their work is original, and it is all entertaining.

Stein and Hume have an interesting line of songs, parodies and talk. Their comedy is good but often injected at an improper time, especially during the song numbers.

Charlie Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite" is just as funny as ever. The Hearst-Selig News and a Helen Holmes story of railroad life are other film attractions.

BALDWIN PLAYERS LAUDED.

First Appearance in New Orleans Wins Them Public Favor.

The appearance of the Baldwin Players, which marked the opening of the theatrical season in New Orleans, brought forth hearty praise from the press of the Crescent City. One of the papers commented as follows:

"One of the best and probably the best stock company to visit New Orleans in many seasons—this was the verdict of audiences and critics who witnessed the opening performances of the Baldwin Players at the Crescent theater Sunday. In the appealing Bayard Veiller play, 'Within the Law,' the company played to large matinee and night audiences, and made good on both occasions. The appearance of the Baldwin Players marked the formal opening of the theatrical season at the popular priced theater.

Not only did the beautiful magnetic Inez Ragan, who holds the leading role, take the critical first-day audiences by storm, but the general excellence of the company both delighted and surprised. Miss Ragan rose to the trying demands of the ultra-dramatic Veiller climaxes with grace and ease, and gave evidence of capability in every branch of her art. Her charm captivated both sexes, and the gowns she wore, of which the press agent has had much to say, appealed strongly to the feminine contingent.

"Geraldine Blair, the soubrette, appearing as Aggie Lynch, gave evidence of splend'd qualities, and became an instant favorite. She is every inch an actress.

"Walter S. Baldwin, Jr., who enacted the character of Joe Garson, appears to be the premier of the masculine end of the company. He was thoroughly satisfying. The opportunities afforded Robert P. Gleckler, the leading man, in the role of Richard Gilder, the younger, were rather limited and scarcely afforded a fair basis for judgment.

"Other members of the company, among whom may be mentioned Chester McLeod as Smithson; Irvin Lancaster as Edward Gilder; Edith Potter as Helen Morris; William E. Kennedy as George Damarest; Akbert Smith as Detective Cassidy; Jos. A. Flynn as William Irwin, the lawyer; Eugene Webber as Eddie Griggs, the stool-pigeon; George Fox as Inspector Burke; R. C. Robertson, Margaret Knight, Willis Haswin, Willlam Delmar and Pearl Melville, all are deserving of credit for parts well played."

Theater Gossip.

Perhaps never before have Famous Players produced that sort of a comedy which is popularly designated as slapstick. Friday and Saturday the Rex will show "Poor Schmaltz," starring no less a distinguished comedy artist than Sam Bernard, the noted character comedian of the legitimate stage.

SAM BERNARD AT THE REX.

Slapstick though the comedy is, it would count as nothing if the perfect mannerisms of Bernard's were absent. He is very aptly called "A Laughing Success." Through the media of his long list of celebrated stage successes, Mr. Bernard has made hundreds of thousands laugh. In "Poor Schmaltz" Mr. Bernard is presented as a hilarious German wigmaker, who aspires to the honors and privileges and possibilities of a wealthy alliance that fall to the bearer of a title.

The nineteenth century land of milk and honey is South America. The Paramount South American special leaves the Rex every hour Friday and Saturday.

Emmy Wehlen, the brilliant little stage star last seen in the Casino theater production of "Marriage a la Carte," which enjoyed wide vogue in New York and on the road, will be seen at the Zelda today and tomorrow in "When a Woman Loves," which is her first effort as a film actress.

EMMY WEHLEN AT THE ZELDA.

"When a Woman Loves" is a five-act motion picture production, starring Miss Wehlen, who is supported by an all-star cast, with Arthur Ashley, the prominent screen star, playing the opposite role. It is the latest release of the Metro Pictures corporation and is from the studio of the E. A. Rolfe company. The story of "When a Woman Loves" runs as follows:

Ruth, a waitress in a cheap restaurant, contributes what she can to the support of her family at home, until the mother's ill health brings the domestic situation to a crisis.

Having insufficient money for their needs, Ruth is tempted to "play the horses," at which, after losing, she dons male attire, and, entering the poolroom, is arrested in a raid. After a night in the station house her identity is disclosed, as also, her inability to pay the fine. A wealthy young attorney, Arthur Lowe, on the scene at the time, straightens matters out.

The story ends happily with Ruth, her mother and Lowe leaving for a long cruise on Lowe's yacht, and as the stern of the yacht disappears in the distance, Dan Cupid, minus one arrow, stands on the shore smiling contentedly.

This fall, fashion emphasizes fabric rather than form in the new garment designs. It is the new silk—or the new dress goods that give a garment its style, for this season's material is supreme. Fortunately for you, our stocks of silks and dress goods were never so large and assortments never so complete.

SEE THE SILK SHOW AND YOU SEE FASHION'S FINEST.

It is highly enjoyable as well as correctly informative. It comprises a representative collection of the richest silks and velvets, as well as the choicest of tailoring and dress woolens—all so displayed as to give you an idea as to how they will look when made up for you.

While the display includes many rare imported fabrics, it above all else, is a triumph for American manufacturers who have risen nobly to the occasion and are now producing many beautiful weaves in colorings and designs that are fully equal to, and in some cases, quite surpass fabrics formerly to be obtained abroad

No attempt will be made to sell goods at the display on the Third Floor. Those who desire to buy, have opportunity to do so at the Silk Section on the Main Floor. Come and enjoy it.

The New Coats for the Kiddies are here in larger assortments and more effective styles than ever. Here are neat coats that will provide adequate warmth and plenty of service at $2.50 and $3.50 in 2-year sizes.

Smart Military Meltons, Zibelines and Chinchilla Coats that most any boy or girl will be proud to wear at $5.00 and $6.50.

Handsome crushed and plain plushes—fur trimmed—for dressy wear, at $5.00 to $15.00, in sizes 2 to 6 years.

Little Tots' Shop—Third Floor.

Girls' Dresses 50c to $1.50

New plaids have found favor for little folks' dresses, too. Many of these plaids are most attractive for early school wear. There are various other serviceable fabrics in the lot.

Stripes, checks and combination dresses at 50c to $1.50.

Style, Originality, Smartness and Character

In Suits —at— $25 to $35

In Coats —at— $18 to $30

'Twill set your eyes a dancing to see yourself in some of these new models. Styles are so practical and so becoming that you want to begin wearing them at once.

And that's the sensible thing to do. Those of you who buy now get the good of weeks of early wear and just when it is most satisfactory. Why not come here tomorrow?

Why not have your new things while the bloom is on the style? We are strong on talking style—we have a right to. As for price—no argument is necessary—the values are even better than those so remarkable last season. To those of you who know—that fact is sufficient—to those who don't know—'tis time you did get acquainted with Gray's way of selling extra styles without extra prices—and 'twill be to your advantage to come here tomorrow.

September Sale of Blankets

Here are standard qualities from standard mills offered at less than standard prices; in some cases quite a bit less, and in every instance the saving is honestly worth while. Investigate your Blanket Chest now—see what you need for zero weather, or, for the sleeping porch, or, for the unexpected guest—then avail yourself of present opportunities at Gray's.

BUY NOW or Pay More Later

OUR SEPTEMBER SPECIAL ALL-WOOL BLANKETS, $5.00—AN ADVANCE SALE AT A REDUCED PRICE.

A full size blanket—weight about 4½ lbs. Plaids, checks, or plain white with colored borders. Made for us under a most favorable contract. Offered as a great advertisement for George A. Gray Co. September Sale of Blankets $5.00 the pair.

$5.00

FULL SIZE LIGHT PLAID OR GRAY OR TAN BLANKETS, SEPTEMBER SALE PRICE, $3.75.

Just put these blankets alongside most $5.00 blankets if you want to see how good they are—then take your choice of medium dark colorings in grays, or tans, with blue or pink border or from pretty light plaids.

BLANKETS ANY HOUSEWIFE MAY WELL BE PROUD TO HAVE IN HER GUEST ROOM—$6.00 PAIR.

They are soft, fleecy and warm, because they are made from thoroughly scoured Northern wool. Plain white with pink or blue striped borders, also pretty combinations in checks and plaid. Those of you who buy now will best realize the saving you have made when you see the price at which they will sell a month later.

Look at them and feel them. Nine out of ten would say that these were all-wool blankets, but we tell you frankly there is not a thread of wool in them.. A new treatment of cotton makes them seem like wool. They are also probably a bit warmer than ordinary cotton because of their finish.

MANY WILL CHOOSE THESE 80% TO 90% WOOL BLANKETS AT $4.50 AND $5 THE PAIR

A finer looking blanket than the all-wool selling for more money; it also has greater heft. Many prefer the feel of it and many good housewives prefer them because from 10% to 20% of cotton woven into the warp makes them wash very nicely indeed. That's just about enough cotton to keep them from shrinking badly. Handsome patterns in these thoroughly good blankets reduced for the September sale to $4.50 and $5.00 the pair.

SEPTEMBER SALE PRICES ON COTTON BLANKETS

Such reductions as the following are in force:

$2.98 Blankets, $2.25 pair | $1.39 Blankets, $1.00 pair
$2.50 Blankets, $1.98 pair | $1.00 Blankets, 85c pair

98c for Our $1.25 Crib Blankets

Attractively bound with moire are these very soft wool finish cotton crib blankets in plain white, pink or blue. They measure 35x50 inches. The weight and quality is exceptionally good. $1.25 regularly—September sale price, 98c each.

SCHOOL SHOES THAT FIT THE HEAD AS WELL AS THE FEET

Children like smart-looking school shoes—just as much as grown-ups—and of course the high school girls insist on trim footwear. But we insisted on service and comfort as well as good looks in our school shoes. We had to have some lines made specially to our order—but we got what we wanted—and what will please the young people as well as their elders. Come here and see serviceable shoes—that are truly comfortable—and not in the least clumsy looking. The principal lines range as follows—

LITTLE TOTS' SHOES—$1.25 to $2.50.

BOYS' SHOES—$1.50 to $4.00.

GIRLS' SHOES—$2.25 to $4.00.

New Garments to Be Embroi'ed

Needlework enthusiasts have taken up smocking this season. The new designs are here for your inspection. There are dainty gowns, kimonos and caps, stamped, ready to work, at 65c, $1.00 and $1.50.

Also some caps at 35c.

New Turkey Rug Wools $1.40 per Pound

Many women will crochet one or more wool rugs this season for the home or for gifts. Our assortments of the new yarns is now quite complete. Miss Rose will show you how to crochet handsome double-faced or pattern rugs from these extra heavy wools. 35c per skein, or $1.40 per pound.

CUPID MAY YET LAUGH LAST IN HIS BOUT WITH THE LAWS OF MINNESOTA

Common Law Wife Takes Preliminary Step Necessary to Permit Her to Hold Rudely Interrupted Wedding Celebration.

June—the month of brides, trousseaus and orange blossoms—had been picked by Mrs. Louise Plisson, 3418 Coates street, as the month for her wedding with Odiel Depoortere, her boarder. The ceremony was to have been performed on June 26 last, but Fate played a cruel trick on the pair and turned their plans for a honeymoon topsy-turvy.

Mrs. Plisson had a common law husband, who had deserted her and she had secured no divorce. The clerk of the court refused to issue a marriage license.

Mrs. Plisson, however, saw her way out of the difficulty. She turned the would-be wedding supper she had prepared into an engagement dinner. All she had to do was to remove the wedding cake from the table. The guests invited to the wedding understood that there had been a hitch somewhere in the plans.

Files Suit for Divorce.

Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Plisson filed suit in district court for a divorce from her common law husband, Theophile Plisson, who stood in the way of her contemplated marriage with Depoortere. She had lived with Theophile for eleven years after she had met him in Paris in 1898. During the year 1910, he deserted her and their child and went to Canada, she alleges.

Before going away, Plisson sold his house, a squatter's shack, to a relative, Felix Plisson, for $75, but did not secure the signature of his common law wife to the bill of sale. During the summer of 1912, Felix sought to oust her from the property and started an action in district court to determine the title. It was decided in favor of Mrs. Plisson, the court holding that she had rights as his common law wife.

Mrs. Plisson will be obliged to wait six months after she secures her divorce from Theophile before she can enter into marriage relations with Depoortere.

MARINE NEWS

NEW BARGE-LIGHTER BUILT ON SECTIONAL BOOKCASE PLAN

There are using in the Missouri river now a new type of barge, which represents a distinctly new idea in barge construction, and many believe that it can be adapted for lighter use in harbors such as this port. It is claimed that the barge is unsinkable.

The difference between this and other types is that this one is made of separate steel compartments or boxes riveted and trussed together to make one barge. As each compartment is watertight, the barge could not be sunk without puncturing the steel walls of at least half of the compartments at once.

The barges are built of six steel boxes, forty feet long, ten feet wide and five feet deep, placed side by side, two and two, and riveted together. This makes the complete barge two compartments wide and three long, giving total dimensions of 20x120 feet. The end compartments are sloping, to offer less resistance to the water; the middle ones are plain, rectangular boxes.

The advantages are important. In the first place the barges are cheaper and more quickly built. A shipyard is not necessary to make them. They are of exceptionally light draft and are unsinkable. Also the compartments are interchangeable, and a barge could be enlarged, much as a sectional bookcase is built up. It would be possible to make a barge of any width or length by merely adding more compartments.

When loaded with two hundred tons of freight, these little barges draw only four feet of water.

FROST PREDICTED FOR LOW PLACES

Gardens Should Be Protected, Declares Weather Forecaster.

Weather Forecaster Richardson announced this morning that he expects much cooler weather tonight and that there will be a frost in low places and outlying districts.

"I cannot tell yet," said Mr. Richardson, "whether the frost will be light or heavy; but it is just as well to be prepared. Those having gardens, particularly in places back of the hill, where the lake does not have a moderating effect, should take precautions to save their plants and garden truck which may be affected by frost. Low-lying places will doubtless be affected. A covering for plants or a good smudge will do much toward preventing disaster and with the probality for frost tonight, such things should not be overlooked."

"Dry" Brainerd Good.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 10.—Police records show that there were three arrests for all causes in a "dry" Brainerd in August. There were no arrests for drunkenness. A worker in the "dry" cause states that the average arrests for all causes for the four Augusts previous to 1915 in a "wet" Brainerd were 29, of which 19 were for drunkenness.

CANT REPORTED OUT OF DANGER

Jurist Improves After Serious Operation at St. Luke's.

Judge William A. Cant, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Luke's hospital, Wednesday, was reported to be out of danger this morning.

"Judge Cant is improving nicely," said one of the hospital attendants this morning.

Owing to the serious nature of the operation and the condition of the jurist when he went under the knife, his chances of recovery were thought to be none too good. His condition now, his physicians say, points to a speedy recovery.

SAFETY INSPECTOR MAKES HIS REPORT

Government Official Tells of Work During Navigation Passenger Season.

Harris Bennett, collector of customs for the port of Duluth, has received the report of Inspector George C. Luckenbill concerning the present passenger navigation season, in which he tells of his work of ensuring safety on pleasure craft and excursion steamers in this harbor, preventing over-crowding and seeing that proper equipment is in place and available for use in case of emergency.

Passengers checked on and off excursion steamers in this harbor during the season, numbered 80,838, according to the inspector, and he says that many were turned away from steamers when the limit of capacity had been reached. Customs house deputies checked 10,535 additional passengers.

The inspector reported also that during the season thirty-one fines were levied, involving fifty-seven violations of navigation rules by launch owners, most of them consisting of lack of a sufficient number of life preservers, proper lights or other safety equipment. Two hundred and seventy-four launches were inspected during the season.

PASTURES ARE GREEN AROUND FLOODWOOD

Floodwood, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. M. N. Triplett, who just returned home from a visit to the Twin Cities, says pastures in the south part of the state are dry, and burned out, and the livestock looks poor, while around Floodwood the pastures are green and stock looks good. He says he saw very little green grass south of Hinckley, but from that point north he noticed some improvement but nothing to compare with the green clover and wild grasses that are to be seen in vicinity of Floodwood.

He attributes this condition to the fact that our soil here contains considerable marl, and marl is a powerful resistant of drought. It also prevents the soil from baking.

BEMIDJI THINKING ABOUT FOOTBALL

Enthusiasts Figuring on Strong, Fast Team for High School.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Football enthusiasts of the Bemidji high school will hold a meeting Monday evening to elect a manager for the coming year and practice will begin immediately after the organization of the team. Coach Julius Bestul believes that the team of this year will be one of the fastest in the history of the school and expects that they will repeat their brilliant record of last year when they met but one defeat, this being to the Grand Rapids team.

Four of last year's players who will not be with the team this year on account of graduating from the high school, are Fred Graham, Edwin Simons, Leslie Slater and Alvin Olson. New material that is expected to make a favorable showing will be Howard Palmer, Russell Brooks, Myron Plummer, Warren Edwards, Herbert Rako, Dade McIver and Fred and Frank Phibbs. The backfield will be practically the same as last year, with Herbert Warfield at fullback, Ray Johnson and Claude Bailey, halfbacks; Lloyd Tanner, quarterback, and William Walker and George Graham ends. Pierre Grey, a line man of last year will try out for center to succeed Olson, last year's center, and Coach Bestul says that he has several big country boys who will make excellent line men. The fastest teams in the vicinity of Bemidji will be played this year and some good games may be expected by Bemidji football enthusiasts.

CASSELTON CORN SHOW DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Casselton, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the Casselton corn show announces that the third annual exhibition will be held here on Oct. 6, 7, 8, and 9. This is in reality a Cass county corn show and at the two past shows the exhibits have been large. Although the corn crop is expected to be somewhat short all over the state this year the show will be held just the same as the premiums in other departments are exceptionally large and big showings are expected in grain, livestock, poultry and in the woman's and educational departments. The complete premium list will soon be out.

HOW TO BEAT THE STOCK MARKET.

A Wall street expert has a piece in a popular weekly explaining how unbeatable the stock market game is. He gives many instances to prove his point, taking up a great deal of space in one issue, and he proposes to take up more space in another issue.

It hardly seems necessary to consume all this space to prove a thing that isn't so—though it is not unusual to find the man with a bad case furnishing the most elaborate proof.

It isn't true that you can't beat the stock market game. It's the easiest thing in the world to beat. It is true, though, that there is only one way to do it—but that's a very simple way. Here it is:

Keep out of it!

That's the only way to beat the stock market game, and there is nothing you can do that will make the stock market madder.

This Dumba is the man to whom Bryan is said to have remarked that the Washington protests to Germany were not to be taken too seriously. Is the ambassador's activity one of the fruits of this conversation?

A SLIPSHOD ACCOUNTING SYSTEM.

There seems to be some dispute about who is to blame for the slipshod system of bookkeeping in the municipal court which the grand jury has condemned, but no question whatever that the system is bad and dangerous.

It has already brought suspicion on one employe, and even though he can explain the suspicion away, as he says he can and as everybody hopes he can, the fact will remain that the system—which appears not to be much of any system at all—is mischievous and should be corrected at once. The grand jury performed a public service in calling attention to it.

When Huerta realizes that Dumba is to be sent out of the country for what he did, maybe Huerta will try to imitate Dumba.

PEACE TERMS.

Talk of peace terms probably is premature until the warring nations of Europe get ready to talk of peace, yet talk of peace terms there is. Unfortunately it is mainly by outsiders, rather than those from whom it should come to have real pertinence and interest.

Yet the outside world is as much interested in peace and in peace terms as the belligerents. What the world wants to see is a peace made on terms that will work against, not for, a repetition of the world-rocking convulsion that began in August of 1914.

History and experience have shown that territorial conquest is the most prolific cause of war. Should the war end now, with Germany and Austria in possession of large areas of foreign soil, it would be but an armed truce—a breathing spell to last only till the despoiled nations could get ready for another war. Therefore neutrals do not wish to see any annexation whatever of seized territory grow out of this war.

Peace terms which seem mostly likely to stabilize conditions and insure against a repetition of the present debacle of European civilization might be something like these:

1. The restoration and compensation of Belgium.
2. The restoration of Northern France.
3. The recreation and nationalization of Poland by Russia, Germany and Austria as a buffer state, taking in Russian Poland, Austrian Poland and German Poland.
4. No war tributes to be exacted, but each nation to bear its own war debt.
5. An agreement to limit armament, and steps toward some international organization to make war betweeen the nations impossible hereafter.

Some might add to this the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France; but that should be, if at all, only by a vote of the people of those provinces.

So far as it can be avoided, no race should be left unwillingly to the domination and exploitation of another race; for in that condition lies the whole direct cause of this war.

If the Magyars wish to remain under Austrian domination, they should be left there. If not, they should be freed.

If the Bavarians wish to remain under the German empire, they should be free to do so. If not, they should be freed.

If the Bohemians wish to remain part of Austria-Hungary, that should be their portion. If they desire separate national existence, they should have it.

If the Slavs under Austrian and Russian rule are content to remain there, so be it. If they wish freedom, they should have it.

If the Poles are satisfied to serve under Russia, Austria and Germany, there they should stay. If they wish to regain their national existence, the world will hope that they get it.

If the Belgians desire absorption into the German empire, that's where they should go. If they wish to regain their antebellum station as an independent, self-respecting and respected nation, it will be the world's wish—if not its demand—that that wish be granted.

All through history, conquest has been ruinous alike to conquerors and conquered. It has, moreover, kept war alive and made it a constant menace. The less of it there is hereafter, the more secure the world will be against war.

Will somebody please explain exactly the relationship between "bonds" and "certificates of indebtedness?"

DUMBA IS PERSONA NON GRATA.

Of course there could be no other outcome of Dumba's case. It isn't pleasant to be compelled to tell a friendly country that its ambassador is objectionable and must be recalled, but that is precisely what this country has been compelled to do, and Secretary Lansing has performed his duty politely but efficiently.

What Dumba proposed to do, shorn of all superfluities, was to conspire to demoralize American industry by fomenting and financing strikes and lockouts. Moreover, he used an American passport as a means of slipping his plans through on enemy country to his government.

On both counts his invitation to go home was richly earned. He seems inclined to stand upon the fact that he was acting on orders from his government, and it may be that the Austro-Hungarian government will choose to be offended, and in assuming responsibility will seek to make the incident the occasion of a bitter dispute. It is to be hoped that this will not be the case, but that Dumba will be recalled and the incident dropped right there. However, if Austria insists upon refusing to recognize our viewpoint, we shall have to make the best—or the worst—of it.

The recalling of the passports of the American Archibald, who lent his aid and his passport to this scheme of alien interference in American affairs, is also proper and deserved. Archibald, too, has something to explain to the government of his country.

Then there are those naval enthusiasts who emphasize the chance of travel in this world, but talk at the possible opportunity of early embarkation to the next.

THE CROOKED WAR CONTRACTOR.

A military court in Vienna, having found one Adolf Neuron guilty of furnishing for army use shoes not up to military requirements, has sentenced him to fifteen years imprisonment.

As shoes are an important factor in warfare, and as cheating in a war contract weakens military efficiency, the sentence seems none too severe. Neuron's case may by its example serve to keep many other European contractors out of jail.

Let's see—if this Austrian practice had prevailed in this country during the Spanish-American war, quite a respectable collection of contractors would now be two years out of jail. As it is, they haven't been in jail at all.

Let's see—what is the latest rule regarding the onside kick?

THE DARDANELLES AND WHEAT.

The Dardanelles are nowhere near open, and they may never be opened. Yet the Allies are striving tensely to win them, and with men enough and munitions enough and endurance enough they may yet open the way between the East and the West. So, though the possibility isn't insistently near, it is near enough to be worth considering, and many are considering it.

The New York Journal of Commerce, for instance, is figuring out what it may mean in terms of wheat prices; which is, after all, this country's closest point of contact to the problem of the Dardanelles.

"What effect the capture of the Dardanelles might have on the question of peace," says the Journal of Commerce, "can only be conjectured. Russian wheat has been bottled up for a full year, and not only would this be released for the markets of Europe, but the surplus of her coming crop would also be available. This would be a serious blow to American farmers, who have raised a record crop, with the idea that it can be sold as readily as that of last year.

"The United States has 300,000,000 bushels of wheat available for export. Russia may be presumed to have an equal amount stored from her enormous crop of 1914, even allowing for wastage due to the war, and is likely to have as much again from the 1915 crop. But making liberal allowances for all kinds of losses and diversions, Russia must have 500,000,000 bushels of wheat ready to throw on a market already plentifully provided for. She will naturally sell at any price she can obtain, being in urgent need of the money it would represent.

"It requires no gift of second sight to see what demoralization might result in the wheat markets of the world from such an eventuality."

This would be a stronger "bear" argument if the progress of the allies at the Dardanelles were more rapid. If the success of the allies there, meaning so much to the future of their cause, is going to do to wheat prices what it seems likely to do, it is likely to create a situation of mixed sentiments among farmers with wheat to sell and sympathy with the side of the allies.

The size of these incoming quantities of gold—imported and actual—brings back a dim recollection of the former talk about the backing of the Federal league.

A Socialist Theory That Failed

Reginald Wright Kauffman in the Saturday Evening Post.

Ring, bells! Cannon, thunder in the air,
Without shame and without fear
Ring for our kindred; ring for our friends!
Ring for those who die at the front for their country!
If metal should fail, O bells and chimes,
Down from your towers and turn you to cannon!
Sens! Tonnerre! Carlepont!
Argonne! Argonne!
Lyons, Rennes, Strasburg and Paris!
Versailles! Versailles!

No, gentle reader, the original of this rough translation of a French war hymn is not the work of Paul Deroulede, professional patriot-militarist. It is one of a series that has been appearing daily in La Guerre Sociale, that famous newspaper established to oppose international wars, organize the Socialists and workers of France against military service, and advocate armed rebellion should France for any cause take up arms against any nation. And the shrieks of La Guerre Sociale in favor of the present war but echo those of all the powerful Socialist papers in warring Europe.

The editor of La Guerre Sociale is a man before whom the advocates of battle were supposed to tremble. He is Gustave Herve. He was No-Compromise Herve, the Sea-Green Incorruptible of Universal Brotherhood. English Walling, himself the Junius Brutus of Socialism, numbered him "among the most influential representatives of the extreme revolutionary wing" — Herve, hounded by hateful militarist capitalism from one college to another; reviled, imprisoned; proudly signing himself "A Man Without a Country;" preaching everywhere so sternly the doctrine of antipatriotism that it has been known as Herveism; flaunting in his paper the phrase, "Down With the Republic!" leading the congress of Nancy with a resolution calling all reservists "to strike and rise in insurrection on the outbreak of war."

It was Herve who wrote: "In no case can Socialists slaughter one another for the present countries; an international war that would set German and French Socialists at each other's throats would be the failure and the shame of the International!"

Yet the outbreak of the present war saw this same Herve a veritable recruiting sergeant, enlisting French Socialists in a war against a German army, one-third of which is composed of German Socialists. And what he did was, in effect, done, each for his own country, by every powerful Socialist leader of every country embroiled in the European conflict.

Is it any wonder that plain men of all sorts and the rank and file of Socialism in particular have asked, "What has happened to the great international Socialist brotherhood?"

The Socialist theory of war prevention failed last year, because the Socialist leaders were either incompetent and did not know the relative strength of their own forces and the forces opposed to them, or were politicians and did not care; they were either deceived or deceivers.

And the theory will continue to fail, because the creed of those who framed it and who alone attempt to translate it into action takes too much account of the material to leave place for the spiritual—deals so largely with mass impulse as to neglect individual character. When, last August, the time came for spiritual courage, the spirit was gone; when character was needed, character was simply not there.

Vienna, a City That Doesn't Care

Gerald Morgan in the New Republic:

Vienna is one of Europe's great capitals, the seat of an empire; at present, now that the Russians are in retreat from Galicia, the seat of a victorious empire. Yet the atmosphere of Vienna is not the atmosphere of victory.

I walked through a great park there one sunny afternoon and watched the children playing. The boys were all wearing sailor caps and I amused myself reading the name of the ships. I was surprised to find among them the "U. S. S. Pennsylvania" and "New York." Continuing to read, I observed also—I was scarcely able to believe my eyes—"H. M. S. London," "Terrible" and "Bulwark.' This caused no comment. One saw the "London," the "U-9" and the "Radetzky" peacefully crowded together over the same mud pie. In other words, the boys who triumphantly carried the insignia of the Emden or the Kaiserin Elizabetha showed no hard feeling toward those who bore the shameful mark of British "navalism." No doubt the economical instinct of careful Viennese housewives was responsible for this state of affairs, but imagine what would happen to a boy in Hyde park or in the Champs Elysees who wore a "U-9" cap, or to a boy in Berlin with the "London."

The truth is that Vienna doesn't care. I am told that very recently a city ordinance was passed there putting an end to the cap scandal, but the feeling which underlies that scandal is beyond the power of the court. In Budapest, as in Berlin, such a thing simply could not happen.

But Vienna is between two fires—between Tirpitz and Tisza. Win or lose, Vienna's day is done; the road which Cracow went and Warsaw went opens before her steps. Found wanting in the day of trial, it is in Berlin and Budapest, not in Paris or London, that one hears her condemnation.

"Not all the devils in hell," said Tisza before the Hungarian parliament when Italy declared war, "shall prevail against us."

"Till the last German is killed," says Berlin.

And what do they say of Vienna, of her officers, her royal family, her influence—"less of a help than a hindrance."

"It is wonderful," Vienna says, "how we of different races, Austrians, Slavs, Ruthenians, Italians, Transylvanians, Bohemians, have held together." This is quite true, but it is behind the Hungarian leadership that they fight. Hungary is a nation, Austria is a seat of government—that is the difference.

Vienna would like to have her life—her culture, music, good breeding—guaranteed by someone else. She does not wish to be a ruler any longer; she is tired of that. Yet she knows now that she will surely be crushed beneath a Hungarian, a German or a Russian yoke. Win or lose, Vienna's day is done.

The Baby.

I use' to be the baby
'Fore the other baby came,
I didn't know that maybe
I'd have to change my name;
But now I'm only "Brother,"
He's "Mother's precious pet"
(I guess she's stayed my mother,
But I haven't ast her yet).

I thought, though he was tiny
And he looked so very queer,
He'd get over being whiny,
When he found that I was here.
I thought before we knew it
We'd be chummy as could be;
But I ain't a-goin' to do it,
'Cause he isn't nice to me.

I mustn't even hold him
Less he drops onto the floor,
An' it doesn't do to scold him;
It just starts him in to roar.
I am goin' on to seven,
And I go to bed alone;
But I wisht he'd stayed in heaven
Till he'd got a little grown.

P'raps some day there'll come another,
It would be a funny joke;
Then he'd have to be the brother
An' be told his "nose was broke."
It would start him yellin' maybe,
But I'd tell him just the same,
That he couldn't be the baby
When the other baby came.

Great Wealth and Inheritance

Editorial in the Chicago Tribune.

In every immense accumulation of wealth continued as such by inheritance laws there is a restriction of opportunity for the many whose labor is a part of wealth created. It is not only that the disposition of persons in possession of money acquired without effort is to become parasitical and to impair the economic health of society by making prodigious drafts upon resources without contributing to the work which develops the resources. It is also the fact that money in great amounts centrally controlled has the tendency to monopolize opportunity.

In our individualistic scheme of things we concede without complaint that a man's efforts shall be allowed to produce for him, subject to such laws as exist and are enforced, whatever wealth they may. It is not conceded that he may transmit to his posterity this accumulated wealth in any manner he sees fit, and it is not conceded that even an individualistic society is uninterested when monopoly of opportunity can be so handed on from a worker to a possible non-worker.

The report of the investigators of the Federal commission on industrial relations, as it covers this phase of the inquiry, is again divided into group opinions, varying from the suggestion that $1,000,000 ought to be regarded as the maximum which can be passed on to heirs to the proposal that society make a larger draft upon accumulations by a graduated tax upon inheritances.

Until the theory is more generally accepted that the enjoyment of vast fortunes without work is a danger to individualism and, that the right of such enjoyment is not necessary to the principle of individualism it will not be much worth while to consider means of breaking up or making inroads upon the accumulations.

"We have had only demagogic treatment of the dissipation of American wealth in European societies. This is unfortunate, because there is an injustice in such employment of American resources, and when it is described only by the cheap orator in the cart it is cheapened by his cheapness.

American women inheriting great wealth and marrying men living abroad and American men expatriating themselves and devoting the proceeds of their American-made wealth to laudable purposes in the foreign countries in which they elect to reside do put a drain upon the resources of this country.

The country is so wealthy that the question is considered here more sentimentally than materially, but the drain is similar in a way to that which wrecked Ireland, and if the United States were not so rich it would be felt.

The American wealth distributed abroad is nearly all inherited wealth. To such extent as it is distributed abroad it represents a restriction of opportunity in the land where it was made. National resources are nearly all now represented in the terms of money. There are no gold lands open to the discoverer. The soil is not open to the frontiersman. Courage and hardihood cannot strike out into the unknown and make something where there was nothing.

Opportunity for the masses of Americans means the operation of money and when money made here is used elsewhere there is to that extent restriction of opportunity. That may be a small element in the sum of our welfare, but it is worth considering.

There is, more importantly, the consideration that the work of many beings goes into the accumulation of great wealth, and, conceding, for the preservation of our individualism, that a man has the right to control what he has earned, there remains the question of how much a man who has not worked may control.

Morally and spiritually there can be no question that a sharp limitation of inheritances would be salutary. The number of persons socially diseased and made parasitical by inheritance may not be great in proportion, but such persons are conspicuous, and their ideas can permeate national life to its detriment.

A limitation of inheritances would recognize, by taking up the problem where it does, the right of man to what he can get within the law. It would also recognize the claim of the public, whose native resources and whose work made the wealth under the intelligence of this man, as superior to the claim of the heir who may have done nothing or little towards it.

How the wealth is to pass back to its source need not be considered until the theory is recognized that it ought to pass back. There is nothing in the theory which would deny the heir the right to affluence. It would merely restrict the power given by a great accumulation which far exceeds even extravagant demands which might be made upon it by the individual inheriting it and would stipulate that wealth shall increase opportunity for the many rather than restrict it.

How You Can Make Your City Better

Philadelphia Evening Ledger: Be a man, not a goat (or a rabbit).

Do your own thinking. Find out what sort of city you live in. Search your mind and see if that is the kind of city you want. Is it giving you a just return for your money? Is it making life better for your wife? Is it doing its best for your child, in sanitation, in milk inspection, in schools, in playgrounds, in parks? Is it watching after your interests every minute of the day? Is it looking forward further than your eyes are capable, building for your future and the future of your family?

If it isn't, think out who's to blame. Yourself, first of all, for letting your brain lie idle. Then your representatives for taking advantage of your docility. Set your thought to work chastening your representatives.

Don't let the political boss think for you. He won't think your way. His bread is buttered by your passivity, and he knows it. He will never do anything to wake you up. While you sleep he robs the till.

Don't expect the business man to act for you. He may put your thought into action; he has done so many times. But don't fall back in dependence on stealing some of a busy man's time and energy. It is you who have the bigger stage in civic righteousness. The business man needs an honest city government; but you need that and something more—an instrument of constructive welfare. The business man has his income, his capital, to keep him and to do his bidding; you have only your fellows. Linked to them by the vote you can forge that sword of protection, that tool of helpfulness, the perfect city.

And if you don't think, if you don't vote, if you can only cast your ballot for the old conception of an open city till, what about democracy? Can it exist? Democratic government is a failure, a bigger failure than any autocracy that ever ruled over slaves, unless you think its way to triumph.

Advice to Young Men.

Argonaut: The Rev. John McNeill, the Scotch preacher, who has been conducting revival meetings in San Francisco of late, is never at a loss for an answer. Once in his career a smart young man, thinking to perplex him, sent up the following note, requesting a public reply: "Dear Mr. McNeill—If you are seeking to enlighten young men, kindly tell me who was Cain's wife." Mr. McNeill read the note, and then, amid breathless silence, said: "I love young men—inquirers for truth especially—and should like to give this young man a word of advice. It is this: Don't lose your soul's salvation inquiring after other men's wives."

An Important Consideration.

Washington Star: "Poverty," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "is no disgrace."

"No," replied Mr. Growcher. "Poverty is like wealth in one way. The amount of respect attached to it depends entirely on how you came by it."

"Peace."

Were half the power that fills the world with terror,
Were half the wealth bestowed on camps and courts,
Given to redeem the human mind from error
There were no need for arsenals and forts.

The warrior's name would be a name abhorred!
And every nation that should lift again
Its hand against a brother, on its forehead
Would bear for evermore the curse of Cain.

Down the dark future, through long generations,
The echoing sounds grow fainter and then cease;
And like a bell, with solemn sweet vibrations,
I hear once more the voice of Christ say "Peace!"

Peace! and no longer from its brazen portals
The blast of war's great organ shakes the skies!
But, beautiful as songs of the immortals
The holy melodies of love arise.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

The city council last night referred to a committee a resolution requiring the street railway company to build a double track extension from Thirteenth avenue west on Superior and up Piedmont avenue to Third street. A motion to reconsider the resolution compelling the company to build a double track up Twentieth avenue west was tabled for a week. The West enders are divided on the question, some favoring a line on Piedmont avenue and others a line on Twentieth avenue. A resolution was passed calling for the construction of a combined market and armory on the city lots at West Duluth at a cost not to exceed $3,000. It was also decided to lease the store at 1908 West Superior street for market purposes until Dec. 1 at a monthly rental of $20. Mayor Lewis announced the appointment of David S. Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintus, the Sunshine Man.

"He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire."—Luke iii, 16.

Spirit of Christ, baptize me into Thy pain. Teach my soul that my Lord's pain is the only road to my Lord's joy. Give me the greatest of all Thy gifts—the love that weeps for lovelessness. I would feel what He felt when He beheld the city and wept over it. I would know that I am like Him by having sympathy with His tears. Let me too be saddened with the sins and sorrows of the crowd. I shall learn that I am in communion with Him when I am baptized with the pain of His fire.—"Day Unto Day."

Our present life in Christ may be compared to that of the seed; a hidden life, contending underground against cold and darkness and obstructions, yet bearing within its breast the indestructible germ of vitality. Death lifts the soul into the sunshine for which a hidden, invisible work has prepared it. Heaven is the life of the flower.—Dora Greenwell.

Dayton, Ohio.

Wet Versus Dry in Minneapolis.

Chicago News: Under the county option law of Minnesota, Hennepin county, in which is the city of Minneapolis, is to vote Oct. 4 next on the question of banishing saloons from within its borders.

Minneapolis has a population of approximately 350,000. No American city of the size of Minneapolis has as yet voted on the question of excluding saloons. None of the states having statewide prohibition contains so large a city. The outcome of the election therefore will be of general interest throughout the country. There are special reasons why the vote in favor of making all Hennepin county anti-saloon territory may be exceptionally large.

Minneapolis has a very large proportion of residents who are of New England descent, and the old New England stock is supposed to be antagonistic to the saloon. Of the citizens of foreign birth or parentage the largest proportion is of Scandinavian origin, and the Scandinavians are considered more friendly to the prohibition idea than are those whose parentage is traced back to other European countries.

Aside from the worldwide tendency now in evidence to restrict the liquor traffic, there is in Minneapolis a strong political opposition to the liquor interests. Many persons who are not prohibitionists in principle are going to vote against saloons on Oct. 4 as a protest against the evil influence of the saloon in politics.

The spokesmen for the liquor interests insist that Minneapolis will not vote dry on Oct. 4. No efforts, however, are being spared by the friends of the saloon to poll the entire anti-prohibition vote of the community.

Why Democracy Falters.

The New Republic: The bitter fact is that our education is too poor, our leisure too short, our work too crowded for any serious grappling with the questions which every day's newspaper sets before us. We could not be prepared for any such calamity as that which disturbs the world. True. But behind that unpreparedness lies an archaic and stingy educational system, a grinding and wasteful system of industry, a neglect of those arts and sciences which steady the mind and recreate it from day to day.

Our jerry-built cities, our soot, the cracked paint of our houses, the dusty carelessness of city life, its flaring second-hand amusements, are the setting in which people lose the vitality to deal with those problems which they dare not fail to solve. The helplessness of our discussion is the natural result of years of unventilated, unirrigated haste. It is the price of our distrust of thought, of theory, of realism, of intellectual integrity.

How can we labor with the labor problem now when we have always left it to the cranks? How can we deal with the international problem when we have lived in isolated indifference? Doesn't it follow that these problems will either not be solved at all, or that they will be solved over our heads and without our consent? Surely it is tragic to talk of the voice of democracy when the democracy is uninformed and prostrate before its tasks.

Sister Used Another Word.

Kansas City Star: Little Molly had been very trying all day. That evening, when her grown-up sister was putting her to bed, she said she hoped the child would be a better girl tomorrow and not make everybody unhappy with her naughty temper. Mollie listened in silence, thought hard for a few moments and then said, wisely: "Yes, when it's me it's temper; when it's you it's nerves."

Clever.

Philadelphia Ledger: The famous detective gasped as he arrived at the scene of the crime.

"Heavens," said he, as he looked at the window through which the thief had escaped, "this is more serious than I expected. It's broken on both sides!"

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

ON TIME IN MORNING; LATE EVERY EVENING

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last winter I was first attracted to the columns of the Open Court by the letters regarding the conditions of the lumber camps in Northern Minnesota. Some clever letters were published in the Open Court at different times denouncing the conditions under which the lumber-jacks were supposed to be working and some interesting letters were published in defense of the camps.

If such an agitation was started through your columns last winter for the betterment of the lumber camps in the north woods why could not some movement be undertaken to better the conditions of a great many men working within the limits of our city. This thought prompts me to tell through your Open Court columns of the injustice to most of the employes of the largest industrial plant in our city.

Every morning, Sundays included, for the last three months, the Northern Pacific has been taking eleven coaches of men to work at the Steel plant and not once in all that time has the train been late. This speaks well for the ability of the railroad company to do things right if they want to.

We employes of the Steel company on day shift are through with our day's work at 5:15 p. m. and then those who make up the crowd that fills to overflowing the eleven antiquated coaches of our Northern Pacific train, have a short walk to the depot (not as good as a tank town freight shed) to wait for the train and a long ride home. The train is due at 6:20 at the Spirit Lake club house station, but in the last three months the train has been on time but five times. The train is usually more than ten minutes late but within the last month within fifteen minutes of schedule seems to be its limit.

Our service from the Northern Pacific has taught us to be patient and long suffering but lately we can't help wondering why the same railroad system which gets us to work on time every morning fails miserably to get us home at night on schedule.

Not only is the train late leaving for Duluth but from Morgan Park to West Duluth the train creeps along so slowly that a person can get off and walk up and catch the coach ahead, while two conductors try to punch tickets for approximately 700 men besides taking tickets for many picnickers from Fond du Lac. Are not more men available who could be taught to operate a simple card punch for punching our tickets?

We can't help but think, while waiting for the train these nights, that something is wrong somewhere. A train can be run over this line on time every morning. Why not at night? Indifference on the part of Northern Pacific and Steel company officials is the cause.

Would is not be possible for some of Duluth's representative citizens or commercial clubs who are advocating a big celebration for the opening of the plant in November, to use some of their influence in trying to have the running schedule of the Steel plant train kept up for the convenience of the company's many employes? We all believe that our officers "way up" could by a little effort have this injustice remedied.

With the hope that this appeal may come to the attention, through the Open Court, of some one who may give us a helping hand, I am

Sincerely yours,
A WORKING MAN.

TEACHING CHILDREN THE WAR SPIRIT

To the Editor of The Herald:

My foreign-born neighbor is in trouble again, now school has commenced, for last spring she said to me: "I feel so bad, my Willie he goes to kindergarten, and brought me this home," handing me a card board figure of soldier and a gun which lay on the top of the kitchen range under her personal charge, for he had told her to take care of his little soldier-man and not let any one have it. She made her trip yesterday to the school to get her boy out of the military atmosphere of the kindergarten class as she thought it was not right to teach babies to shoot "with guns," but as the boy is under 6 years old it is the goose step for him if he goes back to school during the next few months, so she did not leave him but brought him home. I suspect that is the reason he was kept out of school last winter, but that did not stop him from marching around with toy pistol and wooden sword looking for something to kill with the children that did go to kindergarten. He keeps "ma" on the "qui vive" and she thinks he is quite aggressive enough for her peace of mind and other people's comfort for there is not a thing he will not climb over or look under if it has got an underside. Poor "ma" is in a cold sweat most of the time now the young idea is learning to shoot figuratively as well as literally, especially when he can get a war-picture that carries him back to savagery even to shooting at the enemy through knotholes in the board fence that marks the boundary line of the other country.

When our schools teach this gun and flag nonsense that says "My country right or wrong," this group system that fanatically keeps one nation at another nation's throat and prevents the brotherhood of man, I am inclined to think that this mother who keeps her baby out of school to prevent him becoming a warrior bold when only 5 years old has more true American citizenship in her little finger than some of our blatant swash-bucklers have in their whole body, even if they have occupied the presidential chair or some seat in our legislative halls. "Ye hypocrites! be these your pranks? To murder men and give God thanks," and above all teach our children to do the same.

Duluth, Sept. 9. CHIPS.

WORK FOR THE SCYTHE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The lower side of Superior street between Seventh and Eighth avenues east, from the sidewalk to the D. & I. tracks, plastered as it is with burdock, Canadian and buck thistles, ragweed, pigweed, nettles, mustard, foxtail, etc., is certainly an eye-sore and a disgrace to the city, and should get on the nerves of our sensitive safety commissioner could he but see it. A man with a scythe for a few hours could clean up this mess, and it might be a starter towards cleaning up other messes throughout the city. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Duluth, Sept. 9. OBSERVER.

THE SEMI-MONTHLY PAY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

At the last session of the state legislature there was enacted a law requiring that corporations pay their employes twice per month. Why shouldn't the city pay its employes the same? It would appear that they are just as worthy of receiving their pay every two weeks as any other body of workingmen.

This is merely a hint to the commissioners. Will they act?

DEFENDING MR. WALSH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The following communication was sent to the News Tribune in answer to an editorial which appeared in the issue of Sept. 3, but to date it has not been published.

The Tribune claims to be open and above board. It had the right to attack Mr. Walsh. After doing so it was open to attack, and as Mr. Walsh was not here to defend himself, I, in my humble way, have taken up my pen in his defense, and claim that Mr. Walsh was right in direct contradiction to the News Tribune.

P. G. PHILLIPS.

West Duluth, Sept. 9.

"To the Editor of the Tribune:

"In your editorial of the 3rd you condemn Frank Walsh as chairman of the industrial relations committee for what appears to you as the wasting the public's money. In what way, Mr. Editor, you did not say, but hinted that there was much in big business that the average person should not know. Is it not the average person's money that Mr. Walsh wasted if he wasted any and why should not Mr. Walsh tell the people what he found? It is for the people as a whole to judge his work rather than a few bourgeois agitators who are trying to make it appear there is nothing wrong in the relations between capital and labor.

"Mr. Walsh, the man who knew no fear, who braved the lion in his den, who chastized the millionaire gentleman and gave him to understand that the people had sent him upon a mission that they expected he would perform to the best of his ability, this he did and because he revealed the true causes of unrest in this country, and told the people so, you believe him to be a traitor and a mountebank.

"There is much of a poisonous nature that has found life in the editorial sanctum of the Tribune, and it appears to be the policy of the Tribune to decry any act that would benefit the common people. So hoping that there are other Walshes who will raise a little Hell and disturb the peaceful slumbers of the Tribune in the near future, so we may hear some more roars, we will pass it by as enough said."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Iodine the Ideal Antiseptic

PEROXIDE, bichloride of mercury, carbolic acid, boric acid, listerine, and various other popular antiseptic agents have their drawbacks. Either they are poisonous in themselves, or they are too weakly antiseptic in practical use, or they actually irritate or injure the tender young tissue cells and so delay healing

Iodine has come to be the standard disinfectant for the skin and fresh wounds. While iodine does not absolutely sterilize the uninjured skin—that is, it does not destroy all the bacteria present on or in the skin—still it most nearly accomplishes that purpose. In practice it is found to be the most desirable disinfectant for the skin.

The tincture of iodine, official in the United States pharmacopeia, is rather too strong; it should be reduced with alcohol, one part tincture to two parts alcohol. The British pharmacopaeial tincture is weaker and suitable for use without diluting.

Before operation the standard preparation of the skin is now summed up in the mere swabbing on of iodine, the skin being not washed for twelve hours before the iodine is applied. Water causes skin cells to swell and obstruct small spaces between glands of the skin where germs may lurk beyond the penetration of the iodine.

Every family medicine cupboard should have a glass-stoppered amber bottle of tincture of iodine, diluted with alcohol as above suggested. It should be resorted to as a dependable antiseptic for every wound, no matter how trifling or deep the wound may be. Just be sure that the iodine reaches every nook and corner of the wound. Then do nothing more but protect the wound from any further contamination. If a mere cut or scratch, paint it with flexible collodion; if a larger wound, apply sterilized gauze, or freshly baked muslin or linen, without touching your fingers to the cloth that is to come in contact with the wound. Avoid salves, cotton and court plasters on fresh wounds; these things encourage infection.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ear Drums, Factory Style.

Are ear drums injurious in any way? I mean the kind sold for those who have perforated drums from inflammation. Do they help deafness?

Answer — Dangerous experiment. Better leave it to a competent ear specialist who has examined you. If a light plug of cotton in the ear improves hearing, an artificial drum might do so; otherwise not.

Ever Hear Them Squawk?

Miss W. R. explodes thusly: I've had a beautiful case of acne for two years, and I am just sick of having the old gossips squawk—"Oh! what is the matter with your face?!!!" Please send me all the help you can in the inclosed self-addressed envelope.

Answer—One consolation for an elderly maiden is the fact that she has outgrown her pimples. We are coming to the rescue by return mail.

Anaemia.

Is a person very anaemic when the blood test is eighty?' Would that condition cause weak spells? Is anaemia a cause or effect? Would catarrh of the bowels cause it?

Answer—In health the hemoglobin percentage is from ninety to one hundred. Eighty per cent hemoglobin is only a moderate anaemia. (2) Not of itself alone. (3) Usually anaemia is an effect. Find the cause and don't reply upon mere blood tonics. (4) Catarrh of the bowels is vague; digestive trouble might cause anaemia.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

NIGHT SCHOOL! NIGHT SCHOOL!

Every young person in Duluth should know about the Duluth Business university night school. Twelve teachers are in charge of the night school work. Courses are given in stenography, bookkeeping, penmanship, English, court reporting, higher accounting, salesmanship and transportation. Satisfaction is guaranteed in all departments. For full particulars, call at the college office, 118-120 Fourth avenue west, Christie building. Office open from 8 a. m. to 12 p. m., from 1 to 5:30 and from 7 to 9. New classes will be organized in all departments on Monday, Sept. 13. Location, 118-120 Fourth avenue west, Christie building, W. C. McCarter, principal.

WEEK-END PROGRAM FOR Y. M. C. A. BOYS

A watermelon social will be held by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. this evening at the association's gymnasium and pool, at which time there will be "stunts," a swim and a watermelon feast, for which plenty of large, juicy ones have been provided.

Tomorrow there will be an excursion to Park Point, the start to be made at 2:30. As there will be bathing and other things, swimming suits and lunches are to be taken by the boys. An afternoon of bathing and other sports will be followed by lunch and in the evening there will be a marshmallow roast at a big bonfire.

Religious meetings for the boys' department will be started a week from next Sunday.

Bankers Adjourn.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 10.—The annual convention of the American Bankers' association adjourned last night after electing James K. Lynch of San Francisco president, and Peter K. Goebel of Kansas City, Kan., vice president for the ensuing year, and recommending that the 1916 convention be held in Kansas City, Mo., a choice which was ratified tonight by the executive council. Cleveland and Milwaukee filed invitations for the 1917 convention.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CATARRH

A Germ Disease That Can Be Stopped By Killing Germs Which Cause It.

A good many claims are made for this and that remedy for Catarrh and doubtless, if you are a sufferer from this disease, you have yourself tried many of them and received no permanent benefit.

The fact remains, however, that there is a way to get rid of catarrh forever and certainly the method most likely to succeed and to cure where all else has failed is one that your own druggist has so much faith in that he will sell it to you on a positive guarantee of success or money back.

That's exactly the way that Boyce Drug store and many other leading druggists in this vicinity are selling Hyomei, the great Catarrh germ-killer, a wonderful medicated but pleasant smelling air which you breathe into your nose, throat and lungs through a small inhaling device that druggists furnish with it. Hyomei is made from the pure healing oil of Eucalyptus, combined with other powerful germicidal ingredients and it not only clears up the head and air passages and heals the sore, swollen inflamed membranes of your nose and throat but it goes farther and does more. Its penetrating air is absolute and positive death to every catarrh germ in your system. It destroys them utterly. And when the germs go the disease and all its disagreeable symptoms stop. If you have Catarrh breathe Hyomei. Its the only sensible thing to do and you gain nothing and lose much by waiting until the cold, damp season sets in. Cure that case of Catarrh now while you have the weather in your favor. Don't trust to memory. Cut this out of the paper now and take it into your druggist the very next time you pass his store. Insist on getting the complete outfit which includes the rubber inhaler as it is very necessary to use this inhaler to get best results.

JEWISH HOLIDAY SEASON WILL BE CELEBRATED UNTIL SEPT. 30

Duluth Jews are now celebrating their holy season, which began with Rosh Hashanah, or New Year's day, at sundown Wednesday, and which will continue until Sept. 30, with the observance of Sheminl Atzereth, the feast of conclusion.

At the reformed temple the members concluded the Rosh Hashanah services yesterday noon, while orthodox Jews are holding additional services until sundown tonight. Rabbi I. Teplitz officiated at the Adas Israel synagogue this morning, when an augmented choir rendered a special song program.

This evening at Temple Emanuel, Dr. Maurice Lefkovits will conduct the regular weekly services, although the program of music and prayer will be in conformity with the present holy season.

Next Friday night local Jews will begin the observance of Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement, when all adults must fast from sundown Friday until sundown Saturday. It is the holiest day of the season and the most sacred in the Hebrew calendar. There will be special services at Temple Emanuel and the Adas Israel synagogue on Friday evening and all day Saturday.

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 23, will start the Feast of Tabernacles, or Succoth, the Hebrew fall festival, which continues for an entire week. The last day of the festival is called Sheminl Atzereth, the feast of conclusion, which brings the present holy season to an end.

Sibley's New County Seat.

Gaylord, Minn., Sept. 10.—The county seat removal election held in Sibley county Wednesday resulted in a change of the county seat from Henderson to Gaylord. The vote was the largest ever cast in the county, 2,200 voting for removal and 1,512 against. Gaylord won by a majority of 688, or 158 votes more than the 55 per cent required.

Need of Music in Daily Life

Walter Damrosch Comments on Gifts of Wealthy Men to Advance Music in America.

Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony orchestra, believes there is a real need—a human need for music in daily life, that the end and aim of life is happiness and that happiness comes through the appreciation of beauty.

Says Mr. Damrosch: "By beauty we must not conceive of that external beauty of nature alone—the beauty which brings delight only to the eye—we must also comprehend the supernatural beauty which comes to us through the creative mind of the master artist. In this respect the artist is closer to God than the rest of mankind, and being gifted with a vision of beauty which the ordinary world has not yet perceived, he is able, through his art, to make that vision real to the world.

"Alas, for the man whose sole object is merely to accumulate material things. How, indeed, is he better off than the beggar whose only aim is to live from hand to mouth? We were all placed here so as to pass our days with actions which, if they do not make life eternal, will at any rate serve to make every moment richer in beauty. The cultivation of the sense of the beautiful does more towards achieving real soul delight than anything else, and the appreciation of the beautiful is the base of all higher education.

"Music is an art in which the conception of the beautiful is in no sense based upon the physical world which surrounds us. Its power to evoke an inner dream of beauty is greater and more immediate than any other of the artist. Music is a language which begins where words end—a vision which is made clear long after the eye can no longer perceive.

"As most men and women have to spend a great part of their lives in duties the object of which is merely to obtain the wherewithal to prolong life, it seems to me an absolute necessity that music should enter their lives largely and constantly in their hours of relaxation in order that their lives may not be merely animal. The man of affairs who tries to do without music atrophies part of his soul—blots out one of his God-given privileges. Music has obtained such a strong foothold among the civilized nations of the world that it accompanies us all from the cradle to the grave.

Value of Music.

"When men of wealth or men of affairs have turned to the study of music and its benefits to the community, many have resolved to foster music with very liberal means. There is something very significant in this. These men are supposed, by the public, to be business men, pure and simple. They are supposed to demand a dollar in return for every dollar given out. Some of them are all that but they are something far more. They are business men with a real vision. They realize the value of music to the individual and to the state. Boston owes its splendid symphony orchestra to the enthusiasm of Col. Higginson, who, as a young man, became an ardent student of music, and later, after becoming one of the great bankers of this country, decided to found and endow a model orchestra. In New York, Harry Harkness Flagler, a highly-gifted and accomplished musical amateur, endowed the orchestra of the Symphony Society of New York Institute of Musical Art with $500,000. Andrew Carnegie has given liberally to churches, irrespective of religious beliefs, with the view of enabling them to install better organs. Joseph Pulitzer gave a fortune to the New York Philharmonic society, and, indeed, it is possible to record many munificent gifts to music made by men of means. In the field of opera, Otto Kahn, W. K. Vanderbilt, Clarence Mackey, Harold McCormick, Eben Jordan and E. T. Stotesbury have contributed millions towards giving America the best opera in the world. It must be very obvious that these men have given abundant proof by their enormous donations and by the time they have given to the study of music that they regard it as one of the vital things in life.

"I wish with all my heart that the rank and file of American men would feel this and resolve to devote more time and attention to music than they do at present. The benefits they would receive could not be counted in dollars, but if we had a unit of happiness as definite as the dollar, they would all die millionaires."

Styles of 4,000 Years Ago Have Been Revived

According to archeologists the present fashions hark back to those of 4,000 years ago. A scholar who is versed in the characteristics of the old civilization of Crete, which has been revealed by excavations made within the last fifteen years, stopped in amazement recently before a costumer's shop in New York. The gown that held his attention was made with a tight fitting bodice, a deep V in front and a high flaring collar behind. The skirt was composed of four or five ruffles falling over each other, giving the appearance of a bell.

"Amazing!" he exclaimed to his companion. "Almost an exact replica of the faience figures of the earth goddess which Sir Arthur Evans discovered at Knossos!"

To the companion who was as ignorant of Knossos as of feminine styles, he showed a little figure, the copy of the one found in Crete, whose costume was strikingly like the one in the shop window.

There was a short-sleeved, tight-waisted bodice of dark orange, with purple ribbons; a heavy belt; and a flaring skirt with seven flounces, made in a checkerboard pattern of dark purple and light blue.

Days of Babylonia.

"That lady," said the archeologist, "is either the earth goddess or one of her priestesses, and the figure was made probably 2,000 years before Christ. It was found in the remains of the capital of the Cretan kingdom, which was contemporaneous with the palmy days of Egypt and Babylonia, and had reached probably as high a state of civilization as either of them. In the matter of female attire they were far more advanced than any of the other great nations of antiquity, and it is no surprise to me that modern costumers are coming around to Cretan fashions once more.

"This gown is a fair specimen of the general style of the dress of the Cretan woman of the upper classes. The flaring skirt, the narrow waist, the low-cut corsage—these are practically constant characteristics. Considering that it was about 3,000 years before women began to draw in their waists again it is somewhat surprising to find that the Cretans had apparently developed corsets much on the model of those worn in the 80s. They often wore transparent waists with heavier jackets over them, the geenral effect being strikingly modern.

"Hats were usually made with rather low crowns and wide brims, but, while in classical Greece and Rome there was little variation on that model, the Cretans had about as many kinds and conditions of hats as any age up to the present. Usually the brim was turned up before or behind, or all around, and there was considerable use of ribbons and other trimmings. A conical hat surrounded by a rolled brim and decorated with three rosettes sounds modern, but the model is 3,400 years old."

CHEAP STREET CAR RIDE.

Wall Street Journal: An El Paso man who had been in New York says that the cheapest electric railway ride in the world can now be secured on the line of the El Paso railway which operates across the bridge into Juarez, Mexico. The franchise of this line provides for a fare of "10 cents Mexican," and real money in Northern Mexico has now been replaced by the paper money of the Villaistas. This is worth about 4 cents on the dollar of American money, and under the franchise the street railway company must take this money from its passengers in Mexico. As a result, a ride can be obtained for about four-tenths of a cent. The street car company collects tickets and this Mexican money by means of registers, while a cash fare box handles the real money. The Villa shinplasters have plenty of color and are well engraved, but as far as real values go are not held in esteem.

WHY TAKE CHANCES?

When the greatest authorities in the country tell you that raw milk—no matter how carefully produced—is apt to contain disease germs, why permit milk in your home which is not pasteurized?

Pasteurized milk doesn't cost one cent more than the kind which has not been made safe.

Nothing is put into the milk and nothing is taken out of it.

Neither the taste, digestibility nor food value is in any way affected.

Numberless tests show that children, when put on a pasteurized milk diet, show health improvement almost immediately.

Dreadful epidemics, almost without number have been directly traced to raw milk supplies.

Not a single epidemic has ever been traced to pasteurized milk.

The reason is simple, pasteurization destroys ABSOLUTELY ALL of the disease germs.

In the face of such convincing facts we ask: WHY TAKE A CHANCE?

Able Exponent of Plant Industry

Alice Henkel, Writer of Nine Bulletins on Botany, Proves Valuable Aid to Workers in This Field.

Miss Alice Henkel, a botanist of the United States bureau of plant industry, has written nine bulletins which are in such demand that many reprints have been made of each, and they have been classed among the "best sellers" of the office of the superintendent of documents.

Miss Henkel comes of a family of pharmacists, doctors and botanists. After she was appointed to the department of agriculture, she was urged to specialize in some scientific subject, and took up medical botany at a school of pharmacy in Washington.

Undertook First Experiments.

She was placed in charge of all correspondence and work relating to medicinal plants, and under the direction of a botanist undertook the first experiments in drug-plant cultivation in the testing gardens of the department of agriculture.

Miss Henkel's bulletins have been used as reference books by many leading pharmaceutical colleges and dealers in crude drugs and have been widely quoted in the pharmaceutical press of this country and Europe.

One example of the farreaching influence of her work, which holds special gratification for Miss Henkel, came to her recently in a letter from a small mining town of Pennsylvania. She was told by the writer, a young man who had become a cripple in a mine explosion, that after reading her bulletins he decided to follow the business of collecting medicinal plants to sell to drug firms, and find out if he could become self-supporting. He said that he had been successful and was able to make a small amount of money—enough, at least, to keep his mind off of his condition and lift him out of the helpless class.

Discussing her most popular bulletin, "Weeds Used in Medicine," she said: "I could go through the entire list of medicinal weeds and they would all be familiar. In some cases the American-grown plants have never been used, the imported article being relied upon solely. In the case of digitalis or fox-glove, of which large quantities are yearly imported, the leaves of the wild American plant have been assayed and found equally as good as the European article. However, this grows only in certain parts of the West, but it has there assumed the character of a weed.

War Creates Drug Demand.

"The European war is renewing interest in the sources of our drug supply. It has been urged that by properly educating the drug collector in the careful collection and preparation of the medicinal plants which are found in the United States many of the foreign drugs, now imported in large quantities, may be replaced by those growing in our own fields and forests.

"American collectors are not always perhaps as careful as they might be in gathering and preparing their drugs for market.

They need to be careful as to the proper time of the year at which the different plant parts are to be collected; then, too, care must be exercised in drying, so that the curing may go on uniformly. Lack of attention to these details will result in a drug inferior not only in appearance, but also in therapeutic efficiency.

"It was with this idea in mind," Miss Henkel went on to say, "namely, to aid the collector in properly identifying the various drug plants and to furnish him with detailed instructions as to how to proceed in gathering, preparing and drying crude drugs for the market, that I undertook the preparation of the various bulletins on the subject."

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Worship of Criminals.

Why is it that the moment a man is accused of murder he immediately becomes the object of intense interest and pity to a small army of women? They shower him with all the attentions in their power, write him letters and even try to visit him in his prison cell. It makes no difference what his alleged crime has been against one of her own sex.

Women flock to see a murderer when his trial is in progress, rave over his good looks, if he has any, and quite often endow him with many beauties and virtues that he does not possess. They sit unblushing while the minute details of a horrible crime are freely threshed over by the lawyers and return again the next day to hear more in the same line.

What is it that arouses this feeling of interest and pity in their hearts for an alleged and even condemned murderer? Is it the mother in them that rushes to protect and comfort one in sore and serious trouble? Is it the spirit of taking sides with the weakest, the most erring and usually the most unworthy so universal in women, where a man is concerned, that accounts for their never very discreet and sometimes unwomanly conduct under these circumstances?

Some one suggested to me that women are less amenable to law and order than men and that this wholesale sympathy with criminals of the lowest and most disgusting order is one way they have of showing their lack of respect for the majesty of the law. I believe the feminine love of notoriety at any cost is responsible for much of this objectionable and offensive conduct among women.

Since a woman of character and common sense never seeks to make herself conspicuous in the least, those who give themselves over to this very doubtful manner of expressing what they call sympathy may ordinarily be counted as vain, foolish, notoriety seekers and a disgrace to their fairer, pure-minded sisters.

It is possible to alleviate the dreary monotony of men forced to spend long terms in prison, even though they may well deserve their punishment, by little acts of kindness. There are, however, better uses to which one may put one's sympathy and gifts of various kinds than in showering them on men held for murder.

ON THE IRON RANGES

LAKE COUNTY TO BE HOST

Ninth Annual Fair at Two Harbors Next Week Promises Much.

Friday, 17th, to Be Duluth Day and Many Duluthians Expected.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Details for the ninth annual Lake county fair, Sept. 15, 16 and 17, have been completed and everything indicates the fair will be the largest and best ever held in the county regardless of the fact that early frosts caused some damage to garden truck.

A new building has been added so there may be plenty of room for all the exhibits. It is expected that the livestock department will be a feature, fine premiums having been offered in this department and it is expected that every farmer in the county having choice stock will exhibit.

Duluth day will be Friday, Sept. 17. Special single admission tickets have been prepared for Duluth people and will be used only for them on Duluth day, so the society will be able to determine just how many Duluthians attended. A special train, for the accommodation of Duluthians, will leave the Union station, Duluth, at 1 o'clock Friday, returning at 4 o'clock. The roads between this city and Duluth are in first class shape and it is expected that many will come by auto.

Children's Tickets Free.

All the school children will be furnished with tickets, free of charge, so all will have an opportunity to attend the exhibit. Children under the age of 12 years will not be admitted after 7 o'clock in the evening unless accompanied by their parents.

There will be a stock parade at 2 p. m. Friday, on Fourth avenue only.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Wilson of the university experiment station to have the judges on the ground on Thursday, the 16th.

The women's department is expected to be a big attraction and the following have been appointed superintendents: Floriculture, Mrs. Austin G. Johnson; art and needlework, Mrs. Albert Hanson; household fabrics, Miss Ingebor Anderson; painting, Miss Lea Boyer; pantry and kitchen, Mrs. E. M. Owens; canned fruits, Mrs. W. Lorne Fowler; jellies, syrups and pickles, Miss Rossie Gillon; boys' and girls' department, Mrs. Victor Olson.

Other Department Heads.

The following superintendents have been selected in other departments: Horticulture and agriculture, A. E. Webb; poultry and eggs, George H. Spurbeck, superintendent, and Robert J. Tunman, assistant superintendent; livestock, Iver Amundson, superintendent; horses, James H. Lunz; dairy, Archie Gerioux; manual training, C. A. Campton, superintendent, C. P. Wagner, assistant superintendent; girls' and boys' department, A. E. Webb, superintendent, Mrs. William Wade, assistant superintendent.

All entries must be in place not later than Wednesday evening. Special music has been arranged for each evening at the fair grounds. The Two Harbors Marine band will play each evening and will also head the stock parade.

John C. Dwan, local postmaster, announces he is going to make a parcel post exhibit. This is the first time anything like this has been attempted here and it is expected to be a feature of the fair. Mr. Dwan will exhibit the various features of the parcel post system. He will show how farm machinery, such as plows and other heavy implements, can be shipped by parcel post.

TOWN HALL AT TWO HARBORS CONDEMNED

State Fire Marshal Says It Is Bad Fire Hazard.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Fire Marshal Hargadine today issued an order condemning the town fire hall of Two Harbors, Minn. The building is a frame structure and, according to Mr. Hargadine, is a very bad fire hazard.

CHISHOLM SALOON MAN IS REFUSED LICENSE

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The council Wednesday afternoon refused Charles Peranti, doing business in the Rubloff building, a renewal of liquor license. Two renewals were granted.

President Fugere wanted to know who authorized the work of graveling a portion of the lake bed at the foot of Lake street, as the matter had never come up for discussion at council meeting, nor was it authorized by him. Street Commissioner Abbey said that the chairman of the board of health had ordered it done, as the stench arising from the lake was a menace to health.

The repairing of 200 feet of sidewalk to the north of town next came up for discussion. Trustee Ulrich suggested that J. J. Hayes be sent a bill for the amount, as it was his fire that destroyed it. It was finally decided to have the work done.

Several residents of Maple street asked that the sidewalk be extended. The sidewalk committee recommended the work, but nothing was done in the matter.

A petition was read from Matt Jasner and others praying for a sidewalk on Ash street. Referred to streets and sewers committee.

Monthly bills and payrolls were allowed.

WONDERFUL REMEDY IN TIME TO SAVE WOMAN

Mrs. Williams Gets on Way to Health After First Dose of Treatment.

Mrs. Peter Williams of 2749 Eighteenth st., S. Minneapolis, was desperately ill with stomach trouble. She faced the probability of an operation.

After taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, discovered for her by a kind friend, she found herself on the way back to health. Mrs. Williams wrote:

"I have taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for the fourth time and I am feeling like a new woman. I am entirely out of pain. I had been sick for eighteen months and four of our best doctors could do nothing for me. They all agreed that an operation was the only thing. One day a man told my husband of your remedy and that night he brought it home to me.'

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

CHISHOLM SCHOOLS ARE WELL ATTENDED

First Enrollment Shows Substantial Gain Over Last Year.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Schools opened Tuesday with a total enrollment of 1,916, an increase of 147 over the number enrolled at the close of the first month of school last fall, 769.

High school, 943; Lincoln, 499; Monroe, 299; Myers, 120; Shenango, 55. The enrollment in the high school proper was 146, which is twenty-seven more than the number enrolled at the close of the first month a year ago.

The country school has not yet opened as living apartments for the teachers, recently erected, were not ready for occupancy.

It is expected that the enrollment at the country school will be about fifty, which would bring the opening mark up to 1,966. It is probable that the total enrollment will reach the 2,100 mark, as there are always a number late in enrolling.

Night school classes in all branches for which there is a sufficient demand will open the first week in October.

SIX HIBBING WELLS YIELD MUCH WATER

Despite Flow Secured, Another Well Is Now Being Driven.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—More than the guaranteed 3,000,000 gallon capacity has been developed by the six wells drilled south of Alice in connection with the new water system, according to O. J. Ogran, who is superintending the water development work for Mrs. Layne & Bowler company. Actual tests of the first five wells show a capacity of more than 2,750,000 gallons of water a day, while well No. 6, now being pumped develops more than 280,000 gallons a day. Despite this fact, Superintendent Ogran said work will be pushed along on well No. 7, now being drilled. This well shows an extraordinary formation and with this added to the general supply there will be no question as to the capacity.

Reservoir and Power House.

Construction work on the reservoir and power house, the contracts for which were sublet to the E. W. Coons company, is progressing rapidly. The concrete floor and walls have been poured and hardened while work in pouring of the reinforced concrete pillars will commence soon. Work on the power house has been completed so that brick laying will commence this week.

R. J. Morehouse, engineer who has charge of the construction, declared that this work will not be completed until the first part of November. By that time, it is expected, pipe lines from the wells to the reservoir and from the reservoir up town will be layed. The E. W. Coons Contracting company is doing this work. The trench for the pipe line from the water tower to the reservoir is being dug by a steam shovel which is quickly bringing this line to completion. Only a few days work remains before the line from the water tower to the reservoir will be completed.

VIRGINIA AGAIN WINS.

Ball Players Take Another Game From Hibbing Aggregation.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local baseball aggregation defeated the Hibbing Colts here again yesterday, 3 to 2. Jimmy Withers, former Northern league and American association star was on the slab for the visitors and used his curve ball with success. Five Diggers whiffed, while eight Virginians hit safely. Hawkins was found for four singles and a double.

CHISHOLM SCHOOL BOARD HAS MEETING

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board rejected all bids for conveying children to and from the country school, being considered too high. The Range Lumber company, the Mesaba Fuel company and the King Lumber company each tendered the same price for coal, and the contract was divided among the three. The price for Pocohontas was $5.25 per ton and for Youghiogheny $5.35.

RANGE FOOTBALL IS TO BE CONSIDERED

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of superintendents and athletic directors in the several range schools will be held here Saturday noon to arrange a schedule of interscholastic football games for the coming season. The different high schools are hopeful of having strong teams, and the opening of the season is being looked forward to with unusual interest.

STUMP PULLER IS SNAKING THEM OUT

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Flynn stump puller purchased by W. M. Pratt of the Miners' State bank, and placed on the Harris farm, has demonstrated its usefulness. In four hours Wednesday no less than twenty-four large stumps were pulled from the ground easily. The machine in one day and a half cleared five acres of the largest stumps in this section. In one week, Mr. Harris expects to clear up thirty acres of stump land and judging by the progress made it will be easy. The work was done by three men, all inexperienced.

Buhl Teachers' Reception.

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A reception for the teachers of the Buhl and Kinney schools will be held at the auditorium of the high school Friday evening, Sept. 17. All the people of Buhl and Kinney and throughout the district are invited, in order to give the teachers of District No. 35 a chance to get acquainted with each other and with the people of the district. There will be dancing and other forms of entertainment.

VIRGINIANS HONOR OLD-TIME RESIDENT

Smoker for R. L. Griggs on Eve of His Leaving for Duluth.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-four years R. L. Griggs has lived here, during which he has figured prominently in everything pertaining to the advancement of Virginia, probably never brought more joy to him than the splendid tribute offered by 100 or more well known residents at the farewell Commercial club smoker in his honor last night in Elks' hall on the eve of his leaving for Duluth to reside.

The honor guest, who has been a live wire member of the Commercial club and whose named has been linked with the growth of Virginia, made a feeling speech of response.

President M. A. Murphy of the Commercial club presided, and predicted a brilliant political future for Senator Griggs and an excellent business career for R. L. Griggs.

W. S. Eaton, long a neighbor of the Griggs family, told of old days in the city.

Rev. Hans J. Wohler of the St. John's Episcopal church, of which Mr. Griggs is treasurer, gave a witty address.

Attorney Sigvert S. Dahl, for twenty-two years Mr. Griggs' friend, gave one of the best addresses of the evening. He told of Mr. Griggs' school days and work as a man.

"Democracy was always a keynote with Dick and his brother, Harold, despite their possession of the worldly goods," said Dr. Dahl. "The Virginia public schools were good enough for them and they graduated from both the local public and high schools. They did not go away to any high-priced Eastern college, but went to the best university in the country—the University of Minnesota."

That Mr. Griggs has the germ of success was a declaration made by Attorney Edward J. Larsen. Others who paid tributes to him were Charles L. Eaton, L. M. Barrett, Thomas Gill, E. D. Philbrook, Assistant County Attorney Edward L. Boyle, J. H. Eagan, B. F. Britts, R. R. Bailey, R. A. Peers, Al G. Flournoy, William Fitzgerald, D. W. Stebbins, Charles Grabowsky, W. J. Munroe, M. H. McMahon, Harry S. Gillespie and Supt. P. P. Colgrove.

Origin in Response.

"I am certainly sorry to leave Virginia," said Mr. Griggs, in accepting a cigaret case presented by the Commercial club. "I came here when I was 6 years old and have resided here since. I am now 30 years of age and have watched Virginia grow from a mining hamlet to the 'biggest little city in the world.'

"I do not deserve all the honor that you are paying me tonight. I came of good stock and all credit is due my parents. I have been lucky and opportunity has knocked at my door. However, I believe I have always been sincere in my actions and feel that I have no enemies here.

"Here is a secret—I never did like the old water and light plant business. It made enemies for me and I lost friends—a thing which I did not desire. However, since I and my associates disposed of the plant I have regained the lost friendships and I treasure each one.

"In my new field I will have a chance to do more work—and I like work. I will try to bring the range closer to Duluth. I will try to fill every place in life and will always call Virginia my home."

A resolution presented by the Commercial club committee, consisting of M. F. Marion, Fred L. Schoening and Edward J. Larsen, was adopted by a rising vote.

HIBBING INJUNCTION HAS BEEN AMENDED

Made to Include Proposed Concrete Conduit Through Park Addition.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—In serving an injunction against the village officials enjoining them from completing the construction of the pavement from Hibbing proper to Alice addition, a distance of one mile, the mining companies forgot to include the construction of a concrete conduit through Park addition.

Another injunction, virtually an amendment to the original complaint, was served on the village recorder today.

Both actions will come up before Judge H. A. Dancer at district court at Duluth Sept. 18.

Conduit Not Necessary.

The first complaint alleges that the conduit through Park addition is unnecessary and made for private benefits.

It charges Mayor Power with being partly interested in the sale of land in this addition. It estimates the cost of the conduit, which would have been about 1.800 feet in length, to be $25,000.

HIBBING MOTORISTS BACK FROM SPEEDWAY

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Banks and Walter Camp have returned from the Twin Cities, where they motored to see the auto races on the new speedway. They made the trip in the rebuilt car, made by Mr. Banks, which is designed after a racing model.

Road conditions were reported as extraordinary, but Mr. Banks ridiculed the report of several motorists that the trip had been made in nine hours. "That is averaging more than thirty miles an hour," Mr. Banks said. "I don't know how fast we went; we stopped twice for lunch and made several other stops and yet made the trip easily in one day. However, I know we did not average thirty miles an hour."

In trying out his machine on the Minneapolis track, Mr. Banks started at the bottom of the fair ground hill and attained a speed of more than sixty-one miles an hour on the top. Then, he said, he only had the machine in third speed. The machine has four speeds ahead and can easily make the 100-mile mark on a level track, he believes.

GILBERT'S NEW HALL PLANS CONSIDERED

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the village council, President Dr. Fred Barrett, Trustees Kohler, Campbell and Markus and Clerk T. H. Sharpe went to Duluth for a conference over the plans of the new village hall, which are being drawn up free of charge by the engineers of the Steel company.

With a few reductions in price from the plans as originally laid out, it is probable that they will soon be forwarded to the council and the work of construction can proceed. The building will be of two stories with a basement and have quarters for all the city departments. While the entry of the engineers of the Lake Superior Tax association into competition with the local engineers and architects is not viewed with general satisfaction, it may result in economy, but many are of the opinion if such work is necessary it should be done by a bureau of state engineers such as now supervises the plans of sewer and waterworks installations.

LA RUE MINE WILL SOON BE SHIPPING

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—About thirty men were put to work Thursday morning at the LaRue mine and it is expected that the mine will begin shipping soon. This property has been closed down practically all summer and its being opened again will mean a boost to this village.

Stanley Mahon of Wakefield, Mich., is employed as superintendent of the LaRue mine washing plant which is being made in readiness for operation very soon.

STRAY COW NUISANCE BOTHERING NASHWAUK

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The nuisance of stray cows is getting so bad that the village council at its last meeting this week ordered the pound-masters to round up and hold in the pound all stray animals. The usual monthly bills were allowed.

HIBBING OFFICIALS GO TO MINNEAPOLIS

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Village officials left for Minneapolis to take part in the Hibbing booster day celebration at the state fair, which will be featured by a parade which will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. There will be a speech by Mayor Power before the federated trades assembly, who will march in the Hibbing parade.

The procession tomorrow night will be led by the Hibbing band, with members wearing electric torches in their hats.

Local merchants and business men will confer with Twin City jobbers and wholesalers relative to the establishment of trade relations.

GILBERT SCHOOLS RUN FULL BLAST

Pupils and Teachers Are Now Settled Down to Work.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert schools are open and things have been adjusted for the new term. The new bus is used in transporting pupils from the various locations and is giving good service.

A new feature has been added to the domestic science department and that is a cafeteria where for a small sum the pupils and teachers may secure a first class lunch. The menu served Thursday and the prices charged in cents follows:

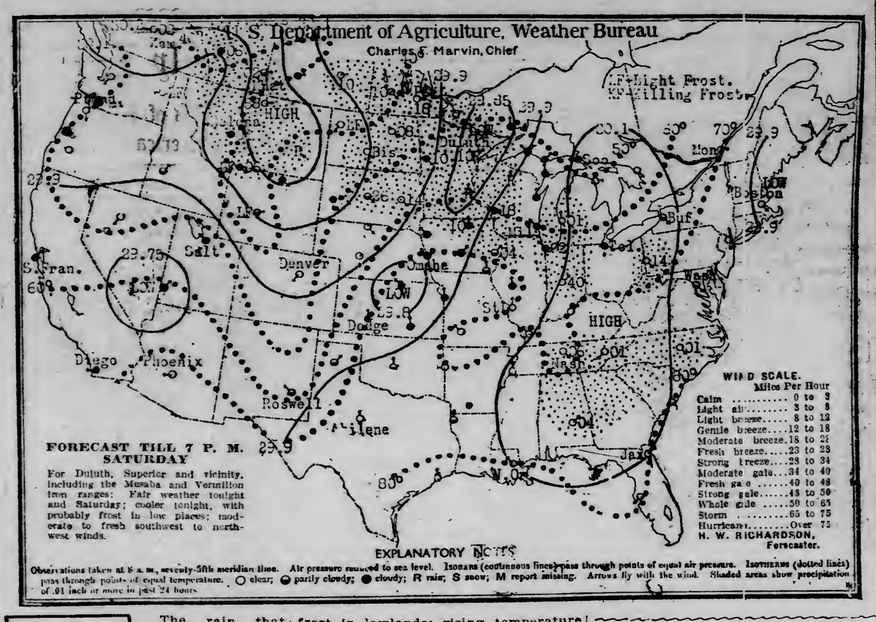

Noodle soup, 3c; wafers 2c; meat pie, biscuit top, 7c; meat sandwiches, two for 5c; apple and orange salad, 3c; pumpkin pie, 3c; creamed carrots, 2c; bread, 2c; butter, 1c; coffee, tea and postum, 3c.

Another feature added to the industrial department is instruction in printing. A complete outfit is being installed and the boys are receiving instruction from E. J. Anderson of the Gilbert Herald. It is their intention to publish a high school paper. The work will be done entirely by the students and should be a good practical way of teaching spelling and grammar and the general construction of the English language.

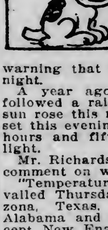

Virginia Finances.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 10.—The monthly report of City Clerk Bickford shows the total assets of the city are $331,659.13, of which about $172,000 is due from the county treasurer on the 1914 tax levy and nearly $85,000 more represented by cash in banks. On the debit side, the overdrafts on all funds amount to $147,428.89, and there is $7,188.33 due on contracts, leaving a total indebtedness of $154,617.22.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

The rain that everybody expected on Tuesday and Wednesday got here unexpectedly during last night and it poured for a while. Clouds are on the job today instead of the expected fair weather, and to add to the unwelcome conditions, Weather Forecaster Richardson issues a warning that there will be frost tonight.

A year ago today warm weather followed a rain during the night. The sun rose this morning at 5:39 and will set this evening at 6:31, giving twelve hours and fifty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Temperatures 90 deg. or higher prevailed Thursday over Oklahoma Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and the Atlantic states except New England. Somewhat cooler weather has developed in the extreme Northwest. Frost occurred last night in Wyoming and Eastern Washington. Showers fell during Thursday or last night over Western Canada, Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, North Carolina and Alabama."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Saturday:

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Saturday; cooler tonight with probably light frost in lowlands.

Wisconsin—Unsettled with probably thunderstowers in east and south portions this afternoon or tonight; cooler tonight; Saturday partly cloudy with cooler in east portion.

Iowa—Partly cloudy with thundershowers in east portion this afternoon or tonight; cooler tonight; Saturday fair.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Saturday; frost tonight; cooler in southeast portion; rising temperature Saturday.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Saturday; slightly cooler tonight with frost in lowlands; rising temperature Saturday.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday with probably showers in west portion; frost in northeast portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Showers tonight; warmer in east portion; Saturday partly cloudy and cooler.

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight; cooler in west portion; Saturday partly cloudy and cooler.

ELY LICENSES RENEWED.

Applications to Sell Cigarettes Granted By City Council.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council Tuesday evening received applications from the following to tap the city sewer and water mains: Oliver Iron Mining company, Andrew Berglund, Frank Fister, Andrew Westman, Jacob Janezic, Tony Boyts, John Skuble, Jacob Varoga, Ferdinand Pirc, T. Childers. The permits were granted.

Applications were received from the following for licenses to sell cigarettes: Isadore Gordon, Slogar Bros., Matt Ronka, John Paulos, Waino Melartin and Nels Paavola. The applications were accepted and the licenses granted.

A liquor license was granted to Frank Veranth. The finance committee reported for the month of August.

Ely Lodge Initiates.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. A. Preston, deputy great commander of the E. O. T. M.; Dr. Ed H. Haas, great commander of the order, and other notables of the lodge initiated seventy-five new members Sunday at the Odd Fellows hall. Mr. Preston has been in the city for the past two weeks securing new members for the lodge. About thirty members of the order from Two Harbors were present at the initiation.

Grand Rapids School Gain.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 10.—The opening of the public schools here showed a gain in enrollment in all departments. The normal class was increased 25 per cent and the total enrollment in all three schools was 689, a gain of twenty over the close of the first month in 1914.

It is estimated that the gain will be 100 in all schools of the village by the end of September. There were seventy-five more students in the high school proper.

To Thresh Near Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Rolne has purchased a large threshing machine, one of the first in this section and will at once commence to sack the grain from his 100-acre farm after which the thresher will be used by different farmers with grain in the shock.

New Chisholm Laundry.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The White Cross laundry just opened by William Ritchel is run entirely by electricity and compressed air.

FOREIGN FINANCIAL COMMISSION HERE

Expects to Adjust the Foreign Exchange Situation in New York.

New York, Sept. 10.—The joint Anglo-French financial commission of six members deputed by Great Britain and France to adjust the foreign exchange situation here, reached New York today aboard the steamship Lapland from Liverpool. They were met at Quarantine by J. P. Morgan and H. P. Davison of the Morgan firm, who escorted them to their headquarters here. This afternoon the commission will meet a number of New York bankers in the library of Mr. Morgan's home and enter upon the first of a series of negotiations looking toward the establishment of a big foreign credit loan.

The Lapland was convoyed by two British torpedo boat destroyers through the war zone.

Foreign exchange rates, whose adjustment is the prime object of the commission, continued their upward climb today. Sterling was quoted at $4.68 to $4.69, an average advance of a cent above yesterday's highest quotations. Francs were slightly better than yesterday at 5.94; lires remained stationary at 6.45, while renewed strength was manifested by reichmarks which were quoted on small dealings at 82¾.

Don't Use Soap On Your Hair

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

HAVE DESCRIPTION OF THREE ROBBERS

Police Hot on Trail of Murderers of Wealthy New York Widow.

New York, Sept. 10.—The confession of a confederate employed by Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols has given the police detailed descriptions of the three men who caused Mrs. Nichols' death Wednesday night in an effort to steal nearly a half million dollars worth of jewelry from her palatial residence in East Seventy-ninth street. These descriptions were part of an alarm sent today throughout the city.

The police have devoted their greatest efforts to finding Arthur Waltersen, a young man who preceded Talas in his present position and recommended Talas to Mrs. Nichols when he left her employment. They believe that Waltersen was head of the conspiracy to rob the wealthy widow.

SPELLING MATCH AT STATE FAIR

One Hundred Winners in County Contests to Compete.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the attractions at the state fair today will be the struggle with trick words by the best school spellers of the state who will appear before George F. Howard at the school exhibits building this afternoon in a championship spelling match.

Prof. Howard is head of the school exhibits department and the competitors in the spelling down will be about 100 pupils who have been winners previously in the various county spelling contests.

Attendance figures follow:

Thursday, 1915, 56,406; 1914, 27,352; 1913, 62,177.

Total, 1914 attendance for week, 321,456.

Total, 1913 attendance for week, 352,438.

HEAVY LOSSES OF BRITISH OFFICERS

Total Casualties at Gallipoli for Two Weeks Are 1,502.

London, Sept. 10.—Officers' casualty list for the fortnight ended Aug. 30 indicate the severity of the recent fighting in the Gallipoli peninsula, whence the bulk of the casualties were announced. They show that the British army lost 402 officers killed, 959 wounded and 136 missing, a total of 1,502 for the fortnight.

Losses of officers since the outbreak of hostilities have now reached a total of 15,840, of whom 4,790 have been killed, 9,698 wounded and 1,352 reported missing.

During the last fortnight Brig.-Gen. A. H. Baldwin has been killed, three other brigadier generals have been wounded, nine lieutenant-colonels killed and two reported missing.

A REEL OF REAL THROBS

Being the Story of a Ranchman Who Sought a Housekeeper Through the Government Employment Agent and Found More.

Visualized version in the Kansas City Times of the great rural drama, "Cupid and the Ranchman's Club," by the actors themselves, and produced with a heart throb in every one of its nine dramatic scenes, under the direction of Ward E. Thompson, government employment agent. All rights reserved.

SCENE 1.

Enter a ranchman, 50 years old, tall, rugged and bronzed. Tailored suit. Western hat, sure! Ranchman wants a housekeeper. Has a modern home on a 4,300-acre ranch. Lost his wife while a prospector in the gold fields of Alaska eight years ago. Government agent takes up telephone and calls a woman on his list of "Situations Wanted."

SCENE 2.

(Same as scene 1.)

Young man enters. (Flash.) "Can't take that job, Mr. Agent. Can't rake up the fare." Ranchman rolls out a stream of silver. (Flash.) "Take that."

SCENE 3.

(Same as scene 1.)

Woman of 35 years, plump and comely, enters, followed by 17-year-old son. He is a gawky and sleep-headed youth. Ranchman and widow talk, while son is snoring. Ranchman offers her $40 a month as housekeeper and will pay son $40 a month to work on ranch. Widow undecided. Ranchman leaves a draft for $75 with government agent in case widow makes up her mind.

SCENE 4.

(Ranchman's home. Fifty-six miles from nearest railroad at White Sulphur Springs, Col. Mountains. House is tonsy turvy.)

Ranchman receives a letter from widow. (Flash.) "I am still undecided about coming." Ranchman writes a letter to government agent.

SCENE 5.

(Same as scene 1.)

Government agent digs up draft and is about to tear it up. Young woman of 26 enters. Peach! Has a 9-year-old son. Little rascal. She has been a manicurist and started a beauty shop of her own, but failed. Government agent tells her about ranchman. Shows her draft. (Flash.) "I'll go!" Little rascal has visions of a pony. Claps his hands. (Flash.) "Hold! I don't know as the ranchman would want you. I'll wire him."

SCENE 6.

(Same as preceding scene.)

SCENE 7.

(Exterior of ranchman's home.)

Ranchman, young widow and little rascal get out of a big touring car. Cowboys cheer and fire a salute to the new "Queen of the Ranch." Little rascal gets his pony. Sees cowboys branding ears of calves and begins to weep. Returns to ranchhouse. Mother takes little rascal in her arms. Stops her ears as she hears mournful bleating of calves. (Flash.) "It's cruel, son, but we'll get used to it. It's a lovely place!"

SCENE 8.

(A few nights later. Twilight.)

Ranchman sits on porch smoking his pipe. He has little rascal on his knee and is reading nursery tales to him. Peacherino widow is writing letter to government agent.

SCENE 9.

(Same as scene 1.)

Government agent receives a letter from Peacherino widow. Several pages. Agent chuckles with pride as he reads. (Flash last part of letter.) "Mrs. J. (widow with sleepy-headed son) wrote Mr. D. (the ranchman) a letter in which she as much as proposed to him and said she was just yearning to have him take her in his arms. How is that for nerve?"

(Passed by the inspector for the National Bureau of Immigration.)

That is where the romance stands at present, but wedding bells may be added for they're bound to ring, says the government agent.

IT IS SPREADING.

Judge: David was viewing the wonders of the zoo with his father for the first time. David's mother is an ardent suffragist.

Over the cage of the secretary bird is an inscription which reads:

"The male secretary bird hatches the eggs and rears the young."

David slowly spelled out the inscription and turned inquiringly to his father:

"Is the secretary bird's wife a suffragist, too, pa?"

PREMIER BOXERS OF WORLD WILL BATTLE SATURDAY

McFarland and Gibbons Ready for Gruelling Contest; Physical Advantages Favor St. Paul Phantom; Purse $32,500.

When Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons, the two cleverest boxers in the ring today, square off against each other in their match at the Brighton Motordrome tomorrow night the chief physical advantages will be in favor of Gibbons. The men probably will weigh in within a few ounces of 147 pounds ringside, the weight agreed upon. In height and reach, Gibbons has the call. He is two inches taller than Packey and his reach is three inches longer. Their measurements are as follows:

Gibbons.	McFarland.
6 ft. 3 in.	Height	5 ft. 7 in.
147 pounds.	Weight	147 pounds
72 in.	Reach	69 in.
10 in.	Forearm	9¾ in.
12½ in.	Biceps	13 in.
36¾ in.	Chest (normal)	39 in.
38½ in.	Chest (expanded)	42 in.
7 in.	Ankle	8¼ in.
13⅝ in.	Calf	13½ in.
19 in.	Thigh	19½ in.
6½ in.	Wrist	7¼ in.
29½ in.	Waist	33 in.

Packey McFarland, one of the fastest and greatest boxers the world has known, will meet Mike Gibbons, the best fighting middleweight in the world and also one of the greatest boxers the ring has ever known tomorrow night at the Brighton Beach motordrome at Coney Island. William C. Marshall—"You're On" Marshall—who never before managed a boxing match, has contracted to give them the heretofore unheard of purse of $32,500—that is, unheard of for a no decision ten-round contest.

"But who's Marshall?" a million fight fans ask.

A few weeks ago Marshall would have called a man crazy who suggested that he promote a prize fight. It all came about through a conversation with a sporting writer. Their conversation drifted to the possibility of McFarland and Gibbons ever coming together.

Promoter Gets Hunch.

Could it be done? The sporting writer was sure it could. Marshall glanced toward the big motordrome, with a possible seating capacity of 60,000, and the thought flashed through his mind. Within four days he and the sporting writer were on their way to Chicago, and within twenty-four hours they were in communication with the two great boxers. The two men got together and insisted on more money than Marshall had decided to pay. It was a matter of $7,000 difference. The fight stood deadlocked. Marshall suddenly brushed away every obstacle by saying: "You're on."

Gibbons and McFarland posted a forfeit of $1,500 each, and the next day walked into Marshall's hotel room and agreed to post an additional $1,000 if Marshall would make his forfeit $5,000. "You're on," said Marshall.

Never Saw a Bout.

There are many interesting facts in the life of William C. Marshall and not the least of these is the fact that he never witnessed a boxing match. He started the McFarland-Gibbons match as a business venture pure and simple, and it was only the atmosphere of the thing that made him the enthusiastic fan that he is today. He is as anxious to see the McFarland-Gibbons go as any of the 60,000 fans that are expected to see it.

Mr. Marshall was born on a farm in Iowa. Later he became a ranchman. He punched cows for several years before he started in business for himself as a cowman. When the sheep men and the homesteaders started in on the open country he gave up the cattle business and started railroad building. He handled some large contracts for the Milwaukee railroad. After finishing a large contract on the Canadian Pacific in the early part of the spring he started on a visit to a cousin in New York. William C. Marshall was financing an interest in the Brighton baths when the incident described induced him to promote the McFarland-Gibbons fray.

The ring in which they will fight is one that has been the scene of many famous contests. No less than six champions have fought in it, not to mention scores of boxers just outside the titular pale.

The ring formerly was the property of the National Sporting club, which promoted many of the biggest bouts staged in New York a decade ago. It was in this ring that Joe Gans, the "old master," fought his last fight with Jabez White, the Englishman, in March, 1909. Abe Attell, then featherweight champion of the world, and Jem Driscoll, the crack English boxer, considered by many experts the cleverest boxer that laced a glove, fought their memorable contest in this ring. Stanley Ketchell fought in it several times, one of the bouts being with "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien. Frank Klaus also battled in it, and so did Al Wolgast, who then was in possession of the world's lightweight championship.

Down in Weight.

Mike Gibbons and Packey McFarland today are practically down to weight, 147 pounds. For the benefit of skeptics who doubted his ability to make the weight, Mike stepped on the scales and registered 148. Packey stripped to his underclothes and rang up 149. So that disposes of the question of weight in the case of both boys.

Mike put up a poor exhibition of boxing yesterday. A crowd of some 500 fight fans watched him work and applauded feebly whenever he pulled a trick. Mike was slow on his offensive and on defensive he was a joke.

Mike probably was stalling. The situation has reached the stage where both sides have spies at the workouts, and Mike is wise enough to know that every move he makes is reported to Packey. The disgruntled crowd filed out at the end of the workout with remarks that were anything but complimentary to Mike.

Mike May Quit Ring.

Gibbons is a foxy guy. Every punch he put over was pulled a yard or two and probably the rest of it is fake. If it isn't and if he is as slow as he seems to be, he has one tough proposition before him, for McFarland is going like lightning.

"I'm about through with the fight game," Gibbons said. "This may be my last fight. I tell you, this training stunt is no joke. Here I am, working like a dog in New York when I can make a good living in my home town teaching other boys how to turn these tricks."

FATHER OF BASEBALL DIES SUDDENLY IN CALIFORNIA HOME

ALBERT G. SPALDING.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 10.—Albert Goodwill Spalding, well known sporting goods manufacturer and San Diego capitalist, died unexpectedly at his home at Point Loma near here last night. Death was due to apoplexy. He was 65 years old.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the family home. The ceremony will be private and will be followed by cremation.

For the last ten days Mr. Spalding apparently had been rallying from what was supposed to have been a slight paralytic stroke and yesterday he had been up and about all day and seemed in splendid spirits. At 9:30 p. m., however, he suffered a severe pain in his head. His valet summoned Mrs. Spalding, but before her arrival he had lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not emerge.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Mr. Spalding was born in Byron, Ill., Sept. 2, 1850, and was one of the pioneers of baseball. He frequently was referred to as the "father of baseball."

When he was 17 years old his reputation as an amateur player led to an offer from the Boston club, and for five years he was pitcher and captain of the club. A few years later Mr. Spalding joined the Chicago club as manager, and then became president and secretary.

With his brother he established the firm of A. G. Spalding & Co., dealers in sporting goods, in Chicago. Later the firm began the manufacture of sporting goods.

Mr. Spalding organized and managed the first world's tour of the Chicago and all-American baseball clubs. In the late 90s he moved to Point Loma, Cal., which has since been his home. Several years ago he was a candidate for United States senator in California.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Win on One Hit.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Although obtaining only one hit off Tyler yesterday, Brooklyn defeated Boston 1 to 0 in the final game of the series, and thereby moved back into second place. The hit was a grounder by Getz, which Schmidt was unable to field cleanly. Pfeffer allowed the Braves only two hits, a single by Moran in the fourth and an infield single by Egan in the ninth. Both sides fielded brilliantly.

The only run was made on a pass to Meyers, Getz's hit, a double steal, and an out by Nixon. Only two Boston players reached second and none got to third.

Maranville is out of the game for an indefinite period, as the result of having been spiked during the final game of the recent New York series.

Phillies Win Double-Header.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—Philadelphia made it three straight victories over New York by winning yesterday's games 3 to 0 and 9 to 4. Alexander and Benton had a battle in the first game, the visitors being able to get only three scattered hits. Benton was taken out in the eighth for a pinch hitter. In the second event, Cravath made his twentieth home run drive of the season. The crowd filled the park to its capacity and all the gates were closed before the second game started.

Giants in Cellar.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—Cincinnati moved out of last place by taking a double-header from St. Louis yesterday, New York having dropped two games to Philadelphia. The scores were 4 to 3 in fourteen innings and 5 to 0 in six innings. Bescher's single and Long's triple tied the score in the ninth inning of the first game. In the fourteenth, Rodgers playing in place of Mollwitz, who had been put out of the game for protesting, tripled. He scored the winning run on Wingo's sacrifice fly. In this game, the locals had seventeen men left on bases. Doak and Niehaus were hit hard in the second game, while Schneider was strong in the pinches.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Easy for Red Sox.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—Knowlson's pass, with occasional hits, produced five runs for the Boston Americans, while Philadelphia was being held scoreless yesterday. Boston's new batting order proved an effective combination. Manager Mack introduced another recruit yesterday in Corcoran, who was tried at third base. His fielding was slow. Score: R. H. E.

Tigers Win From Indians.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Detroit took advantage of Cleveland's errors and Hagerman's base on balls and won 6 to 5 yesterday. Lowdermilk started to weaken in the sixth and Boland replaced him, pitching effectively until the eighth, when Dauss came to his rescue. Cobb reached first every time at bat, making three hits and getting two passes. The Cleveland pitchers issued twelve passes. Score: R. H. E.

Senators' Clean Sweep.

New York, Sept. 10.—Washington made a clean sweep from New York by winning a double-header yesterday, 5 to 3 and 4 to 1. Brown weakened in the first game after he had a three-run lead and the senators batted out a victory. In the second, New York could not hit Gallia in the pinches. The New Yorkers will utilize today's open date to play off a tie game with St. Louis.

Spiders Beat Brewers Twice.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—Milwaukee played an erratic fielding game in the first encounter with Cleveland yesterday and lost, 4 to 1. In the second, the Spiders found Shackelford for fourteen hits and won easily, 11 to 3. Manager Knight of the homeless Spiders hit a home run with two on in the fourth. The Brewers' boss, Clark, tripled in the last half of the same inning. It was announced that Catcher Billings would leave last night to join the Cleveland Americans. He was banished from the second game for disputing a decision. Scores:

JOHNNY ERTLE WILL MEET KID WILLIAMS

St. Paul Bantamweight Will Face World's Champion of Class in State's Capital; Williams Is Natural Favorite.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—Johnny Ertle, the St. Paul bantamweight, will meet "Kid" Williams, the world's champion, here tonight in a scheduled ten-round no-decision contest.

Both fighters declared themselves in excellent condition today and below the agreed weight of 118 pounds, ringside. Williams' greater experience has made him a general favorite over the local boy.

Makes Perfect Score.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 10.—Capt. William H. Richards of Ohio yesterday won the Hayes individual match at 600 yards, with a perfect score for ten continuous targets at the twenty-fifth annual rifle tournament here. Serg. Roscoe Arnett of the United States marine corps was second with 49. The Second New Jersey regiment won the Columbia trophy match with a total of 814 on the three ranges.

Army Coach Arrives.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Lieut. Charles D. Daly, U. S. A., former Harvard and Army football star, who is to act as head coach to the Army football team again this year, arrived here yesterday from his station on the Mexican border. The intense heat kept the gridiron men idle again yesterday, and it is unlikely that they will be given any more work before Saturday.

TWO WOMEN STARS MATCHED IN GOLF TITLE SEMI-FINALS

Chicago, Sept. 10.—A 17-year-old girl matched her golfing prowess with veterans of the game in the semi-final round of the women's national championship tournament at Onwentsia Country club today.

She was Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., holder of the Southern championship. Miss Stirling was paired with Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, a semi-finalist in the national event at Nassau last year and the present Eastern champion. The match attracted a large gallery, as both players have been playing at the top of their game in the tournament competition.

The other match of the semi-finals brought together Mrs. W. A. Gavins of Shirley Park, England, and Miss Ernestine Pearce of Chicago. Miss Pearce won the Chicago championship two years ago.

Breaking the course record for a second time within four days, Mrs. Vanderbeck yesterday survived the third match round, defeating Mrs. Ernest L. Beifield of Chicago, 3 and 1. Miss Stirling eliminated another Chicagoan, Miss Marjorie Edwards, 5 and 4. Miss Pearce won from Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of Philadelphia, 4 and 2, contrary to expectation of the experts, and Mrs. Gavin had no trouble in downing Eleanor Allen, Boston, the only New Englander in the meet, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Vanderbeck attracted a large gallery after Mrs. Barlow had fallen, and the Eastern woman rewarded the onlookers with the most brilliant golf of the tournament thus far. She had made the 6,435-yard course in 85 during the qualifying round on Monday, setting a record for the difficult, reconstructed links. She had comparatively easy matches Tuesday and Wednesday, but yesterday she had to play par all the way to defeat Mrs. Beifield. She set a new record of 84, women's par. Mrs. Beifield, with a 7 and an 8, made the course in 90.

Mrs. Vanderbeck equaled men's par on 6 holes and made a 3 on the 314-yard fifth. Mrs. Beifield made men's par on 4 holes and made a 2 on the sixteenth. On the form displayed today, the match today between Mrs. Vanderbeck and Miss Stirling should be stirring.

Miss Stirling, the only entrant from south of the Ohio, has played in excellent form during the entire tournament thus far. She is not shooting as close to par as Mrs. Vanderbeck, but is very steady for her 17 years of age.

FOOTBALL IS BOOMED

Duluth Will Have Several Professional Teams This Autumn.

West Duluth, Lakeside, East End and Down-Town Interested.

It is now more than probable that there will be a number of professional football teams in Duluth this fall, instead of one, as has been the case for a number of years. The Adams team, through securing the lease on Athletic park has always had the bid for the greater gridiron contests that have been staged in this city. But now with Desmond park on Minnesota Point in excellent condition, negotiations for the closing of a lease on this property will probably be completed this week.

Ideally situated for athletic programs, Desmond park should be the scene of some great gatherings this fall when the football season gets into its stride. This park is within walking distance from the downtown district and can be easily reached by cars from any part of the city.

For many years the East end, Lakeside, and the central part of the city have not been represented on the gridiron. Time was when the uptown boys used to place a team in the field every fall as did the Tigers of West Duluth and some real struggles for supremacy were indulged in much to the delight of the roaring fans who were on speaking terms with all of the performers and consequently much more interested in the outcome of play than they would have been in watching strangers perform.

Some arrangement will probably be made soon so that both the uptown and the East end teams can use Desmond park, which is already equipped with lockers and shower baths and which property is looked after every day by Jack Desmond, owner.

Will Build Up Team.

It is said that considerable money will be spent in building up the down-town team even to the point of bringing in some players from points outside the city.

The new team figures on employing a quarterback coach who will be brought from one of the big colleges and who will direct the play in every game in which the crew participates. A fairly heavy line with a combination of weight and speed in the end positions and an exceptionally fast backfield, is the way the new team will be built.

The schedule of games will include

First Thing in the Case

the Printer always picks is PEERLESS.

Not "Pi", Mr. Printer, but P-I-E. It's the real old toothsome pie for you, too, when you get hold of PEERLESS tobacco. You're never mussed up when you've got PEERLESS. It's a rich, healthy smoke or chew; and the printer is glad of a chance to use printer's ink to tell the rest of the world how good it is.

PEERLESS
Long Cut Tobacco

has been a prize favorite with printers and all live, hustling he-boys for fifty years.

We've kept PEERLESS quality right up to top notch for half a century. We don't let PEERLESS go out of the factory until the tobacco has been aged from three to five years, so that all the rich, mellow, natural sweetness of its Southern Kentucky leaf is at its best.

When you're tobacco hungry, you want clean, honest, juicy tobacco with some backbone to it. You never see a PEERLESS user switch to some other brand. He knows nothing can compare with PEERLESS for downright tobacco satisfaction.

A week's trial of PEERLESS will prove this to you—will make you a permanent user of PEERLESS. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

all of the fast teams of the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges, Superior, all of the fast crews in Minneapolis and St. Paul and perhaps the Adams team of this city.

That Virginia will have a football team this fall was assured last evening when word was received from the range metropolis to the effect that the boys were being lined up and would report for practice in a few days. Fred Greisch, who played in the Adams backfield last fall, will figure in the same department for the Virginia team which is just forming.

The Hibbing football squad will report for practice next Sunday afternoon. Adams, McLeod, St. Julien, Delahunt and other members of last year's team will report.

DIRECTUM BEATS STAR POINTER MARK

His Driver, Murphy, Cleans Up on All Races Entered.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 10.—The feature of the fourth day of racing at the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak park yesterday afternoon was the successful attempt of the pacer Directum I driven by Tommy Murphy, to lower the track pacing record of 2 minutes. The former record was made by Star Pointer in 1899.

The chestnut stallion was in fine form and, on a fast track, clipped one and one-half seconds off the track record.

The first quarter was not very fast, but the second was paced in less than half a minute, and the third in 29 seconds. The last quarter was just a trifle slower than the third, as the stallion noticeably tired a few feet from the wire. The mark ties the season's record of 1:58½, made by William.

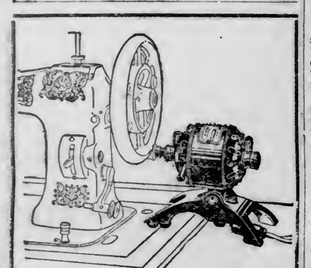

There were two races on the program, and they resulted in a cleanup day for Tommy Murphy. Last year Murphy won all three races in one day, and he repeated his performance yesterday, counting his successful assault upon the track record with Directum I. He took the 2:14 trot in straight heats with Mirthful, having no competition except in the final heat, when Ames Albingen was sent out to get in the money. He also secured the 2:21 trot with Peter Scott, who so far outclassed his field that there was no doubt as to the outcome.

St. Frisco, driven by Geers, was an easy winner of second place over the rest of the entries.

It was the second victory of the week for both Mirthful and Peter Scott, Mirthful taking the 2:10 trot Tuesday, while Peter Scott took the $5,000 Charter Oak purse Monday afternoon.

Yale Wins Golf Contest.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 10.—Yale defeated Princeton five points to four in the final match for the intercollegiate team championship at golf yesterday on the course of the Greenwich Country club. Princeton won the title last year at Garden City by defeating Harvard in the final match. Prior to that time Yale was the champion for nine successive years. The final match came down to the very last pair late in the day before the issue could be settled.

FALL SPORTS WARMING UP

New Armory Will Be Scene of Many Thrilling Battles.

Indoor Baseball League Is Planned—Bowlers Are Working Out.

With the first sign of frost on the pumpkin, Duluth bowlers, curlers, hockey players, indoor baseball enthusiasts and basketball stars are beginning to buzz. The few cool evenings that have so far occupied the September calendar have caused a hum to pass among the winter sports bugs, and already the patrons of the various pastimes of the frozen months are beginning to frame probable teams for bowling and indoor baseball.

Perhaps the gayest of these fans are those who favor indoor baseball. Their happiness is caused by the fact that the new Third Regiment armory will be opened this fall and will afford an excellent place for staging games. It is possible that an unusually strong indoor team will be organized and that Duluth will arrange games with all of the best ball crews in the Northwest, including those of Minneapolis and St. Paul. A city league may also be formed and play regularly scheduled games.

It is just a trifle early for the bowlers to shape their plans for the coming fall and winter, but all of the players are getting busy on the alleys so as to be in condition when regular contests open and organized play starts. It is probable, as usual, that most of the leading business houses will have bowling teams this year, as will the various alleys of the city.

WEST LEADS IN SECTIONAL EVENTS

Second Half of East vs. West Tennis Being Settled.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The second half of the East vs. West tennis matches will be played on the courts of the West Side club here beginning today and finishing on Saturday. The first half of this special tournament, held on the asphalt courts of San Francisco during the middle of July, resulted in a decisive victory for the Pacific coast stars by a score of five matches to one.

In the doubles, Johnston and Strachan defeated Williams and Washburn, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 and McLoughlin and Bundy won from Church and Mathey 6-2, 7-5, 6-3. The results in the singles were as follows:

McLoughlin defeated Williams, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; Strachan defeated Washburn, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1; Johnston defeated Church 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, while Mathey gained the sole victory for the East by defeating Bundy 8-6, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

In today's matches, the lineup will be different. McLoughlin will play Behr, while Bunday will face Pell in the singles.

The doubles match will bring together Johnston and Griffin, the new champions, and Williams and Washburn, the Eastern title holders, in doubles. On Saturday Williams will meet Johnston, and Griffin will play Niles in the singles, while the doubles will bring together McLoughlin and Bundy vs. Behr and Pell.

SWITCHING AROUND IN NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE.

New York, Sept. 10. — While Philadelphia increased its lead in the National league pennant race yesterday by taking both games of a double-header from New York, Boston and Brooklyn again exchanged places. Brooklyn's victory over the Braves yesterday shoved Boston back into third place and permitted the Superbas to regain second position.

Boston and Detroit retain their respective positions in the American league race as the result of yesterday's games, both teams having defeated their opponents.

Buys Brooklyn Pitcher.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Phil Douglas, pitcher of the Brooklyn Nationals, was purchased yesterday by Manager Bresnahan of the local National league club for the waiver price. Waivers were asked on Douglas several weeks ago. The local club agreed to take him following his three-hit game which he pitched Tuesday against the Philadelphia team. Brooklyn would have liked, after Douglas' display of form, to have withdrawn the waiver but could not because of a league rule adopted a year ago.

COACH LAUDS DULUTH BOY

Jimmy Ten Eyck and Walter Hoover Return From Philadelphia.

Coach Says Duluth Sculler Was Game All the Way.

Walter Hoover, sculler, and James E. Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, arrived home this morning from Philadelphia where the former competed on Labor day in the single scull event of the Middle States regatta when, through a mishap, he lost a brilliant one-mile race which was negotiated in the exceptionally fast time of 6:12.

"It was one of the prettiest races I have ever seen," said Coach Ten Eyck this morning shortly after his arrival in Duluth. "Hoover put up a most game battle and but for a mishap stood a fine chance to win. He was instructed to always keep within striking distance of John B. Kelly of the Vesper crew of Philadelphia and this he did. When the last half remained to be covered, Hoover began to pull u- on Kelly and was only half a length behind when he made a bad stroke with his right car that completely slowed him up. This pause was fatal to his chances and he was last in the race, Rooney of New York coming up from ten lengths in the rear and Livingston of New York from fifteen lengths and passing the Duluth boy.

"As a matter of fact Hoover never finished at all. After he made the bad stroke, he could not get his physical machinery into action and just sat motionless in his shell. It was six minutes after the race was over before Hoover attempted to row to the boat house.

"All of the Philadelphia papers were loud in their praise of Hoover's gameness."

BREAKS MOTORBOAT RECORD, WINNING RACE

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Disturber IV broke all records yesterday in winning the second of the motorboat races for the national championship and the Wrigley cup, when the big racer covered the 30-mile course in 33:08 1-5, or at the rate of 54.4 miles an hour. The previous record for the distance was at the rate of 50½ miles an hour, made by Baby Speed Demon II at Lake George, N. Y., in 1914.

Miss Detroit, which finished second to Disturber in 34:16, also excelled Baby Speed Demon's record by making the course at the rate of 52.5 miles an hour. Peter Pan VIII was third in 46:50 4-5, losing four minutes in getting started for the race.

Barnacle and Black Demon were starters, but did not finish.

Baby Reliance V, owned by J. S. Blackton of the Atlantic Yacht club of New York, on the first lap suddenly left for the inside of the course and headed for the judges' and patrol fleet.

It was seen that Baby Reliance was sinking. Lines were quickly cast to her and made fast to bow and stern just in time to save the Eastern racer from going down in forty feet of water.

Driver Smith explained that Baby Reliance had sprung a leak soon after the race was well under way and began to fill rapidly.

TROTTING AT HAMLINE.

Races Postponed Tuesday Are Pulled Off Thursday at State Fair.

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 10. — Three events of the Great Western races continued from Tuesday were finished yesterday at the Minnesota state fair, and the 2:25 trot, 2:12 pace and 2:14 trot also were run. The results:

2:16 trot, Minneapolis purse, $3,000, continued from Tuesday—Miss Perfection won; Skip Past, second; The Proof, third. Best time, 2:08¾.

2:10 pace, purse $1,000, continued from Tuesday—Hal Mapes won; Mischief, second; J. O., third. Best time, 2:09¼.

2:25 trot, purse $800—Yace G. won; Alice Marmore, second; Joseph W. McKinney, third. Best time, 2:16¼.

2:12 pace, purse $1,000—Strathell won; Edna Parker, second; Holly Brand, third. Best time, 2:08¼.

2:14 trot, purse $1,000—Madden won; Sure Mike, second; Hokola, third. Best time, 2:11¼.

Many Tiger Candidates.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 10.—Thirty-five candidates for the Princeton football team reported yesterday to Capt. Glick and Head Coach J. H. Rush for first practice. Many veterans were in the crowd and from present indications, the squad will be the largest in the history of the institution. The men were put through a drill made unusually light because of the excessive heat. Practice will be held daily.

Another Star Eclipsed.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Young Ahearn of New York outfought Al McCoy of Brooklyn, claimant of the middleweight title, in a 10-round bout at Ebbetts field last night. McCoy was at the mercy of Ahearn throughout. Ahearn weighed 154 pounds and McCoy 157½.

SCORES LIQUOR AND TOBACCO.

Pastor Stemple White Also Declares Meat Improper Food.

"The laws of health are as unchangeable as the moral law, and he who would reap the blessed boon of good health must sow the seeds of obedience," declared Pastor Stemple White last night at the Bible chautauqua tent on West Second street, near the Y. M. C. A., where he spoke on "Healthful Living."

"Seven necessary essentials to healthful living are pure air, pure water, proper exercise, needed rest and sleep, wholesome food (vegetarianism) for warmth, comfort and propriety, rather than simply for style, and an individual prohibition of all intoxicants, stimulants, narcotics and drugs.

"We learn in the very first chapter in the Bible that man's original bill of fare was fruits, grains, vegetables and nuts, and in the new earth, the redeemed will not take life to sustain life. Many have vainly imagined that to be as strong as an ox one must eat the ox, but among athletes today the vegetarian always excels the meat eater. Among animals, those that are a blessing to man, as the horse, cow, sheep, deer, elephant, camel and goat are non-flesh eaters, while wild beasts are carnivorous.

"One of King Alcohol's greatest allies in his terrible war on humanity is tobacco."

Mr. White will speak tonight on "A New Suit for Old Rags."

THE FUTURE OF TURKEY

International Relations of the Ottoman Empire Are Discussed.

What Will Germany and Austria Do to Help Turkey?

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Constantinople, Aug. 10.—Taking it for granted that Turkey will emerge victorious from the present war, a number of prominent Turkish newspapers have recently occupied themselves seriously with the future international relations of the Ottoman empire. What the wishes of Turkey are in this respect may be said to have been ably epitomized in two leading articles of the Tanin, a Union and Progress daily with tendencies of its own even in these days of censorships and governmental surveillance of the press.

For reasons none too obvious, the leaders of the Tanin coupled the absence of the German ambassador, Baron von Wangenheim, on a vacation and temporary occupancy of his post here by Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg, with their study of the subject. The Tanin remarks that "Baron von Wangenheim, through his work with the Turkish statesmen, was an important factor in the alliance (between Turkey and Germany) now existing," and that "it would be too great a task to enumerate the facts proving that Baron von Wangenheim, owing to his remarkable perspicacity, had come to know Turkey in very little time." The inference is that Ambassador von Wangenheim would, during this vacation, devote much of his time to a further strengthening of the bonds between Germany and Turkey.

In the articles dealing with future relations between Turkey and the countries on whose side it is fighting, the premises taken are about these:

What Aid to Turkey?

"We are now sharing the fortunes of war of Germany and Austria-Hungary. What will these countries do after the war to aid Turkey in its effort to develop economically and in so doing become a state whose voice must be heeded in the future?"

With great frankness the articles complain that Germany and Austria-Hungary have not always been the friends of Turkey. Thus Austria-Hungary took considerable territory from Turkey with the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, while Germany permitted the further reduction of the Ottoman empire after the late Balkan war and accepted with complacency the Italian conquest of Tripoli, which was all that was left of the Ottoman empire in North Africa.

All this, it is argued, was no demonstration of friendship on the part of Turkey's present allies. It is pointed out, however, that there are mitigating circumstances. The articles say that after all there had been no real understanding between Germany and Turkey before this war. What good relations had existed had been fostered almost exclusively by Emperor William and Sultan Abdul Hamid. With the advent of constitutional government and the ending of the Hamidian regime, these relations had ceased, of course, and the efforts of the late Baron Marschall von Bieberstein to effect an understanding between the new regime in Turkey and Germany, while not unsuccessful, had, nevertheless, not been brought to fruition.

No Friends Anywhere.

On the other hand, the articles say, it was a fact that in the past the Turkish people had leaned decidedly towards France and England; a tendency which had not favored closer relations with Germany and Austria-Hungary. But the present war had shown that Turkey had had no friends anywhere in the past. Germany and Austria-Hungary had made no great pretense that they were Turkey's friends, and France and England, who had avowed warmest friendship for Turkey had since then been proven to be anything but that by being willing to leave Turkey at the mercy of Russia, if doing that would have served the interests of the two entente governments.

With the friendship of France and England disproven, and with that of Germany and Austria-Hungary at least based on a community of interests which would be bound to endure beyond this war, Turkey was of necessity obliged to ally herself more closely yet with Germany and the Danube monarchy, by means of a series of commercial treaties which would be advantageous to all concerned. Turkey hoped sooner or later to become economically independent, said the articles but for the time being it was far from having reached this happy state, and would have to overcome the lack of its advantages by reciprocal arrangements with Germany and Austria-Hungary under which the equitable exchange of Ottoman agricultural products for German and Austrian factory products would be possible.

Commercial Treaties.

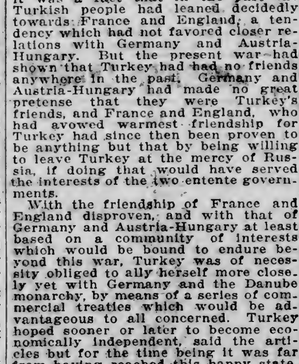

Premature as such measures may appear in the Entente countries, it is a fact, nevertheless, that Turkish statesmen have for some time occupied themselves seriously with the making of suitable commercial treaties with the German and Austrian governments. In some quarters the opinion is held that this has been done because at present it might be possible to secure terms which later on would be harder to obtain. At any rate, say others, the activity displayed by the Turkish ministers argue well for the future of Turkey, because it shows that the desire to care for the future has for once been felt by those responsible for the fate of the Ottoman empire.

Needless to say, economic rapprochements now affected between Turkey and Germany and Austria-Hungary, would leave little for France, England, Italy and all others. Turkey is ready to exclude everybody provided she can make advantageous bargains with the two central powers.

While it can not be said that the position of Germany and Austria-Hungary in Turkey is unshakable as yet, it must also be borne in mind that every effort is being made to make it that.

Judge Knowles Buried.

Parkersburgh, W. Va., Sept. 10.—The funeral of Judge Willis S. Knowles, who was murdered at Providence, R. I., Monday, was held yesterday at the home of his father, Capt. Hod Knowles at Hockingport, Ohio, just across the Ohio river from here. Interment was in the village cemetery.

BRITISH OFFICER CASUALTY LISTS

Over Fourteen Thousand Casualties Since Beginning of War.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Aug. 20.—Officer casualty lists are again becoming heavy and during the period of July 30 to Aug. 15, the British army lost 207 officers killed, 434 wounded and 41 missing—a total of 682. This brings the aggregate casualties since the beginning of the war to 14,338 of which 4,383 have been killed or died of wounds, 8,739 wounded and 1,216 missing, the proportion of killed to wounded remaining at one to two.

Operations in the Dardanelles have again been responsible for some heavy losses during the two weeks' period, the Yorkshire regiment having lost 16 killed (including their lieutenant-colonel) and 28 wounded; Australians, 13 killed, 19 wounded; Worcesters, 5 killed, 8 wounded; Lancashires, 7 killed, 27 wounded; Hampshires, 3 killed, 6 wounded, 9 missing; Staffords, 4 killed, 13 wounded; Engineers, 9 killed, 11 wounded.

In the western theater the King's Royal Rifles lost 18 killed, 23 wounded; Rifle Brigade, 16 killed, 24 wounded, while the Indians had 18 killed, 51 wounded.

GOVERNMENT ROAD IS PAYING CARRIER

Has Turned Back Surplus Into the United States Treasury.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 10.—President Woodrow Wilson controls at least one railroad and has the authority to issue passes over it. He is by virtue of his office, official president of the only standarad guage railroad in the United States built and operated by the reclamation service to carry supplies from Boise to the largest irrigation dam in the world, the Arrowrock, located twenty miles above this city. And it is a paying common carrier, from the earnings of which a surplus has been turned back into the United States treasury. This road is in operation now and has been for the past four years having been built in 1911.

When the gigantic task of erecting the Arrowrock dam across the Boise river was conceived the problem of transporting the supplies to its site had to be solved. This resulted in the decision to build the railroad. It was constructed with a maximum grade of 1½ per cent and a maximum curvature of 12 degs. up the Boise river canyon and was a success from the start. It is now in constant operation fully equipped with government rolling stock. Without it the government would have been seriously handicapped in erecting this dam 351 feet high and weighing over 1,000,000 tons.

Since its operation this road has earned a net surplus of $62,334.09 or a higher percentage considering the distance than many railroads much longer in various parts of the country. Its total freight earnings are $238,-713.36; its switch earnings have amounted to $506.50. A total of $50,-212.75 was taken in for passenger fares of which the government paid $1,811.25, tickets and cash fares, amounted to $48,2"2.82 and there was excess baggage of $128.68 collected. The miscellaneous earnings of the road amounted to $984.40 bringing the total gross earnings up to $290,417.01. The total operating cost amounted to $228,062.92. The train mileage up to July 1, 1915, was 105,129 with an operating cost per mile of $2.17. There were a total of 63,827 passengers carried. The freight hauled reached 13,-826,401 ton miles of which 60,314 was commercial, 1,894,764 government supplies and 11,871,323 gravel and sand.

Uncle Sam's railroad is the connecting link to reach the site of the big dam which will be dedicated Oct. 4 with appropriate ceremonies in this city and at the dam. This date will also mark the completion of the Boise project composed of 243,000 acres located tributary to Boise, Caldwell and Nampa and for the partial irrigation of which 244,300 acre-feet of water will be impounded behind the dam in a mountain reservoir eighten miles long.

ETON HEADMASTER AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Arouses British By Finding Excuse for German Foreign Policy.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Aug. 20.—Dr. Lyttleton, the headmaster of Eton who had the press buzzing about his ears last winter for saying in the pulpit that it was the duty of British Christians to forgive the Germans, is again in trouble because of his sentiments. This time, Dr. Lyttleton has aroused the British patriots by finding an excuse for the German foreign policy.

"Germany," he said, at a public gathering, "has for the past fifty years been hemmed in and that by methods that might be none too creditable to other nations."

He also held Britain's "national covetousness" and "discord" to be in part responsible for the outbreak of the present conflict.

The Post is among the papers bitterly attacking the head of Eton. In answer to his charges it cites the role taken by Prussia in the partition of Poland, Germany's seizure of Schleswig-Holstein from Denmark and Alsac-Lorraine from France and on the other hand the cession of Heligoland to Germany and the occupation of German Africa by British consent, to say nothing of Germany's Pacific islands, section of China and a preponderant interest in Turkey. Germany's Baltic frontage is said to refute the charge of being hemmed in.

"In Dr. Lyttleton's view we are a nation of Pharisees whose greed brings war about," comments the Post, "while we publicly thank God that we are not as these Germans. The Germans are bad, he says, but the English are also bad. Only Dr. Lyttleton remains pure in a sordid world."

PREPARES LOG FOR MOTORISTS

Detailed Account Given of Roads to the Cuyuna Range.

Duluthians planning on motor trips to the Cuyuna range will be interested in a log just prepared at the direction of Andrew Kienly, secretary of the Duluth Automobile club. Copies may be obtained by applying to Mr. Kienly.

The log gives a detailed account of the roads from Carlton to Aitkin, where autoists will find a good highway leading to the Cuyuna range towns. From Carlton to Aitkin the log shows an exact distance of 70.6 miles.

In planning the Aitkin trip, motorists are urged to take the following drive to Carlton:

Alexander Hamilton Encouraged Brewing.

FIRST CONGRESS A UNIT IN THE OPINION THAT BREWING DESERVES SPECIAL ENCOURAGEMENT.

In 1789 Alexander Hamilton introduced a revenue system with the object of encouraging the industry of brewing for moral and hygienic reasons. His efforts were supported by the First Congress which moved that if "The morals of the people are to be improved by whatever enters their diet, it would be prudent of the National Legislature to encourage the manufacture of malt liquors."

Dr. Benjamin Rush, father of real temperance, famous publicist and professor of medicine, taught that the promotion of temperance could be accomplished only by the encouragement of the brewing industry.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON

Upon every clause of the constitution of the United States his individuality is indelibly stamped. Daniel Webster says of him: "He smote the rock of national resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth."

FITGER NATURAL BEER IS A SPARKLING DRAUGHT BEER—BUT BOTTLED

It is draught beer because it has the full natural character taste and aroma of the best beer as drawn from the wood. Heretofore the only known way to keep bottled beer was by pasteurization. Pasteurization, or steaming, gives beer that noticeable flatness of taste, heretofore the great objection to bottled beer.

Kieselguhr filtration* our new process keeps bottled beer better than pasteurization. It filters beer to a pure brilliancy heretofore unknown. It preserves in Fitger Natural Beer all the qualities that heretofore have made draught beer preferable to bottled.

Our Kieselguhr filter is the first of its kind in America.

WATCHMAN BENEFITED

Duluthian Tells How Wonderful Remedy Has Relieved Catarrh.

Suffered Nearly All His Life Until He Found Tanlac.

Duties of a night watchman do not admit of working conditions that help catarrh.

For seven years Peter Zakariason has been a night watchman. He has been a resident of Duluth for thirty-five years and worked on the Omaha docks for twenty years, but during the last seven years has been a night watchman. He resides at 816 West Fourth street.

During the greater part of his life he has been a sufferer from catarrh. The night air did not tend to better his condition.

"I saw Tanlac advertised," he told the Tanlac man this week, "and decided to try it. It has certainly done wonders for me, and my catarrh no longer bothers me in the least."

Tanlac, the wonderful remedy which Mr. Zakariason recommends so highly, may be purchased in Duluth from the store of William A. Abbett, "the careful druggist," at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Meredith, "The Tanlac Man," or one of his assistants is constantly in charge.—Advertisement.

REDUCTION PLAN URGED

Commissioner Silberstein Regards Incinerator System as Out of Date.

Sees Profit for City in Reducing Garbage Instead of Burning.

If the city decides to spend a large amount for the disposal of its garbage, it will not be on an expensive incinerator plant, Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, announced this morning.

Instead, he said, a reduction system, such as is now used in New York city, Salt Lake city and Detroit, will be installed.

"From information I have received from all parts of the country," said Commissioner Silberstein, "an incinerator plant is out of date and the reduction system is fast gaining in favor. It is the most modern method of disposing of garbage and, in addition, brings the city a revenue. The garbage is not burned, but reduced and in such a manner that there is no foul smell anywhere. The outflow from the tank is practically clear water.

Investigating System.

"I have instructed Health Director Fahey to examine the plants in New York and Detroit, so that we can have first-hand information. He is now attending a convention of medical men and will visit the two cities on his way home."

The odorless garbage reduction plant for a city the size of Duluth will cost approximately $67,000, according to an estimate received by the safety commissioner. Out of the residue, the city will derive an income of more than $16 a day or approximately $31,000 a year from grease, tankage and horse hides.

"This plan appeals to me the best," Mr. Silberstein said, "and if the council decides on a special bond issue to cover the expenditure, I will recommend the reduction plant. In case the city does not favor such an expense, I will recommend that some local company be organized, and that a franchise be given them to handle all of the city's garbage at a specified rate per ton."

Evelethians Acquitted.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—After over twenty-four hours' deliberation, the district court jury last night returned a verdict of not guilty in the case against Mr. and Mrs. Charles Red, both colored, and James Burns, white, tried on the charge of stealing goods from Julius Thibault in Eveleth.

SEEK DEATH ON SAME DAY

Mrs. Andrew Carlson Tries to End Life With Poison.

John Bower Kills Himself With Charge From Shotgun.

One suicide and another attempt which will probably result successfully were reported today in Superior.

Mrs. Andrew Carlson, aged 55, who resides at the Chassee settlement, thirteen miles southeast of the town of Foxboro, was walking down Tower avenue about 9 o'clock this morning. Stopping at the corner of Nineteenth street she took out a vial containing two ounces of carbolic acid and drained it. She was rushed to St. Mary's hospital where physicians say she has little or no chance of recovery.

John Bower, aged 70 years, who has been in the employ of Ed Kambler, a dairyman on Tower avenue, near the Interstate Transfer railroad, shot himself through the head with a charge of buckshot about 10 o'clock. A few moments before killing himself he had been in the house talking to Mr. Kambler's small son. Shortly afterwards the report of the gun was heard from the vicinity of the barn and investigation disclosed the aged man dying from the effects of the shot.

The cause is either case has not been ascertained. Bower is said to have had a good home with the dairyman and had been with him for more than ten years. Little is known of the woman. The police have communicated with her relatives.

Would Work for Education.

Fifteen young men and twenty-five young women, who desire to go through the term at the Superior Normal school this year have applied for work and assert that they will work at almost anything that will help them pay their expenses. Positions in homes for the girls are being procured, while odd jobs are being hunted up for the boys.

Many Licenses Issued.

More than 1,000 hunting licenses have been issued to Superior residents since they were placed on sale a week ago. Yesterday the deputy clerk issued 120 permits to the sportsmen. Many licenses have been issued to women.

Levy for Roads.

At the meeting of the board of county supervisors of Douglas county yesterday afternoon a levy of $30,000 was made for bridges and road work in the county. The levy was made in order to secure a state aid amounting to $15,000. A number of bridges in the country will be rebuilt and new roads made.

Normal Will Open Monday.

The registration of students at the Superior state normal school will be held next Monday and Tuesday. Regular classes will begin Wednesday. The building will be ready for use Monday morning. Among the features of the building is a large auditorium, capable of seating 1,300 persons.

NIGHT CLASSES IN DAY AND NIGHT SCHOOL

Will be organized at the Duluth Business university on Monday, Sept. 13. Many who could not begin at the opening will then enter. Location, 118-120 Fourth avenue west, Christie building. Both phones, Grand 719, Duluth phone Melrose 4140. W. C. McCarter, principal.

Confectionery Merchant Bankrupt.

The cool summer must have been a serious handicap to Henry Fieldman, confectionery merchant of Chisholm, for today he filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States district court. The petition places the liabilities at $4,975.36 and the assets at nothing.

Council Invited to Festival.

Members of the city commission were this morning invited to attend the annual fall festival of the Jackson Farmers' club, to be held at the Jackson school next Tuesday and Wednesday. The invitation was sent to the council by John Johnson, secretary of the festival committee. Several of the members said this morning that they would attend the festival.

Would Pave Sixth Avenue.

A petition was filed with City Clerk Borgen yesterday requesting the city council to pave Sixth avenue east from Seventh to Eleventh streets. It is signed by practically all the owners along the thoroughfare. The petition will be presented to the council next Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Nancy J. Kimball, whose death occurred at Superior on Oct. 9, 1914, left real estate in Duluth valued at $3,000, according to a petition which was filed in probate court today. The property is disposed of by a will to two daughters, Edna and Josephine, and one grandchild, Nancy Bond.

Wants $600 Damages.

A jury was drawn in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning to try a suit which Adolph La France has pending against the city of Duluth. The case grows out of the flooding of La France's property at Fond du Lac on May 28, 1914. The plaintiff asks for $600 damages, claiming that the city was at fault in providing an inadequate passageway for the water in Mission creek during the season of heavy rains.

STOMACH MISERY QUICKLY VANISHES

Your money back if you want it is the way in which all the leading drug stores are selling Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia remedy.

This is an unusual plan, but Mi-o-na has so much merit and is so almost invariably successful in relieving all forms of indigestion that the dealers run but little risk in selling under a guarantee of this kind.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-o-na will help you. If it doesn't, tell your druggist that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-o-na, and its continued use will soon start you on the road to perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful that every box is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. What fairer proposition could be made?

You can get Mi-o-na on this money back guarantee from practically every druggist in this vicinity, including Boyce Drug store.

MORE PUPILS AT SCHOOLS

Attendance Increases More Than 300 on Third Day of Semester.

Increases in All Buildings Except One; Lincoln Addition Jan. 1.

On the third day of school 315 more pupils attended than on Tuesday, the opening day. The total for the city's public and high schools was estimated at 12,200 pupils.

Still further increases are expected by Supt. R. E. Denfeld as pupils who were away on the opening day return to the city and join their classes. The total will be boosted considerably on Monday, when 650 grade pupils who go to the Lincoln school at Twenty-fifth avenue west and Fourth street, will be allowed to return to their classes.

A $140,000 addition to the Lincoln school, now under way, will be completed by Jan. 1, according to Jacobson Bros., the contractors, and will give Duluth its third junior high school.

In order to build the addition it was necessary to cut off the wing of the building which housed the heating plant and the toilets. After several days of rush work, contractors notified Supt. Denfeld yesterday that by next Monday the partitions would be in, so that the toilets could be opened for use.

The main part of the building will be used from now until the first of the year, even though contractors are busy on the adjoining wing.

"We may be bothered by noise at first," said Supt. Denfeld, "but it is better that the children should work under handicaps than not to work at all."

Attendance reports for the third day showed small increases in every building in the city excepting the Merritt, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street, where thirteen less pupils reported than on the first day.

At the R. E. Denfeld high school in West Duluth there was an increase of fifty-four pupils, and at the Central high school there was a gain of thirty-two.

Including the pupils attending parochial institutions and special schools, it is estimated that Duluth has more than 14,000 children in school daily.

BRUSH FIRE CLEARS OFF LARGE MUSKEG

Extensive Tract Near Zim Put Into Condition for Farming.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to reports received here today brush and swamp fires have done loyal work in clearing about 5,000 acres of muskeag land located between Zim and Wallace, which has been raging several days. It is said the fire has cleared the land as well as a human agency could. The railroad has had men watching the fire but allowed it to burn so long as it did not leave the muskeag and burn larger timber or menace other property.

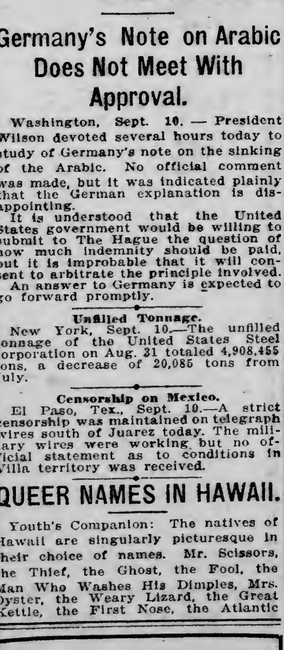

PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA CONTRIBUTES A WAR HERO

HANS HIMMER.

The Philadelphia orchestra has contributed a hero to the European war. He is Hans Himmer, who played the cello in Philadelphia for ten years. He was in Europe when the war broke out and entered the German army, being made corporal of field artillery. He was decorated recently with the Iron Cross for bravery in action.

HIGHEST DECORATION CONFERRED BY KAISER

ORDER OF THE BLACK EAGLE.

The kaiser has conferred on Gen. von Mackensen the Order of the Black Eagle, which is the highest decoration known in Germany. This is not to be confused with the Red Eagle, which is a purely complimentary decoration. The kaiser distributed Red Eagles with a lavish hand among British statesmen the last time he was in England.

EXPLANATION DISAPPOINTING

Germany's Note on Arabic Does Not Meet With Approval.

Washington, Sept. 10. — President Wilson devoted several hours today to study of Germany's note on the sinking of the Arabic. No official comment was made, but it was indicated plainly that the German explanation is disappointing.

It is understood that the United States government would be willing to submit to The Hague the question of how much indemnity should be paid, but it is improbable that it will consent to arbitrate the principle involved.

An answer to Germany is expected to go forward promptly.

Unfilled Tonnage.

New York, Sept. 10.—The unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation on Aug. 31 totaled 4,908,455 tons, a decrease of 20,085 tons from July.

Censorship on Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 10.—A strict censorship was maintained on telegraph wires south of Juarez today. The military wires were working but no official statement as to conditions in Villa territory was received.

QUEER NAMES IN HAWAII.

Youth's Companion: The natives of Hawaii are singularly picturesque in their choice of names. Mr. Scissors, the Thief, the Ghost, the Fool, the Man Who Washes His Dimples, Mrs. Oyster, the Weary Lizard, the Great Kettle, the First Nose, the Atlantic Ocean, the Stomach, Poor Pussy, Mrs. Turkey, the Tenth Heaven are all names that have appeared in the city directory.

They are often careless of the gender or appropriateness of the names they take. A householder on Beretania street, Honolulu, is called the Pretty Woman (Wahine Maikai); a male infant was lately christened Mrs. Tompkins; one little girl is named Samson; another, the Man; Susan (Kukena) is a boy; so are Polly, Sarah, Jane Peter and Henry Ann. A pretty little maid has been named by her fond parents the Pig Sty (Hale Puaa). For some unknown reason—or for no reason at all—one boy is named the Rat Eater.

The Reverend Doctor Coan of Hawaii possess the love of his flock. One morning a child was presented for baptism whose name was given by the parents, Mikia, when the ceremony was finished the parents assured the doctor that they had named the baby for him.

"But my name is not Michael," said the doctor, supposing Mikia to be aimed thereat.

"We always hear your wife call you Mikia!" answered the mother. She had mistaken Mrs. Coan's familiar "my dear" for her husband's given name.

An old servant in Doctor Wight's family, at Kohala, caused her grandchild to be baptized in church. The Doctor (Kauka); that was its only name. By way of compliment to the early physicians, many children were named after their drugs, as Joseph Squills, Miss Rhubarb, the Emetic, the Doctor Who Peeps in at a Door.

Names uncomplimentary, or even disgusting, are willingly born by their owners; others convey a pleasing and graceful sentiment. Among the latter are the Arch of Heaven (Ka Ria Lani), the River of Twilight (Ka Wia Linia), the Delicate Wreath (Ka Lei ma Lii). The name of Liliuokalani, the queen, now in retirement, means a lily in the sky.

HIS OWN FAULT.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: There had been an accident on the worst railroad in the United States. You know the name of the road as well as I do, so what's the use of risking a libel suit by mentioning it?

The sole survivor of the wreck was sitting up in his hospital cot swathed in bandages. "I suppose you're going to sue the company for damages?" said the friend at the bedside.

"No," said the damaged one, "I shall do nothing of the kind."

"Why not? You've certainly got a clear case against them."

"Clear case, nothing! Any intelligent jury in the world would bring in a verdict of contributory negligence. I ought to have known better than to travel on the blamed line."

AND REJECTED.

Washington Star: Alfred Noyes, irritation over whose peace poems, it is now generally admitted, did much to bring on the war—Alfred Noyes was talking in New York about poetry.

"And they say," he cried, "that poetry isn't widely read. Why, gentlemen—"

Here Mr. Noyes winked gayly.

"Why, gentlemen, a poem I wrote last year has been read, to date, by no less than 175 magazine editors."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BEER HARD TO OBTAIN

Railroads in North Dakota Are Not Handling It as Formerly.

Federal Injunction Puts New Aspect on Shipping of Contraband.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the suit brought by the state against the several railroad companies operating in North Dakota, to prevent the shipment of liquor to blind-piggers, the railroads have adopted stringent methods of dealing with liquor shipments, and are pointing out to their agents in the state the penalty in connection with law violation.

The railroad agents no longer are the agents of brewing companies, as formerly. There was a time when breweries made big shipments to the railroad stations in the state, and under an agreement with the agent, such liquor was doled out to whoever might call for it on a C. O. D. basis.

Now this has all changed as North Dakota is enforcing its liquor legislation severely in every section, is calling to its aid the Federal statutes—and by this combination it expects to be able to reach out in such manner as to effectually shut off the supply of liquor to illegal venders of that commodity.

Uncle Sam's Part.

Under the Federal law a railroad agent is made liable to prosecution when he accepts liquor for shipment into a prohibition state when he knows such liquor is to be used for illegal purposes. Under the state law the railroad agent is liable if he delivers liquor to law violators. North Dakota has not yet called to its aid the criminal features of these measures.

Judge Amidon's decision on continuing the injunctions against the railroads, recently granted temporarily, will be forthcoming in about three weeks. This injunction was obtained on the plea that the railroads before accepting a liquor shipment were bound to determine what the consignee intended doing with it. The railroads deny such liability on their part.

GETTING WORK FOR MANY

Ada's Chief of Police Furnishing Men for Farmers.

Ada, Minn., Sept. 10.—Chief of Police Bell has been busy in the employment agency line, and during the past month has placed 250 men at work in the harvest fields and at threshing around Ada. He has been unable to supply the demand, and farmers have been hard put for men this fall. The average wage is $2.50 per day and "find." In two days Mr. Bell found places for more than thirty men. It can readily be seen that there are a great many men at work here this year, and that when the fall work is over there will be a large number going out from here. This will mean a big business for local merchants, as wages are good and with the ideal weather conditions very little time is being lost.

BRAINERD HUNTERS LEAVE BIRDS BEHIND.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two local hunters, Art Drogseth and Al Mraz, after infinite pains and the tramping through miles of territory, bagged two chickens, which were deposited on the ground alongside their car. They started home, got to Brainerd in record time, went to a restaurant and ordered their chickens roasted. Drogseth went back to the car to get the birds for the chef, but, like the Mother Hubbard rhyme, there was neither bird nor bone, as the chickens were still by the roadside.

MANY ACRES MAY SOON BE AVAILABLE

Lands in Winnibigoshish District May Soon Be Opened.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Forty thousand acres of land may be opened in the Lake Winnibigoshish district for agricultural purposes as the result of an investigation now being carried on by Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh of this district.

Part of the land in question can be used for meadow purposes and other parts as winter quarters for the large herds of cattle that will roam what is known as the national timber reserve of Minnesota, comprising 240,000 acres of virgin timber situated in the counties of Cass, Itasca and Koochiching and practically all of which can be used for grazing purposes.

Hampered by Floods.

At present the opportunities on the timberless tracts of this reserve are hampered by flood conditions on the Mississippi, Leech and other rivers through that district and during the last few years the government has constructed five reservoirs throughout the district and erected enormous dams, which, with the dredging of the rivers, which work is now in progress, will keep the waters of the rivers at a normal height during the entire year.

The idea of leasing the lands for the purpose of stock-raising was made known by Congressman Lindbergh in a visit to Bemidji and leaving this city he went to Cass Lake, where in company with G. E. Marshall, superintendent of the reserve, he will visit the lands affected by the dredging work of the government and will also investigate the feasibility of clearing certain large tracts of brush lands for winter quarters for the cattle that graze on the meadow lands in the summer.

The Leech and Mississippi rivers are also being straightened in many places, which increases the area of meadow lands.

ARRESTED IN NEBRASKA.

Man Alleged to Have Given Spurious Checks Caught.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 10.—Charles Manson, alleged to have passed spurious checks here and in St. Cloud, is under arrest in Bridgeport, Neb.

He was traced by the sheriff and Special Agent Priesinger of the Northern Pacific here, through a grip which he left. It was checked to Galesburg, Ill., and the authorities there were asked to find out who claimed it. It was taken by a woman and sent to a small town near Bridgeport, Neb.

Sheriff Felix left Wednesday afternoon for Bridgeport to claim his prisoner and said that the complaint had been changed to passing checks which he had no funds to cover, which is an extraditable offense.

INDIAN FARMERS MAKE NICE DISPLAY

Redskins' Fair Held Near Fort Berthold, N. D., Eye Opener.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indians of the Fort Berthold reservation are doubtless the most successful redskin farmers of the Northwest, according to I. P. Baker of this city, who has just returned from an automobile tour of the reservation and the Indian fair at Elbow woods.

"The display of Hereford cattle at the fair was one of the best I have ever seen," said Mr. Baker. "The Indians also displayed very fine grain samples, and the fair was a remarkable success.

"Many Indian farmers are showing unusual ability as farmers, and we saw several splendid fields of wheat from 200 to 600 acres."

NEED MISSIONARIES.

Official of State Missionary Society Tells Bemidji of Chinese Work.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 10.—Special to The Herald.)—Miss Clara W. Davidson of Minneapolis, field secretary of the Womans' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church of Minnesota, spoke on missions to a large and appreciative audience at the Presbyterian church Monday.

After plea was given for the missions of China and she said that at the present rate the Presbyterian church was sending missionaries to that country it would take more than 100 years to Christianize their proportion of the population, according to the size of the Presbyterian church.

The meeting in the evening was held under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society, and Nat Given, president, had charge. A program was arranged in connection with the meeting and after Miss Davidson's address a social time was enjoyed in the basement of the church and lunch was served. Miss Davidson spoke on missions at the home of Mrs. J. F. Essler in the afternoon.

NORTH DAKOTA BOY RAISES MUCH WHEAT

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vernon Carson, aged 14 years, may be the champion wheat grower of North Dakota as a result of obtaining a yield of forty-eight bushels an acre of No. 1 hard wheat on a ten-acre tract he farmed.

Since 1912, when his father set aside the plot of ground for the use of the youngster, the boy has been successfully farming. Threshing operations concluded yesterday, revealed a 48-bushel average yield for the ten acres—being the best wheat yield reported in this section—and I probably is one of the very best yields that will be reported anywhere in the state.

SAY GOPHER POISON KILLED OFF CHICKENS

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Gopher poison, used extensively by farmers in many sections of the state this year, has been responsible for diminishing the supply of prairie chickens, according to local hunters who have returned from the fields.

In many localities, the hunters say, they were informed by farmers and others that the birds were in many instances killed by feeding on the poison set out for the rodents.

This year, the state agricultural college has been particularly active in combatting the gopher evil, and thousands of acres in the state have been "baited" with poison.

STATE TIMBER SALE.

Trees in Northern Minnesota to Be Offered Oct. 15.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—The state timber board has decided to sell over 2,000,000,000 feet of timber in Northern Minnesota because it is believed to be in danger of destruction or damage by fire.

The timber will be sold at auction at the state capitol Oct. 15.

The land is located in Cook, Lake, St. Louis, Koochiching, Itasca, Cass and Beltrami counties.

State Forester Cox asked that in order to provide for reforestation, the board require that all timber be removed after methods approved by his department, but the board decided to leave this to the discretion of the state auditor.

STRIKES MILK MAID, THEN SHOOTS SELF

Glenwood City, Wis., Sept. 10.—William Junckman, a Hollander, about 25 years old, employed on the farm of J. P. Hanson, four miles west of here, struck Ella, 20 years old, daughter of Mr. Hanson, on the head with an eight-pound setting maul, while she was milking. He then went to the house and took a shot gun with which he blew a hole through his left chest, just missing the heart. The girl will recover, although the wound is severe. Junckman is still alive, but physicians do not expect his recovery. Temporary insanity over unrequited love is believed to have caused the act. The sheriff and district attorney came from Hudson and placed Junckman under arrest, but it is not thought he will live to face trial.

GOVERNOR HAMMOND FOR PREPAREDNESS

Hopes War Will Never Come But If It Does We'll Be Ready.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 10.—"The patriotism that burned in your breasts in the days of '60 is still with us. And I believe that in the event of war with either Great Britain or Germany all of the English and all of the Germans would be found following the Stars and Stripes."

So declared Governor Hammond, speaking before 400 veterans of the Civil war Thursday at the twenty-eighth annual reunion of the Minnesota Civil War Veterans association in the Hall of Fame.

Scores Administration Critics.

The governor severely arraigned those of foreign birth who criticise the attitude of the government toward the nations at war, and he made a plea for preparedness.

"I hope the United States never again will become involved in war," the governor said, "but suppose there should be a war, God knows I don't want our young men to be slaughtered because they don't know how to fight. I believe the men of this nation should be trained in the science of war so they will know how to defend themselves and their homes."

FARGO, N. D., RAID.

Sheriff Seizes Beer and Liquor in Suspected Place.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large quantity of beer, whisky, gin and wine is stacked in the office of Sheriff John Ross as a result of a raid he and his deputies made on the rooming house of Gertrude Martz at the corner of Front and Thirteenth streets.

The Martz establishment has been under suspicion by the sheriff's office for some time, but conditions were not such that evidence could be secured until the raid, which was also participated in by Assistant State's Attorney Green. The raiders took in charge two men who were at the house at the time and one is said to have informed the officers that he purchased four quarts of beer for 50 cents a quart.

Fire Near Big Falls.

Big Falls, Minn., Sept. 10.—A fire has been for the past week raging on the 1,000-acre farm southeast of town, along the state ditch and about one mile of the road bed along the ditch has been consumed by the fire.

Bull Kills Old Man.

Waseca, Minn., Sept. 10.—Peter Helle, an aged resident of Otisco, was gored to death by a bull in the pasture of his home. He is said to have gone to the pasture to assist his step-son, Christopher Nelson, bring the cows into the barn. When the latter reached the barn, he noticed that some cows were still missing, and he went to the pasture again to look for them, when he saw Mr. Helle lying dead on the ground, with the bull standing over him.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Janesville.—Samuel C. Bell, Beloit, aged 28, married a year, conductor on the Rockford interurban line, was electrocuted while using one of the interurban company's telephones during a storm which had broken one of the high tension power wires.

Neenah—More hunters than ducks were in evidence at the opening of the season on the hunting grounds in this vicinity.

Madison—The state civil service commission has refused to exempt employes of the new state printing board from civil service and all employes will be required to pass an examination.

Beloit—The new Illinois marriage laws requiring out of state applicants for licenses to wed to undergo the same tests as are required in their home states has operated to give Beloit pastors more weddings.

Depere—G. W. Knoeller suffered a broken leg when his automobile overturned on the road between this city and Green Bay. The car skidded on the slippery road while passing another car. Kenneth Jackson of this city, a student at Lawrence university, suffered a sprained ankle.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—Five cases of scarlet fever were discovered in Hancock a few days ago and since that time every effort has been made by Dr. L. M. Power, city health officer, to stamp out the disease.

Iron Mountain—Beto Doto of Iron Mountain is the only person thus far who has collected a rat bounty here. He brought five dead rats to the city clerk's office and was given a certificate designating that he was entitled to a bounty of 25 cents.

Houghton—Elias Koskela, one of the oldest and best known farmers at Liminga, died at his home at that place on Monday after a lengthy illness with kidney trouble and heart disease. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and three sons.

Marquette—Ideal weather featured the formal opening of the Marquette county fair and resulted in a good attendance throughout the gates. Wednesday was Negaunee day and hundreds of people from that city came to Marquette on trains and in automobiles to see the best fair that has ever been produced in the county.

Houghton — Undersheriff William Heikkila has returned from Minnesota where he captured John F. Hanson and Jacob Kankonen. Hanson is wanted on a charge of deserting his family. He formerly conducted a small store in Calumet. Kankonen is wanted at Alston, Laird township, on a similar charge.

Negaunee—Veronica Scanlon, the 4-year-old daughter of Michael Scanlon, lost four fingers when she fell while playing near the railroad track near her home, her hand striking the rail and a moving box car severed the four fingers.

Calumet—The equipment of all fire departments of Calumet has been materially improved this summer with the addition of some of the most modern apparatus on the market and the volunteer companies are in a position to cope with any emergency.

Houghton—Rev. J. R. Rankin, D. C., for the past three years pastor of Grace M. E. church, states that it is his intention to retire from the ministry and from active work with the close of the present year. His year ends with the Detroit conference, which opens at Port Huron Sept. 15.

Calumet—The Young Men's Christian association has inaugurated a campaign to raise $3,000, needed to meet the current expenses of the present fiscal year. The membership has been divided into two groups, headed by Dr. W. T. S. Gregg and Capt. Allan Cameron.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Local traveling men, who next year will entertain the grand lodge of the U. C. T. of the Minnesota-Dakota jurisdiction, appointed the general committee in charge headed by Ira D. Wright as president, with W. W. Tyler as secretary, the work being apportioned as follows: Entertainment, R. C. Camp; refreshments, Bert Stewart; membership, Sid S. Faucett; decorations, George E. McClure; finance, A. A. Robinson.

Valley City, N. D.—E. H. Kells from Deer River, Minn., has made arrangements to open a cigar factory here. His material has been shipped and will arrive in time to have the place of business in operation some time next week.

Jamestown, N. D.—Dr. R. G. DePuy saved the lives of Miss Alice Moss and Orvin Mittlesteadt when he rescued them from the James river and is in line for a Carnegie medal for his single-handed effort.

Fargo, N. D.—The remains of Guy C. Crowell, the young painter, who committed suicide in this city last Sunday evening, were shipped to the home of his father, L. C. Crowell, Clear Lake, Iowa.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Funeral services over the remains of Beers Johnstone, who died at his home in this city Monday afternoon, were held at the residence Tuesday afternoon. Rev. William H. Elfring, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, and Rev. R. G. Pierson of the First Baptist church, officiated. The body was interred in Memorial Park cemetery.

Fargo, N. D.—Col. M. A. Hildreth, United States district attorney, has returned home from attending the annual convention of the American Bar association at Salt Lake City and visiting in Colorado. While attending the bar meeting Col. Hildreth delivered an address before the institute of criminology

Grand Forks N. D.—H. A. Dunlap of the International Harvester company of this city, John Ottom of Grafton, and H. C. Dryden of Chicago, riding in Mr. Dunlap's Studebaker, Sept. 8, leaped from the machine when it dashed from the highway three miles south of Grand Forks, on the approach to a bridge, after hitting Harry Lafferty's runabout, and escaped uninjured when the machine finally turned on its side at the bottom of the twenty-foot grade.

Bismarck, N. D.—Enoch Johnson was drowned in the Northern Pacific reservoir at Flasher Tuesday morning, while hunting ducks. He was single and so far as known has no relatives in this country, but has relatives in Norway. The body was buried at Flasher.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Ada—The Great Northern railroad company has asked that the citizens of Ada make some concessions to them in the way of closing a street to make room for its new depot here. The company desires to have either Washington, Downs or Notten avenue closed so that they may erect a 500-foot platform.

Fergus Falls—L. A. Levorsen received a telegram from Virginia stating that his father, Amund Levorsen, a well-known pioneer of Otter tail county, who was reported seriously ill there last week, is now much improved.

Hinckley—The Eastside picnic at Campbell's grove in Arlone township, which was held Monday, was a very pleasant affair with a very good turnout.

Bemidji—The 1915 June settlement, which has just been completed, is the largest settlement ever made in the history of Beltrami county, according to the county auditor. The total amount of the settlement is $269,215.81. The increase is due to increases in taxes and ditch assessments.

Brainerd—The pipe organ for the Swedish Lutheran church has arrived and the organ will be dedicated together with the church, Oct. 14 to 17. A fine program is being prepared.

Rochester—The body of the man found in the mill pond a few days ago has been identified as that of Thomas Flynn of St. Louis, Mo. Flynn had been a laborer at the state hospital. Efforts to locate relatives at St. Louis have failed.

Make it Easier For Baby in Summer

Many of the Hot-Weather Troubles Can Easily Be Avoided.

If the mother will see to it that the bowels are kept regular, much of the illness to which children are most susceptible during hot weather can be prevented.

A mild laxative, administered at regular intervals, will prove an excellent preventive of summer complaints that are caused by inactive bowels. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is excellent for children, being pleasant to the taste, gentle yet positive in action, and free from opiate or narcotic drug of any description. It acts naturally, without griping or other discomfort, and is altogether dependable.

The cleansing of the bowels will most effectively check an attack of diarrhea by expelling the foreign matter and poisons that irritate and inflame the tissues.

In every home a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be on hand, ready for use when occasion requires. It costs only fifty cents a bottle and is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 453 Washington street, Monticello, Ill.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WHEAT PRICES ADVANCE ON GOOD MILLERS' BUYING

Markets Especially Strong in Cash Grain; Heavy Demand Reported.

Flaxseed Prices Hold Firm, Though Trading Is Extremely Limited.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 10.—The market was strong at the close which was at the top of the session. September wheat closed 2⅝c up, December 2¼c up, and May 2c up.

September durum closed 2½c up, October 1¾c up, and December 2½c up.

Oats closed ¼c off at 32⅝c for on the track; rye unchanged at 89c for on the track, and barley 1@2c off at from 43 to 53c for on the track.

A combination of conditions led to a sharp rally in the wheat market today, advances extending up to nearly 2c being recorded during the first three hours' trading.

Millers were active buyers of cash and nearby wheat, and everything offering was readily picked up. Cables were higher and there were predictions of rain in sections of the Northwest. These developments in conjunction with a better sterling exchange situation, led to a rush on the part of shorts to get under cover all through the session. It was furthermore a subject of comment that Eastern mills are taking spring wheat freely on account of the continued delay in the marketing of the Southwest crop.

Receipts at Duluth were in better volume today, 335 cars being inspected, while there were 526 cars on the tracks. Through the good demand from all sides, premiums were firmer, 3c over September being paid for No. 1 northern spot wheat, and 2c over for to arrive Sept. 15. A rush of shipments from the elevators down the lakes is forecasted for early next week. While the grading of wheat this season is exceptionally high, complaints are being made on the score that a considerable quantity of the grain shipped in so far was not properly cleaned, causing delay in handling it at the elevators. It is hoped that condition will be remedied in later shipments.

Of the 335 cars of wheat inspected at Duluth today, 27 graded No. 1 hard as against only 5 last year, and 125 No. 1 northern, compared with 70 a year ago. Cash wheat ruled strong on all the American markets. At Chicago, cash premiums were up 1c, and at St. Louis they were advanced 1½@8½c.

September wheat opened ¼c up at 92c, and it advanced without a reaction to 93⅝c at the noon hour. December opened ¼c up at 91⅛c, and moved up to 92½c. May opened ⅝c up at 96¼c, and gained 1c more.

Good buying appeared in durum and it bulged 2½c in the near future. September durum opened ½c up at 96c and sold up to 98c. October opened unchanged at 93c and bulged 2c. December opened unchanged at 91¼c, and sold up 2½c. May durum was traded in at 96@96¼c.

Flaxseed Trade Quiet.

Operations in flaxseed were featureless, trading being the lighest in several days. The market held steady with holders and crushers each showing a disposition to hold off for developments before dipping into the market to any extent.

September flax closed ¼c off at $1.62¾. October opened unchanged at $1.62½, and closed ½c off at $1.62. November opened unchanged at $1.62⅝, and closed ¼c up at $1.63 asked. December opened unchanged at $1.62¼, and closed ¼c up at $1.62½ asked.

At Winnipeg October flax closed ⅜c up at $1.42 bid, and December ⅜c up at $1.43.

At Buenos Aires September flax closed 1c up at $1.22⅞ and London unchanged at $1.91⅞.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

MARKET GOSSIP.

There was a good demand for wheat from millers and elevators on the Duluth market today and premiums were firm. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold at 3c over September and to arrive Sept. 15 at 2c over.

The steamer Parks Foster loaded out 96,772 bu of flaxseed for Buffalo yesterday from Consolidated Elevator D. A rush in wheat shipments is expected by the vessel interests next week.

* * *

Bartlett Frazier company had the following from Kansas City: "I think that wheat threshing in Kansas is falling very much below estimates. The rank growth of straw misled most observers. Actual threshing reports of 3 to 5 bu per acre are common now and what is more convincing still of a disappointing crop is that the receipts here are very small."

* * *

A New York wire said: "Some exporters claimed that there was a noticeable improvement in the demand for Canadian wheat and oats and there are intimations of a better business in the near future, especially if the foreign exchange market is bolstered, as is expected. Exchange this morning was nominally strong."

Foreign crop summary:

India—In parts moisture is ample, but generally dryness prevails.

Argentina—Light partial showers were reported, but still more is wanted.

France—More favorable reports are being received.

Roumania—Corn yield is 108,000,000 bu, against 950,000,000 bu last year.

Argentina—Shipments, wheat, 136,000 bu; corn, 5,536,000 bu; oats, 430,000 bu.

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Firmness in America and Winnipeg yesterday and light arrivals with prospective inadequate shipments this week, caused a firm undertone. Spot market was firm unchanged to 1d higher; cargo market firm, winters 4½ higher; Manitoba, 1½ to 3d higher. Platas unchanged and Indians 6d higher with very light offerings. There was a good millers' demand with United Kingdom arrivals limited and weather not altogether favorable. Corn market was easy with poor consumptive demand, as fodder crops here are excellent and Argentine shipments large with Plata offers liberal. Spot market is ½d lower and cargoes 3d lower."

Minneapolis cash market was strong with very good milling demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5 to 7 over September with better premiums to go to outside mills, and velvet chaff at 2 to 3 over September. Flour sales of fair volume were reported. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 91½@98c and No. 2 northern at from 89½c to 95c. Elevator stocks of wheat there decreased 15,000 bu in the week.

The Modern Miller says: "More favorable weather has promoted threshing activity in the greater part of the winter wheat belt and there will be an enlargement of the wheat movement in the Southwest and more good wheat available for milling purposes. Many winter wheat millers have drawn supplies from Montana and Dakota which shows the most extraordinary delay in the movement of winter wheat ever recorded. In Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, heavy rains have interfered with the threshing. Harvest conditions in the Northwest have been ideal and the demand for both wheat and flour is heavy. From this time forward there is every indication that wheat will show improvement in quality, but there will be no big accumulations for several months, if at all."

Wheat yield of the Canadian Northwest for the present year is placed by the Dominion government figures at 226,359,000 bu; oats at 250,000,000 bu; barley at 51,964,000 bu, and flax at 7,624,000 bu. The wheat yield per acre in Manitoba is placed at 19.2 bu; Saskatchewan at 18.5 bu, and Alberta at 23 bu. The final figures of the season will greatly exceed the above results in the estimation of dealers whose opinions are based upon threshing returns reported so far.

What this crop means to Canadian farmers can be gathered by a comparison with last year's figures. In 1914 the production of wheat was only 143,041,000 bu. The yield of oats was 163,130,000 bu; of barley, 37,341,000 bu, and of flax, 6,295,000 bu.

The output of flaxseed this year will greatly exceed the estimates of experts who had put it as low as 4,000,000 bu, and it is thought that it will exercise a bearish influence upon prices.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Chicago: "Foreign news is slightly bullish with spot and cargoes market higher. Northwest is offering wheat freely, while shipments from the winter section continue small. We advise sales of December and May wheat at current levels."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Unsettled Weather Has Bullish Effect on Wheat Prices.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Unsettled weather tending to interfere with the free movement of the crop had a bullish effect today on wheat. On the other hand the inquiry from millers continued to be of a somewhat pressing character. After opening ⅛ to ½c up with September at 95¾ to 96c and December at 92¼ to 92½c, the market scored a material further gain all around.

Advices that threshing results in Kansas were falling much below estimates acted as an additional handicap for the bears. The close was strong at 1¾@4⅛c net advance with September at 99¼c and December at 94c.

Predictions of frost in the Northwest gave only temporary strength to corn. The opening which ranged from ¼@⅜c off to ⅛c advance, was followed by a slight general upturn and then a moderate sag.

Later the market rallied with wheat. The close was firm, ⅝c to ¾@⅞c above last night.

Oats held within narrow limits.

Higher prices for hogs lifted provisions.

SMALL TRADING IN THE COPPERS

Almost complete stagnation prevailed in the mining stock market at Boston today. Traders showed a disposition to await the outcome of the present foreign situation before increasing their commitments.

Butte & Superior turned easy in spite of its recent big dividend declaration, selling off 87c to $66.25.

Calumet & Arizona sold 50c up at $63; Copper Range 50c off at $54.25; East Butte fractionally up at $12.25; Greene-Cananea 75c up at $38.75; North Butte unchanged at $29.25 and Shattuck unchanged at $25.

TRADING IN STOCKS DULL

International Situation Has But Little Effect on Share Market.

Some Yielding Near the Close Due to New Developments.

New York, Sept. 10.—Contrary to general expectations and despite the weakness of Americans in London, latest complications in the international situation failed to exert much influence at today's opening. There were initial declines of a point or more in railways and specialties, but the movement underwent general recoveries on the first fifteen minutes. Bethlehem Steel, which opened down a point at 324, rose immediately to 329, passing its previous best by 4 points. United States Steel also responded to the improving tendency.

As the stock market progressed today some specialties moved higher, while representative shares lost some of their gains. Bethlehem Steel was again prominent for its further advance to 335 and later. General Motors by its rise of 5 points to 268, also established a new record. Crucible Steel, which led the list as the most active stock of the first hour, repeated its high price of yesterday, gaining ⅝, at 91¼. Trading became dull and of a mixed character towards noon, such industrials as Tobacco issues, express shares and American Woolen coming forward at variable advances. Bonds were irregular.

Dullness and a more pronounced reactionary tendency developed in the early afternoon, following the publication of the steel tonnage figures, showing a small decrease for August. Steel declined to 75⅝ and specialties reacted 2 to 7 points.

New developments in the international situation provoked further selling today, standard stocks declining 1 to 2 points while specialties yielded 5 to 11 points.

Gains were replaced by losses in the final hour, Steel falling to 74⅜. The closing was heavy.

U. S. SUGAR NOW AT LOWEST MARK

Export Demand Expected to Cause Advance in Prices Soon.

Sugar prices in the United States are lower than in any other country in the world, according to figures compiled by experts. Advances in quotations of both the granulated and beet product in the near future are therefore predicted by jobbers.

Great Britain is estimated to have bought 100,000 tons of American granulated sugar and 300,000 tons of Cuban raws since the first of the year, and there is thought to be every probability of that country buying a large quantity of sugar in America as long as the war lasts.

A trade factor that is thought to bring about higher quotations is the cutting off of German and Austrian beet sugar exports, which in 1913 amounted to 2,160,000 tons. The French crop, furthermore, for the present year, is placed at only 330,000 tons as compared with a normal output of 750,000 tons. French dealers are therefore now being compelled to import sugar. There is a prospect for a considerably increased Cuban sugar cane output next season, but dealers say it will not be nearly sufficient to make up for the loss of exports from Germany and Austria.

Great Britain is considered to have handled the sugar problem with considerable success. At the beginning of the war large stocks were laid in before the trade was aware of what was taking place. English buying is in the hands of a royal commission which secures its supplies in America, Cuba, Java, Mauritius, Holland, or wherever stocks are available and prices are satisfactory. The wide discretion shown by British buyers has kept prices from soaring whenever there was a prospect of their entering any market.

The steady increase in the world's production of sugars is illustrated in the following figures showing the tonnages turned out by refiners since 1910: 1870, 2,416,000 tons; 1880, 3,254,000 tons; 1890, 6,265,000 tons; 1900, 8,800,000 tons; 1910, 17,300,000 tons; and 1914, 18,600,000 tons.

MORE IMPROVEMENT SHOWN BY MOST CROPS

Washington, Sept. 10.—A supplementary analysis of crop conditions in the United States on Sept. 1, announced today by the department of agriculture, indicated a slight improvement in prospects during the last month. The composite condition of all crops was 5.5 per cent above their ten-year average, compared with a condition of 3.9 per cent above that average on Aug. 1.

Improvement was shown by practically all the principal crops except millet, potatoes, sugar beets, lemons, grapes, tomatoes, hops, oranges, cotton, rice, onions, field beans and sugar cane.

A WAR-TIME PUZZLE.

Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph: A party of soldiers bound for "somewhere in France" were waiting for their train at a rural station in Wiltshire.

Among the lookers-on were an old countryman and his wife. Walking slowly past the warriors, the woman eyed them carefully, her attention being mainly paid to their puttee-clad legs.

"I say, George," she whispered when out of earshot, "there's somethin' I can't understand about they solgers."

"What be it, lass?" asked her good man, with a superior air.

"I can't think how they get their laigs into they twisted trousers," said the old woman, in wonder.

CITY OFFICIALS REPLY TO GRAND JURY'S CENSURE

All Disclaim Responsibility for Lax Bookkeeping Methods.

Up to Judge, Says Mayor; Windom Blames Clerk and Auditor.

Mayor W. I. Prince, Finance Commissioner F. J. Voss, City Auditor B. J. Campbell and Municipal Judge W. L. Windom, four city officials censured by the September grand jury for haphazard court methods, today replied by saying that they were not responsible, and that the blame should not have been directed at them.

The grand jury investigation, started when state examiners found alleged discrepancies of $1,000 in the books of Walter J. Richeson, deputy court clerk, culminated in the censuring of the city heads and the indictment of Mr. Richeson on a charge of misappropriation of public funds.

"It seems strange that I was not called before the grand jury," said City Auditor B. J. Campbell. "In fact no one has even asked for the original statement of the seventy-seven discrepancies alleged to have been found in Mr. Richeson's accounts. The list was given me by the state examiners and I still have it.

"In view of the fact that I have examined the court books monthly, it would seem that I could explain the system used and perhaps throw some light on the tangle. There certainly are no receipts for money not in the city's possession. I never saw the police books, so it was impossible to compare them with the court records."

Up to the Judge.

"If the grand jury had understood the municipal court act," said Mayor Prince, "it would not have included city officials in its criticism of supposed laxity in court books. Responsibility for the court books and records rests with the presiding judge and any irregularities are his fault, not mine.

"The division of finance has not, as far as I can see, anything to do with the municipal court," said Commissioner Voss. "Certainly no blame reflects upon Mr. Campbell, for dereliction."

Blame must be divided between the clerk of court and the city auditor, in the opinion of Municipal Judge Windom.

In a statement issued today the judge says Former Clerk John G. Ross tried to improve upon the system and he asks city officials "with a strong proclivity to pass the buck" to suggest a remedy.

Windom's Opinion.

"I am inclined to agree with the grand jury in many respects," he stated. "The system of accounting is perhaps cumbersome. How it can be made otherwise I cannot say, not being an accountant or even a bookkeeper. I wish some of those officials who seem to have a strong proclivity to 'pass the buck' would suggest a practical system.

"Mr. Ross, the former clerk, has always been anxious to have some of the chartered accountants suggest one. The accountants that made a complete check a year ago promised to submit a system. That has not been done.

"After all is said and done, is there anything wrong? If he is, he must have changed in the last five months. I always found him honest and very competent. He was entitled to a checkup every month and it was not the judge's duty to do it.

"It is the clerk's duty to keep a correct account, and the city auditor's duty to see that the clerk does keep a correct account, and, if he does not, to so report. The judge has a right to depend, and does depend, on the second paragraph of section No. 9, municipal court act, which reads:

"'And the city comptroller shall, on or before the tenth day of each month, examine the books and records of said court, and the report of the said clerk for the month next preceding, and if, on such examination, he shall find the report correct and that the said clerk shall have paid to the city treasurer all moneys belonging to or to go to the city of Duluth, he shall give to the said clerk a certificate of such examination and payment, which certificate shall be a full ment, which certificate shall be a full release on the part of said city to said clerk for all claims against him by the said city for the month therein stated.'

"I hope Mr. Richeson will be able to show a clean sheet. I, for one, will not prejudge him. You see we have even now to depend upon the auditors and Mr. Richeson before we will know whether he is guilty of malfeasance or laches or neither.

"Since this world's war started, there seems to be a spirit of irrationality and prejudgment that is very prevalent and it seems very difficult for the average man to keep himself in bounds. The war has sort of got on our nerves."

BREWER WILL ACCEPT CALL

Philadelphia Pastor Will Take the First Presbyterian Pulpit.

Successor to Rev. Robert Yost Due Here Nov. 1.

Rev. Charles Brewer, pastor of the Holland Memorial Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, has accepted the call of the First Presbyterian congregation of Duluth to become its pastor, and will begin his services here on Nov. 1.

The committee in charge of the obtaining of a pastor, W. H. Hoyt, chairman, and which sent the call to Dr. Brewer some weeks ago, has just received a letter from Dr. Brewer from Point aux Pines, Mich., where he is spending his vacation, in which he accepts the call. Dr. Brewer says in his letter that he will leave Point aux Pines about Oct. 1, returning to Philadelphia, and that he expects to have matters arranged so that he can come to Duluth by Nov. 1.

The First Presbyterian church of Duluth has been without a pastor ever since Rev. Robert Yost left the charge last October. The congregation has not hurried in its selection of a pastor for the reason that it wished to feel reasonably certain that a new man would adequately fill the vacancy caused when Dr. Yost left, the latter having been one of the most popular pastors the church has ever had, and having begun community work which it is desired to carry on and extend.

When the call was sent to Dr. Brewer it was felt that no other available man appeared to so combine the qualities of preacher and pastor that the congregation required. Concerning him, Mr. Hoyt said this morning:

"We feel that we are fortunate in obtaining the consent of Dr. Brewer, for he has an admirable record—one of success throughout his ministry. He is, comparatively, a young man, being still under 40 years of age, is vigorous and enthusiastic. The general opinion of him is that he is a 'growing' preacher, and is possessed of fine organizing and pastoral ability. That is what we need. He is also of fine personality and seems to have the knack of drawing and holding the esteem of people with whom he meets. His record as pastor of a church in Oakland, Cal., for seven years of the First church, Coshocton, Ohio, for four years, and for a year and a half in his present charge is of the very best."

Dr. Brewer was born in Kingston, Ont., but was educated on this side of the line, and is said to be a pulpit speaker of rare ability and scholarly attainments. Dr. Yost, when here recently, spoke in the highest terms of his successor.

Mrs. Brewer was the daughter of a minister and is said to be a most capable church worker. Both are said to be excellent singers.

SELLING RYE STRAW TO DULUTH CONCERN

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 10.—The farmers of this locality find winter rye a profitable crop this year and it is likely that the acreage will be materially increased at this fall's planting. Kuitu & Mattinen of this city have just shipped to the Marshall-Wells company of Duluth fifty tons of rye straw, for which the farmers of the towns of Thomson, Knife Falls and Perch Lake have received $11 per ton. The shipment required five cars.

This straw is used by the Duluth firm for filling horse collars, of which they are large manufacturers. The straw has to be especially handled for this purpose. The grain is threshed out by hand in order to leave the straw long and unbroken. It is then shipped in small, round bundles to the collar factory.

FALLS NEAR WARROAD.

Warroad, Minn., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herman Mende, living near Hay creek, is recovering from an injury he sustained last week when he fell from his loaded wagon, about two miles from town, striking on the back of his neck and being rendered unconscious for several hours. He was picked up and brought here.

IS ALMOST IMPASSABLE

Road to the Steel Plant Suburbs Causes Many Complaints.

Jitney Service Very Unsatisfactory as Result of Rough Road.

Road conditions between the suburbs and West Duluth are anything but satisfactory, judging from the numerous complaints that are heard daily. The road between Eightieth avenue west and Ninety-third and Zimmerly avenues is now in such condition that travel in almost any kind of a vehicle is slow and even dangerous in places.

The narrow roadway is several inches deep with dust which the rain of early this morning turned into mud. It is so rough and uneven that automobiles have to bump through on low gear.

The contractors in charge of the work are pushing the construction of the paved street. Narrow gauge track have been laid, on which it is proposed to haul most of the material, such as gravel, sand and cement for the making of the concrete road. It is expected to start on this work at the Eighty-first avenue fill early next week. The excavation for the subway under the Northern Pacific railroad at Smithville is still far from completed but may, say foremen in charge of the job, be finished in about two weeks.

Jitney service to the suburbs is very unsatisfactory, probably as a result of the poor road. It is said that the automobiles run at irregular intervals and that those who wish to take the machines cannot depend upon getting one, for when they do come they are generally crowded.

Employes of the steel plant living in West Duluth also complain of the service given by the Northern Pacific. The morning train to the plant always manages to be on time in reaching its destination but the evening train bringing the men back home is said to have been from ten to fifteen minuets late almost every night for the last two months.

HOUSING IS BIG PROBLEM

Every Available Building in New Duluth and Gary Occupied.

Realty Men Are Swamped With Inquiries for Houses.

The housing problem is going to be most serious in the suburbs this fall, according to realty and business men of New Duluth and Gary. Every available building that can be utilized for residential purposes is now either occupied or under repair for that purpose.

"The buildings will nowhere near meet the demand," said L. R. Taylor this morning. "Every building in New Duluth is occupied and if we had a dozen more we would find no trouble in renting them within a week. We have had several inquiries during the past week that we simply had to refuse owing to not having anything to rent."

In Gary the same condition exists. D. H. Lewis, cashier of the Central State bank, said that the bank has been swamped with inquiries for homes. Several houses are under construction, but these will, it is said, not be anywhere near enough to meet the demand.

The school population is increasing since Tuesday at the Harriet Beecher Stowe school. Up to yesterday the number had increased from 265 to 277 and more are expected. According to Principal Anderson the number is expected to exceed the 300-mark before the end of this month. The building was erected to take care of a maximum of 450 pupils.

SMITH PROVIDES "REAL THRILLS"

West Duluthian Enthusiastic Over State Fair Aviator.

Frank H. Wade returned this morning from the Twin Cities, where he has been attending the state fair and the automobile races of last Saturday. Mr. Wade said that the big feature of the fair this year was the aviation and that was a "real thriller."

"Art Smith is certainly the greatest aviator that has ever made his appearance in Minnesota," said Mr. Wade. "The descriptions given of his work in the advertisements sent out by the management do not enlarge any too much upon his capabilities. Many of the stunts which he does make the crowd gasp sometimes in horror, believing that he is falling to his death and then again in amazement at his daring.

"Many people who attended the auto race are firm in the opinion that it was one of the biggest 'money-grabbing' affairs ever pulled off in the state. It was a frost as far as the crowds were concerned. The 30,000 or more people who were there were largely from outside of the Twin Cities. Every scheme to get the money from the people was resorted to. Three different ticket sellers for grandstand tickets told me that they had only a few $8 tickets left, while a fourth one on being asked for a $3 one readily handed it out. These proved far better than the higher priced ones because of the shade afforded from the sun. We had a whole row to ourselves. Everything commanded enormous prices. Even water was sold at 10 cents a glass. The races were good, the winners earning their victory by using about the same pace all of the way through and repeatedly changing tires."

Dies of Pneumonia.

Mary Margaret, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schiect, 634 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, died last evening of pneumonia. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but it is probable that the body will be taken to Ashland, Wis., for interment.

CRITICS ARE CRITICIZED

Judge Says Grand Juries Should Not Be Hampered in Duties.

Press and Public Not Familiar With All the Facts.

Grand juries in the performance of their duties should not be hampered or embarrassed by ill-advised criticisms from the public press.

This was the gist of what Judge Bert Fesler told the September grand jury when it appeared before him to submit a report last evening.

"You know and I know that the criticism which the grand jury has received in the press is not justified, said Judge Fesler in addressing the grand jurors. "You also know that one reason for this is that necessarily you have more complete knowledge of certain facts than the public has."

Judge Fesler commended the jurors for the work and encouraged them to ignore any adverse criticism on their reports. The judge declared that the press and public should reserve their judgment until they became acquainted with the facts and understand that the grand jurors were in possession of certain facts which necessarily had to be kept from the public at this time.

It is supposed that the court might have had in mind some secret indictments which the grand jurors have reported, although nothing was mentioned concerning indictments.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Orville D. Edgbert and Mary L. Edgbert, his wife, mortgagors, to J. C. Howard, mortgagee, dated May 27th, 1913, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on June 4th, 1913, at eleven o'clock A. M., in Book 257 of Mortgages, on page 122, which said mortgage, with the debt thereby secured, was thereafter assigned by the said J. C. Howard to D. A. Fey, by instrument in writing dated June 12th, 1913, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on June 12th, 1913, at 1:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 306 of Mortgages, on page 36.

Said default consists in the non-payment of Thirty-five dollars ($35.00), being the semi-annual installment of interest due June 1st, 1915, by reason whereof the assignee of mortgagee has elected to exercise the option given by the terms of said mortgage to declare and does hereby declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, to be now due and payable.

There is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Ten hundred fifty-four and 43-100 dollars ($1054.43), principal and interest, and no action at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the aforesaid default, and pursuant to the statue in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property therein described, situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, viz.:

Lot numbered fifty-seven (57), Lake avenue, Lower Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, which said property, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the office of the Sheriff in the Court House in the City of Duluth, in said county and state, on Monday, the 25th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and Fifty dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees, stipulated for by and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within one year from date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, September 10th, 1915.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

Be it known, That the FITGER BREWING COMPANY, a corporation, duly organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota, with its principal place of business in the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis, in said state, and doing business in said City of Duluth and throughout the State of Minnesota, and is engaged in the manufacturing and bottling of beer, lager beer, Non-Alco and other beverages, has adopted for its use various trademarks, of which the following are a full, clear and exact description:

First Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger, Duluth," blown into brown, light green and white bottles, with capacities of 12 and 24 fluid ounces.

Second Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.," branded on heads of quarter barrels of 7¾ gallons.

Third Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Brewing Co.," with a 5-pointed red or black star, with a ship in center of star, with the words "Guaranteed 2 Doz. 24-Oz. bottles" to left of star, and the word "perfect" on right of star, and the word "beer' under word "perfect," and below this the words "Duluth, Minn.," stamped or painted on cases containing 2 dozen 24-ounce bottles.

Fourth Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Brewing Co.," with a 5-pointed red or black star, with a ship in center of star, with the word "Guaranteed" to the left and the word "Perfect" to the right of star, and the word "Beer" under word "Perfect," and below this the words "Duluth, Minn.," stamped or painted on cases containing 3 dozen 12-ounce bottles.

Fifth Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Non-Alco, Duluth, Minn.," stamped or painted on cases containing 3 dozen 12-ounce bottles of "Non-Alco."

Sixth Trade-Mark.

Printed label containing the distinctive word "Non-Alco" in white letters with blue border on a red background surrounded with a gold border, with the words above it "Healthful and Nutritious," "Strictly Natural Product," and below it the words "A pure, palatable beverage, free from all drugs or alcohol. Manufactured only by Fitger Brewing Company," "Duluth, Minn., U. S. A. Contents 12 fl. oz."

Seventh Trade-Mark.

Eighth Trade-Mark.

Printed label containing the words "Fitger's Natural Beer," with a 5-pointed red star with a gold border, with a ship colored blue in the center of the star, with the name "Duluth" on the bow and the word "Trade-mark" above, with the words "Kieselguhr Filtration" to the left of the star and the words "Unsteamed and Pure" to the right of the star, and "Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.," at the bottom, and "Contents, 12 fluid oz.," and "Alcohol 4% by Volume."

These various trade-marks are continuously in use in the business of said corporation.

The classes of "beer," "lager beer" and "Non-Alco" to which these various trade-marks are appropriated, and the particular description of the goods comprised, are designated upon such various trade-marks, and said printed labels are usually displayed upon bottles of sizes which will contain 12 and 24-fluid ounces, and are placed thereon when bottled and leaving the plant of the FITGER BREWING COMPANY at Duluth, Minnesota.

In witnes whereof, the Fitger Brewing Company has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed, and the same to be signed by its President, this 28th day of August, 1915.

FITGER BREWING COMPANY.
AUGUST FITGER,
President.

In Presence of:
P. C. SCHMIDT.
ARTHUR L. LARSON.
(Corporate Seal, Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.)

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

August Fitger being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the President of the Corporation, Fitger Brewing Company, the applicant named in the foregoing statement; that he verily believes that the foregoing statement is true; that the said corporation at this time has a right to the use of the trade-marks therein described.

That no other person, firm or corporation has a right to such use, either in an identical form or in such near resemblance thereto as might be calculated to deceive.

That the various trade-marks are used by said corporation throughout the State of Minnesota, and that the descriptions presented for record truly represent the various trade-marks sought for register.

AUGUST FITGER,
President.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—
State of Minnesota,
County of St. Louis—ss.

In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Duclide Bouvine, Decedent.

The petition of Agnes Bouvine having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that Duclide Bouvine, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of August, 1915, leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the widow of said decedent and praying that letters of administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to H. L. Smith.

It is ordered, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 20th day of September, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required, at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, That this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing, and that a copy of this order be mailed to each heir or decedent at least fourteen days before the said date of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., August 27th, 1915.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Whereas, Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Antonina Yaniak (sometimes known as Antonina Janiak), a widow and unmarried, Mortgagor, to D. T. Carmichael, Mortgagee, dated July 1st, 1912, and which was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on July 9th, 1912, at 11:30 o'clock A. M., in Book three hundred eight (308) of Mortgages, on Page twenty (20) thereof; said default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from July 1st, 1915, and no part of which has ever been paid; and

Whereas, There is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice, the sum of One Thousand Five Hundred Twelve and 12-100 Dollars ($1,512.12), principal and interest; and

Whereas, Said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of said power of sale, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, being the following described tracts or parcels of land situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, towit:

Lot One Hundred Seventy-two (172) in Block Nine (9), Duluth Proper, Third Division, and

Lot One Hundred Seventy-two (172) in Block Twenty-five (25), Duluth Proper, Second division, according to the recorded plats thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, which premises will be sold by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, facing Fifth avenue west, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 9th day of October, A. D. 1915, at 10 o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the debt and interest; and taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one (1) year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 20th, 1915.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

STEEL PLANT FARMS.

TWENTY ACRES AND INDEPENDENCE—When you buy at the Steel Plant, don't buy a measly 25-foot lot for which you pay $500 to $1,500. Buy 20 acres that you can plat and sell in 25-foot lots. We have eight tracts left—every one a beauty—just six miles south of the new $25,000,000 Steel Plant. These are the best farming tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless, and most of it can be cleared for $5 to $10 an acre. Every tract faces on an excellent road and is in direct touch with the mammoth new steel plant.

THE STEEL PLANT RUNS IN NOVEMBER—Consider the speculation attached to these tracts. Consider the market you have for your products. But consider this—The time is surely coming when these tracts, which we offer to you now at from $20 to $32.50 an acre on easy terms, will sell for ten times this amount. Let us show you these tracts at once—18 of them have been sold in the last three weeks. See us now.

160 ACRES OR 320.

HERE IS AN EXCELLENT 320-ACRE TRACT of fine land, especially suitable for stock or dairy farm; good stream crosses property; 20 to 30 tons of red top growing wild is cut yearly off small corner; tons and tons going to waste every season. Part of land is timbered and part is open meadow; land is easily cleared. This land is located in the midst of well-settled farming district, good roads; rural mail route, etc.; only six miles to Barnum (five, prosperous little town); 3 miles to Nemadji; 8-grade school within less than 2 miles. This land is offered at only $15 per acre, while adjoining land is selling at from $20 to $25 per acre. This is absolutely the best situated tract for dairy purposes we have had this year; it's worth considerably more than much of the adjoining property for dairy purposes. Any reasonable terms accepted, or will exchange for city property.

One Empty Apartment Will Eat up the Profit of a Whole Flat Building

Instead of depending on that little "For Rent" sign on the building itself, why not advertise your apartments where thousands will see it daily—in the "For Rent" columns of The Herald?

Prospective tenants have become educated to the fact that the easiest and most satisfactory way to find apartments is to look in these columns of The Herald, make selections which meet their requirements and then personally investigate them.

Every house or apartment owner, every real estate agent, or any one desiring to rent will find the solution of his problem in the "want ad" columns of The Herald.

ACRE TRACTS.

FIVE-ACRE TRACTS,
WEST DULUTH.

We have 15 five-acre tracts eight blocks from the West Duluth incline. Very easy to clear and right in the line of development between West Duluth and Proctor; one block from proposed extension of street car line between West Duluth and Proctor; sidewalk right to the land: This land is worth $400 an acre, but to the first five purchasers we will sell a five-acre tract for $900—$10 cash and $12.50 a month. At $900 a tract these are absolutely the greatest snaps offered around Duluth. Buy here where you can keep a cow, chickens, pigs, a truck garden, and still walk to your work. You can be independent on one of them.

PRESENT STATUS OF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND GERMANY IS NOT CONSIDERED FAVORABLE

BRITISH LANDED WHILE TURKS OBSERVED WEEK OF RELIGIOUS FASTING

Careless Watch Kept and Transports Were Not Seen.

Turks Report Two Destroyers Routed at Entrance of Straits.

Ferocity of Struggle on Gallipoli Not Approached Elsewhere.

Rotterdam, Sept. 11, via London.—Careless watch kept by the Turks, who were observing a week of fast prescribed by their religion, was responsible for the successful landing of British forces at Suvla bay, according to the testimony of German officers, says the Constantinople correspondent of the Courant.

The newspaper's representative asserts he has been informed no one saw the approach of the British transports with convoys of warships, or the landing of troops with artillery.

The Germans are said to have declared that if German troops had been on watch, not a single British soldier would have been able to land.

German officers who have fought in other theaters declare the ferocity of the struggle on the Gallipoli peninsula has not been approached elsewhere.

Turkish Statement.

Constantinople, Sept. 11, via Amsterdam and London.—The following communication on operations in the Dardanelles was issued today by the Turkish war office:

"Our artillery threw a shell on the deck of an enemy torpedo boat, which had been bombarding our left wing, and the torpedo boat withdrew. On this wing our troops are gradually occupying enemy trenches.

"Our coast batteries routed two hostile destroyers which approached the entrance to the narrows and bombarded our left wing."

STRICT GUARD KEPT OVER POWDER PLANT

Forty Men on Duty at All Times at Washburn, Wis.

Washburn, Wis., Sept. 11.—Unusual precautionary measures are being taken by the du Pont Powder company in establishing a guard system against trespassing. Forty guards will be kept on duty at all times, in addition to the regular patrol force. The 1,200-acre tract of land upon which the plant is situated is being fenced around with woven wire.

SEVEN BELIEVED TO HAVE BURNED TO DEATH

Brandon, Man., Sept. 11.—Seven men, four Galicians and three harvesters from Eastern Canada, whose names are unknown, are believed to have been burned to death last night in a barn in which they were sleeping on Alf Magee's farm, near Brandon. No trace of them had been found since the fire, which also cremated ten horses.

WILL ALLOW SWISS FOOD

France to Open Port for Receiving Supplies for Country.

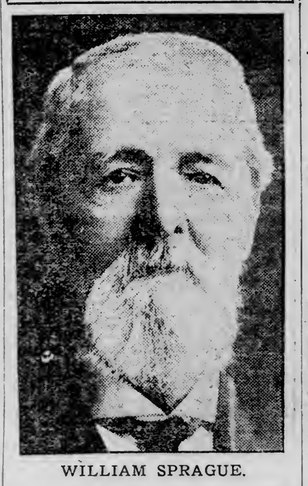

Will Then Be Transhipped to the Inland Republic.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Arrangements have been made by the French government to alleviate the practical isolation of Switzerland, because of the war conditions at French ports which ordinarily handle Swiss import business.

A report made public today by the department of commerce from Vice Consul Dewitt C. Poole at Paris, says France has set aside the port of Cette solely for the use of ocean traffic for trans-shipment to the inland republic. Swiss authorities have made repeated and vigorous representations to the allied powers, setting forth the disastrous domestic conditions caused by the almost total stopping of imports and seeking some means of securing supplies, particularly foodstuffs. FAMOUS WAR GOVERNOR OF RHODE ISLAND DEAD

WILLIAM SPRAGUE.

WAR GOVERNOR PASSES AWAY

William Sprague of Rhode Island Dies in Paris at Age of 84.

Served as Executive of State From 1860 to 1863; Twice Senator.

Paris, Sept. 11.—William Sprague, famous war governor of Rhode Island and twice United States senator from that state, died at his residence here early this morning at the age of 84 years. His death was due to meningitis, coupled with the infirmities of age.

Simple funeral services will be held at the residence in this city, after which the body will be taken to Rhode Island for burial.

William Sprague, war governor of Rhode Island, was a nephew of William Sprague, who was governor of that state from 1838 to 1839. The younger William Sprague was born in Cranston, R. I., Sept. 12, 1830. He received his education in the common schools and then went to work in his father's factory as a maker of calico prints. Subsequently he became a manufacturer of linen and woolen goods and iron, a builder of locomotives and an owner of railroads and steamships.

From 1860 to 1863 he was governor of Rhode Island. He had served as colonel in the state militia, and at the outbreak of the war went to Washington with the first troops sent from Rhode Island. He himself raised a regiment and a battery of light artillery, and with these participated in the first battle of Bull Run, where his horse was shot from under him. He

MEXICANS ARE LEAVING TEXAS

About 2,000 Have Crossed Border in Vicinity of Brownsville.

Many Have Left Crops Unharvested and Abandoned Everything.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 11.—About 2,000 Mexicans have left this section for Mexico, according to figures obtained here today. At one ranch near Sebastian, Tex., all four Mexican tenant families have left, leaving their crops unharvested and deserting what promised to be a record corn crop and large profits for themselves. Other Mexicans who own land have abandoned everything except a few household goods in their haste to get back into Mexico. A large portion, if not practically all of these immigrants, are what is termed here as "good Mexicans."

In some cases American owners of

ANOTHER VICTORY WON BY RUSS ON GALICIAN FRONT

Capture of 5,000 Prisoners Is Announced in Petrograd Dispatches.

This Section of Fighting Is of Relatively Small Importance.

Not Much Action in Other Sections of the East.

London, Sept. 11.—Another success on the South Galician front, resulting in the capture of 5,000 men, is announced by the Russians. Even the Petrograd newspapers, however, admit that this section of the fighting area is not of the most vital importance, since Field Marshal von Mackensen is still hovering along the line of minor forts which form the last remaining defenses in the way of complete control of the railroad system desired by the invaders.

Russ Take Initiative.

The Russians declare that the initiative in the isolated engagements on the southern wing is gradually passing into their hands. Nearer the center of the line von Mackensen is still pushing his way vigorously through the Pripet marshes toward Pinsk. North and south of his headquarters, strong offensive movements have been developed near Grodno and on the road to Rovno.

Not Much Action.

On the other fronts there is not as much action as in the east so far as official reports indicate. Sharp fighting is in progress along the Austro-Italian battle line, but no fresh news has been received from the Vosges and the Argonne, where the Germans have launched heavy attacks against French trenches.

The only feature of the eastern diplomatic puzzle is the assertion from Bulgarian sources that Sofia feels her

CHINESE NEWSPAPER BLOWN UP BY BOMB

Shanghai, Sept. 11.—A bomb explosion occurred today at the plant of the Asiatic Daily News, a newspaper published in the Chinese language which appeared yesterday for the first time, having been launched for the purpose of pushing the propaganda for a monarchical form of government in China. The front of the newspaper property was blown in. One member of the staff and two persons who were passing by were killed by the explosion and five others were injured. Two arrests were made.

Beer as Lawn Fertilizer.

Langdon, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beer as a fertilizer for lawns is being tried out in Cavalier county, fifteen barrels of the liquid being dumped out on the courthouse grass in this city under the orders of District Judge Knecshaw.

SNOW STORM AT HELENA; FIERCE HEAT IN GEORGIA; RAINS ON GREAT LAKES.

Washington, Sept. 11.—With snow falling at Helena, Mont., temperatures near freezing in North Dakota, Montana and Northwest Wyoming, the hottest September weather on record in Georgia and heavy rains in the Great Lakes region, the country's weather today presented a wide variety.

Warm weather promises to continue in the South, but north of Virginia and east of the Mississippi cooler weather will come tonight and Sunday.

FRENCH CLAIM CROWN PRINCE HAS LOST OVER 100,000 MEN IN ATTACK

Attempt to Break Through French Lines Only Partially Successful.

Penetrated Trenches But Are Immediately Checked, Is Report.

Military Situation in the Argonne Said to Remain Unchanged.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The violent fighting in the Argonne on Wednesday and Thursday was the result of an effort of the army of the German crown prince to break through the French lines.

The army of the crown prince has attempted several times in previous months to break through the French front but so far has scored no definite success. The statement is made here that this army has lost upwards of 100,000 men, one corps alone losing 40,000 from the ranks, which are being continually depleted and refilled.

Powerful Artillery Used.

The attempt of Wednesday and Thursday was made with powerful artillery and a large number of troops. Apparently it has had no appreciable result, except that the German losses were heavier than those they inflicted.

The Germans were able to penetrate the French trenches on a portion of the front, but were checked immediately. They renewed their attacks again and again, but with such severe losses that they gave up the effort.

This offensive movement, it is said on good authority, has not modified the situation in the Argonne.

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 11, 2:30 p. m.—Last night saw uninterrupted artillery fighting at several points along the line in France, according to the communication given out by the French war office today.

There has been furthermore a particularly violent artillery engagement in the department of the Meuse, and along the front in Lorraine.

The text of the communication follows:

"There was uninterrupted artillery fighting last night in the sectors of Neuville and Roclincourt, as well as to the south of Arras.

"Between the Somme and the Oise the encounters with mines continues actively. In the suburbs of Faye our artillery has bombarded the trenches of the enemy.

"In the Argonne district there have been engagements with bombs and hand grenades.

"There were particularly violent artillery encounters to the east of Eparges, in the department of Meuse; as well as on the Lorraine front; to the north of Arracourt, in the forest of Parrow, and to the south of Leintrey, all in the department of Meurthe and Moselle."

WELL KNOWN BRITISH DIPLOMAT PASSES AWAY

SIR CLAUDE MACDONALD.

PROPOSAL BY GEN. CARRANZA

Would Have Diplomats Discuss Mexico From International Standpoint.

Rejects Peace Offer to Consider Internal Affairs of Republic.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Gen. Carranza's rejection of the Pan-American appeal for a peace conference in Mexico and his counter-proposal for a meeting with the diplomats at some point along the Rio Grande to discuss Mexican affairs "solely from an international point of view," will be considered by Secretary Lansing and the other conferees at a meeting to take place in Washington within the next few days.

FORMER BRITISH AMBASSADOR DEAD

Sir Claude Macdonald Passes Away at London, Age 63.

London, Sept. 11.—Sir Claude Macdonald, former British ambassador to Japan, died here yesterday at the age of 63 years.

Sir Claude Macdonald served as ambassador at Tokio from 1900 to 1912. For your years prior to going to that post he was Great Britain's envoy extraordinary at Peking, and was appointed by the foreign representatives to command the legation quarter during the siege from June 22 to Aug. 14, 1900.

After being graduated from Royal Military academy at Sandhurst, he entered the Seventy-fourth Highlanders in 1872. Ten years later he was brevetted major. He saw much service in Egypt and in 1882 was appointed military attache to the British agency at Cairo.

NOTE BEARING ON ORDUNA IS ON ITS WAY

Believed It Will Claim Justification for Attack on the Liner.

Ship Chased and Shelled After Torpedo Had Narrowly Missed Her.

One Set of Officials Changing Views Regarding Note on Arabic.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The note delivered to Ambassador Gerard by the German foreign office yesterday which was believed to be a supplemental communication on the sinking of the Arabic, now is understood to be a note on the unsuccessful attempt to torpedo the Cunarder Orduna several weeks ago.

The note had not been received in Washington early today and the state department had no information of its whereabouts. In circles close to the German embassy, however, it was said the note concerned the Orduna and that when its contents were known it probably would be found that the German government claimed some sort of justification for the attack.

Chased and Shelled.

The Orduna was chased and shelled by a submarine after a torpedo had missed her stern by a few yards on July 9. She was on a trip to the United States and carried as passengers twenty-two Americans. Ambassador Gerard made some inquiries by direction of Washington and the German note now on its way is understood to be the result.

What effect an attempt to justify the Orduna case would have on the situation already delicate, by Germany's stand on the Arabic, was the subject of wide speculation today among officials, who regarded the atmosphere as far from favorable. The note is being awaited with much anxiety.

Overnight consideration of the note on the Arabic indicates a softening of views among one set of officials who are inclined to further negotiations

KING OF GREECE IS RETICENT ABOUT WAR

Cannot Make Any Statement at Present on Policy of Country.

Athens, Sept. 10, via Paris Sept. 11.—King Constantine of Greece received the correspondent of the Associated Press today at Chateau Dekelcia, the summer residence of the royal family at Tatoi. The king expressed regret at his inability, owing to the present critical state of national affairs, to make any statement at this juncture respecting the policy which will be pursued by Greece.

King Constantine apparently has recovered completely from his recent illness, although he is somewhat thin. He is bronzed by the summer sun and seems to be in perfect health, ready to take the saddle tomorrow as leader of the Greek forces should occasion require. He does not look for such a contingency, however.

Shows Keen Interest.

For an hour the king discussed the progress of the war, showing the keenest interest. In view of the paucity of war news published by Greek newspapers, he displayed remarkable familiarity with the details of military movements, particularly in the Eastern theater of hostilities.

Himself a soldier, the real father of the Greek army of today and the victorious leader of his nation's troops in the two Balkan wars, the king follows with technical comprehension every move of the opposing armies. He does not appear to share the general uneasiness in this country concerning what is regarded as the Bulgarian peril.

TROOPS CONCENTRATE NEAR SWISS FRONTIER

Basel, Switzerland, Sept. 8, via Paris Sept. 11, 4:40 p. m.—(Delayed in transmission.)—There has been a further concentration of belligerent troops near the Swiss boundaries. The government is considering the advisability of calling additional troops to the colors to safeguard the Northwestern frontier.

THEY WON'T LEAVE HIM ALONE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

There has been a renewal of the heavy artillery combat on the front in France. No infantry engagements are reported.

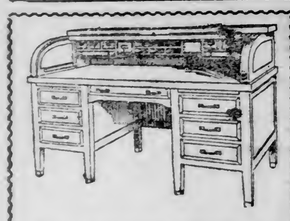

Recent attacks by the army of the German crown prince in the Argonne were made with powerful artillery and heavy infantry forces in an effort to break through the French lines, Paris advices state.

According to the Constantinople war office, the Turkish left wing on the Gallipoli peninsula is gradually advancing. The Russians have won another success on the South Galician front, Petrograd reports, but the Germans are pressing strongly on the lines to the north.

The French freighter Ville de Montganem has been sunk in the Mediterranean by gunfire from a German submarine. Other vessels sunk were the British steamer Cornubia, a 1,736-ton vessel, and a small fishing craft. A note delivered by the German foreign office to Ambassador Gerard in Berlin, although not yet received in Washington, is understood there to relate to the unsuccessful attempt made on July 9 by a German submarine to torpedo the Cunard liner Orduna.

DULUTH-ST. VINCENT ROAD WILL BE BOON TO AUTOMOBILISTS AND FARMERS

THE DULUTH-ST. VINCENT ROAD.

Northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota automobilists will be furnished with a more direct highway to Duluth when the last link of the Duluth-St. Vincent road is built. Heretofore travel from the northwestern section of the state has had no direct route to Duluth. In order to reach Duluth, the trip had to be made by the way of the iron ranges.

The Duluth-St. Vincent road, otherwise designated as State Rural Highway, No. 4, starts from a point on the Miller Trunk road about twenty miles out from Duluth and runs in a westerly direction to Floodwood. After leaving Floodwood, the road practically parallels the Great Northern railroad tracks into Grand Rapids.

St. Louis county has built its section of the road up to the Aitkin county line and the Itasca county authorities have constructed their portion of the highway to the southern boundary of the county. This leaves an uncompleted stretch of about a mile which traverses a corner of Aitkin county.

Aitkin Refuses Aid.

When the matter came up several months ago, the Aitkin county authorities at first refused to have anything to do with the project. It was pointed out that the mile of road in Aitkin county beenfited no Aitkin county residents directly and the commissioners objected to the expenditure. The matter was finally adjusted when Aitkin county agreed to share one-third of the expense, the rest to be shouldered equally between Itasca and St. Louis counties.

The cost of the construction of the mile in question, which cuts across the corner of Aitkin county is estimated at $4,000 by E. K. Coe, St. Louis county road engineer. This figure, however, would not include gravelling. The road, however, would be a practical one without gravel owing to the fact that a dirt road would answer the purpose until traffic became heavier.

The St. Louis county portion of the road has been graveled but the Itasca county portion is still a dirt road and it is probable that it the Aitkin county mile is built during the winter and spring months it will also be a dirt road until such time as the Itasca county section is graveled.

No Construction Ordered.

The matter of constructing the mile in question was informally discussed by the county commissioners in executive session at the last board meeting, but no action was taken, owing to the fact that there is no money available to finance the work. It was understood that the matter be laid over until the December meeting when it is probable that the auditor will be authorized to advertise for bids to be opened at the January meeting of the board. The contract, if let in January, would be a legal one, as the 1916 road money would then be available.

Neither Aitkin nor Itasca counties, according to Mr. Coe, has road funds available to finance the project at this time and the only course left is to wait until after the first of the year. If any one of the three counties had the money to spend, it could take the initiative and let the contract on the good faith of the other two interested counties.

The ditching work can be done during the winter months, declared Mr. Coe, and the highway can be placed in shape by early summer.

The road is of considerable importance to the Grand Rapids district because it furnishes a direct route into Duluth. It also puts the Floodwood farming section in direct communication with the city.

has been stated that Switzerland was in a fair way to be confronted by a serious shortage of food.

Special Consideration.

Vice Consul Poole's report indicates that special consideration will be given by the French authorities to shipments bound to Switzerland when consigned via Cette. The report said:

"Replying to an inquiry by the American embassy the French foreign office says substantially as follows: The port of Cette has been reserved for Swiss traffic; being outside the zone of military operations, it is relieved of sudden congestions. Other French ports, however, are not closed to Swiss traffic and the administration will endeavor to meet the demands at these ports, especially as to shipments of small tonnage, but makes no guarantees. Shippers using routes other than Cette do so at their own risks. The French administration considers that Cette, as now equipped, can meet the requirements of the Swiss import trade as well as may be expected."

Recently extensive improvements were undertaken at Cette and modern terminal apparatus for handling ocean traffic was installed.

lands they had worked are arranging to give the Mexicans a share of the crops which would have been due had these tenants remained, but even making these arrangements is difficult because the Mexicans refuse to cross the river even for an hour's business interview and Americans for whom they worked feel an equal lack of confidence in venturing to the Mexican side.

Women Not Afraid.

Mexican women form the largest part of the passengers crossing the Rio Grande here, the women apparently being about the only class of persons in the disturbed area and believe they have nothing to fear. The Mexicans who have fled to Mexico have not gone alone on account of the rigid cleanup of bad characters made by American peace officers, but also in fear of bad men and revolutionists among their own people on the American side.

In addition to two Mexicans known to have been slain by their own people it is stated that two or three other Mexicans at least have been killed by the bandits.

The use of shotguns in some of these killings has been held as partial evidence against Mexican plotters, as organized forces on the American side use rifles and pistols.

In the outlying sections suspicion is still so great that Mexicans found out alone at night might as well be dead and a Mexican seen on horseback with a gun or a rifle at any time of the day is in danger of death. The extension of the army patrol into rural districts is reported to be reducing this suspicion and restoring more normal living conditions among both nationalities. In cities and towns of any size throughout the valley there has never been any serious danger either to Mexicans or Americans.

In a note issued by Foreign Minister Acuna, Gen. Carranza has told the diplomats that he can permit of no interference whatever by foreign governments. He explains that he is in control now of all Mexico except the states of Chihuahua and Morelos and a part of the state of Sonora. The signers of the note to Carranza are invited to come themselves, or to send representatives to some point along the Rio Grande for a conference at which the affairs of Mexico may be discussed "solely from an international point of view," and with the idea that Carranza's government be recognized as the de facto government in Mexico.

Now Has 150,000 Men.

The diplomats are told in the note that the first chief of the Constitutionalists now commands an army of 150,000 men; that the functions of public service have been restored, the railways repaired and railway traffic resumed. The note adds that in the fields and the cities there have been reborn the activities of normal life. Stress is laid in the note on the assertion that soon the entire country will be at peace.

The reply insists that the first chief is actuated by the highest motives in declining to participate in the conference. It is stated in the note that the fact that the revolutionists had entered into a pact at Juarez with the old government, was one of the weaknesses of President Francisco I. Madero's arrangement for the rehabilitation of Mexico, and that this alleged trafficking with the opposition was one of the reasons for the disagreements that culminated in the tragic battle in Mexico City in February, 1913. Incidentally, it is stated in the note, that "some foreign diplomats" were involved in that affair.

Would Betray Faith.

The reply of Gen. Carranza explains that a conference with any "conquered faction" would mean the sacrifice by Carranza of the first chieftaincy of the army and his executive power, and a betrayal of the faith and confidence now reposed in him by the people and the army. That Carranza represents the army in making such a reply, is indicated in a paragraph of the note in which the diplomats are told that they will be able to observe from the answers they received from the military chiefs and the civil subordinates of Carranza, that the first chief "is the only authority that could decide, and who, in fact, does decide" matters submitted to them.

PRESENT STATUS OF NEGOTIATIONS

with Germany. Their views cannot be stated as being President Wilson's but their views will be urged on the president before he makes up his mind what to do.

Indemnity and Fact.

While they agree that Germany's reply is disappointing and unsatisfactory, they urge that the Arabic case has come down to questions of indemnity and of fact. The explanations offered by Germany for the sinking of the White Star liner differ materially from the statements in the hands of President Wilson and Secretary Lansing. Those officials, who favor further negotiations, contend that a proper way to determine which set of facts is correct is to let the case go to The Hague, where, they also contend, the question of indemnity could be arbitrated without endangering the principles for which the United States has contended as governing submarine warfare.

More Intimations Received.

There were indications in official quarters today that the United States had received more unofficial and informal intimations that, despite the attacks on the Arabic and the Hesperian, the German government actually has finally accepted the principle that unarmed merchantmen should not be attacked without warning unless they attempted to escape or resisted capture. There was no out and out official backing for the assumption, but it appeared to pervade official circles.

The new note the United States will send to Berlin probably will be delayed until the second note from Germany, now on its way, has been received. It probably will point out for one thing that the mere assumption by a submarine commander that his ship is about to be attacked, cannot be accepted as justification for torpedoing an unresisting merchantman. Such a stand by the United States is not expected to lead to complications. Officials consider that the future depends on Berlin.

past neutrality is a sufficient reward for Turkish concessions.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 11, via London.—The official communication issued by the war office says:

"On the Sereth (Galicia) front, our troops having yesterday repulsed a series of enemy attacks, delivered counter attacks in the sector above Tremnowla and in the district of Tchortkoff. The Austrians were forced to beat a precipitate retreat. According to a provisional estimate, we took 5,000 prisoners, among them sixteen officers.

"Generally, the situation of our armies is one of calm confidence in themselves. The initiative in these isolated engagements is gradually passing into our hands."

"On the left bank of the Dvina we are fighting and we are progressing in the region between the Missa positions, and the Grosse Ekau-Neuhut railway. West of Jacobstadt, the fighting continues. In the direction of Dvinsk, there have been advance guard action north of Abeln.

Enemy on Offensive.

"On the road from Vilkomir the enemy has taken an energetic offensive since the morning of the ninth and also near Kourki on both sides of the road. Our machine gun and automobile detachment contributed actively to repulse of the enemy. The engagement continues.

"Between the Svanta and Vilna, the enemy cavalry made a local attack on our troops in the region of Shirviaty. On the other roads, toward Vilna, there has been no change.

"East of Grodno, supported by strong artillery, the enemy has undertaken a series of attacks against our positions since the morning of the 10th in the direction of Skidel and also on the lower course of the Melwianka river. These attacks have been repulsed.

Advance Arrested.

"A German offensive at 4 o'clock in the morning along the road toward Skidel, accompanied by a strong fire from heavy and light artillery, was arrested by the fire of our batteries. After 7 o'clock in the evening, the German fire sensibly increased and they resumed the offensive, making desperate efforts to break our front but this attempt also was repulsed by the concentrated fire of our artillery and machine guns. We also repulsed a German attack near the village of Leady, south of the bridges on the Niemen.

"On the remainder of the front, as far as the Pripet, the enemy made attacks only in the region of Rozhany and continued his offensive along the left bank of the Pina. The attacks near Rozhany were repulsed by our fire at close range, followed by a bayonet charge. The Germans chased from Rozhany a great crowd of inhabitants whom they used as a cover in approaching our positions. In the direction of Kremenetz, the enemy bombarded our troops with asphyxiating gas projectiles and engaged in a combat in the region of the Upper Goryni river."

was offered a commission as brigadier general of volunteers, but declined it. He served in other actions during the peninsular campaign, including Williamsburg and the siege of Yorktown.

Married Daughter of S. P. Chase.

In 1863 he married Katherine, daughter of Salmon P. Chase, and that year he resigned the governorship and was elected to the United States senate, his term extending from 1863 to 1875. In the latter year he resumed the direction of his manufacturing establishments, and a few years ago retired from these.

William Sprague operated the first rotary machine for making horse shoes; perfected a mowing machine, and also various processes in calico printing, especially that of direct printing on a large scale with the extract of madder without a chemical bath.

Governor Sprague claimed to have discovered what he called the "principle of the orbit as inherent in social forces." He asserted that money is endowed with two tendencies: The distributive and the aggregative; and that when the latter predominates, as before the Civil war, decadence results, but that when the former is in the ascendancy, as was later the case, there is progress.

In 1861 Governor Sprague received the degree of master of arts from Brown university, and in 1866 was elected a trustee of that institution, an office which he held until the time of his death.

After the death of his first wife, he married Inez Weed of Virginia.

ONE BRITISH, TWO FRENCH SHIPS SUNK

German Submarines Show Renewed Activity in Different Sections.

London, Sept. 11.—The British steamship Cornubia, 1,736 tons gross, has been sunk. Her crew was saved.

The fishing smack Boynerie of Lowestoft also has been sunk. One member of her crew was wounded.

The Cornubia, a 260-foot steamship, owned in Falmouth, was last reported as sailing from Cardiff, Aug. 13, for Newport, England.

Cunarder Sunk.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The British steamer Alexandria, owned by the Cunard Steamship company, was torpedoed Thursday, 70 miles from Cape Halos, near Mcurcia, Spain, according to the Madrid correspondent of the Havas agency. Twenty-eight of the crew have been landed at Mazarron, Spain.

The steamer mentioned in the above dispatch is probably the British steamer Alexandra, which sailed from Tyne July 27 for Barcelona, where she arrived Aug. 5. The Alexandra was of 3,865 tons gross and was 346 feet long. She was built at Sunderland, England, in 1905.

French Ship Sunk.

Marseilles, Sept. 11.—A submarine flying the Austrian colors sank on Thursday, the Compagnie trans Atlantique cargo boat l'Aude, bound for Oran, Algeria, while ninety miles off that port. Nineteen passengers and the crew of eighteen were allowed to leave the steamer in a lifeboat, and made their way to Oran.

The l'Aude was a vessel of 2,332 tons. She was built in 1908.

DUMBA RETURNS TO SUMMER EMBASSY

Austrian Ambassador Goes to Lenox After Visiting Von Bernstorff.

New York, Sept. 11.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall has been requested by President Wilson, left here today for his summer home at Lenox, Mass.

Dr. Dumba was accompanied by his secretary, Prince Zu Hohenlohe, who waved aside newspapermen when they attempted to interview the ambassador.

Dr. Dumba spent several hours with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, last night. At the conclusion of this meeting, both diplomats declined to say anything regarding President Wilson's action.

Early today, however, Count von Bernstorff issued a statement denying that he had been connected in any way with the messages carried by James J. F. Archibald, Dr. Dumba's messenger.

BERNSTORFF DID NOT DEEM ARCHIBALD SAFE

Denies He Sent Message to Germany By American Correspondent.

New York, Sept. 11.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, emphatically denied today that he had used or attempted to use James F. J. Archibald, the American messenger of Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, Austrian ambassador, as a message bearer to Berlin.

"In view of the repeated assertions by several newspapers that I sent messages to my government by Mr. Archibald," said Count von Bernstorff, "I wish to state that I never gave Mr. Archibald a single paper or anything else. I thought I made this plain in Washington, but feel a repetition is now needed.

"I did not attempt to use Mr. Archibald as a messenger chiefly because I did not think it safe, and he certainly did not prove safe."

FAIR ATTENDANCE MAY BEAT RECORD

All Expenses Cleared and Association Expects to Net $50,000 Profit.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Automobiles, motorcycles and aeroplanes will take part in the races scheduled for the state fair track this afternoon, the last day of the fair. The feature automobile event is the one-hour race with sixteen entries. All the drivers arrived yesterday.

There are a number of events for motorcyclists, while Art Smith and De Lloyd Thompson will engage in a five-mile aeroplane race.

With an attendance of 45,949 yesterday, and a total attendance so far of 254,767, prospects are today will bring the total admissions for 1915 above the highest figures yet made.

Yesterday's reports made a total high enough to clear all expenses, the state fair board announced last night. It is expected the association will net $50,000 this year. Today's receipts will be clear.

BOOSTERS WILL TAKE FAIR TOUR

Week's Swing Around Circle By Trade Extension Committee.

The first of the booster excursions to county fairs of the northern and northeastern sections of the state, will leave tomorrow night in charge of Frank X. Gravel, chairman of the trade extension committee of the Duluth Commercial club. The boosters will leave the union depot at 8 o'clock and will arrive in Bagley to attend the Clearwater county fair at 4:20 Monday morning, leaving there shortly before noon for Bemidji, where Monday night will be spent.

Tuesday will be spent at Park Rapids, attending the Hubbard county fair and the night will be spent there. On Wednesday the party will go over to Wadena, where they will visit for about two hours, after which they will go to Aitkin, and will spend the afternoon and evening visiting the Aitkin county fair.

Thursday morning at 5:03, the boosters will go to Carlton and from there will go to Barnum for the Carlton county fair, being there from 10:24 a. m. to 3:34 p. m., and then proceeding to Pine City, where the Pine county fair will be visited, the party spending the night there and leaving Friday noon for Rush City to attend the Chisago county fair. The Mille Lacs county fair at Princeton will be attended next Saturday, and from there the party will come home.

Next Friday there will be another excursion of boosters, this one to Two Harbors to attend the Lake county fair.

The second grand tour of the boosters will begin a week from next Tuesday, during which the Kanabec, Isanti, Itasca, Wadena and Morrison county fairs will be visited.

"BUSINESS OUTLOOK GOOD EVERYWHERE"

"Pennsy" Superintendent Gives Optimistic Report After Long Tour.

Charles M. Sheaffer, general superintendent of transportation for the Pennsylvania Railroad company, with members of his family and guests, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Keppel of Washington, D. C., arrived in Duluth yesterday on a special car en route to Buffalo. After passing two hours in the city they left for the lower lake port on the steamer Octorara. While in the city they were entertained by Allen F. Ferguson, local agent for the Pennsylvania lines. "After a two months' trip around the country on a pleasure trip," said Mr. Sheaffer, "I believe that I can say that the business outlook is very promising everywhere."

Mrs. Archibald T. Banning, who was in England and on the continent about six months since the war began, spoke yesterday at the meeting of the Central W. C. T. U. on the relief work in England, Belgium, France and Holland.

She described the Union Jacks, clubs formed for soldiers' and sailors' wives who had more money after the war began with their allowances, than they had had when their husbands were at home, and who spent much of their time in public houses.

She spoke of the Poor law, the Charity Organization society and private charities that existed before the war and also of the organizations that have been formed since the opening of the war.

"There are many private benevolent organizations in England," she said, "some for which there is no need. Everywhere you turn you see a beggar and since the war began all of them have become Belgians."

Mrs. Banning spoke of the country houses in England that have been converted into hospitals for convalescent soldiers, who are cared for by young English women who have taken short courses in nursing; of the food supply in Belgium and of the hospital conditions in France.

CONCRETE EXPERT GIVEN SURPRISE

Denver Man Inspects Biggest Concrete Block Job in World.

John Albert Bergeson of Denver, owner of a system for making concrete blocks and inventor of machines for that purpose, is a guest today of the western end of the city. He has been spending the day looking over the Minnesota Steel plant and Morgan Park, which is the greatest users and so far the biggest manufacturers of cement building blocks in the world.

Mr. Bergeson expressed his surprise and pleasure at the extent to which the blocks have been used. Cement blocks have been used exclusively in the construction of not only the plant but also the 169 houses at Morgan Park.

Mr. Bergeson is on his way East to arrange for the manufacture of a small machine which he recently invented, designed to be sold to individual home builders. This machine will enable any man, he said, to make his own blocks and build his own home.

He was much pleased with the single block construction of the homes in Morgan Park. Such houses, he said, could be erected at a small cost to the owner and would be cheaper and as warm as any of frame or brick construction.

More cement blocks have been used in the construction of the Steel plant and Model City than in any other section of the world, according to Mr. Bergeson.

PAVING FIFTH STREET IN THE MODEL CITY

Work on the grading and paving of Fifth street, Morgan Park, has been begun. It is on this street that the four new boarding houses now under construction at the Model City are being built.

The street will be paved from its intersection with the driveway into the park to a point about three blocks south. It is expected to have this street completed before winter.

The work on the building of the boarding houses is being rapidly pushed. The foundations have already been completed and the crew is now working on the superstructure. The largest of these will have forty-seven rooms, another will have twenty-eight, and two will have less than twenty rooms each.

MINNEAPOLIS PASTOR WILL PREACH HERE

Rev. E. A. Skogsberg of Minneapolis, president of the Covenant of the Swedish Mission church, will occupy the pulpit of the West Duluth Swedish Mission church tomorrow. The pulpit was recently made vacant by the resignation of Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom, who left to take charge of a church in the western part of the state.

Rev. Mr. Skogsberg is one of the best known pastors of the Swedish Mission denomination in the country. He was elected president of the churches in America at the conference held early this year.

EQUIPPED FOR PAVING WORK

Farrell Lauds Duluth After Visiting Many Large Cities.

Fine Rock and Sand Handy; Cement Soon to Be Made Here.

"Duluth is better equipped for laying concrete pavements than any other city in the world," declared Commissioner Farrell, head of the works division, on his return this morning from a week's inspection trip in the Twin Cities, Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit.

"Our crushed rock and sand make the best material in the world, while in a short time cement will be available at the cement plant, which is now nearing completion. Duluthians can better realize all these advantages by comparison with such cities as Chicago, Detroit and Milwaukee, where officials must haul material for an average distance of 250 miles."

In discussing the concrete roads he inspected, Commissioner Farrell said this morning that those in Detroit county are a credit to the community. He especially favors the plan of county officials in Detroit and Milwaukee counties of building nothing but concrete highways leading out of the city and in streets along the outlying sections.

"In comparison," he said, "Duluth ranks with the best. Our concrete roads will stand any test and in my opinion last longer than those I inspected in these large cities. Our material is the best possible and there is no excuse whatever for a bad concrete highway in this city or county."

Commissioner Farrell left a week ago yesterday, visiting first in the Twin Cities, going then to Chicago, Detroit and Milwaukee. City officials in each city drove him over the roads and gave him information on the highways and materials used. In addition, he inspected other pavements preparatory to outlining his paving program for next year.

UNCONSCIOUS ON BARN FLOOR

Thomas Scott Probably Kicked By Horse; May Recover.

When Thomas Scott, barn boss for Curry & Whyte stables at Twenty-second avenue east and Water street, failed to show up for breakfast this morning friends started a search and found him lying on the floor of a stall in his barn, unconscious.

John Sterling, employed by the East End Ice company in their stables near the Curry & Whyte building, was the first one to see Scott and he called the police, who took him to St. Luke's hospital.

Physicians stated that Scott had sustained a fracture of the skull, but that he probably would live.

Indications were that he had been kicked by a horse when stooping over to clean the stall or examine the horse's foot. How long he lay unconscious before being found is not known.

FARRELL A "SPEED KING"

While in the Twin Cities last Saturday, Commissioner Farrell was a guest of H. Okes of the Okes Construction company, which is laying the pavement on Minnesota avenue. Mr. Okes also built the concrete speedway in Minneapolis, and he invited the works commissioner to take a ride before the races last Saturday morning. Mr. Farrell accepted at once, and they went over the track at a 60-mile speed.

"The track was built in a hurry," Commissioner Farrell said this morning, in explaining its defects, "and as a result is not perfect. The owners will always have a maintenance expense, as it was constructed over fills that were not given time to settle."

RUNS DOWN AN AGED MAN

Jitneur Does Not Stop to Ascertain His Victim's Injuries.

Street Car Passengers Are Highly Incensed at Incident.

Gross negligence on the part of auto drivers, which daily exposes to death the lives of Duluth people, was severely scored today by a number of prominent residents of the city who were passengers on an east bound Superior street street car last night when an aged workman was run into by a jitney bus. Among those on the street car who witnessed the accident were Hans Christensen of Christensen, Mendenhall & Graham, manufacturers; J. H. Ball of the United Grain company, with offices in the Board of Trade building, and Charles Schiller, proprietor of a cigar store on First street near Fourth avenue west.

"My children and I were on the electric car going home when the accident happened," said Mr. Christensen this morning. "An aged laborer, presumably a mechanic, was standing on the East side of Lake avenue waiting for a car. When it pulled up he stepped into Superior street to board it when a jitney bus came along and the driver, without giving warning of any kind, nor showing the slightest heed for rules that govern the passing of street cars when the gates are open, ran into the old man and toppled him over. The front of the machine struck him on the leg. We all thought him seriously hurt and I rushed to his side and assisted him to his feet and into the car. He rode as far as Fifteenth avenue east where he got off and limped up the hill.

Jitneur Did Not Stop.

"As soon as the man was struck I tried to get the number of the car so as to make a report to the police, but the jitneur hurried away and, turning down First avenue, drove onto Michigan street and then west on that thoughfare.

"It seems to me there should be some way to stop this foolhardy driving that has been featured in Duluth, and especially in the downtown districts of the city, all season. If extra police are necessary, let us have them. Then when a driver is convicted of reckless driving, let him be sent to the work farm for sixty or ninety days, and if his victim is seriously inaimed or killed send the driver to Stillwater. That is certainly where they belong, for they are dangerous when running at large.

"And now is the time to begin work in this direction and not after some poor unfortunate is permanently crippled or killed. When some family head, who has to work daily to support his wife and a number of children, has the life knocked out of him with an automobile, everyone says it is 'too bad.' That's fine; but where do the bereaved widow and children come in? Who is going to provide the bread and the shoes and clothing and the rent and heat?

"Laws governing the operation of automobiles are entirely too lax. The state will not allow me to run a locomotive or be engineer on a steamboat; but any halfbaked individual is permitted to operate an auto, and right through the human traffic of the crowded downtown districts. No degree of intelligence seems to figure in the matter.

"I will say this one thing in conclusion, that if any careless driver ever runs into me he had better make a good job of it, for I will fix him myself if I ever recover. That's the way I feel about this matter."

SUPERIOR

JUSTICE OF PEACE BROKE GAME LAWS

Bruce Coleman, justice of the peace, was brought before the court yesterday on a charge of having a deer in his possession out of season. He was fined $50 and costs. The arrest was made by Deputy Game Warden Bert Shaver, who found the carcass of the deer concealed in a load of hay after a struggle with Coleman in which the deputy proved superior. Coleman said he refused to pay the fine but changed his mind as he was about to be led off to a cell. He paid $25 and was allowed to go on his ownrecognizance and pay the other $28.50 later.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE MAY NOT BE SUCCESSFUL

Mrs. Andrew Carlson, aged 40, wife of a Chaffee, Wis., farmer, who attempted suicide yesterday by drinking carbolic acid, is still alive at St. Mary's hospital. The attending physicians say there is a chance of her recovery. The woman drank two ounces of the poison. She had walked to Superior, a distance of fourteen miles in order to purchase the poison according to statements accredited to her. Her husband and four children reside on the farm. They formerly resided in Superior.

Jitneurs Must File Bonds.

Operators of jitney busses in Superior will be compelled to file bonds on or before Monday in order to do business unmolested in Superior. Monday was the date set for the last call for these bonds. Unless they are filed arrests will follow say the police. The sum required is $5,000. None of the jitney men have as yet filed the bonds.

LIVING ROOMS FOR TEACHERS

Unorganized Districts Provide Comfortable Quarters for Instructors.

Plan Tried at School No. 40 Proves Very Satisfactory.

Living quarters for teachers employed in the rural schools of the unorganized or county district will be more in evidence this year than last. The plan of furnishing teachers' cottages or living rooms in connection with the school has proved its worth and has passed the experimental stage, according to N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools.

The plan was tried first at School No. 40. A new building, 32 by 62 feet, was constructed for school purposes. Attached to the rear of this structure was an addition, 20 by 24 feet, which provided for a kitchen, pantry, living room, bedroom and clothes closet. The building was completed on Jan. 1, 1914. It was the first attempt on the part of the county board of education to supply the teachers of any of the schools of the county district with suitable quarters in which to live. After the building was completed about $290 worth of household furniture was purchased and sent to the school.

Plan Is Success.

"The success of School No. 40," said Supt. Young, "has been such that since that time a number of other buildings have been constructed and equipped in a similar manner. School No. 14, which is a two-room building, has a separate cottage on the same school site in which the two teachers of the school stay. The teacher of School No. 15, two and one-quarter miles to the north, as well as the teacher from School No. 13, two and one-half miles to the southeast, stay with the teachers in their cottage at School No. 14.

"Schools 56, 45, 85 and 79, each having two teachers, are similar to School No. 40. School No. 71, with three, is a little larger. Schools No. 41, 68 and 73 are one-room schools equipped with living quarters for the teachers. The plan for the one-room school does not work out so well, generally speaking, although where so many teachers are employed it is always possible to secure a teacher who wishes to take her mother or sister to the school with her to live during the school term.

"There is little cost to the district for the support of this part of the school after the cost of construction and equipment is met. The teachers are held responsible for the contents of the cottage and they seem very willing to replace all property which has been broken or lost. The fuel which amounts to very little is the only additional cost that amounts to anything worth mentioning.

"Teachers seem more anxious to secure positions in these schools than in any of the others. The people of the community, as a rule, look upon the teachers differently when they live at the school. There seems to be more time to devote to the school work and it is possible to secure a much higher grade of teaching ability for these schools.

"In connection with the newer buildings of this type the addition to the rear in which the teachers live is twenty-four by thirty-six feet. In making the addition larger the thought of the school board has been that if necessity demands it, the addition may be converted into a regular school room, although that has not been necessary in any instance so far. By making the addition larger it is also possible to reserve a recitation room sixteen by twenty-four feet in which, if conditions are crowded, an additional teacher may help bear the burdens of the work. This little room also serves as a place in which the cadets from the high school normals may do their practice teaching.

"If teachers are expected to do good school work it is absolutely necessary to give them respectable and comfortable places in which to live. The school cottage seems the most sensible and most satisfactory solution of the problem."

PLAN HONORS FOR GRANZOW

Mayor Would Close City Hall During Funeral of Late Fireman.

Widow Will Get Immediate Relief From Pension Fund.

In case the funeral of Assistant Fire Chief Granzow, who was killed on a run to a West end fire last evening, is held Monday afternoon, the city hall will be closed, and the regular council meeting postponed until Tuesday.

"We are all deeply grieved at this terrible accident," said Mayor Prince this morning, "and we want to pay our respects to one of Duluth's most respected citizens. I have not heard definitely when the funeral will be held, but if it is Monday afternoon, then the council meeting will be postponed and the city hall closed for about two hours. The commissioners will all attend the funeral services."

This morning flags were lowered to half mast over the city hall, police headquarters and all the fire and police stations in the city.

Commissioner Silberstein said this morning that Mrs. Granzow, the widow, will receive a check today for $150 from the firemen's relief fund to pay the funeral expenses and $40 a month for the rest of her life as a pension. Her 10-year-old daughter will receive $5 a month until 18 years of age.

"LIFE'S HANDICAP."

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Lord Saye and Sele, who has been appointed commandmant of the Golder's Green Volunteer Training corps, is a very strong opponent of "Votes for Women," apropos of which fact he has told a story.

He once attended a book dinner, at which all the guests were expected to appear with an emblem denoting the title of a book.

Lord Saye and Sele went in ordinary evening dress, but he carried a lady's petticoat over his arm.

No one could guess what book he represented, but when he told them everyone was greatly amused.

His lordship's emblem represented Kipling's famous book, "Life's Handicap."

His lordship won the first prize.

HOW SHE LOOKED.

Collier's Weekly: "I lost a dollar at the matinee this afternoon," remarked the fleshy woman to her husband, "and I never was so angry in my life."

"How'd it happen?" asked the man.

"I dropped it in the aisle," she answered shortly, "and I looked for it—that's all I could do."

"Did you look good?" persisted the head of the house.

"Did I look good!" shrilled the woman, really angry now. "I looked as good as a fat woman crawling around on all fours ever does."

CHICAGO MAN SECRETARY TO SECRETARY OF STATE LANSING

CHARLES CRANE.

Charles Crane of Chicago has been made secretary to Secretary Lansing. He belongs to the wealthy Chicago family which was once reckoned Republican but which supported Wilson in the last campaign. Its change of policy was credited to the recall of Charles R. Crane from the Chinese mission while he was on his way to Peking.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM TO HAVE GRIEVANCES

MRS. DR. E. S. COWLES.

The divorce suit of Mrs. E. S. Cowles is to be tried in a few days at Portsmouth, N. H., and it is expected to be sensational. Dr. Cowles is the man who objected to the conduct of certain navy officers at a ball some years ago and caused two of them to be courtmartialed for assaulting him. There are charges of misbehavior on both sides.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

NEW CREWS FOR REGATTA

Two Green Eights Have Been Practicing for Two Weeks.

Rivalry Among Fours Is Said to Be Decidedly Keen.

When the Duluth Boat club regatta is held here Sept. 25 two new eight-oared crews will appear as contenders for the prizes which will be hung up. Without the knowledge of Coach Jim Ten Eyck the new aspirants for honors have been practicing for two weeks and the coach was not aware of their activity until he returned yesterday from Philadelphia. One crew is made up of both light and heavy men while the other is composed entirely of heavyweights.

Considerable rivalry is being shown among the men who will contest in the club four race. One crew is made up of McGraw, bow; Harney, 2; C. Olson, 3 and C Moore, stroke. They are said to be very speedy. These all come from the intermediate eight that won a race at the recent regatta at Springfield, Mass. They average 165 pounds and have wonderful power. Another four that is receiving much favorable comment is made up of intermediate eight men, with the exception of one man. The crew lines up with Burnett, bow; Emmons, 2; Paleen, 3, and Paulson, stroke. A third crew is composed of Khein, bow; Bendixson, 2; Emerson, 3, and Sheppardson, stroke.

Kent and Hoover are also organizing a four and will be serious contenders for the sweater prizes. There will be at least a dozen entries in the lapstreak singles (seniors barred) and the handicap singles also promise to have a big list.

DULUTH YACHTS IN FINAL RACE

Winner Will Be Awarded Commercial Club Trophy.

With the Commercial club trophy as the prize for the winner the A and B divisions of the 28-foot yachts are racing this afternoon over the Duluth Boat club course on the bay. The entrants in the A division are Lynam and Jamar, while in the B section are Thompson and Currie. This will be the third of a series of races between the former, Jamar having won the first and Lynam the second. Today's race will decide the championship.

AMERICAN WOMAN IS GOLF CHAMPION

Mrs. Vanderbeck Defeats Mrs. Gavin in Final Game.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, Eastern golf champion, today won the championship of America at Onwentsia by defeating Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England, 3 to 2. The contest for the title today was not as strenuous as the semi-final round, Mrs. Vanderbeck won yesterday from Miss Alexa Stirling, Southern champion, in 22 holes, but the Eastern champion played good golf, approximating a 92 as against a probable 94 for the Briton.

The international nature of the struggle drew a large gallery of gaily frocked women, most of whom were eager for an American victory. Mrs. Vanderbeck, who had twice broken the course record since the tournament began on Monday, did not give her supporters any cause for nervousness except on the fourteenth hole where she foozled a mashie and barely escaped a pit. It was the first missed approach the Philadelphian had made during the tournament but she recovered well and halved the hode in six, Mrs. Gavin taking 5 putts.

Moline Clinches Pennant.

Moline, Ill., Sept. 11.—Moline today cinched the pennant of the Three I league for the second half, and will meet Davenport, winner of the first half pennant, in a post-season series patterned on the major league world series for the championship.

LONG DELAY IN GETTING MAIL

Letter Sent By Secretary Schmahl Four Months on Way.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—More than a year ago Secretary of State Schmahl placed an order with Carl Bohnen, the well-known Twin City portrait artist, for pictures of secretaries of state which have served since the state was organized. Mr. Bohnen, who went to Germany to study, took the pictures with him and today he writes that they are ready, but he fears for their safety if he should ship them. Showing the delay in transmission of mail between the two countries, a letter sent Jan. 1 this year by Secretary Schmahl did not reach Mr. Bohnen until April and a similar period elapsed in a letter sent by Mr. Bohnen to Mr. Schmahl.

THREE PLAYGROUNDS OPENED FOR CHILDREN

Supervised Play Will Be Continued By Director Batchelor.

Recreational Director Batchelor this morning opened the three playgrounds at Chester and Harrison parks and Fifty-second avenue west for continuance of supervised play work.

Assisting Director Batchelor are Richard Duffy at Fifty-second avenue west, Hugh Shook at Chester park, and Miss Louise McGhie at Harrison park. Miss McGhie will conduct the work in the West end until Mr. Batchelor is able to find a young man to direct the work for the fall and winter.

In addition, Miss Ruth Allen of this city, a graduate of the playground training school in Detroit, has volunteered her services, and she will assist Mr. Batchelor at Chester park.

Large crowds of children were reported at all the parks this morning.

EARLY BEDTIME FOR "KIDS."

New Curfew Ordinance Will Go Into Effect Next Monday.

This morning Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, gave instructions to the police on the enforcement of the ordinance, and children found on the streets after 9:30 o'clock, will be liable to arrest. In addition, their parents will be held negligent and also liable to punishment.

The ordinance provides that children under 16 years of age must remain off the streets after 9:30 o'clock from May 1 to Oct. 1, and after 9 o'clock during the rest of the year.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

A Good Story With a Good Lesson.

THE BROWN MOUSE. By Herbert Quick, author of "The Good Ship Earth," etc. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25 net.

Jennie Woodruff, an Iowa farmer's daughter, said "Humph!" to her father's hired man, who had been her girlhood sweetheart. She did it because, she said, he was still only a hired man—perhaps also because he brought with him, as evidence of it, the odors of his day's task. He had been feeding the crops. That "Humph!" started something. Jennie sent him away stung to the quick, and the recoil made a man of him and revolutionized a county—may, if this book turns out to be the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" of agricultural freedom the author half-humorously dedicates it to be, save a country. It is not great literature—but the original "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is a very inferior piece of literature. Yet the original was very fascinating reading, and so is this book.

The hired man—Jim Irwin—had studied and read—better still, by far, he had worked and thought. He had gone through the rural schools, bad copies of the city schools as they were, and he had thought about them, too. His revolution, therefore, took the form of an intelligent system of agricultural and household education. He interested the boys and girls, redeemed from waste many that were heading there, and incidentally taught their elders to farm with brains as well as muscle—to use intellect as well as elbow grease.

Jim became teacher of the local school largely by a funny mistake, and was taken largely as a joke. He started in with the trustees against him because the district laughed at their folly in electing him, and "laying for" a chance to "get" him. Yet he had a dream of a rural school that would correlate its work with life, that would accomplish all the purposes of the old style school while accomplishing vastly more—making its products fit for the battle of life.

It was a struggle, a fight. Jim's plan was new and different; two arguments strong enough to array against him all the might of the incubus of conservatism, which recoiled, protested, opposed and lay in wait for Jim with malicious purpose—almost got him. But he won, and it is fascinating to follow the fight.

The author, like Jim Irwin, has a dream; and a noble dream it is, worth billions of dollars to America and, vastly more important, worth incalculably more in better living, better children, better men and women and a better country. It is a dream of the rural school snatched out of its quiet by-way and harnessed to life itself, the center of the rural community educationally, socially and politically—a factor in life from childhood to the end.

Something like what is told here has been done in many places since Jim Irwin's time, but the full realization of the dream has not yet quite come anywhere, so far as we are aware. God speed it, for the country's good and for humanity's good.

And don't forget that aside from the vastly important lesson it teaches, the book contains a lively and absorbing story.

The Pathos of Germany.

THE PENTECOST OF CALAMITY. By Owen Wister, author of "The Virginian," etc. New York: The Macmillan company. 50 cents.

In this little book is a pathetic picture of Germany, and a terrible indictment—not of Germany or the Germans, but of the baneful influences, mainly Prussian, which have dominated her and after building her into a compact and well-running machine flung her bodily into the awful volcano of war.

The book is by one who has loved and admired the Germans—who still loves and admires the Germans, and therefore wishes them the only salvation he can see for them—defeat in this war. His story is a contrasting picture of the Germany he saw in May and June of 1914, and the Germany he finds a year later. He had looked upon Germany and her well-ordered life, and himself if, perhaps, in the face of all this the American experiment might not be a mistake after all—a question that, in the light of what the Germany of 1914 was headed for, he no longer asks.

In June of 1914 Mr. Wister wrote in his diary: "I am constantly more impressed with the Germans. They are a massive, on-going, steady race. Some underlying slow fire is at work in them. This can be felt, somehow." This in his innocence of "what the slow fire was to become." A year later, in this little volume, he writes this: "If Germany's tragedy be, as I think, the deepest of all, the hope is that she, too, will be touched with the Pentecost of Calamity, and pluck her soul from Prussia, to whom she gave it in 1870. Thus shall the curse be lifted."

The picture of Germany as he found it in 1914, paralleled by the picture Germany presents today, makes it small wonder that this keen observer should declare that the tragedy of Germany is deeper even than the tragedy of Belgium.

The viewpoint from which this book is written illuminates the thought of a large section of the unhyphenated American public, which despite its affection for the Germans—because of it, indeed—cannot bring itself to hope for a German victory in this war.

The book is, moreover, a splendid piece of prose writing, worthy of the crisis that produced it.

How to Have an Ever-Blooming Garden.

Poppies come in an innumerable and attractive variety; but if you have a garden of poppies you have entrancing bloom for a period, and then a bare, unsightly place for the rest of the summer. So it is with many other beautiful flowers, and the list of reliable annuals and perennials that will bloom the whole season through is very brief, and excludes many highly desirable plants.

What is needed, then, is a plan of planting whereby continuous bloom will be assured the whole season through; and such a plan the author of this beautifully bound and handsomely illustrated volume has devised after years of experiments. The result of these years of work was a garden plan that produces continuous bloom from May to frost—a consummation devoutly sought by every flower-lover. This plan she has worked into an exceedingly interesting and helpful book, which every grower of flowers on the home grounds will appreciate. Moreover, there are full instructions for planting and growing a long list of annuals, biennials and perennials.

Any such plan as this, of course, must be adapted, not adopted, by the average gardener. Differences in climate—this is particularly true in this region—and differences in soil and ground limits must be taken into account; but this is easy, and with the need of it in mind, anybody can acquire through a study of this book a knowledge of how to keep up the bloom from spring to autumn.

The book would make an attractive holiday present for any lover of gardening.

Club Work.

THE COMPLETE CLUB BOOK FOR WOMEN. Companion volume to "Woman's Club Work and Programs." By Caroline French Benton. Boston: The Page company. $1.25 net.

The author divides club women into three classes: Those who wish to study art, music and literature; those who wish to work for the good of the community, or engage in "larger housekeeping," and timid women who need clubs to bring them out and do away with their self-consciousness. She then gives programs for the year's club work in which each class will be interested. Among the subjects suggested for study are "The American Colonies," "Some Poets of Today," "The Business of Being a Housekeeper" and "Our Educational System." Each subject is divided into topics for the series of meetings, and lists of reference books are given.

For the benefit of clubs that find it hard to make clear and comprehensive year books a model year book is given, with England as the subject.

Short sketches of lives and concise accounts of important events which are to be studied at length provide the ground work upon which to build detailed programs.

The chapters devoted to the work done by clubs in various parts of the country give good suggestions for a wide range of subjects for the year's study, with illustrations of responses to roll call, papers, discussions and demonstrations. Chapters on a model constitution and rules of order conclude the volume, which is practical and will be found helpful.

A Game-Book for the Children.

THE DOT CIRCUS. By Clifford Leon Shernan, author of "The Dot Book." Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $1 net.

On each of many pages is a picture, with its central figure represented merely by what appears to be a vague mass of figures. But just take a soft pencil, put it on No. 1, and draw a line through the numbers in their order, and lo! there magically appears an animal whose presence you never would have suspected. It looks like a very fascinating game for the youngsters.

A Study of the Home Life of Lincoln.

TAD AND HIS FATHER. By F. Lauriston Bullard. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. 50 cents net.

When Lincoln was in the White House his son "Tad" was probably the most irrepressibly active figure within its historic walls. A bundle of nervous energy and high boyish spirits, the child kept the household busy, and the tangles he created daily called for the assistance of the president in straightening them out. In this picture of the father and his son, between whom there was an unusually strong bond, we get a reflection of Lincoln's tenderness and sympathy—qualities that embraced all humanity. After reading Mr. Bullard's touching and intimate appreciation, regard and affection for this precious figure in American history surge up anew.

American Sailor Heroes.

HEROIC DEEDS OF AMERICAN SAILORS. By Albert F. Blaisdell and Francis K. Ball. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. 70c net.

This book, intended for boys and girls of 9 to 13, sets forth many dramatic and picturesque events illustrating the perils of our heroes of the sea encounter, and the bravery with which they have faced them. They are lively, full of color and human interest, and should go far toward developing a taste for good reading among young people. That the tales touch such exploits as the feats of "Old Ironsides," the destruction of the Gaspee, Decatur burning the Philadelphia and Cushing saving the fleets is an assurance of their high tension, and they are interestingly told.

American Biography for Children.

THE CHILD'S BOOK OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY. By Mary Stowell Stimpson. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1 net.

Briefly but interestingly this volume tells the life stories of many Americans who have by great achievements made great names in American history. Every country has had men and women whose lives have made the world better and wiser, and this country has had its full share. It is essential that the young people, that they may profit by the inspiration of those examples, should know the stories of those who have achieved great things. This collection of biographies intended especially for children's reading, and in which, to catch the interest, particular stress is laid on striking incidents in the lives of the people dealt with, should successfully challenge the interest of the young folks and so lead them to further explorations in American biography and American history.

Among the Magazines.

Three important and unusual articles open the September Atlantic. "The Monroe Doctrine as Germans See It," by Herbert Kraus, is particularly illuminating in view of the recent discussion of Pan-Americanism and the Germanophobia so prevalent today. Dr. Kraus, a German scholar unsurpassed in knowledge of the political relations of the Americas, interests us when he informs us that the Monroe Doctrine has no definite scope; that everybody has a different idea of it; and that there is no hostility to it in Germany. He does more than interest us when he claims that the exportation of millions is "as contrary to the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine as the present tone of the American press," and threatens that "it will doubtless play a part unfavorable to the Union in the general accounting." All who share the widespread anxiety concerning the German attitude toward the United States will find this paper suggestive. Also suggestive, and more brilliant, is "The Modest Immigrant," by Agnes Repplier—a scornful attack on the "alien who, having done us the honor of accepting citizenship, wields his vote as a cudgel, bidding us beware of the weapon we have amiably placed in his hands." Bitterly Miss Repplier tells us that the German-American who uses his vote to further the interests of an European state is a perjured man; that we are sentimentalists to "see plainly what we owe to the Magyar and the Levantine" while "we have no concern for the Virginian or the Pennsylvanian." Friends and foes of the immigrant will alike admire the spirit and wit of Miss Repplier's attack. "The Progress of the Social Conscience," by ex-President W. J. Tucker of Dartmouth, is more optimistic. President Tucker finds us Americans to have advanced greatly in regard for our fellow men during the past generation, and intimates that in this advance lies the hope of an era of civilization and peace to come.

* * *

"Hints for the Household Writer," by Annie Balcomb Wheeler, and "Educating the Verse-Writer," by Frances Barber, are helpful, practical articles in the September number of The Writer, the Boston magazine for literary workers. Other topics discussed are: "Stories for Boys," "The Modern Short Story," "The Influence of the Century Magazine," "Poe Seeking a Publisher," "A Tip from a Publisher," and "What Is a Short Story?" Announcement is made of a number of prize offers for manuscripts, and the story is told of a manuscript rejected by editors for fifty years that has just won a $2,500 prize. The departments of "Writers of the Day," and "Personal Gossip About Authors," are full of interest, and there is a valuable reference list of literary articles in periodicals, while the "News and Notes" gives all the live news of the literary and publishing world.

* * *

The September number of the Keramic Studio proper is given up almost entirely to conventional work. There are two or three pages of exhibits from the Twin City Keramic club containing some very attractive pieces. There are also three pretty designs for mountain ash-berries, a bowl in nasturtiums, a chocolate pot, a fernery, bellock bowl in wild grape motif, two or three tall vases, an enamel design for coupe chop plate and several other good studies, making a great variety to choose from. The supplement has more of the semi-conventional, one of the best being a dainty plate in roses and gold conventional pattern. Among the others are, a hazelnut plate, egg cup and tray, a plate, cup and pitcher of orange blossom motif and another plate with a little different motif of the same flower. One colored supplement is a Satsuma bowl and plate by Henrietta Barclay Paist, and would be very attractive on china. The other supplement is a beautiful and dainty plate of orange blossom motif by Mrs. F. C. McGaughy.

The September Sports Afield blooms out as the Grand American Handicap number, considerable space being given to the great trapshooting tournament held in Chicago last month. But, aside from its splendid write-up of the Grand American handicap, this old reliable magazine maintains the many sterling attractions which have made it the representative sportsman's journal of the United States. "Sunset Camps and Trails" presents the usual instalment of sport after game, all the way from ruffed grouse to the lordly moose. "In the Land of the Dog" is a humorous story of cowboy land—of bucking broncos and their disgusted riders in their efforts to avoid prairie dog holes. "When Dan Cupid Changed From Bow to Gun" narrates how two rivals for the heart of a girl settled their fate at the traps. "In the Great Man-trap Valley" is a delightful account of sport among Minnesota's beautiful lakes.

* * *

The Strand magazine for September makes its bow more particularly as an American magazine than ever before. This was foreseen in the appointment last February of Wendell Phillips Dodge, a young American newspaper man, editor, dramatic critic and literary director for David Belasco's important theatrical and dramatic enterprises as editor of the American edition of this highly entertaining magazine, which in Great Britain is the leading and greatest monthly periodical. In addition to two strikingly American articles of timeliness and interest, "Billy Sunday and His Slogan, 'Get Religion'" and "Uncle Sam At Work," as told in motion pictures, besides the regular American theatrical feature, "Masks and Faces," every article and short story has a direct appeal to Americans, and of especial interest is an article by Frederick G. Cooke, of the Eastbourne (England) Volunteer Training corps, on "The Value of Observation in War." Such well known writers as Will Owen, Horace Annesley Vachell, Harold Begbie, Alfred Lester, and others, give "The Best War Story I Have Heard;" and Allan Graham's powerful serial story, "The Great German Plot," and Richard Marsh's highly amusing and yet very much "to the point" continued story, "Sam Briggs Becomes a Soldier," still remain as strong features.

* * *

The spirit of adventure, sought or thrust upon one, is to be found aplenty in The Wide World magazine for September. Surely, no more thrilling and hair-raising experiences have before been recorded than as are set forth in great detail by men who have literally "gone through hell" and write first hand of what they encountered in this magazine that lives up to the old maxim, "truth is stranger than fiction." One has only to read such thrilling true accounts as "Dangerous Jobs," dealing with a number of American occupations; "Trapped in a Furnace," with the scene laid in Pennsylvania; "The Circle of Death," also in the Keystone state; "An Ill-Starred Elopement," in Florida; "Behind the Nailed Door," in Africa; "In Search of Adventure," in Australia; "A Memorable Man-Hunt," also in the island continent; "A Woman Alone in China," speaking for itself, or rather herself; "Petre's Island," in the South Pacific; "Kermis' Time in Belgium;" and the numerous other stories.

AS SUMMER WANES.

—From the Chicago News.

NAMES ARE DUPLICATED

Duluth Has Five Avenues in Western Suburbs Which Are "Twins."

Eighty-First Avenue West Is Next After Eighty-Fifth.

There are five streets in Duluth that have to be renamed.

This morning Commissioner Farrell discovered that there are two Eighty-first, Eighty-second, Eighty-third, Eighty-fourth and Eighty-fifth avenues west and that as a result he will shortly introduce a resolution before the council changing one set of the duplicate names.

Just what these new names will be, the commissioner refused to say, although he took lightly the suggestion that the five be named after the five members of the city council, Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss, Silberstein, Farrell and Merritt.

In explaining the mistake, Otto Brownell, engineer in the public works division, said that the Ironton division was platted about twenty-five years ago, some time before the Fairmont park division was platted. As a result, the engineers platted from Eighty-first to Eighty-fifth avenues and then continued right on through New Duluth. Since then the section between West Duluth and Ironton division was platted and the streets were continued from Seventy-first avenue west, running to Eighty-fifth avenue, where a small park stops the count. Eighty-first avenue continues again in the Ironton division, just on the other side of the small park.

Commissioner Farrell said this morning that the names will be changed before the street car line is ready for use, so that there will be no confusion in locating the thoroughfare.

WATERMELON FEED FEATURES "Y" PARTY

First of Series of Friday Night Social Events Is Held.

Last night the series of social events for the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was begun with a watermelon feed. The evening was opened by a good time in the "gym," where several stunts were pulled off. The most popular of these proved to be that of blind man's buff. A short swim in the pool followed. Then all of the boys gathered in the dining room, where they were served with watermelon. There were about fifty boys present. This is the first of a series that will be held on Friday night throughout the winter.

This morning the Saturday morning classes held their first session. The attendance was large in both of them, and it promises to be a big year in the department for the classes.

This afternoon at 2:30 the boys left the building for Park Point, where they had an outing. The afternoon was spent in swimming and playing games. Every Saturday afternoon there will be some outing. These are usually very popular.

ANCIENT WISDOM AND MODERN FOOLISHNESS

By Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

In every age, in every nation there has been a class of individuals who objected to all innovations solely on the ground that they were new. Everybody numbers one or more of these objectors among his acquaintances.

Preventive medicine is referred to these days as a new science and so it is but many of the measures used today are hoary with age and have been sanctioned by sanitarians of the dim centuries. The Scriptures hold evidence of this and now and again the historian may mark a passage which adds confirmation.

The care of water supplies is one of the things which the opponents of modern sanitation most frequently belittle and which the public health officials recommend. To those bold objectors who blatantly proclaim their superiority to precautionary measures it is interesting to quote from Herodotus "the father of history," who wrote some twenty-three odd centuries ago of Cyrus, the Persian king.

"Cyrus made war against the son of this queen, who bore the name of his father, Labynetus, and had the empire of Assyria. Now when the great king leads his army in person, he carries with him from home provisions well prepared and cattle; and he takes with him water from the River Choaspes, which flows past Susa, of which alone, and no other, the king drinks. A great number of four wheel carriages, drawn by mules, carry the water of this river, after it has been boiled in silver vessels, and follow him from place to place wherever he marches."

Fortunately the majority of people heed the warnings given when it becomes necessary to boil water from private or public supplies or take other steps to insure its safety. So long, however, as the dissenters continue their senseless opposition we shall continue to have an unnecessary amount of typhoid. Not alone among the individuals who set themselves above the acquired knowledge of scientific investigators, but also among the unfortunate people who permit their better judgment to be swayed by the positive assertions of the ignorant.

BERLIN COMMENT ON DUMBA INCIDENT

Various Press Opinions on Action Taken By President Wilson.

Berlin Sept. 11, via London.—The report that the United States had requested the recall of Ambassador Dumba was received too late for general comment in Saturday morning's Berlin newspapers, only the Morgen Post and the Vossische Zeitung referring editorially to the report. The former says:

"As long as only a dispatch from British sources is at hand we will reserve our judgment. Should America really demand the recall of the ambassador only because he, in the course of doing his duty, warned his countrymen against treason of the Fatherland, it would afford new proof of the attitude, which may hardly be described as benevolent, that America has taken toward us from the beginning."

The Vossische Zeitung says:

"It does not seem to point to pronounced good will on the part of the American government. The ambassador only did his duty when he called the attention of subjects of the monarchy employed in munitions factories working for the allies to the criminality of their conduct under the laws of their fatherland. Even if, as a result of the announcements that he was in duty bound to make, Austrian and Hungarian workmen should have stopped that was nothing but their good right, and doubly so in free America."

"We learn," the Vossische Zeitung adds, "that printed sheets demanding the destruction of American munitions factories have occasionally been inserted secretly in German newspapers sent to America. Propaganda of this sort is as criminal as it is silly. It cannot be described otherwise than as grave misconduct."

The newspaper adds a warning against a continuation of the practice it condemns.

TO SURVEY LAND.

Settlers to Make Claims for Damages for Overflow From Lakes.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor Preus today detailed two men to make a survey of lands in the vicinity of Rainy Lake and the Lake of the Woods. This survey is for the purpose of preparing an actual valuation to be used as a claim for damages in suits now pending for overflow of the two lakes. The fixing of the height of the two lakes is now in the hands of the International boundary waters commission and the valuations of the lands will also be used in securing from the government, if possible, an award for lands taken.

Germany numbers among her population 39,000,000 Protestants, 23,500,000 Roman Catholics, and 283,000 Christians of other denominations.

HALF MILLION FOR PAVING

Farrell Has Many Big Jobs Planned for Next Year.

Petitions Already in; City Has Spent $400,000 This Year.

Approximately $500,000 will be spent by the public works division next year for new pavements and street improvements.

This is the estimate made today by Commissioner Farrell, who proposes an extensive paving program for 1916. Beginning early next spring, he plans to pave Grand avenue, from Twenty-ninth to Fifty-fourth avenues west; Superior street, from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenues east; Second street, from the courthouse to Fifth avenue east; First street, from Twentieth to Thirtieth avenues west, and Thirtieth avenue west, from Superior to Vernon streets. Petitions for all these pavements are now in and Commissioner Farrell plans to start the improvements as soon as the weather permits in the spring.

In addition, he hopes to pave Fifth avenue west, from Superior street to the courthouse; Third street, from Lake to Eighteenth avenues east; Eighth street, from Second avenue west to Fourteenth avenue east; First street, from Sixth to Twenty-third avenues east; Central avenue, from Cody street to the Missabe right-of-way; Roosevelt street, from Fifty-first to Sixty-first avenues west; Third avenue east, from Michigan to Second streets; Second avenue east, from Second to Sixth streets. Property owners have all asked for these improvements, he said, and petitions are expected in during the coming winter.

This year the works division has spent approximately $400,000, out of which the city will pay $120,000 for street intersections, the remainder being assessed against the property benefited. The $103,000 debt of the improvement fund will be reduced approximately $80,000 this year, he said this morning.

"Although I have planned an extensive program for next year," said Commissioner Farrell, "I expect to reduce this debt about $25,000 more. My aim is to wipe out the entire amount during my term of office. It is a debt against the improvement fund as a result of paving work done by the old board of public works."

Among the large pavements now being completed or already finished are the following: Commonwealth avenue, from Crestline court to the south line of Gary; Minnesota avenue, from Twelfth to Forty-third street; Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road; Ninth street, from Seventh to Fourteenth avenue east; Sixth street, from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenue east; Highland street, from Fifty-seventh to Sixty-third avenue west; First street, from Twenty-eighth avenue east to Congdon park; Sixth street, from Twenty-first to Twenty-fifth avenue west and Exeter street, from Grand to Pacific avenue.

FAREWELL BANQUET FOR COLLEGE STUDENT

Nearly thirty persons attended a banquet at St. Mark's A. M. E. church, Fifth avenue east and Sixth street, last night, given in honor of Miss Zillah Glenn, 507 East Seventh street. Miss Glenn is leaving Duluth within the next few days to attend school at Howard university, Washington, D. C. After the banquet, which was served early in the evening, the guests assembled at the home of Mrs. George Adams 115 East Fifth street, for an informal dancing party. The dinner was given by Mrs. Sarah Waters and Messrs. Eugene Waters and Ulysses Grant.

The list of guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Joseph Glenn, George Glenn, H. Merry, H. P. Stokes, C. M. Richardson, George Adams and M. Brown; Mesdames Rodney and Waters; Misses Zillah Glenn, Julia Humphries, Eleanora Rodney, Carrie Hazel, Blanche Black and Constance Grant, and Messrs. Ulysses Grant, Tildon Watts, Eugene Waters, Wellington Glenn, Eugene Waters and James Pickett.

CROOKSTON HOTEL GUESTS ROUTED OUT

Driven From Rooms in Early Hours of Chilly Morning By Fire.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire at 4 o'clock this morning charred the Palace hotel basement and elevator shaft and drove sixty guests to the streets in their night clothes, they escaping on the fire escapes.

It was extremely chilly and the women in their night clothes suffered from the cold before clothing could be secured and other rooms located. The fire started in the rear of the basement window and the store room was gutted with its contents. The dining room floor was condemned by the fire marshal.

The damage to the building is $5,000 and the loss of furniture and fixtures mostly from smoke, and stores in the store rooms is estimated by Proprietor Eckes at about $4,000, both covered by insurance.

It is believed the fire was caused from a cigar stub. The hotel is in the heart of the city and an entire block was threatened.

CHILDREN'S HOUR POPULAR AT LIBRARY

About seventy-five children were present today at the children's hour meeting at the public library. Miss Marjory Morrow conducted two periods, one for kindergarten pupils and the other for grade children. Much interest was shown by the children in the first story of the cycle from the "Odyssey."

Miss Morrow was well pleased with the attendance and the interest shown. The work will be continued weekly throughout the coming year.

FIRE CHIEF GRANZOW IS KILLED WHILE HURRYING IN AUTO TO WEST END FIRE

Machine Strikes Touring Car, Hurling Fireman Twenty Feet.

Falls on Head and Dies Few Minutes Later in Ambulance.

Driver of "Jinx Car" Escapes With But Minor Bruises.

FRED E. GRANZOW.

Assistant Fire Chief Fred E. Granzow was fatally injured last night in an automobile collision near Twenty-seventh avenue west on Superior street, while hurrying to a fire, and died in the police emergency en route to St. Luke's hospital.

Gerald O. Black, driver of the fire car, was held in his seat by the steering gear and escaped with bruises about the hips and a cut lip, but Chief Granzow was catapulted from the car and struck on his head and shoulders nearly twenty feet away.

R. F. Cochran and Gary Von Felden, both of Cloquet, in the car which was struck by the fire motor, were jerked from their seats, but escaped injury.

At two minutes after 10 o'clock apparatus from engine house No. 2, led by Asst. Chief Granzow, turned out to answer an alarm from 209 Twenty-ninth avenue west.

As Chief Granzow's roadster crossed the intersection of Superior street and Twenty-seventh avenue west, going west at a high rate of speed, Driver Black saw the touring car ahead of him, going in the same direction and about in the center of the street car tracks.

He determined to pass to the right of the touring car, between the car tracks and the curb, as he was too close to go around to the left. As the fire car neared, a shrill warning from the siren startled Cochran, who turned slowly towards the curb, directly in front of the fire apparatus, now but a few feet away.

In a last desperate attempt to avoid a collision, Black jammed on the brakes and locked his steering gear, trying to pass the touring car on the left. The fire car swerved under the terrific strain and its right front wheel caught the left hind wheel of the touring car.

The impact hurled the fire car to the left, the front wheel catching in the car track and breaking off at the hub. Granzow, sitting in the left seat, was unable to save himself, and was hurled almost to the south curbing.

The left front wheel of the fire car was torn off, the front axle bent, the right fender torn completely off and the machine otherwise damaged. The left rear fender and the tonneau of the Cochran car were damaged slightly.

Dies in Ambulance.

Black, dazed and bleeding from a cut on the face, disregarded his own injuries and assisted by bystanders, carried his injured chief to the sidewalk, where he attempted to revive him. Police were notified, but when they lifted Granzow's body from the emergency at St. Luke's hospital thirteen minutes later, life was extinct.

Mrs. Granzow at her home, 106 Park avenue, received the telephone call which the wife of every fireman dreads, and was hurried to the hospital in Chief Joseph Randall's car. Her little daughter, Dorothy, was left at the home of a neighbor and was not told of her father's death until today.

When told that her husband was dead, Mrs. Granzow collapsed and had to be treated by hospital attendants before she could be taken to her home.

Cochran's version of the accident was similar to that of Driver Black. He said: "I was driving near the car tracks on the right hand side and turned in toward the curb when I heard the fire siren. Suddenly it seemed as though my car was lifted up from behind and we shot forward in our seats."

"Black will never drive again," said one of the "boys" at fire headquarters today, "at least not in that car."

Is "Jinx" Car.

The car which figured in the accident is the one which was driven by Mr. Black about a year ago, with Assistant Chief Granzow, when a 12-year-old girl was killed. It also has figured in numerous minor accidents and is called the "jinx" car among the firefighters.

Assistant Fire Chief Granzow was 53 years old. He was born in Germany and had been a member of the department since May 1, 1889, when he was appointed pipeman at Hose Company No. 1.

His departmental record follows: May 1, 1889, pipeman Hose Company No. 1; May 1, 1890, promoted to lieutenant, Hose Company No. 1; July 1, 1890, transferred to Hook and Ladder Company No. 1; Aug. 1, 1890, transferred to Hose Company No. 4; Jan. 5, 1895, promoted to captain of Hose Company No. 4; Nov. 1, 1894, transferred to Engine Company No. 3; Sept. 11, 1897, transferred to Engine Company No. 1; April 1, 1902, promoted to second assistant chief; July 1, 1909, promoted to first assistant chief.

In addition to Mrs. Granzow, he is survived by a daughter, Dorothy, 10 years old; a son, Ernest, 26, an electrical engineer with the Minneapolis Light & Power company, and a brother, Emmanuel, a farmer near Prairie du Chien, Wis.

The fire to which he was responding at the time of his death was at the home of Joseph Gleason, 209 Twenty-ninth avenue west. The rear porch was damaged to the extent of $200. A spark from a bonfire in an adjoining yard was believed to have been responsible.

Flags at Half Mast.

Flags on city buildings, particularly the fire halls, were at half mast today as a tribute to the memory of the veteran firefighter, who had answered his last alarm.

"Fred thought the game would get him," said Harvey Robinson, engineer at Company No. 2, and for years a close acquaintance of the former assistant chief. "He often said that he supposed they would carry him out some day, but he always imagined it would come in a building.

"It never occurred to him that he might be killed in a machine while answering an alarm, but particularly in recent years he has spoken about being caught under a wall or in a building. In his twenty-six years of service he has worked on some of the biggest fires Duluth ever had.

Was "Smoke Eater."

"No man ever can say that Assistant Chief Granzow ordered him to go any place he wouldn't go himself, and there are few, if any, men in the department today who could 'eat any more smoke.'"

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but will be made late today, it was announced, upon the arrival from Minneapolis of Mr. Granzow's son. Z. A. Downs, Superior undertaker, is in charge of arrangements, the body having been taken to the Wisconsin city early this morning.

MEXICANS KIDNAP AMERICAN RANCHER

John Lowenbruck Held Across Border for $2,000 Ransom.

Washington, Sept. 11.—State and war department officials were aroused over the kidnaping of an American citizen by Mexican bandits at Columbus, New Mexico. John Lowenbruck, a ranchman, was seized by a band of Mexicans, said to be soldiers, carried across the border from Columbus, and word sent back that he was being held for a $2,000 ransom.

Information of the incident was communicated to the war department. It was at once taken up with Secretary Lansing, who sent representations to Gen. Villa through Consular Agent Carothers demanding that the ranchman be released. Columbus is about 100 miles west of El Paso, bordering on the State of Chihuahua, which is under Villa control.

The administration has reports indicating that Gen. Villa is losing control of some of his forces in Northern Mexico and that many of the soldiers have broken away from their commands and organized into belligerent bands, adding to menacing conditions along the border.

Assistant Secretary of War Breckinridge conferred with Secretary Lansing about the situation. It was stated that no orders had been sent to American commanders on the border. There was, however, an intimation that United States forces would not hesitate to cross the border to rescue the kidnaped American, if his whereabouts could be ascertained.

Friends Have Money.

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 11.—Friends of John Lowenbruck, an American cattle buyer, reported kidnaped by "colorados," followers of the late Gen. Pasqual Orozco, below Palomas, opposite Columbus, N. M., are reported to be searching for the kidnapers below Pachita, N. M. They have with them $2,000, the ransom demanded.

Solid Train of Grain.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—A solid trainload of seventy cars of grain left Little Falls Thursday morning for St. Paul. Most of the grain was from the Western part of Minnesota and North Dakota, and twenty-two cars were picked up here, mostly from points on the L. F. & D. branch. Railroad men who have worked at the Little Falls station many years say that it is the first solid trainload of grain they have ever seen pass through here. The gross weight of the train was 4,000 tons.

PLAN JOINT CONFERENCE

Norwegian M. E. Churches of Three Districts Will Meet Here.

About 500 Visitors Expected; Many Noted Speakers Coming.

The annual joint conference of the Red River Valley, Chicago and Minneapolis districts of the Norwegian-Danish Methodist Episcopal church, will be held in this city beginning Wednesday evening, Oct. 6. The conference will be held in the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

More than 150 regular delegates representing every congregation in the three districts as well as about 500 other visitors are expected in the city during the week. Plans for their entertainment are now being made by Rev. H. A. Ofstie, pastor of the local church, and members of his congregation.

Some of the best speakers in the conference are expected to be present during the six days that the conference will be in session. Among these will be Rt. Rev. Joseph Berry, bishop of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church; Dr. J. Boswell of Philadelphia, Pa., who will represent the home mission and church extension department; Dr. H. K. Madsen, presiding elder of the Chicago district, and former pastor of the local church; Prof. Carl W. Schevineus of the Norwegian-Danish Theological college of Evanston, Ill., and former pastor of the Bethany church of West Duluth; Rev. Paul Haugan of Grand Forks, N. D., superintendent of the Red River Valley district; Rev. J. P. Anderson of Minneapolis, superintendent of the Minneapolis district; Rev. H. O. Wilson of Crookston, former pastor of the local church, and many others.

REV. H. K. MADSEN.

Bishop Berry will preside during the conference. He will also preach at the services on Sunday, Oct. 10. The conference will open with addresses of welcome by Rev. H. A. Ofstie on behalf of the local conference, and by Rev. Paul Haugan, superintendent of the Red River Valley district, who will speak on behalf of his district.

Great preparations are being made to entertain the delegates by members of the congregation. The ladies' aid society is planning to serve dinner and supper to the delegates each day during the week. The large basement of the church will be utilized for this purpose. This big room will also serve as reception room, at which social gatherings will be held.

The local church is affiliated with those of the Red River Valley district. There are in all about eighty churches and congregations scattered throughout the states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois, which will have their representatives present. Each church will be represented by a lay delegate as well as its pastor.

THREE FREE RINKS FOR THE WEST END

Two Will Be Supervised By City; Twin Lakes in Preparation.

Children of the West end will have three free skating rinks on which to spend their leisure hours this winter. Two of these will be under municipal supervision, and will be flooded by the city park department.

The Harrison playground at Thirtieth avenue west and Third street, and the Lincoln playground at Twenty-fifth avenue and Sixth street, will be flooded. These two were used last winter. The Twin Lakes will also afford another spot for skating. Water has been forming in these lakes during the last month and before another month is past there is expected to be considerable surface of water there.

The Harrison and Lincoln grounds were the gathering places for hundreds of youngsters last winter. Electric lights were provided for the grounds. A warming room for each of the places was also maintained.

MISSIONARIES FROM CHINA WILL SPEAK

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lawler and Miss Beatrice Lawler and Harland Lawler, who have been working as missionaries in China for several years, will conduct services at the Pentecostal assembly at the Bricklayer hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, tomorrow. The missionaries have been in China for ten years and are visiting various parts of this country in the interest of the mission. They expect to return to China in about four weeks. The meetings tomorrow will be held at 3 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock.

Entertains Auxiliary.

Mrs. Charles Griffith, 2011 West Second street, entertained at her home for members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen Thursday afternoon. Father John's Medicine Builds Up the Body Without Use of Alcohol or Dangerous Drugs. A Doctor's Prescription, 50 Years in Use.

Absolute Truth of This Story Attested by Guarantee to Give $25,000.00 to Any Charitable Institution if Shown Otherwise.

Father John's Medicine is a physician's prescription.

Prescribed for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., by an eminent specialist in 1855.

Father John recommended this prescription to his parishioners and friends and in this way it became known as Father John's Medicine.

This story is true and we guarantee to give $25,000.00 to any charitable institution, if shown otherwise.

Father John's Medicine is recommended for coughs, colds, and throat and lung troubles, and to make flesh and strength. Does not contain alcohol or poisonous drugs.

ASSOCIATE PASTOR OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH WILL ORGANIZE BOY SCOUTS

REV. ROBERT EDWIN MILLER.

Rev. Robert Edwin Miller, the newly appointed associate pastor of the First Methodist church, has arrived in the city and will enter upon his duties as assistant to Rev. John W. Hoffman at once. This is his first appointment since the completion of his studies for the ministry. The Baltimore Sun says of him:

"The Baltimore public schools furnished his early education, after which he pursued a preparatory course for the ministry in Ohio. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins university in 1911. While at Hopkins he preached in Baltimore county and in St. Mary's county. Since then he has been studying in Boston and was graduated from the Boston University School of Theology.

"His appointment came through the recommendation of Rev. Dr. McIlyar Hamilton Lichliter of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore.

"Mr. Moore, formerly of this city, and whose mother resides here, is the superintendent of the large Sunday school of the church in Duluth."

Mr. Miller achieved quite an enviable reputation as an athlete in school and college, and it is expected that he will arouse a good deal of interest in athletics in connection with his work for the First church, for he will have charge of the social center and Boy Scout work, which will be among the departmental work that the church trustees propose to develop. Mr. Miller served in the Wallace Guards of the Baldwin-Wallace college near Cleveland, and when he finished, in his third year, was second lieutenant. This experience is expected to be of importance in connection with the organization of a Boy Scout patrol, which the church proposes. Mr. Miller's athletic reputation was connected chiefly with basketball and baseball while in college.

There is not another place on the continent that can be enjoyed by the big game hunter so much as the Northern Lake country. Stepping off the Duluth & Iron Range train at Tower, which is only four hours' ride from Duluth and over one of the best roadbeds in the world, you face one of the most magnificent bodies of water to be found anywhere, having a shore line of over 800 miles and spotted with over 350 islands and where hundreds of miles of unexplored territory lie before you, where good fishing is a certainty and big game wonderfully numerous. Here you can rub shoulders with the largest wild animals in America. It is a true wilderness—go as far as you like, there is nothing wilder. It is the same forest of pine that reaches in an unbroken belt to the Canadian border. Within this splendid wilderness of rock and forest, threading it from end to end, is a system of clear water lakes and rivers without rival on our continent; and here in the valleys, on the hilltops and in the grassy bays, with an instinct for protection, the moose has taken up his permanent abode. There are deer, bear and all the fur bearing animals of the forest, but the moose so greatly outnumbers them that he seems to have appropriated the region entirely. It is the land of big game—the last in the Middle West and, at the present time, in all the United States there is but one sportsman's paradise and that is Lake Vermilion and its environs. Good duck and partridge hunting is also to be had. Well-informed guides can be engaged by applying at the City Ticket Office, D. & I. R. R., 410 West Superior street.

Gospel Hall.

At Gospel hall, 19 First avenue west, there will be preaching tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A. N. O'Brien of this city will conduct the meeting. There will also be gospel meetings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week at 8 o'clock, Mr. O'Brien preaching.

WAR PRISONERS IN HOLLAND

Camps and Activities of Interned Soldiers.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER,
Secretary, American Peace Society.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

More than 35,000 soldiers of three nationalities—Belgian, German and English—have fallen from the skies or have been driven across the frontier into Dutch territory since the outbreak of the European war. For the present Belgian soldiers there are two types of camps. In one, of which Harderwyk with its 13,000 men may serve as an example, the administration is entirely in the hands of Dutch officers with Gen. H. Loke at the head; in camps of the other type, as at Oldebroek, there is a system of self-government, the Dutch commandant merely supervising.

Life inside the camp is by no means dull. The big circus tent at Harderwyk hints at one form of amusement. Bowling alleys with "homemade" pins furnish another. Then there is shot putting, and discus throwing, and boxing. The camp also includes a moving picture theater and a vaudeville house, in which performances are given about three times a week, partly by outside performers, but more frequently by home talent.

Wives, Mothers and Sweethearts.

Even feminine company is not wanting. Nunspeet, a Belgian refugee camp is near Harderwyk, and the wives, mothers and sweethearts of the interned soldiers are allowed in the camp between 8:30 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. At Oldebroek, where there are 3,300 soldiers, the Dutch government has erected barracks for the wives and children of the soldiers immediately outside the camp, and during certain hours the families are allowed to roam about by themselves in the neighboring woods and fields.

The living accommodations at the camps consist of barracks of rough timber housing about 200 soldiers each. A camp bed, folded back during the day, is constructed of boards. Adjacent to the barracks are washing rooms with running hot and cold water. In addition, there is usually a spacious bathhouse with hundreds of showerbaths.

The camp at Harderwyk enjoys the distinction of harboring a hundred professors, who in better days, lectured at Brussels, Ghent, Antwerp and other Belgian seats of learning. I observed many a professor throwing himself whole-heartedly into the task of teaching elementary geometry, astronomy or agriculture, yes, even the mysteries of the alphabet. At Oldebroek, a special effort is now being made to provide vocational education.

Amateurs in Art.

The German camp is in general similar to the Belgian both in equipment and activities. A dilettante artist and sculptor was among those interned. He was forthwith dubbed "Herr professor," and pressed into service to teach the others how to draw portraits of Hindenburg (every barrack had at least one picture of this popular idol), and how to carve wooden objects of art.

A German without music is almost unthinkable. It was not long before a phonograph arrived from Germany, and a Bergen resident loaned her piano. This is not all. It so happens that the wife of the burgemaster of Bergen is a German woman. Frau Van Reenen will never be forgotten by these sons of the Fatherland. From time to time she arranges for out-of-town musicians to furnish a program. She has also made it possible for the soldiers to attend chapel on Sundays where a pastor from Amsterdam preaches to them in their native language.

It is typical of the sympathetic nature of the Dutch that arrangements have been made for a number of wives of the married soldiers to come to Bergen as domestics. Their husbands are allowed to visit them, and in one case, when the arrival of a baby made it difficult for the mother to do the housework, a special permit was granted the soldier to come to the family daily from 8 in the morning until 7 in the evening and to perform the duties of nurse girl while his wife fulfilled her obligations.

By far the best appointed of the camps is that of the 1,500 British prisoners—mostly marines, with a fair sprinkling of Royal engineers — at Groningen. This need not cause surprise when it is remembered that the British subsidized the camp with 96,000 gulden (about $39,000) in addition to the money spent by the Dutch. The interned themselves admit that they are being spoiled by the amount of money and supplies from across the channel. "We smoke far more than is good for us," runs the general comment.

"Timber Town."

The exterior of the camps presents a finished appearance. The barracks are constructed like those for other nationalities, to be sure, but at Groningen the coat of green and white paint gives this "timber town," as the English "navvy" fondly calls it, a more homelike appearance than have the other camps. Window boxes here and there and gardens throughout the camp add further to the comfort of the place. Even the shamrock is blooming before the mess of the Irish marines, who have as a matter of course been assigned to duty as cooks.

As might be expected, the English at once turned to sports as their principal diversion, or, as one of them put it, as "the brightest side of camp life." Chiefly through the instrumentality of the chaplain, himself an ardent sportsman, an athletic club, a boxing club, a class in gymnastics and a tennis club were formed. Through an arrangement with the Dutch government some 200 of the men are permitted to attend Dutch universities.

As in the other camps, the arts and crafts play an important part, the British government furnishing an unlimited supply of leather and fancy woods. Net-making has also been undertaken, and orders have already been received and executed for trawl and herring nets, hammocks, football and tennis nets and small string bags. A description of the life at Groningen would be incomplete without mention of the "Timber Town Follies"—amateur theatricals which afforded two jolly hours on three separate nights.

Thus the wonderful service which Holland has shouldered for non-combatants is extended to combatants who have been swept upon her soil. And what thanks does she receive for shouldering an obligation which she did nothing to incur? Said a Dutch officer of high rank to me: "Not long ago a Dutch vessel was held up by the British and all its cargo seized, not because it was contraband, but because it was a welcome source of supply to England. The empty boat was then released. On the way across the channel, it was torpedoed by the Germans. And now the British courts hold that, since the vessel would have been torpedoed anyway, England need not pay for the cargo!" This is but one of the many, many instances that show the sufferings of this innocent nation.

ENGLISH DESIGN IN STUCCO

The above house is designed for a large family and has been erected in the city of Duluth and proved to be a popular design. The color scheme for the exterior is an ivory colored stucco with a red roof, the blinds and sash being painted white. This is an example of what can be done with a long gable roof in place of the common dormer treatment. This building, including hot water heat and plumbing, can be erected in the city of Duluth for $6,000.00.

THIRD FALL FESTIVAL

Jackson Farmers' Club Has Big Plans for Next Week.

Agricultural and Industrial Exhibit on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday the third annual fall festival of the Jackson Farmers' club, one of the most progressive farmers' clubs in the state, will be held at the Jackson school, which is five miles out on the Pike lake road from Duluth Heights.

A few Duluthians went to the first fall festival of this club two years ago, and then began to sit up and take notice for the exhibit of agricultural products was enough to make anybody get interested. Then last year still more Duluthians went out to see the offerings at the festival and some of the Duluth firms had exhibits entered. The affair was a remarkable success.

Now the officers of the club declare that this year's exhibit will be far more pretentious and more Duluth firms will have exhibits at the school, so that the festival is taking on not only agricultural features but also is getting very strongly into the industrial exhibit class. It is expected that the attendance from Duluth will be much larger than ever before, and the Jackson farmers are anxious that it should be, for they are taking special pains to make this year's affair not only the best yet, but the forerunner of a standard exhibition which will be carried out along broader lines in future years, when the club will have obtained a building of its own.

Will Have Building.

That building, which will be used for exhibition purposes and also for a social center, is not far away. The club has purchased a tract of four and a half acres on which the building will be located, and on which the beginning of a fine baseball field has been laid out. On this field on Tuesday and Wednesday, quite a program of sporting events will be pulled off. A feature will be an old-fashioned horseshoe pitching contest, which is open to all, people who are city broke, kind and gentle, and shy farmers alike. There will also be a team-hitching contest at which some expert work is expected to be shown; and there are other things. It is possible, also, that Fred Ward's work farm baseball team will be seen in action, for Mr. Ward is one of the most enthusiastic of the group that is making the club a "go."

The best bread baked by the women of the community will be on exhibition and a prize will be offered for the masterpiece of the contest; and the judges are assured of good "eats." There will also be other contests of the kind, for which prizes are offered.

The agricultural exhibit, it is announced, will be the best that has yet been shown by the Jackson club, consisting of hay, clover, wheat, barley, oats, potatoes, cabbage and other garden truck and grains. The Kelley Hardware company and the Big Duluth Clothing company are among the exhibitors from Duluth.

DULUTH IS IN THE FRONT RANK AS AN EDUCATOR OF NEW CITIZENS

Federal Commissioner Lauds Supt. Denfeld and Local Workers—Uncle Sam Helping New Citizens to Earn Bread and Butter; Public Schools Are Co-operating.

Duluth is one of the foremost cities in the United States in its educational efforts in behalf of the foreigners seeking citizenship. There are now 1,000 foreigners taking work in the schools here, and the public school officials and instructors are lending every effort to make the work a still greater success.

This indorsement was given this city yesterday afternoon by Raymond F. Crist, deputy commissioner of naturalization, department of labor, Washington, D. C., who discussed the educational work being done for aliens here with Supt. R. E. Denfeld. Mr. Denfeld, he said, was one of the most progressive educators in this field in the country. Mr. Crist was accompanied by R. S. Colman, chief naturalization examiner of the district of Minnesota, whose headquarters are in St. Paul. Both of these officials conferred with R. E. Doe, local naturalization inspector.

In Work Many Years.

Mr. Crist has been engaged in the promotion of education for foreigners for many years, and is familiar with the movement from its beginning, about eight years ago, to the present time. He is now touring the United States in behalf of the work, making suggestions and helping to organize the schools. In his present tour Mr. Crist has visited Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Oakland, Seattle, Spokane, Salt Lake City and many other cities. Night schools for foreigners have been organized in all these cities.

"In addition to the 1,000 foreigners in the night schools here now," said Mr. Crist, "there are about 3,000 annually who petition and declare their intention to become citizens. All such candidates for citizenship are advised to take educational work, and it is impressed upon them that they can better meet the problem of life and become more able to earn a living if they secure proper mental training."

Every year there are about 100,000 aliens admitted to citizenship, Mr. Crist declares. Of this number only about 25,000 are qualified to assume the duties of citizenship. "It is our aim," he said, "to give the average foreigner two years of educational work. This should qualify him for the duties of life and the responsibilities of citizenship, and change him, from a helpless dependent, non-productive person to an independent, thinking and productive citizen. In other words he will be transferred from the liability side of the ledger to the asset side."

Becomes Independent.

In many cases, says Mr. Crist, the foreigner has suddenly been transferred from a servile position in the Old Country to that of an independent citizen in America. It is the aim of the United States to help him realize the advantages of his new position and to appreciate and be the gainer thereby.

The government does not confine itself entirely to young foreigners or to men. Parents of prospective citizens are often taken into the night classes and in some large cities, half the students are women.

After foreigners have finished the regular courses of study the Federal officials attempt to secure the student a position. Federal, state and local employment agents are asked to cooperate, and preference is shown to the foreigners who tries to qualify to meet the demands of citizenship.

Schools Kept in Touch.

The schools of every city are kept in touch with the newly acquired citizens. The naturalization courts all over the United States send in the names to the department of labor and they are then forwarded to the school officials. No effort is being made any longer to secure the names of foreigners who do not seek citizenship papers.

Mr. Crist is spending today in Hibbing and Virginia, and from the range he will go to St. Paul tomorrow.

Heavy Storm in Michigan.

Detroit, Sept. 11.—A terrific electrical storm swept over Western and Southern Michigan yesterday afternoon. Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Jackson received the brunt of the rain, hail, wind and lightning, and heavy damage was done. At Jackson the hail destroyed greenhouses and smashed windows all over the city. Many orchards were wiped out.

PLAN $75,000 LODGE HOME

George W. Atmore Makes Formal Announcement for Knights of Columbus.

State Deputy Will Help in Initiating Eighty Candidates.

Early next year a $75,000 lodge building will be erected on Second street, between Second and Third avenues west, by Duluth council, No. 447, Knights of Columbus.

This announcement was made by George W. Atmore, grand knight of the council, following the annual business meeting and election held last evening at the K. of C. hall. Mr. Atmore was re-elected for the next year and placed in charge of the committee to raise funds for the proposed building and its erection early next spring. The structure will contain a gymnasium and swimming pool, in addition to lodge rooms and an assembly hall, according to Mr. Atmore.

John A. Burns, state deputy, arrived from St. Paul last evening with a degree team and tomorrow a class of eighty candidates will be initiated under his direction. The work will begin at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, ending with a dinner at the Spalding hotel at the conclusion of the initiation.

The officers elected last evening follow: Grand knight, George W. Atmore; deputy grand knight, M. C. Holohan; chancellor, J. R. McKinnon; recording secretary, J. E. Mannheim; financial secretary, John Phelan; treasurer, John H. Murray; advocate, T. J. Joyce; warden, P. Voloshik; inside guard, A. L. Erickson; outside guard, M. J. Cronin; trustee, J. F. McKenna.

WILL OPEN AS THE ORPHEUM-STRAND

On Monday evening, Sept. 20, the Orpheum theater will become the Orpheum-Strand, and house the exclusive motion picture productions of the Strand theater company.

There will be no turning back. Under no circumstances will the Orpheum-Strand revert to the varieties it is claimed.

Formerly the installation of pictures in a house devoted to vaudeville or the legitimate drama was considered as a makeshift. Nowadays the reverse is the case. So excellent have become the productions sponsored by the Strand theater company, that a house bearing its trade mark may consider itself far in advance of those housing variety entertainment, declared a representative of the Strand theater company to The Herald this morning.

The Strand theaters, operated on a scale similar to that on which the Orpheum-Strand will be conducted, have been in operation in Chicago and New York for some time. Were it not for the fact that the Orpheum was available, the Strand people would have ultimately erected a playhouse suitable for their productions in this city. However, this would not have been an immediate venture as many other larger cities have not yet been taken with the Strand territory.

Population of New York.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The total population of New York state is 9,773,817, according to figures submitted to the constitutional convention by Secretary of State Hugo. New York city has 5,066,222, an increase of 300,661 in five years.

GOVERNOR HAMMOND'S PRACTICAL MILITARY IDEA.

Apparently the possibility of war has been dinged into American ears so hard and so long that a great many people have come to believe in it, and so there is much talk of preparedness.

It isn't at all clear who the war is to be with, what it is to be about or why it is to happen, and for our part we do not believe that there is going to be any war. The war in Europe is going to leave every nation involved so breathless and spent that for many years not one of them will think of war with anybody. Yet that is academic and possibly useless in view of the seeming fact that the people at large have swallowed the superstition that we must prepare for war.

If we are going to prepare for war, we should be practical and business-like about it. The preparation should be wholly for defense, and not at all for offense. We cannot afford to have any considerable proportion of our manhood tied up uselessly in standing armies, so we must arrange some way to have soldiers ready in case of need, but kept at the pursuits of peace so long as they are not needed.

Governor Hammond, talking to the house of governors in Boston recently, brought forth what looks like a very practical way to provide material for the army we may possibly need some time without interrupting in any way the processes of peace.

He pointed out that in the old days every American was a good shot, familiar with handling a gun. When trouble came, the citizen simply reached up for the gun over the fire place, filled his ammunition pouches, and joined his fellows, ready for the business at hand.

Nowadays, hardly anybody knows anything about handling a gun. Some know shotguns, and some know hunting rifles. Nobody knows the modern army rifle or the machine gun.

Governor Hammond's idea is to have the members of fraternal societies taught the elements of soldiering, including drill and the use of the gun, so that if trouble comes there will be a large body of men able to do as their great-grandfathers did at Lexington and Concord—reach up for the gun over the fireplace and get busy.

In the fraternal societies there are several millions of young men of military age, fit for cannon fodder. Many if not most of the fraternals have some sort of drill. Governor Hammond would have these societies all adopt the military drill, and would have the government equip them with standard army rifles. Each society would drill its members as a company. Every summer the societies of a neighborhood would join in a summer camp, to learn military movements in battalion, regimental and brigade formation and to take up trench-making, scouting, sham fights, signaling and the like.

Thus, in a relatively short time, a large body of men would be more than half-prepared for military service. They would be next to the national guard in readiness.

Governor Hammond believes, too, that this opportunity would stimulate applications for membership in the fraternal organizations offering it as a part of their exercises, and would stimulate attendance at regular meetings. If that view is correct, it would help the fraternal organizations, while offering the country a splendid body of partially prepared volunteers.

If the councils of militarism are to prevail and this country is to prepare itself for a mythical war, surely this is a practical suggestion, original with Governor Hammond, which the country will do well to consider seriously.

The question naturally arises, what if America had been making this ammunition for her own defense against the ambassador's country?

BATHING SUITS AND CONVENTION.

Discussing the fact that some women in this country have lately taken to a style of bathing suit more marked for comfort and convenience than for that modesty which we in this country used to expect from our women, Life says:

> Bathing suits are purely matters of convention. The single-piece suits without stockings that women wear in European waters seem to answer the purposes of propriety quite as well as ours, and relieve the strain on the imagination by leaving less to it.

That's probably true. Bathing suits doubtless are purely matters of convention.

Convention in this country up to lately dictated that women engaged in bathing should effect a reasonable concealment of their persons. Convention at Ostend and other European bathing places made no such dictation, and as Life says, the accepted costumes there "relieved the strain on the imagination by leaving less to it." In point of fact they relieved the strain on the imagination almost entirely by leaving almost nothing to it; and apparently we are tending that way in this country.

But if bathing suit styles are matters of convention, so, if you come down to that, is clothing.

There are places in the interior of Africa and elsewhere where convention—the child, there, of convenience—dictates no clothes at all; and it is said that these naked savages are quite modest and moral. It is only when civilization brings new conventions and new ideas that these savages grow clothed and immoral.

But that's rather a dangerous line of logic to set out upon, isn't it, Life? Where are you going to draw the line if you simply stand on the unquestionable truth that clothes are matters of convention?

If, we having adopted that line of logic and thereby aided and abetted our women in assuming the simple and unaffected bathing costume of Ostend, women choose to appear on Broadway or Superior street—in suitably warm weather, of course—clad only in—well, hardly anything at all, what have we left to say when they tell us that "clothing is only a matter of convention, anyway?"

Now that Nicholas has succeeded Nicholas in the command of Russia's armies, maybe we are at last to see the answer to that old conundrum about what's in a name.

A DIFFICULT CUSTOMER.

There can be no disguising the fact that the German note on the Arabic case is bitterly disappointing. Heralded by von Bernstorff as a "complete satisfaction," it is a bitter pill that it is asking too much for this country to swallow, and there is small probability that it will be swallowed.

Those who said, when the Germans talked of "complete satisfaction," that the German idea of what would be satisfactory might prove very different from our idea, now have their inning.

When the advance hints of the German note included talk of arbitration, it was presumed that this meant arbitration of the question of indemnity, involving not the general principle at all but simply the facts surrounding this particular case. When the complete note is in hand, this is discovered to be a proposal to arbitrate the whole principle, with this amazing restriction: "It is assumed, as a matter of course, that the arbitral decision should not be admitted to have the importance of a general decision on the permissibility or the converse under international law of German submarine warfare."

In other words, we are to submit the whole discussion to arbitration, without any assurance of civilized behavior meanwhile, with the understanding that Germany isn't to be bound by the result!

There is a curious sequence of events to be noted in this connection, whether or not there is any relationship between the events. First came profuse assurances from Germany that her response would be completely satisfactory. Next came a tentative attempt to have this country seek peace in Europe, at a time when peace meant a German victory. Then, following this country's wise refusal to intervene in the interest of peace until both sides wish it to do so, comes this German note so strangely out of harmony with what was promised.

If this country finds it necessary to break off relations with the courts of the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs, it will be because they have made the relationship utterly impossible.

There is vague talk of a supplementary note from Germany. Certainly another note, of a very different character, is needed to clear up this irritating situation.

Ex-Senator Joe Bailey of Texas seems to have a hunch that the song, "Won't You Come Back, Bill Bailey," was aimed directly at him.

GRIM POSSIBILITIES FOR EUROPE AFTER THE WAR.

When peace comes at last to afflicted Europe, it is wholly improbable that the rulers of the belligerent nations will hail it with the unmixed relief that will be felt by the masses of the people.

Those who begin a war start a train of catastrophe that does not soon end; and it may easily be that Europe's worst troubles will come after the war is over.

Everybody realizes, of course, that the financial burden will be enormous, because it is already enormous and it grows heavier every day—not only grows heavier, but at an increasing ratio.

Not everybody, though, seems to have realized the possibilities for trouble that lie concealed behind the fact that every nation will emerge from the war with an almost intolerable burden of debt and war expense.

Besides the interest on the war debt, there will be other burdens. What of the millions of cripples the war has sent home? Are they to be left to shift for themselves, or are they to be adequately pensioned? And if they are pensioned adequately, what a bill it will be!

A financial writer—John M. Oskison in the Chicago News—points out vividly the rapid approach of the warring nations to the danger point in war finances. Europe is used to doing business on a gold basis—that is, to having in hand a stock of gold great enough to redeem a large percentage of its exchangeable notes. Before the war Russia actually had more gold than notes. England had as much gold as she had paper. Germany had gold to the amount of $330,000,000 backing notes to the amount of $400,000,000, and the proportion of gold to notes in France was about eight to eleven. All together, these countries had gold amounting to about 82 per cent of their outstanding notes.

"In the months of fighting the gold 'cover' on hand for the notes issued has been very slightly increased, while the amount of notes put out has increased 123 per cent," says Mr. Oskison. "Now, these countries together could redeem only about 43 per cent of their notes in gold. * * *

If the depositors of some $2,500,000,000 in the government banks of the warring countries should demand gold these countries would be still further hampered. For every $8 of demands, in that case, the combined governments would have only about $2.35 of gold to meet them."

This situation will be worse before it is better—far worse.

Back of this abstract situation are menacing possibilities. How are Europe's debt problems to be settled after the war? Thus, in all probability:

In the hampering of credit for merchants.

In wholesale reductions of wages.

In a rapid rise of prices due to a gold famine.

A threatening discontent, feeding the flames of revolt, lurks in every one of these possibilities.

Even before the war, the life of the ordinary man in Europe was no bed of roses, no lap of luxury.

Even before the war there was discontent, waxing bitterness, a rising tide of threats aimed at those in power.

Indeed, it is almost beyond doubt that the willingness of some rulers to go to war lay largely in the consciousness that war would distract the attention of the agitators from domestic problems.

But how is it to be after the war, when these domestic problems, aggravated a hundredfold, return to plague organized society? How is it to be when commercial and industrial operations that give employment are hampered by lack of credit—when wages are going down—when prices are going up—when the problem of existence, intricate and distressing though it was before the war, becomes ten times more intricate and ten times more distressing?

Men who had little to lose and much to hope by revolt will then have still less to lose, if not more to hope.

The danger is that the reign of poverty that will almost certainly follow the war will result as reigns of poverty usually have resulted—in revolution, turmoil, anarchy. Out of the ruins there may come a newly organized society on a basis of democracy, the ideal toward which progress is painfully impelling the world.

The autocracies and aristocracies that created the war may be destroyed by the terrible jinn they summoned into awful existence.

Europe may, indeed, be compelled to turn for protection to the very organized forces of democracy it was fighting before war levelled all, and built a new and more terrible world on the ruins of the old.

Roasting ears will all too soon give way to freezing ears.

THE MATERIALS OF CITIZENSHIP.

The success and well-being of a democracy, of course, depend wholly upon the intelligence and education and public spirit of its citizenship.

One good citizen strengthens it so much. One bad citizen weakens it so much.

Some of the material making up American citizenship, though potentially good, is a source of weakness because it lacks knowledge of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

Though not all of this weaker material by any means is of foreign birth, there is a prospect of much good in the work that is being conducted by the Federal bureau of naturalization for the better preparation for American citizenship of those who seek it through the naturalization courts. The public schools and newspapers, periodicals and books are supposed to take care of the preparation of the native-born; up to lately nobody paid much attention to the preparation of the foreign-born. Not so very long ago immigrants were hustled into citizenship, even solicited into citizenship, so that politicians could use their votes; and even the courts fostered this shameful practice. Even now many judges are inexcusably careless in their guardianship of the gate of citizenship; but if the work now being carried on under the direction of the Federal bureau of naturalization receives the co-operation it should get, the courts will be deprived of any excuse whatever for careless administration of this vitally important but much neglected function.

This work, described elsewhere in The Herald tonight by Raymond F. Crist, deputy commissioner of naturalization, is of the highest possible importance. It should have the fullest possible support from the nation, the state, the community and the citizen. It will be welcomed, we are sure, by the deserving applicants for citizenship. It will help them, and it will help us by filtering a little clearer the stream of new citizens that is going into the melting-pot. It will, moreover, help the work of that melting-pot, and goodness knows there have been recent evidences enough that the melting-pot is working none too well, and needs all the help it can be given.

Odd what a close kinship there is between the pinhead and the sorehead.

A LESSON IN THRIFT.

> Buy a gallon of———whisky and turn it over to your wife. Do all your drinking at home. Every time you take a drink, pay your wife fifteen cents.
>
> When the first gallon is gone, your wife will have six dollars to put in the bank and four dollars to buy a new supply, each gallon averaging sixty-nine drinks.
>
> In ten years your wife will own a fine automobile and you will be taking a trip to Europe.

That's worth thinking about, Mr. Moderate Drinker. Suppose you take three drinks a day, which for a man who calls himself a moderate drinker is a modest allowance, though taken every day it is enough to make life insurance actuaries look upon you with a suspicious eye. That's forty-five cents a day for your wife's saloon business.

Forty-five cents a day is $3.15 a week and $163.80 a year.

Put at interest in the savings bank and compounded, or invested in sound dividend-paying stocks—you can buy from one share up, on the instalment plan if you wish—at the end of ten years your wife will have a nice little nest-egg.

But there's a better way.

Suppose you figure out about how many drinks you are in the habit of taking each day. Then suppose you get one of those cute little banks the savings banks give out. Then suppose that every day, instead of putting your fifteen cents, your forty-five cents or your dollar and a half over the bar, you slip it into that little bank. Suppose that once a month your wife takes the little bank down to the savings bank, has its contents counted up and deposited to her account, and thus starts the money at work earning interest. Suppose every time you get the price of a share of good stock or a baby bond, you buy one. Suppose you get so interested that every little while you chuck an extra nickel or dime or quarter or dollar into the little bank.

You'll be money ahead, of course. You'll soon be a bondholder or a stockholder; for it does not need millions to be either of those.

Better still, you'll sleep better, eat better, live better, feel better, be better.

Why not try it?

Meanwhile the European taxpayers simultaneously cipher the war debt and sigh f'r peace.

CARRANZA BLOCKS THE WAY.

General Carranza's reply to the invitation of the Pan-American diplomats to join the other Mexican leaders in arranging peace and order in Mexico is a flat refusal. He says he cannot consent "that the internal affairs of the republic be handled by mediation or by the initiative of any foreign government."

That is to say, Mexico is unable to help herself, Carranza is unable to help her, and yet nobody else may offer a suggestion, no matter how wise and sound it may be.

This means simply that Carranza puts his own interest higher than Mexico's, and that even such raw, uncouth and barbarous leaders as Villa and Zapata have outdone him in patriotism.

Apparently there are several things wrong with Carranza besides his whiskers.

POLITICS AND RELIGION.

"There is one thing," says the Ashland, Kentucky, Independent, "that religion has not paid enough attention to, and that is politics. Not that the church should involve itself for one party or the other, but that each individual member should become thoroughly interested in public affairs and take in the instrumentalities adopted for their direction."

Though no church as an organization should take an active part in party politics—and we know of no church that is doing that sort of thing—the individual who professes religion most assuredly ought to get out of his religion an inspiration to better citizenship.

For religion, after all, is not the mere formalism of church-going or hymn-singing or prayer-saying. These form the mere shell of religion; and when they are all, the shell is empty.

Real religion surely ought to express itself in conduct, and one of its highest forms of expression ought to be a sound citizenship.

The good citizen, whether it is religion or mere patriotism that inspires him, ought to be worthy of a democracy; and no citizen is worthy of a democracy who does not achieve a full and intelligent participation in public affairs.

If he is a party man, the good citizen attends every primary, votes at every election. He helps his party select the best available men for public office, and he helps direct his party's policies toward the highest aspirations for human well-being. At the election he votes not primarily for party welfare, but primarily for the welfare of country, state and community.

Your good citizen is not likely to be a very strong partisan—not the kind of partisan who will stomach any policy and swallow any candidate merely because policy or candidate bears the party label. He is likely to have the good sense to see that he serves his party and his country best who insists that his party shall be invariably loyal to the public welfare, and who will join in rebuking it by defeat when it strays from the straight and narrow path of political virtue.

Putting the church into politics is a very different thing from making the church and the religion it inculcates an inspiration to good citizenship. The best religion expresses itself not only in moral conduct but in sound public-spirited citizenship. To that extent the church ought to be a vital factor in the public affairs of a democracy.

But She Didn't Do It.

Kansas City Star: A concert in aid of the fund for something or other had been arranged in the village schoolroom, and all the local "stars" were booked to appear. The favorite soprano, before she appeared to sing, apologized for her cold. Then she started: "I'll hang my harp on a willow tree-e-ahum—on a willow tree-e-e-e—oh—" Her voice broke on the high note each time. Then a voice came from the back of the hall: "Try 'anging it on a lower branch, miss."

A Good Chance.

Philadelphia Ledger: "So you honestly think you have the smartest boy on earth?"

"Maybe he isn't yet; but he will be if he keeps on making me answer all the questions he can think up."

Sinful Smokers.

Dangerous and nasty practices, spitting on sidewalks and such, have been legislated against and rather thoroughly stopped, though a few years ago such rules as have been made would have been deemed unendurable, a curtailment of the personal rights guaranteed to us under the Constitution. We've grown. We realize that however much we might care to do so we can't make nuisances of ourselves—in some lines—to our fellows.

Well, why not go a step farther and put a bit of a check on our smokers who, most of us, are not only disregardful of the niceties of life, the sacredness of the other fellow's property, but are a veritable menace to both life and property?

The average smoker is altogether too indifferent as to where he scratches matches. He scrapes them with perfect impartiality upon marble walls, beautiful door jambs, expensive bronze work of stores or public buildings or upon a brand new automobile that happens to be in his way. Then he nonchalantly throws the match away, perhaps in a waste paper basket, or on an awning, down a cellar way, always carelessly, and sometimes one would think with malice aforethought, a fiendish intent to see if he can't start something, especially a fire.

The scratching of matches any old place certainly leaves its unsightly marks, a real damage to valuable property, and the throwing of lighted matches, cigar ends, cigarette and pipe ashes around in that free and easy manner that denotes the real independence of American manhood has had its toll of human life and the destruction of valuable property. Our fire losses average something like $230,000,000 a year. Most of that loss is attributable to carelessness, American indifference. It is seven, eight, ten and more times the loss any other country submits to by fire—in normal times. The losses have been classified. It took time and patience, but we did it. Our figures extend over a period of twenty-two years. The general public imagines that electric wires and leaky gas fixtures and lightning cause most or much of our fire damage. The fact is that cigarettes alone have caused more fires than all those causes put together. Children playing with matches do a deal of damage, $310,000 worth a year, but men with scattered matches and other careless smokers' tricks are responsible for $16,000,000 of fire loss a year.

Isn't it time our festive smokers were curbed a bit in some of their liberties, just pro bono publico?

Daily Strength and Cheer.

"Therefore, being by the right hand of God exalted, He hath shed forth this, which ye now see and hear.—Acts ii, 33.

Blest Son of Man, Thy gladness has become what Thy grief could not become—contagious. There were few that could watch with Thee in Thy depression, but Thy lifting up has drawn all men unto Thee. Thy transfiguration has glorified Thy lifelong death which was completed at Jerusalem; it has ennobled sorrow; it has made the cross divine. The invitation is irresistible when it says, "Enter into the joy of thy Lord." It is from Thine exalted heart that Thy Spirit flows.

"Search me, O God, and know my heart."—Psalm cxxxix, 23.

O Thou Divine Spirit, cleanse me from the deceit of my own heart. Reveal to me that the majesty of truth is seated, not without, but within; reveal to me that it is not enough that my charity should say no evil; it must not keep back the good. Lift me above that spirit of detraction which fears to strike but has not the grace to succor. Raise me above the meanness that keeps back the price of justice from an injured foe. I shall be as transparent as the day when I have spoken the truth to Thee.—From "Day Unto Day."

Kingdoms.

Kings of a hundred Dreadnaughts, ruling the Seven Seas—
Parked artillery, powder and steel—shall ye endure by these Keeping an armed lordship of earth whereso your sentries stand?
What are Akkad and Assur now? Shards, in the drifting sand!

Kings of a thousand forges, kings of ten thousand men
Liner and limited, shuttlewise thrown, from port unto seaport again,
Weaving a web of infinite threads, giants of hand and of brain—
Where are the galleys Phenicia sailed? Ooze, in a desolate main!

Kings of the soul's out-searchings, kings of the far ideal—
Poets, philosophers, prophets—the Christ—lifting men nearer the Real—
Not unto dust as the war lords go, not as the lords of greed
But rising forever from life to life—Kings and Messiahs indeed!

Scriptural.

H. C. C. in the Medical Pickwick: The college boys played a mean trick on "Prexy" by pasting some of the leaves of his Bible together. He rose to read the morning lesson, which should have been as follows:

"Now Jehial took unto himself a wife of the daughters of Belial." (He turned a leaf). "She was eighteen cubits in height and ten cubits in breath." (A pause, and careful scrutiny of the former page).

He resumed: "Now Jehial took unto himself a wife," etc. (Leaf turned). "She was eighteen cubits in height and ten cubits in breadth, and was pitched within and without——" (Painful pause and sounds of subdued mirth). "Prexy" turns back again in perplexity.

"Young gentlemen, I can only add that 'Man is fearfully and wonderfully made'—and woman also."

It Would Do.

Philadelphia Bulletin: Henry Ford, congratulated in Detroit on his splendid movement for the cure of drug fiends, smiled and said:

"We now know that drug fiends are curable. It was wrong in the past to deem the drug fiend as hopeless as the baldhead.

"Once a man who was fast growing bald said to his doctor:

"'My hair is coming out. Please give me something to keep it in.'

"'Well,' said the doctor, 'here's an old pill box. Will that do?'"

Business Must Be Good.

Kansas City Star: Mick and Pat went up to London together, and as they strolled down one of the streets Pat noticed a shop which a solicitor had taken temporarily while his offices were being repaired. As there was nothing in the windows, Pat went inside to inquire the reason. He saw two clerks sitting on their high stools busily writing.

"I say," said Pat, "what do you sell here? You have nothing in the window."

"Oh," said one of the clerks with a smile, "we sell monkeys here."

"Well, then," returned Pat, "you must be doing a roaring trade—only two of you left."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

Today there was filed in the office of the register of deeds the charter of the Duluth & Northwestern railway. The incorporators, who are the directors, are Leonidas Merritt, Alfred Merritt, A. R. Merritt, John E. Merritt and L. F. Merritt. Alfred Merritt, who was president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, is president of the new company, Andrus R. Merritt is vice president, and Leonidas Merritt is secretary and treasurer. A. A. Harris & Son are the road's attorneys. The road is run from Duluth to the Mesaba range and beyond, and the line is surveyed and located almost to the Cloquet river. The preliminary survey from that point to the range is almost completed. Ore docks will be built on the St. Louis river. Outside capital has been interested, and the Merritts have every assurance that money to build the road will be forthcoming.

The whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus, which arrived here this afternoon, made a profit of nearly $50,000 by her season's work carrying passengers between Chicago and Milwaukee.

W. H. Murray, who for several years has been in charge of the North American wire on the board of trade, died at his residence, 122 Third avenue west, this afternoon from a complication of diseases following typhoid fever.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 62; maximum yesterday, 64; minimum yesterday, 55.

A "whistle signal code" is to be put into effect in Duluth by the weather bureau for the benefit of the vesselmen. The idea originated with Local Forecast Official James Kennedy and was indorsed by the chief of the bureau at Washington. The force and direction of expected winds will be indicated by the signals.

Miss Agnes Van Norman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Van Norman, and George A. Gray were married at the residence of the bride's parents, 331 East First street, last evening, Rev. C. H. Patton performing the ceremony.

Nine-tenths of an inch of rain fell this morning. It was the heaviest rainfall Duluth has known for a long time, and nearly every curb in the city overflowed and made trouble. The dam in the creek at Twelfth avenue west broke and sent a six-foot wave dashing down, and the pavement in the vicinity was washed out. The city hall basement and M. M. Gasser's basement were flooded. At Tenth avenue east and Superior street the paving blocks were floating around in a miniature lake.

The Revisions of God.

"So the last shall be first, and the first last," runs the Scripture. You have a picture of that readjustment of reputations that is coming by and by. Many mighty shall be pulled down from their seats and many humble exalted. There is to be a reversal of human judgments by "The God of things as they are." Surprises await us in the world of light.

The process of reversal often begins in this world. History is always correcting its first estimates. One age may set a character on high and crown his head with a diadem. After a long time has passed, the crown may tumble. Or a character despised in one century may be exalted in another. One day centuries ago, Jerusalem beheld a Roman magistrate upon his throne, a man clothed in semi-regal authority as representing the most powerful government in the world. In the eyes of the people, and in his own eyes, Pilate was a man of splendid pomp and circumstance.

Before the judge was a prisoner, leader of a small and despised sect, an agitator about to be led out to execution. That was what dwellers in old Jerusalem saw. We see the scene differently and know that it was the judge himself who really was on trial. Except for his connection with the Prisoner the world had never heard of Pilate or his court, or the chief priests with their fussy little Sanhedrin.

A man or an opinion must be tested by time. Distance lends not only enchantment but a certain integrity to the view. We get the effect of perspective. When Phidias modeled a head of Minerva for a Greek city the inhabitants exclaimed against its bold and rudely executed lines, but shouted their approval when the statue was lifted to the top of the pillar where it was to abide. Alcamenes, the rival sculptor, had delicately chiseled a head that looked well in the studio, but faded into indistinctness when viewed from afar.

We are too near some of the dwellers in our own time to appraise them at their real worth. Time will prove what is wheat in character and what is chaff. There are giants who will appear more like pygmies by and by. There are "statesmen," euphemistically so-called, who will be remembered, if at all, as peanut politicians. Others, neglected now, will come into their own with the passage of the years. Popular judgment is often temporarily mistaken, is often hard to change, but, in the long run, makes a few serious mistakes.

All of this, we may believe, is a hint of the revelations of the world to come; the world of absolute sincerity, the world where every sham and pretense is burned up in fire unquenchable. What unveiling of hidden motives is to be there, what allowance made for honest failure, what discounting of spurious success!

Wrong may, full oft, appear to triumph; it is useless to deny it. But the triumph is not forever. The books of this moral universe are not yet closed.

"Truth forever on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne,
Yet that scaffold sways the future, and behind the dim unknown,
Standeth God, within the shadow, keeping watch above his own."

If men could only believe that what a stiffening of moral backbones would ensue! They would then be able to take the long view. We are all so terribly under the domination of the present moment! We are so desperately afraid of not being popular with every Tom, Dick and Harry. Reputation at best is a fragile bubble. He is wise who stops worrying about the crowd and tries his best to stand well with the Almighty.

Resourceful Woman.

Philadelphia Bulletin: Dr. Dudley A. Sargent of Harvard holds that sex is no bar to military service—that a woman would make as good a soldier as a man.

Dr. Sargent, at a tea in Boston, said to a group of flattered, smiling girls:

"Why shouldn't you, indeed, make as good soldiers as men? Look how resourceful you are.

"I know a young fellow who said to a girl doubtfully:

"'I consulted a palmist last evening, and she told me I would marry a brunette within three months.'

"'Well, I can easily be a brunette by that time, Jack.'"

Savage Hunger.

New York Evening Post: Mary and Tommy had been to hear a missionary talk at Sunday school.

"Did he tell you about the poor heathen?" father inquired at the dinner table.

"Yes, sir," answered Mary. "He said that they were often hungry, and when they beat on their tum-tums it could be heard for miles."

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — The Boss Will Now Have a Quiet Night at Sea — By "HOP"

DRS. PENROSE AND PERKINS

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hon. Boies Penrose, at a dinner in Philadelphia some days ago, between the sherry and the champagne, most likely, disclosed a secret when he declared that at the next session of congress he intended to introduce a tariff bill providing reductions in certain schedules of the late unlamented Payne-Aldrich law and increases in the duties of other schedules of that monopolistic measure. Mr. Penrose is a senator in congress and it is admitted that his seat cost the party of "Great Moral Ideas" more than a million—boodle expended to secure his election, and at that he is a minority senator, for the combined vote for Palmer and Pinchot was greater than his.

It is possible that the Hon. Penrose has heard of an instrument called the Constitution of the United States, and he may have a vague idea of the importance of that document, but manifestly he is ignorant of the provision contained in clause 1, section 7, Article I, of our fundamental law, which stipulates that all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives.

It is well enough that the country should have warning that when the G. O. P. gets in power, if it does, it will set about a-tinkering with the tariff and that the Hon. Penrose will be boss of the job. On his broad shoulders the mantle of the late Nelson W. Aldrich is fallen. So let the "interests" get ready their several schedules. Boss Penrose intends to be on hand to jam them through, if the country goes Republican.

• • •

Then George W. Perkins, commissary general and financial angel of the Bull Moose party, warns his countrymen that if the present awful war "were to stop, Europe would flood this country with the products of cheap labor and great business depression would follow." Here is a Daniel come to judgment. All our sages—and fakirs—have been telling us how to conquer foreign markets, and Mr. Perkins is assured that all of them are in the dark, so he presents his scheme.

What is it? Here it is: To take captive a foreign market, first get into a bloody war and have nearly all your able-bodied male citizens killed or crippled, your cities and towns reduced to ruins, your lands devastated, your mines flooded with water, your factories razed to the ground, your taxes enormous, your debts tremendous. That is the fix Europe will be in at the end of this war, and then, Mr. Perkins opines, Europe will send her wares over here and sell them so cheap that we will all go to the poorhouse. He advises an increase of tariff taxes to avert this cock and bull calamity.

• • •

Touching tariff taxes Mr. Pekins and Mr. Penrose are in accord. It is worthy of citation that the Republican party elected two free-traders president of the United States. Neither, however, monkeyed with the tariff. Garfield died ere he wrote a single annual message, and Roosevelt, whose academic discussion of the subject in his writings coincides with the views of the late John G. Carlisle—Roosevelt was as silent as a basket of chips on the way to be burned, on the subject of the tariff all the days he was president.

There is a deal of clamor—and cant—about a non-partisan tariff commission. Such a commission is as impossible as it is nonsensical. Any man fit to make a tariff law has an opinion on the subject. He favors a tariff for revenue or he inclines to a tariff for protection. If you get any tariff at all from a commission one of these schools must dominate, and then it would not be non-partisan. So there is only one way to make a tariff and that is a congress-made tariff. Even if your commission made it, congress would have to ratify it, and you will never have a non-partisan congress.

The scheme looks fair and it serves its purpose, which is to pull the wool over the eyes of the unwary.

• • •

Here we are the most energetic, the most powerful, the most opulent people on earth. We produce more raw material and turn out more finished product than any other people. We have the highest wage and the cheapest labor on earth, 90 per cent of it machine, that consumes nothing but fuel, of which we have the most and the cheapest in the world.

And yet fakers like Perkins tell us that unless we make a prohibitive tariff a set of paupers, God knows whom, located God knows where, will send us to hopeless bankruptcy by selling us cheap goods. Why, if I had a 10-year-old son that didn't have more sense than that I'd set him to heaving coal and not allow him to chop logic.

• • •

The Penrose idea is the Republican idea, and it is this—a prohibitive tariff that gives the manufacturer a monopoly of the domestic market and the exportation of the manufacturer's surplus products to be sold to foreigners cheaper than to the American consumer. That is Aldrichism. That is Utopia. That is ideal. Make the manufacturer rich and he will take care of the poor. That is the Republican dogma touching the tariff.

Nobody but a knave will say, and nobody but a fool will believe, that the Underwood tariff has had a fair show. When it became a law the country had not yet recovered from the Roosevelt panic of 1907. Before it was one year old that horrible war came on that shut our trade completely out of Germany, one of our best customers, and depressed trade the world round.

The American people are as just as they are intelligent, and I am persuaded that they are resolved that the Democratic tariff shall have a trial in normal times.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

How a Man Hardens His Arteries

HARDENING of the arteries, unlike hardening of the heart, is a very popular affliction which we must all come to sooner or later, preferably later. A hard-hearted man enjoys nobody's sympathy, but a hard-arteried man merits at least a little friendly advice. He doesn't know where he is going, but he is on his way. What obstacles can we throw across his path?

Graham-Stewart, an English practitioner, suggests a few of the common factors of arterio sclerosis. He says habitual constipation, causing a chronic toxemia, or self-poisoning, is an important factor. Then he goes on to list more familiar causes: Too much meat, the use of alcohol as a beverage, too much work with too little sleep—or burning the candle at both ends, hurried eating, a habit of humdrum occupation without daily relaxation—or, in America at any rate, the year round hustle, broken only by the annual vacation, instead of a little relaxation every day.

Life insurance companies oppose the progress of arterio sclerosis in many a case by bringing home to the applicant the fact that he isn't so hale and hearty as his full blood and big appetite lead him to imagine. Every man over 30, whether interested in life insurance or not, ought, as a mere investment in health assurance, to submit to a complete physical examination regularly once a year, an examination as carefully made as any life insurance tes; an examination, moreover, which, unlike many life insurance examinations made for unprogressive companies, devotes much attention to the applicant's condition and none to the nature of the complaint his grandmothers died of. You know, a good, twentieth century life insurance company doesn't care a scratch of the examiner's pen what your grandparents died of, or whether you ever had any grandparents; but some companies still do delight in tracing back the family pedigree—for what reason, it is hard to say.

We are not opening the charter just now, but if there are any readers who have more weight than they care to carry around, and a blood-pressure a few pegs too high, and especially a tendency to "biliousness" now and then (which is a polite way of saying over-eating), with perhaps a wee bit pain in the epigastrium like you can't hold it—if any such there be, the Bread and Milk club will be glad to receive them into membership. The dues are very low—you pay nothing but close attention. The requirements for membership is exceedingly simple—you religiously confine yourself to a diet of bread and milk or crackers and milk one day in each week. Since the club was organized neither Dr. Osler, Horace Fletcher, Upton Sinclair nor any charter member has filed a tentative protest against the rules of the order.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ground Itch.

Johnny Reb asks what is good for ground itch.

Answer — Ground itch, the skin lesion which marks the entrance into the body of the hookworm, responds favorably to a solution of salicylic acid (15 grains) in alcohol (1 ounce) applied on cotton pledgets five minutes twice a day for several days.

Intestinal Indigestion.

My little girl, aged 4, has frequent attacks of what her grandmather calls "worms," but the doctor calls it intestinal indigestion. Will you please advise me about this?

Answer—Gladly, if you will furnish the stamped addressed envelope—we certainly are penurious.

Something We Can't Help.

Is Brady your real name? asks "A Fool at Forty." Isn't it too bad?—your articles are otherwise so instructive and interesting. But that Irish cognomen!

Answer—Somebody wished it on father and he handed it down to us.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Work Well Organized at End of Opening Week—First Class Meeting Planned for Monday—Work Begun on School Publications—Musical Clubs Active.

Central high school was unusually active during the first week of school just closed, and the returning students as well as the new members seemed to have been well settled yesterday. As usual there were a large number of program adjustments to be made by Principal Young, some requests being granted and others being refused. While there are a few more class and program adjustments to be made, the work of the opening days has been well taken care of, and within a few days the school will be running as smoothly as if there had been no break between this year and last. Real work has been begun in all of the classes, and already the students are looking forward to the first honor role.

The first class meeting of the year will be held Monday afternoon when the fourth year students will assemble to elect officers for the year and to do other business incidental to the opening of the year. It is urged that every member of the class attend the meeting, as arrangements for the last and most strenuous year of the entire school course will be made and the support of all members will be needed.

The position of president will be the most important office to be decided upon, as the class leader will have considerably more to do this year than ever before. Willard Thorp was the chief executive of the class last year, and because of his exceptional ability for the work, he looms up as one of the best candidates for the place again this year. Vice president, secretary and treasurer are the other three important positions to be filled, the latter one being unusually important because of the great expenses incident to the concluding year. The position of Zenith editor, which Jacob Garon now holds, was decided upon last spring.

• • •

Work on the Zenith, the school annual, has already been started, the first meeting of the year having been called for next Tuesday afternoon. The editor and board were decided upon last year and a great deal of work was done by them during the summer vacation. Arrangements for the make-up of the book have been completed by Editor Garon.

It is the determined plan of the members of the board to get out the best book that has ever been published at Central. With this end in view they have decided upon several novel changes from former customs, and a great many advantageous additions. The shape of the book will probably be changed, and an effort will be made to have it correspond as much as possible with any of the high class college annuals. With Clinton Brooks at the head of a large and industrious art corps, already at work, the book certainly will not be lacking artistically. More attention will be paid to a complete and correct athletic department, and the many other departments will all be properly cared for.

The price of the book probably will not be raised, but the management has obtained a permit from the board of education to add $1.20 to the expense limit of $1,200 for every book that is sold over 1,000.

The Gazette, which was published last year by the agricultural club and which rapidly spread to be practically a school paper, will be discontinued this year, and in its place there will be built up a permanent school paper. It will be "written up" and printed by a staff of school students and will be guided by the school English department with L. C. Rasey at the head. It is planned to make it cover the whole school thoroughly. The editorial staff will be considerably larger than that which ran the Gazette last year, probably with persons for each department. A meeting will be called in the near future to select the officers and work will be started immediately. The Gazette filled a long felt want at Central last year and became very popular with the students. The printing department will be continued again this year and the paper will be printed there.

Mrs. Dixon, head of the school music department, made the first call for the choir and glee clubs yesterday. She plans to have a large choir this year and one of which the students will be proud. She also has charge of the boys' and girls' glee clubs, organizations which, although in their infancy last year, proved extremely popular with the student body. There have been several positions in both of them left vacant by last year's graduations, and the first applicants will get the best opportunity to get into them.

A school orchestra was lacking last year, something which was rather unusual, and the students seemed to miss it. This year Mrs. Dixon has decided to have one of the best in the history of the school. Last week she issued the first call for candidates. Anyone who can play an instrument will be asked to report to her next Wednesday afternoon, when the initial arrangements for its organization will be made.

• • •

Out-of-town girls who wish to attend high school and who want to work for their board and room in homes after school hours will be given an opportunity next week. Miss Conlin, head of the girls' self-help committee, has asked that all girls desiring this kind of work, hand their names to her as soon as possible. This work proved especially beneficial last year, and many girls were helped to keep in school that way.

• • •

Many of the returning students missed the old lunchroom, formerly in the Washington building, but which was taken out last summer. If there is a sufficient demand for another one, arrangements for its installation will be made as soon as possible.

PART OF SHIPS PASS THROUGH THE CANAL

Panama, Sept. 11.—The channel of the Panama canal was sufficiently deepened yesterday at the scene of the new slide to permit seventeen of the fifty ships which were waiting in the canal or at the terminals to pass.

Providing there is no further slide, most of the other steamers will be passed through the waterway today. The present tieup is the biggest since the opening of the canal.

Nebraskan Back in New York.

New York, Sept. 11.—The American steamer Nebraskan, which was torpedoed and seriously damaged by a German submarine off Fastnet on May 25, last, arrived here in ballast late yesterday. She was in drydock at Liverpool for nearly three months, while repairs costing $150,000 were in progress.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES

The Duluth Normal school opened Tuesday, Sept. 7, with the register showing an enrollment of 300. This is the largest enrollment ever reported by the Duluth school. The junior class is the largest, having five divisions, when heretofore only four were necessary.

• • •

Miss Clare Shaver, a graduate of the Teachers' college, New York, and who taught art in the Central high school of this city last year, has succeeded Miss Effie Burch in the manual training and drawing department. She assumed her work at the beginning of the summer session in June this year.

• • •

Miss Della Smith of Duluth, a graduate of Wellesley college, will have charge of the new physical training department for the coming year. This is the first year this course has been offered and the students are looking forward to it with much enthusiasm. The work will include, along with regular gymnasium instruction, folk and festival dancing, basket ball, indoor baseball and other sports. The new gymnasium was built last year and will be fully equipped for use this year.

• • •

Miss Loudon of Moorhead has assumed the position of critic teacher in the fifth and sixth grades of the training department. She is a graduate of the Teachers' college, New York.

• • •

Miss Nina Nichola, formerly the critic teacher in the fifth and sixth grades visited school Friday, Sept. 10. She will study at the Chicago university the coming year.

• • •

Dr. L. W. Kline, instructor in psychology, left for International Falls Friday, where he will talk at the meeting of Teachers' Institute of Koochiching county, held in that city. Mrs. Kline took charge of his classes during his absence.

BIG CARGO OF TOYS COMES FROM GERMANY

New York, Sept. 11.—Forty-five hundred cases of toys, believed to be the first shipment of this kind to reach this country from Europe since the British order in council has been effective, arrived here yesterday aboard the Holland-American freighter Veenbergen from Rotterdam. The shipment was held up at Rotterdam with other goods destined from Austria and Germany to this country amounting, it had been estimated, to $167,000,000.

Great Britain, through the efforts of the foreign trade advisers of the state department at Washington recently announced its willingness to make some concessions in the enforcement of that portion of the order in council covering shipments of goods of German or Austrian origin, via neutral ports to the United States.

It is believed that this cargo of toys is only the forerunner of others that will be permitted to pass through the blockade to this country.

Is Assistant Attorney General.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 11.—Eugene Brosshard of Columbus, Wis., has been appointed assistant attorney general of Wisconsin, standing highest on the civil service eligible list and has assumed his duties.

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

EXPOSITIONS SHOWN IN MOTION PICTURES

Lyman H. Howe Will Show Charming Scenes at Lyceum Next Week.

Just as San Francisco's Panama-Pacific exposition is different from all previous world's fairs, so again is the Panama-California exposition at San Diego different from the Panama-Pacific. This diversity in detail will be clearly shown by Lyman H. Howe at the Lyceum theater all next week, with matinee tomorrow, Wednesday and Saturday, in a feature covering a journey through the Panama canal to both expositions. Every foot of these films was photographed by Mr. Howe's camera men exclusively for his own exhibition and cannot be seen at any other. The people of California and the nation's biggest men in art, architecture and sculpture have labored incessantly and at an expenditure of more than $50,000,000—by far the greatest sum ever spent in the creation of a world's fair—to make these celebrations as heroic and epochal as was the event itself—the completion of the Panama canal. How superbly they have succeeded is conclusively portrayed by Howe's films.

The San Diego exposition bears all of the absorbing quaintness of a fifteenth century walled city—a veritable fairyland comprising the architecture of Mexican cathedrals and the old Alhambra of Spain with a dash of the Moorish. Here, man and nature, working hand in hand, have wrought a picture of surpassing charm and beauty. Of the San Francisco exposition it may be said that it is a blaze of glory, and of that at San Diego that it is a radiant city of romantic days. Long after the buildings of each have dissolved like a dream, and the statues and symbols have disappeared, and the supremely harmonious buildings have fallen apart, the scenes perpetuated by Howe's films will linger in the memory. So compelling and so haunting in their beauty are these scenes that frequently spectators sigh with regret that so much enchanting loveliness should be so transient. And when the last foot of film has passed, it is as if there was laid aside a wonderful fairy book full of exquisite pictures, and one wishes almost unwittingly that the scenes just witnessed might come back in a dream. For they are dreamland expositions.

The current Lyman H. Howe program will also include many other new and diversified features.

Standing upon the deck of the latest United States submarine, spectators will see these much-discussed "U" boats plunging through the sea—now on the surface and again totally submerged with nothing visible by the tip of the periscope, but always plowing swiftly through the briny deep. These pictures were secured by Mr. Howe during the recent submarine maneuvers since his last engagement here.

Captivating portrait studies of "Young Holland" forms another feature, which for oddity, picturesqueness, and wondrous photography, is par excellence. This series also includes a film excursion to Bruges, in Belgium, where stately buildings of ancient glory are passed during a fascinating ride through deep canals and underneath quaint bridges which gave the city its name—Bruges.

It will be welcome news, too, that these animated caricatures, which are always such a pleasing and popular feature of Howe's exhibition, will be as much in evidence this time as ever before. As a demonstration of photographic cleverness and wholesome fun, they are in a class entirely by themselves. Equally welcome will be the announcement that in response to innumerable and insistent requests, Mr. Howe will make an exception to his rule relative to not repeating any film shown previously, and in this instance will give his patrons one more opportunity to smile, then laugh and finally scream at the antics of that king of babydom, entitled "Our Baby."

Fiske O'Hara Coming.

Fiske O'Hara will be seen in his new play, "Kilkenny," at the Lyceum Sept. 19 and 20. This is said to be the best play in which he has ever appeared. Augustus Pitou, Sr., is the author of the new piece, and his reputation as the producer of Irish dramas in which the late lamented William J. Scanlon and Chauncey Olcott met success and fortune, is a safe guarantee of the excellence of "Kilkenny," his latest effort.

Mr. O'Hara's new play is a comedy-drama filled with exciting incidents, genuine Irish wit and the daintiest of love stories. Incidental to the play, Mr. O'Hara will render a number of new ballads written especially for him, among them being "Girl of My Heart," "Contrary Mary Clary," "Ireland Is Ireland to Me," "Dear Mother Mine" and "That's What an Irishman Means."

Manager Pitou has surrounded his star with a cast of excellent players who comprise: Mabel Juline Scott, Marie Quinn, Mary Downs, Anna Nicholls, Lisle Bloodgood, Eliza Mason, W. T. Morgan, J. P. Sullivan, James Edwards, Henry Duffy, J. E. Miller and W. T. Sheehan.

NEW FILM BEAUTY WILL BE SEEN AT ZELDA

This is pretty Jane Novak in "A Little Brother of the Rich," the big feature with Hobart Bosworth and Hobart Henley playing the leading roles. Jane is also a newcomer in the Universal fold, but there is hardly a better-loved movie heroine than the lovely golden-haired miss. This frock is a Jenny model of black and white striped silk marquisette trimmed with black velvet ribbon and Chantilly lace. This is one of five beautiful frocks which Miss Novak wears in "A Little Brother of the Rich." This picture, by the way, is a film version of Joseph Medill Patterson's clever book of that name. "A Little Brother of the Rich" will be seen at the Zelda soon.

POPULAR SHOW AT NEW GRAND

Classy Vaudeville Bill and Charlie Chaplin Heads "Movie" Stars.

The current bill at the New Grand is one of those popular shows with just enough of comedy, heart-interest, and other ingredients to make it attractive to all. There will undoubtedly be large crowds for the remainder of the engagement.

Billy Doss, black-face comedian, is a master hand at entertaining. His act is full of clever jokes, tuneful songs and chatter, all making up an interesting conglomeration.

The Gordon boys and Miss Walton have a classy dancing and talking act with a lot of good clothes thrown in for each of the players.

Zeno, Gordon and Zeno have a novel acrobatic turn that is hard to excel in many particulars. Stein and Hume entertain with a lot of snappy parodies and comedy songs.

Charlie Chaplin in "Dough and Dynamite" is a scream and heads the picture stars. Helen Holmes appears in one of her stories of railroad life and the Hearst-Selig News shows many events of international interest.

Beginning with Monday's matinee there will be a new show. Norris' Baboons in a "Monkey Romance" head the vaudeville bill. These animals are remarkably well trained, and are almost human in intelligence. The Three Van Staats in an "Old Dutch Musicale" are a scream, and comedy reigns supreme in their act. Joe Daniels will appear in vaudeville eccentricities while Fren and Zell will present a classy singing and talking act.

GREEK PAGEANT AT CURLING CLUB

Planned for Entertainment of Delegates to Federation.

"Something new" is promised in the "Greek Pageant" to be given at the curling club on Friday, Sept. 24, matinee and night.

The program will be like a beautiful motion picture film, with a rapid succession of poses, dances, friezes and tableaux. But the dances are not mere dances; the poses are more than poses; the tableaux are all to be symbols of the master artists of Greece. But whether one has any thought beyond mere entertainment or not, the program is sure to please. A comprehensive libretto will tell the story of each dance, and a "herald" will proclaim the changes of scene, quite after the manner of Shakespeare.

The pageant is a big, democratic undertaking, at popular prices, and is planned as the society and entertainment feature of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs. More than 600 out-of-town visitors will be the guests of the pageant committee. Wonderful art boothes, a fall fashion show, a tea-shop, conducted by the women of the Baptist church, and a flower and fruit punch concession will be among the attractions.

The bright particular star of the pageant will be a Duluth girl, Miss Alice Sjoselius, whose home-coming the pageant will feautre. She comes direct from great honors abroad, to sing for her "home folks." She will be the goddess Patria, representing patriotism, in the final tableau of "Peace, Patriotism and Prosperity."

"SCANDAL" AT THE ZELDA.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Smalley Will Star in Universal Feature.

"Scandal" will be the attraction at the Zelda theater for this coming Monday and Tuesday.

"Scandal" is a Universal feature in five reels from the pen of Lois Weber, Mrs. Phillips Smalley and directed by Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Smalley, who also take the leading parts.

The story opens with the male gossips at the club gazing from the window and making comments on the passersby. Green, a member of the club lives in the apartment beneath that of William Wright, broker. Wright is in business difficulties but his business associates have not yet learned this as his wife's father has been promising financial help. Daisy Dean, right's stenographer, is in his confidence. Like most wives, Mrs. Wright is jealous of any woman associated with his husband in business. Daisy is injured in an accident to the elevator of the building. Mr. Wright takes her home in his car. As he passes the club window, the gossips and Green see him with Daisy and slander starts. Green, coming home, tells his wife of Wright's joy ride with his stenographer. Their servant overhears and quickly calls the news up the dumb-waiter to Mrs. Wright's maid in the flat above. Mrs. Wright hears the gossip and her slumbering jealousy is fanned into a flame.

In Daisy's neighborhood, her ride in Mr. Wright's car has occasioned some comment, especially from an old maid named Susan, whose brother, Robert, is in love with Daisy. Daisy is engaged to Austin Clark, who warns her that the slightest favor shown by her employer is liable to be misunderstood. The next day Mr. Wright tries a public stenographer, but realizing that he cannot risk publicity in his correspondence at this critical time, telephones Daisy, asking her if she could get to the office if he calls for her in his car, and takes her home when finished. Mrs. Wright notices that the stenographer always has a bunch of daisies on her desk. In the innocent fashion, Mr. Wright comes home with one of the flowers in his buttonhole, which gives his wife more food for silent misery. The fact that Daisy is seen morning and evening in Mr. Wright's car gives color to the lies that are now being circulated. Daisy and Austin quarrel. Mrs. Wright haunts Daisy's neighborhood in a taxicab and has her suspicion confirmed in the fact that her husband is seen outside. Whereupon she leaves him. The father withdraws his financial support and ruin overtakes Wright. In the morning the newspaper has an item which reads: "Wife of broker leaves him on eve of his bankruptcy. Mrs. Wright applies for divorce from her husband, naming his stenographer, Daisy Dean, as corespondent." By the time the gossips get through with Daisy Dean she is glad to marry Robert, for protection. On the day of her wedding, Austin repents his hastiness and writes that he has never ceased to love her, but it is too late, and Daisy hides the letter.

Wright broken-hearted and penniless, is saved from suicide by his old mother. The solution of the problem makes an interesting climax.

At the Sunbeam.

The New Sunbeam theater will offer during the coming week, beginning tomorrow, a high-class line of attractions. There will be four changes of program, each change offering several features of excellent merit.

For Sunday there will be the Western five-reel film, "In the Days of the Thundering Herd," which shows frontier scenes on the ranch of Pawnee Bill, who has one of the largest herds of buffalo in the world. Indians and whites in battle and an Indian massacre are among the noteworthy events pictured. Miss Anita Stewart and Earle Williams, the two Vitagraph stars, will appear in another installment of "The Goddess."

Monday and Tuesday the charming actress, Blanche Sweet, will be shown in a Biograph reissue entitled "The Last Drop of Water." "The Web of Crime," a two-reel Selig detective film play, and "Playing the Game," a two-part Vitagraph, will be featured. "The Northwest Weekly," showing local news events and the late fall styles in millinery will be an interesting attraction.

Friday and Saturday Ruth Roland and Henry King, two "movie" stars of sterling worth, will appear in the Pathe feature, "Who Pays?" This picture treats a series of soul-gripping life problems, the latest number of which is called "The Price of Fame."

Mary Fuller, one of the most admired actresses on the "movie" stage, will make her bow again in "What Happened to Mary." She is just as popular now as when she first appeared in this famous series of pictures. There will also be a very funny comedy with Heine and Louie.

On Sunday, Sept. 19, Miss Kathlyn Williams in "Hearts and Masks" will be one of the star features and on Thursday, Sept. 30, the six-reel film-drama, "The Battle of the Sexes," will be shown.

WILLIAM FARNUM AT REX.

Noted Actor Will Appear in Big Feature, "The Plunderer."

Edgar Lewis, William Farnum, the Fox Film corporation and the Rex management are proud of the big feature opening at the Rex today. It is "The Plunderer," starring William Farnum.

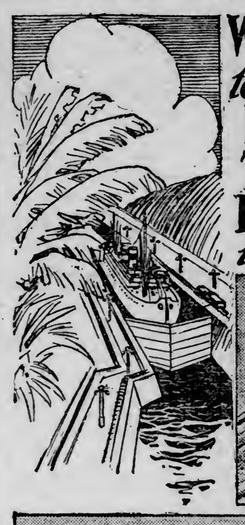

When New York's Hippodrome, seating 5,000, was built, a boast was made that it had the greatest auditorium on earth and that it would never be filled to capacity; but they had not counted on such plays as "The Plunderer" and such actors as William Farnum. For when "The Plunderer" with Farnum was shown at the Hippodrome in March, 150,000 people saw the picture and crowds were turned away with the promise of a return engagement. The week's receipts broke all records being $37,552, the largest taken in for one week during the history of the Hippodrome.

"The Plunderer" is a story of plain folks. Handsome "Bill" Farnum has a big part, and he handles it well. A pulse stirring battle with bare fists is shown, in which big Bill bests a score of drink-crazed miners in a fight, that for sheer thrills and heart-catching excitement has never been excelled, on stage or screen. "The Plunderer" is Mr. Farnum's best picture.

Winsome Marguerite Clark, light-hearted and loyable, will be at the Rex Wednesday and Thursday in her latest screen story, "Helene of the North," a Famous Player feature.

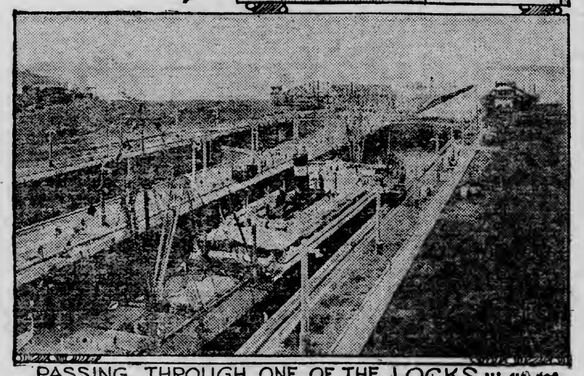

A complete surprise is in store for the admirers of Hazel Dawn, the captivating young society bud, when she appears at Rex Beautiful Friday and Saturday in "The Heart of Jennifer," a Famous Player production. James Kirkwood directed the drama, which in quite a measure, accounts for the surprising roles played by Miss Dawn.

You can leave the Rex any hour Friday and Saturday via Paramount Travel line for the "Land of Opportunity"—South America.

PASSING THROUGH ONE OF THE LOCKS

PASSING THROUGH CULEBRA CUT.

MISS BEULAH WALTON,
Of Gordon Boys and Walton, Now at the New Grand.

Lyceum Notes.

With his melodrama called "On Trial," Elmer L. Reizenstein succeeded in overturning the tradition that the incidents of a dramatic plot must be set forth in chronological succession. The popular reception of this play has made it plain that any playwright may henceforward safely venture to reveal a story backward, whenever, by so doing, he can increase the suspenses and the intensity of his narrative.

"On Trial" as offered at the Lyceum theater, seven night, beginning Sunday Sept 26 with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, will be presented by the same company of players and with the identical massive scenic production as were seen at the Cohan Grand Opera house, Chicago, for the last six months, under personal direction of Messrs. Cohan and Harris.

• • •

The action of "High Jinks," the musical farce which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Lyceum in October, has to do with an escapade at a French watering place. A doctor exchanges wives in order to protect himself from a jealous and revengeful Frenchman, who insists on kissing his wife because he kissed the Frenchman's wife. The kissing that caused all the trouble results from the effects of a magic perfume, which made every one who got a whiff of it hilarious.

Not satisfied with the great success she has made with her original creations of Oriental dances, Ruth St. Denis, the famous danse artiste, spends her time between seasons studying out new dance plays for her already extensive repertoire. She not only originates all her dances, but designs all the costuming, directs the staging of the production as well as the light effects, draws the designs for the scenery and selects the musical accompaniment for each new creation. She is coming to the Lyceum.

When Woodrow Wilson was running for the presidency three years ago, a party of newspaper reporters from New York, Philadelphia and Washington visited him in his home at Princeton, New Jersey, to ask him about his plans if he were elected. Mr. Wilson's skill at dodging leading questions is now known throughout the land. At that time reporters were more hopeful.

"It is much easier to talk about the immediate past than the indefinite future," he observed to his callers, with the quiet Wilson smile. "And I should like to talk to you about the immediate past," he added. "I have just finished reading the most charming story that has come to my attention in some years. Its title is as interesting as the story. It is 'Daddy Long-Legs,' and, I understand, was written by a niece of Mark Twain." It is coming to the Lyceum.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SHIPPING OF ORE CONTINUES BRISKLY

More Ore Being Sent From Mesaba Range Than Before This Year.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is claimed more ore is being shipped now from the Mesaba range than at any previous time this season. Although the Great Northern railroad is handling no Steel corporation ore it is shipping within 300 carloads of what it did last year. It is removing more than 1,400 carloads daily. The cars average forty-three tons each.

The Mahoning mine is shipping 450 carloads a day. Several steam shovels are working here day and night and operations are progressing rapidly. From the Kinney mine at Buhl 100 carloads are being removed every twenty-four hours. The Commodore mine at Virginia is shipping 6,300 tons of ore daily. The Dean mine at Buhl is working at capacity. This property is yielding more than 120 carloads each day. From the Albany and Utica properties seventy tons are being taken daily. The Hawkins and Harris mines at Nashwauk are shipping 200 carloads daily to the Twin Ports. All these mines are independent properties and ship over the Great Northern road.

Hull Rust Heavy Shipper.

Ore dispatchers for the Missabe railroad report that practically 1,500 carloads, averaging forty-five tons to the car are removed daily. From the Hull-Rust property 700 carloads are being removed. Over the Missabe road the Shenango and Buffalo & Susquehana, independent properties, are shipping approximately 300 carloads together every day.

The first eleven cars of ore from the yards at the new mine on section 27 at Chisholm was shipped this week to Duluth. Loading from underground was started last week, but as this progressed slow the cars were held up and shipped together. When the sinking of the shaft was started some months ago it was not thought probable that any shipments would be made from this property this year.

MURDER TRIAL WILL BE ON NEXT WEEK

Sparta Woman Alleged to Have Slain Father-in-Law to Be Tried.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The only murder case on the district court calendar will be called for trial next week when Mrs. Filomena Tallerico, indicted for killing her father-in-law at Sparta, will be started. It will be the first time in several years that a woman will be tried on the range for murder.

Acquit Mountain Iron Man.

Less than an hour was the time required by a petit jury in the case of Mike Juricich of Mountain Iron, charged with assault in the second degree, yesterday afternoon to decide that the defendant was not guilty. Juricich is the father of several children, and many of them appeared in court.

The case of Mrs. Barbara Sullivan and Edward Lasher, also married, both of Virginia, indicted on a charge of adultery, was continued until Monday.

VIRGINIA'S LAST GAME.

Hibbing Colts and Virginia Northern Leaguers to Meet.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final game of baseball of the season here will be played on the local grounds tomorrow afternoon between the Hibbing Colts and the Virginia Northern league clubs. Both teams have played tight ball to date, and a large crowd is expected. It will also be the last contest of the year for the Hibbing team.

The year has been a fair one financially for the local club. In the first two seasons of organized baseball here, the backers of the club lost heavily. This season they kept within the salary limit, despite the tactics pursued by the other members of the league. Tony Faeth is making good in American association company and the local magnates are expected to realize a tidy sum from his sale.

Hal Brokaw, outfielder, and Bob Wright, pitcher, are players who may be lost when the drafting season opens. Local fans are confident Virginia will again be in the Northern league next season.

Hibbing Wins Good Game.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Holding the ore diggers down to six hits, three of which were scattered in the first eight innings, Tedisco won his game for the Hibbing Colts yesterday afternoon from the Virginia ore diggers by a score of 4 to 1. Hibbing put up a fine game, only one error being scored against it. The two teams are to play here this afternoon here and will wind up the season in Virginia tomorrow.

EVELETH NOTES.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—News has been received by friends in Eveleth of the birth of a son, Sept. 1, to Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Cartwright at Pasadena, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright left Eveleth about a year ago to make their home in California.

Friends of Ralph Knight, master mechanic at the Fayal mine, enjoyed a box of peaches from Mr. Knight's fruit farm in the North Yakima valley, Wash.

Lawrence Andrews and Herbert Anderson left Friday for Minneapolis to attend the university. Mr. Andrews is beginning his third year, specializing in chemistry. Mr. Anderson will take up electrical engineering.

The Golden Links Girls' society of the Swedish Lutheran church was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Gust Peterson at the Fayal.

The offices of the Home Electric & Heating company were moved this week to the company's fine new office building on Jackson street opposite the fire hall.

Harry Roberts and Willard Shea left Wednesday for Minneapolis to enroll at the "U." The former will study medicine and the latter will take up the study of law.

George A. Perham and S. H. Owens were among those who attended the Farmers' day at Gilbert, Monday. They report that the event was very well managed and a big success.

BACKACHE KILLS!

Don't make the fatal mistake of neglecting what may seem to be a "simple little backache." There isn't any such thing. It may be the first warning that your kidneys are not working properly, and throwing off the poisons as they should. If this is the case, go after the cause of that backache and do it quickly, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will give almost immediate relief from kidney and bladder troubles, which may be the unsuspected cause of general ill health. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are prepared in correct quantity and convenient form to take, and are positively guaranteed to give prompt relief, or your money will be refunded. SELLS VILLAGE HOME TO BECOME FARMER

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. J. Sandretzkey this week sold his residence on Sixth street to Dr. G. E. Hoeper, and at once bought a farm of eighty acres about four miles north of town on the Prairie river road. The land adjoins the P. W. Wilkie farm on the north, and lies nicely and is good soil. Mr. Sandretzkey has long wanted to go onto a piece of land, and he has been preparing for this for a long time, during which he has built up a herd of eight or ten head of as fine grade Guernsey cows as is to be found anywhere, both from the standpoint of breeding and production. Mr. Sandretzkey has already moved onto his place, and is camping while getting ready to build.

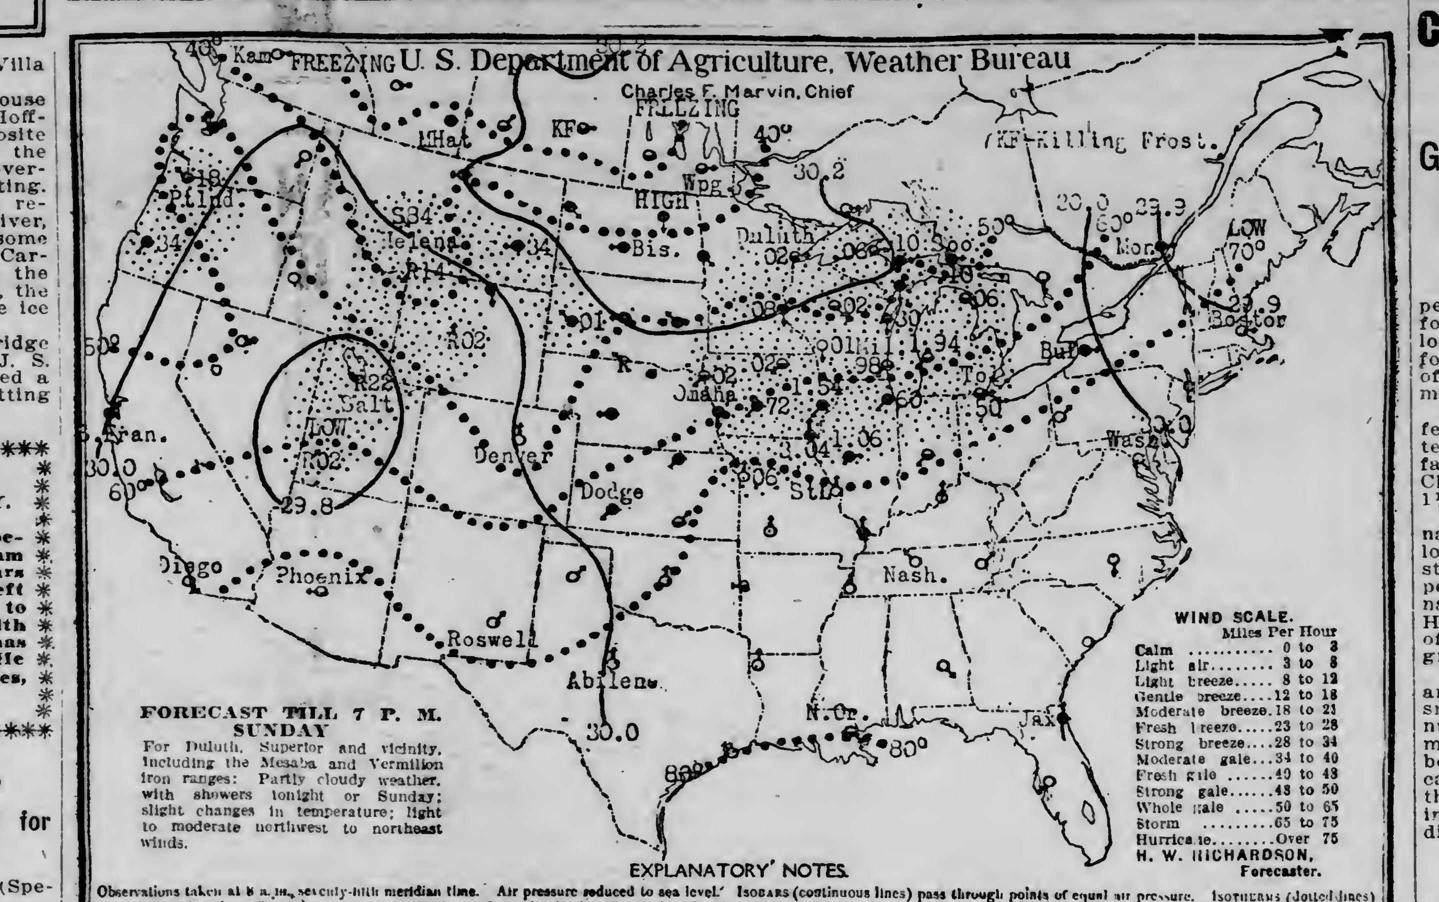

Why Not Get Rid of Eczema?

If your skin itches and burns with eczema or any such tormenting, unsightly skin diseases, simply wash the sore places with Resinol Soap and hot water, dry, and apply a little Resinol Ointment. The itching stops INSTANTLY, you no longer have to dig and scratch, sleep becomes possible, and healing begins at once. That is because the soothing, antiseptic Resinol medication strikes right into the surface, arrests the action of the disease, and almost always restores the tortured, inflamed skin to perfect health—quickly, easily and at little cost.

Prescribed by doctors for over 20 years, and sold by every druggist. For sample free, write to Dept. 1-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

SHOWERS

The predicted cold weather arrived and the thermometer got away down last night; but, so far as reports received give it, the damage from frost was practically negligible, for a wind accompanying other conditions saved the plants. The chill remains in the air today even though the sun is out and doing valiant work.

A year ago today was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 5:40 o'clock and will set this evening at 6:29 o'clock, giving twelve hours and forty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Temperatures 90 degrees or higher continued Friday in most of the Southern states. Cooler weather prevails throughout the Northwest and Middle West with freezing temperature over the greater portion of Western Canada. Killing frost occurred at Qu Appelle, Sask. During the last twenty-four hours showers fell over the Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Missouri valley states and the Far West. Heavy rainfalls occurred in Northern Illinois, Iowa, Southern Wisconsin and Southwestern Michigan."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota—Unsettled with showers tonight or Sunday; warmer in northwest portion tonight.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably unsettled in south portion; cooler in southeast portion tonight.

Iowa—Unsettled with showers tonight or Sunday; cooler in southeast portion tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Rain tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight.

Montana—Rain tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; slightly cooler in south portion tonight.

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; light frost in exposed places tonight.

DEER RIVER EXCITED.

Alleged Attempted Assault on Young Girl Starts Wild Rumors.

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village had a thrill one night this week when it was reported that Eva, the 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. Martin Erickson had been lured into a lot near her home by a young man and subjected to an attempted attack. From her descriptions a young man named Alfred Allen, aged 17, was arrested and it was reported he had confessed. Threats of violence were reported and the young man was hustled to the jail at Grand Rapids after C. M. King and several others cautioned the people against taking the law into their own hands.

Alfred Allen lives with his mother and stepfather. It is said he has been seen most of the time when he would be up town to be always alone, standing in a dark spot in an alley or gazing into windows.

CHISHOLM BRIEFS.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur J. Hayes has returned to Notre Dame, Ind., to begin work as instructor in third and fourth year English in the university there. He will also take post graduate work in law, having graduated from that school last spring. His father accompanied him as far as the Twin Cities.

Mrs. D. W. Coakley returned home Wednesday evening after a visit to the Twin Cities, Milwaukee and Chicago.

Julius Grosso and Raymond Maturi went to St. Paul on Wednesday to attend the state fair during the closing days.

R. J. Lostetter and son, Paul, went to Pine City the first of the week, being called there by the illness of the former's father. He will also look after business matters in the Twin Cities before returning home.

TOWER JOTTINGS.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Misses Claire Kraemer and Alvina Coss of Hibbing, who were guests of friends in the city this week, left this morning with Miss Lillian Murphy to spend a couple of days at the Murphy bungalow on Lake Vermilion. Others in the party are Misses Laura Nelson, Marion Johnston and Emma Dykestan. Mrs. Alice Wagoner is chaperon.

Mrs. J. D. Murphy was called to Virginia this morning by news of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. William Voss, who yesterday suffered a stroke of paralysis. The patient is resting easily and hopes are entertained for her recovery.

William Torbett, a former Towerite, now a homesteader in the Willow river country, spent a couple days here this week renewing old acquaintances.

Iowan Going to Farm.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Manning of Port Byron, Ill., arrived the first of the week with a car load of goods, and is going onto a farm south of Blackberry, which belongs to an Iowa man, and which he has leased. He was accompanied by Roy Spaid, a neighbor, who came to help him.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR WILL DELIVER ADDRESS

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond has written that he will be unable to come here for the banquet to be held Sept. 18 by the Commercial club in celebration of the completion of its campaign for more members. Lieutenant Governor Burnquist has consented to come and will speak. He will also speak at the farmers' day celebration to be held the same day.

Other speakers on the program for farmers' day will be President M. A. Murphy of the Commercial club; Otto Stangel, agricultural instructor at the Virginia schools; John Owens, range pioneer, and Frank G. Harris of Chisholm.

BURY DROWNING VICTIMS

Bodies of Young Indians Lost in Vermilion Laid to Rest.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bodies of George Light and Annie Sam, the two young Indians, who were drowned recently in Lake Vermilion, were recovered and buried at the Lake Vermilion reservation cemetery.

Mystery surrounded the drowning as both were good swimmers and their overturned canoe was found only a short distance from the lake dock. The supposition that Light, who was subject to epileptic fits, was taken with one shortly after getting into the canoe, and upset the boat. The bodies were found just a short distance apart and apparently that the girl went to her death in a vain effort to save the stricken man. Relatives from Nett Lake were called here as soon as the drowning occurred, and remained until after the bodies were interred in the cemetery at the reservation.

ITASCA GRAIN YIELDS ARE REPORTED HEAVY

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Threshing has commenced in this vicinity and splendid yields are reported. James Bickley on the William Hoolihan farm threshed almost 2,000 bushels of grain, nearly seventy-five bushels per acre. Other places where the threshing has been done are the A. M. Sisler, George W. Moore, C. A. Buell, Niel Mullins and John G. Frasher farm, and the North Central experiment station, the yields on the latter places going from fifty-five to sixty bushels per acre.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

LEWIS HAS PROSPERED.

Once Itinerant Watch Vendor, Now Prosperous Virginia Merchant.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seventeen years ago, Max Lewis, a young watch vendor, bent on making good, tramped through the Franklin and Norman locations here and visited boarding houses, where he sold his timepieces. The work was hard, but business was good and the young man was content.

Yesterday Mr. Lewis, now middle aged and successful in business, part owner of the Minnesota Drygoods company stores of this city, again tramped through the locations he had "made" seventeen years ago. This time he was not on business bent. It was a Jewish holiday and he was enjoying himself. He was accompanied by Archie Phillips, a trusted employe.

Seventeen years ago Mr. Lewis and his partner "made" one mining camp a day. They were kept busy and in two months, through dint of energy, sold $2,800 worth of jewelry. They braved hardships among coarse workers and others, but made good.

BIWABIK WILL BOOST FOR ITS FARMERS' DAY

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to properly advertise the farmers' day to be held here Saturday, Sept. 25, the advertising committee will visit the nearby farming country next Sunday, taking along the Biwabik City band and giving four concerts at as many places in the Palo and Markham districts.

The party will leave Biwabik early Sunday afternoon, being at the Palo postoffice at 2 p. m., ready to begin the music and boosting for the big show that Biwabik will put on. From there a run will be made to Sam Nori's farm, and then on to the Markham schoolhouse. The last stop of the day will be at the John Ljung schoolhouse.

TOWER BANK QUARTERS WILL SOON BE READY

Tower, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The building to be occupied by the new Merchants & Miners State bank is completed. The fixtures have arrived and are being installed. The present plans are that the bank will be ready for occupancy about Sept. 20.

J. A. Quinn, a local attorney, will take charge as cashier.

VIRGINIA PERSONALS.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Cassie Munroe, daughter of D. W. Munroe, who is a second-year student at Carleton college, left this afternoon for Northfield to resume her studies.

Ward Becker left this afternoon for a short visit with friends at the Head of the Lakes. Monday he will leave for Minneapolis, where he will enroll in the third-year classes of the electrical engineering department of the state university.

A. Abramson of Aurora, who celebrated the Jewish holidays in this city, returned to his home yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. J. Rutz and family, also of Aurora, observed the holidays here.

To Duluth Normal.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Misses Agnes Eagan, Esther Maus and Hazel Ferrier left Monday night for Duluth to again enter the state normal for their second year's work. These girls comprised the major part of the Spooner school's first high school department graduates.

Spooner School Girl Dies.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Agusta Sofia Boqnist died Thursday of the dreaded white plague, with which she had been a sufferer for many months, since her return from Crookston in the early spring. She was one of the pupils of the local schools, and was 17 years, 5 months and 8 days old. She leaves her father and mother, two brothers and four sisters.

To Fix Eveleth Budget.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—The city council this afternoon is expected to make complete the budget for the 1916 tax levy. Although the city is making large expenditures in the way of improvements many hope the levy will be reduced from that of this year.

SALOONS MUST OBEY LAWS OF SANITATION

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, issued orders yesterday that local saloon keepers must observe the sanitary laws or stand in danger of losing their licenses. He instructed Chief McKercher to notify the saloon men of his decision to enforce the sanitary and health laws.

Loses Life Saving Children.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Jacobiec Wojciech rushed to the tracks of the Soo line, threw her two little girls, 4 and 3 years old, off the rails and was herself killed by a locomotive. The children were uninjured.

MARINE

CARGOES BECOME MORE LIBERAL

Grain Showing Up for Boats—Plenty of Ore Offered.

Grain cargoes are beginning to appear at the Head of the Lakes, but for the most part are being used to load contract boats. There is inquiry for tonnage to load toward the end of the month and charters are being made for the last ten days.

Among the charters made in the past few days were two ships for the last ten days of this month Duluth to Buffalo, and a small boat to load at South Chicago for Georgian Bay this week at 1½ cents.

Ore shippers are taking all the tonnage they can get for next week's loading. The pressure for boats is stronger than it has been and shippers that have not been seeking tonnage are offering wild ore cargoes. Henceforth there will be no shortage of ore for boats to fall back upon if grain rates do not prove attractive.

Shippers of coal to small docks also are beginning to make inquiry for small boats. There is only a limited number of these boats, and if shipments amount to anything there may be some bidding later. Large coal cargoes also will be much easier after this week, and shippers are not turning away as many vessels as they did.

Against Piece-Meal Loading.

In a circular letter to subscribers the advisory committee of the Great Lakes Protective association advises owners against loading ships with part cargoes of coal at different ports. In the letter the committee says that loading one or two holds of a ship at one port and proceeding to another to fill out the cargo raises a question that might prove very troublesome if an accident should occur. For this reason the committee takes the stand that it does.

Wind and Weather on Lakes.

The following were wind and weather conditions on the Great Lakes at 7 o'clock this morning, as reported by the weather bureau:

Portage (Lake Superior)—South, clear, 6 miles.

Plum island (Lake Michigan)—North, cloudy, 8 miles.

Duluth—West, partly cloudy, 8 miles.

Port Arthur—West, clear, 10 miles.

Sault—West, cloudy, 4 miles.

SECTIONS OF SEAMEN'S LAW TO BE OBSERVED

Collectors of customs and other officers charged with the enforcement of the La Follette seamen's law have received notices stating that sections 2, 3, 4, 11 and 15 of the law are to be enforced on and after Nov. 4.

Section 2, provides that seamen shall be divided into two watches, and firemen, oilers and water tenders into three watches. It also provides nine hours shall constitute a day's work on board a ship and that no seaman shall be sent into the firehold alternately to work or vice versa. Section 2, according to the notice, provides no penalty on master or owner for failure to comply with this section of the law. A request is also made that owners exhibit a copy of the circular in the forecastle of every ship.

Section 3 covers the final payment of wages during a voyage. Section 11 regulates the allotment of wages and section 15 applies to barges outside of the lakes, harbors and bays.

In the Sport Trenches

THE careers of Bob Gardner, the new amateur golf champion, and Jerry Travers, open champion, in one way at least are alike. Travers was the first Eastern youngster to beat Walter J. Travis, back in the days when the veteran was crushing all opposition with consummate ease.

From the year that Travers beat Travis the youngster began to rise until he had achieved more golf glory than any other amateur in the land.

In the same way Bob Gardner was the first Western youngster to defeat the redoubtable Travis, proof of rare golfing nerve, even when a mere broth of a lad, as Sandy McPherson might say. Gardner beat Travis seven years ago at Glen View, Chicago. A youngster of only 18, he came from behind and squared the match with the veteran on the 36th hole and won on the 37th. Shortly afterward Gardner won his first amateur championship and Walter J. again fell before the Yale star's brilliant play.

Worth of Arthur Nehf.

If the Braves successfully defend their championship it will be largely through the work of A. Nehf, the spectacular youngster who came to Stallings just at the proper moment. Nehf has already produced three victories that came at highly important moments.

If he maintains anything approaching this clip Stallings will have a big advantage over Moran in pitching strength—the most vital part of any battle down the stretch. The late Addie Joss used to figure pitching 90 per cent of a ball game. We can't quite extend the percentage that far, but it is nearly always the controlling factor down the stretch, where all hands are at high tension and where ragged pitching is sure to be fatal. For a club at high tension will break much faster before bad pitching than it will in ordinary days, when a ball game is mostly a romp to while away a sultry summer afternoon.

Enlightens Baseball Fans.

Umpire Rigler of the National league staff explains some points regarding his work, which will no doubt surprise many baseball fans. One was that the fans were mostly mistaken about how the umpire judged balls and strikes. The general impression among those who have not tried their eyes at umpiring, and who have not been coached by competent instructors, is that the official watches the ball with infinite care from the time it leaves the pitcher's hand until it reaches the catcher's glove. Good umpires do no such thing. They are naturally in position to look at the shoot all the time, but they do not begin to "work" on a pitch until it is a comparatively short distance from the plate. When the ball starts from the pitcher's hand the umpire is not looking up but down. He is watching the feet of the pitcher to see that he does not violate the rule about stepping off the rubber.

World Series in East.

But there is one place where the East prevails this gay and giddy year.

The World's Series remains along the Atlantic seaboard. You can almost figure the Red Sox already in so far as the American league race goes, although Detroit hangs on, and now it is mainly a question as to whether the Red Sox will face the Braves or Phillies. Or, if you like you can add on the Dodgers.

At this stage last fall the Braves were neck and beak with the Giants, but it was a foregone tip as to what would happen. The Braves were coming and the Giants were going.

Nineteen hundred and fifteen presents a different problem. The Braves are coming, and coming hard and fast. But the Phillies have been hanging on with remarkable tenacity, and for the next three weeks the game should produce one of the finest stretch battles in years—possibly the finest since Giants, Cubs and Pirates tore up the road in 1908 and tossed dust in all nine directions.

Clarke Forsakes Diamond.

After twenty-two years of strenuous life in the baseball world, sixteen years of which he spent as manager of the Pittsburgh National league club, Fred C. Clarke Thursday tendered his resignation to President Barney Dreyfuss, the same to be effective upon the expiration of the manager's present contract, which runs until Oct. 15 next.

A desire to confine his attention to his ranching and flour-milling business in Kansas and the feeling that he has had about enough of baseball are the causes advanced by Clarke for his determination to quit. The resignation was tendered in such a manner as to provide Barney Dreyfuss with no alternative but to accept it.

Following the announcement of his resignation, Clarke said:

"I have determined to quit baseball for once and all. I would rather retire while at the head of a winning combination and am sorry that the 1915 Pirates did not make a better showing. Still, I intended quitting at the end of this season, no matter where the club finished, and the fact that we failed to win the pennant did not have any effect upon my decision."

Bender Is Not Alone.

Chief Bender is not alone in his sorrow. The Federal league is swinging the ax with vim and vigor, and Bender is but one of several to get it where the larnyx is located. Many figured that the Chief, no longer backed by the heavy attack of the Athletics, would have a hard time getting by in his new surroundings. Such seems to have been the case. In addition to the Indian, Baltimore has canned Swacina and Jacklitsch, which, considering their names, considerably lightens the work of the score keeper. Jimmy Walsh also might have found himself out in the intense cold had not St. Louis taken over his Baltimore contract. Buffalo recently coupled the hardware to Russell Ford, Ed Lafitte, Charley McDonald and Arthur Watson. Ford asked for another chance, and re-signed at a salary said to be about half of the original. However, he couldn't cut the mustard, and was again thrown on his own resources. When the powers that be put the emery ball out of circulation they also put Ford out of business.

Kimball to Chicago.

George Kimball, leader of all weight tossers ever turned out in Michigan high school ranks, according to the interscholastic records, and high score man of the Muskegon track team for two seasons, has decided not to become a student at the University of Michigan, as planned. The youthful giant, making what he declares is a final decision, has decided to enter the University of Chicago. He will take the commercial or business course, in order that he may join his father in handling a big coal and ice business. Kimball is practically certain to prove as big a sensation in college ranks as he did in interscholastic athletics.

WESTERNERS WIN SECTIONAL GAMES

So Far Ahead in Tennis, That They Have It Cinched.

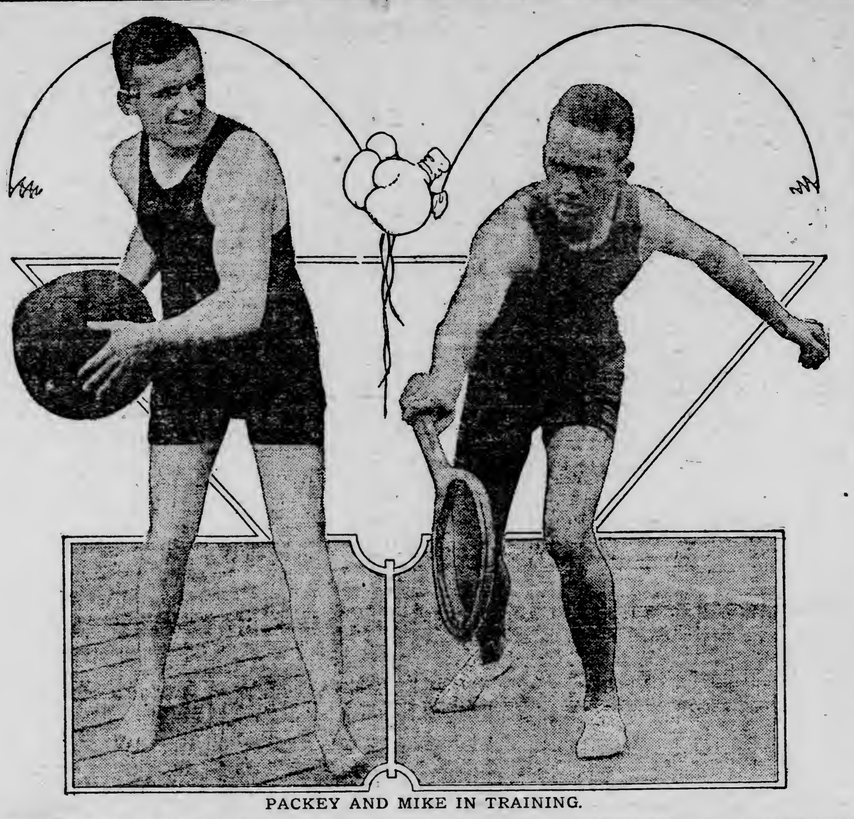

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 11.—California players further increased their lead in the East vs. West matches which began in San Francisco in July and will finish here today when they won two out of three contests played on the West Side club grounds yesterday afternoon.

Theodore R. Pell of New York was the only Atlantic coast player to score a victory. He defeated Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco evened the score by winning from Karl H. Behr of New York 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, and William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin put the Western contingent into the lead by defeating R. Norris Williams II of Philadelphia and Watson M. Washburn of New York, in the doubles match 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. By the addition of yesterday's two victories, the Western experts raised their total wins to seven against the Easterns' two and even though representatives of this section should win all three Saturday's matches the count would still be 7 to 5 in favor of the West.

Although the day was perfect from a players' standpoint and a fair gallery watched the matches, there was none of the brilliant court battling which marked he closing days of the national championship tournament.

STAGE IS SET FOR GREAT GIBBONS-McFARLAND BOUT AT BRIGHTON BEACH

PACKEY AND MIKE IN TRAINING.

CHICAGOANS FAVOR GIBBONS IN BETTING.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Chicago fight fans who are wont to lay a bet now and then on pugilistic contests do not agree with the New York followers as regards the odds on the McFarland-Gibbons contest tonight. A West side bookmaker quoted the following prices on the battle yesterday:

Two to one Gibbons would get the majority of the New York newspaper decisions.

Ten to eight Gibbons would get the majority of the newspaper decisions of both New York and Chicago papers.

New York, Sept. 11.—Packey McFarland of Chicago and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, two of the greatest fighters the world has ever known, will meet in the arena at Brighton Beach, N. Y., this evening and box ten rounds for a purse of $32,500. The money will be divided with $17,500 going to McFarland and $15,000 to Gibbons. There will be no referee's decision. For this reason betting is off color. With no decision to be rendered, victory cannot be claimed by either man except in the case of a knockout, which is highly improbable.

Both men are said to be down to weight. Mike Gibbons stepped onto the scales after finishing his last hard day's work in preparation for his coming tilt with Packey McFarland and weighed just 149 pounds. The mark was within two pounds of the weight limit and made it assured that the match will not fall through because Mike can't make the weight.

Any doubt that Mike won't be strong at the weight was dispelled by one glance at his sparring partners after they had finished working him out yesterday. Tom, his brother, was winded and badly battered.

Critics Disagree.

Local fight critics are up in the air over the probable outcome. A local paper which Thursday published an article by the sporting editor, in which Packey was picked to win, came back yesterday with another article in which Mike is selected, and promises more articles by its office staff, some favoring one, some the other.

The Evening World evidently likes Packey, for it published a story by William Inglis yesterday, which, among other things, says:

"Packey, unlike Mike, has never had to make excuses after a battle. Gibbons on various occasions has had to explain why he made a poor showing against aggressive opponents, while McFarland has always done his best under five."

The Globe merely says Packey's condition is marvelous, but expresses no opinion on the probable outcome.

Tradition Favors Mike.

The Evening Journal comments on the fact that fighters "never come back," but adding that Packey's way of living has been vastly different from the usual fighter's record of dissipation and excesses. The Journal theoretically picks Gibbons to win because of the time-honored tradition that a man cannot retire for any length of time and then come back as a victor.

The Evening Sun does not pick a winner, but publishes a story by Fred Keats headed: "McFarland must remain on the aggressive to defeat Gibbons." The article says in part:

"It is very evident that McFarland does not fear the issue and, since he is noted for his cautiousness as a matchmaker, he probably knows just how he stands. * * * Gibbons says he will win decisively, and points to his bouts with Bob McAllister and Young Ahern, two very clever men who were unable to keep him off when he decided to force matters. In both these bouts Gibbons was being outpointed, when, finding that his opponents' blows were too feeble to be dangerous, he pressed in and shot over the knockout. Whether Gibbons can repeat when he tackles McFarland may depend a great deal on whether McFarland has developed a harder wallop since he was last seen in action."

An Even Bet.

There is a growing impression here that the men will enter the ring at even money. From a 10-to-8 favorite Mike has slumped to the point where the wise ones are shaking their heads and saying: "I think it will be a draw." Today the claim was made in Packey's camp that the Chicagoan would be a 6-to-5 favorite by the time they reach their corners, but this seems doubtful. Even money will be about the prevailing gamble, with here and there a Gibbons radical—and there are plenty of them in this neighborhood—offering a little better.

REMARKABLE PLAY IN EXHIBITION GAME

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 11.—The Brooklyn Nationals and the Rail-lights, a railroad semi-professional club, played eleven scoreless innings here yesterday. The game was called at the end of the eleventh on account of darkness. Thirty-six men faced Baxter, former pitcher in the Southern Michigan league, only seven of whom got on. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	0	4	0
Rail-lights	0	4	3

Batteries—Coombs, Dell, Appleton and Wheat; Baxter and Woods.

Leads College Singles.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 11.—F. R. Blossom of Yale won the medal in the qualifying round for the intercollegiate individual singles golf championship over the links of the Greenwich Country club here yesterday with a score of 153. He had rounds of 78 and 75. The total was one stroke better than that of Louis L. Bredin of Yale and John M. Simpson of Illinois.

ST. PAUL CLAIMS BANTAMWEIGHT TITLE FOR ERTLE ON KID WILLIAMS' FOUL

Blow That Put Johnny Out Looks Fair to Bruce, The Herald's Sporting Editor, Who Was at the Ringside; Referee Disqualifies Williams and Gives Fight to St. Paul Kewpie.

BY BRUCE.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round bout last night, Kid Williams of Baltimore sent Johnny Ertle of St. Paul reeling to the resined canvas of the ring with a terrific right uppercut that struck the cherubic Apostle youth somewhere in his midsection. Referee George Barton declared the blow foul, disqualified Williams and awarded the battle to Ertle.

Friends of Ertle paraded through the streets of this old town after the battle hailing Johnny as the new bantamweight title holder. Like most fouls, last night's will be disputed.

To the writer, sitting in a ringside seat, the blow that sent Ertle reeling to the ropes, his countenance wreathed in puckers of pain, looked fair, but hundreds roared in no uncertain terms of approbation when it was announced above the din that the Little Dane had been disqualified.

The first round was even; neither boy was hurt.

Ertle brought screams of enthusiasm from his admirers in the second session by outboxing the champion. Two snappy lefts sent Williams' head back, Ertle outboxing and outfighting the burly little Dane.

Williams Aggressive.

Neither boy had an advantage in the third round.

Then came the fourth, the cyclonic Dane seemed to take on new life. Rushing Ertle into a corner, Williams thumped two terrific rights into Johnny's midsection. The latter's face twisted in agony and wore a ghastly look of pain as he backed away.

Ertle came back to the scratch in the fifth round. The boys traded lefts, then Johnny worked a right to the Dane's head. The little fighters separated from a clinch and suddenly Williams shot in a terrific right uppercut.

Ertle reeled across the ring to his own corner and then sank to the canvas, his gloved hands spasmodically grasping his groin, his whole body convulsed with agony. After an examination by the boxing commission's physician, it was declared Ertle had been fouled.

St. Paul Claims Champ.

The violent protestations of Williams and his manager were of no avail. St. Paul claims a new bantamweight champion.

Jack Lester was knocked out in two rounds by Billy Miske. Frankie Snyder was outpointed in eight rounds by Buff Seidel. Lester failed to show even the rudiments of fighting knowledge. The house failed dismally to come up to anticipation, the Capital City Athletic club quitting a large loser on the show.

Awaiting Commission's Word.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—Twin City sporting circles eagerly awaited today any announcement the state boxing commission might make regarding the action of Referee George Barton of Minneapolis in rendering a decision in the Johnny Ertle-"Kid" Williams bantamweight contest here last night, in which the referee announced from the ring that Ertle had won on a foul in the fifth round.

It is under a ruling of the boxing commission that no decisions are permitted in contests in this state, the law remaining silent on this point.

The most common verdict in sporting circles, and the attitude assumed by practically all the Twin City newspapers, is that Ertle's claim to the championship title is highly technical and will not receive general recognition until he has defeated Williams decisively. Ertle is suffering no ill effects today from the alleged foul blow.

COBB SLUMPS AGAIN BUT IS STILL AWAY AHEAD OF FIELD

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Ty Cobb has again fallen into a batting slump. But despite a drop of five points below his mark of last week, the Detroit star is still leading the American league with an average of .370, according to averages published here today.

Cobb maintains his speed on the bases, however, and is leading the league with 82 stolen bases. He also has strengthened his margin as the leading run-getter, having scored 130. Crawford, Cobb's teammate, drove Ty from the top of the total base column with a total of 249 bases, 12 more than Cobb's mark.

Other batters in the .300 class are: Jackson, Chicago, .327; Speaker, Boston, .321; E. Collins, Chicago, .318; Crawford, Detroit, .318; Fournier, Chicago, .314; Veach, Detroit, .313; McInnis, Philadelphia, .310; Strunk, Philadelphia, .303; Maisel, New York, .300.

Burns of Detroit holds the lead in home runs with five.

Detroit Leads Batting.

In club batting the pennant contenders are bunched with Detroit leading with .269 and Boston and Chicago close behind with .265 and .262 respectively.

Pitchers in the "select" class are: Foster, Boston, won 18 and lost 6; Scott, Chicago, 21 and 9; Ruth, Boston, 14 and 6; Shore, Boston, 15 and 7; Covleskie, Detroit, 22 and 11; Dauss, Detroit, 22 and 10; Fisher, New York, 18 and 9; Faber, Chicago, 21 and 11; Boland, Detroit, and Leonard, Boston, 11 and 6; Johnson, Washington, 22 and 13; Dubuc, Detroit, 17 and 11; Ayers, Washington, and Benz, Chicago, 12 and 8.

Doyle Stars National.

Capt. Doyle has again batted himself into the lead in the National league. The New Yorker has an average of .327. Following him are: Luderus, Philadelphia, .325; Long, St. Louis, and Daubert, Brooklyn, tied with .309; Snyder, St. Louis, .301; Markle, New York, and Hinchman, Pittsburgh, tied with .304; Griffith, Cincinnati, .295; Groh, Cincinnati, .294; Fisher, Chicago, and Collins, Pittsburgh, tied with .293; Robertson, New York, .292.

St. Louis leads in club batting with .257. Cincinnati is next with .254.

Doyle leads in total bases with 215; Cravath, Philadelphia, leads in runs scored with 76 and in home runs with 19. Carey, Pittsburgh, with 34, leads the base stealers.

The leading pitchers are: Mamaux, Pittsburgh, won 20 and lost 7; Alexander, Philadelphia, 25 and 9; Toney, Cincinnati, 11 and 4; S. Smith, Brooklyn, 12 and 6; Pierce, Chicago, 11 and 6; Dale, Cincinnati, 18 and 11; Pfeffer, Brooklyn, 14 and 9; Meadows, St. Louis, 12 and 5; Standridge, Chicago, 3 and 2; Ragan, Boston, 16 and 11; Mayer, Philadelphia, 18 and 13.

In Federal League.

The ten leading batters of the Federal league are: Kauff, Brooklyn, .350; Magee, Brooklyn, .348; Fischer, Chicago, .318; Konetchy, Pittsburgh, .316; Deal, St. Louis, .314; Rousch, Newark, .315; Campbell, Newark, .312; Yerkes, Pittsburgh, .311; Flack, Chicago, .310; Dalton, Buffalo, 308.

Magee leads in runs scored with 82; Kauf with 43 leads the base stealers; Konetchy has the most total bases, 246; and Chase, Buffalo, with 16, leads the home run department.

The leading pitchers who have worked in twenty-five or more games are: F. Allen, Pittsburgh, 21 won, 9 lost; McConnell, Chicago, 21 and 9; Crandall, St. Louis, 18 and 9; Benger, Pittsburgh, 8 and 4; Reulbach, Newark, 16 and 9; Schultz, Buffalo, 20 and 12; F. Smith, Brooklyn, 10 and 6; Anderson, Buffalo, 16 and 10; Cullop, Kansas City, 17 and 11; Plank, St. Louis, 15 and 10; M. Brown, Chicago, 12 and 8.

Brooklyn with .271 leads in club batting and Pittsburgh is second with .267.

Compton In Association.

Compton, Kansas City, no longer holds the lead in batting in the American association. This honor goes to Lellvelt, Kansas City, who has an average of .344; Compton's mark is .343. Others among the first ten who have played in at least half the games are: J. Beall, Milwaukee, .341; Casilim, Minneapolis, .334; Rondeau, Minneapolis, .333; Hinchman, Kansas City, .326; Corriden, Louisville, .323; Chappelle, Milwaukee, .317; W. Smith, Minneapolis, .309; Willie, Cleveland, .308; Nixon, Cleveland, .308; Clemons, Louisville, .307.

Minneapolis leads in club batting with .281.

Compton's mark of nine homers has not been equaled. Kelly, Indianapolis, led the base stealers with 58; Altizer, Minneapolis, is the first as a run-getter with 107; Lellvelt leads in total bases with 257.

The leading pitchers are: Hall, St. Paul, won 23, lost 9; Burr, Indianapolis, 14 and 6; R. Williams, St. Paul, 12 and 6; D. C. Williams, Minneapolis, 26 and 14; Schardt, Indianapolis, 19 and 11; Northrop, Louisville, 20 and 12; Yingling, Minneapolis, 18 and 11; Delhi, Kansas City, 20 and 13; Tipple, Indianapolis, 12 and 8; Leifield, St. Paul, 17 and 12.

The final averages of the Western league give Le Jeune, Sioux City, first place in the batting with an average of .355.

Musser, Des Moines, who won 20 and lost 8, heads the pitchers.

The leading batter in the International league is Gilhooley, Buffalo, .339. The leading pitcher is Dowd, Montreal, won 14, lost 5.

BILLY HOKE WILL BE THIRD MAN IN RING

Popular St. Paul Sporting Man to Officiate at Duluth Show.

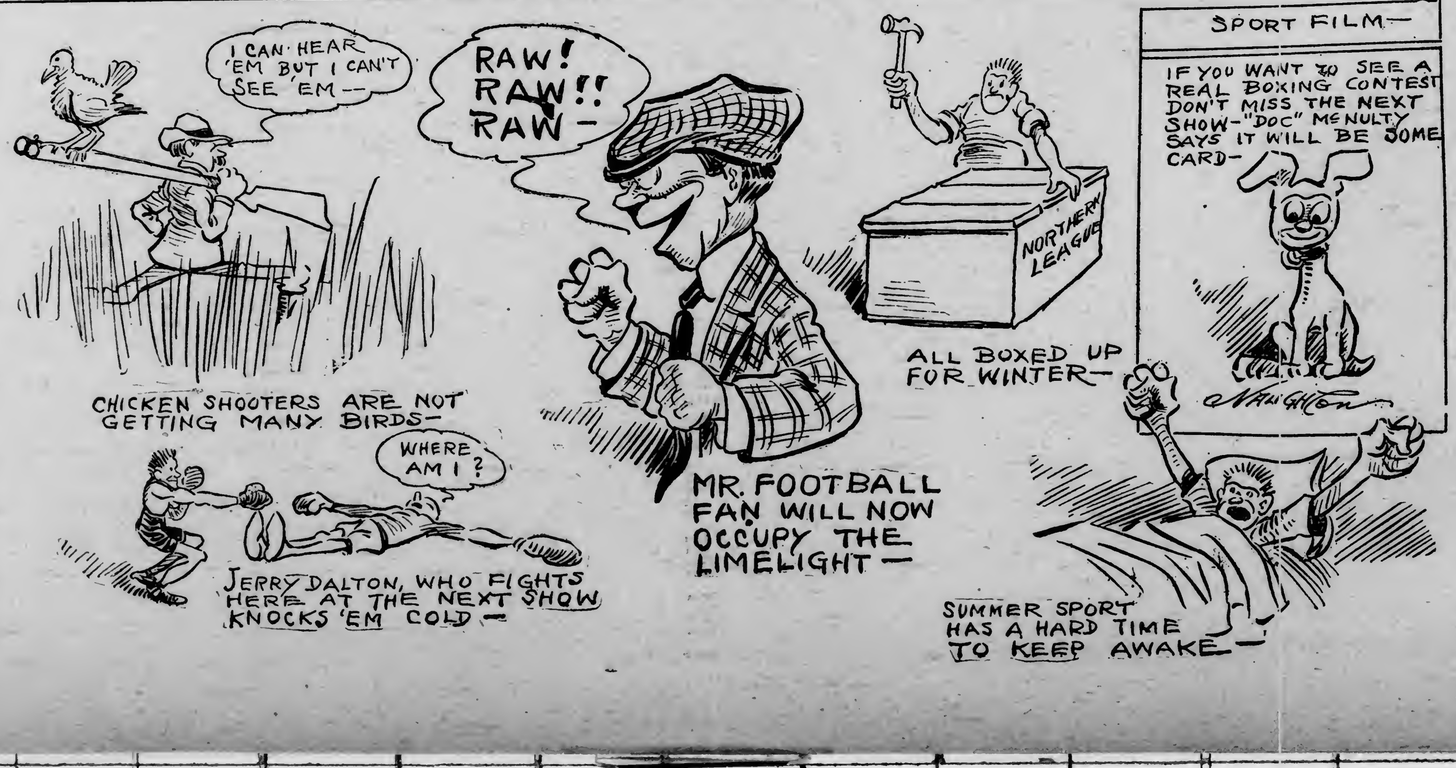

Billy Hoke of Minneapolis, one of the best known sporting men in the Northwest and a popular ring official and baseball umpire, has been selected by the officers of the Duluth Athletic club to referee the all-star fight card which will be pulled off at the Lyceum theater here on Sept. 23.

One of the members of the local club was in St. Paul last night and witnessed the Ertle-Williams fight and the contest between Jack Lester and Billy Miske. He said the card was marred by the fact that Williams fouled his opponent and that Lester's showing against Miske was disappointing.

Winners at Seagirt.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 11.—Fred H. Wells of New York yesterday won the Remington expert match at 1,000 yards with a score of 73 at the annual rifle tournament here. Two others, Sergt. George Jones and Lieut. William Rupertus of the marine corps also scored 73, but took second and third place, respectively, in the shoot-off.

LAST TENNIS TOURNEY PLAY

Lauren Kennedy Defeats Walter Fraker in Semi-Finals.

Finals in Singles and Doubles Being Played at Longview.

Duluth's 1915 tennis season will come to a close this afternoon with the completion of play in the finals of the singles and doubles in the city championship tournament which is being staged at the Longview courts on East Fourth street.

Yesterday afternoon Lauren Kennedy went into the finals of the singles when he defeated Walter Fraker 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 and 6-0. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Lauren Kennedy will take on his brother, Walter, in the finals for the title.

With the singles disposed of, Walter and Lauren Kennedy will take on Falk and Bissonnette in the finals of the doubles for the championship of Duluth.

Local tennis enthusiasts have had a most successful season and are highly pleased with results. The early summer months, when it rained nearly every day, were somewhat discouraging but play lost during that period was more than made up for during the fine weather that came later in the season. Five tournaments were staged, two being the Longview, Duluth Boat club, Head-of-the-Lakes, Labor day and city championship.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Braves Drop One.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 11.—Boston lost the first game of yesterday's double-header to Pittsburgh, 8 to 1, but evened up by taking the second 3 to 2 in ten innings. Adams was effective in the first game, while Nehf and Barnes were both hit hard. In the second contest, Rudolph was steady at critical times, but his opponent, Kantlehner was wild, which practically lost the game for the home team. Scores:

	R.	H.	E.
First game—
Boston	0	0	0
Pittsburgh	3	2	0
Second game—
Boston	0	0	1
Pittsburgh	0	1	0

Batteries—Nehf, Barnes and Whaling, Gowdy; Adams and Gibson.

Batteries—Lear and Wingo; Meadows, Lamline and Gonzales.

Cravath Wins Game.

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—One of the longest hits ever made in the history of Philadelphia park—a drive over the deep center field wall—by Cravath with the bases filled in the eighth inning gave Philadelphia a 7-to-3 victory over New York yesterday and a clean sweep of the series of four games. Tesreau was not impressive out-twirled McQuillan for six innings but also sent in all of New York's runs with a single, which scored two runners, and a home run. Tesreau began to weaken in the seventh, when the score was tied on doubles by Luderus and Whitted, Nicholl's sacrifice and an out. In the eighth the bases were filled on Stock's single and two passes and then came Cravath's remarkable drive. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
New York	3	7	1
Philadelphia	7	7	1

Batteries—Tesreau and Meyers; McQuillan and E. Burns.

Reds Beat Cardinals.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11.—Cincinnati finished the season with St. Louis here by taking yesterday's game 7 to 1, making a clean sweep of the series. Lear was in great form and allowed but three hits, while the visitors took advantage of Meadows' wildness which, combined with a series of singles, gave them a lead of seven runs. With this handicap, Manager Huggins sent in Lamline who finished in good style. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	7	8	0
St. Louis	1	3	2

Batteries—Lear and Wingo; Meadows, Lamline and Gonzales.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit Loses.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Ineffective pitching by James and Covaleskie allowed Cleveland to defeat Detroit yesterday. Klepfer kept Detroit's seven hits well scattered. Smith's hits and sacrifice flies accounted for four of Cleveland's runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	5	9	2
Detroit	2	7	3

Batteries — Klepfer and O'Neill; James, Covaleskie, Oldham and Stanage, Baker.

Red Sox Beat Mackmen.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11.—The Boston Americans gained their batting eyes yesterday and won easily from Philadelphia 7 to 2. Ruth was baffling except in two innings, the fifth when McInnis' single, Oldring's double and a wild pitch scored the Philadelphia runs, and the ninth, when he let up for several moments, but regained control. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	2	5	2
Boston	7	13	0

Batteries—Wyckoff and McAvoy; Ruth and Thomas.

Browns Win From Yankees.

New York, Sept. 11.—New York and St. Louis played off a postponed game here yesterday, which was won by the visitors, 3 to 1. Vance, a recruit from St. Joseph, Mo., started his first game for New York and made a good impression, but New York could not hit Hamilton. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	3	6	0
New York	1	7	1

Batteries—Hamilton and Severeid; Vance and Krueger.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Buffalo 3; Kawfeds 1.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 11.—Bunched hits off Main gave the opening game of the series to Buffalo yesterday. Doubles by Hofman and chase, with a pass to Meyer in the first inning, brought in two runs for Buffalo and another was counted in the sixth when Louden walked, stole second and scored on Engle's single. Main suffered a dislocated arm when in the seventh he reached for a thrown ball. Johnson finished the inning and Henning then took the mound. Kenworthy scored the only Kansas City run on a home run in the fourth. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	3	8	0
Kansas City	1	7	0

Batteries—Bedient and Allen; Main, Johnson, Henning and Enzenroth.

Brooklyn 2; Pittfeds 0.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Brooklyn continued its winning streak yesterday by defeating the leading Pittsburghs, 2 to 0. Bluejacket held the visitors to three hits. The two runs were scored in the third inning. With two down, Myers singled and Magee walked. Myers stole third and scored on Kauff's single to center, Magee taking third. Barger then threw to first to catch Kauff napping and in the runup McGee stole home, Kauff taking second. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	0	3	0
Brooklyn	2	8	3

Batteries — Barger and O'Connor; Bluejacket and Land.

St. Louis 3; Newark 0.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11.—Davenport yesterday pitched a two-hit game against Newark and enabled St. Louis to win from the visitors 3 to 0. Campbell's two scratches robbed Davenport of a no-hit game. Only once did a visitor get by first base. Scheer, the only man passed by Davenport, stole to second, but was retired there. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Newark	0	2	4
St. Louis	3	6	2

Batteries—Seaton and Rariden; Davenport and Chapman.

These two Minnesota athletes will appear in the next boxing show that the Duluth Athletic club will stage. Gardner, who fights at 133 pounds, will meet Kid Billings of Superior and O'Dowd will box Walter Monohan of Pittsburgh. The latter will weigh in at 156 pounds.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Saints and Senators Divide.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Columbus divided yesterday's double-header with St. Paul, taking the first game in ten innings, 2 to 1, and losing the final, 1 to 0. Close fielding all afternoon was a feature. Recruit pitchers used in the last game were wild. Scores:

	R.	H.	E.
First game—
St. Paul	1	8	2
Columbus	2	6	0

Batteries—Steele and Glenn; O'Toole and Coleman.

	R.	H.	E.
Second game—
St. Paul	2	9	1
Columbus	1	2	1

Batteries—Williams and Johnson; Bacon, Bennett and Mueller.

Millers Drop One.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11.—Although outbatted by Minneapolis, Louisville won, 7 to 5, yesterday, in a draggy game, marked by wrangling between players and umpires. Daniels was put out of the game in the eighth by Umpire Owens. After Hoch was knocked out of the box, Danforth checked Minneapolis' rallies in the last two innings by striking out five. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Minneapolis	5	14	0
Louisville	7	10	3

Batteries—M. Williams, Bentley, Engel and Gharrity, Sullivan; Hoch, Danforth and Clemons.

Indianapolis Wins Two.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—Splendid pitching by Willis and Dawson gave Indianapolis a double victory over Kansas City, 1 to 0, and 5 to 3. The first game was won in the seventh when Metz's double scored Kelly from first. The second game was taken by a hitting rally in the fourth inning, when singles by Kelly, Metz, Bronkie, Butcher, Blackburn and McMillan produced four runs. Scores:

	R.	H.	E.
First game—
Kansas City	0	7	0
Indianapolis	1	4	1

Batteries—Larson and Giebel; Willis and Blackburn.

	R.	H.	E.
Second game—
Kansas City	3	8	1
Indianapolis	5	15	3

Batteries—Delhi and Crisp; Dawson and Blackburn.

WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE AT STAKE

Philadelphia Woman Is Favorite on Strength of Performances.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Setting a record for long-distance golf, Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Southern champion, yesterday took Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, the Philadelphia expert, to the twenty-second hole before succumbing in the semi-finals of the women's national golf tournament at Onwentsia club. Mrs. Vanderbeck's hard-earned victory over the 17-year-old girl, allows her to contest the final round today with Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England, who eliminated Miss Ernestine Pearce, the last Chicago contender 5 and 3.

The steadiness and excellent style of the Southern girl won the support of the large gallery which followed the match to the far side of the links, only to see her lose on the fourth extra hole. To overcome Miss Stirling, Mrs. Vanderbeck had to play 15 of the 22 holes in woman's par, the Southern champion making 12 holes in par. The younger player had the better of the long strokes, but the Philadelphian was usually better in the short game.

The match started in the face of a southwest wind. At the twenty-second, a drizzle had turned to a brisk rain, and Miss Stirling's chip shot to the flag from the 20-yards which is about as short as the turf was slow. Apparently alarmed by this shortness, she over-putted, became flustered for the first time and missed the fifth, giving the victory to Mrs. Vanderbeck, who had sliced her drive and pulled her approach, but got down in five.

The other semi-final match did not attract attention, Mrs. Gavin leading all the way because Miss Pearce who Thursday eliminated Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Philadelphia, overswung on her approaches and took too long a swing with chip shots. Mrs. Vanderbeck is a favorite for the final round today, having averaged 90 for the final rounds played, while Mrs. Gavin has ranged around 95.

Third Race Postponed.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The third of the series of motor boat races for the championship of America and the Wrigley cup, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed on account of a heavy sea. Two of the races run have been won by Disturber IV. The contests will be resumed today, weather permitting.

FREIMUTHS TO MEET EDISONS

Many League Players in Line-up of Independent Champs.

If the Duluth Edisons can defeat the Freimuths tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park, they will close their season with the city amateur championship and the independent semi-professional flag. Both teams will have their best crews in the contest tomorrow and some speedy ball will certainly be staged.

The Freimuth team, without any doubt is one of the fastest in the Northwest, has many former league stars and several rising young players who are bound to show in big company next season. Frank Summers, Mickey McGraw, Si Bennett and Frank Schaeffer have all performed on the organized circuits and are still going big. Wick, a young fellow who does the principal part of the flinging for the drygoods men, is said by veteran players to be a sure comer. They say he has everything and then some. Iver Anderson, his battery mate, has all the finish of a rounded out backstop.

Not many of the Edisons are well known to the oldtime fans of Duluth for the reason that they have just recently gotten away from the corner lots where they received their early baseball education and then graduated into "regular" team society. However, there are many of the rooters who will recall Arnie Olson, Art Olson and Walter Blaski, all of these having been playing a high grade of ball for years.

This game which will start at 3 o'clock, will have for its umpire the redoubtable Duke Darby O'Brien, who played in the days of Adrian Anson and the late A. G. Spalding. Darby was whipping 'em across the diamond in the days of underhand pitching and his long experience should recommend him as an indicator holder. His eyesight may be a trifle off but he has a wonderful voice.

The lineup of the teams follows:

Freimuths.	Position.	Edisons
I. Anderson	c	Olund
Wick	p	Alder
Si Bennett	1b	Blaski
Schaeffer	2b	McDonald
Wade	ss	Art Olson
Summers	3b	Arnie Olson
McGraw	lf	Anderson
G. Anderson	cf	Du Moe
Owens	rf	Nelson

FINE TIMBER FOR GRIDIRON

More Than Thirty Recruits Answer First Call at Central.

Many "D" Men Return; Fine Prospects for Annexing Title.

A squad of more than thirty ambitious athletes reported to Coach C. S. Blake, the new Central high school athletic director, in response to his first call for candidates for the 1915 football eleven that will represent the local institution on the gridiron this fall. The men have been put through some stiff workouts under the direction of the new coach, and they evidently please their instructor.

Many Old Men Back.

With the return of all but four of last year's "D" men, prospects for a championship aggregation this fall look especially promising. The team last year was made up of green men for the most part, and they were sadly lacking in beef. This year, however, the squad as a whole is considerably heavier and faster, and in the early practices they loom up as being very formidable. No definite decisions have been made by Coach Blake as yet, the positions of quarterback and center being the only ones that are bothering him very much. The following lineup looked especially good in practice yesterday, although it is by no means definite: Mann and Jenttoft, ends; Capt. Warner and Hall, tackles; Rasmussen and Sullivan, guards; Denfeld, center; Richards, quarter;

COACH C. S. BLAKE.

O'Brien, fullback; Lawson and Lewis, halfbacks. Of these men Denfeld and Hall are the only ones that are not "D" men. The former is a husky man with lots of ability, having had a brother on the famous machine of two years ago. "Fat" Hall, who made a name for himself as a member of the great Duluth senior eight this summer, looks good for Warner's tackle mate. He weighs close to 170 pounds and is a scrappy player. His wonderful rowing condition will aid him in football. All of the "D" men are husky and fast and in time Central should boast of a wonderful eleven.

New Methods Popular.

The new coach is introducing some methods that are proving popular, and all of the players seem eager to work for him. O. E. Amtsbuechler, a former college friend of Coach Blake, will probably assist in the line coaching. Outside of these two men no one will have anything to do with the team. The team members all like their captain, Phil Warner, one of the best kickers and all-around players that the school has ever had, and he will be used to instill spirit into the players and keep them moving.

No definite arrangements for the schedule have been made as yet, but an effort will be made to get some of the strongest teams in the Northwest to come here. There will be the annual contests with St. Paul and Superior, both of them to be played away this year. It is playing strong teams that puts the fight into an aggregation, and whether they lose or not the supporters like to see them up against a combination with a reputation and one that can be depended to put up a real game. The first game will be with the alumni and will probably be held in about two weeks.

Expect Big Attendance.

With a good team and the promise of some real games, indications are that the attendance will be much greater this year than last. The students will be hounded by the football advertising manager, with the result that the turnstiles at the gates will turn more merrily than heretofore.

STARS ENTERED.

Tri-State League Tennis Tourney Opens at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 11.—With an entry list that includes National Champion William M. Johnston, and his partner in doubles, Clarence Griffin, both of California, as well as the women's champion, Miss Molla Bjuristedt, the annual tri-state tennis tourney opened here today on the courts of the Cincinnati Tennis club.

Among the other out-of-town players who will contest during the tourney are Irving Wright of Boston, and Ward Dawson and Ella Fottrell, both of California.

LEAGUE LEADERS ADD TO THEIR ADVANTAGE

New York, Sept. 11.—The leaders in both American and National league races stepped ahead of their rivals by winning their games yesterday, while the other contenders failed to help their standings. The Philadelphia Nationals, by defeating the now tail-end New York Giants, and thereby making a clean sweep of the series, gained half a game on both Brooklyn, which had an open date, and Boston, which won and lost in a double-header with Pittsburgh.

The Boston Americans made their lead over Detroit more secure yesterday by winning from Philadelphia, while Detroit was losing to Cleveland. This victory places the Red Sox two and a half games ahead of the Tigers.

YOUNG CALIFORNIAN IS NEW TENNIS CHAMP

WILLIAM M. JOHNSTON.

By a sensational win from R. Norris Williams, the national champion, William M. Johnston got into the finals with Maurice McLoughlin and then captured the national tennis title. Williams had been a three-to-one favorite in the match and his defeat was a great surprise. Though the young Californian was not expected to win his victory he was popular with the crowd, which applauded his fine playing. Johnston was regarded when he first came east as the most finished of the California players but his age, 17, was against him then.

DULUTH GOLFERS TO PLAY AT HOUGHTON

Eighteen Players of Northland Club Leave for Michigan Links.

Eighteen members of the Northland Country club, accompanied by their wives and Dick Clarkson, club professional, left last evening on the steamer Octorara for Houghton, where they will contest with the players of the Portage Lake club today. Play will be for the possession of the Cole cup. This is the second match, the Houghton players having been defeated on the local links last July.

Among the Duluthians who went to Houghton are: T. F. Cole, G. J. McCulloch, Art Hoene, J. L. Mullin, F. H. White, Elmer Whyte and M. B. Cullum.

Ball sweepstakes, a medal play handicap, is now being played at the Northland links. Each entrant must put up a ball and these are placed in a pool. The winner takes 50 per cent, the second, 30, and third, 20. Other games are being played at the Northland club today.

HAMLINE RACES GIVE CROWD GOOD SPORT

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 11.—The Great Western races furnished excellent sport for a large crowd yesterday. Results:

2:12 trot, purse $1,000—Alice Arion won; Governor Mason, second; Lucy Patchen, third; best time, 2:13½.

2:13 pace, St. Paul, purse, $3,000—Lillian T. won; King Dillard, second; The Counterpart, third; best time, 2:11¼.

2:21 trot, purse, $1,000—Direct Patch won; The Proof, second; Zomblack, third; best time, 2:13¾.

Free-for-all pace, purse, $1,000—Braden Dicet won; Walter Cochato, second; Dom Densmore, third; best time, 2:06¾.

2:18 trot, purse, $1,000—Guy Nixon won; Miss Pinkerton, second; Roan Roy, third; best time, 2:14½.

Four-Cornered Race Off.

St. Paul, Sept. 11.—The proposed 100-mile automobile race on the new Twin City motor speedway set for tomorrow, has been called off, it is officially announced. Four drivers, Dario Resta, Bob Burman, Ralph De Palma and Eddie O'Donnell were to have taken part in the race.

ADAMS STARS ON NEW TEAM

Local Football Players Organize and Select "Duluth" as Name.

Sanders of Last Year's Marines Will Play With Team.

With all of the members of last year's Adams football team reporting for early fall work, with the exception of Fred Greisch, who will perform at Virginia, Cub Lajoy's moleskin wearers who will play under the name of the Duluth football team, certainly look good on paper.

A squad of thirty stalwart young men, all experienced in gridiron warfare, assembled last evening in the former headquarters of the Adams team in the West end, where they discussed various matters of interest, agreed on different features of the business end of the sport and decided to report for preliminary practice next Sunday morning at Athletic park.

Among those who assembled last evening were Barry, Schomers, De Long, Wickland, Briggs, Braden, Method, Stevens, Mike Atol, McDonald and Turner, all of last year's Adams crew. Among the new men that reported for positions were Bill Sanders, center last year for the fast Marine team of Minneapolis, and Charles Williamson of Ishpeming, Mich., former star high school player with a team that carried off Upper Peninsula honors for several years.

The management of the team has decided upon red and black colors for the team and these will appear in stripes in the jerseys and stockings. A large D, in white, will be affixed to the chest section of the sweaters.

Manager Lajoy stated this morning that he is now busy framing up a schedule of games and that he expects to open the local season on Sept. 26, with either the Hibbing or the Bemidji team.

MURPHY MAKES HIS MARE HARNESS WINNER

Hartford, Conn. Sept. 11. — Tommy Murphy had another big day in the final afternoon's card of racing at the grand circuit meeting at Charter Oak yesterday. He captured two firsts and one second in the three races on the program after cleaning up the card.

For the first time since Murphy bought the bay mare, Lulu Cumming, at a reported price of $12,500 almost two years ago, he managed to pilot her to a win, capturing the 2:11 trot in straight heats, with Earl Wood second in each instance. He also won the 2:15 trot with Tampwright in straight heats, while Walter Cox took the third race, the 2:14 pace, with Camella, Hal S., driven by Murphy taking second money.

Despite the fact that all three races went in straight heats, the larger fields, so different from the earlier days of the week, made all of the races interesting, as there were numerous challengers for the lead in each heat.

N. Y. CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION ENDED

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The New York constitutional convention last night adjourned finally. It opened April 6 and has cost about $500,000.

Formal adoption of the revised constitution, the method by which it is to be submitted to the people on Nov. 2 for ratification and an appeal to voters to support it, were included in the day's work. The general appeal was supplemented by a personal plea to electors for acceptance of the document by President Elihu Root.

In addition to the proposals ordered submitted, two others authorized by the legislature will be voted on by the electors in November. One is the women's suffrage question and the other a proposal to raise $27,000,000 by bond issue to complete the barge canal.

TROTS TO PLACE ON GALLOWS; HANGED

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 11.—David Fountain, a church janitor, was hanged at Folsom prison today for the murder of 10-year-old Margaret Milling in the basement of the German Lutheran church here on Dec. 5, 1914. Fountain trotted to his place on the gallows. He was born at Marshalltown, Iowa, and had served terms in the Iowa state penitentiary and the Cherry Hill, Pa., penitentiary, besides having been an inmate of asylums in Mount Pleasant and Clarinda, Iowa.

HERE'S ANOTHER MOTOR ROUTE MAPPED BY DULUTH AUTOMOBILE CLUB FOR PUBLICATION IN THE HERALD

New Route to Ashland Is Described in Detail—It Avoids the Difficulties of the Old Route But Is Slightly Longer.

This is another of the Duluth Automobile club's routes mapped for the convenience of motorists and published in The Herald. The Herald has already published similar descriptions of the road to the Twin Cities, the Wonderland Trail, and a new route to Pike lake. Watch for the two roads to the range.

Duluth motorists now have a complete road guide from this city to Ashland.

It is the first of its kind ever prepared and was made by R. A. Hayes of the Goodrich touring bureau at the direction of Andrew Kienly, secretary of the Duluth Automobile club. Mr. Hayes is making a tour of Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan in an automobile for the purpose of obtaining road data. This information is to be printed in card form and will be distributed free of charge to motorists.

In general there are two routes between Duluth and Ashland, one proceeding via Lake Murray, as indicated on the accompanying log, the other running through Brule and Iron River. The latter road is considerably shorter, but makes a less scenic trip and the sand becomes very troublesome in spots.

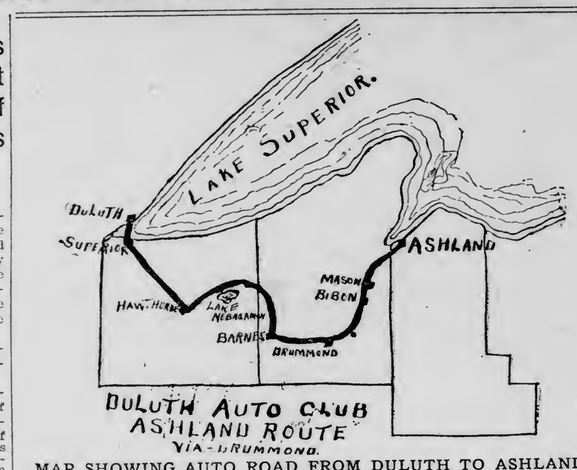

The Lake Murray route leads through a land beautiful in natural scenery and a region held in high regard by hunters and fishermen.

For more than a score of miles the road winds through dense woods and prairie land, where the absence of distinguishing landmarks makes charting difficult. It is necessary here to watch constantly the roadside signboards and to keep closely to the traveled trail.

Short stretches of sand will be encountered, mainly around Lake Nebagamon, but only enough to add zest to the drive—hardly sufficient to force a healthy motor into "low."

Duluthians Make Trip.

W. C. McCarter and F. W. Beck made the trip to Ashland by way of Lake Murray recently, and they report that the road from Duluth to the lake is very good. Work is being done on the highway from Drummond to Mason, and is now rather rough. From Mason to Ashland the road is in great shape, they say. In returning on the Iron River road, the two motorists encountered bad stretches between Ashland and Iron River. From Iron River to Lake Nebagamon and then to Duluth the road is in fine condition.

CONGRESS MUST MEET GOOD ROADS PROBLEM

Army of Auto Owners to Be Satisfied, Says A. A. A. Head.

Washington, Sept. 11. — "Congress will have the good roads question to answer at its forthcoming session, and the accumulating demand from all parts of the country makes clear that that issue must be met," asserts President John A. Wilson of the American Automobile association who is enroute to the Pacific coast to preside on motor-car day at the American Road congress.

"With more than two million automobiles in use, the motorists now make up an army of road users entitled to equal consideration with all other citizens," says Mr. Wilson, "though some of us can remember an earlier period when we were considered a special class, subject to all kinds of hampering legislation and considered chiefly from a revenue producing standpoint.

"But we have finally obtained nearly all those rights which belong to the average citizen, and there is one thing in which we take a great deal of pride and satisfaction. In encouraging people to travel from town to town and from state to state, we have accelerated astoundingly the national viewpoint. Nevertheless, I must confess to a belief that comprehensive highways improvement has only begun, for it is now receiving deserved attention from a growing number of men who have most to do with the affairs of the nation."

TEN THOUSAND CHECKS DAILY

Ford Owners Sharing in $15,000,000 Profits for Last Year.

Daily Distribution of Funds Amounts to More Than $500,000.

These are busy days—particularly busy days—at the Ford Motor company's administration building, Detroit. Checks—each for $50—are going out to more than 300,000 Ford owners who by purchasing their cars between August, 1914, and August, 1915, participate in Ford profits to the aggregate of more than $15,000,000. This disbursement is in itself rather a stupendous task. The checks are being mailed at the rate of about 10,000 a day, a per diem distribution of $500,000.

A large and distinct organization has been arranged to complete this task. When the profit-sharing plan for Ford owners was announced Aug. 1, 1914, a department to handle the details was installed in the Ford administration building. For several weeks now a large corps of stenographers has been filling in the 300,000 names in the checks. These names are taken from the original bills of sale.

Open-face envelopes are used, the name of the payee serving also as the mailing address. The amount of the check—$50—is printed on its face.

The work of signing more than 300,000 checks itself offered a problem. Each check carries the signature of one of three assistant cashiers and the most inveterate scribbler might easily develop writer's cramp and grow exceedingly tired of his own name without some device to lighten his labor. There are five checks to a sheet and by a single operation of the pen these five checks are signed simultaneously.

As far as possible the checks are being mailed to the owners in the same chronological order as the cars were purchased. Bill of sale number one, by the way, was signed by Genevieve Morrison, 914 North Florence street, El Paso, Texas. It covers a Ford touring car, motor No. 544,547, bought Aug. 1, 1914.

The profit-sharing owners in this huge list range from large corporations, who have bought many Fords for the equipment of their salesmen or for delivery purposes, to thrifty Americans who have invested their savings in their Fords as a pleasure-giving, health-bringing gift to themselves and their families. And it is a complete democracy. Everybody gets the same sized check—$50 on each car purchased.

The large number of women on the list of beneficiaries, too, is significant. Evidently women buy and drive the Ford, not only because of its safety element, but because of its ease of operation and control—its sheer simplicity.

The effect of this huge sum—more than $15,000,000—going back into nearly every city, town, hamlet and rural district of the United States will be tremendous. Everybody will feel the effect and stimulus of it, because all sorts of business, all kinds of professions and trades, all walks of life are represented in that list of more than 300,000 Ford profit-sharers. It goes broadcast across the country.

At the rate at which the checks are now being mailed—about 10,000 a day—the distribution of the total—over 300,000—will be completed in about thirty days.

STATE FAIR DISPLAY BEST ON RECORD

Space Famine at Show Rooms for the First Time.

Visitors to the Minnesota state fair auto show this week saw a display far larger and more comprehensive than any ever before held at the state fair.

For the first time in its history there was a space famine at the show. Every foot of space in the big auto show room on the first floor of the Liberal Arts building had been taken for Being a Compilation of Happenings the Last Week Among Local Automobile Dealers and Motorists.

Next Saturday John M. Ford will hold the official opening of his new quarters at 208 East Superior street. He returned yesterday from the Chevrolet factory at Flint, Mich., where he arranged for the shipment of four carloads of Chevrolets for the opening a week from today. The Wintons arrived last week. In addition, Mr. Ford is handling the Firestone tires.

Mr. Ford's showrooms and garage will be open day and night as a service station for motorists. On the first floor are the offices and storage room and on the second floor the shop and work rooms. An electric elevator is used to take the machines upstairs.

* * *

W. F. Daly, who staged Duluth's first automobile show last spring, is associated with Mr. Ford.

* * *

Joseph T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate company announced yesterday that he has just sold another white Franklin car. He refuses to divulge the owner's name. Mrs. J. A. Todd is owner of the white Franklin seen about Duluth streets this summer.

* * *

Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, is treasurer of the American Resilient Wheel company of St. Paul and during this week was in Duluth demonstrating the new invention. Accompanied by his associates, Edward Renard, president, and Burton Newburg, secretary, of the company, he made the trip from St. Paul to Duluth in his machine, which is equipped with the resilient wheels. They are leaving today for a motor trip to Lake Vermilion for a week's outing.

* * *

Ford cars are beginning to arrive, according to E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company, after a delay of six weeks. The factory was unable to obtain parts from the iron and steel plants, because of the heavy war orders on the factories.

* * *

In the last ten days the Mutual Auto company sold twenty-two Overlands to its agents, making a total of 100 cars in nine weeks.

* * *

Twin City motorists, who drove up here this week, follow: S. C. Shipley, J. W. Damon, H. I. Tuthill of Minneapolis, and E. M. Freeman, W. J. Smith, G. E. Holmes of St. Paul.

* * *

Fred G. Kleyn of the Kleyn company reports the sale of the two new 1916 Hudson touring sedans, which were announced early this week. The cars will be delivered here Sept. 20.

* * *

Leonard McNamara returned last night from a trip to the range in a 1916 Studebaker.

* * *

The Interstate Auto company reports that a carload of Franklins will arrive here next week.

* * *

Logan T. Wood, sales manager for the H. B. Knudsen company, spent the past week on the range. He was accompanied by G. L. Wigton, district representative of the Paige factory.

* * *

J. Hugh Moss, manager of the Northwestern Tire company, returned Thursday from the Twin Cities, where he attended the speedway races and the state fair. He is of the opinion that the automobile exhibit at the fair is the best in its history.

* * *

M. W. Turner drove to the range in a 1916 Buick early this week. He expects a carload of three Buicks here next Tuesday.

* * *

Eight Maxwells and three Paiges are expected here Monday by H. B. Knudsen of the Knudsen Auto company.

* * *

Range autoists, who visited Duluth this week, follow: F. Caddy, Virginia; J. A. Robb, Eveleth; J. H. McNiven, Chisholm; M. Thomas, Eveleth; Emil Kirkonen, Biwabik; John Columbo, Virginia; J. A. Talle, Biwabik; Stephen Geravis, Chisholm, and P. Hogan, Gilbert.

* * *

P. C. Rust and family of New York city stopped in Duluth Tuesday on their continental trip in an Overland. They left here for Bemidji and the Wonderland trail to Glacier park.

* * *

Last June the Haynes factory stopped shipping cars, having run out of parts, and this week M. W. Turner received the first 1916 model.

SERVICE TO HERALD READERS.

Anyone interested in the purchase of a 1916 automobile can get information about the various machines and the local dealers by writing to the automobile department of The Herald. If you are interested in any machine The Herald will tell you where to buy. The Herald is the recognized medium between buyer and dealer in the Northwest.

REPUBLIC

THE HONEST TRUCK AT AN HONEST PRICE

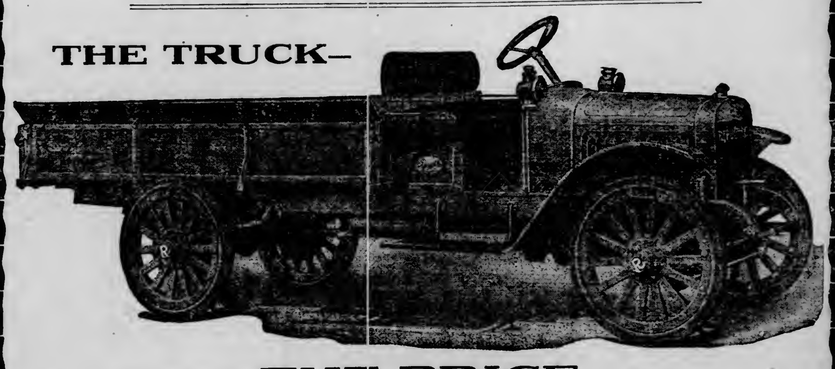

MR. MERCHANT: If you are interested in the cost of motorized delivery, as compared to horses, we will be pleased to put a Republic truck at your service to make up suitable cost sheets, covering both methods of transportation.

The excellent performance of these quality trucks in the hands of Duluth owners has been a revelation to Duluth business men as to the possibilities for profit in a motorized delivery service. The design and workmanship in these vehicles have proven their suitability to Duluth conditions—conditions which are as hard as any in the whole country. Ask any Republic owner if this is not so.

Back of every Republic truck is its factory, which offers real service to the owner. Periodic inspection by a factory expert, who adjusts every machine at the expense of company. Should any parts prove defective they are replaced without charge.

three weeks, and it was necessary to refuse dozens of requests for space.

One reason for the big demand for space is the fact that 1916 models have been introduced much earlier than usual. The fact that 350,000 persons normally attend the state fair is a strong inducement to manufacturers and dealers to exhibit.

The camping grounds at the north part of machinery hill were enlarged to accommodate a small army of automobile tourists from the country, and hundreds of tents were put up to provide lodgings to parties of any size who motored to the fair.

One of the features of the machinery show was the auto truck display. Motorcycles of different makes, trailers, starters and many other new things in the automobile world, were displayed on the hill, and in the industrial building.

COLE LIMOUSINE STRIKING 1916 MODEL

Three Disappearing Auxiliary Seats Face Forward When Raised.

The striking feature of the 1916 line of closed models just announced by the Cole Motor Car company, is the luxurious Cole eight Berline limousine with its three disappearing auxiliary seats which, when in position, allow a comfortable seating capacity for six adults in the spacious rear compartment of the car. The back seat is roomy and deeply upholstered and accommodates three persons easily.

The three disappearing auxiliary seats face forward when raised. When folded down they rest in separate compartments completely hidden from view by broadcloth upholstering. The seats are arranged so that any or all may be placed in position at will.

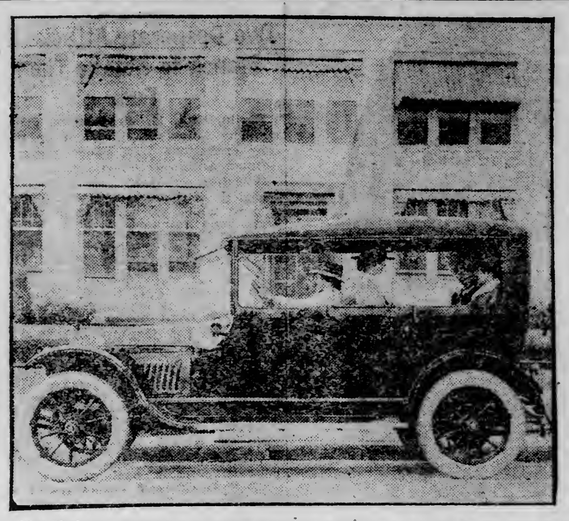

The upholstering of the rear compartment is of high quality, gray ribbed-broadcloth with striped top lining and silk curtains to match. The driver's compartment also is roomy and is finished in long grain black leather. It admits of one passenger in addition to the driver.

The deck or roof of the body is made of a single piece of aluminum, the lines of which harmonize with the rounded back and long streamline radiator, producing a car of singular grace and elegance of design. The car is painted either deep blue or black, as desired.

The interior furnishings of the body are complete; no detail has been overlooked which will add to the attractiveness of the car or the comfort of the occupants. A smoking set and cigar lighter are concealed at one side of the car, while on the other side, hidden in a similar manner, is a toilet set. A cut glass receptacle for flowers adds to the completeness of the furnishings. The compartment is lighted by a globe in the dome of the car and by two Pullman lights, one in each rear corner. The glass sash lights of which there are seven, are equipped with an automatic lift, which makes the operation of raising or lowering them particularly easy. When fresh air is needed the simple turning of a small silver handle allows the glass to slip quietly down until the desired ventilating space has been acquired.

The Cole Motor Car company also announces a demountable sedan top and hereafter will be in a position to furnish owners of touring cars with a closed top which can be placed on the car with little difficulty. The new top has been manufactured with the utmost care, and every precaution has been taken to insure the easy transition of a Cole touring car into a real winter limousine.

NEW HUDSON TOURING SEDAN

The Hudson company announces this new and novel car. It is a distinctively Hudson type. The touring-sedan is a refinement both of the open and closed car type. It combines the breeziness and the airiness of the touring model with the comfort and convenience of an entirely closed body.

For winter driving the car with the sides closed is as perfectly adapted as the limousine. No crevice is found for snow or rain to enter and the car is always warm and comfortable. Fred J. Kleyn, local distributer, is showing a sample of this new Hudson in the Hudson showrooms.

NEW RECORD SET.

San Francisco, Sept. 11.—A new record has been established between San Francisco and Fresno. The Chevrolet car is latest to enter the road racing game in that state and in making the run from San Francisco to Fresno in the fast time of 4 hours and 20 minutes this car beat the best previous record by 8 minutes. Earl Jackson of Fresno drove the new record-breaker, and besides clipping 8 minutes from the old record he drove twenty miles further.

Starting from San Francisco Jackson sent his car down the peninsula to Mount View, then across the lower edge of the bay to Warm Springs and over the highway to Livermore. This route is at least twenty miles further than that which was used by the previous record holder, and in setting such a fast mark for this trip Jackson demonstrated the speed and consistency of the little Chevrolet machine.

The remarkable time of 4 hours and 20 minutes for the trip between San Francisco and Fresno, including the run down this side of the bay, is a practical demonstration of the possibilities of touring in the modern low-priced touring car.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE CANADIAN FORD FACTORY

The Canadian Ford factory—

Is located at Ford, Ont.

Is the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the British Empire and one of the largest in the world.

Builds the Ford cars for Canada—and for all the British empire outside of the isles themselves.

Built more than three times as many cars this year as any other automobile factory in the British empire.

Turned out more than 3,600 cars in a single month last spring—breaking all its own previous records.

Has approximately 400,000 square feet of floor space.

Has a new addition which has just been completed at a cost of about $300,000 which added 130,000 square feet of floor space to the factory.

Has more than a thousand machines of various designs and for various purposes in its machine shop, having a combined valuation running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Most of these machines are designed especially for the manufacture of the Ford car.

Bought its materials this year for a production of 30,000 cars—120,000 wheels, 150,000 lamps and other materials in proportion.

Employs approximately 1,700 persons at the home office and factory. These employes with those depending upon them for support form about one-third of the total inhabitants of Windsor, Walkerville, Sandwich and Ford, Ont., which have a combined population of approximately 30,000 persons.

Employs approximately 2,400 persons at the home office, factory, nine branches in as many principal Canadian cities and at its branch at Melbourne, Australia.

Pays the majority of its 2,400 employes a minimum wage of $4 a day of eight working hours.

Takes almost the entire output of several other large factories, employing hundreds of workmen, located near it.

Has on its roof the largest electrically illuminated sign in North American, if not in the world. The sign is 450 feet long and is composed of fifteen-foot letters.

Supplies cars and parts to more than 550 dealers in Canada alone and to nearly as many more throughout its foreign territory.

Has sold more than 50,000 Fords to date.

OLD OVERLAND NOW WORKING ON FARM

Much Traveled Car Converted Into Tractor By Simple Process.

After driving a 1912 Overland touring car more than 20,000 miles over the rough roads of Saskatchewan, A. W. Bell, a native of Saskatoon, conceived the idea of putting it to work on his farm. His theory was that if the car could stand three years of traveling over the so-called roads of that section of the country, it could go a step better and do the practical work.

The Overland was converted into a tractor by the simple arrangement of putting in an extra axle under the frame, two feet in front of the rear axle of the car, on which were placed two binder wheels. After removing the rear wheels of his car, Bell replaced them with small sprocket wheels which were connected with large sprockets on the drive wheels by a chain. This reduced the speed of the car and gave it more power.

Practically all of Bell's neighbors who were interested in his experiment, believed the scheme to be impractical. They tried to convince him that the engine would heat up too much and declared the gears could not possibly stand the continuous strain.

But, although the machine has been in almost constant use throughout the summer no trouble has been developed. It has been run as many as fourteen hours a day, drawing a set of discs and a set of sixteen fast harrows, without even needing a fresh supply of water.

Bell states that he was able to seed thirty acres a day or harrow from sixty to seventy acres with his automobile. By drawing two twelve-inch bushers he managed to break five acres of soil a day, or the equivalent to the work done by six to eight horses.

The Overland consumed just seventy gallons of gasoline to put in the crop, while the cost of horse feed alone would have more than doubled the expenditure. The saving in time and labor was another important item.

It took less than an hour to change the rigging of the car, so that at any time when its owner desired to make the trip to town, all that was necessary was to take off the farm equipment and transform the machine into a full-fledged touring car.

Just "Six" Facts—

To you who are confused with and weary of long drawn out aside-from-the-point arguments, we present these Six important basic facts:

The Overland Six has a wheelbase of one hundred and twenty-five inches.

Many a Six—costing more—has a shorter wheelbase.

Many a Six—costing more—has considerably less power; considerably less speed.

The Overland is a roomy Six—seating seven adults with ease.

Many a Six—costing more—has a smaller tonneau; hence less comfort.

The Overland Six has 35" x 4½" tires with non-skids on the rear.

Many a Six—costing more—has smaller tires.

The Overland Six has high tension magneto ignition.

Many a Six—costing more—has not.

On other Sixes, that cost more, they are not as conveniently located.

These few major items alone should, we believe, convince any intelligent buyer of the downright wisdom and out-and-out economy of selecting an Overland Six.

HERALD'S WEEKLY ROADS BUREAU AND BULLETIN

Under this heading The Duluth Herald is conducting a weekly column of information for automobile owners and drivers during the summer and fall months. If you are planning on taking a trip, write to the automobile department. All the information at our disposal is yours for the asking. Motorists outside of Minnesota are especially invited to make use of this department.

Every motorist out of the 300 that drove down to the Twin Cities last week for the speedway races and the state fair reports a short stretch in Pine county that is almost impassable and dangerous. It is between Pine City and Hinckley and although the local officials have promised to put the stretch in good shape, they have failed to do so up to the present time and as a result motorists driving to and from the Twin Cities have a good trip spoiled. However, the remainder of the Twin City-Duluth highway is reported by everyone to be in fine shape for automobile traveling. From Minneapolis to Hinckley and from Moose Lake to Duluth the road is as good as a boulevard, motorists report.

• • •

A road map of Minnesota, showing the best highways for traveling to the Twin Cities from all sections of the state, has been prepared by the Minneapolis Auto club. Local motorists interested in any particular trip can see a copy of the map in possession of the automobile editor of The Herald.

• • •

E. D. Tofty of Grand Marais, accompanied by C. O. Backlund, drove down to Duluth in a Ford car early this week. This trail was originally blazed by E. J. Fillatrault of the Mutual Auto company. The road, Mr. Tofty reports, is in good shape, with the exception of a two-mile stretch about ten miles west of Grand Marais, which is now being repaired. They left at 11 a. m. Monday, arriving here at 7:45 o'clock in the evening.

NEW ORLEANS WILL HAVE FASTEST TRACK

New Orleans, Sept. 11.—A deal for a two-mile automobile speedway, involving an investment of $400,000, and insuring for New Orleans the fastest track in the world, was consummated recently. On the opening day, Saturday, March 4, a 500-mile derby will be run for a $50,000 prize, with such drivers as De Palma, Burman and Resta participating.

A. F. Brockman and S. W. Lindsay and H. C. Moore were the well-known Chicago business men who brought the negotiations to a successful conclusion, and acquired from the New Orleans Land company 360 acres of ideally located lands fronting Lake Pontchartrain on the street car line between West end and Spanish Fort, as the site of the speedway.

John A. Price, originator of the board track speedway, who has built more than 100 automobile tracks in the United States, is in the city, at the Grunewald hotel, with Messrs. Moore and Lindsay, and will have charge of the construction of the course.

HEAVY AUGUST BUSINESS.

Shipping cars to the value of $2,000,000 during twenty-six working days in August, the Chalmers Motor company has just completed one of the most prosperous months in its history. At the close of business Aug. 30, the company's books showed that fifty-five more cars had been shipped in July and August than in the first six months of the last fiscal year, running from July 1 to Jan. 1.

"Our production department has been literally forced to break all records in an effort to keep up with the orders on hand in the sales department," said Hugh Chalmers yesterday. "When we first announced the six-40, our plans called for largely increased production, but that we underestimated the demand is shown by July and August records.

"The demand for cars has been general, ranging from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. From both Eastern and Western districts and the grain belt of the Middle West, distributors are wiring in for train-loads of cars for immediate delivery."

FOR CANADA'S SOLDIER BOYS

All-Day Reception for Those Making Donations Next Wednesday.

The committee that has in charge the work of obtaining trench luxuries and additional clothing for the Canadian soldiers now in France, has arranged for an all-day reception at the Spalding hotel for next Wednesday, at which time donations will be received. The donations will be not only of money but of tobacco, cigarets, gum, clothing, socks, and other things which may tend to make the life of the men in the trenches during the cold weather a little more endurable, and which can be shipped easily.

Mrs. Mille Bunnell and David Quayle, British vice consul, will be in charge and will hold the reception from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock that night, during which baskets will be provided to receive donations, and tea will be served those who attend.

Mrs. Bunnell and Mr. Quayle will be assisted by a number of Canadian residents of Duluth, and as a large percentage of the city's population is made up of Canadians and other British-born people, it is expected that the response to the call for donations for the Canadian soldiers of the empire will be liberal.

CONSIGNEE IS BLAMELESS

Interesting Grain Demurrage Case Just Decided in Buffalo.

In the United States district court at Buffalo, N. Y., Judge Hazel has given a decision that will be of more than passing interest to grain men and vessel owners. It was in the demurrage action of the National Steamship Company of Duluth, owner of the steamship C. W. Watson, against the Lewis Grain company and Dudley M. Irwin of Buffalo.

The steamer Watson arrived at Buffalo, Nov. 10, 1914, with 237,000 bushels of grain aboard. She had wheat in No. 1 and No. 4 compartments, and barley in Nos. 2 and 3. The barley was for export and went right through the elevator to the cars. The 40,000 bushels of wheat in No. 4 compartment was a local consignment, to remain in Buffalo.

Unloading Difficult

According to the testimony there was the usual November congestion of grain and vessels were being unloaded in various periods of time, depending largely upon whether or not they had export grain. The elevators were trying to avoid getting clogged up with local grain, and the consignees of the 40,000 bushels could not get any elevator to take it. The rest of the cargo was unloaded on Nov. 17 and 18, and then room was made at the Exchange elevator for the 40,000 bushels, whereupon the steamer Watson was sent there to discharge the cargo. But it was not unloaded until Nov. 21 at noon. It was then the owner of the ship libeled the 40,000 bushels, claiming that she 'had been unreasonably delayed after the rest of the cargo had been unloaded.

Used Reasonable Effort.

Judge Hazel held that the consignees had used every reasonable effort to procure the unloading of the 40,000 bushels and were not responsible for the congestion and general conditions that prevented their getting her unloaded sooner. He accordingly dismissed the libel.

This was the first grain demurrage case that had been tried in Buffalo since 1903, when Judge Cox presided. At that time it was practice that a vessel's cargo was to be in one consignment, and about 100,000 bushels was considered a fair load. Now, the Watson, which is called a small vessel, had on 237,000 bushels in five different consignments.

New Question Up.

There were new questions at issue in the case decided by Judge Hazel, owing to the change in conditions as to the size of cargoes and the number of consignments. The question came up as to whether a vessel could hold one part of the cargo for the delay caused by that part of the cargo, in failing to procure elevator room after the balance of the cargo was unloaded.

The court held that because of the different consignments in one load, and sometimes different kinds of grain, in the different holds, as in the Watson's case, wheat and barley, and with some local and some through grain, it is not practical to unload boats either at one elevator, or in the order of their arrival. But in this case the elevators of the port tried to distribute and unload the grain so as to keep it moving and prevent congestion and accumulation.

ROBERTSON WILL FACE SECOND TRIAL

George K. Robertson, Northern Pacific switchman, who was acquitted last April on a charge of complicity in the theft of $3,000 worth of copper anodes from a box car in the local Northern Pacific yards, and who was later indicted for burglary in the third degree, will probably be brought to trial at the present term of the district court.

Joseph Regali, jointly indicted with Robertson on the former charge, did not testify at the first trial, and the case against him was dismissed. In response to a subpena, however, he appeared before the grand jury in connection with the second case, and was called on to tell what he knew of it.

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE, EMPIRE BUILDER, IS DEAD

Passes Away at Montreal Hospital at the Age of 72.

Born in United States, He Achieves Great Success in Canada.

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Sir William Van Horne died at 2:10 p. m. Sir William has been seriously ill at the Royal Victoria hospital for more than two weeks after an operation for abdominal abscess. For a time there were indications that he would recover. Grave symptoms, however, developed early this week.

Rose From Foot of Ladder.

Sir William Van Horne rose from the foot of the ladder to wealth and fame as one of the so-called empire builders of Canada. Although he was born in the United States in Will county, Ill., Feb. 3, 1843, and gained railway experience through many years' connection with railroads in the central and western United States, it was after his moving to Canada and becoming general manager of the Canadian Pacific railway in 1882 that he achieved his most notable triumph by pushing the railway to completion across the continent.

All the rest of his active life he was one of the heads of the Canadian Pacific, being vice president from 1884 to 1888, president from 1888 to 1899, and chairman of the board of directors from 1899 to 1910.

Father a Lawyer.

Sir William was the son of Cornelius Covenhoven Van Horne, who was a lawyer at Joliet, Ill. The death of his father left young Van Horne to fight the battle of life when he was only 13 years of age. It appears he was facinated from the first with the life of a railway man, for his first job was in the railroad yards. He soon afterward became a telegraph operator for the Illinois Central and his strides ahead in various capacities with the Michigan Central railway and the Chicago & Alton brought him up to his first important executive position as general superintendent of the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern in 1872. Before going to Canada he also served as general manager of the Southern Minnesota railway and general superintendent of the Chicago & Alton and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

"Hill and Harriman" of Canada.

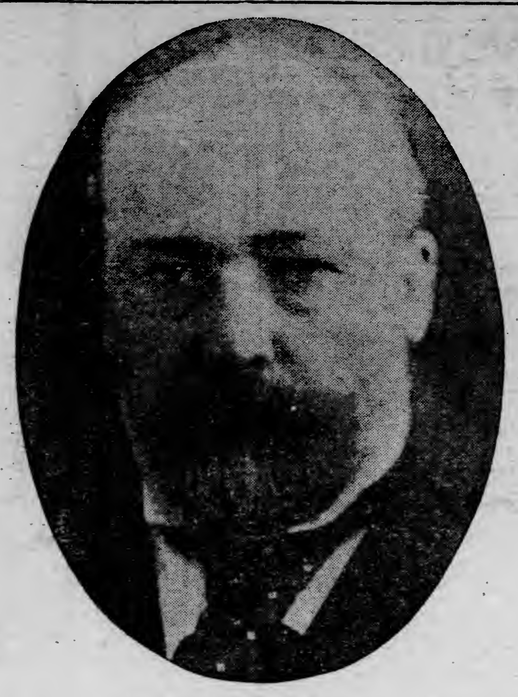

He superintended the extension of the Canadian Pacific to the Western coast and was present at the driving of the last spike on Nov. 7, 1885. The total mileage which later came under his control was over 3,500. He was said to be the "Hill and Harriman" of Canada.

Aside from his fame as a railroad builder, Sir William became a master of finance and was often pointed out as one of the score of men who formed the foundation of Canadian money. He was interested as an officer or director of a large number of corporations in Canada, the United States and Cuba. In the latter place he formed the Cuba Railway company with a capital of $8,000,000.

He was knighted by Queen Victoria in May, 1904, in recognition of his remarkable work in Canada, which included not only his railway and industrial interest, but semi-public service as a governor of McGill university, the Royal Victoria hospital and numerous other institutions, and notable contribution to the Canadian store of art treasures. The latter, which filled his mansion in Montreal, included paintings by many of the old masters and collections of Japanese art objects, which altogether represent a fortune.

During the advocacy in 1911 of reciprocity between the United States and Canada, Mr. Van Horne was conspicuous as one of those who opposed the idea. One of the illustrations with which he drove home his point was this:

"Our trade is $97 per capita; that of the United States is $33. In other words the water in our mill ponds stands at 97, theirs at 33, and they want us to take away the dam."

CITY BRIEFS

Judge Cant Improves Rapidly.

Unless unexpected complications set in, it is expected that Judge W. A. Cant, who underwent an operation for appendicitis Wednesday, will experience a speedy recovery. At St. Luke's hospital today it was stated that his condition was much improved and that he was resting easily.

Will Begin "U" Extension Work.

Under the direction of Prof. Lehnerts, the first number of the Minnesota university extension course will be given at the public library on Oct. 6. It will consist of a lecture on "Seeing America First."

Quick Development.

The Fuel Oil Journal gives considerable space in a recent issue to the development of the Merritt Oil company's properties at Boynton, Okla., of which A. E. Humphreys of Denver, formerly of Duluth, is president. Many Duluthians are interested in the property. The company has just completed its twelfth well on the 700 acres owned, and rates it at 800 barrels initial flow. Ten of the wells are producing oil and two are valuable gas wells.

Police vs. Courthouse.

Weather permitting, the much- postponed baseball game between the courthouse employes and the members of the police force will be staged this afternoon at Forty-seventh avenue east. "Bob" Johnson has been selected to do mound duty for the boys from the hall of justice. The "cops" are expected to spring a surprise and put a "dark horse" in the field that the honors. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

Lint Importation Curtailed.

As a result of the plant quarantine act passed by the last congress the United States postal authorities have given orders to stop the importation of cotton lint through the mails except from certain countries. These include the Mexican states of Neuvo Leon, Coahuila, Durango, Chihuahua, Tamaulipas and Lower California. Postmasters are asked to return at once all parcels with such material unless from the places mentioned.

Money Order Business Curtailed.

The postoffice department at Washington, D. C., has just directed attention to the fact that certain postmasters are still issuing money orders for Mexico, Austria, Belgium and Portugal, despite the fact that the service from this country to those nations has been suspended. Postmasters are requested to stop the issuance of such orders until further notice.

Shesgreen Quits His Job.

Chief R. A. McKercher of the police department today announced that he had accepted the resignation of Fred W. Shesgreen, telephone operator at headquarters. Shesgreen filed his resignation with the chief yesterday. He was appointed operator under Chief C. H. Troyer, Feb. 1, 1915.

Investigation Continued.

Further investigation of the system of municipal court bookkeeping is believed to be in progress before the September grand jury, which was in session yesterday afternoon at the courthouse. The jury adjourned until Monday morning without reporting. City Auditor Campbell and other city employes were called as witnesses.

Transfer Cases. Best on Market. Phones 114. M. I. Stewart company.

"Y" Boys Will Take Hike.

Members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will take a practice hike to Park Point and return this afternoon, leaving the association building at 2:30 o'clock. After a swim the youngsters will return to the building. A program for the boys will be held during the evening.

Ross Becomes Banker.

Guy W. C. Ross, who has practiced law here for the last eleven years, will leave next week for Minneapolis to become treasurer of the Bankers' Investment company, which controls a string of small banks in North Dakota and Montana. He has disposed of his law practice to James W. Osborne of Ely, who will open offices here next week. Mr. Ross was at one time in partnership with A. G. McKnight.

Plan State Single Tax League.

Advocates of the single tax and the principles set down by Henry George will meet in St. Paul today for the purpose of organizing the Single Tax League of Minnesota. A local league was organized two weeks ago and the members immediately started a campaign for a state body. Senator Richard Jones and Marcus L. Fay are attending the St. Paul meeting as representatives of the local league.

Attend Croatian Society Meeting.

Peter Kundar of Eveleth and George Sostaric of Bovey left today for Cleveland to attend the annual convention of the National Croatian society to be held there next Monday. They were elected delegates of the local organization at the annual election this spring.

OBITUARY

James Greene Burleson, 56 years old brother of Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson, died at San Antonia, Tex., Sept. 10. He was a native of San Marcos and a retired banker of Lockhart, Tex., where he made his home for thirty years. He was appointed by President Wilson postmaster at Lockhart and resigned from this position two weeks ago because of ill health. He is survived by a widow and six children.

Samuel H. Bowman, one of the prominent figures in the financial and commercial life of Minneapolis and head of lumber trade interests that extend from West Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, died last night of heart affection, at his country home, Summit Park, Wayzata, after an illness of several months. He was born in Frederick county, Maryland, in 1853.

PARK EMPLOYES ARE LAID OFF

Because the department is short of funds, most of the park employes have been dropped from the payrolls.

Mayor Prince, head of the welfare division, said this morning that a majority of the employes were dropped a little earlier than usual this year on account of the condition of the funds. Six men are now in the various parks, he said.

During the last summer thirty-five workmen were employed in the parks, in addition to the watchmen.

EX-GOVERNOR FOSS CHARGED WITH LIBEL

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11.—A summons charging criminal libel against Former Governor Eugene N. Foss, one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for governor at the state primaries on Sept. 21, was issued by the municipal criminal court today at the request of Dennis D. Driscoll, secretary of Trades Union Liberty league, a labor organization.

Judge Burke, who heard an application for a warrant on Thursday, issued the summons but set no date for a hearing.

Driscoll alleges that Foss slandered him in a statement given to the newspapers.

WEAK TONE IN MINING STOCKS

Trading was limited in mining stocks at Boston today. Owing to the uncertainty over the foreign situation operators held back and closing prices in the stocks traded in at all were lower.

Butte & Superior closed 50 cents off at $65.75. American Zinc 50 cents off at $52; Calumet & Arizona, $1 off at $62; Granby unchanged at $82.50; Copper Range 25 cents up at $54.50; Greene-Cananea 75 cents off at $38; North Butte 25 cents off at $29; Osceola $1.12 off at $79, and Shattuck unchanged at $25.

* * *

Big Ledge continues to climb, sales this week passing the $3 mark. It is less than two months since the stock was listed in Boston, New York and Duluth at $1 a share. The company is controlled in Duluth, and from all accounts is developing a body estimated at 100,000,000 tons of copper ore averaging better than 4 per cent in the Black Hills range of Arizona, less than a dozen miles from United Verde and other great producers. Big Ledge shares are being heavily traded in all over the country.

* * *

The Keating Copper company is reported to have made a net profit of $15,000 during August.

* * *

Latest information from the Big Ledge Development company is to the effect that No. 1 shaft on the Copper Kettle claim continues in high grade ore. Since the last publication regarding this working, cross-cutting and drifting at a depth of 110 feet finds the workings in the same high-grade ore throughout as heretofore reported. A tunnel is being driven from the Mountain View claim which will intersect the ore body which No. 1 shaft is developing and which present rate of progress is due to strike this ore body in a few weeks.

* * *

Commenting on the current situation in mining stocks, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says:

"Last week in general was a good week for both copper and zinc stocks and authorities look for increased activity this fall and winter. The firm price of spelter has caused the zinc stocks to advance over the last week quotations. It will not be surprising to healthy further advances in the coppers because the situation in all parts of the world points to the fact that the supply is low.

"Prices of metals, with the exception of silver, hold at very profitable figures. The heavy influx of foreign gold, fine weather for harvest and threshing in the Northwest, increased railroad earnings and the strong position of the iron and steel industry, all combine to make a strong technical position for securities of all kinds. Conditions should appeal especially to investors."

MINING ENGINEERS ON INSPECTION TOUR

Eighty-five engineers, employed by the various mining companies on the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges, came to Duluth this morning on an inspection trip. They took the Northern Pacific passenger train at 9:40 for the Spirit Lake branch of the Duluth Boat club, where dinner was served, after which they looked over the buildings of the Minnesota Steel company.

This afternoon they went to Thomson, where they inspected the dams of the Great Northern Power company.

French Steamer Sunk.

Paris, Sept. 11.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Algiers says that the steamer Ville de Mostaganem has been sunk by gunfire from a German submarine. Sixteen members of the crew, three of them wounded, have been picked up.

GERMANS RETAIN FRENCH TRENCHES

Two Desperate Attacks By French to Retake Them Fail.

Berlin, Sept. 11, via London, 3:38 p. m.—The following statement on military operations was issued today by German army headquarters:

"Western theater of war: The trenches of Hartmans-Weilerkopf (in Alsace) which we captured on Sept. 9 have been retained, despite two attacks by the French.

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: During battles southeast of Friedrichstadt and east of Vilkomir an additional 1,050 prisoners were taken. Four machine guns were captured.

"On the front between Jeziory and Zepwa on the Melwianka, the Russians are still offering fierce resistance. Our troops were able finally to take Skidel and the village of Niekrasze, to the northwest of Skidel, during the night, only after a battle the tide of which alternately swayed back and forth. Lawna, on the Skidel-Lonno-Wola high road, also has been stormed. Our attack against the enemy positions on the Melwianka is progressing. We took 2,700 prisoners and two machine guns. Railway junctions between Wilejka, east of Vilna and Lida, were liberally bombarded by our airships.

"Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: Battles between Wolkowysk and along the Kobrin-Milowsky high roads continue with their previous fierceness. Crossings over the Melwianka have been won at a few points.

"Austro-Hungarian troops have captured the village of Alba, west of Kossow. Fighting for possession of the railway station of Kossow still continues.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The situation with this army group is generally unchanged.

"Southeastern theater of war: Austro-Hungarian and German troops in the army of Gen. Count von Bothmer repulsed fierce counter-attacks by the enemy, inflicting heavy losses on him. Our troops took more than 300 prisoners."

Requisition Issued.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—Governor Hammond has issued a requisition to the governor of Nebraska for the return to this state of "W. J. Langdon," wanted here for passing worthless checks. The requisition was given to Sheriff Paul Felix, who stopped in St. Paul to get the papers before going to Bridgeport, Neb., to claim his prisoner, who was arrested there.

COMPLETE TOUR OF MOUNTAIN PASSES

Texas Man Tells of Motor Tour Through Colorado Mountains.

Thomas B. Van Auken of Beaumont, Tex., enjoys the distinction of having made a more nearly complete trip of the Colorado mountain passes than any automobile tourist of the year, according to the official publication of the Denver Motor club.

Mr. Van Auken has returned to his home after covering 6,344 miles in his KisselKar, and has brought back an interesting narrative of adventures. He says:

"We took in Estes park, Glenwood Springs, Cannon City, Ute Pass, Royal Gorge, Sky Line drive, Trough road, Tennessee Pass, Berthand Pass, Monarch Pass, Battlo mountain and, in fact, every high pass and scenic road in the rockies of Colorado.

"When we came out of the mountains and into Denver, I was a sight—two weeks' stubble on my face and dirty, but I bolted right up to the parlors of the Denver Motor club. As soon as they knew where I had come from, I was received with open arms, for they all wanted to know about the mountain roads and high passes that generally carry deep snow far into June.

From Denver we went south to Colorado Springs, staying thirty days there, and thence to Raton, N. M., Las Vegas, Santa Fe, Clovis and Santa Rose, through to Amarillo, Tex., Dallas, Waco, Bryan, Houston and home.

"The longest day's run that we made was from Amarilla to New Mexico—when we were going out. The hardest day's run was from Eucino, N. M., to Clovis, across the Eustani valley. A car should never try to make that valley trip, but rather go back by the way of Raton. We were helped over one washout in Panky's ranch (110,000 acres). This was the only time we had outside help at any time, although we had the mild satisfaction of pulling other cars out of bad places, one of them twice.

"We covered the distance from here to Colorado Springs, 1,380 miles, in six and one-half days, without hurrying.

"At no time did we have any mechanical troubles. We started out with the car in good condition, and on the entire trip we tightened two nuts on front spring clamp (a five-minute job) and also adjusted the carburetor going and coming from the mountains. We came back on the same tires we started out with, and they were not new then."

FAST TRIP IN CADILLAC.

New Jersey Woman Sets New Record for Female Drivers.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 11.—Twenty-four days from New York to Los Angeles is the record made by Mrs. Lillian Harris of Redbank, N. J., in a Cadillac eight. This is considered a record for women drivers.

Mrs. Harris made the trip without the least difficulty. She was accompanied by a party of four other women who came to California to visit the expositions. No mechanical troubles were encountered on the run of 4,950 miles, and the motorists voted the trip one of delight from start to finish.

A stop was made at the Grand Canyon. After visiting the San Diego exposition, touring Southern California and visiting the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, the return trip is to be started next week over the Lincoln highway.

During parts of four days, roads were encountered that made it necessary to drop into low gear. The long journey did not fatigue the woman motorist, although she piloted the car the entire distance without any assistance.

ALWAYS SAFETY FIRST.

New York Journal: "You say that you want some name engraved on this ring," said the jeweler to the bashful young man.

"Yes; I want the words 'George to his dearest Alice' engraved on the inside of the ring."

"Is the young lady your sister?"

"No; she is the young lady to whom I am engaged."

"Well, if I were you I would not have 'George to his dearest Alice' engraved on the ring. If Alice changes her mind you can't use the ring again."

"What would you suggest?"

"I would suggest the words 'George to his first and only love.' You see, with that inscription you can use the ring half a dozen times. I have had experience in such matters myself."

SATURDAY.

Dance at main house of the Duluth Boat club.

AS luncheons, bridges and dances for summer visitors seem to be over and the clubs have not begun their meetings, this week was quiet in a social way. The coming week promises to be uneventful also, but the following one will bring the state federation convention, with dinners and luncheons arranged by the committee on entertainment and small affairs given by those who will entertain delegates in their homes, so that all other events will be pushed into the background.

The only large social affair of this week was the annual garden party of the Matinee Musicale which was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Millen. The party was a success both socially and in a business way as more membership tickets were sold that afternoon than for any previous courses of the club.

Another interesting gathering of the week was the tea given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. George S. Richards who announced the engagement of her niece, Miss Willabelle Pearson to Samuel Lee Stroud. The date of the wedding has not been announced but it will be some time this month.

Many attended the Labor day dinner-dance at the country club but there were few at the Wednesday dinner-dance. The last of the Wednesday dinner-dances of the club will be held Wednesday evening when Miss Perie Reynolds and Edward Scriven, with Miss Jeannette Wellbanks as accompanist, will give the program which was postponed from this week. There will be autumn decorations and a special dinner will be served. Already reservations have been made.

The regular weekly dances will be held at the main house of the boat club this evening and next Saturday evening.

Monday Miss Constance Mitchell will entertain at luncheon at the country club. Tuesday Mrs. E. A. Silberstein will be hostess for the President's day reception of the Temple Aid society, the Daughters of Liberty, D. A. R., will hold a picnic at the home of Mrs. John Uno Sebenius and the Equal Suffrage association will meet.

Friday afternoon the members of the Suffrage association will be the guests of Mrs. E. Frank Barker at a tea-talk on "Famous Women of Japan."

Thursday evening at the home of H. P. Mathews, 1311 East Second street, the girls of the second floor of the Glass Block store gave a miscellaneous shower for Miss Grytdahl, whose wedding to E. Swanstrom will take place in the near future. Both the bride and groom-elect are Duluthians.

The rooms were decorated with red hearts and festoons of rosy garlands. The porches were hung with Japanese lanterns.

Two puzzle contests were given the guests to solve, Miss Olga Sand winning first prize in the advertising contest, a flower basket, and Miss Louise Sand capturing first prize, a picture, in the flower puzzle. Mrs. Fischer and Miss Pearl Mathew fell heir to the "booby" prizes.

Miss Grytdahl was the recipient of numerous amusing packages, and was also presented with a handsome cut glass vase.

Music and dancing were indulged in, and a very merry time enjoyed.

The color note was repeated in the refreshments, delicious pink and white cakes, and ices in white with pink hearts, being served.

Those present were:

Mesdames—
H. P. Mathews, Fischer,
Olga Jezlin, L. Micks.
S. Wheelihan,
Misses—
E. Le Roux, E. Walen,

President's Day Reception of Temple Aid Society

President's day of the Temple aid society will be observed Tuesday when a reception for the members of the society and their guests will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. E. A. Silberstein, 2328 East Third street, from 3 to 5 o'clock. A short musical program will be given.

Barker Will Lecture on "Ideas in the Theater"

Granville Barker, who will lecture on "Ideas in the Theater," Oct. 14, at the Little theater, has an international reputation as the leading exponent of the new drama which takes freedom of expression as its keynote.

In America Mr. Barker is perhaps best known for his remarkable staging of Shaw's plays, but his Shakespearean productions have aroused much comment. He has presented them along with the most modern problem plays and made of them productions at once unconventional and vividly interesting. London was more than surprised when he put on "A Midsummer Night's Dream," with gilded actors, decorative scenery and music other than Mendelssohn's.

Whether as a producer or a playwright, the keynote of Mr. Barker's work lies in his conception of the theater as a community product. He is against the "star system," against the "long run" system. He is opposed to what he calls the "rampant individualism" of the usual commercial play production. The separation of the arts in the theater finds no favor with him, for he considers the theater perhaps the most important of all agencies as a social expression and a social instrument.

Events of Interest

Miss Marie Elston and Miss Florence Mars were hostesses at cards this afternoon at the Kitchi Gammi club in compliment to Miss Elston's house guests Miss Dorothy Castle of Chicago, and Miss Dorothy Wood of Kansas City, who were class mates of Miss Elston at Rogers' hall near Boston. Attention of Club Women of State Will Be Centered on Duluth During State Convention Here Sept. 20-24

MRS. CARL J. HOLMAN
Of Mankato, Chairman of the Civics Committee, Who Will Give the Civics Report and Recommendations.

Sept. 20 to 24, inclusive, are the days to which the club women of the state are looking forward with great interest, as the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs will meet in Duluth then to consider questions of importance to the ten district federations, to hear reports from the chairmen of various departments, to attend programs on social welfare, civics and education, and to elect a president for the next term of two years.

Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood of St. Cloud, the president of the state federation, has announced she will not be a candidate for re-election. Those who are being considered for the office by the members of the federated clubs throughout the state are Mrs. P. L. De Voist of Duluth, Mrs. V. C. Sherman of Minneapolis, Mrs. William T. Coe of Wayzata and Mrs. C. E. Conant of Wells.

Mrs. De Voist served as vice president of the state federation two years, being elected three years ago and holding office during the presidency of Mrs. Atwood and Mrs. E. H. Loyhead of Faribault.

Mrs. Sherman Now Secretary.

Mrs. Sherman is recording secretary of the state federation, which office she has held two years. Before the convention convenes she will resign from that office. Mrs. Sherman's candidacy for the state presidency will make it necessary for her friends of the Fifth district to look for someone else to support for the presidency of the Fifth district.

That body will have its first meeting of the fall Saturday, Sept. 18, and will then choose a successor to Mrs. C. M. Ferguson, who is now district president. Mrs. Sherman was the leading candidate to succeed Mrs. Ferguson last spring and there has been little talk of any other candidate for leader of the Minneapolis federated clubs.

Mrs. Sherman was president of the Fifth district before Mrs. Ferguson was elected and thus has been one of the officers in the M. F. W. C. for the last four years.

Mrs. Coe is president of the Tenth district and Mrs. Conant is president of the Second district.

National Officers Coming.

Although state federation affairs will occupy much attention of the delegates, officers of the national federation will take important parts in the program. Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Tex., the president, will speak on "The General Federation, a Great Educational Factor," at one of the evening meetings, and on "Co-operation Behind the Scenes" at the luncheon which will be held at the Spalding hotel Sept. 23. Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, Mo., an ex-president, will speak on "The Normal Girl" at an evening session, and on "The Co-operative Power of Woman as Shown in the General Federation," at the luncheon. Another address at the luncheon, "Co-operation Expressed Through the Ballot," will be given by Miss Lutie E. Stearns of Milwaukee, Wis., one of the directors. Miss Helen Varic Boswell of New York, chairman of the political science commission of the general federation, will tell of "Home-Applied Political Science" at an evening meeting.

Friday Is "Play Day."

Friday has been reserved as "play day," with no business to require the attention of the delegates. In the morning a trip will be made to the steel plant and the Model City, followed by luncheon at the country club for the delegates, at which the Commercial club will be hosts. In the afternoon the delegates will be taken for an automobile drive over the boulevard and to the city and county work farm. The Greek pageant at the curling club in the evening will bring the "play day" to a close.

Wednesday and Thursday will not be without their share of sociability. The Pioneers, an interesting branch of the federation, will hold a meeting at the Spalding hotel at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, after which they will have the Pioneer dinner. Thursday the luncheon at the Spalding will be followed by a reception to the delegates, visitors and Duluth club women in the parlors of that hotel.

MRS. C. M. FERGUSON
Of Minneapolis, President of the Fifth District, Who Will Report on the Mid-winter Meeting.

Matinee Musicale Is Arranging Duluth Composers' Program

The Matinee Musicale will have a Duluth composers' program Tuesday, Jan. 11. This decision was reached yesterday at a meeting held by the program committee at the home of the musical director, Isabel Pearson Fuller, 25 Bruce street. Only the compositions of Duluth composers will be on the program. The committee is anxious to get in touch with all Duluth composers, who are asked to communicate with Mrs. Fuller, Melrose 5718.

At the federation day program, which will be given Jan. 25, several numbers that were given at the biennial convention, held in Los Angeles this summer, will be given, and federation activities will be reviewed.

Beethoven day, March 7, will be another important feature of the club's year.

The program committee, which has started work unusually early this year, plans to feature American music. The members of the committee, each of whom will be in charge of one concert, are Isabel Pearson Fuller, Miss Barbara Rupley, Gladys Reynolds Frey, Mrs. O. J. Larson, Mrs. Louis Dworshak, Mrs. Tom Miller, Mrs. Mary Thorburn, Miss Madeline Miller, Mrs. Bruce Ter Bush, Mrs. Edward Burg, Mrs. A. B. Siewert and Miss Carlotta Simonds.

Lodge Notes.

Loyal Mystic legion, Kensington, will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Schulte, 810 East Eighth street.

The Annual Autumn Silk Show Is On!

Our Third Floor is radiant with fabric beauty.

Here are to be seen the materials your fashion books will be so enthusiastic about next month—you see them now in advance of the fashion news.

Materials are supreme this season, for fashion emphasizes fabric rather than form in the new garment designs; it is the new silk or the new dress goods that gives a garment its style.

You will see here now fashion's very finest. You will enjoy the display immensely at the same time you will post yourself thoroughly on fabric fashion for fall.

While the display includes many rare imported fabrics it above all else is a triumph for American manufacturers who have succeeded in producing weaves, designs and colorings which compel the admiration of the most exacting devotee of fashion.

No attempt will be made to sell goods at the display on the Third Floor.

Those who desire to buy may have opportunity to do so at the Silk Section on the Main Floor.

Again we say—come and enjoy it. Bring your friends with you—they will enjoy it, too.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Conduct of School Girls.

"Do you think that young ladies attending high school should be allowed the privilege of accepting invitations extended by young men who are working in various capacities?" Thus queries a youthful correspondent of the male sex, whom some stern mother of a lovely daughter has made miserable by her refusal to permit the bud of 15 to attend the theater, dances and other social affairs.

To be honest with the young man, I do not believe that any young girl of the high school age should be allowed the privilege of accepting the invitations she may receive for this or that function. Decision in such matters should rest with the parents of the girl.

If her parents believe that their daughter is too young to accept these invitations their wishes should be respected. The average high school girl is from 14 to 18 years old. A girl, until she reaches the latter age, is altogether too young to go about to places of amusement in the evening except on rare occasions, when they should be accompanied by their parents or some chaperone.

Of course all work and no play is poor policy for anyone, not excepting the high school girl. There are times when she may be allowed a little more latitude, and if her parents believe that dancing and the theater are desirable recreations I do not see the harm in her enjoying these innocent pastimes in the company of a young man of whom her parents approve, if she is 18 years of age. Before that age I should advise a young lady to confine her theater going to matinees and her dancing to parties that cease in the early evening hours.

When a mother refuses her child, it is not, as is so often taken for granted, the desire to deprive her of pleasure that actuates the mother, but the wish to keep her strong and well and insure future happy womanhood. During the holidays and when the entire school or class are partaking in some entertainment or party I should advise that parents permit their children to take a hand if possible. For the remainder of a girl's school term she can make no mistake if she will forego these things in the interest of her future welfare.

Weddings and Engagements

At the home of Mrs. Lillian Burrows of Buffalo, Minn., Wednesday at noon the marriage of her daughter, Myrtle Maud, to Edward Leo Fogarty of Duluth took place, Rev. Heinz of St. Francis church officiated. The ceremony was performed in the living room, where the improvised altar was banked with ferns and amid their greenery were Easter lilies and white chrysanthemum.

Miss Nellie Larkin of Alden, Minn., played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party descended the stairway, led by the Misses Medford Grand and Margaret Woolley, who wore frocks of white organdy and carried French baskets of pink sweet peas. Among the flowers were the white satin ribbons, which they stretched to form an aisle.

Miss Hazel Bresden of St. Paul was maid of honor, her gown being pink crepe de chine, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Doris Lowe acted as flower girl. She wore a white frock, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

The bride entered alone and was met at the altar by Mr. Fogarty and his best man, Thomas Joyce, of Duluth. She wore a gown of bridal satin. The bodice was of princess lace elaborated in pearls and finished with long tulle sleeves. The tunic was of tulle, falling in cascade effect to form a point at the front and back. Her veil was arranged in fan shape and held in place by a bandeau of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, witnessed by relatives and a few intimate friends, there was a reception followed by luncheon. In the music and dining room a color scheme of pink and white was carried out with baskets of sweet peas and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty have gone East and will be at home after Nov. 1 at 810½ East Fifth street, Duluth.

Fred L. Jackson of Duluth, a former Negaunee resident, and Miss Angeline Marion Le Mar of that city were married Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at St. Paul's rectory, Rev. Henry A. Buchholtz, the pastor, officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Clara A. Le Mar, and Ludwig G. Jernstad of Ishpeming was best man.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Lanthier and daughter, Dorothy of Stephenson; Ross A. Le Mar of Fort Wayne, Ind., cousin of the bride, and William Ellis of Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left for a trip to Sault Ste. Marie, Minneapolis and other points. They will be at home in Duluth after Oct. 1.

* * *

Miss Agnes Othelia Nilson and Nels Sneen were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Peter Nilson, 31 East Fifth street. Rev. Nickolay Nilson of Minot, N. D., brother of the bride, performed the ceremony. Miss Mabel Constance Nilson, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid; little Margaret Katherine Olson was the flower girl and Oliver Sneen of Red Wing, Minn., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The out-of-town guests, in addition to the officiant and the best man, were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sneen of Stanley, Wis.; his brother, Sigwald Sneen of Stanley, and Miss Nellie R. Anderson and Oscar Sneen, both of Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Sneen left for an Eastern trip. They will make their home at 722 Twelfth avenue east.

* * *

Miss Fanny Mary Stephenson and Ralph Waldo Johnson of Virginia, Minn., were married Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. F. A. Stephenson, 4521 Gladstone street. Rev. S. A. Blair of the Lakeside Presbyterian church performed the ceremony. There were no attendants.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lizer and the bridegroom's brother, Kirk Johnson, all of Virginia, Minn; Mrs. Myron Stephenson of Mason City, Iowa, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Minnie Myers of Lake City, Minn.

* * *

Miss Gertrude Hostetter and Robert P. Christie were married at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hostetter, 1617 East Third street, by Rev. V. W. Lawrence of Glen Avon Presbyterian church. Miss Lucy Hostetter, sister of the bride, and John Gow were the attendants.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. J. Brown, Miss Alice Brown and Miss Gertrude Keeler of Decatur, Ill., and William Wilson of Boston.

The bridegroom is a nephew of John Christie of this city and a son of Robert N. Christie of Luton, Bedfordshire, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Christie left for a trip down the lakes. They will stop at Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Toronto. After Sept. 24, they will be at home at 530 Sixth avenue east.

Voice and Expression Recital.

Students of the voice and expression departments of the Flaaten conservatory will give a recital Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the conservatory. Tickets for admission may be obtained at the office of the conservatory. There will be no charge.

The members of the expression department who will be on the program are Miss Alda Utley, Miss Esther Field and Miss Lucile Shook. Those from the voice department who will take part are Miss Zelma Moyer, Miss Ruby Newstrand, Miss Rosamond Risatti, Miss Myrtle Finkle, Miss Ruth Trolander, Miss Bettie White and Mrs. Segue MacKenzie.

Rehearsals Held Daily for Greek Pageant at Duluth Curling Club

The home-coming of Miss Alice Sjoselius, and her appearance as the "Goddess of Patriotism," or "Love of Country," in the Greek pageant at the curling club on Sept. 24, promises to be a notable Duluth demonstration.

One hundred patrons and patronesses with Mrs. Thomas D. Merrill, as chairman, are lending support to the big pageant plans. Mrs. Stanley R. Holden, general chairman of the whole undertaking, is working out some of the civic ideas of pageantry.

The pageant is less than two weeks off. About seventy-five boxes have been built in, and Mrs. Whitney Wall, chairman of boxes, had more than half taken before she left on her Florida trip. She will return in time for the pageant. The others are going rapidly.

During the week the great group dances, which will form an attractive feature of the pageant, have taken shape. For the worshipers of Juno, the tall statuesue girls have been selected; for the nymphs of Diana, the fleet-footed.

In the Dance of Ceres, the fair-haired maidens, with sheaves of wheat for their symbol, will interpret the nature-myth of ripening grains and plentiful harvests. Chosen for this are the Misses Elsie Lachow, Helen Wannebo, Edith Hogan and Gretchen Schmidt, and the Misses Florence Smith, Margaret Synott, Florence Louch, Mary Chamberlain, Lillian Ramstead, Daisy Macaskei, Isabel MacDonald, Isabel Carpentry, Marion Medd and Vina Waltz. These, with other sets are rehearsing this afternoon in the Spalding ballroom.

Visitors to the rehearsals are enthusiastic over the educational value of the hour spent there. New applications are received daily for admission. The only difficulty is to find hours enough in daylight to accommodate the 200. No night rehearsals are permitted.

Delegates to Saratoga.

The quadriennial laymen's conference which began its sessions with over 100 delegates seated last night, elected the following representatives to Saratoga:

Appleton district, J. A. Phillips; Fond du Lac district, E. B. Garton; Milwaukee district, Thomas Gardner; Janesville district, W. S. Watson.

It is expected that the list of pastoral appointments and transfers will be made public either tomorrow or early Monday.

WINTER MISSION MEETINGS PLANNED

Duluth Will Co-operate With Seventy Other Cities in Work.

Plans for the mission meetings to be held in Duluth Jan. 19 to 23, under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary movement, were made at a conference held yesterday afternoon by F. J. Michel, field secretary of the organization, with a committee of the Men's Inter-church council.

The mission campaign in Duluth is one of a series planned in seventy of the largest cities of the country. The program here will start with an evening session on Jan. 19, at which time the local work for the entire week will be organized. There will be three sessions on Jan. 20 and 21, with no work scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 22. On Sunday, the visiting laymen will occupy the pulpits in all the large churches of the city.

Twenty speakers of national prominence are scheduled to take part in the campaign in Duluth. The object of these meetings is to arouse interest and secure aid for the Protestant missionary work both in this country and abroad.

Mr. Michel left last evening for the Twin Cities.

INSPECTED BY GENERAL

British Commander Looks at Results of New Army's Drill.

Fresh Troops, When Properly Drilled, Best for the Offensive.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

British Headquarters, France, Aug. 10.—The only man of the hundreds of thousands at the British front who wears the crossed batons of a field marshal on his shoulders appeared in an opening in the shrubbery which bordered the field where a machine-gun battery of the new army was waiting for orders to move.

None of the men in the battery had any idea that he was coming. They were lounging and chatting as they waited. In a glance every one identified that sturdy figure with its square chin and the white drooping moustache with the pictures which they had seen in the papers. There was no need for a call to attention. The effect was like an electric shock which sent every man to his place and made his backbone a steel rod.

"Does Sir John French often slip up on you that way?" gasped one of the battery lieutenants who was all of 19 years of age. Nineteen is the limit of youth for officers in the new army; and there are scores no older. From the one chocolate drop on that boy lieutenant's sleeve to the crossed batons represented a dizzy altitude.

Takes Little Time.

The battery had just come out from England. It took the commander-in-chief about five minutes to form his judgment of the results of their nine months' preparatory drill. He asked a few questions as he looked over each gun and its crew.

"Very good!" he said, and returned to his car which was to take him on to inspect some other formation.

"Any idea that the commander-in-chief spends all his time over a map with a telephone at his elbow," as the staff officer explained, "is quite erroneous. He is always on the go."

The automobile enables him to get over a lot of ground in a day. Sometimes the inspections are quite formal. Commanding officers know of his approach when they see the flag of his car fluttering along the road. On these occasions he usually makes a little speech. Once when a platform had been arranged for him to address a battalion he passed it by and went closer to the men standing in the field with their rigid columns around him. After that platforms went out of fashion.

Soldier's Eye Sees Much.

"One might think that he could learn very little by a brief inspection or watching troops march past on parade," said the staff officer, "but a soldier's eye takes in more than a civilian can guess. He not only sees that uniform and equipment are in good condition but he is able to judge both the spirit and the physical condition of the men. If they have been having a hard time of it in the trenches he can tell how much fight is left in them. He may judge the character of the reserves who have filled the vacant places. And the men see him. He is no longer a distant figure. They feel the effect of his personality."

The new army contingents as they arrive receive particular attention.

"Every general in the army seems to be taking his turn at inspecting us," said one of the new army officers. "We had plenty of inspections at home. We came out here to fight."

To Get Fighting Enough.

When this was repeated to a staff officer who belongs to "G-H-Q," as they call general headquarters, he said: "They need not worry about that. They will be getting fighting enough when the time comes. But they have the right spirit. All the armies in this war have found that the men who have been in the trenches know from experience how to hold the trenches. They can dig and they can stick no matter how heavy the shell fire. But fresh troops, when properly drilled, are the best for the offensive. England has a far larger army which has never heard the whiz of a bullet than has ever been under fire. The new army men learned a good deal in England; they are to be taught more at the front."

A battalion of new army men drawn up on the pavement of a French village in front of their billets with their transport and their packs on their backs waiting for a general to inspect them, is a common sight. The subordinate inspectors have more time to spare for the task than the commander-in-chief. Down the front of the line of each company and then along the rear they move slowly as they take in every detail.

Many Inspections.

They say that when an army of millions has to be made by a country that had only a small regular army to start with and there is a year's experience of warfare, revolutionary in its methods, to inculcate along with the old principles, too much pains can not be taken in any direction. New army men may be digging reserve trenches or at morning muster, and an automobile stops, and here is another officer, with a red cap which shows that he belongs to the staff, or another general to inspect them. Everybody at the British front not in the trenches seems either occupied in making inspections or looking out for an inspection.

"If it isn't somebody bent on inspection," said one of the new army men, "it is some army medical corps sharp engaged in disinfection."

WAR'S PRIVATIONS RELATED IN LETTER

Konigsberg Peasant Writes Grand Forks Daughter of Suffering.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—How they have lived on boiled potatoes, without meat, without fish, with practically no bread, and with water as a substitute for coffee during most of the time, is the story told by Mrs. Minnie Callowsky, a peasant woman residing near Konigsburg, Germany, in a letter to her daughter, Mrs. Paul Lieberg of Grand Forks, in which she also tells of the death of her second son at the front.

Two boys who have fallen on Germany's battle fields, and a third boy, only 18 years old, still at the front, is the contribution this aged German woman has made to the world war.

The aged woman, who, with her 26-year-old tubercular daughter, alone remains of the once contented family, looks upon the future without seeking prospect of betterment, though loyalty to the fatherland, despite her terrible sacrifices, is to be found in every line of her letter.

BREAKING OUT ITCHED ON FACE

Started Like Water Blisters. Scratched Even In Sleep. Would Bleed and Get Larger.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little boy, two years old, had a breaking out on his face. The breaking out started just like water blisters. It must have itched for he scratched it even in his sleep. He would sometimes wake up and be fretful. He would scratch, and of course it would bleed and get larger. I was afraid of blood poison.

"I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for some. In a couple of weeks his face was healed up and now there is no scar or mark on it." (Signed) Mrs. A. M. Gollnick, 327 Caledonia St., La Cross, Wis., March 25, '15.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

GOOD YIELDS ARE REPORTED

Threshing Machines Telling of Bumper Red River Valley Crops.

Another Week of Favorable Weather and Crop Will Be Safe.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Threshing in this section is progressing very rapidly and develops that first estimates of the yields are too low. Good yields are coming in from all directions, and this is especially true of eastern Polk county where the majority of farmers are threshing an thirty bushel average of wheat and other crops correspondingly high. Many wheat fields are turning out thirty-five and forty bushels per acre.

A wheat field of A. J. Matson, ten miles north of Fosston, threshed thirty-seven and one-half bushels of blue stem per acre. The stubble was nearly knee high. One more week of good weather and 75 per cent of the wheat in the Red River valley will have been threshed.

Business Feels Effects.

Business conditions are the best in years, and farmers and business men filled with optimism. The corn crop is by no means a total failure, and a considerable portion of it will mature for seed, though there will be a seed corn shortage, and prices for acclimated seed corn will be very high next spring, with prime old seed bringing close to $8 per bushel.

W. A. Giffin of Red Wing arrived this week to make the re-assessment of this city ordered by the state tax commission upon the recommendation of the county board of equalization. The board found a large number of errors in the assessment here, and decided that it would be necessary to have a new assessment made.

Following an inspection by the General Inspection company represented by R. W. Hitchcock, insurance rates in this city have been reduced an average of 2 per cent. The inspection revealed that defects in electric wiring are costing the citizens here nearly $2,000 per year in high insurance rates.

Erick E. Hoard, a pioneer resident of this section, died this week at his home here following a three years' illness with chronic bronchitis. He was born in Sweden in 1847 and is survived by his wife and eight children.

Chief Justice Brown, Justice Start and Clerk I. A. Caswell of the Minnesota supreme court, spent a part of the past week in this vicinity looking after real estate which they own.

ELKS TO PLANT OLD GLORY ON BOUNDARY

Thief River Falls Lodge to Float Colors at Noyes.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Old Glory will soon be flaunted to the breeze at Noyes, on the national boundary, where the Soo line crosses into Canada, as a result of action by the local lodge of Elks.

The lodge is having prepared a sixty-foot flagpole, which will be set on the American side, in a cement base, and from the top of which a waterproof American flag will float.

The flag will also be furnished by the Elks.

WOUNDED HUNTER MAY NOT SUCCUMB

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though his skull is fractured, Irvin Bratly, aged 18, will recover from the effects of a gunshot wound, received at the conclusion of a day's hunting near here.

Young Bratly and several companions had just returned home, one of the young men putting a gun out the side of the car and letting it slide down onto the running board. The trigger caught, and in the explosion the full charge hit the side of Bratly's head.

A piece of the skull was torn away and the bone badly fractured. Unless infection sets in he will recover.

PENNINGTON COUNTY FARM REPORTS BIG WHEAT YIELD.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The banner wheat yield reported in Minnesota this year was on the farm of G. W. Hooper near St. Hilaire, where the average yield of a field was fifty-five bushels per acre. Not only does that break all records, but the result of a test, acre by acre, establishes a new mark. In the test, each acre was recorded separately, with the result that one acre showed a yield of fifty-nine bushels and forty-eight pounds of first-class wheat.

MORE BELTRAMI PUPILS.

Enrollment of County Shows Gain Over Last Year.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the past year, according to a summary compiled by the state department of education, the enrollment of the schools of Beltrami county, both city and rural, has grown from 4,960 to 5,433, or an increase of 473 pupils.

A remarkable growth is shown in the Hines consolidated school, which increased its attendance from 103 last year to 135 this year. The total number of teachers in the schools was 227.

The average wage paid the women teachers for the rural schools was $51 and $65 for graded schools. There are 29 teachers who are graduates of high schools, 27 are graduates of high school training departments and 5 are graduates of normal schools. The amount of special aid to be received by this county this year will run over $30,000. There are now thirty-five schools in unorganized territory.

CHURCH AT UNIVERSITY.

Badger Methodists to Build Structure at Wisconsin U.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 11.—A resolution providing for the erection of a $100,000 church building at the University of Wisconsin for the Methodist Episcopal students in attendance at that institution was favorably acted upon by the M. E. conference here. The resolution makes provision for the establishment of a corporation to be known as "the Wesley foundation of the University of Wisconsin," and the appointment of a financial manager to make arrangements for placing the edifice on ground already owned by the church at Madison.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, in speaking of the action, said it was the most significant development that has occurred at the sessions thus far and that its importance would not be approached by the action of any other conference of the national church this year.

FORMER BRAINERDITE'S PORTRAIT IS DISPLAYED

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Water Color Art Club of America exhibited recently at the Corcoran art gallery in Washington, D. C. One of the exhibits was a pastel portrait of Mrs. Jennie Mysen-Lind, formerly of Brainerd, painted by a Washington artist, Mrs. Henry K. Bush-Brown.

HAUGEN, WIS., PLANT.

Light and Power to Be Developed at Bear Creek Dam.

Haugen, Wis., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company has secured a franchise from the town board to install and operate a light and power plant here.

The company, which has a dam on Bear creek at this place, has commenced rebuilding and enlarging it, and will put in a large and modern electric light and power plant and have it in operation within a few months, when the village will be wired for electric lights. The Haugen Commercial club is in communication with some industrial plants, who are looking for a new location where they can secure cheap power, and it is expected they will get some of these factories located at Haugen within the coming year.

LOSE HOME AND CASH.

Fire Destroys Farmhouse Near Cumberland, Wis., and $90 in Money.

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmhouse and contents of John E. Thompson, living ten miles northwest of Cumberland, was totally destroyed by fire. Considerable silverware and also $90 in cash was consumed. The fire started during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. There was $600 insurance on the house and $600 on the contents.

J. L. GOLD, PIONEER OF CASS LAKE, DIES

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. L. Gold, one of the oldest residents of the village, died suddenly yesterday after an illness of only a few days. Mr. Gold has been a resident of the village almost since it was laid out. He is survived by two daughters living at Cass Lake and two sons, one living at Bemidji and the other at Spokane, Wash. Funeral services will take place from the M. E. church Sunday afternoon.

FORT SNELLING TABLET.

Unveiled to Memory of First Soldiers to Occupy Military Reservation.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bronze tablet to the memory of Col. Henry Leavenworth and his command, the first soldiers to occupy the Fort Snelling reservation, was unveiled today by the Old Trails chapter, D. A. R. Mrs. Richard Chute, for sixty-four years a resident of Minnesota, drew the cords that disclosed the bronze, which has been placed on the old round tower at the fort.

Governor W. S. Hammond accepted the tablet on behalf of the state and delivered an address on "Patriotism."

IRONWOOD WEDDING.

Newport Mining Employe Weds Ironwood Young Woman.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Lucy Slade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Slade of this city, and Joseph Winn, who holds a responsible position here with the Newport Mining company, were married Thursday evening at the bride's home before a few relatives and friends by Rev. A. E. Healy.

Miss Ursula Gribble was bridesmaid and Fred Slade, brother of the bride, best man. The bride wore white voile and carried a large arm bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Gribble wore green silk crepe and carried yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served.

The home was beautifully decorated with ferns, smilax and sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn have gone to housekeeping at the Aurora location.

EAST GRAND FORKS PREPARES FOR DROUTH

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stringent enforcement of the county liquor prohibition, which becomes effective here Nov. 24, is the object of the Law Enforcement league, organized yesterday.

Rumors current for some time that East Grand Forks would be made a center of the blind pigging element after the city goes dry are responsible for the movement that has been launched.

Last Big Raft.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 11.—The last big raft of pulpwood to be towed across Lake Superior from Port Arthur, Ont., to be shipped from this point to Appleton, arrived here yesterday and is being loaded on cars today. The raft is worth $50,000. No rafts were lost this year although several broke loose last year in crossing the lake.

Assistant Cumberland Postmaster.

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carroll Cavanaugh has been appointed assistant postmaster by Postmaster W. C. McMahon and has assumed his duties. The salary of the Cumberland postmaster was recently increased to $1,900 on account of the increased volume of business going through the office.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Valley City, N. D.—A stranger appeared at the American National bank here Wednesday with a pass book which showed a deposit of $25. He wanted to draw $17 and a check was made out for the amount and was signed. When payment was refused he fled.

Bismarck, N. D.—Willard S. Dawson, aged 70, was found dead in the road near his home a few miles southeast of this city. He was one of the early pioneers of this section. He was unmarried and lived alone. He was well to do. Relatives in Philadelphia have been notified.

Fargo, N. D.—The first practical result of the recent meeting of the Retail Dealers' association is the sending out of a letter to try and raise a fund of $2,000 which will be spent for 60,000 booklets setting forth the advantages to be received by trading in Fargo and doing business with the local business men.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. Mary Stevens, aged 97, of Vicksburg, Miss., an aunt of Mrs. E. M. Reade of this city, is dead, according to word received in the city. Her death leaves only Mrs. Emily Beebe, mother of Mrs. Reade, and well known in Grand Forks because of her residence here from time to time, as the sole surviving member of the De Nio family of twelve children.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron Mountain—Rundles opera house here was badly gutted by fire last Sunday, the worst fire in years, the damage being estimated at $25,000. Chief La Londe had three fingers on his left hand badly lacerated. Capt. John Carollo had his right ankle sprained, and Fireman Clemo was bruised about the body and left leg and had his right arm and hand cut.

Hancock—Mrs. John McLeod of the Quincy location died at the family residence Sept. 9. Mrs. McLeod was 86 years of age and was one of the pioneer residents of this section.

Houghton—Fred LaMora, for the past seven months line foreman for the Houghton County Electric Light company, and an employe of the company for he past fifteen years, met death Wednesday evening at the substation maintained by the company at Senter for the Atlas Powder company plant there by electrocution.

Iron Mountain—Edward Harvey, former mayor of Iron Mountain, who has a large farm in Homestead, has finished harvesting and threshing his oats. The yield from forty acres was 1,647 bushels, a little over forty bushels to the acre. Mr. Harvey estimates that the recent storm damaged the crop to the extent of 400 bushels.

Marquette—Walter Dobson of Ishpeming, charged with assault with intent to violate a woman, was found guilty of assault and battery Thursday by a jury in circuit court and sentenced by Judge Flannigan to serve ninety days in the county jail. Dobson's trial was the last on the criminal calendar.

Ishpeming—As soon as options can be secured on sites for the erection of the proposed new incinerator the matter will be taken up by the common council in a special meeting. The site on the East New York property, owned by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, is being considered.

Negaunee—The police and pound departments deposited $289.40 in the city coffers last month. In the pound the officers collected fourteen cattle and horses and received the fine in each case. In the police department Judge St. John was not kept very busy. Only six arrests were made, none being very serious.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Kenosha—Funeral services for Eugene R. Head, late publisher of the Kenosha Evening News, were held Thursday afternoon at the Head home on Durkee avenue. Flags in the city were all at half mast and business was practically suspended during the hour of the funeral.

Madison—Prof. F. E. Mitchell of the faculty of Oshkosh normal school has returned from San Francisco, where he has been since the opening of the Panama-Pacific exposition in charge of the Wisconsin exhibits. Prof. Mitchell takes pride in the fact that Wisconsin was awarded a grand prize, one of the only three granted.

Beloit—Alvin, the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Katherine Kruger, is in a critical condition from bleeding, following the extraction of a tooth. He has bled almost incessantly four days and when the flow was stopped on Thursday he was near death.

Madison—Governor Phillpp approved the state railroad commission's appointment of Prof. J. D. Mack as state engineer. Prof. Mack at once proceeded with the work of organizing his department.

Ashland—Already many inquiries in regard to the horse races to be pulled off at the county fair have been received by the president of the fair association. There will be racing events on all three days of the fair, Sept. 28, 29 and 30.

Milwaukee—While the police were searching for Harold D. Smith, 23 years old, a laborer wanted on a charge of abondonment on the complaint of his wife, Anna, he was sitting in a cell in the South Side police station, having been arrested while paying attentions to Marie Piekarski, 18 years old, living on the South side.

Grand Rapids—Prairie chicken hunters report the game to be scarcer this year than in years. Many hunters from all parts of the state tramped over the marshes the last two days and returned with empty bags.

Milwaukee—Frank M. Bruce of the Bruce Publishing company was elected president of the Milwaukee Advertisers' club at the last meeting of the club year. F. S. Rost was elected vice president and Clifford Loew treasurer. Herbert C. Schmidt was re-elected secretary.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Marg—Wesley Merrill Anderson and Miss Cornelia E. Mowry were married at the M. E. parsonage Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. G. Boyle. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Anderson of this village. His bride is a daughter of Mrs. Carrie Aldrich of Ogilvie.

Ada—Claude C. Hunt, who has charge of the experiment farm work that is being done by the Great Northern in this section recently visited the G. W. Hooper farm at St. Hilaire, where experiments have been conducted. Sixty-three bushels of marquis wheat per acre was threshed from land that had been fertilized with phosphate and nitrate.

Cambridge—Ogilvie will have a second bank in the near future. The new bank will be known as the Farmers & Merchants' State bank and it will open for business about Sept. 15, E. J. Palmer of Fairfax, Minn., as cashier. The articles of incorporation were filed with the register of deeds Tuesday.

St. Cloud—A meeting of the Central Minnesota Poultry association was held Wednesday evening when plans were discussed for the poultry show to be held Jan. 13 and 17.

International Falls — The county board this week let contracts for a bridge across Sturgeon river and another over Bear river. The Iowa Bridge company and Plymouth Bridge company of Minneapolis, secured the contracts. The purchase of a tractor and grader outfit for Elwell highway No. 5 was authorized. The Zimmerman Electric company was awarded a contract for the wiring and electrical equipment of the county hospital now in process of construction at the county farm.

EXCITED TRADING IN ALL AMERICAN GRAIN MARKETS

Wheat Quotations Bulge on Short Covering and Then Break Sharply.

Flaxseed Remains Strong, With Good Demand From Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 11.—Operators in the wheat market were afforded abundance of excitement today. At the outset urgent buying developed from shorts and quotations were up 4¼@4½c from yesterday's close. The impelling factors were predictions of rain over the whole country, higher Liverpool cables and a continuance of urgent buying on millers' account. At its high, the market became top-heavy and liberal selling set in carrying quotations in the near future off 2⅞c and in May 3⅜c at the close.

The break was inaugurated on fears of complications arising with the Central European powers and consequent probable interference with grain shipments. Armour and some of the big Chicago operators took advantage of market conditions and sold heavy lines. In absorbing the offerings, prices crumbled away.

The movement of spring wheat was on a more liberal scale, but fall wheat was still slow in marketing operations. That led to a resumption of buying of Northwest wheat on millers' account. A large tonnage of grain has been sold to arrive Sept. 15, and with the filling of those contracts, and the expected heavy movement likely to start in next week, operators say that it will not take long to plug up the holes in the Eastern markets. Once the early millers' demand is filled, it is thought by operators generally that weakness will develop unless some export trade should materialize in the meantime. The outlook on that score is not considered roseate however, in view of the pressure of Canadian offerings. An encouraging development today came in an advance in sterling exchange to 4.70 cents. Should exchange hold up the chances are regarded good for a satisfactory foreign demand for durum springing up.

September wheat opened ⅞c up at 94⅛c, sold up to 98⅝c, and then eased off to a close 95¾c bid, or 1⅝c up from yesterday. December opened ⅜c up at 93½c, bulged 4c more and closed 1⅜c up at 94½c bid. May opened ½c up at 98c, advanced 4c more, and closed 1⅛c up at 98¾c.

September durum opened ¼c up at 98¼c, gained 3¾c more and closed 1¼c up at 99¼c. October opened ¼c up at 95c, gained 4c more and closed 2¼c up at 97c bid. December opened ¼c up at 94c, sold up 3½c more and closed up at 94¼c.

Flaxseed Quiet.

Flaxseed market was comparatively neglected. There was some buying by crushers in the spot and the near future. These advanced moderately, but quotations in the deferred futures did not move. A sustaining influence was strength in the foreign markets. Buenos Aires closed ½c up at $1.23¾ and London 2⅝c up at $1.94½.

September flax opened ¼c up at $1.63 and closed ½c up at $1.63¼ nominally. October opened unchanged at $1.62 and closed 1¼c up at $1.63¼ bid. November opened unchanged at $1.63 and closed unchanged. December opened unchanged at $1.62½ and closed ¼c up at $1.62¾ asked.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed ½c up at $1.42½ and December ½c off at $1.42½ asked.

Oats closed unchanged at 32⅝c for on the track or to arrive; rye unchanged at 89c for on the track and barley unchanged at from 43c to 53c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ¼c up at 36⅛c.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

Wheat was again in strong demand on millers' and elevators' account on the Duluth market. Cash premiums were ½c up. No. 1 northern on the track sold at 3½c over September, and to arrive Sept. 15 at 2c over September.

* * *

C. E. Lewis and Co. had the following from Chicago: "Offerings of winter wheat from first hands continue small and is causing extreme nervousness among shorts in the current month and cash handlers with sales made for nearby shipment. Until this situation is relieved we advise caution on short side. Would effect sales on rallies only. Ultimately we look for much lower prices for December and May wheat."

* * *

Minneapolis cash market was stronger, with premiums up 1c to 2c. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 7c to 9c over September and velvet chaff at 2c to 3½c over September. Flour sales were fair, but demand was not as active as it was. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 95½c to $1.01 and No. 2 northern at from 92½ to 98c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market displayed a firm undertone as a result of firmness in America and Winnipeg yesterday, disappointing native movement and anxiety of millers. Spot market was firm, unchanged to 1d higher, and millers absorbing with arrivals light and world's shipments expected to be lighter as indicated by Bradstreet's American contribution. Cargo market was strong, winter 7½d higher, Manitobas 4½d higher. Plates 3d higher and Indian 6@7½d higher. Scarcity of American offers of winters, light American visible and local absorption of spring served to keep merchants nervous. Argentine dryness continues. Canadian offers are lighter. Corn is dull and inclined lower with free Plate arrivals of good quality and liberal Plate offerings. Weather in United Kingdom unsettled with rain in north."

* * *

Broomhall's Australian agent cables a report by the minister of railways of New South Wales, estimating wheat crop at 60,000,000 bu against 12,800,000 bu last year.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Takes Upward Jump in Consequence of Heavy Rains.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Wheat made a fresh upward jump today in consequence of further rains and because of predictions of additional downpours all over the domestic belt before Monday. Higher quotations at Liverpool counted also against the bears. There were signs too that world shipments for the week would be meager. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as last night to ¾c up, with September at 99½ to $1.00 and December at 94c to 94⅝c, were followed by a quick general advance, which in some cases amounted to 2¾c.

Improved inquiry from the seaboard led afterward to still higher prices, but talk of possible importations from Canada brought about a decided reaction. The close was weak at the same as last night to 1c higher, with September at 99¼@c and December at 95c.

Corn hardened with wheat and as a result of unfavorable weather. Reports were current that much corn had been blown down by heavy winds in Central Illinois. After opening a shade lower to ⅛c advance, the market scored a moderate rise all around.

Oats reflected the strength of other grains. Selling was only of a scattered sort.

Subsequently comment on the unusual abundance of forage tended to check buyers. The close was unsettled at ⅝@¾c decline to ⅝c advance compared with last night.

Not much activity was shown in provisions. The market averaged a little higher on account of the bulge in the price of cereals.

DECLINES IN WAR SHARES

United States Steel at Its Low Figure of Week.

Railroad Shares Disposed to Yield a Point; Closing Heavy.

New York, Sept. 11.—Light trading with a lower price tendency featured today's brief market session. Inferences growing out of the foreign situation helped to restrain bullish enthusiasm, even though other news was of a constructive character. Bank clearings offered further proof of business improvement, and steel mills were reported as refusing additional orders, having reached the limit of capacity. The movement of stocks was narrow for the most part, war shares, however, showing decided declines from yesterday. United States Steel was under pressure, falling a point to 73¾, its low figure of the week, and railroad shares were disposed to yield a point or thereabouts. The closing was heavy. Bonds were irregular.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, Sept. 11.—Bradstreet's says: "Trade trends continue upward, confidence as to the future is spreading, and while holidays as well as conservatism in some quarters have not allowed full rein to trade movements, the week has proved another budget of favorable factors. House trade has picked up; state fairs and conventions at numerous cities have brought in many buyers, retail trade, though not quite uniform, has been aided by the ending of the vacation season; sales of dry goods are larger; remarkable crop yields are indicated; rural districts, as well as war order centers are in a position to spend money; railway traffic is heavier, notwithstanding that wheat is slower than a year ago in getting to market; record outputs of pig iron are being absorbed at rising prices; skilled labor is in smart call; steel continues active on an advancing market; buying of steel rails has expanded; building shows increases, something not seen for some time past; collections continue to mend; money is in better demand; commercial paper sells more freely, new enterprises are more numerous; the stock market maintains a strong undertone; foreign exchange presents a more stable appearance, practically every point in the South feels more optimistic and even in the far Northwest where low prices for lumber deter developments, there are signs of betterment. Weekly bank clearings $3,883,856,000.

Most of the merchant's REAL anxieties grow out of his absurd anxiety not to spend too much in advertising.

HOW "PUNKIN JOE" FOUND BIG LEDGE COPPER MINE

Rock He Picked Up Was Too Valuable to Throw at His Lazy Mule.

On Bee Claim, Where Seven Per Cent Copper Ore Is Being Shown Up.

Formation Is Richer With Depth and Shares Moving Up Steadily.

BY GEORGE REID.

Perhaps no department of industry is more replete with romance than that of mining. History records unnumbered instances where the factors leading to the discovery of the world's greatest metal producers range all the way from the sublime to the ridiculous, interwoven with the simple life of the peasant household no less than the dignified events from which are born kingdoms and empires. One need not hark back to the misty days when the great Rio Tinto Copper mine of Spain, with its twenty-two century record of production, began to yield its riches of the yellow metal. In more modern times romance and mystery are part and parcel of many of America's greatest ore producers.

In the Michigan copper country the horny-handed miner, as he puffs at his pipe at the close of the day's work, still loves to re-hash the old story of a tramp's accidental discovery of th Calumet conglomerate. Tonopah Mining company of Tonopah, Nev., would never have yielded its plethora of wealth to its fortunate stockholders, aggregating to date $15,000,000, but for the part which providence had allotted Jim Butler's patience-testing mule in the discovery of that great gold-silver camp, and by reason of the similarity of detail that led to the opening of the great Tonopah camp and that which brought the Big Ledge Development company's copper mine to the attention of that unique individual whose name is recorded in the old family Bible as Joseph Riggins, but who has in Arizona mining circles answered for years to the name of "Punkin' Joe," the discovery of the Big Ledge estate is not a whit behind in its

"Romance which loves to nod and sing
With drowsy head and folded wing."

"Punkin Joe" and His Lazy Mule.

Joe started out one morning with his lazy mule as he had started out many mornings before in his tireless search for the one claim that would provide for him an easy berth in the days when the dull vision of advancing years would no longer detect the values in the earth-bound rock and the ruthless hand of age had robbed him of the force that for so many years had swung the pick in the rich hills of Arizona.

Joe's mule differed not from others of its kind. It was not noted for its celerity of movement, and as the two one morning lazily ascended the slope of what is now the Bee claim of the Big Ledge Development company, the dumb brute's leaning was more strongly to grazing than mining—so much so, indeed, that Joe, in an impatient mood, wrested from the ledge beneath his feet a piece of rock to throw at the mule to speed it on its course.

In the twinkling of an eye, however, "Punkin Joe" discovered that the rock possessed a quality which it was not good business to hurl at the most obstreperous of beasts, much less at Joe's faithful companion of a decade past. In short, the eye that had been trained for so many years in its ceaseless hunt for metal observed that the stone contained not only copper of a high grade, but copper in a formation that his long experience and observation led him to believe was associated with a great mother ledge of pay ore.

This proved to be the terminus of Riggin's march for the day. He covered his find and made tracks to Humboldt, where he prepared himself for a thorough prospecting of the spot, resulting in the uncovering of a very large body of what is now proving to be one of the principal assets of the Big Ledge company's copper wealth.

Gold Vein Worked by Indians.

Nor is the Bee claim the only portion of Big Ledge's valuable holdings that furnishes interesting reminiscences. On the Ernest claim, nearly a mile south of the Bee, it is a subject of frequent conversation among old prospectors familiar with that district that up to within two or three years ago there could be seen by anyone taking the trouble to locate it an old arastra, which rude form of ore-extracting method was employed by the Indians to separate from the rock the values that ran high in gold.

The source of this gold ore was an old tunnel run into the side of the hill on the Ernest claim, a distance of about thirty-five feet. Here is still to be found a vein of the precious metal that is expected to add materially to the value per ton of Big Ledge rock when the company shall have reached the ore treating stage.

Assays made from this tunnel are said to have run as high as $60 per ton, and it is the belief of the management that an extensive chute of highly profitable gold ore will be developed at this point.

It may not be generally known, but the proof is easily available, that the Baumann Copper company, operating immediately north and whose ground adjoins the Big Ledge estate, a few years ago took from around the 900-foot level copper ore that won the prize at the world's fair at St. Louis. This same ore is said to be an exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles.

It has been clearly demonstrated that this rich ore taken from depth from a ledge of narrow width is but the continuation of the extensive body of copper ore discovered by "Punkin Joe" and his mule on the Big Ledge's Bee claim, and goes a long way toward proving to an equal depth the copper-bearing rock of that portion of the company's holdings.

Seven Per Cent Copper Values.

The shaft on the Bee claim, which "Punkin Joe" discovered with the aid of his lazy mule, is now down 115 feet in the same rich formation as previously reported, bearing out Engineer Shockley's prediction that here is a property that rivals the Inspiration mine.

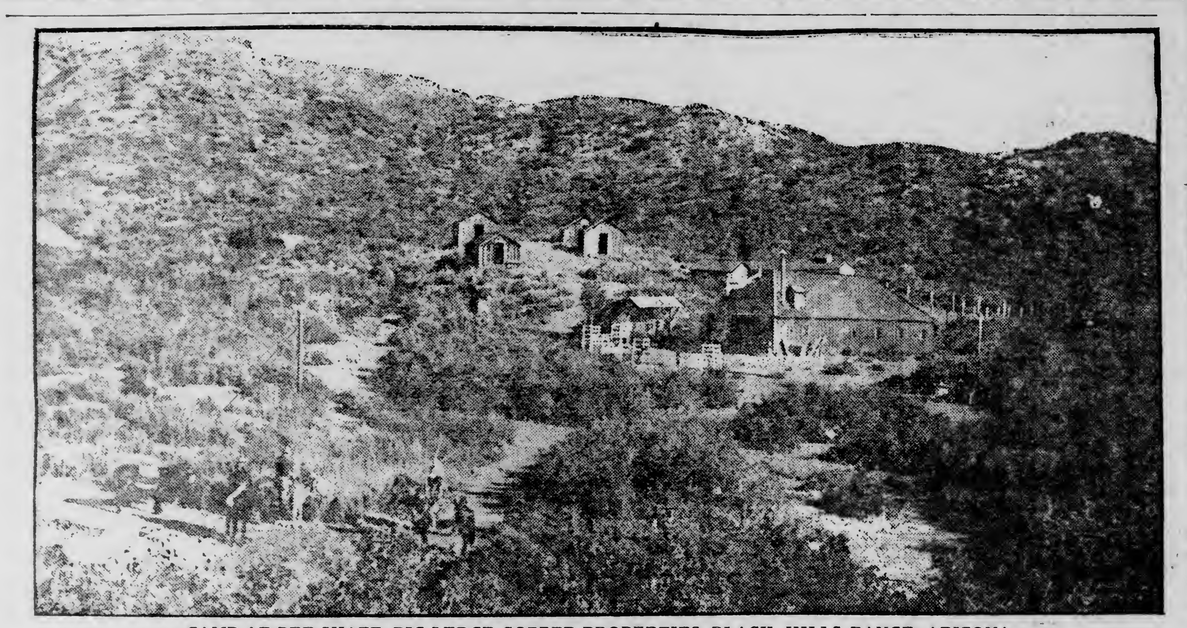

On the Copper Kettle claim, a mile away from the Bee shaft, the shaft is down 112 feet and the values are running as high as 7 per cent copper, with good values in gold and silver.

On the Mountain view claim the tunnel which is being driven to intercept the south end of the immense body of ore under development on the Copper Kettle claim, has penetrated 250 feet and within two weeks is due to encounter the ore body. This tunnel is part of the work of blocking out the body of rich copper ore which Engineer Shockley estimates at 100,000,000 tons.

A drill hole on the Ironclad claim, to the north of the Bee, has reached 200 feet in depth and is in the same formation as that found in Bee shaft, which proves an additional length of the copper ore body of about 3,000 feet.

Demands for shares in Big Ledge continue to broaden and the price is still advancing steadily, although the stock has risen 200 per cent in two months.

Ernest Le Duc, president of the Big Ledge Development company, whose office is in the Sellwood building, and the control of which is held in Duluth, with Charles Batre, vice president, and J. H. Shockley, the eminent mining engineer of 30 Broad street, New York, who is consulting engineer of Big Ledge, are expected to arrive at the property, near Humboldt, in the Black Hills range of Arizona, next week for a thorough inspection of the workings and with a view to increasing the force of miners.

CAMP AT BEE SHAFT, BIG LEDGE COPPER PROPERTIES, BLACK HILLS RANGE, ARIZONA.

STANTON TO BE MANAGER

President of Wolverine to Direct the White Pine Extension.

Milwaukee Road to Build Line to the White Pine.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—White Pine Extension's management will soon be assumed by John R. Stanton, president of the Wolverine, Mohawk and Michigan companies. Mr. Stanton has taken a great interest in the exploratory work from the start and has recently visited the property. A lifetime very successfully devoted to the management of copper mines and a very high standing in the copper world will be of great advantage to the company in developing and operating its mine, in future financing, and selling its product. Manager Close says that all of the territory of the Extension except a short stretch at the southern end has been proved good, and that with the drilling done so far, there is blocked out 12,000,000 tons, which will yield 50 pounds to the ton, making a total of 300,000,000 pounds of refined copper. The first shaft will soon be started and will be located about 1,500 feet north of the boundary between sections 12 and 7. It will be sunk about 40 feet back in the foot-wall, and the shrinkage system of mining will be practiced, stopes being carried up 250 feet and the broken rock shrunk, or drawn off, by a chute at the bottom sufficiently to leave a working bank for the drill men, and the overburden or rubbish from a preceding caving in being allowed to cave in, when the rock is all taken out. It appears in the Nonesuch formations that the copper is only deposited where there have been faults parallel to and in the strike. In the southern end of the Extension and in the S. L. Smith lands to the north there have been no strike faults, and consequently there is no copper.

White Pine.

White Pine will have a railroad before the snow flies, as the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul will lay tracks on six miles, of grading that was done some time ago through the lumber camp of the Diamond Match company, and the White Pine management will build also one and one-half miles of railroad to connect out from the White Pine. This will be a very great improvement, as now all of the mineral, concentrates, has to be teamed out, and all the freight in from the mouth of the Iron river, about six miles. It will be a great gain in convenience and a great saving in costs. The rock, it is learned on reliable authority, is yielding about 28 pounds of refined copper a ton, with 12 to 15 pounds that remain in the tailings and which will be later on for the most part be recovered by leaching or the flotation process.

Winona.

Winona is now shipping over 500 tons daily, and it is reliably understood that the yield in refined copper has been averaging for the past month between 17 and 18 pounds, rising occasionally to 21 pounds. The leaching plant is in operation after several delays. The manganoids or steel balls will now be given a fair trial, as one of the mills has been lined with same material as the balls, manganese steel, while in the past silex, the lining for the Danish and French flint pebbles, has given considerable when used with the balls. The extraction at the mill equals that of any period in the past. A very good profit is being made now. Of course, there is a closer selection being made not only of the broken-down rock, but also in the places selected for stoping.

Victoria.

Victoria has now three stopes on the twenty-sixth level, where the lode has broadened to a width of thirty feet with very good levels. On this level there had been opened a length of over 500 feet about two months ago when the lode was lost on both drifts and it carried very good values. Recently it has been recovered and is disclosing fair copper. The collar of the new skipway is being cemented, and the latter is being holed in two places by raises from two levels. A decision will be made as to the remodelling or replacing the hoisting engine at the directors' meeting in the week beginning the 14th at the mine. On the twenty-fourth level high grade rock is coming from the stretch 450 feet long and good ground is now being opened on the same side of the shaft, the eastern, farther in where it was indicated by the diamond drill some time ago. The enlargement of the engine house is more than half completed. The tonnage will be high as for the last few months.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian has just unwatered the test pit opened on the New Arcadian lode at the depth of thirty-two feet five years ago, 1,800 feet south of the shaft. Considerable copper was exposed there at that time, but no blasting was done. One drill is in operation there, and another will be added soon. On account of the long air line from the compressor it has been necessary to reduce the number of drills operating underground to six, that in the crosscut beyond the No. 8 conglomerate and one in the raise from the sixth level, and that in the 750-foot north having been stopped. All the openings are displaying the usual variations from day to day, but on the whole they are maintaining the very good average of the mine. The crosscut on the 1,050-foot level is now just about half way to the lode. All the formations thus far passed through have been very regular and correspond very closely with those encountered on the levels above.

Algomah.

Algomah is now completely unwatered and after some repairs on the shaft are made, and the skipway extended from the third level to the bottom, sinking will be resumed. There is no geological or chemical reason why the black oxide of copper should not turn into native copper at that depth and many of our geologists and mining men have held this belief from the time when this ore was first discovered.

Shelden & Columbia.

Shelden & Columbia's showing of sheet copper has been uncovered for the depth of about eight feet and a length of thirteen feet. A part of it projects up vertically and the other is lying on from an amygdaloid lode, which seems to have the strike of the regular series. The 1,200 to 1,500 tons of copper will be taken out.

Copper Range.

Copper Range Consolidated will, from its turbines operated by the exhaust steam from the stamps at the Champion and Baltic mills, use the electricity not needed at the mills, where it runs all the machinery, except the stamps and even works their valves. The supply from the three mills is not adequate, and it is somewhat diminished by the installation of regrinding mills, so that preparations are being made to dredge up the sands at the Champion mill lying along the shores of Lake Superior to make up the deficiency. This system for the use of the sand will soon be in operation at the Trimountain, where one shaft is being made ready for it. It has been in use at the Baltic for some time.

Mass.

Mass has started to mine the thirteenth level on the Evergreen lode of shaft C, to which the shaft was sunk some time ago. The values there are up to that of the mine. No. 3 of the North lodes of the South Lake is not being drifted on for a while, but is being stoped and the rock is as good as when the lode was first discovered by the crosscut. The yield and the tonnage are the same as for the year, between 15 and 16 pounds a ton, and very nearly 1,200 tons daily.

South Lake.

South Lake now has several steel construction companies figuring on the design and cost of a steel rock house. It was at first thought that a temporary shaft of wood might be put up, but on account of the large tonnage that will have to be handled when the six lodes are developed, the house would have to be quite large, it has now been decided that it must be of steel. About two cars a day are being shipped to the Franklin mill and the rock is giving the same values as that of the first mill test made a short time ago, 24 pounds of mineral or about 17 pounds of copper a ton, including the mass.

Franklin.

Franklin is still sending to its mill about 800 tons daily, as it has been held back by the necessity of making several perfecting changes in the underground equipment, but will increase the tonnage at almost any time. The quality of the conglomerate in the new openings that are being made is very good. At the mill there will be quantity of amygdaloid and then a quantity of conglomerate, since they are dumped into the rock chute just as they come, and the change is noticed immediately in the wash on account of the difference in the amounts of the copper in the jigs and on the tables. The quality will be somewhat low at present as there is no place underground, no stopes having as yet been cut in the conglomerate to put the waste rock and it has to be sent up, since it cannot be separated in the rock chute. Nothing worthy of note has been encountered in the long exploratory crosscut, but the same high speed of from 250 to 260 feet a month is being made and the Kearsarge amygdaloid will be entered this year.

Superior

Superior is in both drifts on the eighteenth level, that from No. 1 toward No. 2 and that from No. 2 toward No. 1, covering about 520 feet a month and the connection will be effected about the middle of next month. This is more for ventilation and for safety than for mining. No. 1 shaft is now below the twenty-fourth level and it is known there is some improvement, especially on the west vein.

Houghton.

Houghton Copper will sink the winze or downward passage from the tenth to the twelfth level. The shaft is down about 623 feet and as the funds in the treasury were low and the sixth level did give a paying showing of copper, a winze was cut down on the lode first to the eighth and then to the tenth level. Some copper was found everywhere but there were three or four quite good stretches in the winze and the drifts, the best being in the winze from the sixth to the eighth level. This last mentioned stretch will be mined in a short time.

TUOLUMNE WILL INCREASE OUTPUT

Shipments Now Average About Hundred Tons of Ore Daily.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 11.—Since the last of the water was taken from the Tuolumne mine, several days ago, mining has been prosecuted as vigorously as the conditions would permit, and shipments have averaged 100 tons of ore a day. This tonnage will be increased in the near future, President Hickey states, and it is expected the daily average will be larger than it has ever been.

While ore is being taken out for shipment to the smelter, the work of repairing the mine and putting all the lower levels in first-class shape is being carried forward. The 2,600-level, which was just beginning to look good when the shutdown came, nearly ten months ago, is being developed, and is looking very good.

RAINBOW BEGINS SINKING OF SHAFT

Company Will Soon Determine What Lies Beneath Surface.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 11.—The unwatering of the shaft in the Rainbow, undertaken a month ago, has been effected in the time estimated, and three shifts of men are now busy on the development work. This will be watched with interest by mining men of the district, who view with favor the extensive undertakings of the Rainbow Lode company. The Rainbow people were a long time getting the lands they wanted, and which properly belonged in such developments as were demanded in a practical test of their particular locality. While no ore has been taken from the property, its location, being next to the Butte & Superior and other conditions that are taken into consideration by experts lead to the belief that the one large vein cut by the shaft, when depth is gained, will prove to be the heavy mineralization sought. It is this belief that warrants the company in making the expenditure of money, time and labor. Should the ore be found, the general impression among mining men is that it will be very similar to that of the Butte & Superior, and it will make the Rainbow a very live issue in the market.

When the last of the water was taken out and a thorough examination was made, the shaft was found to be in excellent condition. Apparently no damage has resulted during the time the property was idle and the shaft filled with water. A pumping station was established at the 1,000-foot level, and these pumps will very easily keep the shaft dry.

The company's plans call for sinking the shaft, which is now 1,300 feet deep, for at least 200 feet more. Then the ground will be crosscut, and developments will be sufficient to show just what the hopes of the promoters are built upon.

SAME POLICY TO BE CONTINUED

Annual Meeting of Stewart Harmonious and Bacon Again Manager.

With the re-election of the old officers the shareholders of the Stewart Mining company last week decided to continue the same policy that has governed the company during the last year.

The officers of the company are: Hiram C. Todd, president; Charles T. Clark, secretary. These, with Nash Rockwood, Charles W. Sacke and William A. Beaudry, form the directorate. The meeting was an amicable one. M. W. Bacon will continue as general manager of the company.

With the acquisition of control of the Coeur d'Alene Development company, the Stewart stockholders feel sure that the company can continue its normal productions for several years.

At the conclusion of the meeting held in Kellogg, the out-of-town shareholders left on the afternoon train for Spokane. Several of the party made the trip to British Columbia to look at the Quatsino property, which the Stewart company controls.

BREAK RECORDS AT BUTTE & SUPERIOR

During Month of August 14,500,000 Pounds of Zinc Recovered.

The month of August far surpassed all records at the Butte & Superior mine and mill. The total amount of zinc produced was 14,500,000 pounds, or nearly 1,000,000 pounds in excess of any previous month.

This was done in spite of the fact that the tonnage of approximately 45,000 tons of ore mined and milled was not up to the tonnage for July.

The increase in the production of zinc was brought about largely by the increased efficiency in securing results from the new machines in the oil flotation plant. The recoveries averaged 93 per cent, while the grade of concentrates was 56 per cent, against 51 and 52 per cent in former months.

There was also some improvement in the grade of the ores.

"The improvement in the recoveries and grade of concentrates," said General Manager J. L. Bruce, "was brought about largely through the greater efficiency of the new machines. The adjustments are better in the flotation plant now and the results are showing what improvements have been made recently."

In regard to the report that a large body of copper glance had been encountered at the Black Rock mine, Mr. Bruce said: "There is no truth to that report. Such reports have been circulated from time to time, but they have little or no foundation for them. Once in a while a body of copper glance will be run into in certain parts of the properties of the Butte & Superior, but there is no evidence that our zinc ores are giving way to copper in the districts where we are mining."

MAKING PROGRESS AT BLACK FRIDAY

New Development Work in Emma Mine Proceeding Well.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 11.—W. H. McNulty, accompanied by Paul Gow, superintendent of the Pilot-Butte, and Engineer H. McLeod of the Clark properties have just returned from a trip of inspection to the Black Friday mine at Radersburg, where they made a thorough examination of the new development work in the Emma mine of the company, where work is progressing on the 400-foot level. The drift has broken into two feet of ore and a large number of samples were taken both by Mr. Gow and Mr. McLeod.

Ore is also being taken at a depth of seventy feet on the Emma claim, where the gold ore is twenty-eight inches wide.

On the Wednesday claim the shaft is now down ninety feet and the ore there is widening. The contract for the completion of the railroad from Three Forks to Radersburg has been signed up with a Washington company and calls for the completion of the road by Jan. 1. The Friday company is planning to add to its ore reserves of 20,000 tons of milling rock and all will be in readiness when the railroad is completed for active operations. A car of ore was sent to the Washoe smelter Tuesday of last week.

ANACONDA REACHES NORMAL CAPACITY OF ITS MINES

August Output Is Largest of Any Month This Year.

Wages of Butte Miners Are Reduced to $3.75 Per Day.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The August production by the Anaconda company, 22,800,000 pounds, was the largest of any month this year. The figures for the eight months of 1915 follow:

	Pounds.
January	13,700,000
February	15,100,000
March	19,000,000
April	21,300,000
May	20,500,000
June	22,100,000
July	22,100,000
August	22,800,000
Total	157,100,000

The figures include the output of the Anaconda company and also the copper ores received from the North Butte and other smaller producing concerns.

The Anaconda company has about reached the normal capacity of its mines, and it is not expected that the monthly figures will hereafter show any remarkable gains after the first of the year when the Great Falls smelter will be in full commission again. The company is pushing development work at various properties—copper, silver and zinc properties—but it will be a long time before these mines will be producing. While the pumps are running night and day in the Nettie mine, the silver property on the west side of the Butte district, it is expected that the mine will not be completely unwatered for four or five months. The Nettie seems to drain the entire western section of the district, and before the shut down and curtailment last fall the pumps had been running for eight months, and still all the water was not out of the mine. The Nettie vein is a large one and was a good producer of silver many years ago. Mining men say that with depth the Nettie will develop large deposits of copper and zinc.

There is a very large area of zinc deposits extending for several miles from the Emma mine in Butte westward beyond the old Blue Bird properties. In the western section several copper properties have also been opened, but none was ever developed to an important producing stage. It is expected that the western section will be pretty thoroughly explored and demonstrated through the work to be done in the Nettie by the Anaconda company, and the owners of other properties there are awaiting results with interest.

Miners' Wages Cut.

The wages of 13,000 miners in the Butte district were reduced from $4 to $3.75 per day for the month of August, in accordance with the sliding scale prevailing, based on the price of electrolytic copper. The average price for a majority days of a month governs the wage scale. At 17 cents or more miners are paid $4 per day, and between 15 and 17 cents they get $3.75, while below 15 cents the wage automatically recedes to $3.50 per day. The quotations of the Engineering and Mining Journal are accepted by the mining companies in computing the average price of the metal. This authority gave the average for a majority days of the month at 16.90 cents per pound, and therefore there was cut off the miners' wages 25 cents per day. There always is a dispute and controversy as to the correctness of the accepted figures, but they were agreed on by the miners and mining companies when the contract on the question of wages was made. The daily copper quotations sent out by the press association and Eastern market wires show that during August the price quoted was under 17 cents but six days in the month when the price stated was 16.75 two days, 16.15 two days and 16.50 for two days. For two days the daily quotations gave the price at 17 cents and for the remainder of the month from 17.25 to 18.50 cents.

For several months, even under the authority accepted by the companies, the prevailing price of copper has averaged well above 17 cents, and an officer of the Anaconda company expressed the opinion that there would be a marked improvement in the market and that it would be a long time before copper would again drop below 17 cents. According to the Journal's figures, copper sold as low as 15.75 for some days during August, at which price, it is claimed, considerable business was done both with domestic consumers and with foreign governments. The month closed with the metal selling at 18 cents and better, and it was the general belief that all the cheap copper had been taken up, and that prices would again continue to advance. There has been some talk about a likely accumulation of a copper surplus, but men at the head of the big companies here say there was but a comparatively insignificant growth of the surplus during the recent lull in the copper market.

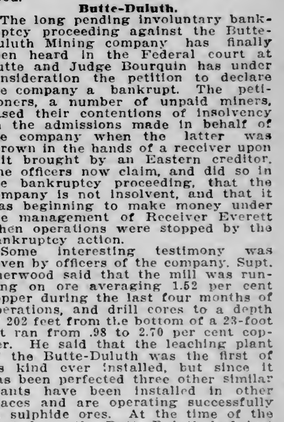

Pilot-Butte.

Mining is going on constantly in the Pilot-Butte mine, owned and controlled by the same men who run the Tuolumne. Regular shipments from the veins not in dispute with the Anaconda company, are being made, the ore running 3½ to 6 per cent copper. It is probable that the suit over the big copper vein in the Pilot ground will be tried at the fall term of court, but whatever the result in the lower court it is not likely that the vein will be released to either claimant until the controversy is carried back and forth through all the courts, and as an appeal to the supreme court is seldom heard within two years, the prospect for keeping the disputed vein tied up for some years more is very good.

Butte-Duluth.

The long pending involuntary bankruptcy proceeding against the Butte-Duluth Mining company has finally been heard in the Federal court at Butte and Judge Bourquin has under consideration the petition to declare the company a bankrupt. The petitioners, a number of unpaid miners, based their contentions of insolvency on the admissions made in behalf of the company when the latter was thrown in the hands of a receiver upon suit brought by an Eastern creditor. The officers now claim, and did so in the bankruptcy proceeding, that the company is not insolvent, and that it was beginning to make money under the management of Receiver Everett when operations were stopped by the bankruptcy action.

Some interesting testimony was given by officers of the company. Supt. Sherwood said that the mill was running on ore averaging 1.52 per cent copper during the last four months of operations, and drill cores to a depth of 202 feet from the bottom of a 23-foot pit ran from .98 to 2.70 per cent copper. He said that the leaching plant of the Butte-Duluth was the first of its kind ever installed, but since it has been perfected three other similar plants have been installed in other places and are operating successfully in sulphide ores. At the time of the shut down the Butte-Duluth had just reached a stage where it could operate its mine at a profit. A saving of 50 per cent is now possible in buying acid for the plant, as it used to cost $25 per ton to bring it from Denver, and now it may be secured from the Anaconda company at $12.50 per ton. This, said the superintendent, effects a saving of 38 cents per ton of ore treated. In three days during which the plant was operated by the receiver, 834 tons of ore were milled and leached and the net profits from the copper recovered were $161.50. Copper was then selling at 14¾ cents per pound. Receiver Everett estimated the value of the company's property at $741,368, against an indebtedness, bonded and otherwise, of $241,368. The total of claims filed is $190,833.86, of which $42,368.51 is due to miners, represented by due bills.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

"BIG THINGS" IN LINE OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT WILL FOLLOW LEASING OF TERMINAL LINES BY THE MISSABE ROAD

Duluth Believed to Be on Eve of Momentous Happenings.

Among Industries Already in Sight Is Car Manufacturing Plant.

Eastern Capitalists, Looking Over Field, Are Favorably Impressed.

That Duluth is on the eve of momentous happenings in the commercial and industrial world, and that persons who stick to their guns and obtain a footing in any line of business endeavor at this point will find themselves abundantly rewarded in the near future, is the concensus of opinion among local real estate operators.

Greater things than are apparent upon the surface are expected to result through the recent leasing by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad of three transfer roads, the Spirit Lake Transfer, the Interstate Transfer and the Duluth Terminal railway. Besides forming a complete belt line circuit in the vicinity of the Minnesota Steel company's plant and serving its needs in affording a connection with the docks and all the railroads operating at the Head of the Lakes, it is conceded that the move will result in the development of considerable property for important industrial purposes.

Car Works in Sight.

Among the industries already mentioned as in sight is a car manufacturing plant. Eastern capitalists interested in the proposition were in the city a few days ago and after a close inspection of sites offering on the Duluth and Superior sides of the bay, and making a study of the general situation here, they expressed themselves as having been favorably impressed. It is understood that general car repair shops are proposed at the outset and that later on the manufacture of freight cars would probably be taken up on an extensive scale. The enterprise would involve the investment of a large amount of capital, and would afford employment to a considerable number of skilled workmen.

The outstanding feature of the week in realty circles was the purchase of the Empress theater property on Superior street east by Duluth capitalists at a consideration of $60,000. Title in the fifty-foot frontage passed from Lottie M. Koon, Washington, to the Furlan Land company. The sale was effected through W. M. Prindle & Co.

In view of the fact that the fifty-foot frontage at the southeast corner of Superior street and Lake avenue changed hands two years ago at $100,000, the purchasers are considered to have obtained a bargain. The consideration did not include the building upon the property, which, however, after the destruction of its interior through fire, was practically only a shell.

Another interesting transaction closed up was the purchase of the Canal block on Lake avenue south with a frontage of 100 feet by the Methodist Episcopal Union of Duluth from L. S. and S. Loeb. The amount of the consideration was not mentioned, but it is understood to have compared favorably with recent Lake avenue sales. The building will be utilized for conducting a mission, but it is expected that it will be eventually sold for warehouse or industrial purposes.

Pinehurst Sale Today.

It is expected by members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange that the entire block of thirty-eight lots at Pinehurst-on-the-Lester will be disposed of at the sale this afternoon. Up to yesterday twenty of the lots had been reserved and other sales were under negotiation.

The success that has attended the Pinehurst sale is taken as evidence of the results that can be accomplished by any body of business men in putting their shoulders to the wheel in the effort to make their proposition go.

A gratifying business in residence properties during the week was reported by Stryker, Manley & Buck. Three lots at the northwest corner of Second street and the Hawthorne road were sold for Alexander Gordon to Dr. O. Oredson. It is understood that the purchaser plans to proceed with the erection of a handsome residence on the property at once.

Four lots were also sold at the southwest corner of Third street and Hawthorne road for C. C. Whiting to Elmer N. Whyte. These sales bring the number of lots disposed by the office in this choice locality up to twenty-seven during the last two months.

A lot at First street and Twenty-ninth avenue east was besides sold for C. C. Whiting to J. K. Deighton, and forty acres of land near Palmer, Minn., was sold for Susan Stryker to O. Johnson.

The A. A. Fider company sold for Alice L. McLeod to M. Kron, house and lot No. 1204 East Third street at $2,200.

* * *

The Duluth Realty company sold a house and lot on Sixth street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east to A. E. Parker at $4,400 and the office was successful in disposing of 16 acres of summer resort property at Sunshine lake to a group of Duluth people who intend to improve it for occupation during the next holiday season. Earnest money was besides taken on the sale of a West end property.

* * *

Charles P. Craig & Co. sold a 2½-acre tract at Greysolon farms. Good inquiry at Lakeside and for properties over the Duluth Heights was also met with.

* * *

The Benjamin F. Schwelger company sold this week three lots on the southeast corner of Eleventh street and Twenty-third avenue west at a consideration of $1,200.

* * *

Good inquiry for lots in Crescent View Park was reported by W. M. Prindle & Co. M. I. Stewart has just bought an additional eighty feet there making his holdings 180 feet. He is arranging to build a handsome home. F. A. Kemp is also planning to build a modern home in Crescent View Park on property recently acquired by him.

* * *

A marked development of interest by Duluth investors in properties in the vicinity of the steel plant was advised by A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company. A number of sales of Gary lots were effected, the buyers being about equally divided between local people and outside capitalists.

HUNTER'S PARK HOMESITES

These lots are among the finest and most sightly in Duluth. They are located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park and Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. They are surrounded by splendid homes; close to church and school and street car. Gas, water, sewer, and Vermilion Road and Victoria Street are paved. Vermilion Road is the finest pavement in the city, having cost $240 for 50 feet. These improvements do not add a cent to the price of these lots for you.

THE GREATEST SNAPS IN DULUTH

WORTH 50% MORE THAN WE ASK

If you are thinking of building a home you can make a 20 per cent larger loan here than in a new suburb. When you buy or build here you are not buying in a new boom addition where you would be a pioneer, so to speak, but the improvements are here and the type of houses surrounding you is assured.

There is not a single lot on Vermilion Road or Victoria Street that is not worth today 50 per cent. more than we are asking. Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any other lots in the city. Substantiate everything we say by investigation.

Look at our prices on plat, the size of the lots, and you will be convinced.

Come out and see this property. This is all we ask—compare what we offer with all other property in the city. Read every real estate ad in the paper. Then look at the prices and the property. Our Terms: Only 10% cash and five years' time on the balance. Take Woodland or Hunter's Park car to Victoria street. You will then see our sign.

DULUTH'S NEW ARMORY ON LONDON ROAD WILL BE READY FOR OCCUPANCY ON NOV. 1

THE NEW ARMORY.

The new Armory on London road is rapidly approaching completion and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy by Nov. 1. George H. Lounsberry & Co., the general contractors for it, have employed a large force since the early spring, and they are considered to have made a creditable record in pushing it along. The structure is of reinforced concrete construction and brick, and it will be one of the handsomest of its kind in the Northwest. Its cost will be approximately $125,000. The plans for it were prepared by Kelly & Williams, architects.

BUILDING OPERATIONS ARE SHOWING MARKED ACTIVITY

Several Large Proposals Scheduled to Go Out for Figures Soon.

More Handsome Homes Are Projected in Newer Residental Districts.

Building operations in this city and district continue active in all branches and judging by the work in hand and in prospect, architects and contractors expect to be rushed right up to the end of the season.

As had been forecasted some large additional proposals have gone out for figures during the last few days, and other plans will be ready shortly.

Looking into all the conditions, architects regard the building situation as more promising at the present time than in years. Residence construction promises to be the feature for some time yet. In that connection it is said that preliminary sketches are being made for a number of handsome homes projected in the high-class residential districts, including Congdon Park, Waverly Park and the East end, some of which may yet be proceeded with this season. Work of a public nature in hand includes a new edifice in the East end for the Pilgrim church congregation to cost approximately $100,000, and the proposed new Y. M. C. A. building to go up on the site of the present Pilgrim church, to entail an outlay of about $50,000. Early next season work is to be started on a new lodge building for the Knights of Columbus on a site recently purchased on the upper side of Second street, between Second and Third avenues west. It will entail an estimated outlay of $75,000, and will contain a fully equipped gymnasium and swimming pool.

Plans for a brick and stucco house for E. H. Chapin, Jr., will get out for figures today from the office of A. N. Starin, architect. Its cost is estimated at $10,000.

* * *

Figures are being taken on a brick and stone Roman Catholic church to be built at Argyle, Minn. Its cost is estimated at $30,000. Holstead & Sullivan are the architects.

The same architects have awarded the contract for heating and plumbing at the Kerrick, Minn., school to Stock Bros. and to Louis Ramstad the general contract for the building being built by J. A. Stephenson at Superior street and Third avenue east, to be occupied by the Mutual Auto company. The heating and plumbing job on the latter contract went to the D. R. Black company. The cost of the block will be approximately $20,000.

* * *

Jacobson Bros. have obtained the general contract for the two-story brick block to be built at Grand avenue and Fifty-fifth avenue west for W. H. Givan. J. J. Wangenstein is the architect.

MIDDLE AGE

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

For all that has been said to the contrary this is the middle aged man's day. You can talk of the early recognition of competence, of youthful success, and what does it all mean but that a man reaches middle age with more years of successful endeavor behind.

A generation or so ago a business man who devoted himself assiduously to golf or tennis would probably have lost his credit at the banks and have been looked at askance by his business associates. Nowadays there are thousands of successful middle-aged business men who regularly devote a certain portion of their time to rational exercise. This is fortunate, as conditions have changed, our cities have increased in size and the environment of business is more restricted. Our grandfathers had much open air life thrust upon them; today it must be sought.

Cheeks bronzed from exercise in the open air stamps many a middle-aged man as a devotee of rational sports. College athletics are probably responsible for a share of this improvement and public health teaching and a struggle for individual efficiency for the balance.

The man who has succeeded young is perhaps more jealous of his physical powers than one who has plodded on to a middle-aged realization of his hopes.

There is a movement for temperance on the part of unnumbered thousands of middle-aged men. Temperance in eating, in the use of alcohol and a rational indulgence in exercises which will keep up the physical poise. There are hundreds of country clubs today where there was one twenty-five years ago, and it is the middle-aged men and not the youngsters who most persistently frequent them. It is well that this is a growing movement, for it will aid in offsetting the increasing mortality from degenerative diseases.

The pressure of life and the struggle for existence is growing keener, and it behooves the man who has reached the noon-day of life to give serious consideration to his physical well-being if he wishes to hold his place in the harness.

Bemidji Elks Play.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, "Loveland," a jolly musical comedy, will be produced as a Bemidji Elks' benefit. The leading roles will be taken by Dorothy Torrance and William McDonald, who will be assisted by a cast of sixty-three of the best of Bemidji's talent. Miss Dorothy Fraleigh of New York is coaching the play.

THE "LOST ISLANDS" OF LAKE SUPERIOR

Early Chart Makers' Mistake Was Carried Out in Formal Treaties of Nations Until the "Mystery" Was Exploded.

Detroit Free Press: What has become of Ile Philippeaux, larger than Ile Royale in Lake Superior? And what has become of Ile Minone and Ile Pontchartrain and a number of smaller bits of land that caused the early map-makers to delineate Lake Superior as fairly full of islands, large and small?

Never heard of them, did you? The present-day charts can be studied ever so carefully without revealing the whereabouts of any bodies of land bearing these names or of any such magnitude as the early geographers would have us believe once existed in the most northerly of the fresh-water seas. Navigators who pilot their vessels over the broad bosom of Lake Superior, and who pride themselves on their knowledge of the world's largest body of fresh water, would shake their heads incredulously were you to ask them regarding the whereabouts of Ile Philippeaux. And they would have good reason to do so, for the oldest among them never saw this island nor the others mentioned.

Wrong Age for Legends.

This is a pretty practical age right now, and fairy tales are taboo. Things are matter-of-fact, else they are not at all. People are too busy for folklore and mystery. That is why the mirage of Lake Superior legend to match the tale of the island of Atlantis that vanished into the ocean as a result of a supposed volcanic upheaval.

There is infinitely stronger ground for arguing that there was once an Ile Philippeaux, larger than Ile Royale in Lake Superior, than there is for believing that there was once an island of Atlantis—because Ile Philippeaux is specifically named in the first two treaties negotiated by the United States and Great Britain.

Plato and other ancient writers only supposed that there at one time existed a great island whose disappearance in the depths made way for the Atlantic ocean. Early American map-makers went Plato one better by locating Ile Philippeaux on their rather crude charts, while to lend credence to the belief that it really existed in the early treaties the international boundary line between the possessions remaining to Great Britain in North America and the newly-formed United States is defined as "lying to the northward of the Isles Royale and Philippeaux."

Named in Treaty.

The provisional treaty of 1782 names Philippeaux. It spells it "Pheilppeaux," although on the old maps it is spelled "Philippeaux." The island is similarly named by the definite treaty of peace of 1783. The treaty of Ghent, declaring peace after the war of 1812, again alludes to the island, without naming it, and provides for a commission to clear up disputes as to sovereignty over the "islands in Lake Superior." The commission met in 1822, and naturally came to no decision as to ownership because none of the several islands could be found, other than Ile Royale. The commission fussed around until 1827.

The matter remained unsettled until the Webster-Ashburton treaty of 1842, which determined the troublesome boundary disputes all the way from and beyond. By that time Lake Superior was well known and no longer a mystery to mariners. It was recognized that there was no other large island in the lake than Ile Royale.

An Alluring Mystery Gone.

An alluring mystery had been exploded, and the map makers of earlier times, as well as the astute statesmen who drew up the treaties, basing their judgment on the best information available, had been shown to be in error. And yet they could hardly be held responsible for the discrepancies between their claims and what the passing of years proved to be the facts in the case. It must be remembered that when the first treaties between Great Britain and the United States were formulated the Superior district was little better known than was the vast expanse of water in which Plato and the other writers of his era planted the island of Atlantis. Nobody knew for a certainty the contour of Superior, or what islands it might contain. The present efficient method of lake survey was not even dreamed of, and any attempt to chart Superior accurately would have been an almost endless task, to say nothing of the dangers with which it would have been fraught.

The belief as to the presence of one other large island in the lake, together with the earlier theory that there were additional islands of considerable size, probably came from this circumstance: Take your map and observe Lake Superior. Note how Keewenaw point sticks up from the northern Michigan peninsula like a long horn. Then observe how very similar is Ile Royale, in outline, general bearing and length, to Keewenaw point, save that the latter is attached at its southern end to the mainland. Both extend in a northeasterly and a southwesterly direction.

Easy to Make Mistake.

In those early days when charts were extremely imperfect, and when the largest craft on the lake was, at best, a tiny boat with a sail, it was an easy thing to mistake Keewenaw peninsula for an island.

The pioneers who cruised along the shore little knew, of course, that there was a long peninsula jutting out in a northeasterly direction from the southern shore of the lake. It was an easy step to a rough knowledge of Ile Royale, lying off within easy sail from the tip of Keewenaw point.

Having learned roughly to recognize the characteristics of Ile Royale, it was easy to mistake the very similar characteristics of Keewenaw point for those of the large island; and then there was the real Ile Royale lying off to the northward to be accounted for. That's ho wthe belief arose that there was a second large island in Lake Superior.

The mistake was in taking Keewenaw point for Ile Royale and then having to account for the real island by supposing it to be a second one.

See what the treaties say.

In 1782, while the war of the Revolution was still in progress, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, John Jay and Henry Laurens, representing the thirteen original states, and Richard Oswald, representing the king of England, drew up a provisional treaty acknowledging the independence of the United States, defining boundaries, establishing fishing rights, providing for the restitution of estates, the withdrawal of British armies, etc.

How Treaty Reads.

Article 2, defining the boundary between the new republic and British America, speaks thus of the island in question: "Thence (the line shall run) through the middle of said lake (Huron) to the water communicating between that lake and Lake Superior, thence through Lake Superior northward of the Isles Royale and Philippeaux to the Long lake," etc.

Then came the definitive treaty of peace of 1783, by which the Revolutionary war was brought to a conclusion. This time the United States was represented by three of the four men who figured in the negotiations of 1782—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin and John Jay. The English representative was David Hartley. This treaty uses precisely the same language regarding the Lake Superior boundary line as did the treaty the year before Ile Philippeaux is mentioned in the same way.

The treaty of Ghent, in 1814, was negotiated on the part of the United States by John Quincy Adams, James A. Bayard, Henry Clay, Jonathan Russel and Albert Gallatin. The English commissioners were Lord Gambiar, Henry Goulburn and William Adams.

By this time there was considerable doubt as to the existence of Ile Philippeaux, and a commission was provided to decide to which of the two parties the several islands belonged.

Had a Hard Task.

Settling a boundary dispute on the basis of an imaginary island was trouble enough for anybody, and the commission failed to reach a conclusion.

The tangle was much simpler, however, with the boundary already defined as lying northward of Iles Royale and Philippeaux than it would have been had it been defined in those earliest treaties as lying "between Ile Royale and Ile Philippeaux" With both islands concededly belonging to the United States, there could arise no international dispute as to possession of any territory. But had the boundary been originally fixed as running between Royale and Philippeaux—ha! somebody might have been accused of stealing the island. However, that situation never arose, and nobody has ever charged England with purloining Ile Philippeaux.

The Webster-Ashburton treaty of 1842 lays down the boundary as follows: "Thence (the boundary line shall run) through the river St. Mary and Lake Superior to a point north of Isle Royale in said lake, 100 yards to the north and east of Isle Chapeau, which last-mentioned island lies near the northeastern point of Ile Royale, and from the last-mentioned point southwesterly through the middle of the sound between Ile Royale and the northwestern mainland to the mouth of Pigeon River"—etc.

Error Taken As Truth.

Thus comes about the elimination of Ile Philippeaux so far as treaty mention is concerned. No doubt those early statesmen worked according to the best light obtainable in their time, but they were forced to take for granted what latter-day investigation has proved to be incorrect.

Certainly nobody lifted the island bodily and carried it away. It is equally certain that it never sloughed off into the water for the rocky formation all about Lake Superior effectually shatters such a theory. What is fully as conclusive, none of those early geographers took any note of Keewenaw peninsula, which as has been shown, might easily have been mistaken for an island.

MAY ORDER BONDS SOLD

Council Will Consider Resolution to Sell $100,000 Issue.

Final Reading of Jitney Ordinance; Meeting May Be Postponed.

Final reading of the new jitney ordinance and the resolution ordering the sale of $100,000 city improvement bonds over the counter, are the most important matters scheduled to come up at the regular council meeting Monday afternoon. In case the funeral of Assistant Fire Chief Granzow is held Monday, the meeting will be postponed until Tuesday, it was announced by Mayor Prince this morning.

In addition the council is expected to take final action on the resolution confirming the assessments for the laying of a storm sewer in Exeter street. The measure was introduced last week, but was held over pending an examination of the sewer by members of the city commission this week. Property owners are protesting against the assessment.

If the jitney ordinance is passed Monday afternoon, it will become effective on Saturday, Oct. 16. Three jitney drivers will be granted licenses to operate on Duluth streets, their applications having been on file for the last week. They are: Alex Noman, Anton Tylewski and Victor Colich. Fifteen drivers are now operating under official licenses.

A sanitary sewer will be ordered in Seventh street, from Seventeenth to Eighteenth avenue east, and Ninth street, from Sixth to Seventh avenue east, will be ordered graded. A four-foot plank walk will be ordered on the north side of Anoka street between Woodland and Maxwell avenues.

J. H. Brigham will be awarded the contract to pave Eighth and Ninth streets in Fond du Lac. The ordinances appropriating $900 for the purchase of three lots at the intersection of Fifteenth avenue west with the boulevard and the other creating a residence district along Vermilion road, between Lewis and Oxford streets, will be given their second reading.

The resolution authorizing a $100,000 bond issue in $1,000 lots to be sold to the public over the counter, as was done a year ago, will be introduced by Commissioner Voss.

Saloon license renewals will be granted to R. J. Madden, 120 Garfield avenue, and S. D. Ives, 2003 West Superior street.

STOLE "ROLL" WHEN HE OFFERED TO "BUY"

Good Samaritanism doesn't pay, if you take Matt Nebo's word for it.

He stood in a lower South First avenue east thirst emporium this morning, and expressed a desire to open his heart and "buy."

Hangers on showed interest in him at once, and as they crowded up to the bar, John Letonen, 28, grabbed Nebo's roll and fled down the street.

Nebo pursued him with loud shouts and finally Police Sergeant John Roberg, hearing the cries, halted the chase and took Letonen to headquarters.

He was held on a petit larceny charge. The roll is said to have contained $10, but Letonen had only $7.80 on his person. He will be arraigned in municipal court Monday morning.

Advertising Department,

The Duluth Herald,

City.

Gentlemen:

We feel sure you will be interested in the appended display of fruits of the Herald's "want ads". Much has been said about this being an "off year" in real estate. That in itself would stamp it as an exceptionally good year to test an advertising medium, and we have made that test. Our firm has used The Herald's classified columns almost exclusively, and through them has closed the following deals so far this season:

A. C. Volk, 2028 East First St. to Dr. D. E. Seashore, Price $10,500.
Sold a home at Nineteenth Avenue East and Sixth St. Price $3,900;
Harris Realty Co. representing the buyer.
Charles Solie, 4210 West Fifth St. to David Wright, Price $1,500.
William Eaton, 121 North Twenty-first Ave. East, to W.N.Merrian;
Price $8,750. Pulford-How representing the buyer.
M. L. Robbins, 4102 West Third Street, to W. Nicolayson, Price $2,100.
J. J. Stone, 1829 East Second St. to A. T. Banning, Price $10,400.
Field Frey Co. representing the buyer.
Minnie Strickland, 21 Carlysle Ave. to Mrs. H.H.Riesland; Price $3,300.
Mrs. Henry S. Mahon, 1520 East Third St. to F. J. Nixon; Price $5,000.
420 Second Ave. West from Charles N. Bronson to John A. Hoyt;
Price $2,562.50.
Sold a twenty-five foot lot at Lakeside to Mrs. Louise O'Keefe;
Price $100.
W. H. Sellers, 419 Twelfth Avenue East, to Dr.K.E.Bergquist; Price $3,750.
John M. McNaughton, 2320 West First St. to Peter Tillman, Price $2,200.
711 East Fourth St. Mary Prince to Bertha Jensen, Price $3,000.
Harris Realty Co. representing the buyer.
709 East Fourth Street, Mary Prince to Mrs. Minna Arndt, Price $3,300.
Lots 9-10-11 Block 2, East Duluth, East Duluth Co. to E. F. Chapin;
Price $3,575. Whitney Wall Co. representing the purchaser.
NE¼ of NE¼ Sec. 16-52-12, Price $1,000. Ebert Walker Co. representing the buyer.
Lot 13 Block 39, Oneota to R. B. Knox & Co. from Melvina W. Thompson.
Price $300.

Yours very truly,
Little & Nolte Co.

SUMMONS.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.
Scott-Graff Lumber company, a Corporation, Plaintiff, vs.
H. C. Foster, Bessie L. Foster and Margaret D. Edwards, Defendants.

The State of Minnesota, To the above name defendants:

You, and each of you, are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which complaint has been filed in the office of the clerk of said District court in the courthouse in the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and to file your answers to said complaint with said clerk within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service.

You, and each of you are hereby notified that this action is brought to foreclose a certain lien for the sum of two hundred sixty-four dollars and seventy-four cents ($264.74) with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from January 2nd, 1915; that the premises to be charged are situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and are described as follows, to-wit:

Lots nineteen (19) and twenty (20), Block three (3), Colman's Third Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That such lien is claimed by virtue of certain building materials furnished at the request of the defendant, H. C. Foster, in the construction and improvement of the certain frame dwelling house situated upon the premises above described, said materials having been so furnished between July 21st, 1914, and January 2nd, 1915, both dates inclusive.

If defendants fail to answer to said complaint within the time and in the manner aforesaid, plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly made, executed and delivered by Joe L. Lonegren, a single man, mortgagor, to L. R. Martin Timber Co., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of April, 1911, and with a power of sale therein contained, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 2nd day of November, 1911, at eight o'clock A. M., in Book 291 of Mortgages, on page 313 thereof, and which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by said L. R. Martin Timber Co. to Anna J. Mark, by an instrument of assignment dated the 29th day of July, 1914, and duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on July 24th, 1915, at nine o'clock A. M., in Book 306 of Mortgages, on page 285 thereof, and which said mortgage was thereafter assigned by said Anna J. Mark to Ophelia S. Leithhead by an instrument of assignment dated July 10th, 1915, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 29th day of July, 1915, at three o'clock P. M., in Book 305 of Mortgages, on page 344 thereof.

That such default consists in the non-payment of eight semi-annual installments of interest, which became due and payable as follows, to-wit: Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1911; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1912; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1912; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1913; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1913; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1914; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1914; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1915, and also in the non-payment of taxes for the year 1913, amounting to Twelve Dollars and Thirty-nine Cents ($12.39), and for the year 1914, amounting to Twelve Dollars and Twenty-eight Cents ($12.28), which taxes the mortgagor stipulated in said mortgage to pay, but which became delinquent, and which the assignee of said mortgage was compelled to pay and did pay on July 28th, 1915, and that by reason of such default the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

That said mortgage contained a provision authorizing the mortgagee or its assigns to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, in case of default in any payment of interest, and that the assignee of said mortgage has elected to declare, and does declare, the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable.

That the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, and that is actually due thereon, at the date of this notice, is Five Hundred Sixty-seven Dollars ($567.00), principal and interest, and Twenty-four Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($24.67) taxes paid by said mortgagee and its assigns, amounting in all to Five Hundred Ninety-one Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($591.67), and that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover said debt or any part thereof.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot number twenty-two (22) of Block twenty-eight (28), First Glen Avon Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds, St. Louis County, Minn.; that said sale will be made by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the Sheriff's office in the Court House in the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 4th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt with interest, taxes with interest, and attorney's fees, charges and disbursements allowed by law, and as stipulated in said mortgage, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 18th, 1915.

FARMS

RICH VIRGIN SOIL, LOW PRICED, CLOSE TO CITY MARKETS—THIS IS THE INDUCEMENT NORTHERN MINNESOTA HOLDS OUT TO THE FARMER

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

BUY LAND WHEN OTHERS ARE ANXIOUS TO SELL.

For an outside party who must have money, we will sell 320 acres of well-located land in Lake county for $2.50 per acre.

In Hermantown we can give you the choice of 5 forties, which we can sell on very easy terms, and also divide to suit purchaser. These lands are on main road, contain some fine hardwood timber, and are the making of fine little truck farms. Prices from $22.50 to $25 per acre. Might consider part exchange in Duluth property.

Within 4 miles of Moose Lake and about the same distance from Barnum, we can sell you a good 80-acre tract for $12.50 per acre. Will make a fine farm. This is 25 per cent less than its value. Very easy terms.

Close to Mahtowa we are offering 4 forties at $16 per acre, very choice land on good road.

A good half section near Frogner at $15 per acre. Will make a fine stock farm. On account of this land being located so close to the new steel plant, large increases in value are sure to take place.

In the vicinity of Nemadji we can give your choice of 15 to 20 fine 40, 80 and 160-acre tracts, at prices from $15 to $20 per acre. Terms to suit purchaser. Don't forget that a large part of this land is open meadow, and practically no pine stumps to contend with, which means a big saving in the cost of clearing.

First-class markets in rapidly developing farming community; large consolidated school. For the party who wishes to start a stock and dairy farm, this community has no equal. Let us show you these lands—you will be pleased.

NORTHERN BELTRAMI COUNTY.

Without a doubt some of the finest land in this entire Northwest is to be found in Northern Beltrami county. Level, easily cleared and exceptionally rich soil. Although this district is practically only four years old, the large number of settlers pouring into it indicates that within an incredibly short period of time this will be one of the most thickly populated and richest farming districts in the state and those who invest in these lands at from $5 to $10 an acre are bound to reap a rich harvest in the near future. The state guarantees the richness of the district by its expenditure in this district of $3,500,000 in the last five years. Lands at from $5 to $10 an acre.

CANT & McLEAN, First National Bank Building, Duluth, Minn.

FOR SALE.

One of the best 40-acre tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Covered with a fine growth of clover. Land is on a good road and only six miles south of the new steel plant and fifteen miles from Duluth. All adjoining land is settled on by farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and and Illinois—men who know good land. Land just three miles north is selling for $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot and the time is not far off when this 40 can be sold in acre tracts for ten times the price asked per acre now. Farm products raised here can be shipped to the new steel city, just six miles north, when the plant is completed in November. This 40 is the best buy at the Head of the Lakes at $50 an acre, but we can sell it at once for $32.50 an acre. Call at once about this. It will not last long at above price.

CHICAGO MAN HAS ONE OF MOST ATTRACTIVE FARMSTEADS IN WRENSHALL COUNTY

RESIDENCE OF H. B. UTLEY ON HIS FARM NEAR WRENSHALL.

One of the most attractive farmsteads in the Wrenshall agricultural district in Carlton county is owned by H. B. Utley of Chicago. Mr. Utley has added many improvements to his place during the last few years and it now ranks among the finest in this locality. The basement of the larger barn in one of the above pictures is built of reinforced concrete and has a storage capacity for 8,000 bushels of potatoes or other root crops. The other building, a cow barn, houses fifty head of cattle. The silo shown is of hollow tile construction and is of a type which is in general use among the farmers of this section.

JEAN DU LUTH HERDS MAKE "KILLING" AT STATE FAIR

Guernsey and Red Polled herds from the Jean du Luth farm took high honors in the stock judging competitions at the Minnesota state fair this week, according to George P. Grout, manager of the farm, who returned yesterday from St. Paul. Professor Grout brought back five championship prizes and thirty-three blue ribbons. In addition the Jean Duluth animals won thirteen second prizes, ten third prizes, three fourth prizes and two fifth prizes.

Teddy's Best won the senior and the grand championship for Red Polled bulls and Jean Duluth Miller won the senior and grand championship for cows. Satlight's Excelsior of Jean Duluth won the junior championship for Guernsey bulls.

The Jean Duluth stock also captured first place on Red Polled herd, first on Guernsey breeders' young herd, junior championship on Guernsey yearling bull, first on senior heifer Guernsey calf, first on Guernsey calf herd, first on get of sire (four animals entered) and first on produce of dam (two animals entered.)

The splendid showing made by the Jean Duluth herds is considered quite remarkable in view of the fact that the competition was open to the world and that there were nine other well known herds in the competition, including Marsh of Iowa, a well known exhibitor of fancy stock. In the Red Polled class there were also several entries.

Professor Grout stated today that the Jean Duluth herd is now headed for Montana, where it will be shown. From Montana it will go to Salem, Or., thence to San Francisco and later to North Yakima, Wash., where it will appear in competition with some of the most famous stock of the country.

DO YOU WANT TO BE A LANDLORD

There is no better way than to first buy your own home. It will take only a few years of your usual rent money to pay for it.

THEN YOU WILL HAVE FORMED THE HABIT of making a monthly payment on an investment, and as surely as night follows day you will buy another house, or build another, and resell it to someone who has not yet learned the lesson of paying rent to himself.

On the second investment you make, the terms will work out easier because while you will be paying something out every month you will also be collecting a similar amount from your customer.

OTHERS HAVE DONE THIS and why not you? The majority of our middle rich people started with a small investment, just as a baby learns to walk by creeping.

BUY IN DULUTH!

—INVESTMENTS—

For sale, two five-room flat building; centrally located; modern except heat; price $3,900; owner leaving city and will accept any reasonable terms; income $38 per month; excellent investment.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMIES ARE MAKING STEADY PROGRESS IN EAST EXCEPTING IN GALICIA

RUSSIANS SUCCESSFUL ON FRONTIER

Gen. Von Hindenburg Is Making a Violent Drive Toward Dvinsk.

Gen. Von Mackensen Is Pressing Eastward Toward Town of Pinsk.

Gen. Ruzsky Says Petrograd Is in No Danger This Year.

London, Sept. 13.—The Austro-German armies on the eastern front, still striving for definite results, are making progress everywhere except along the Gallician frontier, where the Russians report a further success.

In the north, where the Russian line has been straightened by a withdrawal of forces, Field Marshal von Hindenburg is directing a violent drive towards Dvinsk and a crossing of the Dvina. In the center, Crown Prince Leopold has forced his way over the Zelwianka and is attacking in the vicinity of Skidel. In the south, Field Marshal von Mackensen, on both sides of the Pinsk railroad, is pressing eastward toward the town. These movements have resulted in the capture of several thousand Russians.

Petrograd in No Danger.

The final objective of the Central powers in this campaign is still a matter of conjecture, but Gen. Ruzsky, commander of the Northern Russian army, declares positively that there is no danger that Petrograd will fall this year before the guns of the invaders.

On the other fronts there is little to report. It appears to be established that Bulgaria has struck a bargain with Turkey and Premier Radoslavoff, in response to an appeal of the Armenians, stated that Sofia is now on the most friendly terms with Constantinople.

NO CASUALTIES FROM ZEPPELIN BOMBS

East Coast of England Visited By Airships Two Nights in Succession.

London, Sept. 13.—Another Zeppelin raid was made over the east coast of England last night. There were no casualties.

The attack is described in the following official statement:

"The east coast was again visited by hostile aircraft last night (the 12th and the 13th.) Bombs were dropped, but there were no casualties and the only damage reported is that some telegraph wires are down and some glass is broken."

Big Order From Russia.

New York, Sept. 13.—Negotiations for the purchase by the Russian government from the Canadian Car and Foundry company of 3,000,000 shrapnel and high explosive shells at a cost of $62,000,000 have been virtually completed, it was stated at the local offices of the company today.

Manitou Hotel Burns.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 13.—The Mansion hotel at Manitou, which was closed two weeks ago, was destroyed by fire early today, involving a loss of about $100,000. No one was seriously injured.

EMPEROR IS DISPLEASED

Ruler of Austria-Hungary Does Not Like Action of United States.

Request for Recall of Dumba Divides Statesmen of That Country.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 13, via Paris.—The Vienna morning newspapers are replete with leading articles of the news concerning Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador to the United States, considering the affair one of vital interest.

From these articles it would appear that the request for his recall has divided Austro-Hungarian statesmen into two camps. Those of the part of Baron Burian, the foreign minister, apparently are persuaded that Ambassador Dumba acted under the influence of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, without orders from the home government.

GERMAN COMMANDER VIOLATED ORDERS IN ATTACKING ORDUNA

So Explained in Note From Germany Received at White House.

Unable to Make Out Character of Ship Owing to Weather.

Statement May Figure in Discussion With Ambassador Von Bernstorff.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Germany's explanation of the unsuccessful attempt to destroy the Cunard liner Orduna on July 9 is that the submarine commander violated his instructions which were not to attack any liner, but that because of the weather he was unable to make out the character or nationality of the Orduna.

The Orduna, bound from Liverpool to New York with some 200 passengers of whom twenty-three were Americans, was attacked by a torpedo, which barely missed her, and then was shelled by the submarine until she was out of range.

To substantiate the statement that the German commander was inclined to follow his orders it is stated that he soon after allowed the steamer Normandie, carrying a cargo of lumber, to pass unmolested.

The German explanation, which comes in the form of a note, was laid before President Wilson today by Secretary Lansing and may figure in discussion of the submarine issue with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador.

SUCCEEDS THORSON AS NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN

CHARLES H. BURKE.

Pierre, S. D., Sept. 13.—Former Congressman Charles H. Burke of Pierre has been selected by Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee to fill the position of national committeeman from South Dakota to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Thomas Thorson.

ARCHIBALD TO BE HELD

Will Be Met By U. S. Officials on Arrival From Abroad.

Will Consider Whether He Has Violated Any Federal Law.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Acting under instructions from the White House, agents of the department of justice will meet James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent involved in the case of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, when he lands at New York on the steamer Rotterdam from Holland. Archibald carried Dr. Dumba's letter to the Vienna foreign office disclosing plans to cause strikes in American munitions plants.

All officials here are maintaining strictest silence regarding Archibald's case, but it became known today that United States Attorney Marshall at New York has been instructed by the department of justice, which takes the view that there is ground for considering whether Archibald violated a Federal law. The question of whether he actually knew the contents of the papers he carried probably will be the deciding factor in what action the gov-

KANSAS CITY BANKERS ARE PLACED ON TRIAL

Four Former Officers of Trust Company Charged With Misusing Mails.

Kansas City, Sept. 13.—Four former officers of the defunct American Union Trust company were placed on trial in the Federal court here today on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The trial is the first of a series of prosecutions growing from the failure of the All-Night and Day bank and the closing of the American Trust company which had absorbed the bank. Both were Kansas City institutions.

The men on trial are George L. Davis, Kansas City, attorney; John W. Beery and W. L. Moyer of Kansas City, and T. L. Matkins of Chicago. Henry Richardson, the organizer of the institutions, was also included in the indictment, but has not been arrested.

The indictment charges that fraudulent statements of the assets of the trust company were made and sent through the mails. The trial is expected to last several weeks.

NEUTRAL SHIP IS SUNK BY GUNFIRE

London, Sept. 13.—An attack with gunfire on a neutral ship by a German submarine is reported in a dispatch from Christiania to Reuter's Telegram company. The submarine is said to have fired on the Norwegian ship Presto with a cargo of wood last Friday. The crew was saved.

MANY FLEEING FROM PROVINCE OF GRODNO

Wholesale Exodus of People From Virtually All Cities and Townships.

London, Sept. 13.—A wholesale exodus of the people in virtually all of the townships and villages of the Russian province of Grodno is reported by the correspondent at Minsk of the Reuter's Telegram company. The people are fleeing afoot to the Baranovichi, the junction point of the railway line leading to Vilna, Rovno, Brest-Litovsk and Minsk.

The refugees, numbering thousands, are sleeping in the woods at night, drenched by the cold rains. The authorities are doing their utmost to relieve distress.

UNITED STATES HAS REACHED NO DECISION ON PROPOSAL OF GERMANY FOR ARBITRATION

TURK ARMY IN BAD WAY

Position of Ottomans Defending Dardanelles Said to Be Precarious.

Turkish Affairs Are in Control of a Strong Triumvirate.

Athens, via Paris, Sept. 13.—An American citizen of standing in Athens has received advices from Constantinople, which he says are trustworthy, that the situation of the Turkish army and government is unfavorable. According to this information the position of the Turkish forces defending the Dardanelles is precarious. It is said the Turkish front, thinned by the heavy losses which the fighting has entailed on both sides, is finding it increasingly difficult to hold the lines against the French and British.

Turkey's position at sea is described as disadvantageous. The former German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, renamed the Sultan Selim and Medullu, are said to have been incapacitated, while the Russian fleet preys upon Turkish ships.

Controlled By Triumvirate.

According to this information, Turkish affairs are under the control of a triumvirate with autocratic powers, consisting of Enver Pasha, minister of war; Taalat Bey, minister of the interior, and Bedri Bey, chief of police of Constantinople. Dissatisfaction among the Moslems is reported and it is expected Sheik Ul Islam was dismissed because he did not approve of measures taken against the Armenians. The committee of union and progress is reported to have been virtually superseded by a secret committee which

NO WORD FROM SHIP ON FIRE

Officers of Fabre Line Have No News From the Sant' Anna.

New York, Sept. 13.—The local offices of the Fabre line received no word during the morning hours today regarding their steamer Sant' Anna, bound from New York for Italian ports with more than 1,600 Italian reservists and a large cargo of foodstuffs, which had been reported on fire about 960 miles southeast of Halifax, N. S., in a wireless message received at the latter point late last night.

D. H. E. Jones, senior partner of the firm of James W. Elwell & Co., local agents of the Fabre line, said he was at a loss to understand why Capt. Francois Pavey of the Sant' Anna had not communicated with the office here if his ship were actually on fire or in distress in any way.

BASIL BLACKETT, OCTAVE HOMBERG, ERNEST MALLET.

Basil B. Blackett of the British treasury is the secretary of the Anglo-French commission which is in New York to arrange an immense credit to buy munitions of war. Octave Homberg is connected with the French foreign office, and Ernest Mallet is regent of the Bank of France.

ASSURANCE ON POLICY NECESSARY

Washington Must Be Certain of Cessation of Submarine Attacks.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff Has an Hour's Conference With Lansing.

Intimates That He Believes Outcome Will Be a Favorable One.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Secretary Lansing announced today after a conference with President Wilson that no decision had been reached by the United States on Germany's proposal to arbitrate the Arabic case.

It was indicated in official quarters that both Germany and the United States agree that to arbitrate the question of indemnity involves arbitrating the justification and the facts.

Secretary Lansing, after his visit to the president, returned to the state department to await his conference with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who is trying to bring the situation to a point where this government will agree to submit the question to arbitration. The conference began at noon.

Must Confirm Assurance.

It was generally believed that before the United States will enter into formal negotiations on the Arabic case in particular, or any phase of the general subject which might include the sinking of the Lusitania, it will be necessary first to confirm Germany's assurance of the cessation of attack by submarines on liners.

The declaration that the United States would not discuss the Lusitania until it had been established whether

NEXT STEP IN MEXICAN SITUATION TO BE TAKEN SOON BY PAN-AMERICANS

Will Be Called Together By Lansing as Soon as Possible.

Carranza May Send Note Supplementary to One Already Sent.

This Would Include War Indemnities and Guarantees to Foreigners.

Washington, Sept 13.—The next step in the Mexican situation will be taken by the Pan-American conferees as soon as arrangements can be made for them to meet.

Secretary Lansing talked with President Wilson today on Gen. Carranza's proposal to discuss international affairs, but nothing was disclosed regarding the conference.

Unofficial reports have reached here that a supplementary note is to be sent from Carranza sources outlining in detail what might be made matters of joint consideration. This would include war indemnities and guarantees to foreigners.

The steamer Morro Castle reached Vera Cruz yesterday with a large quantity of war munitions for Carranza. He is said to have placed large orders to prepare for an embargo on arms by the United States.

RED MEN MEET IN COUNCIL AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Three thousand members of the Improved Order of Red Men attended the opening of the sixteenth annual grand council here today. The meeting will continue for three days.

Services were held by the council in Lincoln park at the grave of David Kennison, one of the founders of the order and the last surviving member of the Boston tea party. He died in Chicago at the age of 116 years.

Stationary Engineers Meet.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Several hundred delegates arrived here today to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Stationary Engineers tomorrow.

ADVISORY BOARD TO MEET SOON

First Session of Advisors to Navy Will Be Held on Oct. 6.

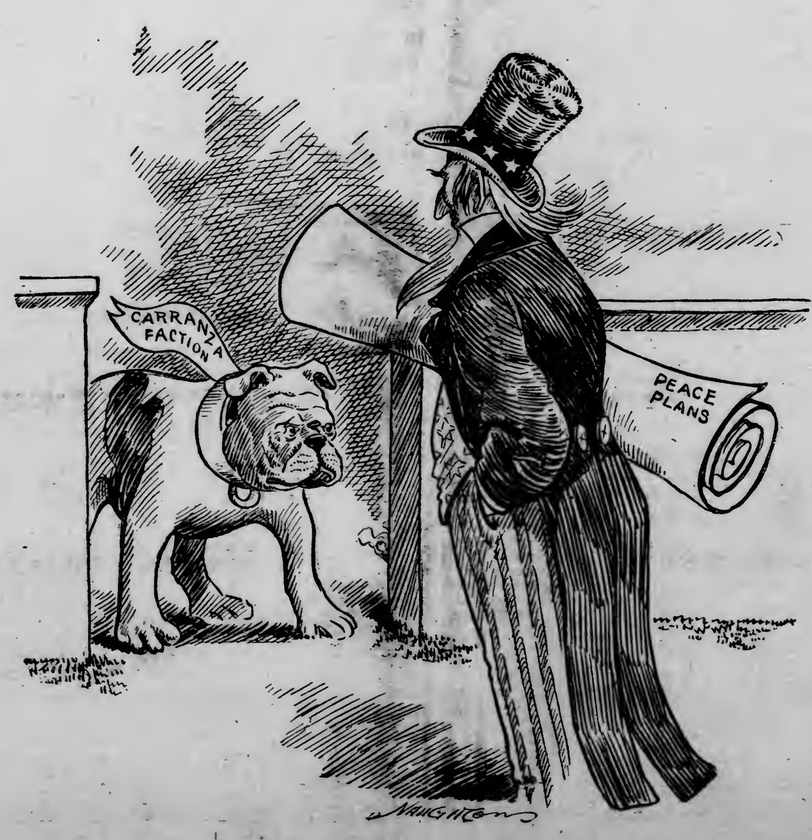

Washington, Sept. 13.—Officials began plans today for the first meeting of the new naval advisory board which will direct its activities toward improving the American navy through science and invention. Secretary Daniels' announcement of the board's personnel said it would have its first session in his office on Oct. 6. Thomas A. Edison, the chairman, will preside.

The twenty-two members of the board—exclusive of Mr. Edison—were nominated by eleven scientific and engineering societies at the request of Secretary Daniels, who sought to mobilize the country's inventive genius for the navy as a step in national defense plans. The board's recommendations and conclusions will have great weight, Mr. Daniels said, in the forming of the administration's proposals to congress and in the operation and development of the navy.

STREET RAILWAY EMPLOYES MEET

Rochester, N. . 13.—Delegates to the fourteenth biennial convention of the Amalgamated Association Street Railway Employes of America were welcomed this morning by Mayor Hiram H. Edgerton. Later, President W. D. Mahon was to organize the convention for its two weeks' labors here, which will cover developments in the association's affairs since the convention at Salt Lake City two years ago. The Amalgamated has a membership of 85,000, with an approximate annual wage of $75,000,000.

BLOCKING THE WAY.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

England again has been visited by German Zeppelins, the latest raid, over the east coast, occurring last night. Like the one of Saturday night, reported yesterday, the raid was harmless to both life and property, according to the British official account, the only damage being breaking of glass and of telegraph wires.

A German attack north of the Souchez station was easily repulsed, today's French war department statement says. Infantry assaults on the Lorraine front broke down before the wire entanglements under the fire of the French infantry. Artillery activity, some of it of a violent nature, was in evidence in many sectors.

Austro-Hungarian sentiment regarding the request of the United States for the recall of Ambassador Dumba is divided according to indications supplied by articles in the Vienna newspapers. One section apparently is convinced that the ambassador acted without orders from his government, while the other upholds his course as in line with his duty.

The British parliament at its reassembling tomorrow, will take up the problem of increasing the national income. It is expected, as a principal measure, that the scope of the income tax will be considerably broadened.

Pierre Bark, the Russian minister of finance, is on his way from Petrograd for conferences with the French minister of finance and the British chancellor of the exchequer.

New measures, the exact nature of which is not indicated are to be employed by the entente allies in the future conduct of the war, according to reports in Rome, where it is said the next meeting of the Italian cabinet will deal with the subject.

There seems to have been little recent activity in the Dardanelles, the Turkish official communication mentioning only artillery actions.

Reports from various quarters describe conditions in Constantinople as chaotic, with much suffering among the population, while other reports, coming through Athens, declare that the position of the Turkish forces on the Gallipoli peninsula is precarious.

Bulgarian reservists in Italy have been called to the colors, advices from Rome state.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

Death of W. F. Fitch at Marquette Is Expected Hourly.

There was no change today in the grave condition of W. F. Fitch, former president of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, according to the reports that were received in the local office of that railroad from Marquette, where Mr. Fitch is lying at the point of death.

For the last ten days Mr. Fitch has been holding to life with a tenacity that has surprised the attending physicians. It was declared several days ago that the aged railroad man could live but a few hours. Today, according to word of local railroad officials, who have kept in close touch with his condition, there is no change, death being momentarily expected.

WILL ORDER BOND ISSUE

City Would Secure $100,000 for Carrying Out Improvements.

Certificates Will Be Put on Sale in $1,000 Lots.

At the regular council meeting this afternoon the commission will order the sale of $100,000 in improvement certificates over the counter.

A resolution authorizing the sale of the certificates in $1,000 lots to help pay the various contractors on the large paving jobs, pending the collection of the assessments levied against the property benefited, will be introduced by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division. The money obtained from the sale of the certificates is turned over in the permanent improvement revolving fund and is raised in a similar manner each year. Last fall a total of $60,000 was raised in the sale of certificates over the counter. The bonds will bear 5 per cent interest payable semi-annually.

Will Award Contracts.

In addition, the council will order several minor improvements, award contracts and grant licenses at the meeting scheduled for this afternoon.

John H. Brigham will be awarded the contract to pave Eighth and Ninth streets in Fond du Lac. A sanitary sewer will be ordered in Seventh street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east and Ninth street will be ordered paved from Sixth to Seventh avenues east. It is expected that final action on the Exeter street sewer assessments will be postponed another week. Property owners have protested against the assessment for storm sewers and the council has decided to inspect the improvement before taking action.

Miss Frances Earhart, librarian, will be authorized to spend $200 a month to employ temporary help from members of her training class, who are used occasionally in substituting for the regular employes.

E. E. Martell will be granted permission to erect an enclosed gasoline tank on the west side of Commonwealth avenue, between Peary and Goodhue streets.

Mayor Prince will introduce a resolution authorizing Building Inspector Kielley to appoint Edward Semple as a clerk at a salary of $75 a month.

Second reading will be given the ordinances appropriating $900 for the purchase of three lots adjoining the boulevard drive at Fifteenth avenue west, another appropriating $500 for the purchase of two lots from C. Francis Colman in Colman's addition, and the third creating a residence district along Vermilion road, between Lewis and Oxford streets.

Saloon license renewals will be granted to B. J. Madden, 120 Garfield avenue, and S. D. Ives, 2003 West Superior street.

FIDER STANDS PAT.

A. A. Fider will oppose any move of the city to have his retaining wall below East Sixth street, near Eighth avenue east, removed, he said this morning. Although arrested recently for erecting the wall without a building permit, Mr. Fider has paid his fine, but refuses to remove the structure. City officials threaten to have it removed.

PLAN TO OPEN PAVING SOON

Minnesota Avenue Will Be Used for Traffic Sept. 25.

Park Point Thoroughfare Now Improved Entire Length.

One week from next Saturday, Sept. 25, the Minnesota avenue pavement will be opened to traffic.

For the first time in the history of Park Point, Duluthians will be able to motor along the entire populated district of the strip of land forming the city's natural harbor. Because of the heavy sand on the point, it has been impossible for automobiles to make the roads and as a result residents and picnickers have been content with street cars. Many used launches and row boats in getting to their destinations.

Last year the city council decided to improve the point and a campaign by interested property owners resulted in the securing of petitions calling for a pavement, extending from the aerial bridge to Thirty-eighth street. A year ago this summer Lake avenue was improved from the bridge to Twelfth street and the street has been open ever since last fall.

Last spring the commissioners decided to extend the pavement as requested by the owners and work was started early in June. Several weeks ago Commissioner Farrell introduced a resolution authorizing the extension of the pavement from Thirty-eighth to Forty-third streets and within the next few days all the work will be completed.

It was announced in the public works office this morning that the pavement will be ready for traffic a week from Saturday. The pavement extends from the bridge to Twelfth street on Lake avenue, over on Twelfth street to Minnesota avenue, and down that thoroughfare to the end of the street car line. The streets are paved on the lake side, the tracks having been relaid to the right of the road.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR FLOODED LAND

Fond du Lac Resident Asks $600 From the City.

Claiming damages to his property through the fault of the city of Duluth in allowing a bridge across Mission creek at Fond du Lac, to become clogged with debris, forcing water from the river to overflow his farm land, nearby, Adolph Lafrance is suing in Judge Dancer's court today for $600 damages.

Lafrance was the principal witness. He testified that in 1914 the city was careless in its attention to the bridge and wood and trees, floating down the river, formed a dam at the bridge causing the water to back up onto his land.

This case, which is one of a number started by other people in that district, who have the same alleged cause for action, will reach the jury this afternoon.

BIG GAIN IN YEAR'S CROPS

North Dakota Yield Will Compare Well With General Increase.

North Dakota farmers are highly gratified over the showing made by the state this season in the raising of all agricultural products.

With the exception of corn, which, it is estimated, will show a decrease in yield of nearly 5,000,000 bushels, remarkable gains in production as compared with last year were the rule. The wheat yield for the season is placed at 127,000,000 bushels, compared with 81,592,000 bushels in 1914. Grain operators are furthermore convinced that, taking threshing returns reported thus far as a basis, the actual yield for the season will be found to have greatly exceeded the government's estimate as on Sept. 1.

MAKI WILL BE TRIED FOR ROBBERY

Charged With Taking "Roll" From Stranger on Lester River Road.

When the case of the state against William Larson is finished this afternoon in Judge Fesler's court, Onni Maki, laborer, will be placed on trial charged with having held up and robbed Charles Hill on June 11 last, while the two men, in company with a companion of Maki's, were walking along the Lester River road, some distance past Lakeside.

The state expects to show that Maki and his companion were boarders at a house on lower First avenue east when Hill came to Duluth last June with a bank roll and became acquainted with them. Hill was looking for work and it is alleged Maki and his comrade said they could secure employment for all three at a farm some distance out of Duluth.

Hill says that he and his newly-formed chums boarded a Lakeside car and riding to the end of the line, started to walk from Lester Park to the place where they were to secure work. He says that when the party had gone some distance from Lakeside that Maki and his friend knocked him down and that while one of the men put a human thumb screw on him to prevent his arising, the other took from his pockets $143 in cash and a $5 gold-filled watch.

Maki was arrested last month in Minneapolis on descriptions sent out by the Duluth police. His companion is still at large.

HEAVY RAIN STORM FLOODS EDGERTON

High Waters Do Large Amount of Damage in Wisconsin City.

Janesville, Wis., Sept. 13.—Damage amounting to many thousand dollars was caused here as the result of floods from the storm Sunday night.

Saunders creek at Edgerton, a tributary of Rock river, is flooded. The creek rose eight feet above normal, flooding a region in the city of Edgerton about three blocks wide and driving people from their homes. A number of them made their escape in drays, but now it is necessary to use boats.

The high school gymnasium and manual training rooms in the school are flooded with five or six inches of water and there is no school.

Basements in the downtown districts are flooded and merchants are busy pumping out water.

There is no train service at Edgerton as there are two washouts on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road between Janesville and Edgerton and Edgerton and Madison.

The power plant of the Janesville Light company at Fulton has been washed out. Plans are being made to rebuilt it.

ATHLETIC LEAGUE FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Batchelor Will Arrange for Football and Hockey Teams.

Next week J. R. Batchelor, recreational director, will organize a football league for the boys and a lawn hockey league for the girls in all the grade schools in the city.

He announced this morning that communications will be mailed today to all the school principals, inviting the schools to enter teams in the two leagues and to appoint representatives for a conference to be held some time next week.

Workmen are today preparing the three playgrounds at Chester and Harrison parks and Fifty-second avenue west for football and lawn hockey, Director Batchelor announced.

In explaining the lawn hockey game for girls, Mr. Batchelor said that it is played similar to the ice hockey game, only that an indoor baseball is used in place of a puck. The regular hockey sticks are used.

"Lawn hockey is an excellent game for girls," Director Batchelor said, "and is very popular throughout the East."

JITNEY ORDINANCE UP FOR PASSAGE

New Measure But Little Different From Act Now Inoperative.

Duluth's new jitney ordinance will come up for passage at the regular council meeting this afternoon.

The measure, which is practically a duplicate of the one declared inoperative by Judge Cant in the habeas corpus proceedings two weeks ago, has had two readings and it is expected will be passed by the commissioners this afternoon. If passed, the ordinance will become effective on Saturday, Oct. 16.

In addition, the council will hear the third reading of the ordinances repealing the one declared inoperative and its amendment, providing for indemnity insurance policies. This amendment was passed by the council last July at the request of the jitney drivers, who claimed that the National Indemnity company of Kansas City would be able to furnish insurance policies, if provision was made in the ordinance giving them permission to operate in this city. The old jitney ordinance and its amendment will be legally dropped on Oct. 16, when the new measure becomes effective.

Just what action officers of the Duluth Jitney association plan at this time, city commissioners are unable to say, although it is generally believed that opposition will develop. The drivers have declared that they will fight any measure making provision for expensive insurance policies or bonds and as this ordinance is similar to the other against which the referendum petition was filed, similar action is expected by officials at the city hall.

NOT A BIT WASTEFUL.

Philadelphia Telegraph: In the lobby of a hotel the other night the conversation turned to the servant problem when Justice Lamar, of the United States supreme court, recalled a little incident along that line.

Wishing a domestic some time since, a popular matron in a western town inserted an advertisement in an afternoon paper and an hour later a likely-looking candidate knocked on the back door.

"I presume," said the matron among many other things at the interview that followed, "that you are familiar with all kinds of housework, and that you are a good cook."

"Oh, yes, ma'am," was the prompt response of the candidate. "I have always been considered a very good cook, ma'am."

"Then there is another very important thing," reflected the matron. "I trust that with regard to your cooking you are not wasteful."

"Oh, no, ma'am," was the rather startling assurance of the candidate. "I'd eat till I busted afore I'd let anything go to waste."

One of the most expensive woods in the United States is boxwood. It has been quoted at 4 cents a cubic inch, and about $1,300 by the thousand board feet.

ADVISORS TO GOVERNMENT

Membership of New Board Is Announced By Secretary Daniels.

Named By Various Engineering and Scientific Societies of Country.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The membership of the naval advisory board, the organization of experts nominated by eleven great engineering and scientific societies to contribute their inventive geniuses to the American navy, was announced yesterday by Secretary Daniels. The first meeting will be held at the navy department Wednesday, Oct. 6, with the chairman, Thomas A. Edison, presiding.

"Desiring to make available the latent inventive genius of our country to improve our navy," said Mr. Daniels in making his announcement, "a short while ago I requested Thomas A. Edison to become chairman of an advisory board of prominent men who would make up the board. Mr. Edison with the patriotism characteristic of American inventors, accepted the call to duty. The plan adopted for selecting the members of the advisory board was as follows:

"I requested eleven great engineering and scientific societies to select by popular election, two members to represent them on the board. The result has been most gratifying. I have received the nominations of all these societies and have accepted them and it only remains to have a meeting, organize and determine the method of procedure in order to utilize to the best advantage this mobilization of the talent and genius of our great country."

Members of Board.

The members of the board and the societies which nominated them follow:

American aeronautical society: Hudson Maxim, Brooklyn, ordnance and explosive expert and maker of the first smokeless powder adopted by the United States government; Matthew Bacon Sellers, Baltimore, authority on aeronautics and the first to determine the dynamic air pressure on arched surfaces by means of the "wind funnel."

American Society of Automobile Engineers: Howard E. Coffin, Detroit, and Andrew J. Ricker, Bridgeport, Conn., inventors, automobile builders and now vice presidents of large automobile manufacturing companies.

"The Inventors' guild: Dr. Peter Cooper Hewitt, New York, inventor of appliances for telephones, hydroplanes, aeroplanes, balloons and electric lights, and Thomas Robbins, Stamford, Conn., inventor of many mechanical devices, including the belt conveyor for coal and ore; served in the New York naval reserve and observed military conditions at the front in France during the present war.

Built First Trolley Line.

American Instituto of Engineers: Frank Julian Sprague, New York, an early assistant of education, who directed the building of the first successful electric trolley railway in the United States, Italy and Germany, and equipped the first electrically trained gun for the navy; Benjamin G. Lamme, Pittsburgh, inventor and head of a committee which passes upon all Westinghouse inventions.

American Mathematical society: Robert Simpson Woodward, president of the Carnegie institute at Washington and authority on astronomy, geography and mathematical physics; Dr. Arthur Gordon Webster, Worcester, Mass., professor of physics at Clark university and leading authority in America on sound.

American Society of Civil Engineers: Andrew Murray Hunt of New York, graduate of the United States naval academy and experienced in development of hydro-electric plants; Alfred Craven, New York, son of an American rear admiral and now chief engineer of the New York public service commission.

The American Institute of Mining Engineers: William Lawrence Saunders, New York, inventor and engineer, former newspaper and magazine editor and former mayor of Plainfield, N. J., and Benjamin B. Thayer, New York, metallurgist and explosive expert and now president of the Anaconda Mining company.

Metallurgical Engineers.

The American Electro-Chemical society: Dr. Joseph William Richards, South Bethlehem, Pa., professor of metallurgy at Lehigh university, and Lawrence Addicks, Chrome, N. J., metallurgical engineer and president of the American Electro-Chemical society.

American society of Mechanical Engineers: William Leroy Emmet, Schenectady, N. Y., engineer and inventor and first series promoter of electric ship propulsion, having conducted the recent epoch-making series of experiments on the naval collier Jupiter, and Spencer Miller, South Orange, N. J., inventor of apparatus that has simplified coaling of ships, and of the breeches buoy device now used by the coast guard service in shipwreck rescue work.

The American Society of Aeronautic Engineers: Henry Alexander Wise Wood, engineer and manufacturer, student of naval aeronautics and regarded by many as the world's foremost authority on the engineering features of the art of printing, and Elmer A. Sperry, electrical inventor and manufacturer. Secretary Daniels has declared his intention of seeing that great weight is given all conclusions and recommendations of this board, not only in the framing of the administration's recommendations to congress, but in the regular operation and development of the navy.

POLICE RAID "BLIND PIGS"

Nine Men Arrested at Alleged Illegal Drinking Places.

Nine men were arrested in raids on three "blind pigs" in the downtown section Sunday afternoon and evening.

It was the first move made by police against "speakeasies" in the business section of the city since the inauguration of the Silberstein regime.

The first raid was on rooms occupied by Mike Smolich, 40, at 701 West Superior street. The chief, with Sergeant John Roberg, there found eight men drinking beer out of bottles, he said. One full case of beer was found under the sink, four bottles were cooling under the tap and many "empties" were strewn about the room.

Smolich and Eli Obradovich, 45, were held, the former for violating the liquor law and the latter for drunkenness.

The next place visited was a second story "bar" above the Rising Sun saloon, 320 Lake avenue south, where three men were drinking. Mike Rinne, proprietor of the place, was one of them, according to the officers. Esa Tark, 36, and Gust Toppari, 52, were held as drunks, and Rinne for violating the liquor law.

As the officers descended to the street with their prisoners, they met three men on the way up and arrested them for drunkenness. They are John Kent, 27; Matt Juura, 31; and William Hisbeck, 38.

Early in the evening Chief McKercher, with Sergeant John Englert, visited John Zorbas at 213 West First street. They found a "stranger" drinking beer, tweny-one bottles on ice and six cases of empty bottles. Zorbas was taken to headquarters and later released under $100 bail.

He failed to appear in municipal court this morning and Judge F. H. Cutting declared the bail forfeited. Rinne and Smolich both entered pleas of not guilty to a charge of keeping an unlicensed drinking place, and will be given hearings this afternoon.

Obradovich, arrested with Smolich, was found guilty of drunkenness and paid $7. Esa Tark and Gust Toppari, arrested in the second place, were assessed the same fine for similar offenses, while William Hisbeck was sentenced to the work farm for thirty days. John Kent and Matt Juura, arrested with Hisbeck, were released under $15 bail and will be tried Wednesday.

"We are going to clean them all out," said Chief McKercher in court today. "No violations of this kind will be tolerated and I want it clearly understood."

ernment ultimately takes toward him.

The statute on which the government is proceeding fixes a fine of not more than $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than three years for its violation.

Case of Von Papen.

There was no intimation today of any further movement by the government in the case of Capt. Franz von Papen, military attache of the German ambassy, for whom Archibald also carried a letter and who was mentioned in Dr. Dumbas's report as being connected with the strike plans.

At the German embassy it was said no intimation has been received from the state department that Capt. von Papen was persona non grata, but that the embassy of course would accede to any request the United States might make in his case. All that was asked was a safe conduct for the captain back to Germany. If the United States decided that Capt. von Papen's connection with the Dumba case made his presence in this country undesirable, it would only be neecssary, according to diplomatic procedure, to indicate that view to Ambassador von Bernstorff, his chief, and negotiations between Washington and Berlin would be unnecessary.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMIES ARE MAKING STEADY PROGRESS IN EAST

are again current of an Austro-German offensive movement toward Constantinople.

English newspapers devote much space to the announcement of David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, that the nation must increase her efforts very greatly if victory for the entente allies is to be assured.

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 13, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office today gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

"Several hand grenade combats were reported during the night near the Bethune-Arras road and an enemy attack was easily repulsed to the north of the Souchez station. At the same time there was artillery activity on both sides.

The mine fighting proceeded continually and stubbornly to the south of the Somme before Faye. There was violent bombarding in the sectors of Armancourt and Beauvraignes as well as on the plateau of Quennevierrea and Nouvron. The intermittent cannonading took place in the Champagne and the Argonne. On the Lorraine front our batteries directed an efficacious fire on the German trenches and organizations in the north of Embermenil, Leintrey and Anserviller. Enemy groups which left their trenches and advanced up to our wire entanglements were dispersed by our infantry fire.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 13, via London—The Russian official communication issued by the war office last night says that because of the salient of the armies on the Niemen, it has been decided to retire a short distance, still holding back the Austro-German offensive. The statement says:

"Owing to the salient of our armies on the Niemen and to the south of the Niemen, it has been decided to withdraw them slightly while continuing to hold the enemy's offensive. In this sector we had to sustain very strong attacks on the 11th.

"On the Lower Zelwianka we repulsed fierce German attacks throughout Saturday. At Zelwa our fire destroyed an enemy battery.

On the Barnovichi road we captured 400 Austrians and Germans, four machine guns and ammunition wagons.

"In the region of Tarnopol the engagements have been favorable to the Russians. North of Tarnopol we captured, Saturday, 91 officers and 4,300 men, including nine machine guns and much booty.

"Sunday morning our troops south of Tarnopol took the offensive. On the Sereth river the Austrians continue their retirement from the region of Fluste toward the Dniester. Our pursuit continues successfully; we captured many prisoners.

"In the Black sea near Cape Tchaoudy, our patrol boats exchanged shots with an enemy submarine, which fled rapidly.

"In general we continue the execution of our plans which daily improve the situation of our armies.

"Prisoners say that the Germans are excessively fatigued by the recent fighting and that their losses in the last three days in killed alone amounted to 100 men per company."

Fargo Expenses Increase.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city commissioners passed an appropriation ordinance for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, approximately $50,000 more than last year. The total appropriated to run the city during the next twelve months is $231,477.71. It is anticipated that there will be $25,450 in collections in the various departments during the year, making the amount for which taxes are levied $206,027.71. The total water works appropriation is $82,808.19.

NEXT STEP IN MEXICAN SITUATION

reon, described as coming from an unofficial but reliable source, say Villa troops in all the recent encounters with Carranza forces in Northern Mexico had made a poor showing. In many cases, it was declared, the Villa soldiers cast away their arms and abandoned towns apparently without any real defense.

Trains reaching Torreon with Villa troops were fueled with ties from the railroad tracks. Four, loaded with provisions, were abandoned. From some towns it is reported the troops fled so precipitately as to take no precautions against pursuit.

American Safe.

Maj.-Gen. Funston today telegraphed the war department that John Lowenbruck, the American ranchman, held by Mexicans for ransom near Columbus, N. M., was now under protection of United States troops. Details of his rescue were not given.

Confirmation of the execution of Gen. Tomas Urbina by Gen. Villa was received directly from Gen. Villa today by Enrique Llorente, his agent here.

In explanation of Urbina's execution Gen. Villa sent this statement:

Statement By Villa.

"For some time past the behavior of Gen. Thomas Urbina has become intolerable because without any scruples whatever he executed all persons who incurred his displeasure. Of his acts he gave of late no accounts to headquarters nor to any authority whom he was obliged to respect and obey.

"The execution of Gen. Urbina plucks from the root a constant peril for the region which had been under his control. The execution was caused entirely by the many assassinations ordered by Gen. Urbina, particularly in San Luis Potosi, proof of which I had just received and which moved me to make the decision which I carried out."

One Trooper Killed.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 13.—One United States trooper was killed and two others wounded, one probably fatally, when a gang of Mexican bandits early today attacked the American patrol of seven men at an irrigation pumping plant several miles up the river from this point.

TURK ARMY IN BAD WAY

is responsive to the wishes of the triumvirate.

Massacres Duplicated.

The American's informant states that Armenians are being shipped to concentration camps at various points, being driven afoot or forwarded in box cars. He adds that the earlier massacres of Christians in Asia Minor are being duplicated in the present instance and that in some cases only a comparatively small part of the expelled Armenians reach the concentration camps alive.

Henry Morgenthau, American ambassador at Constantinople, has exerted every effort to protect the Armenians but apparently his endeavors have unavailing. It is stated that American women who attempted to go with the refugees to look out for Armenian children were turned back, and that a number of young Armenian girls, who were students at the American college at Constantinople, fell into the hands of the Turks.

No Coal at Constantinople.

Owing to the interruption of sea transportation it is almost impossible to purchase coal at Constantinople, and wood is being used for locomotives. The crops were good, but it has been almost impossible to harvest them. Petroleum costs $1 a gallon and the price of sugar has increased seven fold.

The American's informant states that the agreement said to have been reached between Turkey and Bulgaria has not effected a definite settlement of relations but that to the contrary the Turks are hastily erecting defenses against the Bulgarians.

UNITED STATES HAS REACHED NO DECISION

the sinking of the Arabic was a justified act, increases the importance of the decision on the Arabic note.

Half Hour's Conference.

Ambassador Bernstorff's conference with Secretary Lansing lasted just half an hour. At its conclusion as he left the state department, he told inquirers:

"I really cannot say anything about what I said to the secretary or about what he said to me. That rests with Secretary Lansing, I really cannot talk to you, you know."

The ambassador made it clear, however, that the situation had not come to an impasse. From his manner some of his questioners inferred that his conference with the secretary forecasts a favorable outcome and that probably arbitration might be agreed upon.

Situation Grave.

Washington, Sept. 13.—President Wilson expressed his view of the gravity of the international situation which confronts the United States to a delegation of Virginians, who asked him today to visit the Manassas battlefield late this month. Declining the invitation, the president said:

"We are all hoping and praying that the skies may clear, but we have no control of that on this side of the water and it is impossible to predict any part of the course of affairs.

"I simply feel that I have forfeited my liberty for the present and my nearest duty is the most obvious and imperative duty. I have been obliged to say this to all invitations, however tempting in character, and I would not be worthy of your trust if I did not come to such a conclusion, because I know that you want these international matters taken care of as best we know how and I ought not to send my thoughts afield."

The Hungarian party, on the contrary, believes that Dr. Dumba did his duty in order to prevent arms and ammunition reaching the powers of the Quadruple Entente.

Emperor Displeased.

It is gleaned from the newspaper articles that Emperor Francis Joseph was displeased when he learned of the action that had been taken by the United States in the case of the ambassador and that in substance he expressed the view that the personality of the Austrian ambassador was a sufficient guarantee against statements attributed to him by the United States which were without a solid basis in fact.

It is declared likewise that telegrams of a somewhat bitter tone were exchanged on the subject between Foreign Minister Burian and Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor. The German emperor is declared to have been greatly interested in the development and to have recalled Foreign Minister von Jagow to Berlin, the foreign minister having been preparing on Saturday to go to Vienna.

The question of diplomatic ruptures with the United States is being discussed by the papers.

HAS SAVED THREE LIVES THIS YEAR

Harry Dahl Rescues Child From Being Crushed By Auto.

But for the quick action of Harry Dahl, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rodovich, 526 West First street, might have been crushed under a rapidly moving automobile Saturday afternoon. The child was playing in the street, and Dahl, noticing its peril, ran from the curbing and grabbed it in time to prevent the car from striking it.

The machine wheel passed over Mr. Dahl's toes, crushing one of them, and threw him heavily to the ground.

Mr. Dahl lives at 723 East Fourth street. He said he was unable to get the number of the machine, as it failed to stop and turned down towards Superior street at Sixth avenue west.

The Rodivich child is the third to be saved this year by Mr. Dahl. During the automobile races held on the lake on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, his presence of mind saved Carl Carlson, 720 Sixth avenue east, and Edwin Rodahl, 609 Sixth avenue east, from drowning. The two boys had walked into an air hole in the ice, and their cries attracted his attention. While running towards the boys, he pulled out the strap from his mackinaw and threw one end of it to the Carlson boy. The other lad hung on to his companion while Dahl pulled them out.

SERVICE IS OUTGROWN

Postmaster Plans Survey and Redistribution of Mail Routes.

Steady Growth of City Makes New Carriers a Necessity.

Because of the rapid and uniform growth of the city of Duluth, a revision of the whole mail delivery of the residence districts is being contemplated by Postmaster William E. McEwen. He will make a survey of the entire mail service of the city and forward plans for revision and recommendations for an increase in the postoffice and carrier staffs.

Postmaster McEwen has been thinking of this plan for some time, but his idea took the form of a resolution today when he received word from the Chester creek district, saying that there were thirty new families in that part of the city who need mail service. A new canvass of the city will be made, beginning Oct. 1, and this will be used for a comparison with the results shown in the canvass last May.

"If the growth of the city was in any one part alone, the postoffice could very easily adjust matters by putting out a new carrier," he said. "But this is not the case. New families have been moving in all over, and these have been tacked on to the various routes until the men can no longer make their routes in the scheduled time. The increase in mail also has been so great recently that the staff at the postoffice is hardly able to handle it in time for the outgoing trains.

Sudden Growth in Parts.

"There is the Morgan Park district, Waverly park, and many other places in the city where the growth has been sudden and rapid, and then again over the whole city the gradual moving in of families has caused the service to become congested so that the carriers can no longer do the work allotted to them."

Postmaster McEwen does not expect to be able to make the necessary canvass of the city and get the data into workable condition for some time, but the task will be begun at once, and it is his aim to get every house within the jurisdiction of the office into the service. He has been aided somewhat in this by reports from various new residents and also from new communities. In some cases new mail boxes are asked, also, showing that the district in which the box was orginally placed has expanded.

A large map of the city showing every house is at the service of the postmaster, and the residences of new Duluthians will be added.

Mr. McEwen has not yet been able so far to form an estimate regarding the number of new men needed to amplify the service and give delivery to every resident of the city.

TAXATION TO PAY WAR COST

First Important Measure to Come Before House of Commons.

Chancellor of Exchequer Will Soon Introduce His First Budget.

London, Sept. 13.—Of the various important measures to be taken up at the forthcoming session of parliament which begins tomorrow, particular attention is being paid to the matter of new taxation to help in paying the cost of the war. Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, will introduce his first budget in the house of commons on Sept. 21 or 23. He has spent many weeks in searching out possible means of adding to the ordinary revenues and meeting the enormous expenses of the war, which now amount to nearly $20,000,000 daily.

Whatever the chancellor may have in mind, he has kept his secret as closely as is customary with the drafters of British budgets. Gossip already has doubled the income tax and reduced the exemption figure, increased the duty on tea to a shilling a pound and added greatly to the import taxes on petrol, wines, spirits, sugar and tobacco, especially cigars.

Bold Line of Action.

Apart from these a bold line of action undoubtedly will be taken on taxation of war profits, not only on munitions but on industries like shipping which are ambassing enormous sums. The beef trust and wholesale distributors of foodstuffs also are mentioned as likely to be called upon for large contributions to the exchequer. Imposition of taxes on imported luxuries, including automobiles, is being canvassed as a means either of raising revenues or of assisting national economy and righting the exchange market by decreasing imports.

PROMINENT DULUTHIANS COMMENT ON INTRODUCTION OF NEW COURSES AT DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

"Yours is a business university in reality as well as in name, where young people can get full and thorough preparation in all branches that fit them for business careers. The introduction of the four new courses puts your school on probably a higher plane than any other business college in the country. "M. I. STEWART."

Say Paving Is Defective.

Property owners this morning filed a protest against paying for the pavement just completed on Fifth street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east. They claim that the work is defective and not what had been specified by Commissioner Farrell. The petition will be presented to the city commission this afternoon.

Petition for Sewers.

Petitions for the installation of sanitary sewers in Parkland avenue, from Eden lane and Belmont road, and in Meadow street, from Boundary avenue to Norton's Bayview outlots, were filed with City Clerk Borgen this morning. They have been referred to the public works division.

Curfew Law Effective Sept. 29.

Duluth's curfew ordinance will become effective on Wednesday, Sept. 29, City Clerk Borgen announced this morning. Through a mistake, caused by mixing the dates of another ordinance introduced early last summer by Mayor Prince but never passed, it was reported that the curfew law would go into effect today. The measure was passed on Aug. 30.

Humane Society Annual.

Officers and directors will be elected and the treasurer and agent of the Duluth Humane society will make their reports at the annual meeting of the society, which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in Memorial hall in the courthouse building. It is requested that there be a full attendance of members. The public, generally, is invited to be present.

Sues to Recover on Notes.

Complaint in the action of Margaret Sullivan against H. A. Cullom and his wife, Emily C. Cullom, was filed in the clerk of district court's office this morning. Miss Sullivan says in her complaint that in 1910 she sold the west one-half of lot 12 in block 5 to Mr. Cullom for a consideration of $200 and that the purchaser gave in payment two promissory notes, neither of which has been paid. She further complains that Mr. Cullom informs her that he has mortgaged the lot. Miss Sullivan asks that the lot be ordered sold by the court so that she can get her $200 with interest from the time of sale.

Mother in Cincinnati Looking for Child Taken Away From Her

ESTELLE COOPER GAY.

Estelle Cooper Gay is in Cincinnati looking for her child which was taken away from her two years ago. Mrs. Gay has another child, Peggy, now living in New York. Some four years ago Mrs. Gay went to live with Col. J. C. C. Mayor, an immensely wealthy Kentuckian, and they had one child which was taken away from her directly after its birth. She says Mayo promised to settle half a million dollars on the child, but when he died suddenly he had made no provision for the child or for her. Where the child is Mrs. Gay does not know. Some New York men of wealth have financed her in her search for the child and her effort to get some allowance for it from the Mayo estate.

LUTHERANS HAVE NOVEL PROPOSITION

Would Put Representatives on Ship Board to Agree to Plan.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 13.—Two business sessions were before delegates to the general council of the Lutheran Church of North America today. One of the chief reports to be considered was that of the church book committee. The council is behind its convention schedule and it is not likely that the business will be concluded before the last of the week.

Mrs. C. E. Hoffsten, Chicago, elected to the presidency of the Woman's Missionary Society of the General Council, declined to accept the post and in her stead Miss Zoe I. Hirt of Erie, Pa., has been elected.

To get the representatives of more than two million Lutherans of America on board a ship and keep them there until they have agreed to unite in a single national church federation was the novel plan proposed today in the general council. The scheme was proposed by Dr. J. C. Kunzmann of Philadelphia. His plan is to carry it out in 1919. The steamer is to be chartered at New York for a month's cruise. Representatives of all Lutheran synods are to be invited. The trip will be through the Panama canal, with stops on both coasts and ending at Vancouver. When the latter point is reached the delegates will leave the boat and travel across the country in special trains, holding great mass meetings en route. The council is considering the proposition.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENT ON THE ADRIATIC

One Austrian Torpedo Boat Said to Have Been Damaged.

Rome, Sept. 13, via Paris.—A battle between Italian and Austrian naval forces the former assisted by a French submarine, occurred on Thursday last in the Adriatic sea. The ministry of marine announced today that one Austrian torpedo boat had been damaged seriously.

DULUTH BOY IS KIDNAPED

Word was received here this morning that the 8-year-old son of Herbert L. Brown, clerk for the Northern Pacific railroad, was kidnaped today at Portland, Or.

Although the dispatch is meager regarding details, the kidnaping took place in broad daylight. No further information is given.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and their son left last week for Portland, where they planned to spend two weeks. Their home is at 3622 Minnesota avenue, Park Point.

Mr. Brown has been a clerk with the Northern Pacific for the last five years.

CITY HONORS DEAD CHIEF

Municipal Offices Will Close and Officials Attend Granzow Funeral.

Forty Firemen and Twenty Policemen Will Escort Body.

Tribute to the memory of Fred E. Granzow, former first assistant fire department chief, who was loved by scores of firefighters as a good "smoke eater" and leader, will be paid by city officials, the police, and the firemen, tomorrow afternoon.

Mayor W. I. Prince announced today that the city hall will be closed from 1:30 to 3 p. m., the hours of the funeral services, and that all of the city commissioners, as well as other officials, are planning to attend.

Asst. Chief Granzow was killed Friday night near the corner of Twenty-seventh avenue west and Superior street, when the auto in which he was riding to a fire, collided with a touring car. He had been a member of the department since 1889.

Services will be held from the family residence, 106 Park avenue, at 1:30 o'clock and from the Gospel hall, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Cody street, at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Oneota cemetery.

A detail of forty firemen and twenty policemen will act as escort. The body was taken yesterday to the family home from the Z. A. Downs' undertaking rooms in Superior, escorted by a squad of Superior firemen.

Mr. Granzow, in addition to being a member of the Firemen's Relief association, was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and the Camels of the World. Members of these lodges will attend the funeral.

In addition to Mrs. Granzow, he is survived by a son, aged 26, whose home is in Minneapolis, and a 10-year-old daughter, Dorothy.

The honorary pallbearers will be Kenneth McDonald, Hans Erickson, John Walsh, Charles Ottinger and Leslie Pyle of Minneapolis.

VIRGINIA GIRL TO STATE HOSPITAL

Believed That Her Crippled Condition Can Be Further Relieved.

Miss Ethel Norris, assistant humane officer, will leave for Virginia tomorrow, where she will arrange for the transportation of Sophia Rajala, 17 years, from Virginia to the state hospital for crippled and deformed children at St. Paul. Miss Rajala was taken to the state institution about two years ago and received treatment at that time that greatly benefited her. While the nature of her deformity is such that she cannot be wholly cured, it is expected that further aid can be given her.

"When the Virginia girl was first taken to the hospital she could not walk without the aid of crutches, but now she has discarded them entirely and gets along well with a brace," said Miss Norris. "Miss Rajala is a clever girl. She is most appreciative of all that is being done for her. Her father died two years ago. She is the oldest of five children."

DULUTH FIRM IS NOT INTERESTED

Mentioned as Complainant in Coal Case Before Interstate Commission.

Washington, Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Complaints alleging overcharges on shipments of coal from the Head of the Lakes to points in Minnesota, aggregating several thousand dollars, were filed with the interstate commerce commission today by Minnesota coal consumers. They are the Hoover Grain company of Duluth, the Montrose Milling company of Montrose, the Bird Island Roller Mills company of Bird Island and the S. H. Bowman Lumber company of Winnebago.

The complainants ask reparation for the difference between the interstate rate and the intrastate rate, the latter being several cents lower per 100 pounds. The shipment on which refunds are claimed were made in 1913 and 1914.

Samuel Hoover, president of the Hoover Grain company, with offices in the Board of Trade building, declared today that he knows nothing about the action mentioned in the dispatch and that his firm handles no coal.

"Sometime ago," said Mr. Hoover, "I was called up on long distance by some man in Minneapolis, who seems to have been collecting evidence for such a movement as that mentioned, and was urged to participate. He seemed to think that our company has a lot of coal and handles a good deal. I told him that we do not, but he insisted that we do; and he evidently did not believe my statement if our name is included in the list of complainants. But we will take no part in the matter for we have no interest in it. We do not deal in coal and never have."

DOCTOR FAILED TO DIE FROM POISON

After Awaiting Death for Four Days, Physician Recovers.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 13.—A four-day wait for death terminated today when Dr. W. W. Kenney was declared to have entirely recovered from the effects of a hypodermic injection of poison which he took through mistake Thursday morning. Dr. Kenney took the poison, which ordinarily kills in a few days through action on the kidneys, in the belief that it was a sleeping potion. Discovering his error, he summoned medical aid and settled down to wait for death, in the meantime studying with scientific interest the action of the drug on his system. For four days the issue of life or death hung in the balance, but the physicians finally threw off the effects of poison and he was pronounced out of danger.

SUPERIOR

THIEVES MAKE RAID ON DENTAL ROOMS

Gold and Other Material Taken From Four Offices.

Dentists of Superior suffered a loss of several hundred dollars as a result of the work of thieves yesterday. Four offices were broken into and ransacked, gold and much other valuable material being taken.

The heaviest loser was Dr. M. H. Barsness, 1304 Tower avenue. In addition to about $100 worth of gold, other material and work worth a considerable amount, were taken or destroyed. The other losers were Dr. C. G. Booth, Seventh street and Tower avenue; Dr. L. Moody and Dr. W. P. Gould of the Weymss building.

Entrance to most of the offices appears to have been through the transom. Skeleton keys were also used. Drawers and lock boxes in the offices were broken into and material and tools scattered about the rooms.

The police are of the opinion that the work is that of professionals. The officers have no clews except that Duluth dentists were also victims of similar thefts.

Old Resident Summoned.

Fred W. Runkel, aged 67, 712 Grand avenue, a resident of Superior for twenty-five years, died at his home yesterday. Mr. Runkel was engaged in business in the city for a number of years. He is survived by his widow, one son, L. P. Runkel of Cloquet, and one daughter, Miss Laura E. Runkel, principal of the Howe school. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence.

Want $252,000 for Schools.

The sum of $252,528 will be asked by the finance committee of the Superior school board to finance the schools of Superior during the next year. This sum is $16,893 less than was asked for last year.

Veteran Engineer Dies.

John J. Hussey, aged 60, a resident of Superior for many years, died Saturday evening at St. Paul. He was a member of the Superior fire and police commission, and served as alderman for several terms. He was the oldest man in the point of service as engineer on the Great Northern railroad, having served in that capacity for twenty-eight years. He leaves a widow, three daughters and one son. The body will be brought to Superior today and funeral services will be held from the residence, 1121 John avenue, on Wednesday.

TAPS SOUNDED FOR WELL KNOWN VETERAN OF THE CIVIL WAR

Taps were sounded yesterday for Samuel Anderson, G. A. R. veteran and well-known Superior resident, who had been ill at St. Luke's hospital for but a few days.

Mr. Anderson was prominently identified with the activities of the Willis A. Gorman post, G. A. R., and served one year as post commander. He was well known in Duluth as well as in Superior.

During the Civil war Mr. Anderson had even more than the usual allotment of experiences. He joined Company I, Eighth Pennsylvania infantry, and later was transferred to Company L, Eleventh Pennsylvania. He entered the service on April 19, 1861, and was discharged on Feb. 14, 1865.

Late in the war he was a prisoner in the famous Andersonville military prison for several months.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the Le Sage undertaking rooms, 1813 Twelfth street, Superior. Interment will be in Superior. Mr. Anderson had no relatives living in this part of the United States, according to his friends.

FIGHT RATE CANCELLATION

Duluth Traffic Commission Takes Prompt Action on Important Matter.

Grand Trunk Cancels Joint Tariffs With Duluth Lake Line.

What looks like the opening of another lively freight rate fight has just had its introduction in the cancellation by the Grand Trunk road of its joint tariffs with the Port Huron & Duluth steamship line, by the road. This cancellation notice, to the effect that all such joint traffics are off on Sept. 15, was issued late last week. The Duluth traffic commission being informed of the new move on Saturday afternoon, got busy on the wire with the interstate commerce commission, with the result that the cancellation was suspended until a hearing can be held. A notice of the date of such hearing will be issued later.

The cancellation is the result of what a local traffic man declares to be the hoggishness of the American roads in the East. The latter have just issued a new schedule of division of rates, which gives them so much the lion's share east of Buffalo, that the Grand Trunk road finds itself unable to handle business to the Niagara frontier territory with any profit, and therefor wishes to retire from the field; hence the notice of cancellation of joint tariffs with the lake freight line.

It is intimated that perhaps the fact that the Port Huron & Duluth line is the only lake line carrying package freight that is not controlled by the railroads has something to do with the new division schedule. At any rate Duluth and the Twin Cities will fight the new move, for, as one traffic man here said today, the principle of letting the Eastern roads hog the business is a bad one and must be fought.

HOW THE HIGH EXPLOSIVES ACT

Guncotton Will Burn Slowly and Without Danger; Smokeless Powder Was Necessary to Prevent Waste in Power By Formation of Smoke; How Some Explosives Are Made.

Vivian B. Lewis, professor of chemistry at the Royal Naval college, Greenwich, in the London Chronicle: The history of the modern explosives used in the great war dates back to 1888 when smokeless powders for service work became a possibility. Up to that time gunpowder had been the explosive used both as a charge for the gun and as a bursting charge for shells, and although, as a result of thirty years' work, the forms of gunpowder used had been so beautifully fitted to the work that had to be done as to render the powder charge a "propellant" the result of the firing of which could be absolutely predicted, the fact that more than one-half the weight of the powder was driven from the gun in the form of smoke became an insuperable objection.

In 1886 the largest guns we had weighed 110 tons, fired a charge of 960 pounds of prism powder, threw a shell weighing 1,700 pounds, and were 16.25 inches in diameter, being, therefore, larger than the 16-inch guns the Germans are supposed to possess, while our own largest guns are now the 15-inch on the new superdreadnaughts throwing a 2,000-pound shell with 50 per cent greater muzzle velocity than the old 16.25-inch gun using powder. The secret of this increase in efficiency is that the charge of the old 110-ton gun had not only to drive out the projectile, but also some 500 pounds of smoke, while less than 50 per cent of the charge was effective.

The introduction of rapid firing machine guns made the smoke trouble still more serious and rendered a smokeless powder a necessity.

Smokeless Powder Necessary.

In any successful explosive certain conditions have to be fulfilled. One must be able to concentrate in a small space bodies which will act upon each other independent of the air with enormous rapidity, forming the largest possible volumes of gas, which, having to find way for itself, gives the explosive effect. If this change takes an appreciable time the body can be used as a "propellant" in a gun, and gunpowder is of this character. When, however, the change takes place practically instantaneously it cannot be used in a gun and is used in high explosive shells, bombs, torpedoes and mines, and such bodies we call "high explosives," guncotton and nitroglycerin being examples of this class. When, during the formation of the gas from the solid in explosion, other solid compounds are formed as well, the solids are blown out in fine particles and form a cloud, smoke. But if only gases are produced the explosion is smokeless. Gunpowder on being fired gives more than half its weight as solids, and therefore forms clouds of smoke. Guncotton is resolved entirely into gases and gives no smoke.

When the necessity for smokeless powder became urgent it was naturally to guncotton that attention was most largely turned, but all attempts to convert it from an "explosive" to a "propellant" failed until it was discovered that its rate of combustion could be slowed down by destroying the original cotton structure that still existed in the guncotton. If cotton fiber is examined under the microscope it is found to consist of minute tubes, and in the process of converting the cotton into "guncotton" by soaking it in a mixture of the strongest nitric and sulphuric acids, washing out all acid and drying, this structure remains, and if the guncotton were used as a charge in a big gun, no matter how much it was compressed, the flame of the combustion would be pressed back into these tubes and so accelerate the burning as to give almost instantaneous explosion, straining the gun and giving low velocity to the projectile.

Finding a New Explosive.

Nitroglycerin is an even more rapid "explosive" than guncotton, and if used in a gun would burst it, probably without driving out the projectile at all. Nobel, however, discovered that if a low form of guncotton was macerated in nitroglycerin the guncotton was gelatinized, all structure disappeared and both explosives became so tamed in their action that they were converted into a smokeless propellant and could be got into a form in which they were far superior to gunpowder. This idea was improved upon by Sir Frederick Abel and Sir James Dewar, who found that the highest form of guncotton, which is unacted upon by nitroglycerin, could be got into a gelatinized mass with nitroglycerin if a common solvent, such as acetone, was used to blend them and afterwards evaporated out, and this, with 5 per cent of vaseline to increase its stability and lubricate the gun, forms our modern "propellant" Cordite, so named from the fact that it is cast into sticks, rods or cords, according to the size of the gun in which it is to be used.

The smokeless powder used by the Germans contains no nitroglycerin and consists of nitrocotton gelantinized by alcohol and ether, so as to destroy its structure. The fact that all the modern explosives are made from substances of the most innocent character, such as cotton, glycerin and coal tar, emphasizes the importance of a strict blockade on all imports to Germany.

The class of true "high explosives" are all capable of undergoing an instantaneous decomposition by what is known as detonation, which consists in firing in contact with them a small quantity of mercuric fulminate, which instantly resolves them into gas and creates so enormous and so sudden a pressure that a shell filled with a high explosive and then fired by a detonator is shattered into fragments, causing widespread destruction.

Guncotton Will Burn.

An idea can be gained of the increase in the rate of combustion given by detonation from the fact that a compressed disc of guncotton ignited in the open air takes about half a minute to burn an inch, but that if a train of such discs is fired by detonation, the explosion travels at the rate of two hundred miles a minute, and a harmless combustion becomes a terrific explosion that destroys everything in its path. The modern high explosives, used as bursting charges in shells, torpedo heads, mines and the aviators' bombs, are chiefly compounds formed by the nitration of certain coal tar derivatives.

Phenol or carbolic acid, obtained from the middle oil fraction distilled from coal tar, yields on nitration picric acid, the basis of the English "Lyddite," the French "Melinite," and the Japanese "Shimose powder," while an explosive attracting even greater attention in the present war is obtained in the same way by nitration from toluene, found in the crude benzol obtained by distillation from the tar, and in larger quantities in the benzol obtained by scrubbing coal gas or coke oven gas with heavy oil.

The Lyddite shells used in the South African campaign showed great diversity of behavior, at one time exploding with tremendous effect, and at others giving a low order of explosion and dense yellowish-green fumes. This was due to the fact that for its proper explosion picric acid needs a powerful detonator, and fear of premature explosion of the shell in the gun prevented sufficiently strong detonators being used. Later on, the Japanese, who used picric acid under the name of "Shimose powder" in their war with Russia, rendered the bursting charges highly effective by the use of a detonator of a different character, but paid the penalty of the sensitive nature of the explosive by several cases of premature explosion of the shell in the gun.

HIS UNCANNY WISH.

Saturday Evening Post: Two octogenarian darkies at White Sulphur Springs, having been employed by one hotel manager since the Civil war, are now retained as pensioners, though they occasionally do light and pottering jobs about the place.

One day not long ago they were languidly raking leaves on the lawn. As a lady passed she heard them quarreling, and stopped to listen.

"Nigger," stated the older of the pair, "does you know what I wish't? I wish't dat hotel yonder had a thousan' rooms in it, and you wuz laid out daid in ev'y room!"

STRICTLY FRESH.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A dairyman and farmer personally applied to a town housekeeper for a transfer of her custom to himself.

"I hear dot you haf a lot of double wit dot dairyman of yours," he said. "Yust you give me your custom and dere will be no drouble."

"Are your eggs always fresh?" asked the woman.

"Vell," repeated the man in indignant tone, "Let me dell you, madam, dot my hens nefer, nefer lay anything but fresh eggs."

WOULD PROVE NEED OF LINE

Canvass Made to Secure Street Car Service in Suburbs.

New Duluth and Gary Men Active in the Campaign.

Statistics to show that New Duluth and Gary are sadly in need of an extension of the street railway lines are being gathered by C. L. Hood, representing the citizens' committee, and E. T. McManus, representing the Duluth Street Railway company. A canvass of New Duluth has just been completed, and this morning the men were starting on a similar canvass of the townsite of Gary.

The number of people using trains, traveling between the suburbs and Duluth, the average number of trips that each resident makes to the city and many other figures incidental to traffic between the suburb and the city are being gathered. The result of the canvass will not be known until after the entire district has been gone over.

Figures are being secured for the purpose of trying to show that an extension of the car lines would not be a losing proposition. The canvass was agreed upon between a committee of the citizens' committee and Vice President Herbert Warren of the street railway company. It was agreed that if financial conditions were right, and it could be showed that the line could be operated without financial loss, the lines would be built in the near future.

The company will begin the latter part of next month laying the extension to Morgan Park. This line is expected to be completed before the middle of December. The laying of rails across the bridge at Seventy-first avenue west, will be completed within a short time, and the switches for the crossings of the loop at Seventy-first avenue will arrive early in October and be installed as soon as they reach here.

FAIL TO CARRY OUT GOOD INTENTIONS

Few Persons Sin From Choice, Says Rev. Herbert Ford.

Failure to carry out good intentions is the leading cause of sin, according to Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, who spoke last evening on "Where God's Intentions Fail." Most sins, he said, are committed when the intention was to do right, although many are deliberate and intentional, due to a desire to be contrary. These, he said, are called by theologians the "original sin."

"But most sins are not committed in that spirit. Almost all the people, almost all the time, really want to be good and to do right. Why then do they do wrong? Wherein do our good intentions fail?

"There are four reasons for their failure. First, they fail because they are not strong enough. Jesus said, 'Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled.' Merely to wish to do right is not enough. We must actually hunger and thirst for righteousness. We must be willing to pay the price of goodness and virtue or we may not have it.

"Other reasons are that we underestimate the opposition that our good intentions are to encounter, and we overestimate ourselves. The fourth reason is most important, however. We try to carry out our good intentions in our own strength alone, and we fail. When Jesus had a hard task or temptation, He prayed. Why should we assume that we can be good without God to help us?

"Will good intentions save us? Is it a sufficient excuse to say, 'I meant to do right?' Good intentions will not save unless we have the grace and strength to carry them out. A wishbone will never take the place of a backbone. The failure of good intentions is the greatest tragedy of life. Only those who 'hunger and thirst' for righteousness may attain it."

STREETS TOO MUDDY FOR TEAMS AND AUTOS

Rains Demoralize Traffic Between West Duluth and Suburbs.

Continued rains since Saturday have demoralized traffic as far as teams and automobiles are concerned between West Duluth and the western suburbs. Only one jitney between Seventy-first avenue and New Duluth is said to have been able to get through this morning.

The roadway between Smithville and Eighty-first avenue west is said to be impassable. Half of this street is torn up by grading and paving operations.

Work on the grading had to be stopped on account of the rain this morning. It had been planned to begin laying the concrete on part of the street, but this has been postponed until dry weather.

Will Give Social.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will entertain at a social afternoon for its members and friends in the church Thursday afternoon. The women are expected to bring their sewing. The hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. Everett Wier, Mrs. J. A. Rakowsky and Mrs. Rudolph Sieger.

The society will hold a business meeting in the church tomorrow afternoon.

Committee Will Meet.

A meeting of the joint committee representing the four A. O. U. W. lodges of Duluth, which had charge of the recent picnic held at Indian Point, will be held Wednesday evening following the meeting of West Duluth lodge, No. 145, at Gilley's hall. The committee's affairs will be wound up.

M. W. A. Rally.

Old Hickory camp, No. 1555, M. W. A., will hold a rally meeting Wednesday evening at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. Initiation of a class of new members and addresses by John L. Sundeen, state deputy, for the order, will feature the evening's program. The degree staff will also give an exhibition drill.

ANSWERS ASSAULT CHARGE IN COURT

Little Brown Jug Used as Weapon After School Meeting.

A rough-house school meeting, in which was featured some fisticuffs, "tail" language and a jug of whisky, took place July 17 last, in the town of Rice Lake, near Arnold. Chris Melin, a prominent farmer residing in that section, was injured that night when he was struck on the head by a jug, his wounds requiring the attention of a physician.

William Larson, accused by Melin of being the man who struck him with the little brown jug, was indicted for second degree assault by the present grand jury, and was placed on trial this morning in District Judge Fesler's court.

According to the testimony of Melin this morning, Larson came to the school meeting last July fairly well "lit up." The witness said Larson became disorderly, and that he put him out of the building where the men of learning were congregated for business that dealt with the future of the young Americans of the Arnold district.

When the meeting was finished, Melin started down the road toward his home, when he was struck on the head by a jug which he says was in the hands of Larson. He bled profusely, and Dr. S. H. Boyer of this city was called to attend him.

Dr. Boyer was on the stand this morning and testified as to the nature of the wound. It is expected that the case will go to the jury by this evening.

NOT YET BORN OFFICIALLY

Scores of Babies Not Yet Enrolled on City Records.

Physicians Again Become Careless, Say Health Department Heads.

Scores of babies from two weeks to several months of age have not been born officially, according to health department officers, who have started a campaign to have physicians report cases promptly.

"We are hampered because of the incomplete records," said one member of the department today, "and it would be a good thing if parents would check up with their physician, and see to it that a birth certificate was filed."

An infant's death was reported to the department this morning, and there was no record of its birth. In order to complete the record, department officials appealed to the parents, who referred them to the physician.

With this cerificato, the physician filed nearly a dozen others, of children several months old, whose births never had been placed on record.

The list included: A son born June 7 to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lundquist, 4114 Colorado street.

A son born June 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Erick Wilson, 1305 East Eleventh street.

A son born June 16 to Mr. and Mrs. John Rold, 127 West Seventh street.

A daughter born June 29 to Mr. and Mrs. Elizen A. Landre, Morningside Park.

A son born June 29 to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Grabarkiewicz, 6 West Seventh street.

A son born July 8 to Mr. and Mrs. Claus Jacobson, 1019 Ninth avenue east.

A son born July 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Carlson, 927 Garfield avenue.

A son born July 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Nels Major, 519 East Tenth street.

BOOSTERS BEGIN VISITS TO FAIRS

Fifteen Duluthians Start on Annual Junket Led By Gravel.

Fifteen boosters, headed by Frank X. Gravel, chairman of the trade extension committee of the Duluth Commercial club, left last night on the first tour of visits to county fairs in this part of the state, and will be absent all week. George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the club, left on Saturday to prepare the way.

The committee is spending today at Bagley, attending the Clearwater county fair; tomorrow they will attend the Aitkin county fair at Aitkin and the Hubbard county fair at Park Rapids, and Wednesday they will attend the Aitkin county fair at Aitkin, going to Barnum on Thursday for the Carlton county fair and later to Pine City for the Pine county fair. Friday they will go to Rush City for the Chisago county fair and the next day will attend the Mille Lacs county fair at Princeton, then coming home. Another trip will be taken during the next week.

On Friday of this week another party of boosters will go to Two Harbors to attend the Lake county fair.

POUNDMASTER "GETS SOMEBODY'S GOAT"

David Kall, poundmaster in the Second district, has "got somebody's goat."

And because nobody wants it, the city is preparing to sell the animal at a public auction.

The other day Poundmaster Kall found the goat gamboling about in Lakeside, and he immediately took the animal in charge. An investigation disclosed the fact that the purchaser of the goat had returned it to the original owner and that the latter, in turn, had sent it back. As a result the animal was turned out, no one claiming ownership.

SIX OFFICES BURGLARIZED

Dentists in New Jersey Building Lose Gold and Platinum.

Police Believe Thieves Are Members of Well Organized Gang.

Six dental offices in the New Jersey building were burglarized between 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. yesterday afternoon, and nearly $200 worth of gold and platinum, used in crown and bridge work, was stolen.

In each case the door was "jimmied" with a screw driver, and police, after an investigation today, stated that the work evidently was that of professionals who specialize in dental gold. They believe the gang which secured between $300 and $400 worth of material from Fargo, N. D., dentists several days ago, is responsible.

The offices entered, and the amount stolen, are as follows:

Dr. J. D. Park, suite No. 301; gold plate valued at $85 and gold scraps used in filling work.

Dr. G. S. Douglas; platinum and gold scraps valued at $5.

Dr. M. E. Heim, suite No. 320; gold scraps valued at $5.

Dr. W. H. Olson, suite No. 220; three gold bridges and scraps valued at about $25.

Dr. A. A. Deans, suite No. 400; gold plates and scraps, valued at about $20.

Dr. C. W. Benson; gold bridge valued at $30.

No watchman is kept on duty in the New Jersey building Sunday afternoons, according to police, and they believe that the gang took their time to do the work, probably being busy for an hour in the middle of the afternoon.

Belief that there were several burglars is based on the fact that the offices robbed are not all located on one floor, but are on the second, third and fourth floors. The elevator was not running.

"Several similar cases, where half a dozen dentists' offices have been burglarized at the same time, have been reported from towns in the Northwest recently," said Chief McKercher, "and we have reason to believe that the same gang operated here."

No one saw the burglars and police have little data upon which to work.

Detroit Electric
$1975 to $2275

The car for all the family all the year

The enclosed car is steadily and surely becoming the preferred type of motor car. Its obvious advantages are winning more buyers each year.

And the modern Detroit Electric is easily the first choice in the enclosed car field. Each member of the family can drive it safely and expertly because of its simplicity and the positiveness of the control system. On hot days—with windows down—you enjoy open car coolness. On cold, stormy days—with windows raised—you have closed car comfort. And the Detroit Electric is perfectly silent in operation—it is always clean and there are no fumes or odor of gasoline about it. It has plenty of power and all the speed you need. And because its mechanism is so simple and of such high quality it is always dependable and available. There are some points about the Detroit Electric you will only fully appreciate after a demonstration—when will you have yours?

Society • Women's Clubs • Music • Drama

ONE OF the disappointments connected with the program for the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, which will hold its convention here next week, is the inability of Miss Annie Shelland of International Falls to be in attendance. Miss Shelland was to have spoken of "Waterways and Waterpower" at the "Highways and Waterways" conference next Tuesday.

She is superintendent of the schools of Koochiching county and is thoroughly conversant with the conditions of roads in that county as she visits the schools under her direction regardless of weather, often walking in the spring and going on snowshoes or skis in the winter. At the meeting of the federated clubs of the Eighth district last spring Miss Shelland made a strong appeal to the women to work for good roads, the lack of which often means that persons die before a doctor can reach them or before they can be taken to a doctor.

Drama League Reception.

Mrs. Jeanne Lanctot Brackinreed of Medford, Or., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. L. Agatin of East Fifth street, will speak at the Drama league reception which will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. A. Patrick, 2306 East Superior street. Mrs. Brackinreed is president of the Medford center of the Drama League of America, and will speak of its activities since its organization two years ago.

A junior league will be formed Wednesday and all children who wish to join are invited to attend the reception at Mrs. Patrick's home. Miss Wilhelmina Fitger is chairman of this department, which will study plays and put them on at the Little theater. It is planned to give the first play at Christmas time.

Members of the drama league and those who wish to join are invited to attend the reception when they will be given the opportunity to get their tickets for the year.

Receiving with Mrs. Patrick from 3 to 5 o'clock will be Mrs. S. R. Holden, the president; Mrs. John Sinclair, Mrs. Whitney Wall, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. C. E. Lonegren, Mrs. W. D. Merrill, Mrs. M. B. Cullum, Mrs. M. R. Baldwin and Mrs. James Rockwell. If the weather permits the tea will be served on the terraces.

Miss Wall Is Member of House Party

Miss Eleanor Little of Minneapolis, who was hostess for a week-end house party at Lake Minnetonka, at which Miss Martha Wall of Duluth was among the guests, entertained Saturday evening at a dinner of seventeen covers at the Lafayette club.

Mrs. Rood Will Be Matron of Honor

Miss Gertrude Dunlop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gordon Dunlop of Minneapolis, whose wedding to David Richardson Woodcock will take place Saturday, will have as matrons of honor her sisters, Mrs. Lynn Rood of Duluth and Mrs. Arthur J. Walker of Minneapolis. Miss Charlotte Keller of Minneapolis will be the maid of honor and Robert F. Dunlop, brother of the bride, will be the best man. Lynn Rood of Duluth, Walter Crosby of Wilmar and Arthur J. Walker and Lyall Decker of Minneapolis will be the ushers.

The wedding will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening at All Saints' Episcopal church.

Fee-Traphagen Wedding Is Set for Sept. 27

Monday evening, Sept. 27, is the time set for the wedding of Miss Lois Fee and Arthur D. Traphagen, which will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fee, 2606 East Third street.

Miss Fee will be one of the matrons of honor at the wedding of Miss Cornelia Mary Hallam, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Oscar Hallam of Minneapolis, and Stanley Ferguson Miller, which will take place in Minneapolis Wednesday evening, Sept. 29, two days after the Fee-Traphagen wedding. Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Rogers of Minneapolis will be the other matron of honor. Miss Carolyn Ware of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Jeannette Smith of Youngstown, Ohio, will be the bridesmaids and Miss Jeannette Hallam, sister of the bride, will be the flower girl.

Duluth Will Be Represented at Women's Golf Tournament

Mrs. Edward H. Windom, Mrs. James E. Gardner, Jr., Mrs. T. F. Cole, Mrs. A. W. Hartman and Mrs. R. N. Marble will take part in the women's state golf tournament which will be held at the Town and Country club at St. Paul Sept. 21 to 25.

This first golf tournament held by women of Minnesota, will open with a team match, four women from each club in the state playing. The next day the players will qualify and the playing will continue four days. There will be between ninety and one hundred contestants.

State Suffrage Association in St. Paul Oct. 7, 8 and 9

The Minnesota Woman Suffrage association will hold its annual convention in St. Paul, Oct. 7, 8 and 9.

Mrs. Andreas Ueland, the president, said Saturday that the Minnesota suffragists will work this fall for the Federal amendment, but that they will not abandon their organization work in the legislative districts of the state. Mrs. Ueland will speak at the meeting of the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the library clubroom. The meeting will be open to all persons who are interested.

Mrs. David F. Simpson, president of the Minneapolis Equal Suffrage association, and Mrs. James McMahon, who has been the chief organizer in Minnesota, are in New York, helping the suffragists in that state in their campaign.

Mrs. Maude McCreary of Wisconsin, who was expected to speak in Minneapolis, St. Paul and other Minnesota cities this fall has also gone to New York as this is a more crucial time in New York than in Minnesota, where it will be another year before the subject will come up for legislation.

Takes Deep Interest In Relief Work

MRS. WILLARD STRAIGHT.

Mrs. Willard Straight was Dorothy Whitney before her marriage and from the estate of her grandfather Senator Payne, she inherited an enormous fortune. She is much interested in philanthropic work and has been identified with most of the relief works carried on during the war.

Miss Sjoselius Will Sing in Royal Opera at Schwerin

Return Trip From Germany on Holland-American Liner Uneventful—Women Doing Men's Work in Europe.

Miss Alice Sjoselius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Sjoselius of 1016 West First street returned yesterday from Berlin, where she has been studying for grand opera. She will remain until the latter part of December when she will return to Germany to begin her engagement in royal opera at Schwerin, Feb. 1. Her engagement followed her singing before the grand duke, grand duchess and Princess Olga of Cumberland. The grand duke is a brother-in-law of the crown prince of Germany, being a brother of the Crown Princess Cecilia.

Trip Uneventful.

Miss Sjoselius sailed from Rotterdan on Aug. 14 on the Holland-American liner Nieuw Amsterdam. The trip was very uneventful with the exception of the passengers hearing an explosion at Falmouth, England, which they learned later was a mine which was exploded by a mine sweeper. The boat was darkened the night it left Falmouth as a Zeppelin was over the city. Most of the passengers were Americans returning home, but among the foreigners was Dr. Aletta Jacobs, the leading advocate of woman's suffrage in Holland, and vice president of the International Peace congress.

Conditions in Berlin.

Speaking of the conditions in Berlin Miss Sjoselius said:

"All the opera houses are open and productions are fairly well attended. Of course there is great celebrating after victories but at other times things are very much as they were in time of peace. Shakespeare is still popular in Germany and the French masterpieces, such as 'Carmen' and 'Mignon' are given often and are very popular.

"The poor of Berlin are better cared for now than they were in peace times. The women in France and Germany are doing all they can to help. In Germany women are working as street car conductors and as elevated train starters."

Miss Sjoselius sang to the troops in and around Berlin many times and often sang at the American church in Berlin on Sundays, and did concert work in that city.

She made her first trip to Germany five years ago. Since then she has returned home twice and spent six months in Italy studying the language. Last winter she worked on twenty roles, besides songs. All her roles are German but later she will take French and Italian ones.

This last summer she visited Countess Schlieffen in Mecklenburg for six weeks and on her way to Holland on her trip home she sang for the directors of the opera in Frankfort-am-Maine.

With Mme. Schoen-Rene.

Miss Sjoselius has been studying under Mme. Schoen-Rene, who lived in Minneapolis fifteen years, just before she returned to Germany, about six years ago.

During her stay in Duluth she will study on her roles and may do some concert work in the East. Duluthians will have an opportunity of hearing her Sept. 25, when she will take the part of Columbia in the Greek pageant at the curling club and on Oct. 5 when she will take part in the President's day program of the Matinee Musicale.

Duluth Orchestra Will Be Enlarged and Give Series of Fifteen Concerts

Duluth is to have another concert season by its own orchestra beginning about the middle of November and extending over a period of fifteen weeks. The orchestra will approach much closer to the symphony orchestra stage this year, and several symphonies will be played.

The new organization, which will be known as "The Duluth Orchestra," this year will be greatly improved, as several new players have been engaged especially for the season, including an additional oboe, bassoon, French horn, cello and several stringed instrument players. With its instrumentation thus strengthened, the orchestra will be enabled to enlarge upon its repertory and include many famous compositions scored for complete orchestra which it was unable to attempt last year.

Director Fred G. Bradbury, who was responsible for the great success of the venture so auspiciously inaugurated last season, as evidenced by the enthusiasm with which the orchestra was received, has carefully worked out his plans for the coming season, even to the extent of financing them by securing a guaranty fund of $5,000 from Duluth's prominent citizens to defray any deficit which may arise, the fund being provided conditionally upon the subscription of 1,000 season tickets at $5 each. A committee of twenty representing local musical societies and clubs with Miss Carlotta Simonds at the head will have the subscription work in charge.

Budget of $12,000.

The plans as outlined call for an expenditure of approximately $12,000, and it is believed that 2,000 subscriptions can be secured.

The concerts this season will be given at the new armory, and subscribers to the $5 season tickets will be allotted and entitled to seat reservations. Subscriptions will also be received for a $3 season ticket, but this will not entitle the holder to seat reservation, although this privilege may be arranged by exchanging the ticket and paying the difference in price between the $3 and $5 tickets.

Soloists of national reputation are being negotiated with and it is planned to bring several of them to the city during the season.

To insure the venture being a complete success, it is essential that subscriptions be made as early as possible, and it is anticipated that a liberal response will be made to the committee's solicitation, as upon this depends the carrying out of the plans as outlined.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

As to "Near" Diamonds.

The doctrine that I used to embrace in my younger days, that to be meritorious and wearable by a person of taste, the jewel must be of a thrice-refined gold and the gem but of the purest ray serene, is no longer held by me in its bigoted entirety.

That the love of ornamentation is innate, and that its gratification is legitimate and right, from the beads and feathers of the undraped savage to the encrusted tiara of the society queen and all in between—the baroque pearls and French enamels of the stenographer, the rhinestones and garnets of the waitress and actress.

Granting this rather platitudinous assertion, it does not now seem so important whether the pearl come out of the oyster or the factory, the ruby from Siam or the laboratory, if the rainbow coloring of the former or the pigeon-blood radiance of the latter is accurately reproduced. If the skilfully alloyed gold is delicately wrought into artistic designs, it is equally a delight to the eye with its more costly neighbor in the jewel casket.

It is not a crime that the little lady whose husband's income will not allow him the pleasing privilege of handing her $300 sapphire rings or velvet cases of matched pearls on her successive birthdays, should wish to embellish her modest toilette with a few bits of inexpensive ornament when she attends the theater or a social affair. It is all in the manner of selecting and wearing these things and the careful selection of chaste designs.

A restrained use of the genuine or the reproduction is the focus of this matter. There is no intent to deceive in these exquisite bits of designs and execution that keep people in a state of activity and prosperity that is a delight to the eye. Such examples as are meretricious are easily avoided. And another obvious virtue, of course, is their slight attraction for burglars.

I might go even deeper into this subject, and surmise that the cheap, pretty bijou may have its philanthropic mission in that it acts as a check to the temptation to barter the jewel of great price for the gaudy gifts of masculine adorers that proved the undoing of many a poor girl.

CANAL THROUGH CAMERA

Lyceum Patrons Given Rare Treat in Lyman Howe Pictures.

"Visual riding" through the Panama canal, from end to end of it, through the two magnificent California expositions, that at San Diego, then that greater spectacle, the Panama-Pacific exposition, San Francisco; Norway, Sweden, Zeeland—all for what it takes to buy a ticket to Proctor! Thus Lyman H. Howe attacks, successfully, entertainingly, instructively, comprehensively, the old enemy, the High Cost of Living. Well-filled houses greeted the Howe pictures afternoon and night at the two first presentations Sunday at the Lyceum.

The Panama canal, admittedly the world's greatest engineering feat, and a monument to American ingenuity—not to mention American dollars—does not in the smallest detail escape the prying eye of the Howe camera, with the result that Duluthians peer into every canal lock, up the sides of dangerous Culebra cut, into, under and around the "pony" engines that pull the mammoth freighters and their swift sisters, the passenger steamers, from lock end to lock end; and then, just to show the whole canal in motion, and to show it quickly, the moving picture machine is speeded up and the canal, starting at the Atlantic end, slides swiftly before the spectator to the Pacific end—all in five minutes, cutting off exactly 11 hours, 55 minutes of the time it takes to cross the isthmus.

Those stay-at-homes who want to see the two California expositions have found a way. The Howe pictures are complete in this respect. Going from the main entrance at the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds, San Francisco, the camera eye starts to look around; in the distance rises before the spectators' eyes the dim outlines of a magnificent statue, and immediately one wishes to see it. So does the camera, and with infinite care the camera scrutinizes every detail of the monument, takes a few last looks, and passes on, just as human beings do. When it looks up the sides of tall palaces, into pools, fountains, examines every nook and cranny where something worth while might be seen, and ends by leaving the fair grounds just as people would leave. So that when the camera has seen it all, the Lyceum spectator has seen the fair from end to end.

In these days of submarine activity in European war zones, much interest attaches to the possibilities of United States submarines—what they look like, and are they any good? And what does a submarine look like when it is diving, or when it is running at full speed? Just all this the camera man wanted to know, and he pointed the eye of his machine about everywhere that Uncle Sam would allow him to quiz.

"Our Baby," which, collectively and individually, millions of people have wished "was ours," is shown again—by request. This young gentleman, aided with such "properties" as a mud-puddle, a man's pipe, a full quart of jam, a bunch of American beauty roses—which he eats—pranks himself into the hearts of all, wifeless and fireside less old batchelors as well.

Then there are the "comic" moving cartoons—emily Howe's pictures seem to have them clear and with natural motion. There are not so many of these this year as there have been in the past, which is regrettable, because they are well liked and looked forward to by patrons of the pictures.

Several other good feature films round out an excellent entertainment, which, with the piano music, always very good, adds an enjoyable hour or so to anybody's life.

Theater Gossip.

A well-balanced and popular bill, full of ginger and variety, is the new bill at the New Grand.

NEW PROGRAM AT GRAND.

Heading the bill are Norris' Baboons in a comedy pantomime. These two baboons, Emperor and Empress, perform in a wonderful manner, accomplishing their difficult pantomimic characterizations with almost human intelligence.

"An Old Dutch Musicale" is the offering of the Three Van Staats, and it is so full of good fun that one need never think what it is about. Joe Daniels, comedian, adds much to the enjoyment with his funny sayings and his funnier songs and eccentricities. He is a droll comedian of much wit, as well as being original and possessed of a winning personality.

Comedy singing, talking and dancing are indulged in by Fern and Zell, much to the delight of their auditors. Both are clever in their particular lines.

The photoplay feature, "The City Tigress," tells a story of life in a great city and the temptations and sorrows as well as the good things of everyday life. The picture is in three reels and the cast is a selected one, with Julia Swayne Gordon in the leading role. An Essanay comedy, "A Quiet Little Game" and a drama of Western life, "The Heart of the Sheriff," complete the program. On Tuesday and Wednesday the sixteenth chapter of "The Diamond From the Sky" will be added to the program.

"The plunderer," which will be at the Rex today and tomorrow," affords

WILLIAM FARNUM AT THE REX.

William Farnum a real "Farnum part" — big Bill Matthews of the Croix D'Or mine, a doughty, splendid, steel-knit fellow. Bill and his partner are harassed by a secret enemy, who imprisons them in a mine shaft, causes a strike of the workmen and blows up the reservoir upon which the power of the mine depends. These are only a few of the thrills that keep one breathless.

A pulse-stirring battle with bare fists in which Big Bill bests a score of drink-crazed miners in a fight that for sheer thrills and heart-catching excitement has never been excelled on stage or screen is one of the big features of this picture.

Then, too, there is a splendid double love story which leaves a happy glow in the spectator's mind. "The Plunderer" deals with clean, manly men, affecting sentiment, the lust for yellow gold and swift, dynamic drama.

Famous stars are to be made a feature of the new "Mutual Eight Million Dollar" program. Fania Marinoff, beautiful leading woman, opens the first release of the new program at the Lyric Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Marinoff brings to her screen work all the wit and sparkling talent, as well as capacity for intense dramatic roles, which made her ardently admired on the speaking stage. She is a Russian by birth, and she is gifted with the rich, versatile temperament of her country women.

"The Unsuspected Isles," in which Miss Marinoff appears, is a delightfully charming romance of the South Sea islands, and scenes were actually made by the Gumont people on a special trip to the South Sea islands in order to give the production the correct atmosphere. An all-star cast assists Miss Marinoff, including Flavia Acero, who played in the "Cup of Chance," and who also supported Lenore Ulrich in "Capital Punishment." By an odd coincidence Miss Arcaro is playing opposite William Farnum in "The Plunderer," which opened a three-day engagement at Rex Beautiful today.

Violet Radcliff, who nearly always plays boy parts in the juvenile comedies; Carman de Rue of the big ribbon bows, and the wee 3-year-old star, all play important parts in a clever story entitled "The Little Cupids," playing today at the Lyric.

Despite the fact that the Orpheum-Strand here will be conducted on the same plan as the Strand theaters in Chicago and New York, the local price scale will be much more moderate than the metropolitan charges. In the Chicago Strand, formerly the Orchestra hall, prices range from $1 downwards. Best seats in the New York Strand command $2. The prices in the Duluth Orpheum-Strand will range from 10 cents for all seats at all matinees, including Sundays and holidays, the same price for the entire balcony for all night performances to 25 cents for the entire main floor at all night exhibitions.

POPULAR PRICES AT STRAND-ORPHEUM.

After the opening day there will be matinees every day, beginning at 2 o'clock and continuing until 5 o'clock. In the evening, performances will be given from 7 o'clock until 10 o'clock.

What should prove about the best photoplay seen at the Zelda for some time is "Scandal," which will be seen today and Tuesday.

"SCANDAL" AT THE ZELDA.

"Scandal" is in five reels, with Lois Weber in the leading role. Phillips Smalley will play opposite her.

Not only is the acting an assured treat, but the story of the play hits right home. In almost every city there are men and women gossips. "Scandal" delivers a hard blow at such people. The figure picturized as "Scandal" is said to be a grotesque being, covered with long, stringy strands, standing in a pool of mud. As a woman stops to talk to a man, she throws mud over her.

SLIGHTLY MISUNDERSTOOD.

National Monthly: It was at a fashionable southern resort and the pretty New England maiden had been rangoing strenuously with a vigorous young man from the West.

"Really," she protested, "I must stop. I'd love to keep on but I'm danced out."

"Why, how can you say that?" he cried in astonishment as he escorted her to a seat. "I don't think you are darned stout at all. You're just plump enough."

SENSIBLE, BUT HOPELESS JUST NOW.

"How would it do for the next legislature," asks the Anoka Union, "to license the sale of lager beer with a low percentage of alcohol? Beer is a necessity in many families. The license fee might be a hundred dollars a year."

Pease, how COULD you?

You ought to know it is unthinkable—it's much too common sense a notion to get anywhere in a legislature these days.

Suppose somebody came into the next session of the legislature with a proposal to provide for a low license for the sale of beer and light wine, with a very high license—or no license at all, but prohibition—on the sale of strong liquors.

He could argue that it is whisky, not beer and wine, that is chiefly responsible for the havoc of intemperance. He could argue that it was a mistake to classify beer and whisky together and to blanket both with a sweeping condemnation. He could argue that by the sale of malt liquors with proper regulation to insure pure and honest products, little or no harm could be done while much good would result from curtailing the use of stronger liquors.

He could argue that this might settle the whole agitated question of sumptuary legislation by abolishing the dramshop while letting those to whom "beer is a necessity" have their beer if they want it—permitting those who don't want it to leave it alone.

But would he get a hearing?

He would not. He'd be lucky if he wasn't mobbed by those who will listen to no tampering with the saloon at all, and those who will listen to no plan but to shut up every drinking place and to make men suddenly sober by enacting a law.

Governor Hammond seems to think there aren't many of us who could be as influential with a raccoon as Davy Crockett was.

STATE REFORM IN NEW YORK AND MINNESOTA.

Minnesota has been discussing a reorganization of its system of government with a view to putting it on more business-like basis. It even got so far as the informal appointment of a commission which presented a plan. This plan the last legislature pawed over cautiously and suspiciously, and then galloped away from. Nothing has been done.

New York has been discussing the same subject—and New York has got as far as a constitutional convention which has compromised on a better form of state government, and this better form the people will soon vote upon.

Minnesota can get at least one lesson from the New York proceedings. In the constitutional convention all the big men were in favor of a simpler, more efficient, more business-like state organization. All the little, self-serving politicians were against it.

The same thing will inevitably be observed in Minnesota—was, indeed, to be observed in Minnesota during the last session of the legislature. The difference is that the little men have thus far prevailed in Minnesota, and the big men in New York.

The viewpoint of the opponents of reform in the New York convention is admirably illustrated by the dispute over the short ballot provision. The politicians fought this reform in every aspect, but they were not strong enough to beat it altogether. They were strong enough, though, to force compromises; and one of these compromises illustrates the caliber and purpose of the opposition admirably.

The short ballot advocates wanted only the governor, the lieutenant governor and the legislature elective, and the rest appointive. The opposition demanded that the attorney general and the comptroller—our auditor—be made elective. It would never do, they said, to let the governor, who is to appoint the official cabinet, also appoint the man who is to audit their accounts. But when it was proposed to have an appointive auditor, who is really to audit the accounts, and an elective comptroller with plenty of patronage, they declared it completely satisfactory.

Attempts have been made to show that what the New York convention adopted Minnesota rejected last winter. That isn't so. It is true that one of the provisions adopted by the New York convention does away with 152 boards, commissions, bureaus and offices and concentrates their functions into seventeen executive departments; while the plan proposed to the last legislature did away with about as many independent departments and consolidated their functions into five departments. So far, there is a similarity, with the advantage in favor of the Minnesota plan.

But the short ballot, which is fundamental, is the essential feature of the New York proposal, and that was hardly even discussed during the last session of the Minnesota legislature. Indeed, it has hardly been discussed in the state, except academically and by a few.

Moreover, New York proposes constitutional action, and so far Minnesota has considered only legislative action.

Minnesota now has a new commission, provided for by the legislature, to study this question anew. Little can be expected from it; in the first place because the creation of the commission was simply a scant apology by the legislature for its slovenly disregard of duty, and in the second place because the enemies of any thorough-going reform whatever are numerous and active on the commission.

It is a question whether Minnesota ought not to abandon its present attempt to get relief through the legislature, and go in for a constitutional convention that will reorganize from the bottom up. Minnesota needs a constitutional convention anyway, and it is altogether likely that a real reorganization of the state government that will get anywhere can be had quicker from a constitutional convention than from the legislature.

Now will you believe that it hasn't forgotten how to rain?

OUR NEIGHBORS' COUNTY FAIRS.

Duluth is keenly interested in all the county fairs hereabouts, and its commercial club has sent a committee of boosters out to visit as many of them as possible.

As accurate reflections of the growth and development of the agricultural interest in Northern Minnesota, all these fairs are of the highest importance, and Duluth is glad to co-operate so far as she can in making them more and more successful every year.

But there are two of these fairs that, next to our own St. Louis county fair, are closest to Duluth's hearts because they are held by neighbors who are living so near that it is very much the same as though they lived right in Duluth.

These are the Lake county fair at Two Harbors, and the Carlton county fair at Barnum. Both of these fairs are on this week, taking place Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in each case. Thursday is Duluth day at Barnum, and Friday is Duluth day at Two Harbors.

Everybody who can possibly arrange it should attend both of these fairs. They will find it well worth while, for both are in the highest degree creditable, both register progress gained only by indomitable and persistent conflict with difficulties now being happily surmounted, and both, despite these handicaps, have reached a stage where any county in the United States might be proud of them.

Duluth is proud of them both, and it ought to show it by turning out in large numbers to attend them. Both can be reached either by train or automobile, and either way it is a mighty pleasant excursion that ought to be taken and that will pay those who take it.

As yet there has been no protest against the cutting off of the supply of "Made in Germany" cigar bands.

A COINCIDENCE.

The other day President Wilson made public letters he had sent to the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy asking them to get the best expert opinion available and each submit a program to meet the needs of national defense.

The date of those letters was July 21, 1915.

It was on July 21, 1915, that the president signed the last note to Germany in which he declared that a repetition of the Lusitania offense would be regarded as "a deliberately unfriendly act."

Let no man think he has mastered the war phraseology until he can talk in terms of meters and kilometers without having to stop and translate it into feet and inches.

THE LAMEST DEFENSE.

The Atlanta Constitution prints a cartoon showing Georgia, represented by a comely, amiable and apparently harmless young woman, pointing to clippings from Northern newspapers reporting murders, riots and other lawlessness.

Miss Georgia, with a shocked and injured face, is saying: "And they were setting moral standards for me!"

That comes to representing Georgia, in defense of the Frank outrage, as saying: "You're another."

Well, Georgia, what if they are? Does that improve your case any? Of course it doesn't help them to ignore the soiled spots on their own skirts while pointing to you; but does it help you to ignore your very dreadful smirch and point to theirs?

And isn't "you're another" a fearfully weak defense—the very weakest possible?

Humor in the Trenches.

London Chronicle: An amusing story of an experience of the Canadian contingent when they first arrived at the front was related by a Canadian staff officer now at Shorncliffe. The story has been told before how the Germans revealed their knowledge of the supposed secret arrival of the Canadians by calling out, "Hello, Canadians!" across the zone of fire as the dominion troops took their places in the trenches.

"The amusing part of the incident occurred two days later," said the officer, "when our Mounted Rifles came to the firing lines. The Germans were perfectly aware of what was happening, for they at once began shouting out Hallo, Canadian Rifles! Where are your horses?' Shortly afterwards they hung a toy horse over the top of their trenches with the inscription, in big lettering, 'Here are your horses. Come and fetch them.' Our men naturally began to fire at the thing, whereupon the Germans promptly took it down, only to replace it a few minutes later with bandages round its neck and one of its legs, where it had been 'wounded.'

"But our fellows had the last laugh, after all, for they got a lot of socks, filled them out with sand to the required shape and then hung them over the trenches with the inscription, 'Here are your sausages. Come and fetch them,' a retort which seemed to rile the Germans immensely."

A Poor Country for Plotting

Editorial in the Chicago Herald.

The professors of plain and fancy plotting—who apparently have been with us in force during the last year—seem to be having a hard season of it. They don't seem to make anything go. After spending a lot of time and work on a perfectly lovely plot of some sort something happens and the whole thing goes to smash.

Sometimes it's a letter, sometimes it's some other sort of document, sometimes it's an indiscreet utterance, and sometimes it's the thing on its face that causes all the trouble. But the trouble always seems to come, and a lot of labor is lost in consequence. The plain and fancy plotters in our midst could hardly be blamed if they became discouraged and quit.

All this isn't to be taken as meaning any reflection on the work of the professors of plain and fancy plotting. So far as this newspaper knows, their professional reputation as plotters is good. No doubt a lot of amateurs have tried to break into the field and have done some very crude things; but that shouldn't be taken as reflecting on the real professors, who have no doubt learned in the best plotting schools in the world.

The trouble seems to be largely with this country, its climate and population. The plotting industry is as yet in its infancy here. The population not only isn't used to it, but, taken as a whole, has a certain suspicion of its value. We might almost say that the vast majority of the people are absolutely opposed to its introduction in this country.

Under such circumstances it isn't to be wondered that plots which would work out very nicely in a more favorable atmosphere are untimely blighted. The number of those which have met this sad fate is really painful. Munition-manufacturing, munition-stopping, wireless, political, racial, financial, diplomatic, peace and other elaborate plans all have hit a snag and gone down.

It may be humiliating to some Americans to make the admission, but we simply must face the fact that this is a poor country for plotting. It is all right as a home for poor and oppressed of other nations; it is first-class as a producer of crops and manufactured articles; it can't be equaled as an exponent of real political liberty and upholder of the dignity of citizenship.

But as a field for the operation of even the most expert plotters it is hardly worth considering. The sooner the professors of plain and fancy plotting learn that they will have their trouble for their pains, the sooner will they move to some more congenial atmosphere where this admittedly great European industry is held in high regard.

The Ingenious German

Boston Herald: The war in Europe has shattered a British theory about the German. He was said to be no inventor, but only an appropriator of the inventions of others. It was admitted that he often improved upon them. What was denied him was originality. For instance, it was asserted that the English and the French were first in the field with aniline dyes, and that the plodding German afterward gained a monopoly of these merely through improvement of processes. Another bit of evidence was his alleged imitation of American and British submarines. In these particulars there may be a measure of truth, but the theory as a generalization must go.

The Zeppelin airship may be cited as a refutation, though the Taube aeroplane is not. And the Zeppelin is not an exception that proves a rule. None can deny that the German has shown originality as well as skill in his employment of asphyxiating gas against the enemy. In this connection we are not at present considering the question of morality or humanity. It may be doubtful who it was who originated the idea of aiming a field or siege gun from a sunken and concealed position by means of a periscope. And the stream of flaming liquid used at close quarters in trench fighting may be called an adaption of something old.

But the rain of fierce chemicals melting the wire entanglements on the enemy's front and thus dispensing with waste of time and loss of life in cutting is entirely novel. Another new device is the escalator which feeds the seventeen-inch howitzer, carrying the shells through an underground passage from the depot in the rear, so that once the range is found the gun is loaded and fired automatically. Then there is the telescopic rifle, which in a dispatch from the British headquarters in France is described as a weapon "with a special sight attached by which the object aimed at is magnified several diameters and is brought so closely to the eye that at short range it is almost impossible to miss." Though these may not count among the highest achievements, the ingenious German is in some things teaching those who belittled him.

The Two Mysteries.

We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep and still;
The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so pale and chill;
The lids that will not lift again, though we may call and call;
The strange, white solitude of peace that settles over all.

We know not what it means, dear, this desolate heart pain;
This dread to take our daily way, and walk in it again;
We know not to what other sphere the loved who leave us go,
Nor why we're left to wonder still, nor why we do not know.

But this we know: our loved and dead, if they should come this day—
Should come and ask us "What is life?" not one of us could say.
Life is a mystery as deep as ever death can be;
Yet, oh, how dear it is to us, this life we live and see!

Then might they say—these vanished ones—and blessed is the thought:
"So death is sweet to us, beloved; though we may show you naught;
We may not to the quick reveal the mystery of death,
Ye cannot tell us, if ye would, the mystery of breath."

The child who enters life comes not with knowledge or intent,
So all who enter death must go as little children sent.
Nothing is known. But nearing God, what has the soul to dread?
And as life is to the living, so death is to the dead.

—Mary Mapes Dodge.

She Guessed Wrong.

Kansas City Star: There is an old woman living in a small town in Southern Pennsylvania who makes great efforts to keep abreast of the times. Her opportunities, however, are circumscribed, and she is sometimes compelled to resort to her imagination. She went to a church sociable lately, and as she entered the room one of the attendants said:

"Good evening, auntie. I am glad you came. We are going to have tableaux this evening."

"Yes, I know," replied the old lady. "I smelt 'em when I first came in."

A Substitute for Poker Chips.

Zim in Cartoons Magazine: The use of small, round oyster crackers is advisable as a substitute for poker chips, as they are easily devoured and the crime hidden, should the police raid the place. Cards alone are no indication that poker dominates therein. It requires chips to furnish that evidence. If a banker is onto his job, he will spread lightly a coating of tempting cheese upon the crackers as he issues them. This practice will, in a great measure, relieve him of the responsibility of cashing many at the conclusion of the game!

Semipreparedness

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

"Preparedness" is an innocent seeming word and the advocates of large armaments are shrewd in adopting it for a slogan. Yet unless its definition is carefully looked after it may contain elements of mischief. A little clear thinking on this point will save much future trouble. "Preparedness" is like those algebraic expressions to which any value one likes may be assigned; it is a will-o'-the-wisp which no military nation has ever yet realized. Germany might seem extravagantly prepared, yet one should read the pessimistic criticisms of Prussian militarists in recent years! If that kind of competition is entered upon the only meaning preparedness can bear is the last ounce of burden under which the people can stagger. The explosion is pretty sure to come before that point is reached.

If the whole world is not henceforth to be an armed camp as Europe has been since Prussia climbed into the saddle, a new definition must be given to preparedness, or a new word must be found. For a great pacific nation like the United States, with no dreams of conquest and no need of power save for defense preparedness in the sense which it has come to bear since 1870 can be no fit ideal. What we need is an intelligent semi-preparedness, a preparedness, so to speak, to prepare. America may perhaps learn more from the failures and experiments of England than from the smooth operations of the impeccable German war machine.

During the Franco-Prussian war Gen. Hazen of the United States army, who was at Moltke's headquarters, met that notable English engineer, J. Scott Russell, builder of the Great Eastern, and a man of exceptional creative power. That war, like the present one, made history preparedness a burning question, and Gen. Hazen notes of his talk with Russell:

> He expressed the opinion that in the future the military strength of nations must be found, not in standing armies, but in the ability always to keep prepared material of war, ready to put into the hands of men at the approach of hostilities. I replied that it might be found rather in the ability to produce material of war at the approach of hostilities, as we are liable at any time to find our work of today superseded and made comparatively valueless by the inventions of tomorrow.

If the far-sighted designer of the Great Eastern could have foreseen the course of the present war he might have bettered Hazen's amendment by putting stress on the ability to produce war materials after the outbreak of hostilities; to start up the gun factories whenever diplomats quarreled would not be an ideal way to secure peace.

England's problem is enough like our own to make it profitable to consider what the situation would have been if Scott Russell's theory of semipreparedness, with Hazen's modification, had been put into effect. The navy would as now be the first line of defense, and would make invasion difficult and dangerous. The professional army also would be maintained, and from army and navy absolute preparedness would be exacted. For the rest, if these ideas had prevailed there would have been only preparation to prepare. The inventors and scientists would be called to the service of their country in peace as well as in war; new devices would be tested, and plans kept up to date for manufacturing the most improved arms and equipment. A reserve of a million or so rifles would be kept on hand for volunteers, and complete plans would be ready at all times—planning costs little except in gray matter—for the mobilization of manufacture, with accelerating expansion up to the utmost limit of the nation's capacity.

What an enormous difference such semi-preparedness would have made in Britain's position is obvious. It would have been possible to arm and equip forces as fast as they could be put into the field. The manufacture of shell instead of lagging three months behind expectation would have been accelerated by at least three months, and the point just being reached as September approaches would have been attained last March. Great waste of life in futile half blows would have been avoided and a great unmilitary nation would have developed methodically and efficiently its potential strength.

In so far as the United States may find it necessary to shape its defenses to a new era, not preparedness in a prize-ring sense but intelligent partial preparedness must be the end sought. In peace a peaceful nation ought not to be ready for war at a moment's notice; it is in a far stronger position if it is ready to see a war through if war should be forced upon it. If "preparedness" be taken in this sense there can be no objection to it.

The Evil Such Men Do

Chicago Herald: In this country we know how to take the unrestrained, foolish and belligerent discourse we hear from time to time about the European war situation. We are prepared to rate at their true value the excesses of a few men who, under the influence of mistaken, racial or nationalistic zeal, denounce their own government and try to disturb the unity of thought and feeling of the country.

But elsewhere they have not the same experience and knowledge to aid them in judgment. We have a fine illustration of this fact in the reports circulating in Mexico that there actually is a rebellion in this country. It is probable that this rumor—which naturally is calculated to give the ignorant Mexican population a mistaken impression of American weakness—springs from the belligerent procedure of some of our hyphenated citizens.

The German government evidently had the idea that there might be a rebellion in this country, in case the United States should adopt a position opposed to German interests. It has taken some time for that government to learn—if it has yet learned—that such an idea is the wildest of wild dreams—that these verbal outbreaks, which would perhaps indicate a dangerous state in a country less free, have little significance in the United States.

Why should not Mexico make the same mistake, or an even worse mistake, considering the deeper ignorance of the masses of the people and the comparative ignorance of even the principal leaders? Harmless at home, these mouthings and fulminations may do this country—have perhaps already done this country—harm in its international relations. The evil such men do may extend far beyond their small influence or short vision.

Hindenburg and Others.

Kansas City Star: "In personal appearance Hindenburg satisfies the common ideal of what a great general should be," writes a biographer in the Atlantic Monthly. "He is six feet tall, has a commanding figure and carries himself with ease and dignity."

Probably that is the common ideal, but history has not had any one physical type of great general.

Napoleon, himself little—though heavy set toward the last—held big generals in contempt. But Napoleon had a way of holding everyone but himself in contempt.

Charlemagne, Peter the Great, Charles Twelfth, Washington, von Moltke of military geniuses were certainly big men. Alexander is represented as a sizable man. Caesar and Frederick the Great were lean but fairly tall. Oliver Cromwell and Marlborough were good, stout men; but not whales. The duke of Wellington was tall and rawboned.

Aetius, "Last of the Romans," victor over the Huns in the first great Battle of the Marne, was a slight cripple. The Great Conde could hardly see over his horse's saddle. Turenne was not big. Sheridan was little and had especially short legs. Grant was not more than middle size.

The spirit of the great soldier does not seem to care what sort of body it gets into.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments Taken From Minnesota Papers.

There Can't Be Too Much of It.

Anoka Union: The Union's fiftieth birthday yesterday and still in the ring.

It 'All Helps Mightily.

Morris Tribune: The editors of Minnesota are getting acquainted with Minnesota and it is well. Much of the sectionalism in Minnesota can be dispelled if the editors of the state are well informed as to the whole state. For two years the editors have been entertained in Northern Minnesota, and now it is proposed that next year Southern Minnesota entertain. If Southern Minnesota will furnish the entertainment we will all go, and be prepared to be surprised to find that that section of the state has improved in spite of the fact that we left it many years ago.

Welcome a New Brother.

William Larson in the North Branch Review: With a keen realization of the responsibility and difficult task before us in attempting to continue the work of so able a writer and experienced newspaper man as Mr. Brynildsen, we have, as announced in last week's paper, purchased the Review and make our debut with this issue. Though comparatively new at the business, we shall put forth our best efforts, and hope with the co-operation and good will of our patrons to publish a clean, newsy and interesting paper.

A Word From the New Editor.

Deerwood Enterprise: Mr. Wolstad having sold the Enterprise, it seemingly behooves the new editor to say something by way of introduction.

When the opportunity presented itself which placed us in position to preside over the destinies of Deerwood's oldest newspaper, we accepted for several reasons. First of all we found after an absence of several years that the Deerwood of our boyhood is still the best place ever. * * * We have unbounded faith in Deerwood and its future. * * *

We hope to make the Enterprise a real asset to Deerwood, and shall earnestly endeavor to present Deerwood folks with a good newspaper. Yours for Deerwood,

THE NEW EDITOR.

The Retort Effective.

St. Cloud Times: Governor Hammond, at a national meeting of governors in Boston, scored the legislature for failing to pass his "economy and efficiency" bill. No doubt he is sore. The law would have perpetuated the Democrats in office, for it would have enabled the governor to build up an invincible machine.—Cambridge North Star.

In these days of non-partisanship the above is surely hidebound party spirit. Was that Governor Eberhart's idea when he urged the economy and efficiency proposition?

Praise for the Governor.

Sauk Center Herald (Republican): A newspaper should as freely commend a meritorious action of a public official, even if he is of opposite political faith, as it should criticize any dereliction of duty.

Governor Hammond's sparing use of his contingent fund is to be commended. He has spent less of it for the length of time that he has been governor than any executive has for the same period, except Knute Nelson.

For a public official to spend his contingent fund for personal or political purposes is legal graft.

A legal grafter is more contemptible than an illegal one; he has all the tendencies of a criminal but lacks the courage.

There has been a heap of legal graft in this state in times past.

Is Lo a Nature Faker?

Staples World: The Indians are said to be already predicting a cold winter. That is a safe prediction in Minnesota. But the Indians know just about as much about what the weather is going to be as the groundhogs do.

Here Is a Real Conservative.

Janesville Argus: The writer was misinformed last week in stating that Peter Ganser, owner of the Owatonna brewery, was not sick and that he merely pretended to be in order to win the sympathy of the voters at election time. The papers last week stated that the illness was of a much more serious character than was at first reported, resulting in his death. The writer is willing to be fair in the matter and acknowledge mistakes when made and regret is expressed at the incident.

North Dakota Notions

Various Views Expressed by Newspapers of That State.

They Have Earned Credit.

Fargo Courier-News: It has been noticed that Fargo has had very few houseflies this summer and people have remarked thereat. The reason is not generally known. In addition to the agitation of several years through newspapers, schools, etc., the Housewives' league has greatly helped bring about this happy denouement. The one matter of garbage disposal alone which they pushed forward has been a big factor in relieving us of the pest and danger of the housefly. Give the ladies credit.

"Complimentary Season" Is Good.

Bismarck Tribune: State Democrats are rather early with their slates. This is the complimentary season in politics, so the efforts of the followers of Jefferson in North Dakota should not be taken too seriously.

Safety First.

Valley City Times-Record: Hunters and threshermen should be cautious about letting fires get started in the stubble at this time of the year. Much of the growth in the fields will soon be dry as tinder and great damage can result from prairie fires.

Who Said Hard Times?

Langdon Courier-Democrat: It is a satisfaction to note that the Great Northern has every side track along this branch line lined up with freight cars in readiness to move the crop. The railroad company is evidently putting forth energy to avoid anything resembling a blockade during the early rush of moving the crop.

"A Palpable Hit!"

Fargo Courier-News: When the test comes in crossing the man with the iron will, it frequently proves to be pig iron.

Ford Stories Passe.

Fargo Forum: The "little old Ford" story is out-of-date now. The big crop story has come to take its place. It is surprising how these little stories are making the rounds of the press, not only in the Northwest, but they have already been picked up in some of the leading dailies of the nation.

Here are a few samples:

Esmond, N. D.—Walter Miller, while cutting oats in a field on his farm south of this place, found a skeleton of a cow that he missed last July. The poor beast had wandered into the field, got lost in the trackless waste and perished of thirst. The skeleton was standing up as if set in a museum, being propped up by the oat stalks.

Kenmare, N. D.—Hunters in this vicinity are not letting the war prices for ammunition interfere with their fall hunting. Many of them are loading their own shells and using No. 1 hard wheat in place of shot.

New Rockford, N. D.—Oscar Olson, while stacking, became hopelessly insane while attempting to find his way out of the maze of shocks into which he had driven for a load of bundles.

Churchs Ferry, N. D.—Business men are using kernels of wheat for paperweights, "Bumper Crop, 1915," being engraved on each kernel.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintus, the Sunshine Man.

I waited patiently for the Lord; and He inclined unto me, and heard my cry.—Ps. xl, 1.

Tribulation worketh patience; and patience, experience; and experience, hope.—Rom. 1, 3, 4.

Lord, we have wandered forth through doubt and sorrow,
And Thou hast made each step an onward one;
And we will ever trust each unknown morrow,—
Thou wilt sustain us till its work is done.
—S. Johnson

It is possible, when the future is dim, when our depressed faculties can form no bright ideas of the perfection and happiness of a better world,—It is possible still to cling to the conviction of God's merciful purpose towards His creatures, of His parental goodness even in suffering; still to feel that the path of duty, though trodden with a heavy heart, leads to peace; still to be true to conscience; still to do our work, to resist temptation, to be useful, though with diminished energy, to give up our wills when we cannot rejoice under God's mysterious providence. In this patient, though unchecked obedience, we become prepared for light. The soul gathers force.—William E. Channing in Daily Strength.

Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Bryan's Latest.

Chicago Tribune: If William Jennings Bryan ever turned an idea over and looked at two sides of it, we fear that he would pack his well-worn grip, depart from wherever he was to his alfalfa fields, wherever they are; that the chautauqua circuit would know nothing more of him, and that thereafter his most opinionated remark would be in the manner and essence of a statement that it might be going to rain but he didn't know.

We believe this because Mr. Bryan has just suggested that if the United States would obliterate its army and junk its navy and spend upon good roads the money which the army and navy take, it might within a few years have most admirable highways extending from ocean to ocean and from Canada to the gulf in belts twelve miles apart.

Then, says the admirable Bryan, the three or four million men who would instantly respond to their country's call might be hastened by these roads to the points at which they were needed, and within twenty-four hours the enemy would be swimming for Patagonia or whatever misguided part of the world sent them forth.

That these roads would favor the movement of a thoroughly organized, thoroughly equipped enemy force never occurred to Mr. Bryan. In his pacific conception, movement could be only in one direction. Very likely the highways would be removable, like rugs. They would not serve to transport the efficient artillery of the enemy, but merely the bodies of untrained Americans who had no artillery.

If Mr. Bryan's ideas prevail we trust that the United States will build no roads. A proper supplement to his suggestion would be the proposal that we create many friendly swamps.

Going to Bed By Candle-Light.

A dear, dim nursery, a tiny crib,
A great wide feeling of night,
And crickets chirruping far away
Outside where once it was light.
A doting old nurse with a cracked old voice
Who sang to me shrill and low,
Going to bed by candle-light,
Hundreds of years ago.

'Tis true my rocking-horse would not move,
I had watched him long through the door.
I could get no salt on the robin's tail,
And the coachman, my idol, swore.
Yet all these miseries passed away,
Away in a drowsy glow,
Going to bed by candle-light,
Hundreds of years ago.

If grown-up sorrow would die at dusk,
And care go down with the sun,
If hearts surrendered with sleepy heads,
And thought, with the day, were done.
If only, if only I knew once more,
The bliss I used to know,
Going to bed by candle-light,
Hundreds of years ago.

—Eugene Field.

An Ill Wind.

New York American: "Cheer up, old boy," advised the married man. "You know 'tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

"Yes," agreed the rejected suitor, jingling a bunch of keys in his pocket, "better for the florist, the confectioner, the messenger boy, the restaurant waiter, the taxicab man, the theatrical magnate and the jeweler."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

CONDITIONS ON BAY VIEW HEIGHTS

To the Editor of The Herald:

Bay View Heights is a nice, up-to-date place to reside, if a man doesn't care what he says. Here we have impassable roads, sidewalks that you step through, if you weigh more than 100 pounds.

There is no such a thing as police protection up here. Fire protection is unknown. The only improvement I have seen here, in seven years or more, that I have lived here, is once a surveyor came around with his instruments and some tools, with which he dug a hole in the center of our supposed-to-be road. He then drove a peg in that hole and left it above ground about four inches. The state did give us a "beerjoint" last spring, if that is an improvement. The school board is now putting a top on it all by closing our school.

There is so much talk and so much written about war and humanity that I will add to it and state that I would rather be in the European battles than to be a child living on Bay View Heights, compelled to get its education in West Duluth.

Is it humane to send a child 6 to 7 years old, away down to town, when the snow is drifting and 30 to 40 degs. below zero?

The child, if it is kept home in such weather, must surely get behind in its school work. Is it humane to starve a child? It certainly will, when their lunches freeze.

Is it humane to rob a child of its education? That is just what the school board is doing, in closing our school building. A child that comes to school, frostbitten or wet, is not in a condition to receive the full value of school. Then in case of sickness, contracted on the way to or from school, who pays the doctor bills? The parents, of course. Then again, the children on Bay View Heights are not used to dodging street cars, trains and jitneys, like the youngsters from downtown.

Is it not our and everybody's duty to try to make the younger generation better than we are ourselves?

I wish some of the readers would kindly tell me, what we pay taxes for. What right has the city to collect one cent of taxes up here, when we get no returns whatever? Do we have to pay the city for the privilege of living?

F. LARSEN.

Bay View Heights, Duluth, Sept. 12.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

A Coward, Duluth: Kindly answer through the Open Court what is the penalty, if any, for a deserter of the United States army. I enlisted in Chicago in April 1899 and deserted in July of the same year.

Ans.—The maximum punishment varies according to length of service, time away before reporting or being captured and whether the country was at peace or war when the desertion occurred. If you report yourself you will be court martialed and the maximum sentence will be from one year to two and a half years, according to conditions mentioned above. Your actual punishment may be very much less if the judgment of the presiding officer feels your case does not call for severity.

Ben T. Hunt, Kenney: Would you kindly publish through your Open Court the name and address of the United States labor commissioner.

Ans.—The secretary of the department of labor is William B. Wilson, and his address, Washington.

A Reader: Please advise through Open Court the yearly salary of Ty Cobb, the American league baseball wonder.

Ans.—He is said to have a contract for $12,000 a year.

Old Subscriber, Winton: Please tell me through Open Court the nationality of parents of Charles Becker, recently electrocuted in New York for the Rosenthal murder.

Ans—The Herald has not been able to find this information. Perhaps some reader can supply it.

Exploding the Gas Bubble

AMONG the exquisite pleasures of the human animal we should number yawning, stretching, snoring and eructating gas. Everybody loves to take issue with a doctor. You must eat this and that, the doctor orders.

Oh, I can't digest this and that, the patient declares. It creates so much gas and I suffer dreadfully.

No matter what the trouble, or whether there is more or less gas than physiologically should be present, the sufferer from digestive disturbance invariably assumes that the gas is the cause of any pain or distress his ailment may give him, and that "something to raise the gas" is an indispensable adjunct of treatment.

The unhappy fact is that gas never causes pain or distress under any circumstances whatever. Conditions accompanying it, such as colic (muscle spasm) or excessive acidity (secretory or fermentative) or inflammation (gallstones, chronic appendicitis, duodenal ulcer, etc.), often enough distress the patient, but gas itself never.

Things which happen to give relief coincident with the expulsion of gas do so by relaxing colicky spasm of the muscle wall of stomach or bowel or by neutralizing acids which cause burning or pain, or by relieving the inflammatory condition underlying the "indigestion."

Yet patients will refuse this and that sound article of diet, and insist upon dosing themselves with this and that remedy, merely because they are obsessed with the gas bubble.

Worse, they will nibble at soda, magnesium carbonate, and similar alkalies which give off quantities of carbonic acid gas on contact with the normal acid of the stomach. This gas is then belched with great relief—to the mind.

Persons subject to gallstones usually do not know it until an accident like gallstone colic or jaundice occurs, but for years they will drive doctors to distraction by their demands for a diet to prevent and medicine to raise the gas.

If the doctor frankly asserts that it is of no avail to get up the gas he is discharged forthwith.

Hence the gas bubble sails merrily on unpunctured.

George Bernard Shaw said it.
A doctor dare not tell the truth.
He had much rather write.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

An Internist Defined.

Will you kindly inform me, writes a druggist, what an "internist" is? I find Dr. ——— listed in the medical directory as an internist.

Answer—This is the first time we have been stumped in six months. We can't tell you precisely, but in a general way an internist is a high priced family doctor who stays in his office most of the time and maintains a corps of assistants, nurses, laboratory slaves, etc. He is a sort of an all-round specialist on inside complaints, if you know what we mean.

Bromidrosis.

Can you suggest anything for perspiring feet which give forth a bad odor?

Answer—Smear glycerin over the soles of the feet and the toes each morning before putting the stockings on.

SALESMEN WILL STAGE MUSICAL SHOW

U. C. T. Begin Preparations for Annual Event at Lyceum Theater.

Early in February members of the United Commercial Travelers will stage their annual musical show at the Lyceum theater.

Tentative arrangements for the production were made at a meeting of the organization held last Saturday evening. Senator George M. Peterson, Thomas Chalmers and J. D. Sattler were appointed on a committee to organize the company and prepare for the show.

"The show will be bigger and better than ever," said Senator Peterson yesterday. "The lines and plot are now being written by local members of the organization, at the head of whom is George O'Sullivan. Charles Helmer will direct the show."

Following the business meeting Saturday, eight candidates were initiated and a smoker was held.

LODGE INITIATES FIFTY CANDIDATES

State Deputy Burns Assists Local K. C. Men at Ceremonies.

Fifty candidates were initiated into the Order of the Knights of Columbus yesterday with special ritualistic work conducted by a degree team from St. Paul.

John Burns, state deputy of the order, headed the degree team of eighteen members, who came to Duluth for the purpose of assisting in the initiatory exercises. The first degree was exemplified at 9:30 o'clock in the morning at the K. of C. hall and the second and third degrees in the afternoon and evening.

A dinner was given at the Spalding hotel at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in honor of the candidates and members of the degree team and at the close of the evening exercises a smoker was held in the lodge hall. About 600 members of the order were present for the ceremonies during the day.

NO MORE GAMES IN SALOONS HERE

Slot Machines and Other Devices Must Go, Says Police Chief.

Saloon keepers were warned by police Saturday, after officers had received instructions from Chief R. D. McKercher to look for gambling devices near bars.

Ordinance No. 355 forbids gaming devices of any kind in places where liquor is sold. Bartenders and saloon keepers took the hint readily and in many places slot machines were turned to the wall.

No attempt was made to confiscate any of the devices, but the warning implied that further infractions of the ordinance might result more seriously.

"If saloon men want to jeopardize their licenses by ignoring this section of the ordinance," said the chief, "why they have that privilege. Section 11, covering cases of this kind, says: 'It shall be unlawful for any person who may be licensed to sell intoxicating liquors in said city to have, use, permit or allow in his saloon or place of business described in his license, any billiard table, bagatelle table, card table, pool table, ten pin alley, gaming tables, or any game or gaming devices whatever, whether same be played or used for amusement or exercise or for anything of value; or to allow any gaming at cards, throwing dice, pool, billiards or bagatelle, or any other game of any kind or nature whatsoever to be played in such room; or to have, permit or allow to be played in his said saloon or place of business any music, musical instrument or musical machines of any kind whatsoever.'"

POWER TALKS AT MILL CITY

Hibbing Mayor Says Mining Companies "Gave Him His Chance."

Hundred Men From "Richest Village" Parade Minneapolis Streets.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 13.—Victor Power, mayor of Hibbing, "the richest village in the world," Saturday night told a large audience in the G. A. R. Memorial hall in the courthouse his story of the village's fight with the mining companies.

It was one of the most unusual meetings in the history of Minneapolis, for with the mayor of the village of 15,000, where the mining companies have refused to pay a tax levy of $750,000, were all the members of the village council, the chief of police, the fire chief, the village recorder and about 100 citizens of the village—some of them not on the village payroll. And after the mayor, talking in the biggest city in the state, to an audience which more than filled the hall, had ended his story—a remarkably frank narrative in which he declared that the steel companies had thrice given him the opportunity to "liquidate"—the Hibbing municipal band, one of the village institutions mentioned in the companies' indictment of the village for extravagance, played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Scores State Auditor.

In his speech the mayor of Hibbing, a short, florid man who continually smiles and who doesn't look the fighter, attacked State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, declaring that the state auditor had it in his power, under the state law, to seize the mining companies' property when the taxes became delinquent. He also asserted that the state's leases with the mining companies provided that the leases can be canceled on twenty days' notice if the companies refuse to pay their taxes. He said he had called this fact to Mr. Preus' attention, but had received no answer.

The audience, at the suggestion of Thomas Van Lear, former mayoralty and congressional candidate on the Socialist ticket, went on record as "demanding" that Mr. Preus at once proceed to cancel the state's leases.

Speeches Follow Parade.

It was after a parade of several hundred men in the downtown streets participated in by the Hibbing band, several unions allied with the Trades and Labor assembly, and the Hibbing contingent, that Mr. Power told his story. In the parade and in the hall were placards carrying such sentiments as "Hibbing, the only town in the world that does not collect its taxes." "Who shall rule, the public or the Steel trust?" "In Hibbing, the Steel corporations own the mines, but not the council." "Hibbing has a best fighter, the mayor, Victor L. Power."

When Nels Nelson, president of the Trades and Labor assembly, introduced Mr. Power, the Hibbing band led the applause and somebody shouted, "Our next governor." Judging by the ovation the crowd was with Mr. Power.

INDOOR LEAGUE WILL BEGIN PLAY

Trinity Lodge Baseball Fans Would Organize Two Teams.

Plans for holding practice games before the opening of the league season were made Saturday evening at the meeting of the indoor baseball team of Trinity lodge, No. 282, A. F. & A. M., the team winner of the pennant in the Masonic Indoor Baseball league last winter.

James Maghan, who managed the team last year, was again elected to handle its affairs this year. Henry Anderson was also re-elected captain of the team. Helmer Grenner was elected secretary and treasurer.

It is planned to have a first and second team if possible. All members of the lodge who play ball, will be asked to turn out for practice with the view of getting the best material in the lodge on the first team. A hall in this end of the city will be secured for regular practice.

Trinity lodge will hold its first fall meeting next Monday evening. Work in the first degree will take place.

MODERN INTERPRETATIONS OF BIBLE DESTRUCTIVE

The Bible and the Christian Life" was the subject of a sermon by Rev. Milton E. Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, last evening. The pastor spoke of the Scriptures as being of unequaled literary merit and indispensable to the man of maturity as well as valuable to the child.

"The Scriptures are a literature of unequaled merit," said Rev. Mr. Fish. "Its words are richly varied and its words of power stimulate the keenest minds. The Scriptures contain a treasury of recorded facts of political economy, anthropology, sociology and philosophy.

"To the man of maturity the Bible is indispensable to any sort of a Christian life. The volume called Bible contains sixty-six books. In these are no fables, no error. The Bible is an orthodox book. By no honest interpretation does it teach the so-called new theology.

"The strain of modern life is tremendous. As never before we should call men back to the book. Without the word our conception of Christ would fade. The greatest foes to Jesus Christ are the religious teachers who accept the destructive errors of the unregenerate and deny the duty of Christ and the full inspirations of the Bible."

Grocers' Annual Festival.

The Duluth Retail Grocers' association will hold its annual harvest dance Thursday evening at the Lincoln park pavilion. The committee in charge expects to have the place decorated with autumn leaves and fall colors. Final plans for the affair will be made at the meeting of the association to be held Wednesday evening at Foresters' hall.

Guest at Linen Shower.

Mrs. E. Lignell, 2129 West First street, was the guest of honor at a linen shower given by a number of her friends Saturday evening. Games and music featured the entertainment. Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. O. Bergland, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lignell, Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Bloom, Mrs. P. Miller, Mrs. Peterson, Misses Hulda Leven, A. Leven, Myrtle Johnson, Alice Bloom, Edith Gronlund, and Messrs. Andrew Balin, Fred Bathman, Frank Lindman, D. Rothman and Axel Bloom, Jr.

Swedish Temple Notes.

The finance committee of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will meet this evening at the home of Albert Anderson, 327 Vernon street.

Midweek services will be conducted by Rev. Swaney Nelson in the church on Thursday evening.

The young ladies' aid society will meet Friday evening at the home of Miss Hilda Peterson, 2817 Helm street.

Rev. Swaney Nelson will leave Wednesday for Eveleth where he will be one of the speakers at a program to be given by the Young People's Society of the Eveleth Swedish Baptist church. He will return home Thursday.

Sjoberg-Olson Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Erika Sjoberg and Peter Olof Olson took place Saturday evening at 9 o'clock at their future home, 912 North Twenty-second avenue west. Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church read the service. The couple were attended by Miss Laura Maurstad and David Sjoblom. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served for thirty guests.

Exemplify New Ritual.

A class of new members will be initiated Friday evening at the meeting of Duluth camp, No. 234, M. W. A. at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The new ritual will be exemplified under the direction of John L. Lundeen, state manager for the society. The degree staff will put on the work.

Case Is Dismissed.

Charges of second degree grand larceny, preferred against Miss Linne Bakke, 223 Twenty-first avenue west, by C. Carlson & Co., grocers at Twenty-first avenue west and First street, have been dismissed.

Miss Bakke was arrested Aug. 24, after she was said to have purchased $43.17 worth of groceries at the Carlson place and charged them to Peter Antonson.

Police said at the time that Miss Bakke represented herself as the wife of Mr. Antonson, who indignantly denied any connection with the case and refused to pay the grocer's claim when it was presented to him for settlement. He stated that Miss Takke merely roomed at the same address, and that he was not acquainted with her.

When first arrested, Miss Bakke said that she could settle things out of court, but on Sept. 3 she was bound over to await grand jury action. No bail was required, as she was seriously ill at the time.

Bethany Notes.

The official board of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church this evening.

The vesper choir will meet in the church this evening.

The Luther League will hold its monthly business meeting in the church tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Men's club will be held Thursday evening at the home of John Helmquist, 2424 West Second street. Election of officers and reports will feature the session.

Rev. C. A. Eckstrom will conduct midweek services in the church Wednesday evening.

The church choir will hold its weekly rehearsal Friday evening.

A meeting of the newly organized confirmation class will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. The class was organized last Saturday with a membership of thirty-six students. This number is expected to be increased to about fifty before the end of this month.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Farrar, 318 Nineteenth avenue west, returned Saturday from the Twin Cities where they have been visiting the state fair.

Miss Ruth Peterson, 1831 West Superior street, returned yesterday from Minneapolis where she has been visiting relatives.

Miss Emma Meyers, 2802 West Michigan street, left yesterday for the Twin Cities where she will spend a week visiting relatives.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace Methodist church will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Preston, 2509 West Second street. Mrs. William Bickford and Mrs. Frank Davis will assist the hostess. All members are urged to be present.

DRUNKEN MAN AT WHEEL; COMPANION IS KILLED.

Barron, Wis., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—An automobile driven by Andrew Nelson, aged 25, and occupied by himself and Henry Kraus, aged 27, single, in turning a corner a short distance south of Cameron, Saturday, turned turtle, instantly killing Kraus and slightly wounding Nelson. It is said the latter was intoxicated and running recklessly and that after the upset the ground around the scene was strewn with broken beer bottles. Nelson is in jail here, pending an investigation.

CALLS THE KAISER IMPERIAL MURDERER

London, Sept. 13.—The archdeacon of London, preaching in St. Paul's cathedral yesterday, referred to the recent Zeppelin raid on London.

"I need not go farther back than last Wednesday," said the archdeacon, "to tell you that battle has changed into murder. Speaking with all the restraint that is due from every preacher as well as from the press, and with the knowledge and consent of the censor, I tell you that to one hospital alone were taken the dead bodies of little children of 15, 10, 7 and 5 years, and one little baby, so that the nursery became a slaughter house.

"Of the imperial murderer who allowed, if he did not order it, all we can say is, the words of the psalmist, the most awful punishment given to a man—'I will set before thee the things that thou hast done.'"

BABY ENTRIES TIED IN INFANT CONTEST

Williston, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two tied for the girls' sweepstakes honors, and three tied for the boys' sweepstakes honors, at the annual Williams county baby show, held here.

Baby Sandzern of Arnegard, and Mildred Zept of Epping, tied for the girls' championship, at 97½ points each, while Robert McIntosh and Marmon and Edward Phillips, of Williston, tied for the boys sweepstakes at 96 points each. All are under 1 year old.

WOMAN BALLOONIST MAY SURVIVE 600-FOOT FALL.

Lodi, Wis., Sept. 13.—Miss St. Clair, a balloonist, who was injured badly Sunday when her parachute failed to open at the Lodi fair, is still alive. Specialists from Milwaukee performed an operation in an effort to save her life. She fell more than 600 feet, landing in a plowed field and suffered internal injuries. She has been unconscious since the accident.

PRAYERS FOR THE DEAD.

Solemn Services Held in Calvary Cemetery By Catholics.

Duluth Catholics from nine parishes, under the leadership of Bishop James McGolrick, yesterday held solemn services in behalf of the dead at Calvary cemetery. The graves were blessed and prayers said for the dead.

It had been planned to march around the cemetery during the ceremony, but owing to the rain, this part of the program was curtailed, the march being around the central mound only. The sermons to have been preached by Bishop McGolrick and other clergymen were not given.

SHRINERS' FALL CEREMONIAL.

Session Will Be Held at Masonic Temple Next Friday.

Plans for the fall ceremonial will be made by Duluth Shriners at the regular September meeting called for next Friday evening at the Masonic temple.

The ceremonial session will be held Friday, Nov. 5, according to an announcement just sent out by Lyonel Ayres, potentate of Aad temple, and it will be the last of this year.

The meeting Friday is the first since last June and delegates to the imperial council held at Seattle in July will make a report of the proceedings.

CAN BE MADE TO TELL.

Michigan Ruling Relative to Getting Liquor in Dry County.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 13.—When a man is picked up intoxicated in a dry county he can be made to tell where he got his liquor. If he refuses to tell, or professes that he has forgotten he can be placed in contempt of court. So Attorney General Fellows of Michigan decided in a case put up to him by a prosecutor from one of the dry counties. The question of punishment is up to the court.

"DROWNED OUT" WHEAT YIELDS VERY HEAVILY

Mapleton, N. D., Sept. 13.—J. C. Waxler, a prominent farmer of this vicinity, has found that his drowned out wheat, or at least what he thought was drowned out, threshed out more than the undamaged wheat of his neighbors.

It was certainly a bumper crop he threshed, one plot yielding forty bushels to the acre of marquis wheat, the velvet chaff running from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre, while the oats field averaged sixty bushels per acre.

EDITOR-LAWYER OF MINOT IS CALLED

Minot, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of John J. Fahey, for many years a prominent politician and editor of the one-time Ward County Democrat, was held here yesterday.

Mr. Fahey practiced law and was in the newspaper business here for many years, and he was a prominently known state Democratic leader.

Canadian Guards Shoot.

Hannah, N. D., Sept. 13.—Canadian border guards had a skirmish with a party of suspected travelers west of here Friday night. It is believed one of the latter was shot. As a result of threats that Canadian wheat crops would be destroyed, Canada has maintained a heavy guard along the border. The party that ran afoul of the guard attempted to cross the border without giving account of themselves.

Drowns in Water Tub.

Alexander, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Spring of this place was drowned in a tub of water around which he had been playing.

Prefers Boarders to Pension.

Stanley, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. H. Johnson was refused a mothers' pension by Judge Severson because she refused to give up keeping boarders. The court said if she kept boarders the county could not allow the pension. She preferred to keep boarders and lost $20 per month aid.

Pimples and Skin Eruptions Danger Signs of Bad Blood
It May Mean Eczema, Scrofula—The First Sign of Inherited Blood Disease
Pimples, scaly itching skin, rashes, burning sensations and Scrofula denote with unfailing certainty a debilitated, weakened and impure state of the blood. The trouble may have been in your blood from birth, but no matter how you were infected, you must treat it through the blood. It is a blood disease. You must use S. S. S., the standard blood tonic for 50 years, if you expect certain relief. For purifying the system, nothing is equal to it. The action of S. S. S. is to cleanse the blood. It soaks through the system direct to the seat of the trouble—acting as an antidote to neutralize the blood poisons. It revitalizes the red blood corpuscles, increases the flow so that the blood can properly perform its physical work. The dull sluggish feeling leaves you—the complexion clears up. Even long standing cases respond promptly. But you must take S. S. S. Drugs and substitutes won't do. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. NEVER WENT DOWNTOWN

Milwaukee Journal: Monday, for the first time in his life, Louis Mueller, who has lived all of his life in Milwaukee, saw a sixteen-story building.

For the first time in his life, and his eyesight has always been excellent, he saw the city hall.

For the first time he "visited" downtown Milwaukee and saw the sights.

Mr. Mueller is the champion "home man" of Milwaukee, if not in the world. He is the father of ten children, all living. He was born a few blocks away from where he lives.

Recently one of his sons was injured in an industrial accident, and J. E. Lehr started a lawsuit for him. The presence of the father was necessary at the courthouse and Mr. Mueller was sent for. He left his work and went to the lawyer's office.

"My, but these are big buildings," he said to the lawyer as they walked to the courthouse.

"Where have you been?" Mr. Lehr asked.

"Oh, I have been right here in Milwaukee," said Mr. Mueller, "but I don't get out much. The last time I was on Wisconsin street was thirty-one years ago. I remember that I had crushed my finger and I went to the office of Doctors Marks and Ladd to have it dressed. I was 14 then and I am 45 now."

"And you never saw the city hall?"

"No," said Mr. Mueller. "On quiet nights I have heard the clock strike, but I never saw the building."

Mueller works for the National Stamp & Enamel company and has always been employed on the West side.

"I never had any business downtown, so I stayed at home," said Mr. Mueller. "I work every day, and when I get home at night I am tired and ready to go to bed. On Sundays I stay at home or visit some friends in the neighborhood. We have a game of cards and then I go home. Why should a man be running around town when he can stay at home?"

"Were you never curious?" Mr. Mueller was asked.

"Ach, why should I want to see those places," he replied. "At home by the fire in winter or on the front porch in summer is good enough for me.

"Unless I am compelled to go, it will be another thirty-one years before I come down again," he told his lawyer when they had finished their business.

BEATING RAILROAD FARES IN RUSSIA

One Out of Every Five Russians Rides Free By Slipping a Fee to the "Konduktor."

New York Press: More than 948,000 people were last year caught traveling on the Russian state railroads with forged tickets or with no tickets at all.

How many traveled in this way without being caught no man knows. Probably several millions. At any rate, the legend is that one out of every five Russians travels without a ticket.

It is so easy to do this successfully that ticketless travelers are known as "hares." "Zayts" is the word. To travel as a "hare" is the ambition of every Russian, and it is a rare Russian who does not succeed at least once.

Just before Former Premier Kokovtseff resigned he received the report of the ministry of communications for 1912. In it was a statement about the 948,120 "hares" and also a statement that in 1912, 18,703 railroad officials were prosecuted, dismissed, degraded or punished with disciplinary fines for tolerating or conniving at the free trips of the "hares." This shocked Kokovtseff.

Not only did he hate dishonesty, though surrounded when in office by thieves, but he was also finance minister and Russia's finances badly needed the money which is pocketed by the "hares" and their allies, the grafting officials. Kokovtseff put on that blush which he always wears when angry, and then talked seriously to M. Ruchloff, then minister of communications. But Ruchloff gave a shrug and said "Nitchevo," which means that the million "hares" don't matter, and intimated that all devices have been tried against them in vain.

Ever since Nicholas I built the first short railroad from St. Petersburg to Tsarskoe Selo sixty years ago traveling as a "hare" has been the fashionable system. The system flourishes because the administration helps the "hares." The simplest way of traveling as a "hare" is to get into your car without a ticket and hand the "konduktor" a reasonable fee.

The "konduktor" makes the military salute and lets you travel free.

If the "kontroller," who controls the conductor, boards the train, the "konduktor" simply pushes you under a seat or sells you a ticket which he has in reserve and gently gives him half your modest bribe.

Kokovtseff tried hard to get a law passed which could adequately punish the "hares." Under the present law the railroad officials can be severely punished, but the "hare" is let off on payment of a double fare. Kokovtseff wanted to send the "hares" to jail. The trouble is that the "hare," when caught, puts on an innocent face and swears he has lost his ticket.

Numerous ministers have tried to kill "hares," but always with the same result. The "hares" multiply—like rabbits.

No matter what you want, it will save you time and money if you will use Herald Wants.

BATTLE SWINGS IN FAVOR OF GERMANS

Russians Ejected From Several Positions Along Dvina River.

Berlin, Sept. 13, via London, 5:55 p. m.—The battle on the Dvina river, which has been virtually in a state of deadlock for several days, has swung in favor of the Germans. The war office announced today that the Russians had been ejected from several positions on the left bank of the river. This battle probably will decide the fate of Riga.

OF VITAL INTEREST TO UNITED STATES

J. J. Hill in New York to Lend Helping Hand to Foreign Financiers.

New York, Sept. 13.—Financiers of the West and Northwest came to New York today to lend a helping hand to the Anglo-French financial commissioners in their task of arranging a way by which Great Britain and France can pay for the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of imports already shipped abroad and other vast amounts contracted for and contemplated.

The first of these arrivals was James J. Hill, railroad builder, and financier of St. Paul. Mr. Hill was said to be provided with data upon which he based his belief that the flotation of a mammoth credit loan here to Great Britain and France is of more vital interest perhaps, to the United States than to the two countries seeking the loan.

"Any loan that is arranged," Mr. Hill said, "must cover not only credit for munitions of war, but provide funds for the payment of grain and other commodity exports. If the loan was intended to be used only for the payment of war munitions it would not, in my opinion, meet with general response in the West and Northwest. On the other hand, a credit loan intended for the buying of all commodities shipped to the two countries would be popular in my section and there is every indication that even the smallest Western banks would give it their heartiest support."

TRIP POSTPONED.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—On account of a little indisposition developing, Bishop Patrick R. Heffron, who is recovering from wounds received on Aug. 27 from a revolver discharged at him by Rev. Father L. Losebes, has postponed for a few days his intended trip to Rochester, where he expected to finish recuperating in St. Mary's hospital. Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester again visited him on Sunday afternoon, Dr. H. F. McGaughey, the bishop's attending physician, this afternoon stated that the prelate's rocevery had been held back by a little indisposition which developed, but he was again doing well today.

THE CITY ZONE.

It Is Practicable Only Under the City Manager Idea.

Baltimore Evening Sun: The attempt being made by a number of American cities to establish zones for business houses, factories, residences and so on will be watched with much interest.

The idea has been borrowed, of course, from those admirably efficient and successful municipal governments of Germany, which have been the admiration of students and experts the world over. Whether Americans are yet ready to adopt the German methods, involving a surrender of some of the personal and property rights of individuals that we are used to, for the public good, is somewhat doubtful. The old idea that a man has the right to do as he pleases with his own property regardless of its effect upon others still persists rather strongly.

The kind of city government that American cities have been used to—so complicated, inefficient and corrupt—would make most of the German methods utterly impractical. In the great German cities not only are zones created—manufacturing in one, business in another, residences in others—but the municipality buys large tracts of land, constructing docks and warehouses at one place, building model homes for the working people at another, opening parks and beer gardens and municipal opera houses, and supplying municipal needs in the way of business, housing or recreation.

Such methods as most American cities would naturally lead to endless graft and probable municipal bankruptcy. Not so with the Germans, although they have more home rule than Baltimore has. A German city is managed by a small and select elected council, which acts as a sort of board of directors. This board selects a city manager, an expert, who is the executive of the municipality and has a free hand. If his work is efficient and shows results, his position is likely to last for life; if he lacks the requisite skill, he is simply "fired" and another chosen.

This simple and efficient method of city government has already been adopted by many smaller American cities and is considered by many municipal experts as an improvement on the commission form of government.

But when, if ever, American cities will become efficient enough to make it safe to allow them to own large tracts of land for various kinds of development is for the future to decide.

In the meanwhile the zone system for industry and residences ought not apparently to cause any hardship. We have it in a sort of modified form already.

THE ANCIENT SAFETY PIN.

Youth's Companion: The safety pin and the hook and eye are generally supposed to be modern inventions. The former, in fact, has been credited to Queen Victoria. She may have improved upon it, but certainly she is not entitled to the distinction of having invented it. Numerous specimens of the useful contrivance have been found in the ruins of Crete. Some of them are in the museum of the University of Pennsylvania, and the museum has also a hook and eye from the same place.

Both the safety pins and the hook and eye now in the museum were made at least 500 years before Christ. Some are made of bronze, but amber or some other material was often used on the more elaborate pins. Some were even made of finely wrought gold.

MAKING UP.

Richmond Times-Dispatch: He: I don't like the way you have been flirting with that young Simkins person.

She: Why not?

He: It makes you too conspicuous.

She (cruelly:) That is the exact thought. I shall be sufficiently inconspicuous after I have married you.

OLD FLAX IS DISAPPEARING

Stocks at Duluth Being Rapidly Shipped, Mostly to Minneapolis.

Crushers Buying as Oil Seems to Have Developed Demand.

Old stocks of flaxseed are being gotten rid of pretty well these days, for there is evidently a demand for oil from some source or other. The crushers are buying and shipping the seed almost every day now. Over 247,000 bushels of flax have gone out from Duluth during the last week, and it is understood that quite a lot more is to move in the next few days. A good deal—in fact, most—of the flax that has been shipped has gone to the mills in Minneapolis, but some has gone to Buffalo.

Cutting of the new crop will not begin until about the 15th or 20th of this month and, of course, it will be some time before the new seed gets into the market. That makes the demand on the old seed strong when there is any demand at all, and it has developed in time to make something of a clean-up of the old stocks, which will give room for the storing of the new crop when it arrived. It is expected that little, if any of the old seed, will remain by the time the new crop is ready to move.

DIES IN ST. PAUL.

Mrs. C. G. Von Suessmilch Succumbs After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Nina B. von Suessmilch, wife of Dr. Charles G. von Suessmilch, a well known Duluth dentist, died late Saturday night in St. Paul, while visiting friends.

Mrs. von Suessmilch had been ailing for several months, but was not thought to be seriously ill. She left Duluth several days ago to attend the state fair and visit friends in the Twin Cities. She was taken ill two days before her death. Acute diabetes was given as the cause of death.

Duluth friends learned of her death yesterday when Mrs. D. McDonald of St. Paul, a close friend, with whom she had visited, wired the information.

Dr. von Suessmilch now is in the Twin Cities, and will leave St. Paul tonight for Chippewa Falls, Wis. Funeral services will be held from the home of Mrs. von Suessmilch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines, of Chippewa Falls, probably tomorrow.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

DULUTH MAN WINS.

Charles Karren Captures Two-Mile Running Race in Superior.

At the athletic meet held at Billings Park, Superior, yesterday by Finnish Athletic club of that city, Charles Karren of Duluth won the first prize in the two-mile race. There were seven contestants and the time was as follows: Charles Karren of Duluth, 10 minutes, 2 seconds; Otto Poyhonen, Cloquet, 10:25; Frank Korpela, Cloquet, 10:28; Karl Suvanto, Floodwood, 10:31; Henry Puranen, Hancock, Mich., 10:36; W. Newman, Superior, 10:40, and Risto Palm, Racine, Wis., who quit at half way on account of hurting his foot.

The other events consisted of shot-putting, discus and javelin throwing, broad and high jumps and 100-yard dash. Contestants had to take part in all of these. Three prizes were given, George Sahlman, Cloquet, winning first, 520 points; second, Gossi Kulo, Superior, 503 points; Emil Levonmaki, Cloquet, 487 points. There were eight contestants in the 100-yard swimming contest, first prize being won by T. Sahlman, Cloquet, 2 minutes 35 seconds; second, Henry Puranen, Hancock, Mich., 2:37; K. Tahtela, Superior, 2:49.

One hundred yard dash for ladies, first prize, Ellen Poytari, Cloquet; second, Mary Siren, Cloquet; third, Ida Olson, Superior. In the ladies high jump the prizes went to same ladies.

There were at least thirty athletes from different parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, but on account of the bad weather many of them refused to take part in contests.

ERICK PERSON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

ERICK PERSON.

Erick Person of the firm of Person & Youngberg and for twenty-seven years a Duluth resident, died at St. Luke's hospital yesterday after an illness of less than a week. He was 47 years old.

Mr. Person was born in Sweden in 1868 and came to America when 20 years old. He made his home in Duluth practically all the time he was in this country. He was unmarried and is survived by a brother in Duluth and two in Sweden.

He was a member of the Eagles, the Owls, the I. S. W. A. and the Old Bachelors' club.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from Crawford's undertaking rooms. Rev. F. E. Harmon will officiate.

BOWLERS TO MEET.

Election of Major League Officers Scheduled for Tuesday Evening.

The first meeting of bowlers for the season has been set for tomorrow evening at the Grand parlors. All of the pin rollers of the major league are requested to attend the initial meeting to assist in starting the season at an early date.

A special request is issued that there be a full attendance of the directors of the league. There will be an election of officers, drawing up of schedule and the transaction of other business of importance.

It is expected that the approaching season will be one of the greatest in the history of bowling in Duluth.

FIGHT ENDS FINE PARTY.

Police Intervene Between Brothers Who Have Wide Differences.

"It was a good party," explained William Jorcunas, aged 21, "and I was having a good time until they started to fight."

William was arrested late Sunday night at the home of William Lobek, 1525 West Superior street, by Lieut. C. A. Holmstrom, who raided the place with Officers Magnuson, Mahlen and Monahan.

Several kegs were on "tap," according to the officers, and William's remark about the "good time" was verified.

But when George Butkus, aged 31, an ore dock laborer, began arguing with his young brother, William, a coal dock worker, about the respective merits of coal and ore docks, Jorcunas proved a poor peacemaker.

He intervened, but his policy netted him a black eye and a disfigured countenance, so he fell back and decided to be a watchful waiter for a while.

When the police arrived they arrested him for drunkenness, and took the two Butkus along, charged with assault. All three will be arraigned before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting this afternoon.

LOST AND FOUND.

Robbers Take Hat and Money and Contribute Black Eye to Laborer.

Matt Hendrickson, laborer, lost $25 and a new hat, and acquired an A-1 black eye Saturday afternoon when he encountered two robbers in the railroad yards near Fourteenth avenue west and Michigan street.

Police received a call from a Northern Pacific special officer late in the day, the information being that some one was in trouble, and Jailer Louis Johnson, responding in the police emergency, found Matt nursing a rapidly darkening optic.

"He was worrying over the black eye more than his loss of money," said the jailer, "and we didn't learn whether he really lost anything but his hat or not."

Matt couldn't remember the appearance of his assailants, and after telling police about the affair, went out to look for them himself.

Bohemian Editor Takes Poison.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 13.—Joseph Stehlik, 65 years old, former owner and editor of the Slavie, a Bohemian paper of this city, committed suicide by taking poison late yesterday. Ill health had made him despondent. He was well known as the editor of the Slavie and quite prominent in Bohemian circles in the state.

A SURPASSING HOUSE.

Philadelphia Ledger: Robert had two little playfellows who were passing the afternoon with him. They finally began boasting about their parents and belongings.

"My father," bragged Robert, "is going to build a fine house with a steeple on it."

"That's nothing," exclaimed Louis, scornfully. "My father has just built a house with a flagpole on it."

Sherman, who had been listening intently, was silent for a moment, then burst forth triumphantly.

"Gee, that's nothing! My father is going to build a corking house with a mortgage on it."

DISGUSTED.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: One day, while her grandfather was paying a visit to Florence's home, the little girl said to him.

"Gran'pa, your talk about perseverance winning is all nonsense."

"Well, well, child!" cried the grandfather, "why do you say that?"

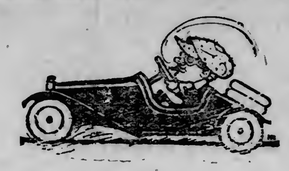

"Why," said the little girl, "I've worked all the afternoon blowing soap bubbles and trying to pin them on mother's hat."

LEGAL NOTICES.

The Plat Commission of Saint Louis County will meet at the County Surveyor's office, Court House, September 15, 1015, to pass on plat of Ludlow's Landing, lots 3, 4 and 5, in Section 31, Township 63, Range 17 W.

ANDREW ANDERSON, Secretary.

D. H., Sept. 11, 13, 14, 1915.

HEAD-ON collisions are not profitable methods of disposing of used cars. Junk heaps are sold by the pound. Thousands of people in Duluth and the Empire of Steel are ready and willing to pay fair prices for used cars. They cannot afford new cars, or want to become thoroughly familiar with gas engines, transmissions, driving, etc., before owning a new car, or they can make use of an old car in their business with a smaller investment.

¶ These prospective buyers recognize "The Herald automobile column" as the best and largest list of used cars for sale. They are watching "Herald want ads" for their favorite make at the price they are willing to pay.

¶ The reason for these numerous sales was disclosed when a careful comparison was made of the list of names in which automobile licenses have been issued and the circulation books of The Duluth Herald. Ninety-eight per cent of the automobile owners in this vicinity were found to be readers of The Duluth Herald. If 98 per cent of the present automobile owners are Duluth Herald readers it is reasonable to believe that 98 per cent of the future automobile owners are also readers of The Duluth Herald.

¶ If you have a used car for sale and wish to reach this great buying class insert an ad in "The Herald automobile column" and sell it.

¶ For rates or other information concerning "Herald want ads" telephone Melrose or Grand 324 or call at The Duluth Herald business office or write.

TEN YEARS ROLL AWAY

Duluthian Says He Feels Like He Did a Decade Ago.

Tells of Wonderful Results From One Bottle of Tanlac.

"I feel like I did ten years ago."

That's what Andrew Edmunds told the Tanlac Man this week.

Mr. Edmunds is a landscape gardener employed in the East end and he resides at Engleside Park, near Woodland. He is 36 years of age, and is well known not only in the neighborhood in which he resides, but by many East end residents who have employed him to beautify their gardens and lawns.

"I suffered from kidney trouble for five years," Mr. Edmunds told the Tanlac Man. "I had pains in my back and suffered terribly from them. I saw Tanlac advertised and bought some. I used but one bottle and had splendid results. It is the best medicine I have ever taken, and I feel like I did ten years ago. I recommend Tanlac because it has helped me."

Tanlac, the wonderful remedy which Mr. Edmunds recommends so highly, may be purchased in Duluth from the store of William A. Abbett, "the careful druggist," at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Meredith, "The Tanlac Man," or one of his assistants is constantly in charge.

FILL CABINET VACANCIES.

Ten New Officers Will Be Elected By "Y" Boys Tuesday.

Ten new officers will be elected Tuesday night by the cabinet of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., to fill vacancies caused by the departure for college of a number of the members who were serving on the board of twenty.

The hike to Park Point, which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, had to be put over on account of the inclement weather and will be taken soon, perhaps next Sunday. Yesterday the boys whiled away the afternoon in their "gym," where they enjoyed various kinds of sports.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says Inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

SUNDAY SERMONS IN DULUTH PULPITS

"LIFE'S MEANING" IS THEME OF SUNDAY MORNING SERMON OF REV. G. R. GEBAUER

Man's Body Too Often Banquet and Dance Hall for His Desires—Also Lacks Reverence for Divine Spirit in Nature.

"The What and the Wherefore of Life," was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday.

"So far as religion is concerned the main problem is not 'how came we to have this life, this body, these senses?' The main question is 'what of this life, whither are we tending, what is the purpose of our being?'" said the speaker.

"And if we set aside the more or less vain and faulty speculations of how the forms of life arose and how man evolved from the lower animal world, and if we simply permit the soul to speak for itself, we soon realize, that an eternal spirit permeates all that is, that in him we live and move and have our being and that he lives and moves in us. We realize, too, that that eternal spirit is not merely purposeful and good, but is eternal wisdom and love. And that spirit we would call not 'a God or even 'the' God, but God, spirit, life, all-father, all-spirit, our Father, who is in heaven and on earth. We 'live' because of the father who 'is' the all-life.

"And now the question arises, how should we live?

"And the answer is simple enough; if we are God's, then we should live in harmony with His will. Our bread, as Jesus says, should be to do the will of the father. In that, and that alone, is our destiny fulfilled and our highest joy attained. And in this obedience to the will of God, as it is proclaimed in our reason and conscience, is the worship of God, is true and living reverence.

Very Simple Plan.

"This all seems very reasonable and simple, but how the world fails in the practice of it. Divine nature has endowed us with marvelous body and wondrous functions, but is this body holy to us? True, we do not despise the body any longer, as did the saints of old, but after all our body is not for us the temple of God, but at best a sanitary banquet and dance hall for our desires and passions. More often still, we abuse that body, the house of the soul, better garment of the soul, and sickness and disease and debility proclaim that we did not God's will in our body; we sinned against the holy spirit of God in it. Only too true, that sickness and sin are closely related, that disease and death are the fruits of broken laws.

Divine Spirit in Nature.

"And so we revere, worship the divine spirit in its larger temple of nature? The ravages man does of know but little of the holiness of nature. He sees in the woods and fields and forests only human property. He believes that everything in nature is mainly made for his use. He is filled with the notion that has no responsibility toward nature. He feels himself master of all he surveys. Sad indeed that this low utilitarian idea can be traced to the Bible. But if nature be the living garment of deity, then we have duties toward her. And strange indeed it is how little is written on the subject. At best we are told to preserve the woods and the birds, because they are so useful to us. But nowhere is taught the holy duty of love toward nature and her children. Even our own faith contents itself with merely exalting 'love to God and man,' but how can we love man without loving nature, how can we love God and revere Him without revering His creation? It will seem to me that we are standing in sacred relationship to the hills and plains, the lakes and rivers, the woods and the vast array of animal life in it.

Masters, But Responsible.

"We may be masters, but we are responsible to a greater master, who lives in them. It is well to think of this at a season of the year, when the 'good Christian' is cleaning his gun and is getting ready for the sport of killing innocent creatures, perhaps permitting them to die hidden away in the bushes in agony and loneliness. Ah, it is brutal to assume, that God created the earth merely for our good pleasure and benefit, and that the destruction of God's creatures is our privilege. Will it not seem to you, that we are laborers in God's great garden and that we are responsible for the beasts in the field and the birds in the air, the flowers in the woods? I would not have you think that I am a sentimentalist on the subject of life. I fully agree that in the end the lower life must yield to the higher, but I am appalled by the abuse and exploitation of nature. Indeed that abuse of nature, which we may observe at any season of the year, is nothing less than criminal, and as long as we fail to show our reverence for nature and our love for her children, we shall hardly advance to a higher stature of manhood in God. We shall pray in vain to God in heaven, while we prey upon his creatures on earth."

"IMMERSION ONLY FORM OF BAPTISM"

Pastor White Declares Sprinkling and Other Methods Unbiblical.

"Christianity does not consist in a daily or periodical routine of dogmatic formalities and meaningless ceremonies of religious worship, nor in a spasmodic loosening of purse-strings simply for grandstand effect, but it is the pure, humble, godly life of Jesus Christ demonstrated anew in the daily life of the individual converted believers, who, as 'new creatures' in Christ, walk in the Master's footsteps with resurrection power," declared Pastor Stemple White last night at the Bible chautauqua tent, where he spoke on "The Origin, Mode and Purpose of Christian Baptism."

"This beautiful, yet solemn New Testament ordinance is the divinely instituted memorial of the death, burial and resurrection of the Messiah," said Pastor White. "As death precedes burial, even so conversion, which means the death of the 'old man,' must always precede baptism. The dead never refuse burial, and one is not ready for the ordinance of Christian baptism until he has become dead to sin by repentance, forsaking of sin, and a fully surrendered heart to the service of God.

"Paul wrote the Roman church that those who were baptized were planted in the likeness of Christ's death and arose in the likeness of His resurrection. He wrote the Colosae church also, calling baptism a burial (as the very word implies) and urged those who 'be risen with Christ' to seek those things which are above. He wrote the Ephesus brethren that there is 'one Lord, one faith, and one baptism.' Jesus was immersed in Jordan at the age of 30 by John the Baptist, who always required 'much water' to administer the rite, and the experience of Philip and the eunuch clearly shows that baptism cannot possibly be administered unless both the candidate and administrator enter the water together.

"Infant sprinkling with all its later traditional forms of confirmation in church catechisms is all alike unknown in Holy Scripture. God will well take care of the unaccountable innocents. 'What must I do to be saved?' is the vital question.

"A simple faith in the plain word of God brushes aside all human substitutes in religious worships, and as light dispels darkness, joy and peace reign in the heart of the trusting child of God."

On account of many requests Pastor Stemple White has arranged for a question box again tonight at the Bible chautauqua tent, at West Second street near the Y. M. C. A. Anyone wishing to inquire for help along Bible lines is requested to write off such questions and hand them in, as this will be the last evening devoted to questions.

SEES "GOLDEN AGE" AHEAD

Justice and Equal Rights for All in Store, Says Dr. Hoffman.

Bread, Beauty and Brotherhood" Basic Needs of Humanity.

Confining his remarks to the problems of this age, Rev. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church yesterday morning delivered an eloquent sermon at his church. He said that the problem of this age is the selection of methods for securing justice and beauty for all and that the thought of the day is practical and hopeful. He said it looks forward to the golden age—not backward—and plans for equal rights and justice for all.

"In the realization of this noble ideal of rights and justice and duties," said the speaker, "the church offers a social force of unquestioned power and permanency. It is formative of great motives. It is directive of fine enthusiasms. Its grand aim is to supply the three basic needs of humanity, as pointed out by Edwin Markham—'bread, beauty, brotherhood.'"

Speaking on the broadness of the church and the great field it covers, Rev. Mr. Hoffman said its work is not confined to any one particular class but is for all. He said it knows neither rich nor poor, college bred or unlearned. "It knows men and seeks to establish the co-operative commonwealth," said he. "That the class struggle is real, all know. That it is destructive of the finest elements of manhood is self-evident. Never can we solve the problems of society by emphasizing this bitter arraignment of group against group. Justice, bread, beauty, can only come as we strive for the brotherhood taught by Jesus.

"The church makes known a vision that disturbs ease, leisure, selfishness. The sanctuary, with its altar, is the incentive that develops sacrifice. The experience of God is the source of a passion for justice, for beauty, for brotherhood, which opposes the saloon, contends for an equitable share in the products of industry and respects the integrity of every human life."

Rev. Mr. Hoffman said that the church today is a social force and that it undergirds every form of life with the principles and passion and truth of Jesus. "It has a divine program," said the minister, "and it is to establish human brotherhood. It is an experience of God which inspires men to loyalty and labor for a better social order and sweeter homes."

RELIGION PART OF MAN'S INHERITANCE

"Nobody Can Be Big Without Religion, Declares Dr. Johnson.

"Religion is part of man's inheritance, for without it he is a spiritual cripple," declared Rev. I. P. Johnson in a sermon on "The Bigness of Religion," at St. Paul's Episcopal church yesterday morning.

"Had you stood on the shores of Lake Superior a century ago you could not have dreamed of this city with its railroads, electrical devices, and most wonderful machinery.

"It was a vision of God for the world, which man would not have believed. We call men big who are really big. A man is not big who has only big feet. Neither is a man really big who has left out of his soul that which properly belongs there. He is only deformed. Many of us pass for big men in this world who have only one or two big things about us. These men also are not big, they are merely deformed.

"A man who has no worship in his soul has left out one of his important dimensions. The man who has sold his compassion for a mess of pottage certainly is not a big man. The man who passes through one street on his way to his office from his house, doesn't really know the city, but many men travel only over one avenue in life. They are scientists and nothing else counts—or money makers or social specialists, or musicians. They have no other dimensions.

"Religion is part of a man's inheritance. If he has left out of his makeup he really isn't big; he is merely a spiritual cripple."

KAISER DISMISSES DEFEATED GENERAL

London, Sept. 13.—A dispatch to the Exchange agency from Amsterdam says:

Emperor William has dismissed Gen. von Kluege, commander of the Eighth division, who was held responsible for the Austro-German check by the Russians on the Sereth river in East Galicia.

Gen. von Kluege, according to the German newspapers, retired from the service at his own request, and with a pension.

ALL MUST PAY PRICE

Nothing Worth While Attained Without Service, Says Dr. Hovis.

"He Who Really Lives Must Burn Life's Fuel."

Every good thing in this world and even the Kingdom of God is attained only at the cost of service, according to Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, who preached yesterday morning on "The Cost of Service."

Taking for his text, "Jesus Perceived That Virtue Had Gone Out of Him," he said:

"When Jesus, in the midst of a jam of crowding people in Capernaum of Northern Galilee, asked who it was that had touched him, Peter and others with him, expressed surprise that one should ask so strange a thing and intimated that in the press and crush of the curious throng that the Master surely ought to know that a dozen might have touched him. But Jesus insisted that He knew that some one touched him because he felt a pull upon his power. Thereupon a woman, cured of the curse of a chronic scourge, confessed that she had worked her way through the surging crowd and had touched the hem of His mantle. This incident indicates that every act of service is matched by a certain cost; that every effort, conscious or otherwise, eventuating in effect, is an expression of expenditure of power; and that no one ever gives himself to a worthy work without perceiving that virtue has gone out of him.

Service for Everyone.

"The American revision of the Holy Scriptures translates the text as follows: 'Jesus perceived that the power proceeding from him had gone forth.' The power that proceeded from him was the force of a heaven-born passion. He literally poured out his soul as a soothing lotion upon the bleeding wounds of a woe-filled world. The healing virtue of his burning soul streamed forth and fell on halt and lame and blind until they leapt and walked and saw with joy. He gave himself without stint in service to the needy heart and multitudes thronged His presence if only to come near enough to touch the garment of a man who would share His life with others. He walked and talked and worked with men, and myriads of followers still will say 'In hoc signo vinco,' by this sign I conquer.

"The sign of the cross is the symbol of the Savior. Calvary is simply the climax of a life. Christ never preached the gospel of an easy time. He spoke of bonds and stripes, persecution and imprisonment, trials and afflictions, and virtually said, 'He who is looking for a flowery path to glory better not try to follow me.' With Him the man worth while was the man who did not shrink from paying the price of service. He never countenanced the practice of trying to get something for nothing. He knew that labor which is the expenditure of vital effort, in some form, is the measure and maker of values. His call was not to the idle who were seeking ease, but to those who 'labor and are heavy laden.'

"Heaven is a purchase. It costs something to own the 'right to the tree of life.' Someone has truly said, 'No pain, no palm, no thorns, no throne, no gall, no glory, no cross, no crown.' The road that leads to the Elysian fields lies over the 'hill of crosses.'

Enjoyments of World.

"There is one glaring exception to the rule that the pleasure of possession is proportionate to the price of pursuit. When a man sells his soul for the enjoyment of the world and the deceitfulness of riches to gratify the selfish cravings of a purely carnal mind, his satisfying pleasure is inversely proportional to his sacrifice to get it. Sensual delights purchased at the price of honor, virtue and of godly fear yield nothing but remorse and disappointment which increase with the sense of the forfeit of the soul. When one mortgages the immortal interests of his eternal soul for the pleasures of a moment he becomes a spiritual spendthrift who has no adequate conception of the value of his life. 'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, and forfeit his life? For what should a man give in exchange for his life?'

"No one was ever first in anything that did not buy his honors with his blood. The life that heaven crowns at length must pay the last full measure of devotion to his task. The soul that serves is doomed to blood. When one thinks of others he dare not count his own life dear. The heaven that lies at the end of any pilgrimage is reached by a path both rough and steep. The lazy soul sits down on the way and faints. Achievement is a costly thing; its price will never vary very much. There are no bargain days with God when heaven is sold at a discount. In the sight of God glory is achieved through service. Service represents the expenditure of energy. In physics, energy is defined as 'the power to do work.' The value of a service is determined by the cost of the energy expended to produce it. Judged by that standard the kingdom of God is full of drones.

"The man who is idle and shiftless by choice will be nerveless and powerless by necessity. The truth of this statement is manifest in both religion and business. It is an easy step from doing nothing to doing wrong. There is a satirical poem which represents the devil out fishing for men and adapting his bait to the tastes and temperaments of his prey. It pictures the idlers as the easiest victims for they swallow the naked hook. The lazy man is unfit to serve; he will not pay the price. The world is sadly in need of a revised conception of service. The majority of people seem to be trying to avoid the expenditure of energy. They are willing to do a deed if performance be not too costly. To escape from work seems to be the hope and policy of too many men in the realm of human interest. We seem to forget that idleness is a curse and that service is man's salvation.

Price of Service.

"It costs something to be a servant in the kingdom of God, but he who pays the price of faithful service gets 'value received' for his investment. God's kingdom is like a life insurance company; the more one puts into it the more he gets out. It costs money to run the interests of the kingdom; an honorable servant will try to do his part. It costs time to be a faithful servant; the person who really wants to see the reign of righteousness will contribute of his time. Investment in the kingdom of God is a safe venture and always turns out well. It pays dividends in this world and in the world to come. The people who are most devoted to the welfare of God's kingdom are the best satisfied with the experience of their lives. The best servants are the greatest levers of God. It is always true that men love things best which cost them most.

"No one ever did anything worth while that did not cost him something. No one ever achieved any real success who did not pursue the object of his heart's desire with the burning passion of a fiery seal. No one who prays 'Thy kingdom come' with an honest heart dare fail to serve till the wounds of the world have all been healed. The price of redemption is always blood and blood means life. One may simply exist and consume his power by rust and other forms of slow combustion, but he who really lives must burn life's fuel in a fur-nace flame. One may be as lazy as he likes. So far as the world's need is concerned, one may be either a hireling or a good shepherd. The hireling works for hire. The good shepherd giveth his life in service to the flesh. He who really serves must give himself. He perceives that the power proceeding from him has gone forth. He is conscious that virtue has gone out of him and is willing that it should."

WOULD GET TIME EXPOSURE OF CHRIST

Better Knowledge of Self and Neighbors Urged By Dr. Lawrence.

"The great thing today is to get a time exposure of Christ, and so better know His power, ourselves and our neighbors," said Rev. W. W. Lawrence of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church yesterday morning in his sermon on "The Great Unknown."

"Present day reforms are brought about because more and more we are coming to have better knowledge of our neighbor. We learn that he is not depraved and that he can be trusted.

"The first great unknown in this world is ourself. The history of every branch of knowledge records victories gained and knowledge of good and evil within us. Christ made a great revelation to the world because He revealed us to ourselves.

"The second great unknown is our neighbor. Our systems of government and our social arrangements only record our misconceptions of each other. The principle which has done much to improve our knowledge of our neighbors is the idea, 'put yourself in his place.'"

ORDER JITNEURS FROM MILL CITY STREETS

Drivers Fail to Comply With Provisions of New Ordinance.

Minneapolis is having trouble with its jitney drivers.

On Wednesday of this week all jitneys will have to get off the streets of Minneapolis because the drivers have failed to comply with the provisions of the new jitney ordinance relative to insurance policies. This order was given out Saturday by the city attorney, who announced that the ordinance will go into effect Wednesday and that not a bond had been approved by the council committee on licenses.

Thirty-three jitneurs had taken insurance with the National Indemnity Exchange of Kansas City, but they had failed to deposit a trust fund of $15,000, according to the Mill City representative of the company, who said that 200 drivers had agreed at first to combine in this indemnity fund. As a result the policies have been withdrawn and the jitneurs must get off the streets.

Mayor Nye announced that the council committee on licenses would meet again on Sept. 22, when it is expected permits will be granted to some of the drivers until they procure policies meeting with the approval of the city attorney's office.

The Kansas City company is the same one that sold its policies to the Duluth drivers, who were refused licenses on the grounds that the indemnity policies were not acceptable to the state insurance commissioner.

BANKRUPT NERVES

Each of us has a certain supply of nervous energy. Every act, even every thought, uses up some part of this energy. During rest and sleep the supply is increased by the blood which gets the needed elements from the air we breathe and the food we eat.

Your nervous energy is like a bank account. If you use it up faster than you add to it you overdraw your account. Neurasthenia is the same given to nervous bankruptcy. It means that the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need. Many nervous disorders, some times chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worthy of a trial in every case of weak nerves and thin blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

MUST GUARD AGAINST FIRE

Rural and Small Town Schools Receive Attention From State.

Buildings Must Be as Safe as Modern City Institutions.

The safety of children attending the rural and small town schools is being given special attention by Robert W. Hargadine, state fire marshal, who is anxious that these schools should be as safe as the modern city institutions. For this reason he desires to call attention, at this time, to the necessity of precautions against fires. He says:

"It has been customary from year to year to urge school officials to see to it that the proper construction is maintained in the erection of school buildings, but it is generally acknowledged that in many of the rural schools little attention is paid to this matter because the schools are usually of one story construction.

"Several things should therefore be considered not only by the officials but by the individual instructors, to bring Minnesota's rural schools up to a high standard for the protection of the children attending them.

"First—Fire drills are essential and they should be conducted at least once a month, and without preparation, so that the children will be instructed in two important things: Order and rapidity in leaving the building.

"Second—At stated times during school hours, if possible, conduct a fire fighting program, including short talks by the teacher on fire prevention and the consequences of carelessness. It is important that these lessons be free from any exciting features and addressed to the common sense of the pupils rather than to their imagination. Stories of fire horrors should be studiously avoided.

"Third—Principals and head instructers should see to it that all receptacles for waste material are made from metal and no receptacle should be placed so as to obstruct ingress or egress, and should be near a water supply if possible.

"Fourth—All school buildings of two stories or more should be provided with fire escapes and children taught how to use them. All doors should open outward and never be locked during school hours.

"Fifth—Have fire gongs provided for each school of a different sound than that of the one used for dismissal of the pupils.

"Sixth—In the erection of school buildings have the chimneys thoroughly built from the ground up, and not from half way to the ceiling as in many cases. Chimney fires may not be the cause of loss of life but reports to this department show that they are prolific cause of much damage in the rural districts.

"Seventh—Chemical fire extinguishers should be provided for each room. They should be especially located close to the stove, which appears to be a fixture in many of the rural school buildings.

"If these suggestions are taken they will tend to reduce the annual loss from fire in Minnesota as well as improving the mental condition of future generations, who in years to come will in all probability put into practice in their business and home life many of the valuable lessons on fire prevention thus learned."

ST. LOUIS CROPS EQUAL TO ANY

Agricultural Agent Larson Satisfied With Showing at State Fair.

St. Louis county crops are equal to any in the state and are better than in most sections of Minnesota this year, according to County Agricultural Agent Larson, who has just returned from the state fair, where he made a comparative check-up on the various exhibits.

Contrary to general early expectations, the crops all over the state are good, and the yield this year will be greater than last, is the way Mr. Larson sizes up conditions. With wet, heavy weather in the early months, the farmers were greatly discouraged and believed they would suffer serious losses through crops being stunted through failure to fully mature; but the late months have been bright and warm, with plenty of sunshine, and crops of all kinds have benefited wonderfully as a result.

Mr. Larson has been devoting considerable of his time to the county fairs throughout the state where, he says, the exhibits are unusually good. He says oats, rutabagas, potatoes and carrots are plentiful.

"Oats, in particular, have amazed the farmers by their abundance," said Mr. Larson. "There was a decided air of pessimism regarding this grain early in the summer. Usually a bad corn year means an excellent year for oats, but the oats were very backward this season.

"Within two weeks of cutting time there was a meager scattering of this grain. What there was, threatened to be full of rust and smut. But the sudden change to hot, dry weather produced an ideal filling season. The crop fairly sprang up and it has been utterly free of smut or rust. It is yielding from fifty to eighty bushels an acre in every part of the county.

"Potatoes, too, are coming well. There was some trepidation that the recent frost would blight this crop, but luck was with the farmer. This vegetable is not particularly large but there is a liberal crop and the potatoes are firm and good."

GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM PREDICTED AT U. OF M.

Williams Said to Have Some Great Material; What Would Joe Wolcott Have Done to Gibbons or McFarland?; Sport Prices Are Coming Down the Scale.

BY BRUCE.

IN Minneapolis and St. Paul some of the ardent followers of Minnesota football are anticipating the October and November results at this early and uncertain date by giving three rousing cheers for the championship prospects of the eleven that is to represent the old gold and maroon colors.

Rolled into a composite mass, the collective opinion on the chances of Minnesota reads thusly: "If Williams can get the gang going, he is going to have a great team this season."

And in the meantime Bob Zuppke, down in the corn country of Illinois, is prospecting with some of the finest pay football dirt that has been washed up through any of the college sluices.

Wisconsin—a mystery. Juneau is not a proven success. Chicago—hardly considered a championship probability, nor a possibility, unless the amazing wizardly Old Man Stagg can mold that ordinary midway material into a combination excelling through team play and the perfection of its football knowledge.

There is the Western Big Nine, which, when it comes to actual football competition, is in reality the Western Big Four, with Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Chicago fighting it out for supremacy. If the opinion tossed around the campuses of the West isn't too immature to be left alone without attending, then you may put it down that Minnesota and Illinois are thus early favored as the teams that are going to cut the widest crimson football swath this golden fall.

* * *

This Recalls Joe Wolcott.

ON the uneventful wake of the cold and calm meeting between Packey McFarland, gentleman boxer, and Michael Angelo Gibbons, ring sculptur, one speculates with quickening interest as to what would have occurred if that squatty and Hun-like fighting figure, Joe Wolcott, had been facing either of these great moderns.

Little Joe Wolcott, standing at the level of a diminutive five feet, and yet possessing the torso and arms of a heavyweight, was without serious question the greatest welter of all time. It was this throwback to the Hun's conquest of pale and trembling esthetics, that made the welters famous. With his decline and fall the welters faded into the dim recesses of oblivion.

McFarland and Gibbons boxed at pounds above the weight poundage generally marking the welters. Suppose that little Joe Wolcott, in the very prime of his powers, should have opposed either of these boys. What would have happened?

Would the undoubted skill of a Gibbons or a McFarland foiled the rushes of Wolcott? Well Joe Choynski was one of the greatest light-heavyweights of his time, and he fell before the punching and boxing ability of old black Joe. Yes, Wolcott wanted to take the place of Jim Jeffries the evening Jeff hesitated about entering the ring with Tom Sharkey. Yes, and Joe Wolcott knocked Fred Russell cold in Chicago. Russell stood six feet four inches in height and weighed 240 pounds.

What would have happened did the fighting fury that the Wolcott of a decade ago starting flinging punches at the phantom-like forms of McFarland or Gibbons?

* * *

Sport and the Dollar.

IN regard to the holdup at the gate the meeting between Gibbons and McFarland is epoch making. It cost but five megs to put one's feet against the ring, while the hoi polloi, the 90 per cent crowd was permitted to watch the fuss from afar for one iron man.

A matter of two years ago this bout would have set the ring side coupon holder back about fifteen round boys. The very idea of bringing boys like McFarland and Gibbons together for prices less than such an admission price would have been considered foolish.

Along with this straw in the wind indication as to the lowering of sport prices, comes the experience of the Twin City speedway officials. Believing the public would clamor over its collective self to pay the $25 admission tax, the same officials are contemplating the loss of several hundred thou as a result of this grave misjudging of the public pulse and purse.

It is said that the next race staged over the new two-mile concrete course will call for about two bucks at the reserve seat gate, with a dollar a head admission price for the great unwashed.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Divide Double-Header.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 13.—New York and Cincinnati divided a double-header here yesterday, the visitors winning the first game 17 to 5, and the locals capturing the second 5 to 0. Toney pitched good ball in the second game, allowing only three hits, while Perritt was hit hard. In the first game Cincinnati used four pitchers and New York two. Score:

First game—			R.	H.	E.
New York	4 0 0 2 0 0 5 4 0 2		17	15	3
Cincinnati	0 0 1 2 1 0 0 1 0		5	6	5

Batteries — Perritt and Schang; Toney and Clarke.

Brooklyn in Second Place.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 13.—Brooklyn defeated St. Louis 4 to 2 here yesterday and stepped into second place, Chicago having beaten Boston. Ames, after holding the visitors to three scattered hits in five innings, weakened in the sixth. There after hits by Daubert and Meyers drove in four runs. Scores:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	0 0 0 0 0 2 1 0 1	4	9	1
St. Louis	0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0 0	2	8	1

Batteries — Pfeffer and McCarty; Ames, Robinson and Snyder.

Too Many Walks.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Too many bases on balls cost Boston yesterday's game which went to Chicago 6 to 3. Nehf walked four men and three of them scored later when the locals hit opportunely. Boston started a belated rally in the ninth when Manager Stallings rushed two pinch hitters into the fray, but Lavender replaced Vaughn and saved the game. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 1	3	7	1
Chicago	0 1 0 0 0 3 0 2 x	6	6	7

Batteries—Kaiserling and Rariden; Davenport and Hartley.

Kawfeds Beat Bisons.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 13.—Kansas City offset loose playing by good hitting yesterday and won the third of the Buffalo series 6 to 3. The locals took a lead off Krapp in the first and increased it by hitting Schulz hard in the seventh. Cullop pitched well. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Kansas City	2 0 1 0 0 0 3 0 x	6	10	2

Batteries—Krapp, Sulz, Ehmke and Blair; Cullop and Easterly.

Whales Take Two.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Chicago took both games of a double-header from Baltimore here yesterday, winning the first 5 to 4 in fifteen innings, and the second 2 to 0. The second game was called at the end of five innings on account of darkness. Three singles and two passes ended the first game. Hendrix held the visitors to one hit in the second game. Scores:

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Saints Lose Double-Header.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Cleveland took two games from St. Paul yesterday 7 to 0 and 4 to 2, St. Paul making only nine hits in the two games off James and Brennan. The latter passed eleven and hit two, but was effective with men on, St. Paul having fourteen left on bases. Glenn and Niles of St. Paul retired because of injuries. Scores:

First game—		R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	1 0 4 0 0 1 1 0 x	7	12	0
St. Paul	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	5	1

Danforth Makes Record.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 13.—Danforth, left-handed pitcher, in defeating Kansas City 8 to 0 in the first game of yesterday's double-header, struck out eighteen batters. This set a new record for the association, Marty O'Toole's mark of seventeen having stood since 1911. Danforth was surrounded by hundreds of fans at the close of the game and obliged to autograph many score cards. Louisville also won the second game 6 to 5. Scores:

First game—		R.	H.	E.
Louisville	0 0 2 1 0 2 2 1 x	8	13	1

SPORT WRITERS FAR FROM UNANIMOUS ON DECISION

MIKE GIBBONS.

The St. Paul Phantom was awarded the victory over Packey McFarland by the Associated Press report but many metropolitan newspaper fight writers gave the decision to McFarland, and others called it a draw. What must hurt Gibbons is the fact that McFarland outpunched him in at least two sessions of the Brighton beach gallop. The affair shows, as other bouts in the past have proven, that when two superlatively clever boxers meet, there is often little real fighting. What!

Here is the way the sport writers sized it up:

New York World—McFarland wins.
New York Herald—McFarland by a shade, in a tame bout.
New York Sun—McFarland's comeback earned him a shade.
Associated Press—Gibbons wins.
International News Service—Draw.
United Press—McFarland by shade.
New York Times—Draw.
New York Telegraph—Gibbons outpointed McFarland.
New York Globe—Gibbons.
Milwaukee Leader (Tom Andrews)—Good draw.
Chicago Herald—McFarland.
New York Tribune—Draw.

W. KENNEDY WINS TITLE

Defeats Brother Lauren in Longview Tennis Finals.

In the past it has generally been Lauren Kennedy who has defeated Brother Walter for tennis honors. Saturday the tables were most decisively turned, Walter defeating Lauren in the finals of the Longview club championship, 3-6, 7-5, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. While it is all in the family, this strange and unlooked for upset is a distinct surprise to the followers of the net game.

It was at the net that the former Longview title holder was defeated. In rallies at the net, Walter invariably scored. The court was heavy from the falling rain and the game was rendered slow at times in consequence.

The contest was one of the greatest net battles ever played on local courts. It lasted nearly three hours and its result was uncertain until the final game was completed.

MAY MAKE BOXING LAW MORE ELASTIC.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—Action will be taken here today by the state boxing commission on the proposal to permit a referee decision in legalized bouts when one of the contestants is disqualified for fouling.

This proposal is an outcome of the Ertle-Williams fight here Friday night, when Referee Barton gave Ertle the decision on a foul. The state law makes no mention of decisions, but through a ruling by the commission all contests heretofore have been "no-decision" affairs.

Fast Motorcycle Time.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—C. F. Gowdy won the 300-mile motorcycle race at the speedway yesterday in 3:29:51. T. Carroll was second in 3:35:17, and R. Welshaer third in 3:37:12. Gowdy's time established a new record for the distance. Twenty-seven pilots started in the race, but the pace proved too much for nineteen of the number, and at various distances throughout the race, they dropped out, leaving eight to finish. Gowdy's average time for the distance was 83.8 miles an hour.

PENNANT IN NONE OF BIG LEAGUES IS CINCHED; GOOD RACE ASSURED

New York, Sept. 13.—With the last inter-sectional series of the season in their early stages, the outcome in the races of both major leagues remains in doubt. The chances appear to favor Philadelphia in the National and Boston in the American league, the present leaders in their respective races, but everything depends on the showing each makes in the struggle with the teams of the Western divisions, which is now in progress.

In the National league the Phillies made the best showing of the week and retained their lead by a good margin. After a serious setback in Brooklyn, where Manager Robinson's pennant aspirants won three straight games, Pat Moran's men came back with a clean sweep over the New Yorks in a four-game series on the Philadelphia grounds, and began their Western trip in good style with a Saturday triumph over the Pittsburghs, their fifth straight victory.

Many baseball observers favor the Quakers' chances because of the steadiness they have displayed during virtually the whole season and the strength they have shown on the road.

Fight For Runner-up.

Boston and Brooklyn are having a hot fight for the second position, each hoping to make good its hold, and then to advance at the expense of the present leaders. Brooklyn regained the place yesterday by beating St. Louis, while Boston was losing to Chicago. Both of these teams are still to be considered in the hunt for the pennant with the lead of the Phillies no greater than it is.

Cincinnati is playing the best game of the other teams just now, and by winning six out of seven games, while the New Yorkers were dropping six out of eight, have forced the Giants into last place.

Boston in the American league lost ground during the week, but Detroit, by failing to make the most of its opportunities, did not gain much. Meanwhile Chicago has been booming along with a string of victories and again threatens to become a contender, but has much ground to make up.

The Red Sox got their worst setback by dropping three games in a row to the New Yorks early in the week, but resumed their winning streak against Philadelphia and set the White Sox back by winning the first game of the series with the Western club Saturday, the struggle lasting eleven innings.

Hurlers Show Class.

The Boston pitching staff has shown considerable class in recent games and has held opposing teams to low scores. They have an easy three-game lead over the Tigers, as the score stands now.

The Jennings contingent, however, may pull upon the Red Sox within the next few days, as they have the Yankees to meet while the Bostons are contending with Clarence Rowland's clan. The Tigers' heavy hitting capabilities are counted upon by their supporters to offset the asserted superiority of the Boston pitching staff.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis are fighting it out for first place in the Federal league, with the latter having had decidedly the better of the week's play, although the Pennsylvanians had the benefit of position when the playing period ended.

Chicago has been gaining, with New York falling off badly, losing eight out of nine games, while Kansas City has done little better.

Brooklyn, under its new management, has shown a decided reversal of form, not having lost a game during the week, and putting eight victories to its credit.

In the American association pennant race, Minneapolis and St. Paul are still close together in the order named, Indianapolis and Louisville, the other two teams in the first division, have only a few more points separating them than are between the leaders, but are far enough away to mark them as possibilities rather than probabilities for first position.

DULUTH LOSES TO PORTAGE LAKE

Copper Country Golfers Get Revenge on Northland Players.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 13.—Portage Lake beat Duluth Northland club golfers Saturday afternoon over the Houghton course, making honors even in the Cole golf cup intercity competition. The Portage Lake score was 21 and that of Duluth 2. Duluth did not send a team as representative of the strength of the Northland club as that which defeated Portage Lake earlier in the season. Elmer Whyte was the only Duluth man to finish with a margin in his favor. Smith was next best, tying Thompson. Match was eighteen holes match play, Nassau system.

The scores (Portage Lake names first):

Pryor 3, Cullum 0; Robinson 0, Whyte 2; Cairns 3, Crosse 0; Nickols 1, Cole 0; Byrne 3, Mullin 0; Taylor 3, Markell 0; Harkness 3, McCulloch 0; Thompson 0, Smith 0; Zealand 3, Lutz 0; Robertson 3, Mead 0.

In the professional, Flora of Portage Lake beat Clarkson one up.

We have purposely made up a tobacco to appeal to the strong, vigorous man who wants full flavor and fragrance combined with natural sweetness in his smoke or chew. This tobacco is PEERLESS. It was put on the market fifty years ago especially to satisfy the tobacco hungry man. It has filled the bill.

Firemen, policemen, out-of-doors men, two-fisted men in general, all say PEERLESS satisfies. Once they start using PEERLESS they cannot get the same satisfaction out of any other brand.

has character to it. That's why it appeals to and pleases these men of sturdy character.

PEERLESS is made from pure Southern Kentucky leaf, aged for three to five years, so as to bring out slowly and naturally all the juicy mellowness and richness of the tobacco. That's why its quality never varies—and that's why hurried-up, hashed-up tobaccos can't compare with PEERLESS.

In the strenuous hours of work or in the pleasant hours of relaxation, be sure to have some of this wonderful tobacco with you.

Just try PEERLESS for a week—"Smoke it or chew it—but go straight to it." Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

club, it was decided to demand O'Neill's resignation as president of the league and elect another president. Time will be given Mr. O'Neill to tender his resignation.

Chicago, Sept. 13. — The announcement of the purpose of the Western league club owners as conveyed by a telegram from Omaha, was read to President O'Neill. Mr. O'Neill laughed and then said:

"It is immaterial to me what the Western league club owners do or intend to do. That is my answer, and that is all. I should worry."

DALTON DUE IN DULUTH

Billy Whalen's Opponent Will Complete His Training Here.

Mike Gibbons Has Promised to Box Before Local Club.

Jerry Dalton, who is to box Billy Whalen at the next boxing show of the Duluth Boxing club, is due to arrive here early today. This kid will complete his training here for what he expects to be one of the hardest bouts of his career.

Monahan and O'Dowd are expected to put up a fast bout. Monahan met O'Dowd at Hudson when not in the best of condition, and gave the St. Paul boy a hard battle. In shape, Monahan believes that he can take the measure of the apostle youth. O'Dowd is an aggressive, two-handed boxer, who is coming all the time. In his bout at Hudson, Monahan showed that he is a tough geek, who is capable of assimilating a world of punishment.

Gibbons May Box Here.

Ed Whalen declares that the officials of the local boxing club have the promise of Mike Gibbons to appear in Duluth against some opponent to be chosen by the club officials. Soldier Barfield is the bucko who has been suggested as a worthy opponent for Michael.

According to the run of the dope, Mike has demanded $7,500 to appear before the Capitol City Athletic club of St. Paul. As the club is already behind in its ledger account a long string of financial beans, it is whispered up and down the rialto that the club officials will consider carefully and look long before signing the papers.

However, it is stated that in the case of the local club Gibbons has promised to have a heart, and to at least remotely resemble a gentleman in his financial dealings with the Duluth boxing officials.

Billings and Gardner.

Kid Billings and Steve Gardner are at work shaping toward the meeting which will decide the Head of the Lake glove supremacy.

Steve believes that he will be able to hold his own against the Billings Park hero, while Korby is spouting utterances that run to the effect that Gardner will take the count. Possibly Billings is figuring upon taking revenge on Gardner for the merry lacing Frankie Whitney dealt out to him.

Steve and Korby should put up a real mill—and there are some who believe that Gardner will not be so terribly battered up when the smoke of battle clears away.

Austrian Derby at Vienna.

Vienna, Sept. 13, via London, 12:45 p. m.—The Austrian derby, run today over a course of 2,400 meters for a stake of 122,000 kronen ($30,500), was won by Anton Dreher's Tovabb by three lengths. Count Von Landau's Fallachy was second and Count Teleki's Sobri third. There were eleven runners.

SURPRISES IN TENNIS

New Champion Is Decisively Beaten By R. N. Williams.

McLaughlin and Bundy Lose to Pell and Behr.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The Eastern players made a clean sweep in the final matches against the Pacific coast stars here Saturday afternoon.

These special contests between selections of the Far West and Alantic coast players began in San Francisco in July, and the final scores resulted in seven victories for the West against five for the East.

In the contests at the Wesi Side club courts here Saturday afternoon, R. Norris Williams, II, of Philadelphia, the 1914 singles champion, defeated William M. Johnston of San Francisco, the winner of this year's title, 6-4, 0-6, 6-4, 6-4. Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco, Johnston's partner in the 1915 doubles honors, fell before N. W. Niles of Boston, who won at 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

To complete the Eastern triumph, T. R. Pell and K. H. Behr, both of New York, defeated M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco and T. C. Bundy of Los Angeles, three times champions of the United States, in a gruelling five-set match at 6-4, 8-10, 6-8, 8-6, 6-4.

Champion Beaten.

The feature match and the one which drew a gallery of several thousand for the final big contest of the season was that between Williams and Johnston. The former champion eliminated by the young San Franciscan in the semi-final round of the titular singles, came on the court prepared for revenge. With the exception of the second set he completely outplayed Johnston, although the latter did not show the same fighting spirit that he did when he was winning his championship honors.

Williams played almost perfect tennis in his winning sets, his judgment of pace, generalship ad ability to hit the lines being the best he has shown in the East this year. Johnston was unable to cope with this game and helped Williams to victory by numerous errors, in the second set only, which he won at love, did Johnston rise superior to Williams.

The doubles contest produced the most spectacular play of the day. The Eastern and Western pairs were evenly matched, long rallies, brilliant aceing and placing shots combined with remarkable gets, being frequent.

McLoughlin, from close to the net, scored numerous points by killing smashes and clever dropping of the ball into unguarded spots. Bundy also won many points by his lobbing and ability to shoot the ball between his opponents. Behr and Pell also had fine control of the sphere.

The match was one of the longest and hardest doubles contests played in this vicinity in some years. It required sixty-six games before a decision was reached.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS TITLES BEING PLAYED FOR

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—The thirty-seventh annual tournament for the intercollegiate lawn tennis championship of the United States in singles and doubles opened today on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford.

The intercollegiate championship in singles last year was won by George M. Church of Princeton, who defeated R. Norris Williams, Harvard. Church has been graduated from Princeton and Williams again looms up as a possible winner of the title. The intercollegiate doubles championship is held by Williams and Richard Harte of Harvard.

KID WILLIAMS IS STILL THE CHAMPION

It is claimed that the title cannot change hands except by the medium of a knockout. A knockout does not require a decision by the referee, while in the case of a foul the referee is compelled to render a decision, which is clearly against the Minnesota law.

Williams is still the rightful title holder, according to those who have studied the situation. The claim of Ertle will hardly be taken seriously throughout the country.

SEA GULL WINS THE SAILING CHAMPIONSHIP

The sailing championship of the Duluth Boat club was won Saturday by the Sea Gull, skipped by Walker Jamar. Warren Jamar and Stanley McCrae were the other members of the crew.

With the winning of the club title goes the trophy donated by the Duluth Commercial club. Dr. Frank Lynam's Feather was just 40 seconds behind the Sea Gull in the deciding race. The Yaqui finished third and the Agwindle was fourth.

The Feather led for the first quarter mile of the course, then struck a calm and was passed by the Sea Gull.

King's Yacht Wins.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 13.—Nordug IV, the yacht sent out by King Christian of Denmark to compete in the Panama-Pacific exposition regatta, won the President Wilson trophy cup yesterday by defeating Capt. John Barneson's Lady Betty of San Francisco in an exciting race over a fourteen-mile course in the bay. The Nordug won by 4 minutes and 18 seconds in 2 hours 46 minutes and 8 seconds.

Fastest Motorboat Time.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Disturber IV traveled faster on water yesterday than any motorboat ever has before, when the big racer went at the rate of sixty-two miles an hour in a series of timed trials over a half-mile course. Associated yacht and power boat club officials timed the 1,800 horsepower craft, owned by James A. Pugh of Chicago. Disturber made the half mile in 0:29 3-5, according to the officials.

It is calculated that 19,000,000 tons of carbon, most of it in the form of coal, is the average yearly amount burned in large cities.

M'FARLAND OUTPOINTED

Gibbons Wins Popular Verdict Over Chicago Stockyards Man.

Packey Finishes Strong After Taking Beating in Early Rounds.

Ringside, Brighton Beach, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a boxing match in this country, Mike Gibbons of St. Paul out-pointed Packey McFarland of Chicago in a 10-round no-decision contest here Saturday night. The bout, which brought together two of the cleverest boxers in the ring today, was hard fought from start to finish, but Gibbons scored the more frequent and more effective blows.

McFarland showed that his long absence from the ring had dulled his speed and power to snap punches to vulnerable points of his opponent's head and body. He showed flashes of his old rapid-fire left, but the leads were little more than snaps, and did not check Gibbons in assaults. McFarland appeared nervous when he entered the ring, and was not as finely conditioned as his opponent. The St. Paul phantom immediately took the aggressive, and showed that he intended to make a fight of it instead of a sparring exhibition.

PACKY M'FARLAND,
Outpointed By Mike Gibbons.

Power Behind Blows.

There was power behind almost every blow that he landed, and he found little difficulty in beating the stockyards boxer to the punch. The first four rounds Gibbons was always in the lead, playing alternately for the head and body.

In the fifth McFarland took the aggressive, and being thoroughly warmed up, fought desperately to stem the tide of defeat. Gibbons met him half way, however, and the best the Chicago boxer could get was an even break in this round.

Mike increased his speed in the sixth and scored the majority of effective blows. McFarland made a strong play for Gibbons' body, but the latter covered so well that few of the blows reached their objective. Packey cut loose in the seventh and rained a shower of blows to Gibbons' face, one of which split the St. Paul boxer's left eyebrow.

McFarland tried to outslug his opponent in the next period, but although the latter was beginning to weaken, he staggered Packey with several blows to the head and still maintained his lead. McFarland came up with a smile in the eighth and fought with his old confidence. He out-boxed and out-punched Gibbons, and continued his advantage in the final round, being strong at the finish and master of his opponent. The long lead that Gibbons had gained in the earlier rounds, however, was too great to overcome, and the consensus of opinion was strongly in favor of the St. Paul boxer as the winner on points of the largest purse ever offered for so short a bout, and one which was decisionless.

Big Crowd Attends.

A throng which was estimated at 45,000 witnessed the contest, almost entirely filling the immense arena, which originally enclosed the mile motorcycle track. For more than two hours before the principals entered the ring, lines of spectators extended for blocks away from the entrances and roads leading to the arena were blocked with double lines of motor cars. From the ringside nothing could be seen but a sea of faces which grew dimmer until they faded into innumerable rows of white blotches at the very edge of the enclosure. Several thousand women were scattered among the spectators, which included large delegations of boxing enthusiasts from as far west as Chicago and Cleveland and below Washington into the South.

Gibbons was the favorite in the wage ring at odds ranging from 8 to 5 and 2 to 1, and while no large sums were staked, there were hundreds of small bets, so great was the interest in and difference of opinion regarding the outcome of the bout.

A cluster of forty-odd powerful arc lights shed a clear light over the ring and permitted the taking of moving pictures.

The official announcer introduced an innovation when he fired several shots from a pistol in order to silence the vast throng before attempting to make announcements regarding the weight and conditions of the bout.

A purse of $32,500 was divided, $17,500 to McFarland and $15,000 to Gibbons, neither of whom were damaged to any great extent, or in serious danger of a knockout during the 10-round engagement.

Endurance Swim Record.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 13.—What is claimed to be a new American endurance swimming record was established yesterday by Charles Toth of this city, who was in the water 15 hours and 47 minutes while swimming from Charlestown bridge to Boston light and back. The distance is estimated at twenty-four miles.

ALL STRENGTH IS NECESSARY

Allies Must Utilize Full Power to Win Final Victory in War.

Lloyd George Issues Statement in Book "Through Terror to Triumph."

London, Sept. 13.—That the central powers still have an overwhelming superiority in all the material and equipment of war, and that the allies to win must put forth all their strength, is the statement made by David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, in the preface of a book containing his speeches since the outbreak of the war, entitled, "Through Terror to Triumph."

"After twelve months of war," says Mr. Lloyd-George, "my conviction is stronger than ever that this country could not have kept out of it without imperiling its security and its honor. We could not have looked on cynically with folded arms while a country we had given our word to protect was being trodden on by one of our own co-trustees. If British women and children were being brutally destroyed on the high seas by German submarines, this nation would have insisted on calling the infanticide empire to a stern reckoning.

"Everything that has happened since the declaration of war has clearly demonstrated that a military system so regardless of good faith, honorable obligations and the elementary impulse of humanity, constitutes a menace to civilization of the most sinister character, and despite the terrible cost of suppressing it, the well-being of humanity demands that such a system should be challenged and destroyed.

Additional Argument.

"The fact that events have also shown that the might of this military clique has exceeded the gloomiest prognostications, provides an additional argument for its destruction.

"Nor have the untoward incidents of the war weakened my faith in ultimate victory, always providing that the nations put forth the whole of their strength ere it is too late. Anything less must lead to defeat. The allied countries have an overwhelming preponderance in the raw material that goes to the making of the equipment of armies, whether in men, money, or accessible metal and machinery, but this material has to be mobilized and utilized.

"With the resources of Great Britain, France and Russia, yes of the whole industrial world at the disposal of the allies, the central powers still have an overwhelming superiority in all the material and equipment of war. The result of this deplorable fact is exactly what might have been foreseen. The iron heel of Germany has sunk deeper than ever into Belgian and French soil. Poland is entirely German and Lithuania is rapidly following. Russian fortresses deemed impregnable are falling like sand castles before the ruthless tide of Teutonic invasion.

"When will that tide recede, or be stemmed? As soon as the allies are supplied with an abundance of war material."

Mr. Lloyd-George says that he is recalling unpleasant facts to stir his countrymen to put forth their strength to amend the situation. There has been a great awakening, he says, and great efforts are being made to equip the armies but, adds the minister, "nothing but our best can pull us through."

His Rest Was Broken.

O. D. Wright, Rosemont, Neb., writes: "For about six months I was bothered with shooting and continual pains in the region of my kidneys. My rest was broken nearly every night by frequent action of my kidneys. I was advised by my doctor to try Foley Kidney Pills, and one 50-cent bottle made a well man of me. I can always recommend Foley Kidney Pills, for I know they are good." This splendid remedy for backache, rheumatism, sore muscles and swollen joints contains no habit-forming drugs. Sold everywhere.

HILL TO URGE CREDIT FOR FOREIGNERS

Will Confer With Morgan and Others on Credit Loan.

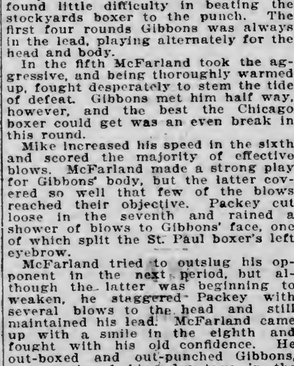

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—J. J. Hill will arrive in New York today to confer with J. P. Morgan and other American financiers interested in the negotiations with the Anglo-French commission now in that city seeking an American credit loan of at least $500,000,000 to meet bills for supplies ordered in this country by Great Britain and France.

Before he left here, Mr. Hill, it was learned, said he would urge that the credit be extended in order to assure a satisfactory market for this year's surplus wheat production of the United States, which, he said, the government estimated at 375,000,000 bushels. Mr. Hill pointed out that wheat and almost all other supplies, excepting war munitions, could be purchased by the European countries in other markets and said this probably would result unless the United States encouraged England and France to procure them in this country by enabling them to establish a large credit here.

Mr. Hill, it was said last night by his associates, carries with him assurances of the co-operation of a number of Northwest bankers in financing the proposed loan.

SIXTY POLICE FIGHT ONE MAN

Six-Hour Battle Ends When Man Wanted Ends Own Life.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—A thrilling six-hour battle between sixty police and George Nelson, a foreigner, 25 years old, wanted for complicity in the robbery last month of a Los Angeles bank, ended at dawn yesterday, when Nelson's bullet-riddled body was found stretched on a cot in a rooming house. He had ended his life by sending a bullet through his head. The house where the bandit successfully held the police at bay since before midnight, is in a populous residential district and thousands of spectators watcheil the gun fight.

Hugh Macbeth, a roomer who attempted to escape from the building when the battle began, was shot twice through the head, probably fatally, by the cross-fire. Policeman Peter Hammond was shot through the arms and legs by Nelson.

Kept Up Fire All Night Long.

All night long the police kept up an intermittent fire into Nelson's room from an upper room of the residence of Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Methodist-Episcopal church across the street, and from adjacent windows and housetops. A powerful searchlight was placed in the window of a dwelling across the street directly facing the bandit's room, and by its glare the police directed their fire. Shortly before 4 o'clock Nelson abruptly ceased firing. With the coming of daybreak, the officers entered the building and burst through Nelson's door.

Nelson had been dead more than two hours. Three automatic revolvers and a quantity of ammunition lay on the table near the body. Four hundred dollars was found among Nelson's belongings, a part of the loot, it was said, from the Los Angeles bank.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 13.—Minneapolis jitney buses will cease operation over the city streets, temporarily at least, on Sept. 15. AITKIN FAIR IS NOW OPEN

Some Good Displays Shown at Twenty-Fifth Annual County Show.

Aeroplane Flights and Racing and State Auditor Preus to Speak.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-fifth annual Aitkin county fair opened here today for three days and if the weather is favorable, a successful fair is assured. The exhibits are largely placed today and make a creditable showing of the county's productiveness. Tomorrow and Wednesday are expected to be the big days. When the fair started a quarter of a century ago, there was an exhibition of but few products in the shape of a street fair. As Aitkin was at that time the supply point for a large lumbering business and farming was conducted only to feed the lumberjack and to provide gardens for the village, the display was not large.

Today the county owns a beautifully wooded tract of land with permanent buildings, including main exhibition building, new cattle barn, 200 feet long, long sheds for other stock, a barn for racing stock, dining room and other conveniences as well as a fine grandstand and a half-mile track.

Some Good Premiums.

The cash premiums for livestock amount to $1,500, another $1,000 is given for products and $600 for racing events, aside from some minor sports. Silver trophy cups are being given by the State Dairymen's association and the Northern Pacific railway for dairy herds, and some very fine stock is now competing for premiums. A herd of Guernesys, a number of which are imported animals, heads the list and there is quite a showing of Shorthorns the county as well as other breeds, striving for recognition and greater efficiency through the work of the farmers' clubs.

Experts in stock judging and in scoring for all farm products are generally furnished from the state agricultural department and their work is of an educational nature. Exhibits in all lines must be in place today and the outlook is for a most successful fair.

Aeroplane Flights.

Tomorrow and Wednesday there will be racing and aeroplane flights and on Wednesday afternoon State Auditor Preus will speak.

Hill City and Aitkin ball teams will play for the county championship and large delegations will be here from Hill City and other county towns as well as from Crosby, Deerwood and Ironton. The Corey Carnival company, that showed at the St. Louis county fair at Hibbing, has a concession on the grounds. Good weather will complete the chain of things required for a successful fair—everything else is at hand.

SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS GROWTH

8,000 More School Children in North Dakota Than Last Year.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are 189,494 school children in North Dakota, according to the school census just recently completed, an increase of about 8,000 over last year.

On the basis of this new enumeration, the regular mid-year apportionment of school funds amounting to $156,624.96 will be made.

Cass County Leads.

Cass county, with 10,135 children, has the largest number. Grand Forks is second with 9,062, the city of Grand Forks having the greatest number of children of any city in the state.

MURDERED FOR 30 CENTS

Renville County, N. D., Killing Result of Card Game Row.

Mohall, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two others are held with Mack McGee, a St. Paul negro, accused of murdering L. T. Dumas, another negro, in a fight over a game of cards at Norma, Renville county.

Frank Davis, white, and Henry Williams, colored, are the alleged accomplices of McGee in the slaying.

According to the story told at the preliminary hearing of McGee, when he was bound over to the district court, the murder was the result of a fued of several days' standing between Dumas and McGee, who appear to have been leaders of two independent gangs of hoboes headquartering in this district—the majority of the gangs being negroes.

Only 30 cents was involved in the card game, Dumas winning the cash, and McGee demanding its return, charging the use of a marked deck of cards.

GOGEBIC COUNTY FAIR THIS WEEK

Ironwood Looks for Better Display of Products Than Ever.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything is in readiness for the Gogebic county fair, which will open here next Wednesday, and continue Thursday and Friday. The committee of arrangements have labored to make this fair the best and biggest ever attempted by the county.

J. F. Kadonsky, the agricultural agent for the county, has been busily educating the farmers in the advantages of large exhibits. From present indications the displays of farm products will be the biggest ever seen here. The stock exhibits should be correspondingly large this year. The premiums offered amount to about $4,000. In order to encourage the dairy industry about the county, the various breeds of beef and scrub cattle have been entirely elliminated from the lists and the money formerly used as their premiums has been added to the dairy articles.

J. S. Kennedy, secretary of the association, has worked long and industriously getting the grounds in the best possible condition. A large, new imposing entrance labeled "welcome" has been erected at the southeast corner of the park and a beautiful drive graded through the grove. A new grandstand, seating about 2,000, has been erected on the site of the old one. The stables, which have been ready to fall with the slightest windstorm for the last fifteen years have been torn down and new, clean, up-to-date paddocks built. All of the buildings have received fresh coats of white paint inside and out.

Good Amusements.

The amusements this year will be the largest and best ever, when $1,500 in cash prizes is offered for two days' racing, and from the entries already made the track record of 2:14 should fall during the first heat. Well known drivers who have been taking daily workouts on the track during the past week declare that the track is the fastest in this part of the country.

On Thursday afternoon, Congressman-elect W. Frank James of Hancock, and Alton Roberts of Marquette, state senator, will speak on state and national issues.

The management has secured for exhibition races of the two last days, the famous trotting horse, Brewer. This horse during the present season has entered twenty-one races against a team of driving or trotting horses and has won fourteen of them. Besides the horse racing there will be foot races and mule races, motorcycle and auto races, baloon ascensions and plenty of music to keep the crowd in good humor and happy.

GET FEW YOUNG BIRDS.

Chicken Hunters Around Fargo Killing Only Old Ones.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—It seems certain that chicken hunting will have to be prohibited for a couple of years in the eastern part of this state or that game bird will become extinct, and already some of the sportsmen are considering taking the matter before the next legislature.

Since the opening of the hunting season last Tuesday there have been hosts of hunters out all over the state and those who have returned from the fields in the eastern half of the state say that there are very few chickens and the alarming feature is that practically every bird that has been killed is an old one showing that there are very few young ones in this section.

It was known that chickens would be short this year, owing to the early heavy rains that drowned many in their nests, but there was no idea that the situation was bad as it is. There is hardly a hunter in this part of the state that has killed a young bird and even the old ones are scarce.

AUTO MOTOR RUNS BINDER FOR FARMER

Mott, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—An automobile motor, rigged to a binder, furnished power for harvesting the entire grain crop on the Ira Banning farm, near here, his sons, John and David Banning, arranging the contrivance.

The motor was mounted at the rear of the binder, with a double chain drive, and in this manner the binder was handled at an average speed of six miles an hour—ten hours a day.

JAY COOKE HOWARD IS HEAD OF STATE DEAF

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—At the recent state convention here of the deaf of Minnesota Jay Cooke Howard of Duluth was chosen president, a position he held once before, defeating A. R. Speer of Minneapolis, 67 to 45. In the election the lines were drawn between Twin City delegates and those from other districts the outsiders winning.

A well-knit organization will maintain the present policies. Mr. Howard's lieutenant as vice president will be another Duluth member, Miss Petra Fandrem, his former associate in business. The secretary will be the retiring president, V. R. Spence of Faribault. Although the treasurer, Fred Brant, hails from Hennepin, he is now serving his second term.

Mr. Howard himself proposed Mr. Speer for one of the two vacancies in the executive committee, declaring, so to speak, that if the Minneapolitan had been warmly criticized, "nobody didn't mean nothin' nohow." Mr. Speer was chosen unanimously and H. E. Burns of Faribault was elected to succeed himself.

TWO RUNAWAY GIRLS ARE FOUND IN FARGO

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tiring of life on the farm and believing that they could do better financially and at the same time have a better time in the city, Agnes Kapang, aged 14 years, and her sister, May, aged 18 years, ran away from their home near Verona and came to Fargo.

When taken in charge by Sergt. Sydness of the police force on information from the marshal of Verona, the two girls were in an employment agency seeking a job.

The two girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kapang and when asked why they had run away from home stated that they had become tired of farm life and wanted to see a little of the world.

Agnes, the younger, was returned to her home, though the elder was allowed to search for employment if she so chose—and she did.

MYSTERIOUS KILLING NEAR IRON RIVER, MICH.

Iron River, Mich., Sept. 13.—William White, a housemover of Norway, was mysteriously shot and killed while peeling potatoes in his camp on Cook's run, near Basswood, twenty miles west of here. Three men employed by Mr. White were cutting hay in the swamp near the camp and heard the shot, but paid no attention to it. When they came to camp for dinner they found the prostrate form where it had fallen. A coroner's inquest will be held today.

BARRON, WIS., BANK INCREASES CAPITAL

Barron, Wis., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ten-thousand-dollar increase in capitalization and a distribution of stock to home interests, just completed, marks an epoch in the thirty years' history of the Bank of Barron.

The capital stock is now $35,000 with a surplus in addition of $5,000. Its total assets are in excess of $400,000. The bank was opened for business as a private bank in 1885 by Jerome F. Coe and Clinton D. Coe. In 1887 the business was incorporated as a state bank under the name of Bank of Barron. Up to the present date one-half of the shares of its capital stock have been held by outside interests, this stock having now been purchased by home capital. In the future the affairs of the bank will be represented by men well known to this community.

BACK TO PENITENTIARY.

Barron County, Wis., Man Who Has Done Much Time, Again Sentenced.

Barron, Wis., Sept 1.3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Williams, allas Harry Wagner, a paroled convict from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., pleaded guilty to carrying a kit of burglar tools and was sentenced to five years at Waupun. About eight years ago he was sentenced from here to serve a four-year term at Waupun for forgery. He is 45 years old and has spent the greater part of the past fifteen years in state prisons.

Robert Haynes, 22 years old, on his plea of guilty, was sentenced to two years at the Green Bay reformatory, for forgery.

Fargo Woman Sentenced.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gertrude Martz, who was arrested by Sheriff Ross in a raid on her rooming house, was sentenced to three months in the county jail and a fine of $200, following her conviction of having violated the prohibition laws of the state. Failure to pay the $200 will result in her spending an additional three months in the county bastile. A large quantity of liquor was secured from the Martz place in the raid, including beer, whisky, gin and wine.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Iron River.—The Congregational Ladies' aid will serve meals and lunches at the dining hall on the Bayfield county fair grounds during the three days of the fair here.

Madison.—Secretary of State John S. Donald has issued a license to the Valencia Evaporated Milk company, incorporated under the laws of Maine, to do business in Wisconsin. This company will take over the business of the bankrupt Valecia Condensed Milk company.

Grand Rapids.—Fire caused by lightning destroyed the barns and machinery of Reinhold Teske, a farmer, early Friday. The loss is $5,000, partially insured.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HIBBING BOOSTERS MADE FINE SHOWING

Big Parade in Minneapolis Well Advertised Range Village.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing Concert band, Mayor V. L. Power, Trustees Rupert Swinnerton and B. J. Burrows, Recorder D. D. Haley and J. E. Lawler, Hibbing Commercial club secretary, accompanied by many other local people, returned home yesterday from Minneapolis where they took part in the monster Hibbing parade Saturday night. All declared that the parade and demonstration by the local village was one of the largest affairs of its kind ever given by a small town.

Because of missing train connections at Duluth, the Hibbing special, containing delegates and band members, was held up at the Zenith city until the 3:15 p. m. train, which arrives here at 7 o'clock.

Band Made Impression.

According to those who attended the fair, the Hibbing band was the best amateur organization represented. The fact that it was from Hibbing excited curiosity and on the Hibbing bandstand was an information bureau where facts concerning the Mesaba range were given out. Don Rogers, one of the senior members of the band, was ill during the entire trip. He was taken to a Minneapolis hospital. He returned with the other members last night but is still slightly indisposed.

CITY MANAGER IDEA NOT VERY POPULAR

Virginia Commercial Club Sentiment Is for Plain Commission.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the charter commission should not take final action on the proposed charter at its meeting tonight and defer acceptance of the charter for a week was the consensus of opinion at a special meeting of the Commercial club Saturday night, after William H. Eaton had made a motion that the club go on record as opposed to the city manager plan of government and favoring the straight commission form. The motion was finally withdrawn.

President M. A. Murphy of the Commercial club suggested that an auditor be provided who would have a check on the city manager and who would not be engaged by the manager. He said he had more sympathy for the city manager than the straight commission form of government.

Judge R. J. Montague spoke against the manager plan as it would be difficult to elect good men to keep a check on the manager.

"Both plans will be an experiment here," I believe," said Assistant County Attorney Edward L. Boyle. "I think the straight commission form would be better for Virginia.

Vice President Charles L. Eaton of the Commercial club opposed the city manager plan.

"The propositions that go before the voters should not be befogged," declared Mr. Eaton. "The matter of having a city manager or straight commission form should be decided before the charter is submitted to a vote."

Under the straight commission form of government four commissioners will be paid $2,400 yearly and the mayor $2,500. Under the city manager plan the mayor will be paid $400 annually and the other commissioners $300.

Soliciting Barred.

The proposed charter deems the soliciting of a candidate for an elective office by a city appointee for continuance in office a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $100 or eighty-five days in the county jail.

It also provides that the city taxes be collected here and the county sent its share, so that the city will not have to pay interest to banks for money.

After Jan. 1, 1917, no city orders are to be issued unless there are funds in the city treasury for the amount of the orders.

William Rooney, for twenty-three years a resident of Virginia, found fault with both plans in the charter and warned against the club going into politics.

Commissioners McGhee, Hughes, Charles C. Butler and John Dahlin were appointed to urge a postponement of final action by the charter commission tonight.

SEEK RELIEF FUNDS.

Eveleth Committee to Make Canvass of Mesaba Range for Jews.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 13.—Special to The Herald.)—Local Jews at a meeting in the city hall last night of the Eveleth Jewish relief committe that is raising funds to aid all Jews in the European war decided to make a canvass of the Mesaba range for funds and to that end named the following committee to collect the funds pledged here and to canvass the range: Sam Ellis, George Mesberg and Solomon Bullick. Local Jews have donated liberally toward the fund, about $500, and hope that other towns on the range will do as well. The money will be forwarded to the national committee raising funds in this country for Jewish war sufferers.

BUHL FIREMEN ELECT.

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 13.—The local firemen elected Morris Anderson chief to succeed John Pasich; Edward Grant to succeed N. L. Johnson, assistant chief; Emil Bentilla to succeed Morris Anderson as captain; Arthur Harper to succeed Peter Aarni as assistant captain; Peter Aarni, secretary, and Gus Gronberg, treasurer.

An auditing committee consisting of Gus Gronberg, John I. Anderson, Edward Grant and Peter Aarni was appointed.

Plans are being made to divide the village into wards. Whistle signals will soon be arranged so that there will be no delay in locating the fire as soon as a call is sent in for the firemen.

BUILDING DWELLING FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 13.—It is expected the dwelling being erected by the board of education for teachers living in the Anderson location will be finished in three weeks. This residence will consist of four rooms, built in cottage style. As far as is known it will be the first in this neighborhood built by a school district.

The old school in this village and the school at Kinney have been thoroughly renovated. Sewer and water pipes are being installed at the Hartley school in Spina, and as a result the village of Spina will no longer be without water for fire protection.

The work is being done by day labor. About 350 feet of pipe will be installed in the sewer system and several hundred feet in the water system. Water will be furnished the school from the Kinney village supply.

A reception for the teachers of the Buhl and Kinney schools will be held at the auditorium of the high school in Buhl Friday evening, Sept. 17.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHISHOLM

Six Numbers Planned During Winter in School Course.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The entertainment course for the 1915-16 season has been decided upon and will include six numbers. One entertainment will be given each month during October, November, December, January, February and March.

Following are the numbers:

October — Philharmonic Orchestral club, members of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, with Meta Schumann as soloist.

November — Dr. Thomas E. Green, vice president of the American Peace society, lecturer, author and traveler.

December—Dr. John A. Gray, lecturer.

January—The Chicago Male quartet.

February—The Chicago Musical club.

March—Montaville Flowers, lecturer.

Similar entertainment courses have been given under the auspices of the school for several years past and have met with the approval of patrons.

WANT MINISTER TO CONTINUE AS PASTOR

Eveleth Congregation Declines to Accept Mr. Schwarz' Resignation.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The membership of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church here paid a fine tribute to its pastor, Rev. P. A. Schwarz, last night when, by a vote over 2 to 1, forty or more being present, the pastor's resignation was rejected. Mr. Schwarz asked to be relieved of the charge that he might accept a call to a church in Lander, Wy., where he held services last summer.

Rev. L. W. Gade, Virginia Presbyterian minister, acted as moderator of the meeting which was fairly well attended despite the inclement weather. From the talks made it was very evident the congregation is loath to part with Mr. Schwarz.

Mr. Schwarz has not decided whether to remain or go to Wyoming, despite the earnest request that he stay here.

DULUTH "SOONER" IS HALED INTO COURT

F. T. Nelson Fined at Two Harbors for Killing Chicken Too Early.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. T. Nelson of Duluth was haled before Judge W. B. Woodward in municipal court this morning on a charge of hunting prairie chicken before the season, having been arrested by Deputy Game Warden August Tabor, Sept. 6, near Stanley, on the Alger line.

When arrested, Nelson and two others were just about to eat the game, having just completed cooking some birds when the game warden appeared.

Nelson pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs, which he paid.

Nelson told a hard luck story which appeared to have some weight with the judge as the fine might have been heavier.

EACH WINS TWO GAMES.

Championship Between Hibbing and Virginia Teams Not Decided.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pitching a one-hit game up to the eighth, Hawkins of Virginia Saturday afternoon at the local park, became indifferent and the result was that before the runs quit trickling in Hibbing had six, two more than necessary to defeat the ore diggers who worked hard during three innings annexing their runs.

The game scheduled to take place at the Virginia ball park was cancelled on account of rain and the series ended with each team taking two games, leaving the respective merits of the league team and Brady's Colts a matter of conjecture.

EVELETH PEOPLE ARE FOR BUYING PROPERTY

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only one Eveleth voter opposes buying the Gleason property, dwelling and lot, for the domestic science department of the local schools, according to the vote cast Saturday, which resulted 84 to 1 in favor of the proposition. The district will pay $8,000 for the property. Interest in the election was small as evidenced by the size of the vote.

Buried at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—The funeral of John Schultz, aged 73, who died in a Duluth hospital Friday, was held here Sunday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Rev. Lou Wallace Gade officiating, and interment followed in the Greenwood cemetery. Mr. Schultz leaves four sons, John and Fred, Virginia; Charles, Coleraine; Harry, Hibbing; and three daughters, Mrs. Henry Kauppi and Mrs. Albert Smith, Virginia; Mrs. Leo Bouly, Duluth.

Smaller Eveleth Budget.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 13.—The city budget for 1916, although not yet complete, will call for from $30,000 to $40,000 less than that of last year, according to a preliminary report emanating from council members who made a tentative budget Saturday. The final one will be announced following a meeting of the council probably Thursday night.

To Fix Virginia Levy.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of tax levy consisting of Mayor Boylan, President of the Council Moilan and City Clerk Bickford will meet this afternoon to fix the city levy for 1916. The levy for this year was $386,000 but it is not known whether next year's levy will be more or less.

BIWABIK'S FARMERS' DAY GIVEN BOOST

Motor Parties of Boosters Visit Farmers and Urge Attendance.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big farmers' day to be held here Saturday, Sept. 25, was given a good boosting among farmers in this section yesterday, fourteen auto loads of local people, including the band, visited the following places at the time indicated:

Palo postoffice, Frying Pan lake, 2 p. m.; Sam Nori's farm, 3 p. m.; Markham schoolhouse, 4:15 p. m.; John Ljung schoolhouse, 5:45 p. m.

The Biwabik farmers' day promises to be a great success. There will be numerous prizes offered, free meals and talks along agricultural lines.

ADULTERY CASE IS GIVEN TWELVE MEN

Evelethian Is Being Tried on Family Desertion Charge.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the state vs. Barbara Sullivan, a married woman, indicted by the grand jury along with Ed Lasker, both of Virginia, on an adultery charge, which began in district court Saturday, was completed today in district court and given to the jury. Lasker will be tried later.

The next case called after the Sullivan case was state vs. John Fugin of Eveleth, indicted on the charge of deserting his family.

VIRGINIAN RUN DOWN; TWO RIBS FRACTURED

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Vedetti, aged about 40, a miner employed by the Oliver Iron Mining company, is in Lenont hospital with two broken ribs as the result of being run down by Charles Landstrum's car, driven by the owner on Chestnut street last night. The police say an investigation showed that Landstrum was not running the car rapidly and the injured man apparently walked right in front of it.

AUTOMOBILE DASHES INTO VIRGINIA STORE

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steering gear on John Vogeltahl's automobile broke as he was skimming along Chestnut street early today, and he lost control of the machine and dashed into a one-story confectionery shop and practically wrecked the structure. Neither Vogeltahl nor his car was badly injured beyond the front of the machine being scraped and hurt.

Hibbing Hunters Leave.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Paddy" Ryan, C. F. Corey, B. A. Middlemiss and T. J. Godfrey have left for lakes and prairies in the vicinity of Grand Rapids to hunt. They will return home next week. The party motored in Ryan's car.

Child Born in Duluth.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received here that Mrs. O. E. Amtsbueschler of Duluth, formerly Miss Denfeld, a high school teacher here, is the mother of a daughter born last week.

Berlin Births Decrease.

London, Sept. 13.—A decrease of approximately 25 per cent in the birth rate of Berlin for July over the same months in 1914, is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam. Official returns show that while 3,330 children were born in the German capital in July, 1914, only 2,520 were born in July, 1915. The number of births for May, June and July of 1914 was 10,030, while it was only 7,523 for the same quarter this year.

Making D. H. & S. Survey.

Phapeton, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Surveying for the new D. H. & S. railroad has begun out of this point. There are twelve engineers staying at the hotel here and making their headquarters in the Masonic building, and these are daily engaged in the work of mapping out the best route between Wahpeton and the state line between North and South Dakota. The survey is a tentative one.

Lightning Fires Elevator.

Mayville, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A 15,000-bushel elevator at Portland, owned by the Farmers' Elevator company, was hit by lightning and destroyed by fire. About 8,000 bushels of new wheat in the elevator, fully covered by insurance, were lost.

Bessemer Man Killed.

Bessemer, Mich., Sept. 13.—Carl Jirvosc was almost instantly killed here when struck by a switch engine near the Northwestern depot.

FAMILY FOOD.

Crisp, Toothsome, and Requires No Cooking.

A little boy down in N. C. asked his mother to write an account of how Grape-Nuts food had helped their family.

She says Grape-Nuts was first brought to her attention where she visited.

"While I was there I used the food regularly. I gained weight and felt so well that when I returned home I began using Grape-Nuts in the family regularly.

"My little 18-months-old baby shortly after being weaned was very ill while teething. She was sick nine weeks and we tried everything. She became so emaciated that it was painful to handle her and we thought we were going to lose her. One day a happy thought urged me to try Grape-Nuts soaked in a little warm milk.

"Well, it worked like a charm and she began taking it regularly and improvement set in at once. She grew well and round and fat as fast as possible on Grape-Nuts.

"Sometime ago several of the family were stricken with La Grippe at the same time, and during the worst stages they could not relish anything in the shape of food but Grape-Nuts and oranges, everything else was nauseating.

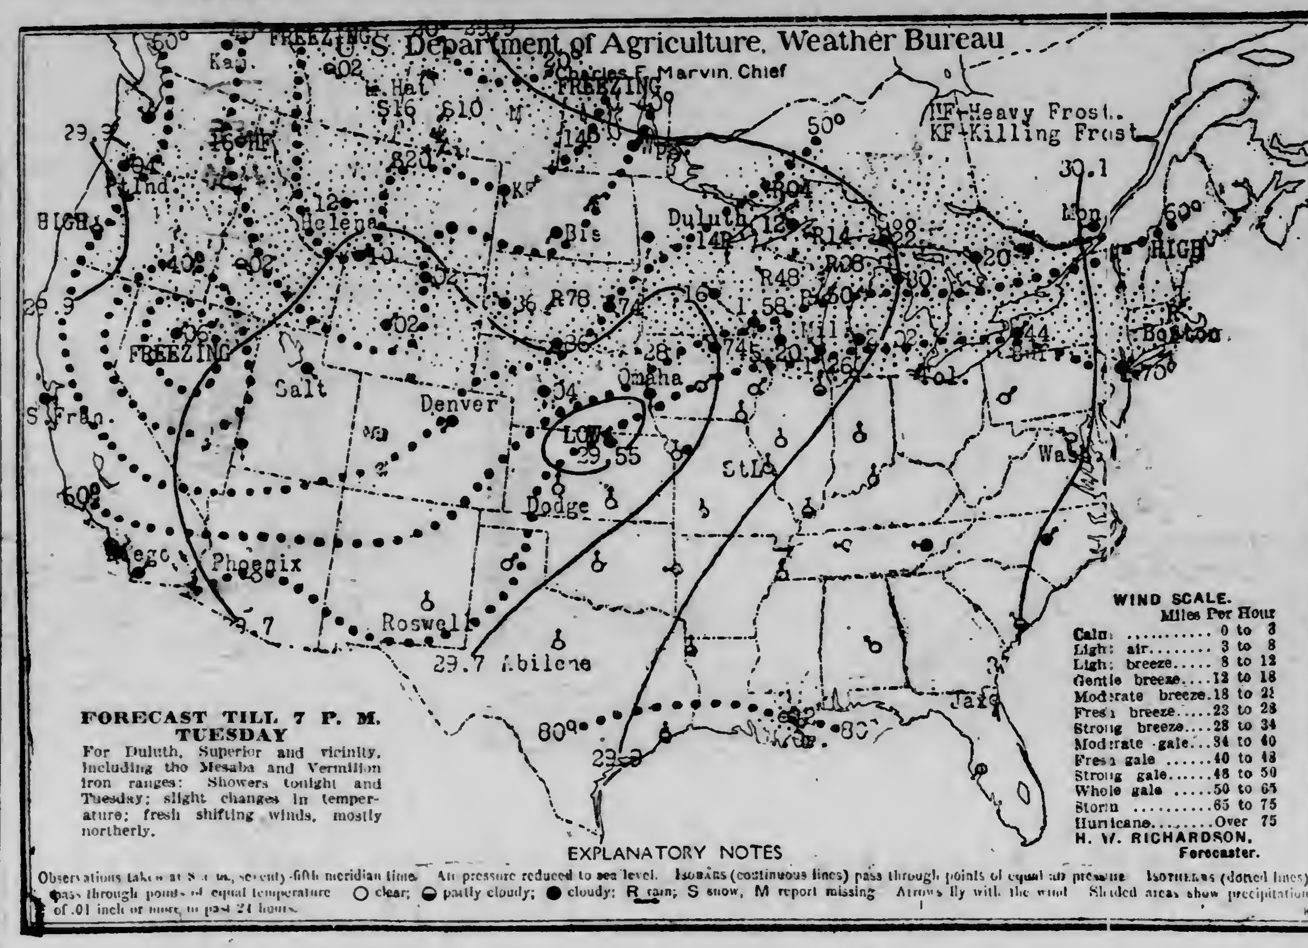

"We all appreciate what your famous food has done for our family."

"There's a Reason."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

SHOWERS

A disagreeable, rainy Sunday preceded a disagreeable, rainy Monday, and cold weather prevailed on both days. It is probable that the rain did much good, for, according to general report, it was needed, so whatever inconvenience has been experienced should properly be charged—or accredited—to general welfare.

Rain fell a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 5:43 and will set this evening at 6:25, giving twelve hours and forty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours precipitation occurred over most of the Northern states and Canada. Snow fell over Alberta and portions of Saskatchewan and Montana and heavy rains fell over Southern Wisconsin and Southwestern Michigan; Madison, Wis., reported 5.20 inches as occurring in the last twenty-four hours. Freezing weather prevails in Western Canada, Northwestern North Dakota, Northern and Western Montana, Northwestern Wyoming and Nevada. Temperatures 90 deg. or higher continued Sunday in most of the Southern states."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota — Showers tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

Wisconsin — Showers and thunder storms tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Showers in north, generally fair in south portions tonight and probably Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

North Dakota—Rain tonight and Tuesday; warmer in west portion tonight.

Montana—Rain or snow tonight and Tuesday; not much change.

Lower and Upper Michigan — Rain tonight and probably Tuesday.

WHALE FREES MATE BY BITING OFF ROPE

Harpooned Leviathian Rescued By Another and Gets Away With the Iron.

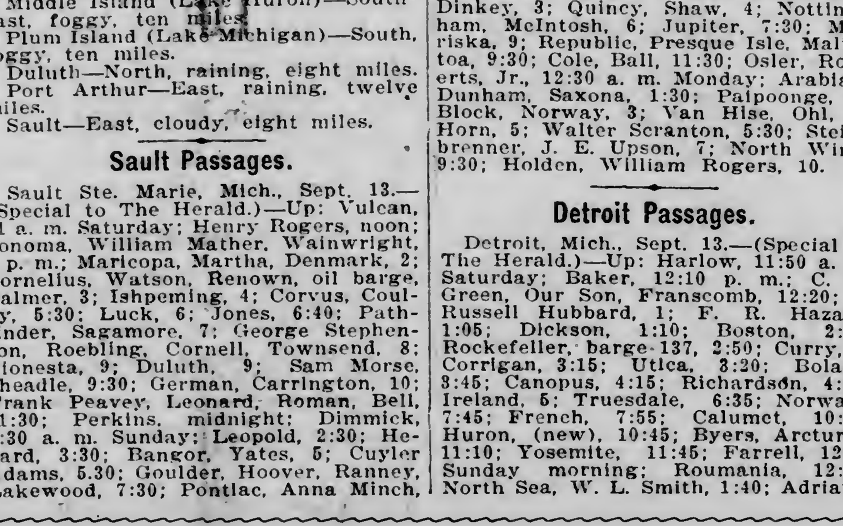

Boston, Sept. 11.—The rescue of a harpooned whale by another is the story brought here by Capt. Louis Lopes of the whaling schooner Whyland. The Whyland was off Cape Hatteras six weeks ago, and a big whale was harpooned by one of her crew. The men were pulling in the line when another whale came into view, and maneuvered for a position between the harpooned whale and the whaling boat. The second whale bit the connecting rope, Capt. Lopes declares, and in a short time had set its companion free. The harpooned whale went off with the iron sticking in its body and twenty feet of rope trailing, and the men were unable to get another shot at either.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN FIGHT WITH RIOTERS

Portland, Or., Sept. 13.—Police Capt. C. E. Batty, Thomas Hammersley, a police detective and Joseph Rotose, a laborer, are undergoing treatment here today for injuries and wounds received last night in a riot precipitated by millhands at Linnton, a suburb. Rotose was shot through the abdomen and the police officers were hurt in their efforts to subdue the rioters.

According to the police the men had been drinking and an anti-American demonstration resulted.

NOT THINKING ABOUT BOOM

C. P. Craig Says He Has Not Considered Governorship Talk.

State Fair Was "Best Yet;" Will Probably Show Profit.

C. P. Craig has given little thought and less consideration to the gubernatorial boom that was launched in his behalf last week at the state fair by several of the country editors, and which was aided and abetted during the week by many friends of Mr. Craig.

"This talk of me being a candidate for governor is none of my doing," said Mr. Craig. "There is little that I can say, for the simple reason that I have given absolutely no thought or consideration to it. I would rather talk about the state fair."

Mr. Craig was very willing to discuss the 1915 state fair, which he enthusiastically characterizes as the most successful exhibition in the history of the state.

"In the uniformity of the entire show, in the high standard of all of the exhibits, in the smoothness with which the fair was conducted, and from the standpoint of the satisfaction given to both the people and the exhibitors alike, I believe the fair was about the best that the state has ever given," said Mr. Craig.

Will Return Profit.

"I believe there will be a profit. All discussion at this time as to how much will be clear, is without basis of fact, as we will not know where we are at until the books have been audited. We were compelled to borrow some money last year. Present indications are that the fair will have realized sufficient profit to pay back this deficit and still have a balance on hnd.

Mr. Craig stated tht considering that threatening weather exercised an ill effect upon the attendance, the turnstile figures were really remarkable and served to emphasize the fact that it required more than hovering clouds to make a failure of the great exhibition.

The following figures, Mr. Craig declared, were to the best of his knowledge a correct comparison of other fairs with this year's show:

1905	273,054
1906	295,263
1907	286,678
1908	326,743
1909	328,678
1910	318,264
1911	242,145
1912	364,128
1913	352,438
1914	321,465
1915	323,457

Newspaper Man Recommends It.

R. R. Wentworth of the St. James, Mo., News, writes: "Two months ago I took a severe cold, which settled in my lungs, and I had such pains in my lungs I feared pneumonia. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it straightened me up immediately. I can recommend it to be a genuine cough and lung medicine." Many mothers write this reliable medicine cured their children of croup. Hay fever and asthma sufferers say it gives quick relief. Sold everywhere.

DUMBA ACTION IS CONDEMNED

Former Subjects of Austria-Hungary Resent His Statements.

Resolutions Passed By Socities in Chicago, Boston and New York.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—A mass meeting of former Slavic subjects of Austro-Hungary yesterday adopted resolutions condemning the action of Ambassador Dumba that caused the United States to ask his recall. The leaders of the meeting were officers of the Bohemian National alliance, the Croatian League of Chicago, the Serbian National club and the Slovak Guards. The resolutions resent the reference Ambassador Dumba made to the Austrians in America as ignorant and uneducated and unable to care for themselves and declare loyalty under any conditions to the United States.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 13.—The Slavonic club of South Boston adopted resolutions at a meeting yesterday in reference to statements by Dr. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador. The resolutions say:

"The Czechs and Slavs of Boston resent the assertion that we are unable to comprehend our acts" and "we assert that we are loyal to Austria, but that Austria, as a vassal state to Germany, can lay no claim to our loyalty."

Referring to work on war orders, the resolutions continue:

"As long as the pay and conditions are in keeping with the work performed, no appeal will be listened to by Czechs and Slavoks on the grounds of loyalty to the Hapsburgs."

New York, Sept. 13.—Resolutions condemning the conduct of Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, Austria-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, whose recall has been asked by the United States, were passed by Branch No. 1 of the Slovak League of America at a meeting here yesterday. Resolutions state that they were passed by former subjects of Austria-Hungary who resent any attempt to interfere with the affairs of their new country. Copies were forwarded to President Wilson and members of his cabinet.

North Dakota Hunter Shot.

Douglas, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olas Evanson was peppered in the face with a charge of shot, fired by Frank Probst, his hunting companion, from the opposite side of a slough where they were hunting ducks. The charge hit Evanson in the face and chest, inflicting numerous flesh wounds, but none will be serious unless infection sets in.

Bernhardt Tour Postponed.

Paris, Sept. 13.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt has postponed for two months her forthcoming tour of the United States, "in order to form a new company as all the actors who were with me on my previous tour are serving in the army, four having been killed."

WANTS DAMAGES FOR OLD INJURIES

Former Employe of Soo Road Struck By Heavy Suitcase.

Alleging that he was seriously injured when struck on the head by a heavy suitcase that toppled off a carelessly loaded truck at the Soo station in this city on Dec. 14, 1912, Anton Zygmanski is suing the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Sault Ste Marie railroad company for $5,353 damages.

Trial of the action was begun in Judge Ensign's court this morning and will probably be finished by this evening. The complaining witness was the principal one to take the stand this morning. He said that in December, 1912, at the time of the accident, he was engineer of the Soo passenger station, where he looked after the furnace and did odd jobs. He said that on Dec. 14 the baggage master at the station directed him to pull a big truck which was negligently loaded with trunks and suitcases. He avers there was a defective spot in the depot platform where there were loose boards and that when the truck wheels hit it a heavy suitcase was dislodged from the top of the load and, descending with great force, hit him on the head, inflicting several injuries to his face, lips and mouth.

Zygmanski said that several months after the accident, when the wounds had failed to heal, he went to the Mayo hospital at Rochester, Minn., where he had an operation performed which cost him $200 and hospital expense of $15. He says that the injury still causes him pain and that he has good reason to believe it always will.

Harvey, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank McGlenn, a Soo line brakeman, was shot and seriously wounded by a transient, whom he routed from a freight train in the local yards.

SUSPECTED YEGGS CAUGHT AT CROSBY

Taken After Burglarizing Blacksmith Shop and Having Yegg Tools.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two gray-haired men, aged about 50, giving their names as George Clarke and Joe Caine, were arrested last night about 9 o'clock after breaking into the Ed Watt's blacksmith shop, where they secured chisels, and other tools. They were unarmed, but possessed certain yeggmen's supplies, such as syringes, worked-up "soap," dynamite caps and a small bottle containing what is supposed to be nitroglycerin. They refuse to make known where they hailed from, are penniless and pretend to be ignorant of court proceedings. They will have a hearing today.

Copper Country Veteran Dies.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 13.—Edward Treglown, 85 years of age, and a pioneer resident of the Copper country, died Saturday at the Calumet Public hospital.

A native of England, Mr. Treglown came to the Lake Superior district in the early 60s, locating in Ontonagon. Later he went to Keweenaw and then came to Calumet. A son, Matthew, of Butte, Mont., and three daughters, including Mrs. John Richards and Mrs. John Stevens of Calumet avenue, survive.

Thieving At Rhinelander.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 13.—Pickpockets were working here Saturday at the fair and succeeded in touching Fred Piehl, head of the Gagen Lumber & Cedar company of Gagen and Minneapolis, for $75. Roman Woodsticks, member of the county board of supervisors, also lost a purse containing $7. Burglars got about $5 Friday night in three hauls on local business houses. They broke into the Rhinelander Brewing company office, the Emmerling meat market and the Briggs bicycle shop.

WRITES VERSE FAREWELL THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Kenmare, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Firing a bullet into his brain, George H. Ohnstedt killed himself at his home here, after penning his farewell in verse.

Business worries are blamed for Ohnstedt's act. His only known relative is a brother, Frank Ohnstedt, residing at Dorchester, Wis.

Motorcyclist Hurt.

Sharon, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Ostenson, aged 18, was badly cut about the head and legs when his motorcycle collided with an auto driven by Miner Ellingsen. Fred Miller riding in the auto was bruised.

MANY EYEING GOVERNORSHIP

Sam Iverson Announces Himself as Candidate During State Fair.

Lee, Peterson and Others Expected; Northern Minnesota Well Represented.

State fair week started the political pot to going a little beyond the simmering point. In fact it bubbled; for Samuel G. Iverson, former state auditor, definitely announced that he is a candidate for the Republican primary nomination for governor of the state. Mr. Iverson was at the state fair and confirmed the rumor that has been going the rounds that he would be in the race again this time.

It is quite likely that Mr. Iverson will submit to no "elimination conference," such as characterized the last campaign, and, in fact, it is not believed likely that anybody will have the temerity to propose such a conference unless something unusual crops up.

Two of the others who took part in the last elimination conference are also said to be candidates, but have not come out in the open as Mr. Iverson has. They are William E. Lee of Long Prairie, who won in the conference and was thoroughly beaten at the polls by Governor Hammond; and James A. Peterson, Hennepin county's perpetual candidate for governor, or United States senator, or both. Mr. Lee told friends a long time ago and again recently that he would be a candidate. His statement was received with something akin to amazement in view of the conclusive character of his defeat last November; and nobody has yet been heard of who looks upon the Long Prairie man as a real contender.

Burnquist and Schmahl.

Lieutenant Governor J. A. A. Burnquist is regarded as being in the fight, for he has practically announced himself, and his attitude throughout the recent tour of the Northern part of the state by the legislators was that of a candidate. And it may be said, in passing, that he made a remarkably good impression in his speeches.

Julius H Schmahl, secretary of state, is also regarded as a candidate. Mr. Schmahl has not said so, but everything points that way, and his speeches during the same tour of Northern Minnesota were taken as a direct bid for support.

That the Northern part of Minnesota, and particularly the Northeastern portion, will not be without representation in the fight, is pretty well assured.

Charles P. Craig of Duluth, president of the State Agricultural society, and chairman of the economy and efficiency committee under the Eberhart administration, is being boomed by Granville Pease, editor of the Anoka Union, and, while Mr. Craig declares that it can never be, many state papers do not accept his denial. Mr. Craig has made himself one of the best known public men in the state, and his services to the commonwealth, given gratuitously and marked with ability, have made him, it is pointed out, one to be reckoned with should he decide to enter a contest for any state office.

Walter J. Smith of Eveleth, present state treasurer, has been mentioned for the governorship, but his friends believe that he will stick to his present job, for he is virtually assured of re-election there.

E. L. Raab of Duluth, who was a candidate last year, and got a handful of votes, has announced that he will be a candidate again. This condidacy is not taken seriously. Mr. Raab announces his platform as being: High license under municipal restrictions, and opposition to woman suffrage. He says that he does not want the support of "prohibitionists or hypocrites," and believes that "woman belongs on a higher plane than man."

Victor L. Power, mayor of Hibbing, is said to be a probable contender, planning to use his fight against the mining companies as a platform.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, Sept. 1, 1915.

Notice is hereby given, That on Oct. 20, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable June 1 in each year.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

All lands are sold subject to any and all ditch taxes thereon.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority.

Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists giving legal descriptions of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

D. H., Sept. 6, 13, 20, 27, 1915.

Notice of Sale of Stumpage on State Lands.

Notice is hereby given that I will offer for sale at public auction at the state capitol in St. Paul, on the fifteenth (15th) day of October, A. D. 1915, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon, certain timber belonging to the state and liable to waste.

An official copy of the list of lands upon which said timber is situated will be furnished by me to all applicants on and after the thirteenth (13th) day of September, A. D. 1915.

Said list will be published, in connection with this notice, once a week for three weeks next prior to said sale.

Dated, St. Paul, Minn., this 16th day of August, A. D. 1915.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

Following is the list of lands (referred to in the above notice) upon which the timber is situated and a statement of the estimated quantities of timber thereon that will be so offered, and the appraised prices of same:

TERMS OF SALE.

This sale is to be made pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 204 of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905, and of Chapter 342 of the General Laws of 1909 and Acts amendatory thereto.

Purchasers of timber at this sale must pay down in cash at the time of the sale twenty-five per cent of the value of the timber purchased based on the estimated quantity and the appraised price of same. Permits to cut and remove the timber from the land will be issued to the purchasers, good for two logging seasons (to expire June 1, 1917) and the timber must be cut and removed within that time unless the State Timber Board by unanimous vote agrees to an extension of time.

No permit shall be extended except for good and sufficient reasons and by unanimous consent of the Board of Timber Commissioners and in no event shall more than two extensions be granted for one year each. A condition of any extension shall be that the purchaser shall be liable to the State for interest on the entire unpaid purchase price at the rate of eight (8) per cent per annum, during the whole time of such extension, and the destruction of the timber by any cause during the period of such extension shall not relieve the purchaser for payment of same and said purchaser shall be liable to the State therefor. When an extension is granted a bark mark shall be agreed upon for each season. None of the timber can be sold for less than the appraised price as given herein and sales will be made to the party bidding the highest price per M feet for all of the several kinds of timber advertised on the land in the different sections. Any bidding over and above the said appraised price shall be by "percentage," the per cent bid to be added to the appraised price of each kind of timber advertised on the land. No bids of less than five (5) per cent will be entertained or accepted.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Dated at St. Paul, Minn., September 8, 1915.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

WHEAT STILL ON THE BULGE

Market Advances With Heavy Buying to Complete Cargo Contracts.

Flaxseed Jumps on Damage Through Frosts in Canadian Northwest.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 13.—The market was strong around the close. September wheat closed 1⅜c up; December 1½c up and May ⅝c up.

September durum closed ¼c up; October ¼c up and December ½c up.

Oats closed unchanged at 32⅝c for on the track; rye unchanged at 89c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 43c to 53c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ⅜c up at 36½c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at 92¼c bid and calls at 97c.

Wheat market showed marked strength around the opening today, prices advancing 2¾c. The bulge was brought about through concentrated buying on the part of elevators to complete cargoes chartered to go out by Sept. 15. While receipts were liberal, today's inspections amounting to 1,369 cars, against 1,291 last year, they were less than had been counted upon. In that connection, consideration was taken of the fact that supplies of wheat in the local elevators are only 1,795,000 bu, compared with 2,495,000 bu a year ago, so that in view of the large sales made to the East for early shipment, a substantial increase in receipts over their recent volume is necessary. Forecasts of rains over the Northwest and unsettled weather in the Canadian West was a factor also taken in conjunction with a substantial advance at Winnipeg.

Considerable selling and profit-taking developed on the advance and prices weakened subsequently around 1¼c. Duluth grain men are looking forward to heavy receipts during the present week with every prospect of the urgent millers' demand being taken care of. After that another period of weakness in the markets is forecasted, and while prices may not be dropped materially, dealers cannot see anything ahead to bull the market on in view of the competition of Canadian wheat for any export trade going. Better deliveres are furthermore predicted in the Southwest from now on, and it was noted that the cash markets were easier at Kansas City and St. Louis today. That was in a measure brought about through the reported cancelling of export contracts for winter wheat, traders reaping fat profits through substituting Manitobas for it at the present levels at Winnipeg.

September wheat opened ¼c up at 96c, bulged 2½c more, and then eased off 1c at the noon hour. December opened unchanged at 94½c, moved up 2¾c, and then weakened 1½c. May opened unchanged at 98¾c, advanced to $1.00¾, and broke 1¼c.

There was also a good inquiry for durum and its market followed the course of spring wheat, but it broke to a greater extent later. September durum opened ¼c up at 99½c, advanced 2½c more, and then broke 2c. October opened ½c up at 97½c bulged 1½c and then weakened ½c. May opened ¾c up at 95c, gained 2c and weakened 1½c.

Frost Booms Flax.

Reports of severe frost in the Canadian Northwest led to strength in the flaxseed market. Buying by crushers appeared at the opening and prices were advanced materially, bulges of 5c being scored in the day. High prices for the day were made at the close.

September flax closed 4¾c up at $1.68 nominal. October opened unchanged at $1.63¼ and closed 4¾c up at $1.68 bid. November opened unchanged at $1.63 and closed 5c up at $1.68 bid. December opened unchanged at $1.62¾ and closed 4¾c up at $1.67½ bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 4½c up at $1.46¾ bid and December 5½c up at $1.48 bid.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1c off at $1.22¾ and London ⅞c off at $1.93⅝.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

MARKET GOSSIP.

There was a good run of wheat on the tracks at Duluth for the two days today, 1,369 cars being inspected, compared with 1,291 last year. Under the spur of good demand from elevators to fill boats under contract to load by Sept. 15, premiums on cash No. 1 northern wheat were advanced to 4c over September. To arrive Sept. 15 sold at the same premium.

* * *

Stocks of wheat in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators as on Sept. 11 were 1,979,000 bu, against 3,779,000 bu last year. At Duluth there was 1,775,000 bu, against 2,495,000 bu last year, and at Minneapolis 204,00 bu, against 1,284,000 bu last year.

* * *

Flaxseed stocks in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators as on Sept. 11 were 716,000 bu, against 1,753,00 bu last year. At Duluth there was 709,000 bu, against 1,739,000 bu last year, and at Minneapolis 7,000 bu, compared with 7,000 bu a year ago.

* * *

At Minneapolis there was a good demand for cash wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem was quoted at 6@7¼c over September and velvet chaff at 2@4c over September. There is good outside demand for velvet chaff wheat. Flour sales were fair, but the advance checked demand somewhat.

* * *

On passage wheat, 24,496,000 bu, last year 31,768,000 bu; increase, 256,000 bu. Corn, 23,920,000 bu, last year 13,183,000 bu; increase, 1,591,000 bu.

* * *

Australian crop prospects are good.

* * *

World's shipments: Wheat—American, 7,044,000 bu; Russian, 24,000 bu; Argentine, 136,000 bu; other, 380,000 bu; total, 7,584,000 bu against 8,533,000 bu last week.

* * *

Paine Commission company had the following from Logan & Bryan at Chicago: "Sentiment is again very bearish on wheat. The trade have had a costly lesson on the inadvisability of pressing sales on the breaks, and we think they will be a little more conservative for some time to come. We look for heavy hedging sales and a lower market this week."

* * *

Russell wired Bartlett-Frazier company from New York: "A prominent authority says that the early dispatches crediting the government with the intention of prosecuting shippers of sulphured oats from one state to another are correct, the oat trade will be demoralized as this year's big crop contains an enormous amount of oats that need to be cleaned and otherwise brought up to a satisfactory condition.

"This authority says that the governments position is untenable. It is understood that sulphured oats from this crop have already been transported (not abroad) and meet with customers satisfaction.

"As far as can be learned the government recently sanctioned interstate shipments of sulphured oats with the proviso that they must be plainly and accurately labeled."

* * *

"General undertone was firm. Spot market was firm, unchanged to ½d higher with Rosafe nominally 1d lower.

"Cargo market was firm, winters 1½d higher, later advanced to 3d. Advance from Saturday, Manitobas, 3 to 4½d higher. Rosafe, unchanged, and Indians 4½d higher. American shipments were much larger than expected, but the amount to the United Kingdom was small, and on passage decreased 2,536,000 bu, with decreasing local stocks when a large increase should be expected. Native wheat is moving slowly and being rapidly absorbed."

* * *

C. E. Lewis & Co. wired from Minneapolis: "J. J. Hill says a careful estimate shows that total requirements of the continent of Europe for the coming year will be about 550,000,000 bu wheat. The United States will have not less than 375,000,000 bu to sell of its big crop. Supply of Canada for export will be fully 177,000,000 bu, and the Argentine 100,000,000 bu. Lowest estimate of the total marketable supply from this continent will be 650,000,000 bu, or 100,000,000 bu in excess of the total demand. It is most essential to the prosperity of the people that our wheat should get to market and find a purchaser."

* * *

American visible supply—Wheat, increased, 786,000 bu; corn, decreased, 149,000 bu; oats, increased, 2,851,000 bu.

* * *

Clearance reported: Wheat and flour together equal to 422,000 bu; corn, 1,000 bu; oats, 791,000 bu.

* * *

Wheat—Receipts, 3,215,000 bu, last year, 4,267,000 bu; shipments, 1,529,000 bu, last year, 2,096,000 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Swings Upward After Show of Weakness at the Start.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Wheat took a decided upward swing today after a show of weakness at the start. General rains northwest and a forecast of more gave courage to the bulls. At first, however, big receipts at the spring crop terminals, including Winnipeg, acted as more than an offset. The opening, which ranged from ¼c to 1¼c lower, with September at 98@98⅜c and December at 94¼@94¾c, was followed by a sharp general advance, which in some cases went 2c a bushel above Saturday night's level.

Later the bulge was largely lost. It was said the advance had checked export business. The close was unsettled at ⅜@½c to ⅝c net gain, with September at 99¾c and December at 95⅝c.

Subsequently free offerings of Argentine corn at the seaboard had a bearish effect. The close was weak at ¾c to ⅞@1c net decline.

High temperatures making ideal conditions for growth cheapened corn. The weather was reported by producers to be the best of the season. After opening ⅛@¼c to 1⅛c down the market rallied a little with wheat.

Oats eased off somewhat as a result of the break in corn. Rural offerings showed a slight increase.

Transactions in provisions were few and far between. The market was nominally steady.

Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.10@1.12; No. 2 hard, $1.13. Corn—No. 2 yellow, 76¾@78c; others nominal. Oats—No. 3 white, 34@34¾c; standard, 37½c. Rye No. 2, 93c; barley, 50@60c; timothy, $8.00@8.50; clover, $8.50@13.25; pork, $12.20; lard, $8.00; ribs, $7.62@8.12.

New York Wheat.

New York, Sept. 13.—Wheat—September, $1.12.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Hogs weakened in price today owing to the supply being liberal. Sellers of cattle seemed to have no recourse except to the big killers. Sheep and lambs were depressed by the generous arrivals at other markets.

Hogs—Receipts, 29,000; firm, unchanged to a shade higher than Saturday's average; bulk, $6.85@7.85; light, $7.45@8.30; mixed, $6.55@8.25; heavy, $6.30@7.80; rough, $6.30@6.50; pigs, $6.50@7.75.

Cattle—Receipts, 19,000; weak, native beef cattle, $6.00@10.25; western steers, $6.60@8.75; cows and heifers, $2.90@8.30; calves, $8.00@12.00.

Sheep—Receipts, 22,000; weak; sheep, $5.35@5.90; lambs, $6.40@8.90.

Oil Advances.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 13.—Five cents a barrel was added to the price of the principal grades of crude oil today, the South Penn Oil company announcing these prices:

Pennsylvania, $1.65; other prices quoted are: Mercer black and Newcastle, $1.23; Cabell, $1.25; Corning, $1.12; Somerset, $1.08; and Ragland unchanged at 65c.

War Shares Sole Interest in Early Trading in Wall Street.

Some specialties increased their early gains, Bethlehem Steel rising to 328 and New York Air Brake 3 to 146. Minor war shares were up 1 to 2 points and Petroleum 2 to 3. All this time the railways were under steady pressure except Eries and Rock Island, the latter showing some strength on reports that interest on the debenture bonds would be defaulted. Trading dwindled in the second hour, with reactions of 1 to 4 points in war stocks. Interest continued to center in foreign exchange, which evinced greater weakness. Bonds were lower, European selling being the chief factor.

New York, Sept. 13.—War shares furnished the sole interest in today's early trading, with further phenomenal gains. Bethlehem Steel opened 8½ up at 320½, soon advancing to 326. General Motors gained 5½ at 261, Crucible Steel 3¼ at 89 and Studebaker 2 at 117. United States Steel was the only former speculative favorite to make marked improvement over last week's close, gaining a point at 75⅛. Railroads as a whole were irregular at the outset, with a downward tendency later. London was again a seller of our shares, judging from the heaviness of the international list at that center.

Dealings were even lighter in the early afternoon but a better undertone was shown. Some of the railways, notably Erie, were in fair demand at substantial gains.

International relations and the foreign exchange conference held today's market in check, with proounced improvement in the later dealings.

Prices were at their best in the final hour, Steel leading with its rise of 1¾ to 75⅞. The closing was strong.

HAVE TO TURN DOWN ORDERS

Conditions in the steel trade are conceded to be steadily growing more active. Blast furnaces the country over are practically operating at capacity, and orders in all lines of finished materials are increasing.

Steel manufacturers are said to be more optimistic over the outlook than at any previous time this year. This is in a measure due to the appearance of the railrads as buyers of steel rails and equipment. The Louisville & Nashville has bought 43,000 tons for spring rolling and the Atlantic Coast line 20,000 tons also for such delivery. The New York Central is reported to be taking up next year's requirements, and another large Eastern system is figuring upon a big order. Other roads are arranging for purchases for delivery early next spring. With record-breaking grain crops to move and general freight traffic picking up, the railroads are expected to be in the market freely during the remainder of the year to cover their rail requirements.

Steel Mills Congested.

Further reports are coming to hand to the effect that the steel mills are already so congested with business that they are being compelled to turn down orders for delivery this year. As an example of existing conditions, it is mentioned that one company was asked to book an order for 60,000 tons of steel bars and billets for delivery over the next four months. All it was able to accept on that order was 8,000 tons.

Additional idle plants are going into commission. Blast Furnace No. 2 of the Carnegie Steel company at Farrell, Pa., has resumed after a six months' shut-down. With the resumption of that furnace, the Farrell works are operating at full capacity. The United States Steel corporation is operating every furnace in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys.

Steel prices are firm in every line. The tendency of quotations is upward. In the East, steel blooms sold as high as $47 a ton last week. A month ago they could have been bought at $35 a ton. Steel bars for high explosive shells are selling as high as $3 per 100 pounds, compared with $1.55 earlier in the year.

Steel Prices Advance.

No. 2 foundry iron, Philadelphia, $15.50 to $16 a ton; basic eastern iron, $16.50 to $17; Bessemer, Pittsburgh, $16.45 to $16.95; gray forging, Pittsburgh, $14.45 to $14.70.

Bessemer billets, Pittsburgh, $23.50 a ton to $24; open-hearth billets, $24 to $24.50; open-hearth sheet bars, Pittsburgh, $24.50 to $25; forged billets, Pittsburgh, $30 to $32; wire rods, Pittsburgh, $28 to $29.

Steel bars, Pittsburgh, $1.30 to $1.35 per 100 pounds; tank plates, Pittsburgh, $1.30 to $1.35. Scrap iron is up from 50 cents to $1.25 a ton.

GOOD BULGE IN BUTTE & SUPERIOR

Trading in mining stocks at Boston was confined to a few issues today, but quotations were well maintained.

Butte & Superior was a feature in the day's operations, advancing $1.25 to $66.75.

American Zinc closed 62 cents up at $52.50; Copper Range fractionally up at $54; Granby unchanged at $82; Greene-Cananea fractionally up at $38; Mohawk 50 cents up at $71; North Butte 25 cents up at $29.25, and Shattuck unchanged at $24.50.

At New York Anaconda closed $1 up at $70.50.

* * *

At St. Louis lead closed at 4.50@4.60 cents and spelter at 12.00@18.75 cents.

* * *

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following from Boston: "On any break would buy stocks. If this loan with the allies is carried out, and it will be, these stocks will sell much higher."

* * *

At London spot copper closed up £1.

* * *

A New York wire said: "A representative of a copper agency says the establishment of a large foreign credit in this country will result in a heavy demand for copper."

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

FOR SALE.

One of the best 40-acre tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Covered with a fine growth of clover. Land is on a good road and only six miles south of the new steel plant and fifteen miles from Duluth. All adjoining land is settled on by farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and and Illinois—men who know good land. Land just three miles north is selling for $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot and the time is not far off when this 40 can be sold in acre tracts for ten times the price asked per acre now. Farm products raised here can be shipped to the new steel city, just six miles north, when the plant is completed in November. This 40 is the best buy at the Head of the Lakes at $50 an acre, but we can sell it at once for $32.50 an acre. Call at once about this. It will not last long at above price.

Old Wagons and Old Buggies

are always marketable, and the surest and quickest way to sell them at fair prices is to spread the news that they are for sale through the entire community; and this may be done at trifling expense by placing a small "For Sale" ad in The Herald's widely read columns. Old Wagons and Old Buggies are exactly what many are looking for, and you cannot reach these many in any other way.

POLICE CALLED TO KEEP ORDER WHEN JUDGE SMALLWOOD TRIES TO TAKE CHARGE OF HIS OFFICE

WARM WORDS ALMOST LEAD TO VIOLENCE

Council at Emergency Meeting Recognizes Governor's Appointment.

Clerk Slams Door of Safe and Refuses to Open It.

Morning Skirmish Leaves Windom Still Holding His Trenches.

Heated words almost led to blows and finally police were called to keep order in Duluth's municipal court late this morning, when Judge W. H. Smallwood attempted to take the office to which he was appointed by Governor W. S. Hammond yesterday.

He was armed with a certified copy of a resolution passed by city commissioners at an emergency meeting this morning which reads as follows:

"Resolved, that recognizing the appointment by the governor of the state, of W. H. Smallwood as judge of the municipal court, we direct the payment of his salary from this time by the city, and that the police force of the city recognize writs or other process from the municipal court attested in his name, and in no other."

Judge Smallwood, Clerk E. A. Thompson, Deputy Clerks Edward Furni and George Hallada, with a score of friends, literally stormed the courtroom and the clerk's office shortly after 11 o'clock.

The crowd jammed the corridor leading to the clerk's office, and made a narrow lane down which Judge Smallwood walked, accompanied by his son, W. H. Smallwood, Jr., and Clerk Thompson.

Clerk M. S. Lloyd, appointed Sept. 10 by Judge Windom to succeed J. G. Ross, stood squarely in front of the door, waiting for the delegation to address him.

Judge Gives Orders.

"Mr. Lloyd," said Judge Smallwood, "I have here a resolution adopted unanimously by the city council and I

CREATES A SENSATION

Great Britain and France Would Borrow Billion Without Collateral.

Government Will Neither Approve Nor Disapprove Such a Loan.

New York, Sept. 14.—The report that the Anglo-French financial commission contemplated borrowing a billion dollars here without collateral of any sort and solely on government notes of Great Britain and France, overshadows all other topics in the financial situation here today.

Heretofore the opinion has prevailed that Great Britain and France would secure the proposed mammoth loan by American securities, dollar for dollar, or by other acceptable form of collateral. All calculations of American financiers prior to the commission's arrival here had been based on that assumption. The reported plan of the commission providing for a straight loan without collateral caused the biggest sensation of the year in the New York financial district.

Bankers Fail to Act.

Washington, Sept. 14.—From high official quarters it was learned today that the United States government neither would approve nor disapprove the loan which is being negotiated by representatives of the European allies in this country.

The position taken is that the matter has not been drawn to the attention of the government by the bankers, that therefore they are free to act of their own accord, inasmuch as there is no legal obstacle in the way of the transaction. The projected loan is regarded by high officials purely as a commercial credit not differing from other commercial transactions in war supplies which are permitted under domestic and international law.

There is every indication, it is learned, that the Washington government will take no steps either to express its views formally on the loan or otherwise to exert its influence in the matter.

ARTILLERY FIRING IN THE WEST ASSUMING GREATER VIOLENCE

Both Sides Participate in Bombardment South of the Somme.

Fighting Continues Along Canal From the Aisne to the Marne.

French Aviators Bombard Railroad Station at Morhange and Other Places.

Paris, Sept. 14, 2:37 p. m.—The activity of artillery along the front in France continues and at some places with great violence, according to the announcement made this afternoon by the French war office.

Furthermore French aviators have thrown down bombs on a railroad in possession of the Germans as well as on certain German barracks. The text of the statement follows:

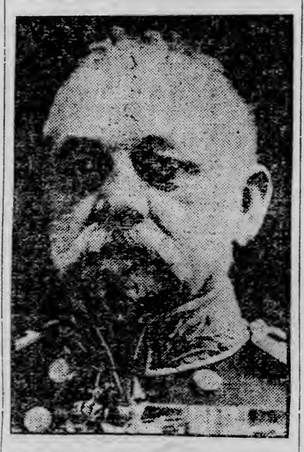

"There is continued activity today on the part of the artillery along the front in Artois. To the south of the river Somme in the environs of Tilloloyle-Oessler and Beauvraignes, there has been an artillery bombardment of particular violence in which both sides participated.

Artillery Fighting.

"Artillery fighting continues along the canal from the Aisne to the Marne; near Sapigneul and Godat, in Champagne; to the north of the camp of Chillons and along the western frontier of the Argonne. In the forest of Mortmare, our batteries put an end to the fire of the German machine guns and directed an efficacious fire upon certain salients of the German line. The night passed quietly on the remainder of the front.

"French aviators have bombarded the railroad station at the junction of Bensdorf near Morhange, as well as the barracks of the enemy at Chatel, in the Argonne and at Langemarck, to the north of Ypres."

ADMIRAL SIR PERCY M. SCOTT.

London, Sept. 14.—It is officially announced that Admiral Sir Percy M. Scott, former minister of naval gunnery practice, has been appointed to take charge of the gunnery defenses of London against attacks by enemy air craft.

COMMISSION HAS LAST SAY

International Joint Commission Is to Decide Water Level Matter.

Steenerson Says Treaty Covers Lake of the Woods Problem.

Crookston, Minn. Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Steenerson left last evening for Kenora, Ont., to attend, on behalf of the settlers in the vicinity of Lake of the Woods and the village of Warroad, the further hearings before the international joint commission, at which the water power companies and other interests favoring a high lake level are expected to put in their evidence.

Mr. Steenerson attended the three-day hearing at Warroad last week, where about 100 witnesses were examined, representing the farming, fisheries and navigation interests, as well as the village of Warroad, which has suffered greatly by the high lake level maintained by means of dams at the outlet of Lake of the Woods in Ontario, Can. The people of the northern country expressed satisfaction at the ability with which Mr. Steenerson conducted their side of the case and urged him to also appear at the hearing at Kenora to further look after their interests.

Case Not Applicable.

Interviewed regarding the matter, Mr. Steenerson said:

"I noticed in the press dispatches from

TURK ARTILLERY SHELLS ENEMY

Also Disperse Troops Near Seddul Bahr, Is Constantinople Report.

Constantinople, Sept. 13, via Amsterdam, and London, Sept. 14.—The following official statement was issued tonight at the Turkish war office:

"Our artillery successfully shelled an enemy regiment near Anafarta in the neighborhood of Karakol and enemy camps near Salt Lake. It also dispersed companies maneuvering near Seddul Bahr.

"An enemy cruiser and torpedo boats which tried to approach the coast were repelled by our fire.

"On the remainder of the front there is nothing important to report."

OFFENSIVE OF GERMANS NEW MENACE

Near Control of Railroads at Dvinsk Does Not Alarm Capital.

Russians Penetrate Austro-German Trenches in Face of Heavy Fire.

Campaign of Teutons in Courland Is Proving to Be Expensive.

London, Sept. 14.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg's offensive near Dvinsk, where the railroad leading from Vilna to Petrograd has been reached, again menaces the railway connections with the Russian capital. The comparative success in other sectors, which the Russians have gained in the last fortnight, however, causes the capital to regard the latest threat against it with no great alarm.

British opinion is that the Courland campaign of the Germans not only is proving costly in men and supplies, but it is likely to fail unless the Russian offensive on the other extreme of the long front can be stopped soon.

Penetrate German Trenches.

By their latest attack in Eastern Galicia, the Russians are reported to have penetrated Austro-German trenches in the face of an exceptionally heavy artillery fire. To the north, the Russians are withdrawing steadily from the dangerous Niemen salient, opposing the German advance merely by stubborn rear guard actions.

The tremendous duel of big guns still marks operations along the Franco-Belgian and Italian fronts. Except for occasional attempts to rush advanced

ADDITIONAL COMPLAINTS

Fourteen More Dealers Ask Reparation for Freight Overcharges.

Based on Shipments of Coal and Grain From Head of Lakes.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Fourteen more complaints were filed with the interstate commerce commission today by coal and grain shippers asking reparation for overcharges on shipments of those commodities from the Head of the Lakes to points in Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

Complaints today were made by the Lowry Lumber company, Lowry, Minn.; Maple Lake Milling company, Maple Lake, Minn.; Manning Fuel company, St. James, Minn.; Mille Lacs Spur company, Wahkon, Minn.; Walter L. Johnson, Windom, Minn.; McClure Coal company, Minot, N. D.; S. H. Bowman Lumber company, Canton and Jefferson, S. D., and Wells, Minn.; H. W. Ross Lumber company, Sioux Falls, S. Brackett, Farmington, Minn.; L. Mikkelson, Stephen, Minn.

It is anticipated that other complaints of a similar nature will be filed at a later date, the interstate commerce commission setting a date for a hearing, which probably will be held in Minneapolis or St. Paul.

SITUATION IS LOOKED UPON AS SERIOUS

Ambassador Has Communicated Position of U. S. to Berlin.

Believed When Germany Knows Facts Disavowal Will Be Prompt.

Matter Discussed By Secretary Lansing and Von Bernstorff.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The American government is not yet willing to discuss with Germany the question of arbitration in connection with the sinking of the Arabic. It was stated today by a high government official that "the question of arbitration is not in issue."

Must Have Disavowal.

It was explained authoritatively that what the American government first wants is a disavowal of the attack on the Arabic. Afterward it was indicated the American government may be willing to arbitrate the question of indemnity.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has communicated the view of the American government to Berlin and it is expected that he will receive a reply within the next week or ten days. The United States is disposed to give him full opportunity to impress on the Berlin government the views of President Wilson as disclosed to him yesterday by Secretary Lansing.

Situation Grave.

While officials realize that the situation is grave, they are hopeful that when Berlin learns of the facts in possession of the state department the act will be disavowed. The department has given Count von Bernstorff full opportunity to communicate with his government and Secretary Lansing has promised him to afford every facility for representing the American view.

It was said today that the ambassador and the secretary yesterday discussed entirely the question of a disavowal.

Ambassador Sees Evidence.

It was learned that the ambassador had the opportunity at the state de-

RUSSIAN MINISTER OF WAR IS OPTIMISTIC

Says Enemy Has Gained No Advantage in the Past Two Weeks.

London, Sept. 14.—"Since Gen. Polivanoff, minister of war, reviewed the position of the Russian armies a fortnight ago," telegraphs the Petrograd correspondent of the Times, "no single event has occurred which can be construed as an advantage to the invaders. Nowhere have they inflicted an actual or strategical blow calculated to alter the military situation in their favor.

"Gen. Polivanoff is satisfied the increase in supplies of rifles and ammunition is being well maintained, and that the Russian armies are in a position strong enough to view the future with confidence."

RUSSIAN SUPPLIES BY WAY OF PANAMA

Steamship Leaves Philadelphia, Bound for Vladivostok Via Canal.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—The British steamship Saint Leonards, the first vessel to clear from this port for Vladivostock by way of the Panama canal, sailed today for the Siberian port. Fifteen locomotives and 6,000 tons of steel rails comprised the cargo, valued at about $575,000. It was sent on the order of the Russian government, and supposedly will be followed by similar shipments.

A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Landings of additional large bodies of British and French troops on the Gallipoli peninsula are reported from Mitylene.

Paris hears that the allied fleet has silenced Turkish batteries on the Asiatic coast in the Dardanelles, which were able to reach camps of the expeditionary force with their fire, and that steady progress is being made against the Turks on the peninsula.

The current official statement from Constantinople on the Dardanelles operations mentions only artillery firing through which the Turks claim to have driven off hostile warships and to have broken up infantry formations near Anafarta and Seddul Bahr.

Teutonic demands that supplies for the Turks be allowed to pass through Roumania and various moves made supposedly in connection with these demands attract attention to the Balkan situation.

A partial mobilization of Roumanian troops has been ordered to meet the concentration of Austrian forces in Transylvania, according to reports from Athens. It is understood in Sofia that Germany has demanded permission for the passage of Austro-German troops through Roumanian territory and the delivery by Roumania of various supplies engaged amounting to $40,000,000.

The tenseness of the Balkan situation is reported in Athens to be bringing Greece, Roumania and Serbia to consider joint action in case of an Austro-German attack on Roumania. Bulgaria is said not to be included in the negotiations in view of the Turco-Bulgarian agreement.

Discussion of changes in the Russian cabinet has been revived with the return of Premier Goremykin from the headquarters of Emperor Nicholas. The broad program of the new liberal majority in the duma for reform legislation is considered unfimely by the government, Petrograd advices state.

LITTLE LEFT FOR WIDOW

Mrs. Matilda Heimick Renounces Will of Late Husband.

Estate, Thought to Be Worth $200,000, Yields Small Sum.

Mrs. Matilda Heimick, widow of the late Frank Heimick, prominent Duluth lumberman and mining man, who died recently in this city leaving an estate supposed to be valued at about $200,000, appeared in Judge of Probate Gilpin's office yesterday afternoon and filed a renunciation of the will of her late husband after having consented to the will at the time it was drawn.

All of the executors, J. L. Washburn, J. G. Williams and Mrs. Matilda Heimick, named in the will, appeared before Judge Gilpin yesterday and refused to serve, asking that Phil Heimick, brother of the decedent, be appointed administrator. Their wishes were complied with by the court.

Now the question arises—and will go before the Minnesota supreme court—"Can a surviving spouse renounce the provisions of a will after the death of the testator, where said spouse has consented to the provisions of the will at the time the will was made?"

Trouble over the provisions of the will arose when Mrs. Heimick discovered that the estate left by her husband was so encumbered that the obligations would eat up the greater part of it and leave very little for her. When Mrs. Heimick accepted the will, at the time it was drawn, she believed that her husband was worth about $200,000, but it now develops that he was worth practically nothing at the time of his death because of the volume of obligations against his estate.

The late Mr. Heimick was well known in Northern Minnesota, where he was prominent in mining and logging circles. He was generally supposed to be worth close to $300,000 and was rated among the rich men of the North. When his will was probated it showed that he was interested in stocks, mines and lands, but that debts which he owed almost entirely offset the money represented in his investments.

PRINCE RAPS GRAND JURY

Criticism of Municipal Auditing System Wholly "Illogical," He Says.

Emphatic exception to the charges of the September grand jury that city officials were lax in their duty to watch the municipal court records, was taken this morning by Mayor Prince.

In a report handed down to Judge Fesler yesterday the grand jury found fault with the recording system as being "inadequate, loose and obsolete," and also criticized the city officials for shifting responsibility.

In a statement given to The Herald, Mayor Prince declares that the grand jury is wholly illogical and its report at variance with the facts and law. His statement follows:

"It is wholly illogical and at variance with the facts and the law for the grand jury or anyone else to say that city officials have not more than discharged every duty imposed upon them by the municipal court act, as to the court's operations, even when most liberally construed. Such statements can only be accounted for by a lack of acquaintance with the provisions of the act."

EXPERT WILL GO OVER BOOKS

O. B. Thayer Will Examine Records of Walter J. Richeson.

Oscar B. Thayer, expert accountant, who created the new auditing system for the public works division, will begin shortly a complete examination of Walter J. Richeson's court records.

This announcement was made this morning by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, following a special meeting of the city council, when he was authorized to take the necessary steps toward ascertaining the exact shortage alleged in the municipal court accounts. Although the meeting was originally called for the purpose of adopting the resolution recognizing W. H. Smallwood as judge of the municipal court, the Richeson matter was brought up by Commissioner Voss.

"This matter should be straightened out at once," he said, "and if there is a shortage, we should make a demand on the bonding company."

It was explained that Mr. Richeson was last week indicted by the grand jury on two counts, and that he will have to face the district court this fall on charges of embezzlement. After a short discussion, Commissioner Silberstein, safety head, introduced a resolution instructing the finance head to ascertain the exact shortage and to employ competent help in doing so. The measure, which was adopted unanimously, follows:

"Resolved, That the commissioner of finance be and hereby is instructed to take such steps as are necessary to ascertain the amount of shortage of funds, if any, existing in the office of the clerk of the municipal court, and that he be authorized to employ competent auditing help to assist him in so doing."

After the meeting Commissioner Voss announced that Mr. Thayer would start work immediately upon his return from Southern Wisconsin. He is expected back in about ten days.

HOW THE TWO GENERALS VIEW THE BATTLE IN POLICE COURT TRENCHES

Judge Windom's Statement.

"The status of the case is not changed a particle. It only brings the matter to a final decision more quickly—a consummation greatly to be wished by myself and, I believe, by everyone interested.

"Whatever the court decides, I will believe fair and proper.

"The matter is now before the supreme court on mandamus, to be heard in the October term. Until they speak, things will likely remain as they now exist.

"Governor Hammond undoubtedly is sincere in thus bringing an issue.

(Signed) "W. L. WINDOM."

Judge Smallwood's Statement.

"Mr. Windom is not judge either by election or by the 'hold over' provision of the law. He was not elected because the entire method used in conducting the last municipal election is held to have been unconstitutional and void. It was not merely my election which was declared void but the entire proceedings by which the election was ordered, conducted and returned, which was held to be void. No person or board has declared Mr. Windom to have been elected, although he sought to have his election declared through the court.

"As to the 'hold over' proposition it means exactly what it says, 'hold over,' a continuance in office. It is a proviso applicable to persons appointed or elected to office which is intended for the benefit of the public and not for the benefit of the office-holder. It provides for temporarily continuing one in office beyond the actual and prescribed term of his office, so that the business of the office need not be suspended. It is of the class of statutes which are strictly construed. It was never intended to extend beyond the time when some other person should be declared elected and should qualify and succeed to the office ,perform its duties and exercise its functions. In the case of Mr. Windom he was succeeded in the office through a judgment of the court and his 'hold over' privilege thereupon ceased and terminated. This would be the condition in the absence of any other law than the 'hold over' clause; but to remove all doubt the general statute 1913, Sec. 5723 settles the question by prescribing the conditions under which a vacancy shall occur in any office.

"Mr. Windom ceased to be judge on April 13, 1915, but refused to give up until a judgment of the court was entered against him. All acts done by him or attempted to be done by him since the decision of the supreme court in the contest of Brown are, in my opinion, absolutely void, including the pretended appointment of clerks and their attempts to perform official acts. Indeed, it is believed by many that all the acts by Windom and his 'clerks' since that decision are acts of usurpation and under our statutes.

"The foregoing statement is concurred in by some of the ablest lawyers in Minnesota. Very few attorneys have taken time to examine closely into this matter."

JURY AWARDS FARMER $250 FOR OVERFLOW

After a deliberation lasting fifty-five minutes, a jury in District Judge Dancer's court late yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict in which it awarded $250 damages to Adolph Lefranoe, a farmer, living near Fond du Lac, whose farm land was damaged by the overflowing of the St. Louis river in 1914.

Lefrance sued the city for $600, alleging that through carelessness of the latter, debris was allowed to accumulate at a bridge near Fond du Lac, until it formed a dam, which caused water to back up on his property.

This morning the trial of an action in which Don Skorich is suing Peter Babich and his wife, Katie Babich, for $420.45, was started before a jury in Judge Dancer's court. Skorich alleges that he rebuilt a house for the Babiches last October and furnished much of the material used. He says that no settlement has yet been made for his wages nor has he been paid for the money he advanced for lumber.

THRESHING NOW DELAYED BY RAIN

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rain Saturday night which stopped threshing yesterday was followed by an all-night rain last night, which was still falling at noon today. There will be no threshing till Friday at the earliest. No damage has been done to the grain so far as the weather is cool, which will prevent sprouting, but warmer weather would prove serious.

Crookston and other villages are filled with idle threshers, forty being in the Polk county jail and seven in the city jail.

Rain in North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another steady soaking rain prevailing here all night does away with the hope of resuming threshing operations for three or four days, even with most favorable weather conditions. The rain was general over this entire section.

SIGNAL BY "CENTRAL"

Telephone Girls Will Say When to Open Style Show.

At 2 P. M. Saturday All Duluth Merchants Will Raise Curtains.

The curtains will be raised on Duluth's Style show at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and "Central" will be the stage manager.

At a signal given by the telephone centrals to all of Duluth's merchants promptly at 2 o'clock the curtains in their windows will roll up, displaying to the eyes of Duluth men and women the newest fall styles.

Designers, buyers and department heads have been busily working for weeks for the opening of the show. This week the window trimmers will do their share.

The windows will be brilliantly lighted Saturday evening. The display of what is modish in fall and winter styles will continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The stores will not be open in the evening next week, but the windows will be lighted.

Virtually all the Duluth stores have united to make the show a real success. Superior street will present a long display of brilliantly arrayed windows, in which will be displayed the latest styles in everything from furniture to women's garments.

Last year's style show was a pronounced success. Superior street was crowded all the time the styles were on display. This year's display promises even greater attractiveness. The show will be larger, more exhibits will be made, and vastly more time and effort have been spent in its preparation.

It is expected that Superior street will be crowded Saturday afternoon by shoppers and spectators, while the Saturday evening display of Fall styles is expected to make the sidewalks along both sides of the thoroughfare resemble an oarsmen's home coming.

HEAVY DAMAGE FROM STORM

Property Loss in Wisconsin By Cloudburst May Reach $250,000.

Janesville, Wis., Sept. 14.—According to late reports from the storm center, where heavy damage was wrought in this vicinity, only one fatality occurred. Henry Geiger was drowned, it is thought, while crossing a small stream on his way to look after his cattle.

Railroad service on the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul road is at a standstill today on account of the condition of the company's bridge over the Sugar river at Brodhead. The mill race has gone out there and it is expected the bridge will go.

Train service has not yet been restored on the St. Paul road to Edgerton and Madison and train service out of Janesville is badly crippled.

Damage May Reach $250,000.

The total damage from the cloudburst will run close to $250,000.

Thousands of dollars of damage at Argyle, Blanchardville and Woodford was the toll of high water of the Pecatonica river, which reached the eighteen-foot stage, three feet higher than the former high water mark.

At Argyle the water flooded the lime sheds at the Illinois Central railroad, and the building took fire. The water had covered the bridge from the city proper and a fireman swam the river with a rope, in order to pull over hose. The fire quickly spread to the station, however, and then to box cars on the siding. When the flames reached a tank car of oil, the firemen gave up the fight. All buildings on that side of the river were destroyed with the exception of the stockyards which are under water.

The warehouse of Oscar Olson and the cheese cellar of Ernest Regez, including four carloads of cheese, were destroyed.

At Blanchardville, north of Argyle, business buildings are flooded and the Illinois Central station there is under water.

At Woodford, a village south of Argyle, the water backed up into the lumber yard, houses and depot.

Struck by Lightning.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Joseph Loroque, living six miles west of Oregon, was killed by lightning and the barn on his farm destroyed by fire, during Sunday's severe thunderstorm, it became known today. Two cows were also killed. The charred body of Loroque was found among the remains of the cattle in the smoldering ruins of the barn.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have catarrh or catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing becomes easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat.

This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

ONE HUNDRED AUTOS ARE LICENSED DAILY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The number of registered automobiles in Hennepin county at the close of business in the office of Secretary Schmahl today was 13,036. The number registered in Ramsey county was 6,803 and in St. Louis county 2,504.

In eighteen days the department has licensed 1,857 cars, or an average of 100 a day. Mr. Schmahl says the figure would be nearer 200 a day if the dealers could secure the machines. Dealers, he says, have informed him that the demand for machines is so great that the factories are unable to turn them out fast enough.

LEAVES CHURCH MUCH.

Manvel, N. D., Man Liberally Remembers Grand Forks Institutions.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the terms of the will of Michael Otterson of Manvel, filed in probate court yesterday, practically the entire estate goes to Catholic institutions in this city and to Catholic priests with whom Mr. Otterson was friendly during his lifetime.

St. Michael's pro-cathedral, St. Michael's hospital and St. Mary's Catholic church are beneficiaries, while Father J. M. O'Driscoll, pastor of St. Mary's church, and Jacob Dobmeier, Otterson's neighbor for years, are remembered. They also are made executors of the estate.

Released By Bandits.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 14.—Edward Ledwidge, an official of the Mexican Northwestern railroad, who has been held for $10,000 ransom by bandits operating near the Cumbre tunnel in Chihuahua, was released early today, according to information reaching here. A posse is pursuing the bandits.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELPS

Nothing excites more criticism than a woman with her face all daubed with face powder in her desire to hide a faulty or any aging skin. Instead of using powder, which clogs and enlarges the pores, it is far better to use a good face lotion that will improve and permanently benefit the skin. By dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water you can make an inexpensive lotion that will do wonders as a skin whitener and complexion beautifier. It removes all shininess, sallowness and roughness, and gives the skin a smooth, velvety tone, while it does not rub off easily like powder, nor does it show on the skin.

By washing the hair with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water, one finds that it dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and very fluffy, so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. This simple, inexpensive shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all dandruff and dirt, and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling. All scalp irritation will disappear, and the hair will be brighter and glossier than ever before.—Advertisement.

SAYS AUSTRIAN AGENT IS AT WORK IN DULUTH

Makes Reports to New York on Activities of Local Factories.

That Austrian agents are watching Duluth manufacturing plants and factories and spreading Austrian propaganda among former subjects of that nation, was the statement made today by a prominent Austrian of this city. He declares that at least one special agent is now working in Duluth under the direction of M. Dumba, Austrian-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, who was last week ordered to leave this country by President Wilson, as a result of his efforts to start strikes in American plants, where munitions of war were being manufactured for the allies. Fearing complications that may result the Duluthian refuses permission to publish his name.

"I don't want my name published," he explained, "as it would harm me with the authorities at Washington and in my native country. However, these facts are true and my statement will be corroborated by other Austrians in this city.

"A careful watch is being kept of all the local factories and regular reports are made to New York. The Du Pont powder works near Ashland are also being watched.

"By watching these plants the authorities at the Washington embassy are thus able to know exactly what supplies are being manufactured for the allies. Strikes were planned in other cities, as we can see by the exposure of Dumba's activities. Whether similar acts were planned here if the Austrian agents thought them justified, I do not know. Austrians in this city resent the presence of spies and the propaganda work among them.

"The local agent, from my own personal knowledge, has made two visits to New York in the last month. If the matters are not so important, he makes reports to some person in St. Paul."

ALLEGED ONTONAGON SLAYER'S BODY FOUND

Ontonagon, Mich., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of John Wilson, aged 48, a fishing contractor of Ontonagon, who has been sought a month for the alleged murder of his wife, was found last night in a creek near here. At first it was supposed his wife died a natural death but finger marks found on the throat by the undertaker led to the murder supposition. Whether Wilson killed himself or met a natural death is to be ascertained.

MAKI GOES TO TRIAL.

Jury Drawn to Decide Fate of Alleged Robber.

Omni Maki, 29 years, charged with robbery in the first degree, went on trial in District Judge Fesler's court this afternoon, all of the morning being devoted to the drawing of a jury.

First Assistant County Attorney M. M. Forbes is conducting the prosecution while Attorney N. H. Wilson is representing Maki.

Maki was indicted by the September grand jury on information furnished by Frank Hill, a laborer, who said that Maki and a companion had held him up and robbed him of $143 in cash and a gold watch on June 11. The alleged robbery is said to have taken place on the Lester river road, after Maki and a companion are said to have invited Hill to go with them into the country where they could secure employment on a farm.

BOMB MAY HAVE CAUSED SHIP FIRE

New York, Sept. 14.—No lives were lost and no one was injured during the fire on the steamer Sant' Anna, bound from New York for Italian ports with more than 1,600 Italian reservists, according to a wireless message received by the Fabre line agents here today. The message added that the Sant' Anna, convoyed by the Ancona of the same line, is proceeding to Fayal, Azores.

Capt. Pavey of the Santa' Anna did not state the extent of the damage nor the cause of the fire. The local agents expect a report from the captain shortly after he reaches the Azores. Although nothing definite is known here, the agents are inclined to believe the cargo, consisting chiefly of foodstuffs, hundreds of barrels of oil and a large quantity of paraffine wax, was not damaged, as previous messages stated the fire was in the hold containing steerage baggage.

Some officials of the line are inclined to believe the fire was caused by a fire bomb, timed to explode when the vessel was about in mid-ocean.

WHALE BOATS ARE ON LAKE BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two whale boats arrived in the city this week for the use of the Bemidji naval militia and they have been launched on Lake Bemidji. They were received from the naval supply station at Philadelphia.

Former Mandanite Dies.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has just been received here of the death of Warren Carpenter of Boston, formerly a prominent resident of Mandan and St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Carpenter, during his residence here, was engaged in the real estate and insurance business. In 1884 he removed to St. Paul and later he removed to Boston.

INDIANS ARE BLAMED.

Opposition to Whites Hunting on Reservation Causes Shooting.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. S. S. Morgan of this city, who was injured while hunting, is recovering satisfactorily from her wounds.

The shooting of Mrs. Morgan is clouded in mystery, but it is now generally believed that it was the work of an Indian, because of the opposition raised by Indians to whites hunting in the Mission Bay district.

LEAVES PROPERTY TO NIECES AND NEPHEWS

Cando, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—By the terms of the will of Emmet Pew, whose death occurred here Sunday, and whose funeral was held today, practically all of his estate, valued at about $100,000, will go to his nieces and nephews.

Mr. Pew was a pioneer resident of this section, coming to Cando before the territory was reached by the railroads. His estate consists largely of land holdings, totaling about 3,000 acres. He had been ill five years.

FREIGHT TRAIN TOURISTS HELD UP AND ROBBED

Bowbells, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over forty men were robbed by a band of thugs who operated on a Soo line freight train between this city and Portal.

The robbers, numbering about eight, divided, half starting from the front end of the train, and the balance from the rear. They made a systematic search of every car, and as rapidly as they robbed their victims, they forced them to leap from the moving train.

MARINE

WELL-KNOWN SHIP MASTER IS DEAD

Capt. P. M. Campbell Passes Away at Home in Collingwood, Ont.

Capt. P. M. Campbell, one of the oldest and most popular vessel masters on the Great Lakes, died last Friday morning at his home in Collingwood, Ont., aged 69 years. Capt. Campbell sailed into Duluth for many years, bringing in the first boats of what is now the Northern Navigation company that made Duluth a part of their route. He has not been sailing for a number of years, and for the last few years has been in poor health. He made one trip to Duluth last year with his son, Capt. Andrew L. Campbell, master of the Hamonic of the Northern Navigation line, and was warmly greeted by old friends. He spent last winter in Bermuda, and his son said this summer that the elder captain was feeling better than for several years.

Capt. Campbell was a native of Nova Scotia, but has lived in Collingwood for more than half a century. He is survived by his wife and five children: Andrew L. Campbell of the Huronic; P. M., at home; Mrs. C. S. Proctor, Toronto; Mrs. Harold Dyment, Barrie, Ont.; and Mrs. Robert Law, Toronto, Ont.

Capt. Campbell sailed the steamer Waubuno in the 'sixties, and afterwards was master in turn of the Northern Belle, Manitoulin, Northern Queen, Pacific and Majestic, and for many years was commodore of the Great Northern Transit company's fleet. He was one of the founders of the Georgian Bay Navigation company. In 1880 the name of the company was changed to the Great Northern Transit company. In 1889 this company and the North Shore Navigation company amalgamated, to form the present Northern Navigation company.

He was one of the original directors of the Collingwood Drydock company, which ultimately became the Collingwood Shipbuilding company, of which he was a director up to the time of his death.

SPOKANE GROUNDS; OFF; LOCK POWER HALTED

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 14.—The steamer Spokane, upbound, went aground in the dense fog yesterday at the upper end of Mud lake in soft bottom. The tug Illinois of the Great Lakes Towing company released her in the afternoon. No damage was sustained.

"For three hours yesterday afternoon the gates of the third lock were operated by man power. A short circuit in the plant of the Edison power plant, which supplies the electric force for the third lock, caused a shutdown of the machinery.

New Master of Mitchell.

Capt. James Stewart has been appointed master of the steamer Alfred Mitchell. The appointment was made on the Mitchell's last trip. Captain Stewart was master of the steamer Byron Whitaker for nine seasons. C. O. Townsend is Capt. Stewart's first officer.

HANDS AND ARMS ITCH AND BURN

Wanted to Scratch All the Time. Kept Awake. Clothes Aggravated. In One Week

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had a breaking out on my hands at first and it began to spread to my arms, just like blue or purple spots which would burn and itch and kept me awake at night. The itching and burning were so bad I wanted to scratch all the time; it was worse when I got warm. The breaking out was ugly and unsightly. My clothes aggravated the eruption on my arms.

"I saw an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for some, and began using them with good results. After I had used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for one week, the breaking out was healed." (Signed) Lee O. Eastham, R. F. D. No. 2, Coatesville, Ind., March 22, 1915.

DECLINED BY LUTHERANS

Refuse Invitation of Other Churches to Join Peace Movement.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 14.—Refusal of President T. E. Schmauk to act in common with other American denominations in an appeal for peace to the governments of Europe was strongly indorsed in resolutions adopted today by the general council of the Lutheran church of North America. Dr. Schmauk when appealed to by other churches to participate in the plea to the European powers, took the stand that "it is not the policy of the Lutheran church to participate in politics or to take action looking toward the influencing of the governments."

It was also resolved that "the council laments the trials, dangers, tribulations and manifold sorrows which the ravages of the terrible war in Europe have caused and expresses the hope that God may hasten the day when the blessing of universal peace shall again descend upon sufering humanity."

Cannot Participate.

Regarding general movements in the Christian world looking toward the drawing together of the whole Christian church, it was recommended that while the council cannot participate it is its duty to keep informed as to their trend.

The council authorized a standing committee to see that the Lutheran church is properly represented by chaplains in the United States army and navy. In the matter of the proposed Lutheran federation, hope was expressed that efforts would be made which would lead to a satisfactory relation between Lutheran bodies in this country.

Heresy charges brought against Rev. M. S. Waters of Newark, N. J., as a result of his written indorsement of a book entitled "Marching Men," were dropped by the council. It was held the council was without jurisdiction.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ELECTS TWO OFFICERS

At a meeting held this afternoon, the directors of the Duluth Commercial club accepted the resignation of J. B. Crane from the directorate and second vice presidency of the club, and elected in his stead D. B. McDonald to the vacant vice presidency and Rene T. Hugo as director. Mr. Hugo came within two votes of being elected a director at the last annual election of the club.

Mr. Crane resigned the offices owing to his removal from the city. He is residing in New York.

PUPILS ON INCREASE

New School Building Will Soon Be Necessary at Morgan Park.

Five Times as Many Students as Were Enrolled Last June.

Starting the 1915 school year with one teacher a year ago, the Morgan Park school at the steel plant now has three instructors, and five times as many pupils as when school closed last June.

Recently, when the Minnesota Steel company, through Assistant Supt. George L. Reiss, offered the board of education a site in the Model city for a school, Supt. R. E. Denfeld said that no attempt would be made to erect a building, or inaugurate the Gary plan, until it was possible to estimate the probable number of pupils.

At the present rate of growth a building will be necessary within a few months, say steel company officials.

When school closed in 1914, Miss Sophia Soderberg, the lone instructor, reported twelve pupils. On the opening day this year forty-four children applied for admission.

Now three rooms in house No. 57, donated for school purposes by the company, are being used instead of one. Miss Soderberg is being assisted by Miss Louise Hartz and Mrs. R. W. Flewell.

"For the time being," said Supt. Denfeld, "we will have to conduct the school on the ungraded plan, and let the teachers get along as best they can. As soon as the number of pupils is ascertained, permanent accommodations will be planned."

Directors of the board of education tonight will send a committee to Gary, Ind., to observe the workings of the Gary twelve-month school. One group of children starts work early in the morning, finishing early in the afternoon, while another of the same size assembles later in the morning, and stays after the first group has left for home. Supt. Denfeld also will make the trip.

Originators of the plan claim that in this way many more pupils can be handled in each building.

WOULD IMPROVE HAZLEWOOD PARK

A request that the city park department improve Hazelwood park will probably be made at the meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club at its meeting tomorrow evening at the Merritt school. The property has not been put to use by the city since it became the owner many years ago.

The site is a triangular plot of ground on the west side of Thirty-ninth avenue and the north side of the Northern Pacific railroad tracks. It is the contention of the residents of the district that this piece of ground can be fixed up so that it may be a good playground for children or a resting place and park for grown-ups.

Trees could be planted on the property, and within a short time the park could be made into a beauty spot, say residents of the district.

BIG INCREASE IN HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

A substantial growth will be experienced in high school attendance in West Duluth this year, according to the enrollment at the R. E. Denfeld highe school. This morning the enrollment totalled 359 students, an increase of fifty-four over the number entered at the same time a year ago. The total enrollment last year was 382 students.

It is expected that the total for this year will go over 400. Many students who were in school last year, have not yet entered, although they have signified their intention of doing so. The enrollment to date is divided as follows: Seniors, 29; juniors, 54; sophomores, 98, and freshmen, 187.

The freshman class of this year is the largest ever entered in a West Duluth high school. It is within thirty of the total enrollment of two years ago, which was the final year that the high school was maintained in the Irving school building. Many of the students are those who last spring were graduated from the Merritt and Bryant schools of the West end.

JITNEURS LOOKING FOR "MR. E. Z. MARK"

The size of the "jitney" demanded by drivers of buses operating between Seventy-first avenue and New Duluth depends upon how "easy" the passenger looks, according to E. E. Martell of New Duluth. Mr. Martell told the members of the city commission yesterday afternoon that the residents of the suburbs would welcome an ordinance regulating the jitneys because at present the owners charged whatever they thought they could get from the passenger and operated on no regular schedule.

The cost of the ride varies from 25 cents to $1 according to the time of the day and the appearance of the passenger said Mr. Martell. Often the drivers also drop the passenger at Gary when the person wants to go to New Duluth, making it necessary to walk three-quarters of a mile.

OLD BRIDGE NOW BEING REPAIRED

A crew of men employed by the city and the Duluth Street Railway company is repairing the Forty-third avenue bridge on Oneota street. The pillars under the bridge are being strengthened and the bridge straightened. The company is relaying new rails over the bridge.

The structure has been in bad condition for several years. Early last summer a large automobile truck broke through the planking. Since then notices have been posted at each end of the bridge, warning drivers that no load of more than three tons can go over in safety. The drivers have also been warned not to drive too close to the edge.

PAVING BIDS OPENED.

A. Hedenberg Lowest Bidder of Fifty-Eighth Avenue West Work.

Bids for the paving of Fifty-eighth avenue west between Elinor and Eighth streets were opened at the office of the public works department this morning by Secretary Culver. While no official figures were available up to noon today, it is given out that A. Hedenberg was the lowest bidder and will probably be awarded the contract.

The work calls for a one-course concrete paving twenty-four feet wide. It is expected that the job will be let within the next two weeks and the work started before Oct. 1.

Pleasant Surprise.

Miss Dorothy Longden, 17 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of her friends in honor of her birthday anniversary. Games featured the entertainment. The guests were Misses Estelle Lyons, Gladys Moe, Emmy Granly, Leona Lemmo, Leona Lyons, Ruth Detlaw, Vera Detlaw Lucille Perry, Elsie Peterson, Pearl Olson, Gertrude Meiling and Dorothy Meiling.

Nyberg-Hagglund.

The wedding of Miss Betty Nyberg and Hilding Hagglund of Minneapolis took place Saturday evening at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson, 6211 Tacony street. Rev. K. A. Lunding, pastor of the Third Swedish Baptist church, read the service. The bridesmaid was Miss Lilly Johnson and the groomsman Carl Sundstrom. Miss Esther Johnson played the wedding march.

Following the wedding ceremony a wedding supper was served by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson at which there were thirty guests. Among the out-of-town guests was Oscar Nyberg of Tower.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagglund will make their home in Minneapolis for a year after which they intend moving to Duluth.

DANGEROUS BLAZE AT ALGER-SMITH MILL

A fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated shaft near the trimmer's table in the Alger-Smith sawmill at West Duluth, gave the West Duluth fire department a run shortly before 9 o'clock last evening. The blaze was nearly extinguished by the watchman when the department arrived. The wet condition of the sawdust and slabs nearby prevented the fire from getting a good start and becoming disastrous to the mill.

Odd Fellows Entertain.

West Duluth lodge, No. 168, I. O. O. F., will entertain this evening for members of Duluth, Proctor and range lodges at Odd Fellows hall, 602 North Central avenue. A big class adoption will feature the work. Following the ceremony a banquet will be spread. L. F. Fleischer will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be P. J. Borgstrom, W. B. Hartley, C. H. Mathews, W. A. Lovelace, I. M. Flack, Andrew Lindquist and Erick Nyland.

Mission Church Activities.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Mission church, will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. R. Stahl, 108 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. The Young People's society will meet at the home of Mrs. Stahl Thursday evening. The choir will rehearse this evening.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mrs. G. L. Train of Chisholm and Mrs. Pond of Minneapolis are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pond, 1219 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Carlin of Bowen, Ill., are spending a few days visiting at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Slater, 612 North Fortieth avenue west.

William Gunderson, who has been ill with typhoid fever at the St. Luke's hospital, has returned home and is convalescing rapidly.

Mrs. George O. Cooper, 719 North Central avenue, and Mrs. Cooper's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anderson and three children of Woodville, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of New Duluth, left yesterday on an automobile trip to Iron River, Wis., where they will attend the annual Bayfield county fair.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Middlecoff, 628 North Fifty-fifth avenue west, have returned from a visit to relatives in Tennessee.

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth.

Single Harness Stolen.

The theft of a single harness from the barn belonging to Oscar Peterson, grocer at 203 North Central avenue, was reported to the police this morning. The harness was taken from the ing. The harness was taken from the barn some time last night. The horse collar was left by the thieves.

PAN-AMERICANS MEET SATURDAY

Washington, Sept. 14.—Secretary Lansing announced today that the Pan-American conference on the Mexican situation, which was to have been convened here tomorrow, will not be held until Saturday and that it will be in New York city.

The changes in plan, he made it clear, was not due to any development in the general situation, but to illness of one of the conferees.

Carranza forces have defeated bandits in three battles in the last three days between Orizaba and Vera Cruz.

The Isthmian railroad, at Orizaba, state department reports say, is being guarded by 5,000 troops.

JACKSON CLUB'S FALL FESTIVAL

Today and tomorrow the fall festival of the Jackson Farmers' club is in progress at the Jackson school, five miles out on the Pike lake road from Duluth Heights. It is reported that the exhibits outnumber and outdo in every way all former ones, and as the previous two exhibits or fall festivals of the club were considered remarkable, this year's offerings are looked upon as extra fine.

There was not a very heavy attendance of Duluthians today but it is expected that tomorrow afternoon there will be quite a number present from the city.

The club is getting ready to build a hall for social center work and exhibitions such as the one in progress now, on a tract of four and a half acres of land that has just been purchased and which is being used for sports as well.

It's Wonderful How Resinol Stops Itching

To those who have endured for years the itching torments of eczema or other such skin-eruptions, the relief that the first use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap gives is perfectly incredible. After all the suffering they have endured and all useless treatments they have spent good money for, they cannot believe anything so simple, mild and inexpensive can stop the itching and burning INSTANTLY! And they find it still more wonderful that the improvement is permanent and that Resinol really drives away the eruption completely in a very short time. Perhaps there is a pleasant surprise like this in store for you. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. Trial free, write to Dept. 2-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

WOMAN PROPOSES, BUT IN THIS INSTANCE THE MAN DISPOSES

Prisoner Refuses to Wed Complaining Witness and Goes Back to His Cell in County Jail.

Pretty Gertrude Stefar, 19 years, tripped into the office of First Assistant County Attorney Mason M. Forbes yesterday afternoon and declared that she wanted to get married.

"Well! Well! is that so?" responded the suave barrister as he arose and waved the young woman to a chair.

"'Tis not a bad idea at all—not at all."

"Well, you see, my case is somewhat out of the ordinary," broke in Miss Stefar. "I've got to get married. I just have to, that's all. I insist upon it. I have brought with me the money to buy a marriage license and the ceremony cannot be performed any too soon to suit me."

"Now I'm in deep water," interjected Mr. Forbes. "Let's get back to earth. What's this all about? Why do you insist upon getting married, and whom would you like to marry? You rushed this matter at me so fast when you entered my office that I have not had time to grasp the situation. I thought you were just joking; but if you are serious I would like to hear your story."

"I am serious," said Miss Stefar. "The man I want to marry is Signor Johnson, a chauffeur, who is now in the county jail awaiting trial. I want him brought up to the courthouse and then I will marry him. I had him arrested, myself."

After consulting with Sheriff Meining, Mr. Forbes ascertained that Signor Johnson was in the county jail, and ordered the prisoner brought to his office. When Johnson was brought face to face with Miss Stefar and learned what she wanted, he said to the deputy: "Take me back to jail; I don't want to get married."

Apparently not the least bit chagrined by Johnson's abrupt and firm refusal to her proposal, Miss Stefar walked out of the county attorney's office, smiling, bidding everyone a pleasant "so long."

FINAL TRIBUTE TO DEPARTED CHIEF

Official Duluth paid its final tribute this afternoon to Fred E. Granzow, assistant fire chief, who met his death while on his way to a fire last Friday night.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the city hall was closed and at the same time the city commissioners drove in a body to the Granzow home to attend the services. Delegations of patrolmen and firemen marched in uniform and escorted the body as the guard of honor.

At 2 o'clock services began at the Gospel hall, Rev. A. J. Douglas of Minneapolis, a life-long friend of the deceased fire chief, officiating. Interment was at the Oneota cemetery.

The city hall reopened at 3 o'clock.

CARLTON FAIR ON NEXT THREE DAYS

The Carlton county fair, held at Barnum, will open tomorrow, and will continue for three days. It is expected that there will be a big attendance from Duluth on the three days, but the biggest Duluth representation will be on Thursday, when the boosters, now touring the northern counties, visiting all of the county fairs, will be in Barnum from 10:24 a. m., until 3:34 p. m., as the official guests of the fair management.

The management of the Carlton county fair has announced that this year's exhibition will eclipse all former efforts in the way of exhibit and extra attractions. One of the finest premium lists ever offered by the association which handles the fair, has been issued and it is expected that there will be some very close competition for the various prizes.

The enlarged exhibit, President John Connors explains, is due largely to the fact that Carlton county has grown in an agricultural way at a rate that astonishes even its inhabitants; and that there are more farmers in the county to furnish livestock and agricultural produce for exhibition purposes than ever before.

THOMPSON THREATENS TO BLOW COURT SAFE OPEN

According to latest advices from the municipal court war front, Clerk E. A. Thompson and Deputy Clerk Hallada, of the Smallwood forces, took charge of the clerk's office at municipal court following the luncheon hour, and Mr. Thompson declares that if the safe is not opened peaceably he will have it blown open.

Messrs. Thompson and Hallada got back from luncheon first and took possession. Clerk M. S. Lloyd of the Windom forces had locked the records in the safe, so all the others had charge of was the empty office. When Mr. Lloyd returned and found the situation of affairs, he retired to the clerk's desk in the courtroom, there awaiting developments.

Court is having a recess during the Granzow funeral, and until business resumes after that, there is a lull in the conflict for control.

TO EXPEDITE SETTLEMENT

Governor Hammond Explains Why He Made Appointment.

Hopes Legal Proceedings Will Be Instituted at Once.

New light was thrown upon the spectacular Smallwood-Windom fight for possession of the municipal court bench today when Attorney Homer S. Fulton made public a letter from Governor W. S. Hammond, giving what he terms an explanation of the chief executive's action.

"The governor merely took that step to expedite a settlement of the case," declared Mr. Fulton, "and his letter proves that conclusively. The attorney general would not recognize an attempt to institute quo warranto proceedings from anyone but Judge Smallwood, and this will give the needed opportunity."

The governor's letter reads as follows:

"In the case of John Brown, Jr., vs. W. H. Smallwood, it is the judgment of the court that W. H. Smallwood was not elected to the office of judge of the municipal court of the city of Duluth at the election held on the sixth day of April, 1915, and not entitled to hold such office.

"While the opinion of the supreme court holds the election of Mr. Smallwood void, it does not hold that Judge Windom was re-elected on April 6, and, as I understand it, he now holds the office not by virtue of that election, but because of the failure to elect a municipal judge.

"Whether there is a vacancy or not, and of course, if there is a vacancy then Judge Windom has no right to act as municipal judge—is a question to be determined, and in order that it may be determined, I have decided to appoint Mr. Smallwood municipal judge in Duluth.

"Trusting that legal proceedings may at once be instituted by him or others interested to clear up the situation, I am very truly yours."

"We welcome the prospect of quo warranto proceedings," declared Attorney Fulton, "for then the case will be brought to the attention of the supreme court early in October, and will be settled definitely."

Lime-Loss in Tuberculosis

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (January 17, 1914) was the following:

"It has been many times stated that in tuberculosis or in the pretuberculosis stage an increased amount of calcium (lime) is lost both in the urine and feces. In fact, a demineralization has been thought to be a forerunner of the development of tuberculosis."

If tuberculosis is due to lime loss, the success of Eckman's Alterative in its treatment may be due, in part, to its content of a lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

Always we have urged consumptives to attend strictly to matters of food, but often some effective remedial agent is needed. In many cases of apparent recovery Eckman's Alterative seems to have supplied this need. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so is safe to try. From your druggist or direct.

SUPERIOR WIFE MURDERER DIES OF WOUNDS

James J. Whalen, aged 58, who on Aug. 27 shot and killed his wife at their home on West Seventh street, died at 7:15 o'clock this morning from the bullet wound which he inflicted on himself. The bullet had lodged at the base of the brain.

Little hope was held out for the recovery of Whalen. He rallied for a short time but a sinking spell set in two days ago from which he failed to recover. The shooting took place following a dispute at his home. The couple are survived by two sons.

Expect Big Enrollment.
Nearly 400 students are expected to be enrolled before tonight at the Superior normal school. This morning the enrollment totaled nearly 350. The classes will begin at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow morning.

LUTHERAN BOOKS OF WORSHIP REVISED

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 14.—At today's session of the general council of the Lutheran church in America it was announced in the report of the church book committee that the work of revising the English books of worship in the Lutheran churches had been completed after many years' work, and it was hoped that the new forms would contribute largely toward a United English Lutherism in America.

The existing books and services have been thoroughly revised, according to the purest liturgies of the Lutheran church of the sixteenth century. The result is a book upon which all three main bodies of Lutherans have come to perfect agreement, and all publishing houses will print from common plates. The new book is to be called "The Common Service Book and Hymnal." It will be published in a music edition, also an edition with words only. The committee added a memorial tribute to the late Rev. Horn of Philadelphia, the secretary of the committee, who had labored most faithfully on this book and who died just before the realization of the aims of the committee had been attained.

MISSING CHILD MAY BE WITH FATHER

Duluthian Now in Portland Where Alleged Kidnaping Took Place.

Lloyd Brown, the 8-year-old son of Herbert L. Brown, clerk at the Northern Pacific freight office, who was reported to have been kidnaped at Portland, Or., yesterday, is believed to be with his father.

Information obtainable today is to the effect that Mr. Brown and his first wife were divorced, and that their son was living with the mother at Portland. Last week Mr. Brown and his second wife left Duluth for a short visit at Portland.

According to an additional dispatch from Portland, Lloyd and two playmates left the hotel yesterday morning for a short walk, and at noon the other two children returned and reported to the mother that the youngster was taken by a man and a woman.

Employes at the Northern Pacific office expect Mr. Brown back the latter part of this week.

Thin Folks Get Fat On Three Meals a Day

Tells Why Food Does Not Always Produce Flesh and What Thin Folks Should Do to Gain Weight.

Most people who are thin and underweight eat just as heartily as do folks who are stout and well built but they cannot seem to gain in weight. They finally think it's their nature to be thin and that nothing can make them fat. But this is not necessarily true.

While flesh and fat must of course come from food nourishment it has been proved time and time again that most thin people have defective powers of assimilation and that the bulk of the fat-forming elements of their meals is passing right through their bodies, never reaching the blood at all. Naturally, therefore, they stay thin.

By a simple correction of the assimilative functions this condition rapidly changes and thin people take on new flesh and weight at an amazing rate. A preparation known as Sargol offers a splendid means for accomplishing this purpose. Sargol is an ideal combination of well-known assimilative agents. A single concentrated tablet eaten with meals has, according to reports received in many cases within a short time been the means of adding from ten to thirty pounds of solid, healthy flesh. It does not make flesh of itself but its aim is to stop the leakage and waste of fatty nourishment and to prepare the flesh-building elements of food into a form which the blood can readily absorb and distribute throughout the body. The effect of this added nourishment in weight increase is remarkable. Thin folks can easily and safely make this test for Sargol is harmless, pleasant to take and inexpensive and Boyce Drug store and many other leading druggists agree to sell it on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back. This guarantee, plainly printed, is found in every large package.

WORK FARM HAS HOUSED 1,633 MEN

Average Number of Inmates Now Is Only Forty-Five.

Sixteen hundred and thirty-three men were received at the St. Louis county work farm up to the first of the month according to the report for August made by Supt. Fred Ward, which was filed with the members of the St. Louis county board, at their regular monthly meeting this afternoon, which was held in the courthouse.

During the month of August fifty-three prisoners were received and three of these escaped. The daily average population for last month was slightly over 45. Fifty-two hundred and nineteen meals were served during the month at an average cost of $0.1149. Nine people were given relief at a cost of $76.50. Temporary employment was furnished to thirty-nine men at a cost of $379.66.

The work farm camps at Nopeming sanatorium and at C. A. Duncan's farm are still running. Camps will be started this month at the Caribou and the Jean du Luth farms and on land owned by R. B. Knox.

Supt. Ward reports that the discipline of the men has been good.

IN INTEREST OF PUBLIC HEALTH

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond today issued a statement urging Minnesota physicians, nurses, health officers and all persons concerned with the health of the state to attend the Minnesota state sanitary conference and public health association to be held at Rochester, Minn., Sept. 29. At this meeting plans will be worked out to reduce to the minimum the annual toll of victims of preventable diseases in the state.

"Minnesota in 1914 lost 11,078 of its population through the ravages of preventable diseases," said Governor Hammond. "Notwithstanding this large number of deaths, no protest was raised—probably for the reason that it is given to all men once to die. Had 11,000 cattle or hogs died from preventable diseases, the newspapers would have been filled with the calamity and the national and state governments would have sent out their agents to do all in their power to stay the evil, simply because cattle and hogs have a monetary value."

AN EASY WAY TO END CATARRH FOREVER

Simple Home Treatment Destroys Germs of This Dangerous Disease.

The reason why so many people who suffer from Catarrh never seem able to get cured is that they are continually seeking the momentary relief of sprays, douching, greasy creams, ointments, etc. Such things do open up the swollen nostrils and clear the head temporarily beside stopping for a while the disgusting blowing, hawking, spitting and choking, but they never cure. To drive out Catarrh for good you have got to get down to its real cause. Catarrh is a germ disease. The air is always full of catarrh germs thrown off by one person and absorbed by another and when the system does fail to throw off such germs they find permanent lodgment in the nose, throat and head and multiply rapidly.

The germs of catarrh can best be destroyed by inhaling the pure, medicated air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me). This splendid and powerful combination of oil of Eucalyptus with other healing agents has a wonderful germicidal action. You breathe its air into your nose, throat and lungs by means of a small hard rubber inhaler which Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists in this vicinity supply with every complete treatment. This medicated air is certain death to the germs of Catarrh and drives them completely out of your system and when the germs are destroyed the catarrh with all its disagreeable symptoms will stop. Even two or three minutes use will give refreshing relief while if you will use it two or three times a day for a few weeks it will completely banish catarrh and every symptom of catarrh. As Hyomei is pleasant to breathe and is always sold by druggists everywhere with a positive guarantee of successful results or money back, surely no Catarrhal sufferer should go long before trying this simple home remedy.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS SMALLWOOD TO BENCH

State Executive Acts on the Theory That Vacancy Exists.

Windom Will Refuse to Recognize Hammond's Authority in Matter.

Duluth's Farce Comedy Contest Takes on New Feature.

Governor W. S. Hammond yesterday appointed W. H. Smallwood municipal court judge, acting on the theory that there was a vacancy in the office. Associated Press dispatches received in Duluth at 9:30 o'clock last night gave the first report of the action.

This ruling was in response to a request by the city commissioners, forwarded to the governor July 31, asking him to help straighten out the municipal court jumble, and to appoint a judge in case it was decided that there was a vacancy because of the supreme court ruling that the preferential ballot was unconstitutional.

When Judge Smallwood was informed over the telephone that he was again judge, he said he would qualify and resume his place on the bench as soon as his commission was received from the governor.

Windom Obdurate.

"I am in office and will not get out," said Judge W. L. Windom, when informed of the appointment. "Smallwood can not come back."

With Judge Windom still of the opinion that he is entitled to possession of the bench, the climax in the bitter fight, which has extended over a period of five months, starting April 12, still is ahead.

Quo warranto proceedings may be brought by the Smallwood faction to oust Judge Windom, should he continue to disregard the governor's appointment, it was learned today. It is known that a request from H. H. Phelps, Judge Smallwood's attorney, that Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith lend his name for the institution of quo warranto proceedings, has been under consideration by the attorney general for several days.

Quo Warranto Probable.

The quo warranto action would be entitled "State of Minnesota, ex rel Smallwood, vs. Windom." It would be original in character and would come up for consideration in the supreme court of the state within thirty days. In a word, it would be a calling upon Judge Windom to show by what right he holds the office of municipal judge of Duluth.

Judge Windom will refuse to give up his place, acting upon the ground that he holds over until his successor is elected, and some lawyers who have studied the case believe he will win over the governor's appointment, if this argument can be made to stand up.

The municipal court act says that a judge "shall hold office until his successor is duly elected and qualified."

"I will advise my client to stay right on the bench," said Homer C. Fulton of the firm of Fryberger, Fulton & Spear, who has been Judge Windom's counsel from the first. "I will suggest that he disregard the governor."

"I am glad to learn of the governor's action," said H. H. Pheips, attorney for Judge Smallwood. "Judge Windom's refusal to get out is something for the courts to decide.

"I am very grateful to the governor and esteem his appointment a signal honor," said Judge Smallwood. "As soon as I get the commission, I will qualify and enter on the duties of municipal judge."

Has Comedy Setting.

The Smallwood-Windom fight is without parallel in Duluth's history, and has caused a laughable state of affairs to exist for some time, with two judges and two sets of deputies struggling for possession of the various desks, and refusing to give way to anyone else.

When the city council declared Judge Smallwood elected on April 12, after canvassing the votes cast at the municipal election April 6, they started the struggle.

City commissioners believed that Judge Smallwood was elected because he had a plurality of first and second choice votes. This was in spite of the fact that Judge Windom had a plurality of first choice votes, with 4,408 to 3,496 for Judge Smallwood. The first and second choices gave Smallwood 6,341 and Windom 5,012.

Goes to Courts.

While the city council still was in session, Judge Windom, through his attorneys, served upon the commissioners a writ of mandamus to compel them to declare him elected upon first choice votes.

"The judgeship is a state office," the said at that time, "and the preferential ballot cannot be applied to it."

Judge Smallwood thereupon qualified. On May 1, after the district court ruled that the preferential ballot was legal as applied to the municipal judgeship, and that he was elected, Judge Smallwood took possession of the bench. This district court decision has been appealed to the supreme court and will be heard at the October term.

In the meantime John Brown, Jr., an elector, started suit against Judge Smallwood to test the preferential ballot, and the supreme court decided it was illegal.

Involved City Government.

For a time it looked as though Duluth's entire government was illegal, but the supreme court ruled that the commissioners were in good de facto standing, and entitled to their offices. The melee in the courtroom broke all precedents, Judge Windom finally winning out.

Between July 30, when the supreme court knocked out the preferential ballot, and Aug. 31, when the district court ruled that Judge Smallwood was not entitled to act as judge, the municipal court had two judges and two sets of clerks, with Judge Windom in physical possession of the bench and holding all contestants at bay.

When the last district court ruling was handed down, Judge Smallwood retired, leaving a clear field to his opponent.

Judge Windom now has a claim before the city commissioners for $1,000, representing four months salary to which he declares he is entitled.

Judge Smallwood on the other hand, yesterday filed notice of a suit for $500 salary for the last two months.

Neither claim has been acted upon by the city council.

POLICE CALLED TO KEEP ORDER

order you to turn over the books, moneys and records of this office to Mr. Thompson, who is clerk."

"By what authority do you make this command?" was the reply.

"I am the judge of this court," thundered Judge Smallwood. "I have been appointed by the governor of this state, and am recognized as the only judge by the city officials. I command you to turn over this office."

During the discussion, Clerk Lloyd walked towards the open safe, and for answer to the last statement, pushed the door shut quickly and turned the lock. In so doing he brushed against Judge Smallwood, who almost lost his balance.

In a minute Lloyd was surrounded by a crowd of angry Smallwood coherents, who shook their fists at him and called out several threats.

"This man actually tried to assault me," cried the judge, and Lloyd hotly denied the accusation, saying: "Your remark is ridiculous! Such a thing never entered my mind."

At this juncture Deputy Clerk Hallada, appointed by Judge Smallwood, entered the room, and, walking up to Lloyd, said:

"It d— lucky thing for you I wasn't here just now."

By this time the clerk's room, the corridor leading to it, and the outside hallway, were jammed with an excited crowd which surged back and forth between the room where Judge W. H. Windom was calmly hearing the final arguments in a civil jury case, and the clerk's office, where Lloyd was holding Clerk Thompson, Judge Smallwood, and his deputies at bay.

Calls Police.

Angered by Clerk Lloyd's refusal to recognize him as judge, Capt. Smallwood turned to his own clerk, Thompson, and said:

"Mr. Thompson, I want you to call a police officer and use force if necessary to obtain possession of this office. I am responsible, and that safe must be opened at once."

The clerk responded by walking quickly down the corridor, followed by a noisy crowd, and returning a moment later with Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, who was in charge at police headquarters at the time.

As soon as Mr. Thompson left the clerk's room Mr. Lloyd attempted to leave also, in order to confer with Judge Windom, but he was stopped at the door by W. H. Smallwood, Jr., who pushed him back.

"You promised Mr. Thompson," said the judge's son, "that you would stay here until he returned, and I'm going to see that you keep your word."

Lloyd stepped back, evidently startled at the close approach to blows, and made no effort to leave the room until Lieut. Terry entered, accompanied by Thompson.

When Lieut. Terry explained that the city council had ordered him, as a police officer, to recognize Judge Smallwood, Lloyd smiled and said:

"I have received no official notification of any kind, and since I have taken oath to care for this office, I intend to do so until Judge Windom orders me to do differently.

"However," he said, "I will talk to the judge and see what he wishes me to do." Thereupon Lloyd left the room and walked down the corridor, followed by the crowd.

Suspends Court.

When he entered Judge Windom's court room, the magistrate suspended court for a moment, and conferred with his clerk in a whisper.

Lloyd stopped at the door of the room on the way back to his office, and turning to Court Officer A. V. Youngberg, said:

"I wish you would come with me. I don't propose to have any——"

The officer interrupted, with: "Oh, that's all right Lloyd. You don't need to worry about that, for there isn't going to be anything of that sort."

In the meantime Judge Smallwood had taken a seat in Judge Windom's court room, and when Officer Youngberg, at the request of City Clerk Walter Bergen, served upon the presiding magistrate a certified copy of the council's action, he stood up as if to walk towards the bench to which the governor had appointed him.

Judge Windom tossed the copy of the resolution to one side, and made a remark to Judge Smallwood about the dignity of the court, which was not heard by those at the door of the courtroom.

At 12 o'clock, when court adjourned, the Smallwood faction, disappointed by their failure to obtain physical possession of what they considered their rights, dispatched Clerk Thompson to the city attorney's office for a warrant charging Lloyd with contempt of court.

"No violence will be used," said City Attorney H. F. Greene, when asked if the warrant would be issued.

BELIEVED RUSS SUCCESS IN EAST

From the Near East comes reports that the Turks are firing villages on the Asiastic shore of the Dardanelles and it is suggested that they are preparing to abandon the straits. It is also reported that the Turkish shore batteries on the Asiastic side of the straits have been almost reduced to silence.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"In the Riga and Friedrichstadt districts no essential change has occurred. On the front of the lower Ekau and northwest of Mitau there have been minor engagements between small detachments.

"The artillery duel has appreciably increased in intensity from Linden as far as 20 versts (14 miles) northwest of Friedrichstadt.

"Desperate actions continue west of Jacobstadt and in the districts of Laos, Pinkstern and Sanken. To the west and southwest of Dvinsk we have been carrying out vigorous offensive engagements in the districts of Abeli and Widany and further south the fighting has been characterized by great desperation.

Railway Cut.

"Near the station of Novo Sventi to the northeast of Vilna, the enemy has cut the railway. Under the pressure of the enemy who made a decisive attack between the Novo Sventi and Vilna districts, our troops retired to the vicinity of the railway station of Podbrodze.

"In the region west of Vilna and to the eastward as far as the Orany district there is no change. On the front of Orany we have been engaged in a fierce battle with the enemy, who has been considerably reinforced in the region of Skidel and further east. The enemy is developing his attack east of Skidel.

"In rear guard actions to restrain the enemy, their pressure on our artillery succeeded in developing a powerful fire on the route of the lines Wolkowysk-Kartovzikai-Bereza. Toward the east the enemy cautiously advanced. His attempts to assume a more decided offensive were resisted and had no influence on the orderly premeditated retirement of our troops.

Situation Unchanged.

"Between Kotschein and Pinsk, the general situation is unchanged. East of the Drogotchine region, there have been only minor engagements.

"Southeast of the station of Sarny our troops continue to hold the enemy who is endeavoring to advance along the rivers Stry and Goryn. Further east on the Kolki and Dessrazno districts the fighting is stubborn. West of Rovno in the Dubno-Krementz region the Austrians are making unsuccessful attacks.

"In the Tarnopol districts our troops under the enemy's hail of artillery fire again made progress, taking prisoners and machine guns. We drove back the Germans, who are retiring to the north. On the lower Sereth, in the Zaleszoayki district, the enemy attempted by an attack to arrest our advance westward but after a stubborn engagement, was again beaten and overthrown.

"Generally speaking, the Austro-German effort is directed to maintaining the appearance of conducting offensive operations, which are costing them losses utterly disproportionate to the results achieved."

GERMANY MUST DISAVOW SINKING OF STEAMER ARABIC

partment to carefully examine a mass of evidence gathered by the United States giving in technical detail the position of the Arabic, the British steamer Dunsley and the German submarine up to and including the time the torpedoes were fired which destroyed both vessels. The proof offered is understood to be chiefly that the German submarine was at right angles to the Arabic when firing the torpedo and that the liner could not see the submarine because up to the moment of firing, it was concealed behind the Dunsley. These facts now have been transmitted through diplomatic channels to the German foreign office and officials are waiting to learn what effect a study of this evidence in Berlin will have on the point of view of the German government.

Status of German Situation.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Conferences between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing and between Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, brought the situation growing out of the German submarine activities to the following status:

1. The German ambassador has been furnished with the evidence of officers and survivors of the Arabic, all agreeing that the liner was proceeding peacefully when torpedoed without warning, and has been advised that the United States desires a disavowal of the attack and reparation for the American lives lost.

2. The evidence will be sent by Count von Bernstorff to the Berlin foreign office, to which it has not been available before, and it will probably be ten days before Berlin is heard from. In some quarters it is believed to be possible that the foreign office, upon examining the evidence, may change its position and disavow the action of the submarine commander, who, it was claimed in the last note, sank the liner because he thought she was about to attack him.

3. The United States has at hand all information on the case as it now stands, and is ready to decide upon its course, but action may be delayed until Count von Bernstorff has had time to exchange communications with his government.

Accepted Assurances.

4. While the United States will not consent to arbitration of a principle or a question involving the safety of American lives, it has accepted Germany's assurances that peaceful liners will not be torpedoed without warning, and if Germany desires to arbitrate the amount of indemnity, the question of whether the Arabic actually attempted to attack the submarine, or whether her actions justified the submarine commander in believing he was about to be attacked, that probably would be agreed to.

The president and Secretary Lansing were in conference nearly an hour, and later Count von Bernstorff spent half an hour with the secretary. No announcements were made. It was said, in well-informed circles, however, that, although the American government was not pleased with the Arabic note, the situation was considered far from hopeless.

The German ambassador is understood to have been given wide latitude by his foreign office in handing the negotiations which his call yesterday was intended to initiate. All the exchanges from now on will probably come through him, and it is generally believed that a settlement of the Arabic case will mean prompt clearing up of the entire submarine question, including the question of reparation for Americans lost with the Lusitania.

No word has come from Vienna, where Ambassador Penfield is presumed to have delivered several days ago the note informing the Austro-Hungarian government that Dr. Constantin T. Dumba no longer is acceptable as an envoy to the United States. Notice that Dr. Dumba has been recalled is expected at any time.

RECOVERY FROM GRIP

The form of influenza popularly called grip lasts but a short time, is seldom fatal but causes suffering and misery out of all proportion to its importance.

The reason is this. When the acute stage of the grip is passed there often remains a neurasthenia that persists for months if not properly corrected. The patient is moody, in poor spirits, suffers lack of appetite and vigor and feels indisposed to work or even to enjoy life. Warmth and quiet alone give comfort and these not for long at a time. Sleep is restless and does not refresh the nerves which are always at high tension.

The best way to correct this after-effect of the grip is to build up the blood and there is no better blood builder than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

As soon as the revitalized blood courses through the system you are aware of its soothing influence. Gradually the color returns to the pale cheeks, appetite and digestion improve and you are on the road to health.

The free book "Building Up the Blood" contains a chapter on the after-effects of the grip. Send now for a copy to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store or by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50.

Warroad an account of the proceedings of a preliminary meeting of those interested on the American side held Monday evening last, at which Mr. Wyvell of the state department was reported to have said that, according to international law, every country, being sovereign over its own territory, could do as it pleased with the waters within its boundaries, regardless of what effect it might have on the adjoining territory, and that I concurred in this view. While this doctrine is correct in the abstract, it applies only in the absence of a treaty. It has no application at all in the present case, for, fortunately for the interests of the people on both sides of the line, the United States and Great Britain negotiated a treaty in 1909, which was ratified in 1910, covering this precise point.

What Treaty Provides.

"The preliminary articles of the treaty defines boundary waters as follows:

"'For the purposes of this treaty boundary waters are defined as the waters from main shore to main shore of the lakes and rivers and connecting waterways, or the portions thereof, along which the international boundary between the United States and the Dominion of Canada passes, including all bays, arms, and inlets thereof, but not including tributary waters which in their natural channels would flow into such lakes, rivers, and waterways, or water flowing from such lakes, rivers, and waterways or the waters of rivers flowing across the boundary.'

"Article III provides: 'It is agreed that, in addition to the uses, obstructions, and diversions heretofore permitted or hereafter provided for by special agreement between the parties hereto, no further or other uses of obstructions or diversions, whether temporary or permanent, of boundary waters on either side of the line, affecting the natural level or flow of boundary waters on the other side of the line, shall be made except by authority of the United States or the Dominion of Canada within their respective jurisdictions and with the approval, as hereinafter provided, of a joint commission, to be known as the international joint commission.'

"And Article IV provides: 'The high contracting parties agree that, except in cases provided for by special agreement between them, they will not permit the construction or maintenance on their respective sides of the boundary of any remedial or protective works or dams or other obstructions in waters flowing from boundary waters or in waters at a lower level than the boundary in rivers flowing across the boundary, the effect of which is to raise the natural level of waters on the other side of the boundary unless the construction or maintenance thereof is approved by the aforesaid international joint commission. It is further agreed that the waters herein defined as boundary waters and waters flowing across the boundary shall not be polluted on either side to the injury of health or property on the other.'

Commission Must Approve.

"From this last article it will be seen that both governments agree not to permit either the construction or maintenance of any works, dams, or other obstructions in waters flowing from boundary waters, the effect of which is to raise the natural level of the waters on the other side of the boundary.

"The evidence now being taken, as well as the report of the engineers employed by the commission, will be the basis upon which the action of the commission will rest, and will determine to what extent, if any, the natural level of the Lake of the Woods may be raised. The level maintained for several years past has been from three to five feet higher than the natural level. In consequence of this the lake has overflowed thousands of acres of the richest land in the state, has prevented the drainage of the lands back of the lake shore, and seriously effected the health of the country. It was shown that the water has been within three feet of the level of the townsite of Warroad, obstructed the sewerage system, flooded the basements of all buildings, including that of the new $30,000 school house; that it has seriously injured the fishing industry in which more than seventy-five fishermen are employed; damaged the Warroad harbor costing the United States $180,000, and threatens the harbor of refuge at Zipple costing $28,000, and obstructing the mouth of Rainy river with sand bars, so that even small steamers have been prevented from entering the river; flooded thousands of farms, and if continued, the drainage system, now under construction to drain the country south of the lake and costing more than $600,000, and 70 per cent completed, will be useless for want of an outlet. In fact the future development of the whole northern country, embracing several millions of acres, will be at an end."

BRITAIN NEEDS GREAT NUMBER OF SOLDIERS

London, Sept. 14.—Lord Kitchener has just presented to the cabinet his estimate of the number of British troops necessary to maintain on the continent next year, according to the parliamentary correspondent of the Chronicle, who declares the estimate greatly exceeds the number already in the field, large as that is.

The correspondent adds that he has learned on indisputable authority that David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, who formerly was a supporter of the voluntary system of enlistment, now has become converted to compulsion, not so much for military reasons as for industrial. He is said to believe the munitions problem can be settled in no other way, since acceleration is impossible without a relaxation of all restrictive labor regulations, and without the utilization to a far greater extent of unskilled labor.

During the past month the number of recruits has sensibly diminished, but men still are offering their services faster than they can be equipped.

The Chronicle article is considered here to be significant, as that paper has not advocated conscription.

PROTESTS AGAINST ATTACKS ON AMERICA

London, Sept. 14.—The Daily Sketch, a picture paper with an enormous circulation, under the caption, "Don't Blame the President," prints an editorial protest against attacks upon the United States. The Sketch says:

"It is time we stopped jeering at America. It is poor policy, bad patriotism and the taste is at least questionable."

Reminding its readers that the population of the United States includes millions of Germans, the paper adds:

"Whatever his own private sympathies, it is the business of the president to consider the interests and sympathies of his whole people. It is an impertinence of persons outside the United States to express an opinion as to whether the honor of America is inextricably involved. The most we can say is that if President Wilson can maintain peace with honor, it is his bounden duty to do so. Let us mind our own business and leave the president to mind his."

CHICAGO GETS FIRST HOT SPELL OF SEASON

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The thermometer here today registered 86 degrees. This, according to the weather man, ordinarily is not unusual, but it is exceptional as marking the first hot spell of the year.

All summer the city waited for the usual hot period, but the heat never became oppressive and never lasted more than a day without rain or cold. Today was the third consecutive warm day and thus is said to establish the season's record.

Hot in East and South.

Washington, Sept. 14.—No relief from the excessive heat, which has gripped the East and South since the middle of last week, is promised by the weather bureau during the next thirty-six hours.

Unseasonably cool weather prevails in the West and temperatures at or below the freezing point are reported from many points in the Rocky mountains and plateau regions.

FAIR AND COOL TO FOLLOW SHOWERS

Washington, Sept. 14.—Weather predictions for the week beginning tomorrow, issued by the weather bureau today, are:

Region of the Great Lakes—Local thunder showers followed by fair and cooler weather beginning Thursday.

Plains states and Upper Mississippi valley—The week will be generally fair and cool with some probability of frosts in the first half of the week in the Middle Atlantic and northern plains states and extreme Upper Mississippi valley.

EXPERT FARMERS OFFERED "FAT" JOBS

Positions along agricultural lines are paying good salaries these days, according to civil service announcements. An experienced agriculturist now can secure enough salary in one year to more than pay for most of the farms of twenty years ago. While a farm laborer may receive $25 a month, a man with education and experience may get $1,800 to $2,400 a year.

All kinds of agricultural experts are needed by Uncle Sam and vacancies occur weekly in this line of Federal service. The work not only offers excellent recompense, but is pleasant and healthful, it is said. The Federal government announces a number of civil service examinations for the near future as follows:

Sept. 22—Mold maker, ceramics, salary not stated.

Oct. 5—Assistant in marketing livestock and meats $1,800 to $2,400; field assistant in marketing, investigations, $1,800 to $2,400.

HERE'S NEW VIGOR FOR OVERWORKED STOMACHS

Hundreds of the best druggists who have been in the drug business long enough to have their own opinion of the best way of selling medicines, say the plan adopted by Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia remedy, is the fairest they ever heard of. The Mi-o-na people don't believe that a medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. And so Mi-o-na is always sold under a positive guarantee to relieve dyspepsia or to refund the money. You simply leave 50 cents on deposit with your druggist, and if, after you have used the box of Mi-o-na, you decide that it has done you no good, all you have to do is to tell him so and he will return your mney.

Hundreds of people can tell how they have been relieved of stomach agonies by using this remarkable remedy. It is not simply a food digester; it is a medicine that puts all of the digestive organs into normal condition and gives ruddy, glowing, vigorous health. A change for the better will be seen after the first few doses of Mi-o-na, and its continued use will soon give the power to eat most anything at any time and not suffer distress afterward.

Mi-o-na is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not stop all stomach distress. This is the strongest proof that can be offered as to the merit of the medicine.

Nothing lessens a man's success in his work or a woman's fascinating personality more than a weak stomach, with its attending evils. Use Mi-o-na and see how much more there is in life. Get it from Boyce Drug Store or any leading druggist in this vicinity.

Detroit Electric

$1975 to $2275

You find—in the 1916 Detroit Electric—an abundance of power—smooth, resistless power that enables you to climb any hill and pull through heavy roads easily and surely.

This power flows from the batteries in a perfectly continuous stream. There are no explosions to jar and tire you and batter the mechanism. You seem fairly to float along over the roads. And because there is no over-powerful engine pounding away at 2000 revolutions per minute as in gas cars the costly bills for repairs, adjustments and replacements which burden many motorists do not trouble the owner of a Detroit Electric. If you have never ridden in the modern Detroit Electric there is a very real pleasure awaiting you on your demonstration trip.

Railway Men Optimistic in Report on Conditions.

F. W. Waterhouse, chief rate clerk of the Soo railroad system; Thomas Wall, general agent of the passenger department of the Canadian Pacific railway at Minneapolis; C. W. Humphries, district passenger agent of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, and W. H. Hughes, traveling passenger agent of the Burlington, are in the city today.

Mr. Waterhouse is here mostly on pleasure, while Mr. Wall is looking for some passenger business for the Canadian Pacific. According to Mr. Wall the passenger business to the coast is somewhat improved.

All of the visiting railroad men state that prospects are bright for an increase in travel this fall.

REFORM LEGISLATION IN DUMA UNTIMELY

Petrograd, via London, Sept. 14.—Premier Goremykin has returned from his visit to the headquarters of Emperor Nicholas, whither he went to discuss with the emperor the program of reform legislation put forward by the new Liberal majority in the duma. The viewpoint of the government is that the presentation of such a broad scheme is untimely. Discussion of changes in the ministry have been revived.

"WE'RE SERVING HUMANITY" SAY SISTERS OF ST. MARY

"When We Tell Others of the Value of Father John's Medicine As a Tonic and Body Builder and for Colds."

The Sisters of St. Mary, of Masson, Que., Canada, in a recent letter, say: "We will willingly permit you to make use of our testimonial in favor of Father John's Medicine. We consider that by doing so we are rendering a great service to humanity at large, but especially to people of limited means, who are desirous of having a quick, sure and comparatively inexpensive restorer of health. They have all this in Father John's Medicine. For several years and with best results we have been using your medicine in our community. We have already recommended it to several young ladies, teachers, who say that from the very first bottle they used they have felt its beneficial effects, and as soon as they begin to feel tired at the irksome toil of the classroom, a bottle of Father John's Medicine gives them new vigor. In case of severe colds we find Father John's Medicine is a safe and prompt remedy.

"Hoping that these few details of our own experience in the use of the medicine may be useful to you, we remain, Yours very respectfully, (Signed) Sisters of St. Mary."

Because it contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for children as well as older people. It is a doctor's prescription, more than fifty years in use. It heals throat and lungs, and by means of its pure food elements nourishes and builds up those who are weak and run down.

Society - Women's Clubs - Music - Drama

THE TEMPLE AID SOciety held its President's day reception this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. E. A. Silberstein, 2328 East Third street. Receiving with Mrs. Silberstein were the other officers: Mrs. Henry Abraham, Mrs. M. P. Shapiro, Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield and Mrs. Maurice Lefkovitz. Mrs. Arthur Schwartz presided in the dining room.

Miss Marie Clarke and Miss Glenn Bartholomew gave vocal selections.

Schumann-Heink Will Sing in Superior

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, who will sing in Superior Sept. 28, will appear in nearly twenty concerts this season. When she went east late in August to fill a few concert engagements she said:

"I am quite certain that I have never felt better in my life; you know of course that last season was a very hard one on me, but this summer I have had a wonderful time at my California estate. The air out there is marvelous, and with two of my children I motored through the mountains, and lead a free and restful existence."

The famous singer certainly looked the pink of health and happiness when she visited New York late in August on a flying trip to fill a few concert engagements in the East. Her cheeks were as rosy as a 16-year-old girl's and the familiar sparkle of her blue eyes was as bright as ever.

Asked about the concerts at which she appeared while at the Panama exposition, she said: "The music festivals were magnificent, just as everything in America is when you people want to make it so; I never sang to such audiences before; imagine, 25,000 at one concert! I wept, I could not help it."

Junior-Senior Club Season Will Open Oct. 1

The Junior-Senior Girls' club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. to discuss plans for the year's work. A president will be elected to succeed Miss Ada Stalker, who has gone to Macalester college; the nominating committee will be appointed tomorrow.

Miss Edna Thatcher, secretary of girls' work of the association, hopes to open the club season Oct. 1 with a party and initiation. Every girl of the junior and senior classes of the high school will be invited to join. Thirty girls remain from last year's membership of 100.

Mrs. Belmont Urges Women to Form Political Party

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—Urging her hearers to forego alliances with any existing man's political party, and to work for a new, woman-made civilization, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, as general chairman of the woman voters' convention, welcomed the delegates at a luncheon today which preceded the first business session of the convention. Mrs. Belmont said:

"The women voters of the twelve enfranchised states of our United States are here to form a body politic. It is the first time in the history of the world that women have moved politically. What does it signify

"It means now, as it always has and always will, that when women come together to work, the moral, better side of humanity intends to assert itself.

"The Western woman, with the power of her ballot, will give to her enslaved sister justice and freedom.

"The union of this sisterhood of women voters is the power politically of the near future. Let us plead with you to form no alliance with any existing man's political party. For twenty centuries, remember, you have been led to believe your work was to patch up the evils germinated by man's so-called civilization. It is time for us women to have a civilization of our own.

"Let us create a new code of honor, a different standard of morals."

Reservations Being Made for Federation Luncheon

Tickets to the federation luncheon, which will be given at the Spalding hotel Thursday, Sept. 23, will not be considered sold unless they have been paid for by Wednesday noon, Sept. 22, as the committee and the hotel management must know how many are to be served. The number of reservations is limited to 300, reservations may be made by any woman, whether a member of a club or not. Those wishing to reserve places may notify Mrs. R. Spiegel, Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell or Mrs. Fred Sermon.

It has been planned to make this the most important social event of the week. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock in the ballroom and will be followed by talks given by officers of the general federation and some of the prominent club women of the state. "Co-operation" will be the general subject, with Mrs. C. L. Atwood, of St. Cloud, the state president, as toastmistress. Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, ex-president of the general federation, will speak on "The Co-operative Power of Woman as Shown in the General Federation;" Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Texas, president of the general federation will speak of "Co-operation Behind the Scenes;" Miss Lucile E. Stearns, a director of the general federation will have as her subject, "Co-operation Expressed Through the Ballot," and Mrs. G. O. Welch of Fergus Falls will speak of "The Job and the Jobless Man."

The luncheon and talks will last until 4 o'clock at which time a reception, continuing until 6 o'clock, will be held in the Spalding parlors for the delegates, visitors and Duluth club women. The state officers will receive.

Duluth Drama League Would Encourage Local Playwrights

The Duluth center of the Drama League of America announces that $50 will be given for the best original one-act play submitted before Jan. 1, 1916.

No limitations are imposed as to the types of plays to be submitted, except that each play must run from fifteen to thirty minutes. Adaptations, translations and sketches with musical features are not desired. No plays previously staged will be considered. Competitors must be members of the Duluth center of the drama league. Each play submitted must be signed with pseudonym only and accompanied by a sealed envelope, bearing on the outside the title of the play and the author's pseudonym and inclosing the author's real name and address. Manuscripts must be clear typewritten copies sent by mail, addressed as follows: "Manuscript for Drama league play contest, the Northern National bank, Duluth, Minn."

Plays may be submitted at any time between Sept. 16 and Jan. 1. Each competitor may submit as many plays as he chooses. Competitors are requested to keep copies of their plays. Unavailable manuscripts will not be returned unless accompanied by postage. Upon receipt, each manuscript will be stamped with a number and the accompanied sealed envelope containing the author's real name will be stamped with the same number. All sealed envelopes so received will be deposited with the Northern National bank and none opened until after the prize play is chosen. The two or three most notable plays received will be staged by the Drama league players at the Little theater in February, the exact date to be announced later. All members of the Drama league who are present at this performance will pass in signed votes for the prize play. These votes will be counted and announcement of the winning play made the same evening. Each competitor is requested to keep secret his competition in order that votes may be cast without knowledge of the authorship of the plays. In this way the contest will be unquestionably fair. If no play of requisite merit is received there will be no performance or award.

This contest will stimulate the local interest in "making plays." The Drama league confidently expects the development of many new playwrights in Duluth. It is hoped that people who have never tried to write plays before will try during the next few months to create what they consider to be "really good one-act plays." The creative work is one of the most fascinating interests of the drama, which the Duluth center of the Drama league is eager to develop.

The arrangement of the final vote for the prize play will develop the critical powers of the members of the league, who will vote impartially, judging the performance according to the standard of a good one-act play.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Negligence a Crime.

No one will dispute the truth of the assertion that not all the people who ought to be in jail are securely incarcerated. There are any number, who should be forcibly restrained, working all manner of havoc and evil, and not the least of these are those who haven't a thought for the rights of others. They are the criminally negligent and are so minutely careless in small, inconsequential things that one is at a loss to decide whether a jail or a retreat for the feeble-minded is their proper asylum.

The class I refer to have never seen the inside of a station house. As for the rabble caught in the clever snare of police officials set to catch them, while at their evil doings, these almost equally criminal, negligent brethren can have no conception. For they are almost always a highly respectable people who have no patience or sympathy with law breakers and the weak and dissipated creatures who pursue a mistaken idea to its bitter end.

These criminally negligent people are in themselves harmless and inoffensive. They would not intentionally do a wrong or anyone an injury, but they are selfish and indifferent to what befalls others just so long as their own condition is one of comfort and security. There are a do-nothing sort with not enough gumption to more than insure their own well being.

Such people are all the more criminal because they have had the opportunities, the lack of which, in others, we offer as a reason, if not an excuse, for what are termed blacker crimes against humanity. More brutal and fiendish they may be, but is there anything more brutal than carelessness and indifference exercised by a person whose every wish is gratified and whose life flows along serenely toward another less blessed?

The people who mean well, and who "wouldn't hurt a fly," and yet continually bring about disaster because of thoughtlessness, even to the point where another's life is lost through their heedlessness, are a sorry, exasperating lot, enough to make one feel respect for the criminal whose deed is of a nature to exact punishment and in due course receives it in full.

Wide Variety in Dress Materials

Foreign and Domestic Designs Numerous; Plaids, Stripes, Dots and Checks Popular, Also Embroidered Models; Tutti Frutti Shades in Profusion; Velvets, Velours and Rich Suitings.

Even though the war has cut off some imports, American women will not suffer from a lack of beautiful dress material for afternoon, evening and tailored gowns, for domestic manufacturers are turning out fabrics exquisite enough to please the most particular, as is shown by the display on the third floor of the George A. Gray company's store.

By far the larger percentage of the materials is from American looms, but France and Switzerland have contributed to the showing. The display, such as is held by the store each spring and fall, includes fabrics ranging from delicate crepe to plush, with intermediate weights of taffeta, damask and velvet, fancy buttons, banding, fur trimming and millinery.

Plaids, Stripes and Dots.

Stripes, plaids and large dots are characteristic of the fall styles. Formerly plaids were regarded as suitable for semi-dress affairs and for blouses, but now they come in combinations for evening gowns, such as Nile green and lotus and turquois and white.

Related to the plaids are the block checks. An example of this new idea is a combination of black and battleship gray. Black and white club checks will be used for one-piece frocks and separate skirts.

Monotone stripes in both evening and street shades are popular in gros grain. Among the stripes are light blue and turquoise, turquoise and flesh and lavender and purple; in the dark combinations are pleaninny brown and black, navy and black and Russian green and black. Broadcloth with indistinct stripes are good for tailored suits.

Paisley Stripes.

The most unusual stripes are the Paisleys—just like your aunt's shawl that she took such care of, only the designs are in stripes, instead of rambling at will over a great field, and are on pussy willow instead of on wool.

Most of the stripes are wide, conforming to the wide full skirts. A variation of the awning stripe is shown in black pussy willow with a white stripe and another black and white combination that would make a stunning evening gown is voile ninon with a white ribbon stripe edged with black.

An unusual pattern is shown in a fine quality taffeta with two-inch swivel dots in the self color.

Materials for evening gowns are always the most interesting in any display and some of the new ones are charming. There is a bright Nile green Georgette crepe embroidered in silver; this is of French manufacture, but there is a companion cloth of American manufacturer, also of green, but a lighter shade, and it, too, is embroidered in silver. This is the first time such an attempt has been made in this country. A black Georgette crepe embroidered in silver is also shown.

Embroidered floral designs hold an important position in the new evening designs and include a white Swiss taffeta embroidered in silver and gold, intended to be combined with plain taffeta or Georgette crepe; a rose colored silk damask embroidered in silver and a Copenhagen blue with sprays of roses done in the natural colors, an exquisite piece of workmanship. Period prints carry out the floral idea; a Louis XIV design shows roses on a white satin ground.

Among the new materials are gros de Londres, examples of which are cherry shade with a heavy gros grain satin stripe, and peach, which, by the way, is crowding out the pinks.

Variety of Materials.

Peau de souris (skin of a mouse) is a soft material suitable for tailored suits, French plush is used for suits as is also wool velour, a new fabric of a velvet-like texture which is soft and warm but not heavy.

Illuminated tailor cloth comes in dark shades with light silk woven into the material, giving a scintillating effect.

Among the heavy fabrics is imported zibeline which has a rich velvety appearance and is shown in eminence shade.

"Tutti frutti" describes the new shades, for there are raspberry, blackberry, elderberry, cherry, plum and peach. Balkan crepe in raspberry is included in the display. Russian, subterranean and an evening shade called "sweet pea" are among the shades of green. Anthracite is a gray so dark it is almost black and is shown in French plush. Pleaninny brown is shown in suiting and silk and an example of golden brown is a French crepe broche with a velvet design outlined in black.

The department of the store where the display is being held, is decorated with fox tails in yellow and brown, poppies and oak leaves. Ropes of yellow crepe paper, mark off the divisions of the exhibit.

How You Can Have "Naturally Curly" Hair

If you will forswear the curling iron and follow the simple plan here suggested, you will be surprised beyond words to see not only the beautiful curl, but the soft fluffiness and lively luster, your hair will acquire. The plan—merely to apply to the hair before retiring, a little pure silmerine (in liquid form), using a clean tooth brush for the purpose. The most effective way is to divide the hair into strands, moistening each of them separately from root to tip.

The delightful wavy effect in evidence in the morning will suggest to any stranger that your hair is "naturally curly." The effect will last a considerable time and if you'll get a few ounces of liquid silmerine from your druggist you will have a supply for months. This, by the way, will leave no sticky or greasy trace and cannot harm hair or scalp in any way. The hair will be quite manageable at all times, no matter how you do it up. —Advertisement.

GRAND SHOW DRAWS CROWDS.

Popular Vaudeville Bill and Strong Picture Program Given.

The new show, which opened a three-day engagement at the Grand yesterday, is one of those bills that suits all comers, possessing a little of everything in a vaudeville way, and some exceptionally strong film attractions. The Grand yesterday had one of its biggest days in attendance.

Norris' baboons hold headline position, and the two performers, Emperor and Empress, outdo most of their competitors on the stage in the variety and skill of their accomplishments.

"An Old Dutch Musicale," offered by the three Van Staats, is a rare musical treat. The players, consisting of two men and a girl, all dressed in Dutch costume, sing and play a number of popular songs and ballads. "My Rosary," sung with a cello accompaniment, was heartily encored.

Fern and Zell, burnt-cork comedians, put over a lot of song, dance and chatter that took well. Joe Daniels in a monologue is a pleasing entertainer with his funny sayings and songs.

The picture program is a good one throughout. "The City Tigress," a three-reel feature film, starring Julia Swayne Gordon, gives a fine interpretation of the temptations and pleasures of a large city. An Essanay comedy, "A Quiet Little Game," and a number of other films round out the program.

Today and tomorrow there will be the sixteenth installment of the $10,000 prize serial film drama, "The Diamond From the Sky." This will be an added attraction.

Theater Gossip.

EXPOSITION FILMS AT THE LYCEUM.

In commemoration of the world's greatest engineering achievement—the completion of the Panama canal—Lyman H. Howe is taking spectators at the Lyceum theater on a film journey through the locks and lakes of the great waterway that now links the Atlantic with the Pacific, and then continues to both California expositions via his inimitable exhibition. Although celebrating the same event, the two expositions are entirely different and in order to acquaint the legion of "Howe travelers" of the wonders of each exposition, arrangements were made with the exposition officials both at San Francisco and at San Diego for special facilities to insure an absolutely perfect reproduction, commensurate with the scope of each celebration. The photoplay is so marvelously fine even to the mirrored reflections in lagoons, etc., that the officials of the San Diego exposition set aside and observed July 7 as "Lyman H. Howe Day" in recognition of his skilful, masterly and artistic filmization.

In the views covering the exposition at San Francisco, spectators will ramble through a magic city upon which more than $50,000,000 was lavished. But any one seeing them, will agree that money is the poorest kind of a measure where such a wealth of architecture has been wrought and of such heroic proportions. Imagine a dream city of domes and towers, arches and great courts, splendid colonnades and rich sculptures, all glowing in the sun, and still the imagination fails entirely in grasping the true scope and magnificence conveyed in Howe's films.

There will also be the usual diversity of other features in the new Lyman H. Howe program.

THOUSANDS SPENT ON ORPHEUM-STRAND.

Completely renovated, more beautiful even than at its christening, when the Orpheum-Strand throws open its doors next Monday night, several thousand dollars will have been expended in bringing the well-nigh perfect playhouse to the state of absolute perfection and the standard on which all the Strand theaters are conducted.

A tasty garden effect will be visible in the lobby, still allowing the beautiful painted tapestries to be seen in their full glory. The famous art gallery has been retained, and none of the features which made the Orpheum the show place of Duluth have been curtailed, and in fact only additions have been made to make the theater more than ever the pride of the Zenith City.

FARNUM POPULAR AT THE REX.

If a vote were to be taken tomorrow on the question of who is the most popular male screen star, his admirers say there is little doubt that William Farnum, whose face is insured for $100,000 and who is said to receive that salary yearly from Mr. Fox, would be unanimously elected. Of course, before he entered the cinema world Mr. Farnum was one of the best known actors in the country. As Mr. Farnum puts it "nobody can set aside the fact that $100,000 a year is enough to tempt the most incorrigible opponent of the screen drama but let me cite some of my reasons for casting my lot with the screen. Where a few thousand will see an actor in a season on the speaking stage, countless millions will witness him and criticize him upon the screen. He may be 'playing' in Holyoke, Mass., on the identical night that he is 'appearing' in Tokio, not to mention a thousand places in between. Do I like picture work? You bet I do. I like the outdoor scenes best. I'm an enthusiast on everything that takes men out in the open. The best times I have are when I am sailing my catboat the Olive Ann, down at Sag harbor—by the way, I won five cups with her last season—or up at my camp at Patten's Pond in the Maine woods."

And getting out in the open is what, in a measure, supplies Mr. Farnum's abundant magnetism and striking personality. Mr. Farnum appears in "The Plunderer" at Rex Beautiful today.

"SCANDAL" A HIT AT THE ZELDA.

"Scandal" made a good impression at the Zelda yesterday and is being repeated today from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. "Scandal" is a five-reel production by Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley, who also take the leading parts in the picture.

This production is beautifully photographed and is said to be one of the best presented dramas ever screened. The story, which aims to unmask the hypocrisy of modern society and to show that men are even more poisonous in their gossip than women, is an exceptional dramatic offering and will without a doubt become one of the popular pictures of the day.

"Scandal" portrays how such a small accident as the wrenching of a foot by a poor stenographer and the goodness of her employer in assisting her, is construed by the men who sit in the club windows and do nothing but talk, talk into a monentous event.

"Scandal" has far reaching effects, and this is clearly and cleverly shown in the picture.

A BANKING SYSTEM THAT WORKS.

Already the new banking and currency system, one of the crowning glories of the Wilson administration, has become so fixed a part of the national life that we are accepting it as a matter of course, just as though it had always been.

But it is neither wise nor just to forget, in the enjoyment of the blessings this system has brought, the forces that gave it and the condition that would exist today if we were without it.

What would have happened during the last year if this country had been depending on the old banking and currency system?

Precisely what has happened before whenever a wave of fear or disturbance swept over the world—it would have curled up and died, and panic, prostrating depression and hard times would inevitably have resulted.

For that is exactly what the old system did every time it was tested. In other words, it worked when it wasn't needed, and when it was needed most acutely it failed to work.

That happened in 1870, when there was a war in Europe which to the present war was as a zephyr is to a hurricane.

It happened in 1873, when an acute financial trouble prostrated finance and became chronic.

Everybody can remember 1907. A banker's panic—wholly artificial, it has often been asserted—sent a flurry of alarm over the country. The public became suspicious of the banks and withdrew deposits. The banks became wary and not only refused new loans but called old ones. Money absolutely refused to circulate, and credit died completely. Panic, depression, a paralyzed industry and a prostrated commerce, created a condition of hard times from which we were just emerging when war broke out in Europe.

The veriest tyro of finance can imagine what would have happened in this country if it had lacked the elastic and adaptable banking and currency system which the Wilson administration gave it. There would inevitably have occurred a complete and disastrous collapse; instead of which business and industry and finance have gone on as usual, working as smoothly and regularly as though nothing whatever had happened.

That uninterrupted industry and mounting prosperity have paralleled in this country the progress of the world-rocking war in Europe is due WHOLLY to the existence of a banking system that WORKS.

All that happened—though that is a great deal—is that this country has erected, in place of a rickety system that inevitably collapsed in the first gust of fear, a system that is able to stand the shock of disaster, and that works best when it is needed most.

Now that September has demonstrated its ability to resemble any old month in the calendar, it will please go back to its normal September business.

THE ARABIC CASE.

Though the German note on the Arabic case is thoroughly unsatisfactory, feeling at Washington is optimistic again, and there seems to be a good chance of a harmonious agreement.

The chief occasion for the disappointment so widely felt over the terms and temper of the German note was the wide disparity between Germany's promise and Germany's performance. This difference was due, apparently, to the report of the commander of the submarine that sunk the Arabic. He professed to believe that the Arabic threatened him, and declares that he sunk her in self-defense. This is not believed on this side, and perhaps when Germany hears the evidence that supports our unbelief she may disavow the commander's action and make reparation. At least there seems to be a good prospect that she will consent to arbitrate the facts, which would be thoroughly fair to both sides.

There can be no questioning Germany's sincere desire to conduct its submarine campaign in a way to avoid a break with this country, providing it can be done without sacrificing that campaign. The chief difficulty in the way of an agreement is Germany's rather ungracious method of discussion; which may be due to the fact that the imperial government feels under compulsion to be stiff-necked because of the effect of too meek an attitude upon German public opinion.

Germany has issued orders, unquestionably as a result of the Lusitania protest, that liners are not to be sunk without warning unless they resist or attempt to escape. This is a considerable concession to this country's demand.

Yet since this order was issued the Orduna was attacked without warning, which the submarine commander says was because he did not know she was a liner, and which act the imperial government has disavowed, thus removing this case as a disturbing factor; the Arabic was sunk without warning, resulting in a loss of life, and the commander responsible declares that he did it in self-defense; and the Hesperian also has been sunk without warning, a case that is still a mystery.

Manifestly, if despite Germany's orders passenger liners can be attacked every time a submarine commander fancies they are not behaving just as they should, and if submarines are going to take wide chances as one did with the Orduna, Germany's concession is of comparatively little value.

Still, Germany's desire to placate this country is obvious, the American government is conducting itself with extraordinary patience and good temper but without abandoning its firmness in any degree, and the outlook for a peaceful and honorable conclusion of the submarine controversy is still good.

Von Bernstorff says he didn't send messages by Archibald because he didn't consider Archibald a safe messenger. When and how did von Bernstorff have the opportunity and occasion to pass on the question of Archibald's safety?

ENGLAND AND FRANCE WOULD LIKE A LITTLE LOAN.

English and French money being at such a discount in this country that ordinary processes of buying here have become virtually impossible, England and France have commissioners here to negotiate a little loan.

All they want is to borrow a billion dollars on French and English government bonds without other security than the credit of these two countries. Every dollar of the money borrowed will, they say, be spent in this country for grain, food, clothing and munitions of war. If they can't borrow this sum, they will be compelled to do a good deal of their buying elsewhere—not of arms, because these they must get here, and for them they will pay in gold; but of wheat and other food products. If they can arrange the little loan, they will buy right and left.

Possibly these commissioners, at the outset, are asking a little more than they expect. American financiers had expected collateral, and were staggered at the proposal to base the credit wholly on government securities. These are doubtless good enough. Neither France nor England, despite their appalling war expenses, is likely to go bankrupt. Even should Germany win the war, it is wholly improbable that it will win such a victory as to wipe these two great countries off the map. So doubtless the security is good enough.

There are difficulties in the way, of course. There is the question whether American banks can absorb the loan; but they are flooded with money. There is the question of neutrality, which does not seem to be considered formidable. On the other hand Mr. Hill, who favors the loan now he knows it means buying wheat, says that if something isn't done this country may find itself with four hundred million bushels of unsalable wheat on its hands, which would hurt.

Anyway, it shows that the world is coming to us, and that peace is profitable as well as comfortable.

Now comes St. Louis with an arson trust. The struggle for municipal publicity may yet drive San Francisco to the earthquake stage.

DUMBA NOT SUPPORTED BY AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN IMMIGRANTS.

One of the pleasant surprises of recent international complications, which have been made doubly complex by the presence in this country of many immigrants from the nations with which we have had more or less grave controversies, has been the attitude of the former subjects of the Austro-Hungarian empire toward the Dumba case.

From Austro-Hungarians all over the country, especially in centers of foreign population like New York and Chicago, have come prompt repudiations of Dumba and his mischievous activities, and assurances, manifestly sincere, of the undivided allegiance to the United States of these partakers of our hospitality—evidences of an ardent loyalty to the country of their adoption.

It has been made very clear that Dumba's pernicious activity lacks the support of those upon whom it was being exerted.

It will help the small boy materially if you can get him to think of himself as a submarine and the lessons as hostile battleships.

The Lost Wilderness.

Toledo Blade: A Minnesota newspaper expresses plaintive regret over the speed with which the wilderness is being pushed back in that state. Fine roads replace the portage trails. The hum of the harvester is heard at the water's edge of what, but recently, were remote and scarcely known lakes. The summer tourists are everywhere. "They arrive in motor cars with servants, they carry canvas-covered wine chests. They set up a rendezvous on some easily accessible island with all the comforts and conveniences of a modern club."

The Minnesota editor looks upon these visitors both with sadness and contempt. They represent civilization, and so the vanishing of that wilderness which was unmarred by the trash of picnickers and the giggle of the summer girl. The thought of the vanishing must always make a man tearful who has lived atune with solitude. The vacationists deserve contempt because of their inexplicable habit of crowding where room is plentiful, their preference for Chinese lanterns as against the moon and the stars, their fondness for wheezy phonographs though the music of the birds and the insects and the wind in the trees is far sweeter.

Our friend in Minnesota says that the visitors are spreading the fame of his land as an outing spot around the world. "Twenty years from today it will be a modern summer resort from end to end and the wilderness will be gone forever." If he grieves, we cannot blame him.

Still Harping on Hughes

By Savoyard.

Washington, Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The standpat Washington Star will not let Mr. Justice Hughes know his own mind and persists in urging that gentleman's candidacy for the Republican nomination for president after he has thrice announced that he will have no more of politics, and only the other day he wrote a former Republican governor of New Jersey that he was not only not a candidate for the nomination, but if nominated he would decline it. That ought to settle it. But the Star will not put up with it and continues to boom the justice. The Star cites the cases of Chase and Field, one chief justice and the other associate justice of the supreme court, but thinks this way about it:

"The case of Justice Hughes is a case apart. He had succeeded in politics to that extent he was, or was rapidly becoming, a presidential quantity when he quitted the field. Many of his friends regretted the step, but none had been able to prevent it. All were obliged to acquiesce and took leave of him with regret."

Hughes had not succeeded in politics any better than Chase, who was governor of Ohio, senator in congress, a formidable candidate for president in 1860, and secretary of the treasury at the most critical period of our national history.

It was because Hughes had been so conspicuous as a politician that he is now on the bench. If the Republican national convention of 1908 had not been bossed as no other national convention of a great party was ever before bossed, Charles E. Hughes would have been nominated and elected president that year. But Aldrichism was then in the saddle, and Aldrichism had no idea of suffering Hughes-ism in the White House. To get him out of the way the G. O. P. put Charles E. Hughes on the supreme bench, and he now most emphatically declines to drag the ermine through the slime of party politics for the benefit of men who hamstrung him every time he strove to reform the political and social conditions of New York when governor of the Empire state.

Hughes knows that if he were president his efforts for his country would again be brought to naught by these same gentry, and that is not all he knows. He knows that if the party had any considerable degree of confidence in its chances for success in 1916 he would not be thought of for the nomination. If the outlook was as bright as in 1908 Alden Smith could beat him for the nomination. Hughes knows that, and it is an insult to his common sense to urge him to again enter the political field.

It is noteworthy that it was not until the emphatic declination of Hughes in his letter to Governor Stokes that proclamation was made that Theodore Roosevelt urges the nomination of Hughes. It will be recalled that it was the convention personally conducted by Teddy in 1908 that turned down Hughes.

* * *

Much ado is made over Roosevelt's indorsement of Hughes. Is Roosevelt a Republican? He says he is not, that he is a member of another and a bitterly antagonistic party. Has the party of Lincoln and Grant, of Morton and Conkling, of Blaine and Sherman, of Aldrich and Reed, of Quay and Platt, of Cannon and Penrose—has this, the G. O. P., come to the pass that it has to ask a virulent enemy to name the head of its ticket? It would seem so.

Some of us do not believe that Teddy would have come out for Hughes had there been the slightest hope that Hughes would accept. Not only is the colonel a practical man, but he is a practical politician, and right now he is playing the political game with great skill, even for him. He is a candidate for president. He finds the Republican party in direct need of a leader. It is torn by faction from ocean to ocean. There is no great personality in the party around whom the discordant elements can rally. For years he was the supreme, the absolute boss of the Republican party, and he is willing to boss it again. Every returned Progressive is a missionary in his interest, and it need surprise no one if Teddy stampedes the convention and snatches the nomination from the grasp of every one of the little fellows.

But Wilson is the biggest man in the country, and the Democrats enter the campaign of 1916 with the sedate confidence that presages victory.

For Aliens to Consider

Chicago Herald: There are said to be 12,000,000 aliens in this country. They all had reasons for coming here. We all know what they were. They wanted a change to draw higher wages, to live better, to enjoy more freedom than they had at home, to embrace opportunities they could never see in their class-ridden countries, and to escape certain things that are a part of the government of their fatherland.

What is more, the vast majority of these 12,000,000 aliens intend to stay here. No matter where their sentiments may be, their bread and meat and their chance in life is in the United States. Among them are, of course, a few men of education and position and business connections who could do as well at home as in this country. But that is emphatically not the case with most of the 12,000,000.

Under these patent circumstances it behooves all of these 12,000,000 aliens to consider exactly who is their best friend, after all. It particularly behooves certain racial groups among these 12,000,000 to reflect if it is wise to pursue a course which may cause them to be henceforth discriminated against in the matter of employment.

Certainly there is a possibility that millions of hard-working aliens may feel exactly these unpleasant consequences, if some zealots among them waste any time or thought on the machinations of representatives of their native countries who would use them as instruments of disorganization and destruction. An employer might be caught with that sort of material about the premises once. But he would assuredly do his best in future to avoid a like danger.

After the war is over and the tumult and the plotting have died away nearly all these 12,000,000 aliens will still be in the United States. It is to their interest to find their position here as agreeable and profitable as it can be made. And each group of them will find that position pleasant or profitable if it acts so as to make it so—not otherwise. This is a case where no foreign government can help them—even if the foreign government is inclined to pay any attention to the matter.

A Western Bouquet for Governor Hammond.

Confidential Banker, Portland, Or.: On the morning of July 19 Governor Hammond of Minnesota and party, including his staff, arrived in Portland en route to San Francisco. The governor and his party honored Portland by a stop of fourteen hours, during which time entertainment was extended him and his party by the chamber of commerce and the Minnesota society.

Minnesota is to be most heartily congratulated upon having such a magnificent chief executive, a man not only big enough to be at the head of a great state, but to preside over the affairs of a nation. Come again, governor, and may your future be as bright as the Portland rose.

Luck.

Life: Luck is the main difference between failure and success. It rises like some mysterious fairy from the chaos of events and crowns its victors with an apparently hopeless ignorance of justice.

Luck must be a woman; no man could be so fickle, so fantastic in a choice of favorites.

Luck, however, has one great virtue. Although she will desert the gambler as suddenly as she came to him, she is likely to be faithful to those of her proteges who are the steadiest workers. She appears to be on the side of the biggest battalions.

Another New Party

Editorial in the Grand Forks Herald.

There is to be a new political party. This cheering information is contained in a circular published at Fresno, Cal., which city has the honor of being the birthplace of the organization.

Of course, there have been new parties before, but this one is to be different. It is not to be a "third" party, in any sense of the word, for the promoters assure us that it will carry the next election by the largest majority ever given to any party. This is where the managers of most of the new parties have fallen down. They have failed to carry the country by a big majority the very first time. And, failing in this, they have dwindled away, in many cases, before the next chance presented itself. The managers of this new party, which is to be known as the National Capital and Labor party, have learned from the mistakes of their predecessors, and intend to take no chances. They will win their first election, thus insuring success from the very beginning.

There is something fetching about the name, "National Capital and Labor Party." If one has wealth, there is the party for him, for it stands for capital. If he is one of the downtrodden toilers, here is a party which stands for labor. And, in order to remove all possibility of doubt or suspicion, we are assured that this party is not to be controlled by the money power, but, on the contrary, will control that power itself. That makes it all the more attractive, for we all distrust the money power except when that power is vested in ourselves.

We have not space to go into a full analysis of the platform of the new party, but it would be a captious person who could not find in it something to please him. It stands for a tariff for revenue, and also a tariff for protection, which disposes of that. It will abolish all taxes, which ought to be a very popular move, and it will spend billions on all sorts of public works, from the creation of a merchant marine to the building of macadam roads all over the country. The funds for all this are to be raised by the simple device of having the government issue its own currency, which it will loan to the people on first mortgages at 2 per cent. All the first mortgage business is to be taken over by the government. There will be no difficulty about that, for nobody else would want it on those terms. The interest thus received will defray all the expenses of the government, so that nobody will care how great those expenses are.

We seem to detect a flaw here. We would suggest that instead of loaning this officially created money for the purpose of obtaining revenue, the government give it to the citizens outright, retaining for its own purposes the 2 per cent which would otherwise have been collected in interest. This would avoid the needless form of drawing up mortgages. Then whenever the people needed more money the government could issue it, and its revenue would be growing all the time. Whenever the government needed more money, it could issue a new batch and give the major portion to the people. Thus the scheme would work to the mutual advantage of government and citizens, and the more we spent the richer we would grow.

We would soon have so much money that we would not need to do anything but spend it, and none of us would have to operate farms, or run stores, or dig sewers, or edit newspapers. This slight improvement in the platform could be easily made, as it would not be in any manner inconsistent with the rest of it, and then, with the new party in the saddle, there will be nothing to do, and plenty to get, and everything will be lovely.

Rooting for the Short Ballot.

Life: Democratic efficiency is the vital need of contemporary democracies. It must be developed to match and meet the immense efficiency of Prussian absolutism.

Democratic efficiency is what Elihu Root is fighting for in the constitutional convention in Albany. When he Roots for the short ballot, that is what he is after.

He would have the governor and lieutenant-governor of New York elected and the other officers who have been on the state ticket appointed. The governor would appoint his cabinet, just as the president does.

That is what should be done. The political bosses don't like the idea because it takes the selective power away from them and gives it to the governor. It transfers it from irresponsible, self-chosen men to a responsible man put in office by the people.

Everyone who cares for democratic government should back Mr. Root in his fight for this great reform. There must be democratic efficiency if democracy is to pull through. There is no greater champion of democratic efficiency than Mr. Root. Back him up!

Is Albion Perfidious?

Baltimore Sun: The charge that Mr. Skinner, our consul-general at London, brings against Great Britain is not a pleasant one. It is in effect that, while England is restricting our trade with the neutral countries of Europe, she is expanding her own trade with those countries at our expense. We are not permitted to send more than the usual amount of exports to neutral European countries, and, according to Mr. Skinner's report, England is not restricting our trade in order to keep supplies from Germany, but in order that England herself may get the business. Mr. Skinner professes to have the official figures showing the large increase of shipments from England to the continent. Nevertheless, the British embassy denies the charge. It is almost unthinkable that England, at a time when the friendship of the United States is so important to her, should be guilty of such perfidy. The country will await information before coming to any conclusion.

To a Waterfowl.

Whither, midst falling dew,
While glow the heavens with the last steps of day,
Far, through their rosy depths, dost thou pursue
Thy solitary way?

Vainly the fowler's eye
Might mark thy distant flight to do thee wrong,
As, darkly seen against the crimson sky,
Thy figure floats along.

Seek'st thou the plashy brink
Of weedy lake, or marge of river wide,
Or where the rocking billows rise and sink
On the chafed ocean-side?

There is a Power whose care
Teaches thy way along that pathless coast—
The desert and illimitable air—
Lone wandering, but not lost.

All day thy wings have fanned,
At that far height, the cold, thin atmosphere,
Yet stoop not, weary, to the welcome land,
Though the dark night is near.

And soon that toil shall end;
Soon shalt thou find a summer home, and rest,
And scream among thy fellows; reeds shall bend,
Soon, o'er thy sheltered nest.

Thou'rt gone, the abyss of heaven
Hath swallowed up thy form; yet, on my heart
Deeply has sunk the lesson thou has given,
And shall not soon depart.

He who, from zone to zone,
Guides through the boundless sky thy certain flight,
In the long way that I must tread alone,
Will lead my steps aright. —Bryant.

Minnesota Editors Polish Up Politics

Off-year Campaign Talk Indulged in by the State Press.

It Will Be Unnecessary.

Little Falls Herald: As usual, lots of bunk is being sent out of St. Paul about the prospective candidates next year. Some especially ridiculous stuff has come out about the Democratic candidates for governor. If Governor Hammond desires to run again, he will, of course, be the most formidable candidate the party could put into the field. It is the usual thing for a governor serving a first term to be again a candidate. In case, however, that this should not be, we doubt very much that the party would ever turn for a candidate to men whose views are not only reactionary—men may be honest about that—but whose methods are rotten. Such candidates could not, in the first place, be nominated, and if in an improbable contingency, they were nominated, would be overwhelmingly defeated. The Democratic party so far has not had to blush over the candidates for governor. It will be uncomfortable to have to apologize and we sincerely trust will be unnecessary.

Maybe They Admit It.

East Grand Forks Record: Samuel G. Iverson says he is being urged by friends to again make the run for governor. What makes him think they are friends?

It Certainly Looks That Way.

St. Peter Herald: The crop of Republican candidates for governor of Minnesota still keeps on growing. This time James A. Peterson is the name that is being suggested as good timber, and it is expected that he will soon shy his hat into the ring. So much the better. From this side of the wall it looks as though it will be easy "pickins" for Governor Hammond should he care to be a candidate again.

That Is, Who'll Be the Goat?

International Falls Press (Republican): There is a lot of foolish talk going the rounds of the state press as to who shall be the candidate to defeat Governor Hammond next year. Why don't the friends of the many good Republicans who could well fill that office, when the proper time comes, ask "Who will offer himself as a lamb for the slaughter?" and be done with it?

Not Alludin' at Nobody?

Princeton Union: Speaking of gall. The individual who expects to be rewarded with political honors for treachery to his party is possessed of an abundance of it.

Whom, for Instance?

Mora Times (Republican): Ex-Governor Eberhart has given it out cold that he will be a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Clapp. Should he, through the multiplicity of candidates, succeed in being nominated upon the Republican ticket we predict the election of a Democrat to the United States senate from this state.

Instead of Trying to Come Back.

Wells Mirror (Republican): Ex-Governor Eberhart has apparently got home kind of a political bee in his bonnet. He seems to be out calling on some of his friends about the state who shouted for him during his several gubernatorial campaigns because of the political patronage he bestowed. We imagine he finds their enthusiasm considerably abated by this time. We may not be able to judge things aright, but in our humble opinion the best thing for Eberhart to do is to "go way back."

All Right, Weep.

Albert Lea Standard: Edison, like other great financiers and thinkers, says that a period of great prosperity is about to burst upon us and that the only danger is that the country may become profligate and wasteful in its period of plenty. What, Oh what will our Republican friends do for an issue in the next campaign? The war, among other things, has made the fear of competition by the pauper labor of Europe a joke. There is no pauper labor or any other kind of competition left in Europe. Likewise has the bogey of low prices of Canadian grain overwhelming the American farmer, long a stock argument of the Republican orator, completely been eliminated. Pitiable indeed is the situation of the partisan Republican newspaper and orator! It is to weep!

War and Democracy

Arthur Elliott Sproul in the New York Evening Post: Democracy has done no finer thing for this nation than to make it peaceful. It is a slander to say that our country keeps out of war only because of dollar-worship.

The truth is that nowhere on this globe today are high ideals held by so many people as in the citizenship of the United States.

Our reason for not being eager to fight is to be found in the fact that we do not want to fight—because we have no autocratic thirst for dominance and for conquest—because we are willing to be brothers of mankind and not masters of mankind.

Our course as to Cuba and as to Mexico has magnificently shown this to all the world, and will continue to show it. Autocracy would long since have seized that unhappy country below the Rio Grande. "On to the Canal!" would have been the cry.

The thing that has saved us from that course of savagery is in this word—democracy; and as democracy has taught peace to us, so it shall teach peace to Europe.

The hand that wields the scepter and the sword is to be stricken off. In its place shall be the hand that holds the freeman's ballot. The one great power guaranteeing world-peace today is that power which says that if wars are yet to come they shall not be declared by autocrats, but by the people whose lives are to be given up and whose property is to be sacrificed.

Democracy is that power. It is coming fast. It is almost here.

Every Freight Car in Use.

Philadelphia Record: In keeping with the recent very favorable monthly reports issued by a number of railways comes the statement that the Pennsylvania railroad on its systems east and west of Pittsburgh has now every freight car in operation. As its equipment now includes a portion of the large orders for cars placed last winter, this activity is especially significant. With the movement of the enormous grain crops, the greater demand for coal and the heavy export business now being handled, which constantly grows, all signs point to a car famine within a few weeks. This will be rather a novel experience for some of the roads, as it has been several years since all their equipment was called into service.

There is a promise of brilliant days ahead in the opinion of that not seldom pessimistic observer, James J. Hill, who has come out of the West with tidings of the largest grain crop in the history of the territory covered by the Great Northern. He estimates that the yield in the country served by the road will be between 175,000,000 and 180,000,000 bushels. This compares with 110,000,000 bushels last year, and 155,000,000 bushels in 1912, the previous high record year. This is typical of Western grain conditions.

Bankers journeying westward are reported as predicting "almost unbelievable prosperity" for the United States. All of which must grate harshly upon the ears of Senator Penrose and other prophets of woe. Things are not working out as they predicted. With hard times gone, what will be their slogan in 1916?

Made Him Hopeful.

Kansas City Star: "Yes, she rejected me, but she did it in a most encouraging way."

"How was that?"

"As I went away she pointed to the footprints that I had made on the carpet and said, 'The next time you come to propose to me I want you to wipe your shoes clean.'"

The Tent and the Building.
II Cor. v, 1-9.

At present we live in a tent—"the earthly house of this tabernacle." And often the tent is very rickety. There are rents through which the rain enters, and it trembles ominously in the great storm. Some tents are frail from the very beginning, half-rotten when they are put up, and they have no defense even against the breeze. But even the strongest tent becomes weather-worn and threadbare, and in the long run it "falls in a heap!" And what then?

We shall exchange the frail tent for the solid house! "If the earthly house of this tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." When we are unclothed we shall find ourselves clothed with our house which is from heaven. The glory of this transition and only be confessed by "the saints in light." To awake, and discover that the creaking, breaking cords are left behind, that all the leakages are over, that we are no longer exposed to the cutting wind, that pain is passed, and sickness, and death—this must be a wonder of inconceivable ecstasy!

And "absent from the body" we shall be "present with the Lord."—John Henry Jowett. Dayton, Ohio.

Thanatopsis.

To him who in the love of nature holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language; for his gayer hours
She has a voice of gladness, and a smile
And eloquence of beauty, and she glides
Into his darker musings, with a mild
And healing sympathy, that steals away
Their sharpness, ere he is aware. When thoughts
Of the last bitter hour come like a blight
Over thy spirit, and sad images
Of the stern agony, and shroud, and pall,
And breathless darkness, and the narrow house,
Make thee to shudder, and grow sick at heart;
Go forth, under the open sky, and list
To nature's teachings, while from all around
Comes a still voice—Yet a few days, and thee
The all-beholding sun shall see no more
In all his course; nor yet in the sold ground,
Where thy pale form was laid, with many tears,
Nor in the embrace of ocean, shall exist
Thy image. Earth, that nourished thee, shall claim
Thy growth, to be resolved to earth again,
And, lost each human trace, surrendering up
Thine individual being, shalt thou go
To mix forever with the elements,
To be a brother to the insensible rock
And to the sluggish clod, which the rude swain
Turns with his share, and treads upon. The oak
Shall send his roots abroad, and pierce thy mold,
Yet not to thine eternal resting place
Shalt thou retire alone, nor couldn't thou wish
Couch more magnificent. Thou shalt lie down
With patriarchs of the infant world—with kings,
The powerful of the earth—the wise, the good,
Fair forms, and hoary seers of ages past,
All in one mighty sepulcher. * * *
So live, that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death.
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave,
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Interests Substantial and Unsubstantial.

Life: The New York Sun thinks there is no cause for worry over the "inordinate public gambling" which seems to have sprung up here of late with Wall Street as a center. "In the long run," says the Sun, "speculative booms exhaust themselves or suffer collapse without essential harm to any substantial interests."

This is obvious, for it is the substantial interests that organize the boom, put them over on the public and dodge the collapses. The very fact that you have been misled by the financial press-agenting and skyrocketing and legerdemaining, and that you are on the under side when the avalanche comes, proves you to be one of the unsubstantials and therefore not worth a respectable newspaper's worry.

PACKAGE FREIGHT BOATS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read with interest the article in your newspaper of Sept. 3, in which you say that a company has been organized in Duluth to operate package freighters, and that there will be six or seven steamers in this trade next year; that business will be taken care of despite divorcement of the lake-lines from railroad ownership, and that Lake Superior points only will be served by the boats.

This is indeed agreeable and interesting information, and if it is true, it will probably solve the lake-line problem so far as the Lake Superior ports are concerned; but is it true, and if so, what arrangements have been perfected? Under the laws of what state has the company been organized? Where are its boats? What arrangement is going to be made for interchange of traffic between the boat line and the railroads? How is the continuity of the traffic to be preserved and protected? How are claims to be adjusted?

These are pertinent questions that concern the shippers of this district. It is easy enough to make statements, but we are desirous of being informed about the facts and the plans.

A SHIPPER.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

R. M., Cloquet.—I wish that you would advise me through your Open Court what the government figures are regarding the length of the Panama canal. The argument is that it is not over fifty miles long; please set us right on this matter and oblige.

Ans.—It is fifty miles from deep water to deep water. From deep water to the shore line in Limon bay is four and one-half miles and from the Pacific shore line to deep water is four miles so the length of the canal from shore to shore is forty-one and one-half miles. Taking either figures the statement that it is not more than fifty miles long, is correct.

L. S., Duluth.—Can any of your readers furnish me with an old poem called "The Mistletoe Bough?" It is the story of a bride who playfully ran to hide from the bridegroom and guests. She concealed herself in an old chest in the garret which closed with a spring lock and there she was found many years later.

Ans.—The Herald would be glad to publish this if any of the readers have it.

C. G. Mekeel, Proctor.—Will you please advise me what regiments of infantry and field artillery are stationed at the Mexican border?

Ans.—Fourth field artillery, mounted; Sixth field artillery, Sixth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth infantry.

MUST DETERMINE DEATH.

Whether Milwaukeean Perished on Eastland Issue in Trial.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Whether Abraham Bierman, Milwaukee, met death in the steamer Eastland disaster in Chicago is an issue which will be fought out in a trial over the forfeiture of a bond in the amount of $2,000.

When he disappeared, Bierman was at liberty under a bond, awaiting trial on a charge of arson preferred by William G. End, deputy state fire marshal. It was claimed that Bierman set fire to his home.

Bierman's attorney told the court he had been informed that Bierman drowned in the Eastland disaster.

Judge A. C. Backus ordered the $2,000 bond forfeited and if the bondsmen sue to have the bond reinstated and released, evidence concerning the death of Bierman will be brought before the court.

WILL TEACH STAMMERERS

Duluth Public Schools Offer Instruction for First Time.

Chicago Woman Will Take Up Work at Ely School.

Public school instruction for children who stutter or stammer, or who have other defects of speech, is a reality today for the first time in the history of Duluth.

Under the guidance of Miss Florence A. Parker, a Chicago woman with special qualifications, boys and girls will attend the Ely school in West Duluth daily from now on, in an endeavor to overcome their habit of stuttering or stammering.

Experts say that children of the grade school age thus affected can be helped materially or almost entirely cured in a few weeks. Miss Parker's work will be to teach her charges to enunciate, and to speak slowly. It is probable that similarly affected pupils in other parts of the city will be given a chance to attend such a class later in the year.

Special classes for deaf and dumb children will not be started this year, according to D. J. H. Andres, school physician, although the board of education committee on schools had completed plans for classes of this kind.

"There are not enough pupils eligible for such a class to warrant starting one," said Dr. Andres.

Retarded Pupils.

As a part of the board of education program to help children who are not normal in every way, plans have been formulated for the inauguration of larger classes for mentally-retarded pupils.

"We were disappointed in the teacher we were trying to get for the work," said Dr. Andres, "but she may come later. It is the plan to teach manual training, sewing and basketry."

Last year classes for mentally retarded children were held in the Nettleton building under the supervision of Mrs. A. W. Vincent. They were scheduled to resume work yesterday, but were not called because of the death of Mrs. Vincent's daughter last week. They probably will be started this week.

Duluth is doing more for the backward child this year in the public schools than ever before, because of an act passed at the last legislature under which the city is paid $100 for every retarded child which is educated.

PREUS DEFENDS HIBBING POLICY

Advises Critics to Wait Until Legal Powers Are Defined.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—"Had I taken the precipitate action of closing the Hibbing mines, as Mayor Power at first asked, 1,000 men would have been thrown out of work and the city's tax situation would be no better."

This was the reply of J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, to the resolution demanding immediate cancellation of the licenses of the mining companies to operate on state lands drawn up Saturday night at the protest meeting of Hibbing citiens and Minneapolis sympathizers at the Hennepin county court house assembly hall. The meeting denounced the "steel trust" for refusing to pay its $850,000 taxes and criticized Preus for non-action in his office.

"Before I decide on the question of revoking the licenses I will study the situation to the bottom. I have made no answer to that request of Mayor Power. First the attorney general must report as to the authority of the state auditor in the matter. They should hold back their holler at least until the attorney general's ruling and my decision.

"Cancellation of the leases would yield no immediate revenue. So where would Hibbing gain? We could not release lands, as the Hibbing people seem to think. New leases would have to await a new statute."

If iron ore now stored for shipment by the Hibbing companies was seized and sold for tax payment, as the administration of the range town demands, the sum realized would not cover a twentieth of the taxes, according to the state auditor's office. The statute empowering the state auditor to restrain the concerns affected from business or seize their produced assets was intended to guarantee that the state shall not lose its taxes, it was said, and there is no danger of that outcome, because of the immense holdings of the companies remaining in the ground. The attorney general ruled that action on the statute was discretionary with the auditor.

Hibbing citizens really don't want the mines closed, and the city is still far from the end of its financial rope, the auditor's force insists.

GREAT CAUSE OF POOR ROAD-MAKING

"Skimping" Operations Are Blamed By Secretary Cooley of Minnesota.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 14.—"Skimping" operations is one of the greatest causes of poor road-making, in the opinion of George W. Cooley, secretary and engineer of the Minnesota highway commission, who spoke this afternoon before the sessions of the Pan-American good roads congress.

"Most road foundation troubles are caused by difficulty of draining," said Mr. Cooley, and although the value of drainage is admitted by all, road superintendents and engineers in many cases will fail to provide for good drainage because funds are limited, and expensive drainage work reduced the funds available for providing a suitable surfacing.

"As drainage problems are generally encountered in local and county roads, a better general knowledge of this work can be obtained by a meeting at least once a year of those in charge of road work throughout each state."

Lack of proper drainage, Mr. Cooley concluded, causes much of the failure of road surface and prevents permanent construction.

FULLER HOLDS UP EXTENSION

Fifteen-Foot Paving Would Hamper Park Point Trolley Service.

Denies Rumor That Freight Service Will Be Stopped on Point.

Work on the proposed extension of the Minnesota avenue pavement from Thirty-eighth to Forty-third street was held up by the council yesterday afternoon at the request of Floid L. Fuller, treasurer and general manager of the Park Point Traction company.

In protesting against the extension, Mr. Fuller declared that present plans to make the pavement fifteen feet wide on the lake side of Minnesota avenue would throw the car tracks so near the street edge on the bay side that it would be necessary to encroach on private property in order to unload passengers. He suggested that the council condemn sufficient property on the bay side to make a uniform street.

Commissioner Farrell explained that the extension is desired by the property owners beyond Thirty-eighth street so that they won't have to depend on the car company's freight delivery, which, he heard, was to be discontinued.

"We won't discontinue our freight line," said Mr. Fuller, "and our prices are not too high, as is claimed by some of the property owners. If necessary, we will make two deliveries a day."

Mr. Fuller asked that no official action be taken until he can present a more detailed objection. The commissioners consented and the contract for the paving extension will not be let until an agreement is reached.

Several weeks ago the council ordered the Minnesota avenue pavement extended from the terminus at Thirty-eighth street to the end of the car line. Work on the stretch from Twelfth street has been completed and the pavement will be opened to traffic a week from Saturday.

FACES LONG TERM FOR DRUNKEN ACT

Rice Lake Farmer Found Guilty of Assault With Jug.

William Larson, Rice Lake farmer, was found guilty of second degree assault in District Judge Fesler's court late yesterday afternoon, the jury being out less than an hour. Larson will be brought before Judge Fesler for sentence next Saturday morning. The maximum penalty for this offense is five years' imprisonment.

Whisky figured in the assault, Christ Melin, the complaining witness, having been struck on the head with a little brown jug filled with "fighting booze," following a visit by Larson to a school meeting in Arnold in the town of Rice Lake.

On July 17 last, the farmers of the town of Rice Lake met in their school building at Arnold for the purpose of talking over plans for the coming school year. Larson entered the meeting while intoxicated and, becoming boisterous, was ejected. When Melin started home that night he was struck on the head by a jug in the hands of Larson, receiving serious injuries to his forehead.

"This Larson seems like a peaceable enough fellow and I do not believe he would have committed this crime if he had not been drinking," said Prosecutor Mason M. Forbes. "He went to the meeting when he was all inflamed from liquor and when ousted nursed a grudge like most drunken men do. He is a poor man and, I believe, all he owns is a homestead in the Rice Lake district."

AUSTRO-HUNGARIANS ARE GIVEN WARNING

St. Paul, Minn. Sept. 14.—Acting under orders received from Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, whose recall has been requested by President Wilson, Edgar L. Prochnik of St. Paul, consul in Minnesota for Austria-Hungary, has issued a proclamation to Austro-Hungarians in this consular district, worded about the same as similar proclamations from the Austrian embassy in Washington which figure in the strained relations growing out of the acts of Dr. Dumba in the United States.

Solemn Warning.

Mr. Prochnik presents the proclamation as follows:

"Acting on higher orders, the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian embassy herewith notifies all Austro-Hungarian citizens of Bosnia and Herzegovina that, according to section 327 of the Austro-Hungarian military penal code, they are committing a crime against the military forces of their country if they are working in an industrial plant which is manufacturing arms and ammunition for the enemies of their fatherland. This crime is punishable by imprisonment from ten to twenty years and, under aggravating circumstances, even by the death penalty. On their return to their native country they are exposing themselves to the full severity of this law."

Mr. Prochnik says this proclamation is to be published in pamphlet form and in Slavonian, Croatian, Polish and German papers in the district under the St. Paul consulate by direct order of Ambassador Dumba.

GRAND JURY DISMISSED

New Accounting System for Municipal Records Is Urged.

Old Methods Are Severely Scored in Final Report.

With the filing of its supplemental report with District Judge Fesler at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the St. Louis county September grand jury was excused from further service and dismissed. Much interest centered in the making of the final report for the reason that it was thought several new indictments might be turned over to County Attorney Warren E. Greene.

The final report contained nothing more, however, than a resume of the opinions and discussions of the grand jury body which criticized adversely the system of accounting and auditing in force in the municipal court. The members of the jury are of the opinion that the system of accounting now being used is too loose, and it is recommended in the report that the members of the city commission establish a system of accounting that will be up-to-date and will show the slightest error with the least possible examination of records.

The supplemental report, in full, follows:

"To the Honorable Bert Fesler, judge of the district court:

"After further consideration of the matter involving the co-ordination of the accounts of the police department, municipal court, work farm, county jail and probation officer, in so far as the question of the receipt and distribution of city money derived from fines and fees is concerned, this grand jury submits this supplemental report in the hope that some method of correcting the evils of the present methods of handling such matters may be worked out by those city officials whose duty it is to oversee and administer the affairs of the several departments involved.

"We deplore the efforts of those charged with such duties to evade responsibility and shift the burden on the shoulders of others, when all are to blame.

"We recommend that the commissioners of public safety, public affairs and public finance arrange to work out a system of accounting, either among themselves or through the employment of a competent accounting expert, which will meet the needs of the situation, and that the commissioner of finance, if he has not now the power, be empowered by the city council to recommend, establish and oversee accounting methods which shall co-ordinate all the city's financial affairs, and that said finance commissioner be required so to do, to the end that the money of the city of Duluth may be definitely accounted for and the opportunity for embezzlement or falsification of records, or both, be reduced to a minimum. If such authority is not, cannot or should not be vested in the finance commissioner, where we believe it belongs, then we suggest the adoption of such amendments or additions to the city charter as will place the finance commissioner in control of the city's accounting activities so far as may be necessary to bring about uniformity and co-ordination. We also recommend that the city auditor be required to audit all books involving the city's accounts and that he be required to make a written report to the council embodying a statement of the condition of the accounts audited and recommendation for changes or improvements therein, which report shall be treated as a public document and filed and published to the public within three days of the date when any audit shall have been completed. Respectfully submitted,

"THOMAS OLAFSON,
"Foreman of the Grand Jury."

TWO STREETS TO BE PAVED

Improvements Ordered for Ninth Street and Third Avenue East.

Big Jobs Will Be Completed This Fall; Routine Council Business.

Two more streets will be paved this fall.

At the council meeting yesterday afternoon the commissioners adopted resolutions ordering the improvement of Third avenue east, from Michigan to Second streets, and Ninth street, from Sixth to Seventh avenues east. Bids will be received at once and the contracts awarded so that work may be completed before cold weather sets in, Commissioner Farrell announced after the meeting.

Third avenue east will be paved with sandstone and the estimated cost of the improvement is $13,637. Because of the fact that all the street intersections are paved, the only expense to the city will be a small intersection at Second alley. By paving East Ninth street this fall, the city will give property owners a complete pavement from Sixth to Fourteenth avenues east, as contractors are finishing work on the stretch from Seventh to Fourteenth avenues.

Sanitary sewers were ordered in Eleventh street, from Seventh to Eighth avenues east; in Water street, from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth avenues east, and in Seventh street, from Seventeenth to Eighteenth avenues east.

John H. Brigham was awarded the contract to pave Eighth and Ninth streets in Fond du Lac on his bid of $7,711.40. The cost of the entire improvement is to be paid by Mr. Brigham.

Confirmation of the assessments levied for the storm sewer in Exeter street was again postponed for a week, in order to give the commissioners an opportunity to inspect the improvement. A protest against the levy was made by the property owners a week ago yesterday.

A strip ten feet wide on each side of Thirty-third street, Park Point, was vacated at the request of property owners.

The resolution awarding the contract to J. D. O'Connell for the paving of Third avenue east, from Seventh to Eighth streets, was held up another week, because of an objection raised by some of the owners against the material selected.

Building Inspector Kielley was authorized to appoint Edward Semple as clerk at a salary of $75 a month.

E. E. Martell was granted permission to install a gasoline delivery tank on the west side of Commonwealth avenue, between Peary and Goodhue streets.

Second reading was given the ordinance appropriating $900 for the purchase of three lots adjoining the Boulevard at Fifteenth avenue west and the other creating a residence district along Vermilion road, between Oxford and Lewis streets. Commissioner Merritt introduced an ordinance appropriating $105.60 for the maintenance of sixteen gas lamps on Kent road for a period of six months.

TURNS DOWN APPLICATION

Council Refuses Permit to H. R. Briggs to Run Employment Office.

"City Has Enough Now," Says Mayor; Held Up for Week.

Duluth does not want any more employment offices.

This decision was reached by members of the city council yesterday afternoon, when H. R. Briggs made application to operate an employment office for men at 411½ West Michigan street.

"We have enough offices at the present time," objected Mayor Prince, when the application for Mr. Briggs was read by the city clerk. "It is the desire of the council to decrease, rather than increase the number, and I would recommend that the application be held up for another week."

Commissioner Voss, finance head, agreed with the mayor and at their suggestion, Commissioner Silberstein decided to postpone action indefinitely. City Clerk Borgen reported that there are now thirteen employment offices in the city of Duluth.

License renewals granted yesterday follow: Saloon—B. J. Madden, 120 Garfield avenue, being a transfer from 1½ West Superior street, and S. D. Ives, 2003 West Superior street; cigarettes—James Boureston, 2502 West Third street, and J. R. Paquette, 1402 Commonwealth avenue; employment office—Mutual Labor Exchange, 415½ West Michigan street.

Victor Cails of 5602 Raleigh street was granted a license to operate a jitney between Seventy-second avenue west and Gary.

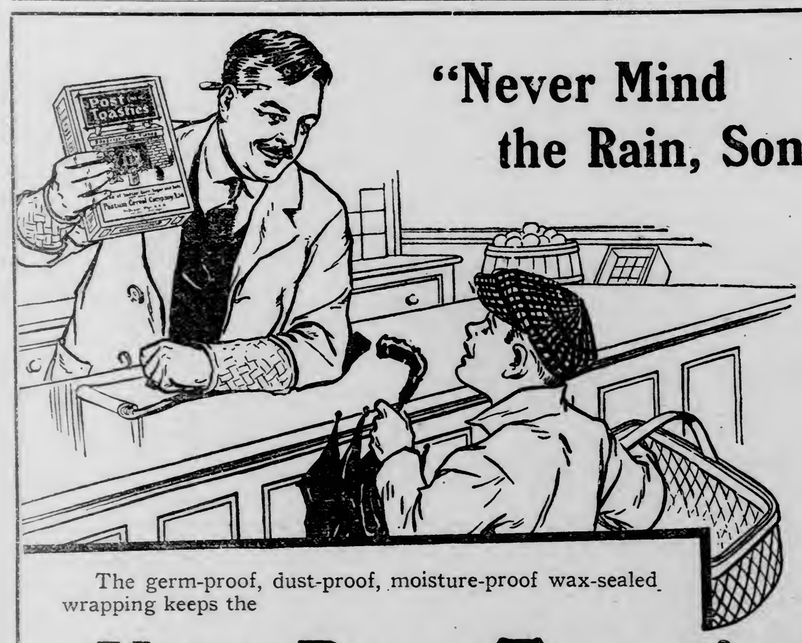

SUIT IN COURT ENDS NEGRO CONVENTION

Chicago, Sept. 14.—After a week of strife, which culminated yesterday in a suit filed in the circuit court by which the National Negro Baptist Convention of the United States of America seeks an injunction to restrain the National Negro Baptist Convention of the United States, unincorporated, from using that name, the meeting of the negro Baptists formally ended yesterday. Savannah, Ga., was selected for the convention of the organization to be held in 1916. At the closing session, a resolution, to be telegraphed to President Wilson, pledging prayer and sympathy of the negro Baptists of the country, was introduced by the Rev. C. H. Harris of Louisville, Ky., a delegate, and was unanimously adopted.

But more important—these flakes are made by a new process that gives them a new form and a distinctive flavour, entirely different from other corn flakes.

In this new process, intense heat expands the interior moisture, producing little pearl-like "puffs," a distinguishing characteristic of the New Post Toasties.

These flakes have a body and firmness that don't mush down, even when cream or milk is added. Toasties come factory-fresh, as crisp and delicious as when they leave the big ovens.

WEST END

CLEAN-UP WINNERS TO BE GIVEN PRIZES

Commercial Club Will Plan Distribution at Thursday's Meeting.

Plans for the distribution of prizes to winners in the clean-up campaign conducted in the West end by the West End beautifying clubs will be made at the meeting of the West End Commercial club to be held Thursday evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. An inspection of the various blocks of the district will be made the latter part of this week.

A celebration to be held the evening set aside for the distribution of the prizes will be planned in the near future by the business men of the district. The affair will be held jointly under the auspices of the business men and the club.

It is proposed to have the captains of the various districts accompany the inspection committee on its rounds of inspection. The committee consists of Capt. K. A. Franklin, chairman; L. A. Simonson and A. B. Width.

Civic improvement for this end of the city will also come up for discussion at the club meeting. Plans to have petitions for the paving of streets filed early in order to have the improvements made next year will be made.

BUSINESS MEN VISIT FESTIVAL

Large Delegation Will See Displays at Jackson School.

A big delegation of West end business men will attend the annual fall festival being held at the Jackson school under the auspices of the Jackson Farmers' club. The school is situated on the Swan Lake road.

The business men will make the trip tomorrow afternoon leaving about 1:30 o'clock. The fall festival opens at the school this afternoon and will close tomorrow evening.

The affair is in the nature of an agriculture exhibit. The best of everything raised on the farms of the district and the work of the children have been placed on display. O. Larson, president and John W. Johnson, secretary of the club are in charge.

DELEGATES TO NATIONAL.

Local Polish Societies Will Be Represented at Schenectady, N. Y. Meet.

At a meeting of the United Groups of Polish National Alliance last evening at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, delegates were elected to attend the national convention of the society to be held at Schenectady, N. Y., on Sept. 27. Those chosen to represent the local lodges are Joseph Wantaj, Louis Z. Kusnievek and Anton Sternal.

Community No. 16, which met last night, represents fourteen groups of Polish societies located in Duluth, Gnesen, Virginia and Sturgeon Lake, Minn. The societies have a total of 654 members. The delegates will visit the Polish National Alliance college at Cambridge, Pa., while en route to the convention.

Zion's Fall Festival.

A musical and literary program is planned for a fall festival to be held by the congregation of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, Friday evening. The festival is held annually in the fall by the church members. Refreshments will follow the program.

Roll Call Meeting.

A roll call meeting of the Duluth Scandinavian W. C. T. U. was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. K. Helam, 2204 West Second street. Each member present responded to her name by giving some temperance verse. The meeting was the first held since June. "When Will Minnesota Go Dry?" will be the subject of the meeting of the society to be held on Oct. 12. The leaders will be Mrs. Swaney Nelson and Mrs. E. Gustafson.

Pastor Returns.

Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, returned last evening from Des Moines, Iowa, where he conducted services at the church to which he recently accepted a call. The pastor will take up his duties as head of the Des Moines church on Jan. 1, 1916.

Swedish Mission Notes.

The Parthenoe Society of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will meet in the church this evening.

Rev. Albert Johanson of Moline, Ill., former pastor of the local church will speak at the midweek services Thursday evening. Mrs. Johanson will sing. The pastor and his wife intend spending two months visiting friends at the Head of the Lakes.

Choir rehearsal will be held in the church Friday evening.

No services will be held Thursday evening at the East End mission, according to announcement made by Rev. J. J. Daniels.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. J. S. Walsh, 1729 West First street, is spending a week visiting relatives in the Twin Cities.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Grace Lutz, 125 North Twenty-fifth avenue west, has returned from a visit to relatives at Dundas and other Minnesota points.

The Ladies' Aid society of the St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, has planned an outing at Lincoln park for Thursday afternoon. In case of wet weather the meeting will be held in the church.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Watson, 213 North Twenty-second avenue west, have returned from a few days' visit in the Twin Cities.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Hugo Swenson and Mrs. Hans Wahl will be hostesses.

DULUTH GENEROUS IN AIDING SOLDIERS

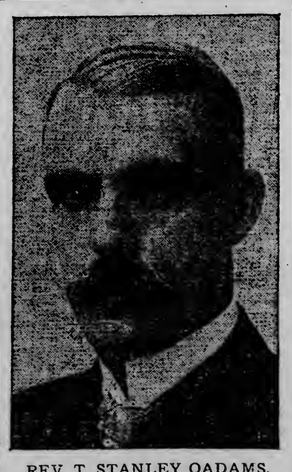

Christmas Shower Will Go to Canadians at the Front.

Duluthians are responding generously to the Christmas shower, which the women of Fort William, Ont., are preparing for the Canadian soldiers who are fighting on the battlefields of Europe. None of the gifts are large but numerically they are great, expressive of the kindly feeling which people in the states have for their cousins across the border.

It is expected that many additional contributions will be received tomorrow at the Spalding hotel where gifts will be made between the hours of 10 a. m. and 10 p. m. Contribution baskets will be in charge of a number of young girls.

The idea of the Canadian women in preparing this shower is to accumulate a large amount of tobacco, socks, gum, chocolate and similar articles, which will be sent to the blood-stained trenches so as to reach the soldiers on Christmas eve and give them cheer.

HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED TO EAU CLAIRE PASTORATE

REV. T. STANLEY OADAMS.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 14.—Rev. T. Stanley Oadams, who has been pastor of the local M. E. church for the past three years, has been transferred to the pastorate of the First M. E. church at Eau Claire, and will leave for his new field Thursday. Rev. Mr. Oadams, prior to coming here, was pastor at Two Harbors, Minn., and other points in Minnesota. He made many friends here who wish him well in his new field.

CANADA TO MAKE FIELD GUNS FOR THE WAR

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 14.—Canada is to take up the manufacture of field guns and howitzers for the British government, it was announced last night. This was decided on at a meeting of prominent statesmen and bankers with Gen. Sir Samuel Hughes, minister of militia, and Gen. Mahan of the British war office. A committee was appointed to organize factories to handle the business.

It is proposed to have the gun parts made in various factories and to assemble them at a finishing factory, possibly government owned, on the Atlantic seaboard.

Amsterdam, via London, Sept. 14.—The Handelsblad learns that all males from 17 to 45 years of age, have been prohibited from leaving Germany. Some who attempted to leave have been turned back at Dutch frontier stations.

Two Motorcyclists Killed.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Peter Swintek, a local construction engineer, 37 years old and Emil Reinholdt, aged 12, were instantly killed here last evening, when a motorcycle on which they were riding, collided with the engine of a Chicago & Great Western passenger train.

UNABLE TO TELL CAUSE OF DISASTER TO F-4

Honolulu, Sept. 14.—Rear Admiral Clifford Joseph Busch, commandant of the Honolulu naval station, announced yesterday that although all available data secured by the examination of the hull of the submarine F-4 was in his possession, he was unable to tell the cause of the disaster which sent the undersea craft to the bottom off Honolulu harbor on March 25, costing the lives of Lieut. Alfred Ede, her commander, and his crew of twenty-one men.

The board of inquiry appointed to conduct the examination began its final survey yesterday of the battered shell of the submarine, which is still in drydock here.

How Heat Affects the Vital Organs

Hot Weather Conduces to Chronic Constipation and Diarrhea

A disposition to confine one's diet to cold food and to indulge freely in iced drinks, is one reason why constipation and diarrhea is so prevalent in summer, and there is no season when bowel disturbances should be more carefully avoided, as much serious disease is directly traceable to these conditions.

To regulate the bowels and quickly relieve even an aggravated case of constipation, the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended by many physicians and all those who have used it. Unlike cathartics and violent purgatives Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently on stomach, liver and bowels, without griping or other discomfort and brings relief in an easy, natural manner. Mild, pleasant to the taste, and inexpensive, it is the ideal family laxative. By cleansing the bowel tract and eliminating the foreign matter and poisons that irritate and inflame, it will quickly check an attack of diarrhea and restore normal conditions.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been the standard remedy in countless homes for more than thirty years, and is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. A free trial can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 453 Washington street, Monticello, Ill.

ON THE IRON RANGES

JUDGE STANTON HOLDING COURT

Opens Fall Term at Grand Rapids, Facing Busy Session.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge C. W. Stanton arrived from Bemidji about noon today and this afternoon opened the fall term of district court at 1 o'clock in the courthouse. There are sixty-nine cases on the civil calendar and ten criminal cases brought over from the last term.

Judge Stanton this afternoon charged a grand jury, directing the inquisitors to examine pending criminal charges, of which there are quite a number to be presented.

Alleged Poisoning Case.

One of the most important cases will be that against Gus Voigt, son of the late Frank Voigt, who resided near Deer lake, on a charge of attempting to poison his stepmother, Mrs. Emma Voigt. The case is said to be the outgrowth of a family disagreement. The elder Voigt had married his second wife a year before his death. After his death Mrs. Voigt signed away her statutory rights to valuable property and afterward rescinded her action, it is alleged.

Alfred Allen, a young man brought here from Deer River on the charge of attempting an assault upon a girl, will also have the accusation against him looked into.

Tomorrow morning Judge Stanton will take up the naturalization cases, of which there are twenty-six applications as follows: Austria, 6; Finland, 7; Canada, 2; Norway, 2; Italy, 5; Sweden, 3, and England, 1.

The trial of civil actions may begin tomorrow afternoon. After a two weeks' session of court, Judge Stanton will hold court at Aitkin.

SHENANGO FORTY TO BE STRIPPED

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Shenango Furnace company has given notice to about forty house owners to move their residences from the company's land preparatory to stripping the forty directly north of the Monroe mine. The people have been given thirty days' notice and a rush for village houses resulted. There are some fair buildings on the Shenango forty, while the majority are shacks.

Dunwoody Mine Stripped.

The Winston-Dear Contracting company has completed stripping the Dunwoody mine and has sold most of the small sleeping houses and cookhouse with the proviso that the buildings be removed within thirty days.

The working of the Shenango mine forty will mean another shipping mine from the Chisholm district.

FORMER CHISHOLM TEACHER MARRIES

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Fannie Strub of Winona, a teacher in the local schools last year, and Dr. Hall A. Stacey, formerly of Moose Lake, were married recently at the bride's home in Winona. They will make their home in Jamestown, N. D., where Dr. Stacey will practice dentistry.

EVELETH'S TENTATIVE BUDGET MAY BE CUT

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth council has prepared a first draft of the budget for next year. The tentative budget calls for about $260,000 but an effort will be made to reduce this to about $225,000. This will give the council practically the same amount to work with as last year when a levy of $260,000 was made, as the last year was started with a deficit of about $10,000.

The budget calls for funds for the completion of the septic tank, the purchase of power equipment for the fire department, the paving of several streets and the laying of storm sewers on several streets. The levying of money for an addition to the city hall and for an incinerator has been given up for this year according to present plans and a large part of the levy is to go into paving and sewers.

How to Absorb an Unlovely Complexion

The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin-smooth skin, pink and white and youthful looking. The only thing I know of that can make such a complexion out of an aged, faded, or discolored one—I mean a natural, not a painted, complexion—is ordinary mercolized wax. This remarkable substance literally absorbs the unsightly cuticle, a little each day, the clear, healthy, girlish skin beneath gradually peeping out until within a week or so it is wholly in evidence. Of course such blemishes as freckles, moth patches, liver spots, blotches and pimples are discarded with the old skin. If you will procure an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, use like cold cream every night, washing this off mornings, you'll find it a veritable wonder-worker.

Another valuable natural treatment is a wash lotion to remove wrinkles which can be easily prepared. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you'll find it "works like magic."—Phyllis Moore in Town Talk.

NEW HIGHWAYS IN STUNTZ TOWNSHIP

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several new roads in the Stuntz township will be completed this month, according to Assistant County Engineer A. E. Dwyer, in charge of the range district.

The new road connecting Hibbing with Meadowlands, known as the Navilnon road, will be completed this week. The new piece of road, commenced early this spring, is nearly five miles in length. It passes the Little Swan school.

Four miles of the Meadowlands to Duluth road, which is being graveled, will be completed this month. Because of this road and the one from Hibbing to Meadowlands it will no longer be necessary for Hibbing motorists to pass through Virginia to go to the Zenith City.

More than forty miles of road, all told, will be completed this fall. No new work will be started on the county road.

VIRGINIA VS. GILBERT.

Opening of Football Season Will Be Next Saturday.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia high school football season will open Saturday with the Gilbert high school eleven opposing Coach Alfred K. Jackson's team at Oliver park.

The local high school team won the championship of Northern Minnesota in foot ball last season and will have to work to duplicate the feat of 1914.

The other games scheduled so far for this fall are Chisholm at Chisholm, Sept. 25; Hibbing at Virginia, Oct. 2; Superior at Superior, Oct. 9; Eveleth at Eveleth, Oct. 16.

The arrival of cold weather has caused talk of an independent football team for Virginia to become rife. The players are here and it is planned to organize the eleven this week.

CHISHOLM LIBRARIAN TO STATE MEETING

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Margaret Palmer, local librarian, left today to attend the meeting of the state library association at Cottagewood, Lake Minnetonka, on Sept. 15, 16 and 17.

Miss Ruth Haven of St. Paul, employed by the state library commission, who was in Chisholm last month, has completed her work in book cataloguing at the local library and left with Miss Palmer to attend the association meeting.

TWO CHISHOLM HOMES BURNED

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two residences on Oak street between Third and Fourth avenues, the property of Mike Balch and Dan Malkovich, were completely destroyed by fire Monday morning. The fire is thought to have been started by an overheated stove in the house owned by Balch. The occupants delayed in turning in the alarm and the house was a mass of flames by the time the fire department arrived and the fire had spread to the Malkovich property. At one time the fire had caught on two other neighboring houses, but the damage to them was small.

The occupants of the houses destroyed saved but little clothing and household effects. The Balch property was covered by $800 insurance and that of Malkovich by $1,000.

HIBBING ELEVEN TO PLAY COLERAINE TEAM

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first inter-high school football game will be played Saturday, Sept. 23 at Coleraine, according to C. C. Alexander, superintendent. Other games will be played as follows: At Virginia, Oct. 2; Chisholm here, Oct. 9; Eveleth here, Oct. 30. A game between the high school and alumni eleven is being arranged for Saturday. An effort is also being made to change the date of the Eveleth game so that either Duluth or Superior may be brought here Oct. 30.

MICHIGAN MAN TO COACH HIBBING TEAM

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Wilbur Wring, for three years star tackle for the Marquette, Mich., university, and all Wisconsin tackle last year, will coach the Hibbing football eleven. Practices will be held evenings beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Several games will be scheduled immediately.

Dr. Wring last night talked to more than thirty candidates, explaining what was expected of them and also arranging for scrimmage practice, which at first will be light. Running of plays will begin immediately, the coach said.

MOUNTAIN IRON COUNCIL ENJOINED

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—The council of the village of Mountain Iron has been enjoined by the Tritchler Electric company from awarding a contract for the electric wiring in the new village hall to the Star Contracting company of Virginia. The Tritchler Electric company was an unsuccessful bidder for the job, the council contending that its bid, although the lowest, was not in accordance with the specifications.

MOUNTAIN IRON NOTES.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Helmi Apuli left a few days ago for Hamline university. Lennart Beck and Leo Beck have gone to Macalester college. All three graduated from the local high school last June.

G. A. Apuli, Charles Anderson and Frank Stefancich attended the state fair.

Mrs. Parsons gave a solo in the Presbyterian church in Virginia Sunday morning.

Mr. Norton of International Falls visited with friends here Sunday.

Mr. Luxford of Minneapolis visited his sister, Grace Luxford, Sunday.

Supt. Muench and W. F. Anderson were in Chisholm Saturday attending a meeting of range superintendents and manual training and athletic directors.

Band Man Gets Offer.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fontechio Angelo, leader of the Hibbing Italian band, and member of the Virginia military organization, has received an offer to organize a band to play for the Hitha United States Shows company of Lake City, Iowa. Angelo says that if he can engage a sufficient number of range musicians he will accept the proposition.

ELECTRICAL WORK IS LIKED BY BOYS

Seventh and Eighth Grade Virginia Pupils Take to It.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—That electrical construction work is the favorite pre-vocational course with seventh and eighth grade boys here was shown by the school board last night, from the vocational survey made by Supt. P. P. Colgrove. Twelve eighth grade students and sixteen seventh grade students favor the course.

Machine shop work is also popular, twenty-four seventh grade students signing for that course.

The board is considering the pre-vocational work and will consider the matter again Monday.

J. De Bar was the low bidder for transporting Auburn location and Williams and Ridgewood addition pupils, his bid being $72 a month.

To Help Backward Ones.

Thirty-eight boys, from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades who are backward in their studies, will be taught in the Roosevelt building, receiving manual training instruction daily for two or three hours.

Due to the large number of new pupils, a combination of first and fourth grade class will be taught in the North side building, Miss Hazel Boyles was engaged to assist in the girl's gymnasium work.

Sixty dollars in prizes will be offered for the best essays, South and North side boys' and girls' gardens and for vegetable exhibits.

The bid of Frank C. Whiting of $78 for the Norwegian M. E. church on Spruce street, the site of which was bought by the school district for playground purposes, was rejected.

WASSERZIEHER'S SCHEME.

Makes Proposition Relative to Virginia Water and Light Problem.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The charter commission did not have a quorum last night and could do nothing, adjourning to meet next Monday, but a letter was received from P. C. Wasserzieher, relative to handling the water and light bond problem that is interesting and may result in something along the lines suggested.

According to Mr. Wasserzieher, the water and light plant last year earned a net profit of $50,000. He recommends that the lighting rate be reduced from 6 to 5 cents per kilowatt and the water rates cut 10 or 15 per cent. At the reduced rates, the plant would still earn at least $50,000 a year.

"Now take from the general taxes, an equal amount, $50,000, and you have $100,000," writes Mr. Wasserzieher. "From this $100,000 use 10 or 15 per cent to loan. Put at interest as a beginning towards a sinking fund. Do this for a number of years until you have $100,000 or $150,000 out at interest as such a fund. This amount will probably be sufficient to meet most emergencies that might arise. From the balance, $85,000 or $90,000, pay the interest and what is then left over apply on the principal or bonds."

LONG LAKE COTTAGE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Ely, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday afternoon fire was seen in the vicinity of the Miller cottage on Long lake, and upon the arrival at the point it was found that the Miller cottage had burned. There being no one there it was not ascertained how the fire started. Steps are being taken to find out the cause.

ELY NEWS NOTES.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Young Men's Social club will hold their opening dance at the Turf hall Friday evening, Sept. 17. Knutson's orchestra will furnish the music, dancing to begin at 9 o'clock. This will be the first dance of the season and everything will be done to make it pleasant. Invitations have been sent out in large numbers.

The baseball game between the Ely-Winton All-Stars and the Virginia & Rainy Lake teams was called off on account of the bad weather Sunday.

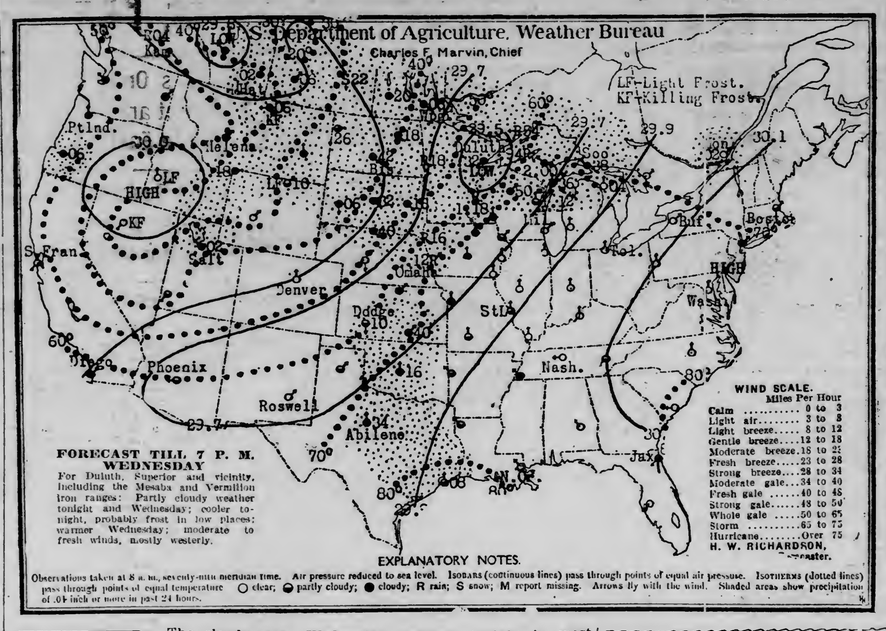

Joe Martinetti, Charles Mattson, Louis Bazinet, Fred James, Elias La Beau, Herbert Kurvinen and Henry Kurvinen, Jr., have returned from a week's tour of the state. They visited the state fair and the auto races. The trip was made in the Martinetti car without a mishap.

Winton Mill Quits.

Winton, Minn., Sept. 14.—The sawmill here of the Swallow & Hopkins company has closed for the season. The shipping department of the concern will continue. The company will log heavily this winter, and has already started making preparations, building logging camps and roads, and expects to put in a large number of logs during the winter. Most of the mill operatives will be employed in the woods.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. WEDNESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Partly cloudy weather tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight, probably frost in low places; warmer Wednesday; moderate to fresh winds, mostly westerly.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature. ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 24 hours.

The cloudy weather with occasional showers holds on, and while it is probably doing some good, it is the limit for finding holes in shoes; and many who thought they could get through to the end of the low-shoe season, find that they must get new kicks or have half-soles put on. Everything has its drawbacks, in this life. Ah, well!

A year ago today was rainy. The sun rose this morning at 5:44 and will set this evening at 6:23, giving twelve hours and thirty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Barometric depressions centered over Western Lake Superior and Alberta have caused rather general precipitation throughout Canada, the Northwest, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas during the last twenty-four hours. Heavy rain fell at Marquette, Green Bay and St. Paul. Freezing weather prevails in Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Temperatures of 90 degs. or higher occurred Monday in the Ohio Valley, Middle Atlantic and Southern states."

General Forecast.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler in east portion tonight; probably frost in lowlands of north portion; warmer Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Showers and probably thunderstorms tonight; cooler tonight; Wednesday fair with cooler in east portion.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday, preceded by thunder showers in east portion this afternoon or tonight; cooler tonight; warmer in west portion Wednesday.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; warmer in west and north portions tonight.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight in west and central portions.

Montana—Increasing cloudiness with probably showers Wednesday and in west portion tonight; warmer tonight.

Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, with probably showers and thunder storms; somewhat lower temperature Wednesday.

Upper Michigan—Probably showers and thunder storms tonight and Wednesday; cooler Wednesday.

VIRGINIA LEVY IS SOMEWHAT LARGER

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of tax levy, Mayor Boylan, president; Fred J. Moilan of the council, and City Clerk A. E. Bickford, yesterday afternoon fixed the tax levy for the next fiscal year, April 1, 1916 to April 1, 1917, at $399,575 as compared with the levy of $386,000 this year. The increase is due largely to the fact that of the 1916 levy $60,000 will be used on this year's public work.

Some of the larger items on the new levy are: Sewer disposal plant, $50,000; city abattoir and ice plant, $15,000; streets, alleys and roads, $35,000; to apply on proposed new city hall work, $25,000.

TESTIFIES HUSBAND WRITES TO ANOTHER

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Fugini of Eveleth, tried in district court here today on an indictment charging desertion and non-support, has been carrying on a correspondence with another woman living in Michigan, according to the testimony of the wife of the accused, who gave evidence today. The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon. The couple have four children.

Convicted of Adultery.

The jury that heard the case against Barbara Sullivan, a married woman, and Ed Lasher, both of this city, indicted on an adultery charge, returned a verdict of guilty late yesterday and Judge Hughes will pass sentence later.

COLERAINE SALOONS, ALSO BOVEY, TO CLOSE

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 14.—The expected has happened here and at Bovey and the saloons in both places that have been on tenterhooks ever since the Indian lid was applied to Grand Rapids have been notified by Chief Deputy H. A. Larson to stop selling liquor on or before Sept. 20. The saloons will comply.

Acquit Saloon Keeper.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Darcey, one of the proprietors of a Chestnut street saloon, accused of keeping his place open after hours, was found not guilty by Judge Carey in municipal court today. The police claimed to have entered the place after midnight a few nights ago and found a number of men there drinking.

Railroader in Business.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—N. Toppari, for the past four years with the land department of the Iron Range railway, gave up his position the first of this week and has opened a real estate office in the Peterson block.

Heavy Virginia Enrollment.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—Three thousand children are now attending the Virginia schools, according to Supt. P. P. Colgrove. Two hundred and ninety-three students are enrolled in the high school. In September, 1914, the high school enrollment was only 242 and the total enrollment 2,854.

Leaves for Northfield.

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Max Morse, son of Supt. M. A. Morse of the Buhl schools, left yesterday afternoon for Northfield, Minn., to be a second-year student at Carlton college.

IS LARGEST IN HISTORY

Total Value of Five Leading Products Estimated at $10,000,000,000.

Fundamental business and financial conditions in this country are considered sound by financiers and the commercial interests generally.

It is pointed out that the production of the five leading crops surpasses last year's record by over 600,000,000 bushels and in the aggregate is the largest in the history of the United States. Their total value is computed by experts at $10,000,000,000.

The marketing of these crops will keep the railroads busy all through the fall and winter months and should lead to the employment of more trainmen than since 1912, officials of the transportation companies say.

Commenting on the trade situation and outlook, the annual business review of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago, says:

Can Feed Europe.

"Last year's crop of 891,000,000 bushels gave an exportable surplus of 330,000,000 bushels and at the highest price at which wheat had been sold since the season of 1907-8. This year, with a supply of the old crop of 25,000,000 bushels less, the present crop, on last year's basis would provide an exportable surplus of 420,000,000 bushels, or four-fifths of the total amount taken by the importing countries in the season which ended with Aug. 1. The country is therefore in a position to feed all Europe, if it should become necessary. However, the conditions which gave this country its big crop, operated in Canada to raise its exportable surplus 100,000,000 bushels, and with a large crop forecast in Australia, the first country of the southern hemisphere to harvest the present season, the supplies for Europe are more than ample, and there is no reason to expect the large return realized upon the crop of the previous season.

"The higher cost of wheat last season affected our own people as well as those of Europe, and while the money value of the exported surplus figured more largely in the foreign trade than that of any other product of the country, the high price at home, at a period when work was scarce, weighed heavily upon the bulk of the population. The large crops in the exporting countries this year assure cheaper bread, a reduction in the cost of living, and a larger expenditure for products of the manufacturers.

"Indications are that our surplus agricultural production will move more slowly in export trade this year than usual, because of the activity of the German submarine in interference with international commerce. This, of course, would necessitate the greater use of credit in this country in carrying this surplus of grain and foodstuffs until it is actually needed abroad and can be transported there. Naturally if this should develop, it would tend to a firmer money market in this country. A firmer money market would be desirable, both as a check on any tendency toward inflation and over-extension of credits, and also because it would make for a healthier banking position as the excessively low interest rates have made banking less profitable. A steady rate at a normal level is much more to be desired than an abnormally low rate and a plethora of funds.

Big Trade Balance.

"A trade balance in our favor of upwards of a billion dollars is the source of great confidence in our ability to absorb any considerable volume of the European investments which may be offered later on in this country. The experience in the international exchange market recently indicates the probability that a considerable part of these foreign investments will come back to this market in the course of time. During the first fiscal year of the war in Europe, it is estimated that in various ways the British have paid us something like $520,000,000, which falls $136,000,000 short of paying their indebtedness to us at the end of that fiscal period.

"As this sum is equal to about one-third of the gold holdings of the Bank of England it is quite probable that the disposition on the part of the European banks will be to conserve their gold wherever possible and seek to liquidate this indebtedness through the resale of American securities. For a time European investors may show a disposition to retain their American holdings because of their attractiveness and safety, but the increased strain on the capital markets of the world, especially abroad, and the consequent increasing attractiveness of their home securities is likely to induce the European individual investors to shift their investments from American to European securities and enterprises.

"In the fiscal year preceding the war, the British purchased only about two-thirds of the amount they took last year, while they sold to us only $53,000,000 less last year than they did the previous year. These figures cover a period during several months of which international commerce was seriously hampered. Should the volume of the first six months of the current calendar year, which forms the last half of the fiscal year, be maintained, it is easy to estimate how long it will take us to build up a credit balance that will offset all our indebtedness to Europe, including that represented by European investments in this country."

LAX ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS SCORED

Lax enforcement of the civil service laws was scored by members of the Munger Improvement club at their regular monthly meeting held last evening in the Munger school.

It is claimed that many city employes are hired without taking civil service examinations. As a result the club went on record favoring examinations for all applicants, or a change in the system doing away with the tests altogether.

It was decided to call a general mass meeting some time next month, when final action will be taken on the proposed Eighth street pavement. The members are divided as to whether the pavement should extend from Fourteenth to Eighth avenue east, or to Sixth avenue east. There is a strong sentiment for a subgrade to be made at once. This, it is said, should be let lie for a year.

The streets committee reported that Herbert Warren, manager of the street car company, refused to substitute iron trolley poles in place of the wooden posts now in Ninth street.

Further indorsement was given by the club to the plan suggested last spring, relative to the labeling of all city automobiles.

UPPER PENINSULA IS GIVEN SOAKING

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A twelve-hour thunder storm lasting all night, during which an inch of rain fell over the Lake Superior district of Michigan, caused considerable loss to farmers, flooding of cellars and washing out of roads.

Lake Linden Men Hurt.

Two men were injured at Lake Linden. Frank Messer being struck by lightning this morning and a companion being knocked down by the shock. Messer was revived with a pulmotor.

Falls Asleep—Killed.

Harvey, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ben C. Seibel, aged 12 years, lost his life when he fell asleep while driving a load of grain, tumbling from his seat to the ground and breaking his neck. He was found by the driver of a following rig.

STATE PARK COMMISSION

Governor Names Men to Perfect Jay Cooke Park Title.

Will Co-operate With Attorney General in Acquiring Lands.

Governor Hammond has just issued commissions to five leading men from the territory interested to act with the attorney general of the state in obtaining and perfecting the allotments of land in the Jay Cooke state park along the dalles of the St. Louis river. The men so appointed as commissioners are:

Henry Oldenberg, Carlton.
Joseph F. Wilson, Cloquet.
Stevren Swanson, Moose Lake.
J. L. Washburn, Duluth.
John G. Williams, Duluth.

The names were suggested to the governor by the city planning committee of the Duluth Commercial club, and he at once accepted them. The commissioners will serve without pay, and the work of perfecting title to the lands will probably begin at once.

Completing Work Begun.

By establishing this machinery to obtain and perfect title to the lands, the work of acquiring one of the most beautiful parks on the continent, and a state park without superior in Minnesota, begun by the passage of a law by the last legislature, appropriating $15,000 for the expense of acquiring and caring for the park, will go on to completion and before long the Jay Cooke state park will be a reality instead of a prospect.

The law, making the appropriation mentioned provides that the money shall not be available until the St. Louis River Water Power company shall cause to be duly conveyed to the state, without cost to it, within six months from the taking effect of the act, about 2,000 to 2,500 acres of land on both sides of the river, the lands to be incorporated in the park.

Empowers Governor.

The governor is authorized, in this act, to appoint one or more commissioners to act with the attorney general, without pay, in securing by purchase, gift or condemnation, not more than 4,000 acres of land in the prescribed district in addition to the lands of the St. Louis River Water Power company, continguous to the latter, all of the lands to be forever dedicated to public use and suitably improved and maintained as a public park to be known as "The Jay Cooke State Park," the supervision and control of which shall be vested in such state officer or department having charge of the public lands of the state.

Notice of the appointment of the commissioners was received today in a letter from the governor.

AITKIN COUNTY FAIR EXHIBITS ALL PLACED

Second Day of County Show Promises to Draw Large Crowd.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aitkin county fair got well under way yesterday, the exhibits being all placed and today everything is in shape. The last of the entries of all kinds were in position last night.

The weather was threatening all day and last night a heavy shower put the race track out of shape and the racing program scheduled for today will probably have to be abandoned. There are many horses entered and interest in the racing events is keying up rapidly. Much interest is shown in these races by people from outside towns and large crowds arrived today from all over the Cuyuna range.

Fine Livestock Exhibit.

The livestock show is a good one and the agricultural exhibits are better than had been expected after such a wet, cold year. Judging of all entries is going on today and grains, grasses and root crops are making good scorings. Oats going as high as ninety bushels to the acre have been produced this year and wheat is yielding heavier than ever before. Corn that is going to make seed is being exhibited in spite of the cold season and early frost and ripe tomatoes and red apples are among the exhibits. Potatoes that are declared perfect and celery bunches larger than those from this county that took the first prize at the state fair are on exhibition. Many individual farm collections are shown this year and the boys' and girls' department was never so well filled as now. Their work is causing much favorable comment.

The amusement features are all on hand, the crowd is being successfully fed and entertained and is consequently good natured and happy.

Duluthians to Visit.

Tomorrow a delegation of the Duluth wholesalers and jobbers will visit the fair and State Auditor Preus will deliver the address before the grandstand.

"Rube" Posten of the Duluth Dooks, who was sold to Detroit at the close of the season, learned the game with the Aitkin team and will be here and probably pitch one of the games. This fair is getting to be "some" show and one of the state judges is authority for the statement that it is the best of the northern group of counties.

BEMIDJI MAY ANNEX NYMORE

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nymore, a suburb of this city, may be annexed to Bemidji within the next few months, should such an action be favored by both places. At present the business men of both places favor the proposition and at the meeting of the local city council last evening a committee consisting of Mayor William McCuaig, City Attorney P. J. Russell and Alderman S. C. Bailey of the Second ward was appointed to take the matter up with the village officials of Nymore. Several business men of Nymore interviewed Mayor McCuaig of this city yesterday in regard to the matter and he assured them that it would be attended to by the city council. Should the city officials of both places decide to annex Nymore an election will have to be held in both places and should a majority of the voters in each place favor annexation it will be done, which will mean that the population of Bemidji will be boosted about 1,500 and that Nymore, which will probably be known as East Bemidji and will be in the Fifth ward, will have city advantages. At present the city limits of Bemidji extend past Nymore and the development of this city would soon surround Nymore.

Is Kicked to Death.

Cathay, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Holt, aged 26, was kicked to death by a horse on the Andrew Stokes farm, near here, while engaged about the barn.

DOVE-LIKE GENTLENESS IS HURTING BOXING GAME

In the Old Days Reformers Stormed Against Prize Fighting Because It Was Considered Brutal—In These Modern Days the Game Is Assailed Because the Boxers Themselves Refuse to Do Any Real Fighting.

BY BRUCE.

IT was bruited forth here some time back that Gibbons and McFarland to a considerable extent had the fall fashions of the boxing game in their keeping. After the first hue and cry over the meeting has subsided, let it be whispered that the Brighton Beach meeting did not rouse a tumultuous amount of interest in its wake.

Going over the experts' accounts of the meeting by the sea, we fail to discover where there was a real hard blow struck. More than that, Gibbons displayed about the worst form of his career, judging from this same source of information.

There is the back to the tree branch and cave home call in all of us. Civilization can only veneer this primitive thirst at best. Let some one yell "fight" in the middle of the street, or in the rear room of one of those green baize door places, and note the eager undulation of interest that grabs Mr. Average Man by the gills.

So it was with the fight game. We have heard old and venerable citizens sit by the waning hour of morning's rosy beginning and talk of that memorable meeting between Joe Wolcott and little Kid Lavigne.

It was the same with several of those tear down and drag down soirees between this same Joe Wolcott and Mysterious Billy Smith, while men to this late day still discuss in the quiet places that torrid setto between Kid McCoy and Kid Carter, or the meeting between Jim Corbett and Joe Choynski on the river barge.

Pale-faced esthetics raved against this love of the call of the wild in the gloating brother of the red corpuscle. Ministers inveighed against the fight game, reformers in general appealed to stony-faced members of state legislatures to legislate this relic of the dark ages from the prim path of modern culture.

And now what has happened? The fight game, after weathering the storm of reformers, of anti-legislation, of the swarming pack of its legitimate foes, is now facing a more subtle and serious enemy within its own ranks—the boxers themselves.

Reformers, preachers and sitters in the candle glow of the tea room detested the game and worked nimbly for its abolition, because it was rough and the pastime for a horny-handed individual. The game was threatened because it was a throwback to the days when brutality appealed to the mob. Now the game threatens to die because it has become so dove-like that it appeals no longer to the old horny-fisted crowd of yore.

When Joe Wolcott and Kid Lavigne fought the Michigan white boy had his face pounded to a mushy substance not unlike a succulent beefsteak, while one ear hung dangling to the side of his battered and bruised head.

Men rose in the heat and din of that never to be forgotten fight, crying out, wringing their hands and imploring this wonderful specimen of man brute from Saginaw to win for the sake of the white race.

Then in those last few rounds, rallying as if driven by some miracle-given force, little Lavigne tore into that other marvelous physical specimen and battered him from ring post to ring post. The tenuous bonds of civilization snapped under the strain of the primitive tug, and men, coatless, hatless, with the wild cry of battle in their eyes, leaped back into the stone age and yelled from the fierce joy of the thing.

Step down the tilting age, gentlemen, just fifteen years, and behold the startling contrast the progress of the game has brought.

After the McFarland-Gibbons bout had proceeded a few rounds, a large gentleman rose, yawned, stretched his arms, and cried forth to the sea air:

"Gents, this a grand picture show, but I came here to see a fight."

Let us conclude, kind readers, by stating that if the boxing game dies, it will be gentleness and not brutality that encompasses its demise.

LEADERS ARE NOT MENACED

Red Sox Increase Lead and Philadelphia Hold Their Own.

New York, Sept. 14.—The leaders in both major leagues won yesterday, allowing their rivals no opportunity to creep up on them.

The Boston Americans by virtue of their strength in the box took both games of a double-header from the Chicago White Sox and increased their lead to three and a half games over the Detroit Tigers, who won another game from New York.

All the teams in the three-cornered fight for the National league pennant won their games yesterday. Philadelphia opened the series at Pittsburgh by taking a hard-fought thirteen-inning battle, while Brooklyn defeated St. Louis, and Boston nosed out ahead of Chicago.

Thus, the Phillies retain a four-game lead. The Phillies have not lost a game since they suffered their recent severe setback at the hands of the Superbas at Brooklyn, while the Superbas and the Braves have been vacillating between second and third place, without making any appreciable gain on Moran's men.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Goes Thirteen Innings.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 14.—After battling for thirteen innings yesterday, Philadelphia put over two runs and defeated Pittsburgh, 4 to 2. In the thirteenth inning, after two men had been retired, Whitted singled and stole second, going to third on Murphy's wild throw. Niehoff was passed and he also stole second, after which Burns scored both men with a single to center. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	4	14	0
Pittsburg	2	13	2

Batteries — Alexander and Burns; Cooper and Gibson, Murphy.

Reds Are Climbing.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Cincinnati won an eleven-inning game yesterday from New York 6 to 5. Tesreau pitched good ball for seven innings, the locals being unable to score while the visitors had scored three runs off Dale. In the eighth Cincinnati got six hits after two were out, scoring five runs. New York tied the score in the ninth with three hits off Schneider who had replaced Dale. Denton took Dale's place and held the locals safe until the eleventh when he passed Rodgers. Schneider singled, Killifer sacrificed and Rodgers scored the winning run when Groh singled. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
New York	5	9	3
Cincinnati	6	12	2

Batteries — Tesreau, Benton and Meyers, Dooin; Dale, Schneider and Wingo.

Dodgers Beat Cardinals.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—Sallee was driven from the box after yielding five runs in the third inning yesterday and Brooklyn won 6 to 3. Lamline replaced Sallee and held the visitors to two hits. Coombs was wild, issuing seven passes, but excellent support by his team-mates kept the locals from overcoming the early lead. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	6	7	0
St. Louis	3	7	5

Batteries—Coombs and O. Miller; Sallee, Lamline and Gonzales.

Braves Win Another.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Saier's muff and the boot of a pop fly by Snodgrass with two men on the bases and two out, in the fourth inning, cost Chicago yesterday's game with Boston, 5 to 4. Egan and Gowdy were the two men who scored when the ball rolled to the stand.

The game was a pitchers' battle. Barnes did not allow a clean hit until the seventh and he was then replaced by Hughes. Boston made only four hits and three were credited to Magee. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	5	4	1
Chicago	4	5	3

Batteries — Barnes, Hughes and Gowy; Pierce, Adams, Zabel and Archer.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Improve Their Lead.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 14.—The league-leading Red Sox improved their position by winning both games of a double-header from Chicago, 2 to 1 and 4 to 1, yesterday.

Boston was favored by effective pitching, both Leonard and Shore holding Chicago to three hits in each game. In the first contest, Scott was hit at critical moments. Gardner's triple and Lewis' hit scored a run for the Red Sox in the fourth and Barry's scratch hit, Carrigan's force out, on which the former was retired, Weaver's error on Leonard's smash and Hoblitzell's double, added to the winning run in the seventh.

The second game was stopped by darkness after eight innings. Faber lasted only one-third of an inning, in which Boston scored three runs. Cicotte, who succeeded him, held Boston safe until the eighth, when a pass was developed into a run. The scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	1	3	3
Boston	2	8	0

Batteries—J. Scott, Cicotte and Schalk; Leonard and Carrigan.

Second game—	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	1	3	4
Boston	4	9	3

Batteries—Wolfgang, Faber, Cicotte and Mayer, Schalk; Shore and Thomas.

Browns Beat Wrecks.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Phillips, formerly of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was very effective against Philadelphia yesterday and St. Louis won, 8 to 2. Sheehan was hit hard in four innings and Eccles, a southpaw, formerly of Jamestown, N. Y., was given a trial and did good work. Pratt's hitting featured the game. He made two doubles and a home run in four times at bat. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	8	12	1
Philadelphia	2	7	1

Batteries—Phillips and Leary; Sheehan, Eccles and McAvoy.

Tigers Win From Yankees.

New York, Sept. 14.—Pitcher James of Detroit held New York to two scattered hits and the Yankees were shut out, 2 to 0, yesterday. It was the sixth straight defeat suffered by the New York team. Fisher also pitched well, especially in the pinches, eleven visitors being left on the bases. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	2	9	0
New York	0	2	0

Batteries—James and Stanage; Fisher, Russell and Nunamaker.

Senators Trim Indians.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Three runs scored in the first inning were sufficient for Washington to defeat Cleveland yesterday, 3 to 2. The visitors scored in the fourth and filled the bases in the ninth with only one out, but Gallia replaced Boehling and ended the rally after one run had crossed. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	2	6	0
Washington	3	6	1

Batteries—Garrett, Jones, Carter and O'Neil; Boehling, Gallia and Henry.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Newark Takes Brace.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—Four St. Louis pitchers and fifteen batsmen proved unequal to the occasion in the game with Newark here yesterday and the visitors won 6 to 3. Reulbach granted nine scattered hits, while the St. Louis pitchers failed to hold Newark to less than twelve hits. Though the local sluggers drew four doubles from Reulbach, they came inopportunely. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Newark	6	12	2
St. Louis	3	9	2

Batteries—Reulbach and Rariden; Watson, Groom, Willett, Herbert and Hartley.

Pittfeds Check Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The Pittsburgh Federals broke Brooklyn's winning streak yesterday by pounding four local twirlers for thirteen hits and taking the game 7 to 5. Manager Ganzel used eighteen players during the game. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	7	13	0
Brooklyn	5	9	1

Batteries—Comstock, Knetzer and Berry; Marion, Frank Smith, Weltz, Bluejacket and Land, Simon.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Millers Drop Game.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—With Metz on third base and two out in the eleventh inning, Earl Blackburn, who won Sunday's game with a drive into the bleachers, was purposely passed, whereupon Conzelman hit to center, scoring Metz with the run that beat Minneapolis, 3 to 2. Conzelman pitched a splendid game, holding the visitors to nine scattered hits. Score: R. H. E.

Minneapolis	2	9	1
Indianapolis	3	13	1

Batteries—R. Williams and Sullivan; Conzelman and Blackburn.

Saints Score Shutout.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—St. Paul landed hard on Hill in two innings yesterday scoring seven runs, while Steele kept Cleveland's four hits so well scattered that they failed to tally. The Saints clustered five of their eight hits in the third which, with a base on balls, a wild pitch and an error, netted six runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Paul	7	8	1
Cleveland	0	4	1

Batteries—Steele and Johnson; Hill and Blackwell.

Colonels Grab Another.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.—Pinch hitters had a big day in Louisville's 6-to-4 defeat of Kansas City. Batting for Larson in the sixth, Delhi singled, giving Kansas City a two-run lead over Louisville. In the same inning Clemons, batting for Taylor, tripled, placing Louisville one score in front of Kansas City. Three hits—off Taylor—were easy pops back of second, fielders in each instance being unable to decide who should make the catch. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Kansas City	4	14	1
Louisville	6	9	1

Batteries—Larson, Regan and Geibel; Taylor, Middleton and Crossin.

Brewers Win Out.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Columbus and Milwaukee met yesterday for the last time this season, the visitors winning the first game of a doubleheader, 11 to 3. The second was a seven-all draw of nine innings, called on account of darkness. Bennett, though he gave ten passes, in the second game, permitted but one run to be batted in. Stell and Mueller dropped pop flies in the seventh. Milwaukee's three runs in the ninth came after a chance to retire the side had been missed by Benson. Shelton helped Columbus tie in the ninth with steals of second and third. Scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	11	12	2
Columbus	3	13	3

Batteries—Young and Brannan; Bacon and Coleman.

Second game—	R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	7	6	4
Columbus	7	12	9

Batteries—Dougherty and Brannan; Bennett and Mueller.

DISQUALIFYING FOR FOUL UPHELD

State Boxing Commission Indorses Referee in Williams-Ertle Bout.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—The Minnesota boxing commission, at a meeting here last night upheld the action of Referee George Barton in disqualifying "Kid" Williams for fouling Johnny Ertle in their contest here last Friday night. Although no ruling was made as to the award of the decision to Ertle, it was pointed out that disqualification for fouling automatically carried with it the decision for the boxer fouled.

As the result of an investigation into charges that he had "laid down" in his bout with a local fighter Friday night, Jack Lester of San Francisco, was barred by the commission from participating in future bouts in Minnesota.

In the latter case, the Capital City Athletic club was directed to divide $225, which Lester was to receive for boxing Billy Miske, equally between the Little Sisters of the Poor and the state hospital for crippled children at Lake Phalen.

Referee Barton, Mike McNulty, Ertle and Miske were questioned as to the foul committed by Williams in the main bout.

DULUTH TO WITNESS BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Duluth Edisons Will Meet Crack Parker Rexalls of St. Paul in Amateur Baseball Series That Has World's Title as Its Ultimate Goal—Duluth Team Is Ranked as One of the Strongest in the West.

The Duluth-Edisons versus the crack Parker Rexalls, with the world's amateur baseball title in the offing.

There are many Duluthians who do not expect to attend the world's series this fall, or perhaps for many falls—but next Saturday and Sunday Duluth will have an amateur world's baseball series of its own. It will be Duluth against St. Paul—may the best team win.

Some time ago some well known business men of the United States got together and conceived the idea of staging a world's amateur championship baseball series. The idea listened well and speedily blossomed forth into materialization. This year a Duluth baseball team is to figure in the world's championship.

It remains to be seen whether the fans of Duluth will take to this remarkable baseball achievement with the same enthusiasm as the followers of the sport in other cities. The best amateur baseball team of St. Paul, an aggregation that has defeated the winner of the combined city league, is coming here to compete against a Duluth team that lost but one game during an entire season. The play is in the world's championship elimination series.

Duluth Has Great Team.

Duluth has a great team. Manager Ed Norsted has secured the very pick of the amateur talent of the city and welded this material into a smooth working machine. The Edisons won the amateur championship of the city so easily that there was little competition in practically all of the games. However, Duluth is going to meet a real baseball team in the Parker Rexalls of St. Paul.

Winning the pennant in their own league, the Parkers were called upon to meet the winners of three other amateur leagues to establish a clear title to the championship of St. Paul. This the Parkers did in convincing manner.

Ed L. Shave, sporting editor of the St. Paul Daily News, in an article of nearly a column, called the Parkers one of the greatest purely amateur baseball teams that has ever been seen in the entire West.

This is not merely extravagant praise or fulsome flattery, born of civic pride, for the record of the team that is to oppose the Duluth cracks is the most remarkable of any baseball aggregation that has ever been developed in St. Paul.

What About the Edisons?

This brings us to the local representatives. The team that is to oppose the Parkers and endeavor to work its way into the finals of the world's amateur baseball championship, has lost but one game this season, that an eleven-inning battle which was nip and tuck all the way. Up to the time of this defeat twelve straight games had been easily won by the Edisons.

Alder is called the Mathewson of the amateur league. This pitcher will be worked in company with Olson and Schaeffer. With three sterling hurlers and one of the hardest hitting teams that Duluth has ever produced, Manager Norsted is confident that his team is going to take the measure of St. Paul and move on to the next opponent in the world's titular struggle.

World's Biggest Crowds.

Maybe, Mr. Baseball Fan, you will think it a weird and bizarre statement, but the fact remains that the games in the world's amateur baseball championships have outdrawn those of the world's series games between the teams of the major leagues.

In Cleveland a crowd estimated at 80,000 persons witnessed one of the games for the world's amateur baseball title. That's some crowd, all right. In St. Paul, Omaha, Chicago and other cities where amateur teams have competed for the world's title, great crowds have surged about the fields. Duluth is to have its initial peep at world's series amateur baseball next Saturday and Sunday. It remains to be seen whether Duluth will support a brand of baseball that has hung out the "S. R. O." sign in other cities of the country.

Two of the greatest baseball teams in the West are to meet; the games promise to bring forth some real baseball.

HAMBURG, GREAT RACER AND GREATER SIRE OF RACERS, DEAD

Hamburg, one of the greatest sires of race horses in the country and a brilliant racer in his younger days, died last Friday at Brookdale farm at Red Bank, N. J. Hamburg was raised at Hamilton, Mont., by the late Marcus Daly, who, after selling him, bought him back for the then record price of $40,000.

Regret, winner of the Kentucky derby this year, and Thunderer, winner of the futurity at Belmont park week before last, were from Jersey Lightning, a daughter of Hamburg. Hamburg was 20 years old and was owned by Harry Payne Whitney.

Hamburg, by Hanover-Lady Reel, was foaled in 1895, and was bought as a weanling by John E. Madden and made his first appearance at the Brooklyn Jockey club track June 9, 1897, where he won a small purse. As a 2-year-old he started sixteen times, winning the Great Eastern, Autumn, Great Trial and the second half of the Double Event stakes at Coney Island; Excelsior, Prospect, Electric and Rising Generation stakes at Gravesend and Congress Hall and Flash stakes at Saratoga. His defeats were at Coney Island, where he ran second to Pre-

As a 2-year-old he won the Spring Special at Gravesend on June 8, then won the Swift and Realization Stakes at Coney Island and finished his racing career on July 30, 1898, when he won the Brighton cup at Brighton Beach at odds of 1 to 100.

He was bought by Marcus Daly at the close of his 2-year-old career for $40,001 and after the Brighton Cup was sent to Mr. Daly's breeding farm. On the death of Mr. Daly Hamburg was sold by auction in the Madison Square Garden to William C. While Hamburg was the sire of some good horses such as Borrow and Slumber, he will be remembered, as was his own sire, through his producing daughters, such as Jersey Lightning, the dam of Regret and Thunderer, and Lady Hamburg II, the dam of Chicles and Artful, the fastest horse the late William C. Whitney ever owned, a Futurity winner, and the dam of Adroit, which made a sensational winning at Belmont park on Thursday.

FIRST FOOTBALL GAME SCHEDULED

Central and Alumni Players Will Clash on Sept. 25.

Duluth Central high school will play its first football game of the present season when the alumni team will be taken on at Athletic park, Saturday, Sept. 25.

Candidates for the hilltop team are working out each afternoon under the direction of Coach Blahl. Prospects for a fast team are very bright.

Bobby Kerr, captain of last year's central team, is getting the grads together. It is peculiarly joyful for the grads to wallop the regulars. This season the alumni warriors will have a very strong team on the field. The game is expected to be close and hard fought, with the odds very even.

ATHLETICS TO START AT "Y" NEXT MONTH

With Louis Ardouin in charge of wrestling and James Nelson at the head of the boxing department, athletics will start at the Y. M. C. A., Oct. 4. It is expected that the season about to open will prove one of the most flourishing in the history of the local association.

Football Practice Set.

There will be a signal practice of the members of the Duluth foot ball team this evening. Every candidate for the team is requested to be at the clubrooms in the West end. Plans will be talked over and the team candidates will run through the signals. It is expected that the first game of the season will be played some time during the present month.

Harvard Squad Practices.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 14.—Seventy-eight candidates for the Harvard football team reported yesterday on Soldiers' field for the first practice of the season. Under the direction of twelve coaches, they spent an hour in light drill and receiving instructions.

Wisconsin Fair Races.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—The $3,000 race for pacers which was to have featured yesterday's program of the Great Western circuit at the state fair was postponed until today, on account of heavy track. The regular races will begin today.

Intercollegiate Golf.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 14.—The intercollegiate golf tournament reached the final stage yesterday, when Grant A. Peacock of Princeton and Francis R. Blossom of Yale came through the semi-final round. Peacock defeated John Marshall, Jr., of Williams by 3 up and 2 to play, while Blossom disposed of Louis L. Bredin, another Yale player, in easy fashion, the margin being 7 and 6.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY IN THE CURLING CLUB

It Has Been Decided to Play Duluth League Hockey in Place of the Big Club Team—Final Plans Are to Be Made By Curling Club Directors in the Near Future.

City league hockey will replace "big league" hockey in Duluth this coming winter. This statement is so near a positive fact that it runs with its ears cocked for denying words.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the curling club within the next ten days, if present plans are carried out. The directors of the club have already practically decided to set aside one night a week at the big rink for hockey. This evening will be exclusively for hockey. There will be no skating. Two, possibly three hockey games, will be played on this one night a week, and all the games will be played between local league teams.

The Winnipeg Idea.

The curling club directors are said to heartily favor encouraging Duluth league hockey. Local players make the game more interesting and will work for the future development of the game, the directors believe. Winnipeg has a city league, a number of city hockey leagues in fact, and Winnipeg has been the hottest municipal center of hockey in North America for several years.

There will be a meeting of the Duluth Amateur Hockey association officials and members at the Fenton-Duby store, Friday evening. At that time the situation will be gone over and some plans made for the coming season.

As a matter of fact, a proposition has been submitted to the curling club directors, according to Ray Fenton, president of the Duluth Amateur Hockey association. This proposition has not been acted upon as yet. The curling club directors may eithe ract upon this proposition or propose a new one, mutually agreeable to the directors and amateur hockey league officials.

Plans as to the amateur hockey league season are as yet vague. Until the curling club directors and the officials of the amateur league meet, little definite information will be known. It is generally believed that with amateur hockey installed in the big curling club, the game will thrive and prosper here as never before.

Whether Joe Linder will remain in the capacity as coach to the young players, has not been decided, but it has been practically decided to do away with the team that represented the curling club last winter.

BOWLERS TO BEGIN PLAY

Major League Pin Spillers May Add Two Teams.

This Season Expected to Be Greatest in History of Duluth.

BY BRUCE.

It looks like another great bowling season for Duluth. Last winter bowlers staged the biggest tourney in the history of the city—and also boosted the game to big league proportions. This season opens with even greater prospects than last.

As announced in The Herald yesterday, the initial meeting of the major league bowlers is set for this evening. It is expected that steps will be taken this evening or in the near future to expand the major league from a six-club organization to an eight-club affair.

Bowling has become one of the recognized sports of the Zenith City. Last year the game broke into a real stride and enjoyed a popularity compared with that gained by the pin sport in the Twin Cities. This year's efforts promise to result in more clubs and even a faster game.

Major League a Success.

Last season the Major Bowling league numbered more players than in any previous year, played more games, ran up higher socres, and in every detail of the sport surpassed all its previous records. It is the desire of the major league officers to establish even a greater record during the approaching season.

Every bowler of the city is asked to be present this evening. The meeting will be called in the Grand alleys. It is especially requested that every member of the board of directors be present. There is some special business to come up, and it is also probable that the election of officers will be gone through with.

After New Members.

With the desire to expand the major league into an eight-team organization, there is the twin desire to secure a number of new players. All those interested in bowling, even though never having played, are invited to be present at the meeting of this evening.

It is expected that bowling will get an early start here this fall. Some preliminary work has been done on the schedule. Several of the teams are practically completed.

Play will begin on several of the alleys during the present week. It is expected that the scheduled games of the major league will start within a comparatively short time. The Grand league is also due to begin activities within the next few days.

New York Wins Shoot.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 14.—The New York teams won the McAlpin trophy shooting match here yesterday with a lead of twelve points over the team from the United States marine corps. The winners scored an aggregate of 1,107. New Jersey was third and the District of Columbia fourth.

Rain Stops Races.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Rain caused a postponement of the grand circuit program here yesterday, only the first heat of the Messina Springs, amateur sweepstakes for 2-year-old trotters, being raced. A field of six horses started in the Messina Springs event for 2-year-olds. Sunloch won the heat by a neck, with Revelry second.

REPORTER'S MOTHER REPORTED DROWNED

Police Would Inform Duluth Boy of Parent's Death.

Police are searching for Walter Clark, a newspaper reporter believed to have lived in Duluth, to tell him that his mother was drowned Aug. 16 last in the storm which swept the gulf states.

Mrs. Margaret Claire Sanford, the mother, also lived in Duluth at one time, according to a letter from Mrs. John J. Hogan of Galveston, Tex. Mrs. Sanford was drowned while en route from Houston to Galveston.

The letter also refers to Mrs. Sanford's sisters, Miss Jennie and Gussie Kohl, and to a brother, Fred Kohl, all of whom lived in Minnesota formerly.

So far Chief of Police McKercher has found no trace of the missing boy. He is not known at either of the Duluth daily newspaper offices.

AGED DULUTHIAN IS LOST AT FAIR

Olaf A. Sundberg Fails to Return From Trip to Hamline.

Although Olaf A. Sundberg had lived in the state of Minnesota for several years, he never had seen the state fair.

After hearing his friends tell of its many wonders, he decided to see for himself, and accordingly left Duluth Sept. 5, bound for the Twin Cities.

He has not been heard from since that time, and yesterday relatives asked Chief of Police McKercher to start a search for him.

Sundberg is about 65 years old, five feet nine inches tall, and weighs about 175 pounds.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A Brand New "Cold" Microbe

SINCE old Ben Franklin first promulgated the thought that so-called "colds" were catching, that is, transferable from the sick to the well, considerable knowledge has accumulated supporting that idea. In this interlude of inquiry we have occasionally dwelt upon the sundry and divers microbes that are known to cause such illnesses. The pneumococcus—king of the cold bugs—nearly everybody carries always on tap. Then there is the influenza bacillus, the diphtheria bacillus—which is present in not a few apparent "colds" in children particularly, the micrococcus catarrhalis, certain streptococci and staphylococci and other cocci till you can't cock your eye any longer—have all been rather suspiciously associated with "colds."

But the worst is yet to come. And from a woman doctor this time. Dr. Ruth Tunnicliff has found a new and thoroughly competent cold microbe—the bacillus rhinitis. Rhinitis, you know, means inflammation of the proboscis, or nose, the inside of the nose particularly. Dr. Tunnicliff's new microbe does a neat and workmanlike job when planted on the field of action; there can be no doubt that it starts things about as promptly as any of the old established germs of coryza in our standard lists.

There need be no alarm, nor even surprise that a new cold germ has been discovered. Beyond question there will be others introduced from time to time as occasion warrants. We're going to keep the contagiousness of "colds" in the public nostrils at all hazards, and we shall discover as many new microbes as may be necessary for the purpose.

One "cold" is as much unlike another "cold" in its symptoms and effects as measles is unlike the whooping-cough. That is just why we have given this fine notice to Dr. Tunnicliff's new bug—to emphasize the unhappy truth that a "cold" is a "cold" only until you find out what is the matter, and then it is something definite. Measles and whooping-cough and diphtheria and pneumonia and various other diseases are "colds" at first, in the common parlance; pretty nearly every acute illness is a "bad cold" at the beginning; anyway, the average patient will stand for such a diagnosis for a day or two.

All "colds" are as independent of weather conditions and exposure and dampness and drafts as measles, whooping-cough or soft corns, but not all human beings are as yet disabused of the great delusion.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Intestinal Indigestion in Children.

Will you kindly write something about intestinal indigestion in children under 10? I think you said some time ago that most cases of "worms" are in reality due to this trouble.

Answer—We have a letter all ready to send you if you will furnish the stamped, addressed envelope.

Health Talks Saved Her Beauty.

Following one of your suggestions I had the emetine treatment for pyorrhea some months ago, and it did wonders. My general health is greatly improved and my friends are remarking on my improved complexion. Thank you and long life to Health Talks.

Answer—And mind, the lady had already spent 4 or 5 cents for postage and packing on the letter of advice.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

IS TRAGEDY FOR POLAND

With Fall of Warsaw, Russian Poland's Hope Has Expired.

German Rule Would Mean Funeral of the Polish Nation.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Stockholm, Aug. 15.—Whatever military strategists may decide is the actual importance of the Russian loss of Western Poland and the fall of Warsaw, by the Poles themselves it is regarded as nothing but the bitterest tragedy. Six months ago the Russian Poles, in spite of their losses and suffering and the complete devastation of the most productive portions of their country, still clung hopefully to the promise which Russia had held out to them at the beginning of the war. But with the gradual encroachment of the German armies, this assurance has wavered—not so much because they doubted Russia's good faith, as because they questioned her ability to enforce the grand duke's proclamation. With the loss of the Polish capital, it may be said that this waning hope, which alone lifted Russian Poland out of absolute despair, has expired.

Resentment Against Russians.

An Associated Press correspondent talked with representative Poles of all classes, from the aristocracy to the peasantry, as they fled from Warsaw to interior points in Russia. The uppermost feeling was one of ill-concealed resentment against the Russians.

In the recent retreat from the region around Warsaw, the Russian army, having learned the lesson from Lodz, where the resources of the city were converted to German uses, decided upon a policy of destroying all property about whose use by the Germans there was the slightest question. It was hardly to be expected that the Poles, homeless, pauperized and without any idea of where or how they were going to live, would preserve a judicially calm view of this action by the Russian army. Explanations regarding "strategical necessity" failed to impress men who had just seen their own homes razed by the Russian army and had received printed proclamations the very phrasing of which they considered an insult. This proclamation brusquely stated that "Polish cattle and men must immediately leave the regions along the front for points in the interior."

The Very Soil Ruined.

These wretched persons said that the Russian soldiers, in their zealous execution of the orders they had received, had left nothing behind them except a blackened and scarred landscape whose very soil was ruined.

Polish resentment has been increased by the reports of Germany's offer of peace to Russia, according to the terms of which Russia would cede a narrow strip of Poland in the neighborhood of Kalisz to Germany. "In this settlement," say the Poles, "Russia would lose nothing and Poland would lose everything, for this would bring Germany one step nearer to her plan of Germanizing the Vistula, which would mean the death of Poland as a nation. It seems that Poland is not only to be the chief sufferer in the war, but that she is to constitute the prize which Russia is to pay to Germany."

Commission in Deadlock.

In view of the present geographical boundaries of Poland, and the state of Polish feeling, the continuance of the session of the Russian-Polish commission appointed by the emperor to consider the question of Polish independence has the qualities of tragedy and farce almost equally combined. The commission has apparently come to a deadlock, since the kind of independence which Poland wants and the kind which Russia sees fit to offer are, if not directly opposed, at least so remote from each other as to have little in common.

"I can see little hope of an agreement between the Russian and Polish members of our commission," said Roman Dmowsky, the Polish chairman of the commission and former leader of the national Democrat party of Poland, in a statement to the Associated Press.

"I have been asked by the Russian emperor to give my views regarding the Polish government of the future, and I would be insincere and unrepresentative of my country if I modified them to suit the Russian members of the commission. If a compromise is necessary, it is certainly not my duty at this time to suggest it. You may be assured on one point. Poland will never be satisfied without a proper degree of independence."

His Idea of Independence.

Asked to explain his idea of a proper degree of independence, Mr. Dmowsky said:

"I mean a Polish legislature with both houses wholly Polish, complete financial independence, and the end of Russian officialdom in Poland. This is a concession Russia will never care to make, for Poland has been a most inviting garden for exploitation by Russian administrative officials which we find particularly intolerable. Poland knows that she can never realize her ideals as a progressive nation while she is being held back by a primitive, eastern civilization. Our civilization is a western civilizaton and to subject it to the standards of Russia, or the caprices and methods of their primitive officials is absurd.

German Rule Fatal.

"It must not be inferred, however, that Poland's resentment against Russia is accompanied by a growing sympathy with Germany. Whatever may be Poland's troubles under Russian rule, she realizes that German rule would mean the funeral of the Polish nation. We admire a great many things in Germany, and under German rule western Poland has been much more prosperous than while it was in Russian hands. The revenues are now higher and the people as a whole are better off financially. It is also true that our kinsman in German Poland have acquired a high state of culture and that in agriculture they have even surpased the Germans themselves.

"So perhaps from a financial point of view we would be better off under German rule, but this consideration will never be placed by Poland on a level with her ideals for self-realization and independence, and she knows that under Germany these ideals will have to be buried.

"Poland is therefore still turning to the allies for the realization of her independence. Though at present she is utterly helpless, financially wrecked, torn and destroyed by a war in which Pole is forced to fight against Pole; if she emerges an independent nation, her sacrifices will not have been in vain."

NORTH DAKOTANS ARE INTERESTED

Mandamus Action Involving New Immigration Law Before High Court.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a state-wide interest in the hearing before the supreme court today of the mandamus action instituted by Capt. I. P. Baker of this city to compel the organization of the state board of immigration.

The board, as created by the last legislative session, is composed of the governor, attorney general, commissioner of agriculture, secretary of state and chairman of the railroad commissioners. The secretary of state, an ex-officio member, had ruled that the efforts to referend the bill were successful, despite the fact two forms of petition were circulated and the combined total of signatures only slightly exceeded the legal requirements. One of the petitions was aimed at the entire bill and the other at the appropriation clause.

Baker Invokes Law.

With one of the members of the board having taken this position the others, for official and personal reasons, delayed organization and Capt. Baker invoked the law.

The captain is a pioneer of the state and a great booster for the agricultural development of North Dakota. He believes there has never been a period in the state when its advantages could so well be brought before the people as at present, with the best state-wide crop since its settlement and with a Federal estimate of 127,000,000 bushels of grain, more than was ever raised by any state in the spring wheat belt. He and a lot of others believe now is the time to induce residents of other states to locate here.

ITALIAN RESERVISTS TO LEAVE MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Preparations have been completed for the departure of 600 additional Italian reservists from Milwaukee on Sept. 21 for New York, from where they will sail for Italy. This group will consist of men from Wisconsin and Iowa. About 200 will be Milwaukee residents, making a total of more than 1,000 who have left this city to join the colors since the call sent out from Italy.

Board of Health Endorses Beer

Dr. Henry I. Bowditch

Professor of Medicine at Harvard, President American Medical Association, etc. Great Authority.

Dr. Henry I. Bowditch in 3rd Annual Report, Massachusetts Board of Health

In his report of 1871, Dr. Bowditch states that in his belief lager beer is the greatest benefaction ever introduced into this country.

This conclusion of the late Dr. Bowditch, physician, surgeon and writer of international repute, was the result of an elaborate correspondence or investigation made by him for the State Board of Health of Massachusetts of which he was chairman.

His papers of inquiry were sent to thirty-three resident American Ambassadors, one hundred and thirty-two consuls and others whose opinions he knew would be valuable.

The Doctor makes this observation in his report: "The American people as a whole do not by any means as yet understand the true philosophy of food and drink."

Fitger Natural Beer is a matchless table beverage. It has all the life and sparkle of the finest draught beer as drawn fresh from the wood. This is due to our innovation, the Kieselguhr filter (first of its kind in America.) By Kieselguhr filtration Fitger Natural Beer attains a pure brilliancy heretofore unknown. To Kieselguhr filtration also is due the marvel of a beer in bottles with the full natural taste, aroma and character of the finest draught beer.

A. Fitger.

FITGER Natural Beer

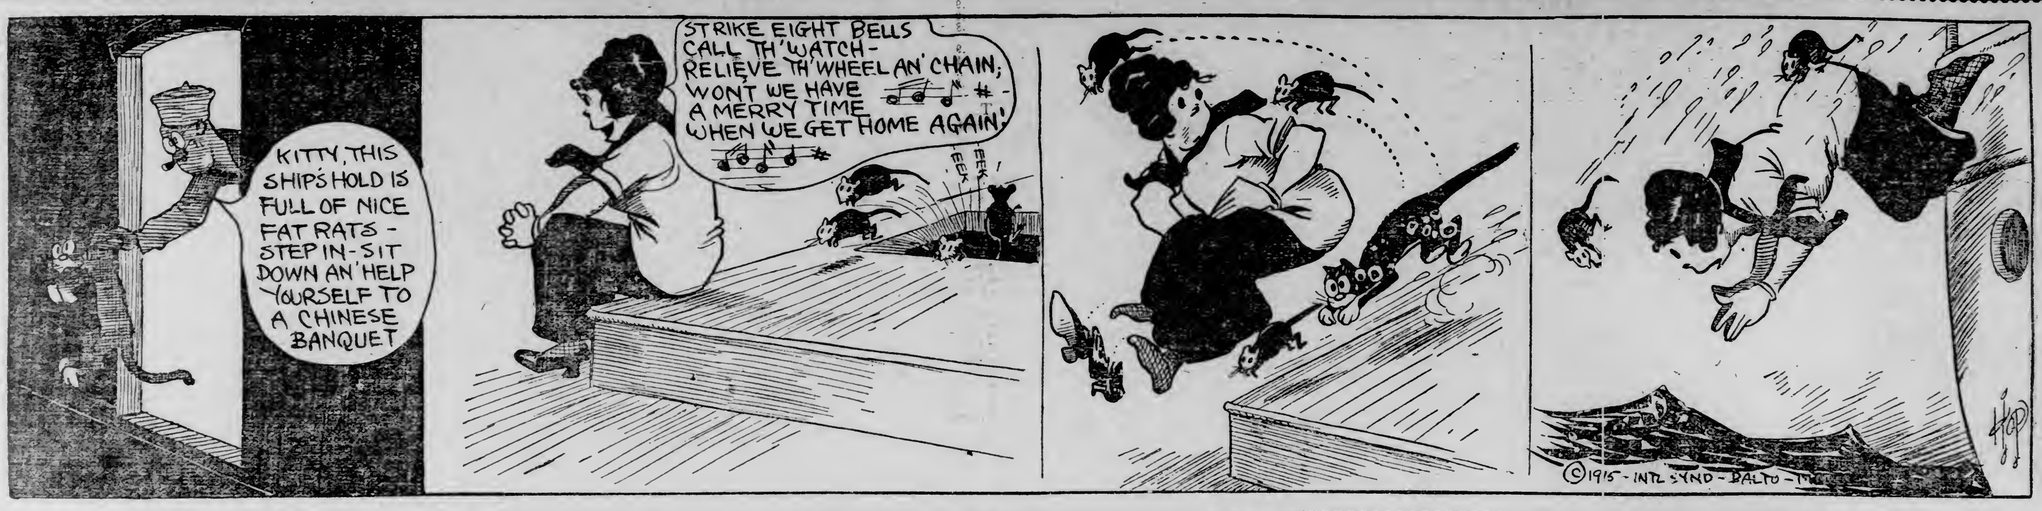

"A Draught Beer in Bottles"

Besides its value as a pleasant, appetizing beverage Fitger Natural Beer has value as a food. One of the most authoritative of Medical Journals "The Hospital," (London) says: "When a man drinks good beer he eats at the same time, just as when he eats a bowl of soup."

SCHOOL HEADS GET POINTERS

Presidents of North Dakota Institutions of Learning at Bismarck.

Meeting Board of Regents; Mapping Out System of Work.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Numerous educational institution heads, including President Worst of the A. C., Hillyer of the Mayville normal, Smith of the State School of Science at Wahpeton, Director Cooper of the Experiment station at Fargo and others, are appearing before the state board of regents who are in session here this week. These representatives of the state schools are presenting matters pertaining to their home institutions for consideration and they complete the list of all school heads of the state, now having been before the board.

At this session the board will complete its final rulings on the business methods to be adopted by the board in getting reports from the various state schools. The methods in use by the boards of regents of other states have been investigated and a system worked out for this state which will be as simple as possible and at the same time give the board the facts desired.

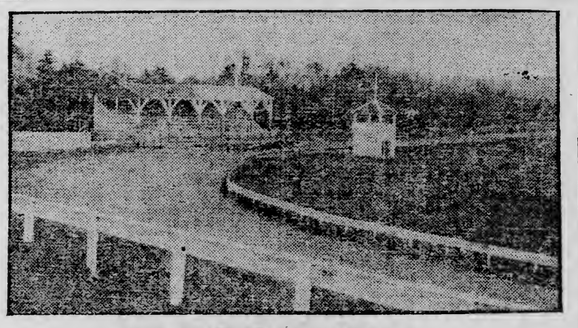

Uniform Accounting.

The board will adopt a system of uniform accounting for each of the institutions as the exact conditions are more fully developed.

Now, that the business end of the board's duties is outlined and the new offices are promised to be ready for occupancy within about two weeks, the reports of the various schools will be taken up about Oct. 1 in a formal way. Since the regents assumed their duties in July the schools have had vacation periods except for the summer schools, repair work and getting ready for the opening of the fall terms this month.

At the October meeting the question of the educational survey will be taken up. There are a number of applicants for places on this work and many prominent men have been mentioned for the position of educational commissioner.

GOGEBIC COUNTY, MICH., FAIR GROUNDS IMPROVED

NEW GRANDSTAND SEATING 2,000.

ENTRANCE TO IRONWOOD FAIR GROUNDS.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gogebic county fair grounds here present a busy scene today in preparation for the opening of the annual Gogebic county fair next Wednesday to end Friday. An unusually large display of livestock and products of the soil will be made. Congressman W. Frank James of Hancock and State Senator Alton Roberts of Marquette will speak Thursday. The grounds have been much improved since the last fair.

CLEARWATER FAIR IS ON AT BAGLEY

Exhibits All in Place and Judging Is Now Being Done.

Bagley, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Clearwater county fair opened here yesterday morning, with good prospects of a large attendance in spite of the murky weather. The exhibits of vegetables, grains and livestock began arriving early and kept the superintendents of the various departments busy during the entire day.

L. Jenson, proprietor of Clover Crest farm at Clearbrook, was early on the grounds with his string of pure bred Guernseys. For several years Mr. Jenson has been breeding animals and has some of the best blood lines in the state in the stock which he is exhibiting. Particularly noteworthy is the young bull, May Rose Searchlight, of Mr. Jenson's herd which he recently purchased from the Jean-Duluth farm at Duluth. Many other fine Guernseys are on exhibition forming classes from calves to aged animals.

Only Pedigreed Stock Entered.

In accordance with the change made in the premium list, looking to the improvement in dairy stock in the county, only thoroughbred registered stock is accepted at the exhibition grounds. This change has resulted in better exhibits and a larger number of pure bred animals being placed on exhibition. Not only were there a large number of Guernseys, but Holsteins of exceptionally good quality were also much in evidence.

Never in the history of the county have the exhibits of grains and grasses been better than at the present time. Probably no other county in the state develops such fine grains and grasses as those now on exhibit at the exhibition building.

Today and Wednesday will be busy days for the lovers of good entertainment as the association has provided some very good attractions. Baseball, races and sports of all kinds with a splendid display of daylight fireworks, will feature the days entertainment. Prof. Crane of the Great Northern staff of agricultural experts will deliver an address on Wednesday, the last day. Judging began promptly this morning with A. J. McGuire of the extension department, making the awards.

Safe Home Treatment For Objectionable Hairs

(Boudoir Secrets)

The electric needle is not required for the removal of hair or fuzz, for with the use of plain delatone the most stubborn growth can be quickly banished. A paste is made with water and a little of the powder, then spread over the hairy surface. In about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple treatment not only removes the hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

IRON RIVER HOST; COUNTY FAIR OPENS

Opening of Bayfield County Fair Brings Out Good Attendance.

Iron River, Wis., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bayfield county fair opened here today, and if the weather continues favorable, a large attendance is expected. The exhibits are largely in place and the display of the products of Bayfield county is very fine.

Hotel and restaurant keepers are working hard to entertain all, and Secretary Daniels of the fair associations has requested citizens to provide sleeping quarters for all who can not be accommodated at public stopping places, so that no one can fail to be cared for. The livestock showing is especially good.

Some Good Races.

The fair continues tomorrow and Thursday. There is a good racing program scheduled. A number of Superior and Duluth people are expected to attend the fair tomorrow and Thursday.

A baseball tournament, in which Bayfield, Iron River, Lake Nebagamon, Brule and Cornucopia will take part, will be held.

A number of free acts have been obtained to fill in between the races, and the Washburn City band will furnish music.

Milwaukee Cabaret Ltd.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—The Altpeter cabaret ordinance, forbidding singing and dancing entertainments in all places where liquor is sold, was passed by the common council Monday by a vote of 29 to 8. The ordinance was opposed by Mayor G. A. Bading, who has issued a statement that he will veto it. Thirteen votes will be necessary to sustain the mayor's veto.

FOR GAME REFUGES.

Head of North Dakota Game Board Has Plan to Preserve Chickens.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—"We are urging the establishment of game refuges all over the state," said President J. P. Reeve of the North Dakota game and fish board while here. "Last fall, after a most favorable breeding season for prairie chickens and grouse all over the state in 1914, the season closed with what was unanimously admitted as more old birds than had been seen in the state for years and the shooters anticipated a great deal of sport this year. On the contrary the bags have generally been small. The number of birds in the coveys are away below normal. Bad weather conditions during the hatching period was responsible and the complaint is also made that the poison distributed by the farmers under the direction of the Federal and state biological departments killed more birds than it exterminated gophers. The combination was bad and shooting has not been as good as in normal seasons.

"It seems to me that if the land owners would take more general advantage of the provisions of the new game law which creates game refuges that the problem could be solved. Unless this is done it may be necessary to declare a closed season for a few years or cut down the bag limit from ten to five."

LAND NEAR TENSTRIKE WILL BE COLONIZED

Tenstrike, Minn., Sept. 14.—J. J. Opsahl and party from Bemidji came to this vicinity to inspect a large tract of land owned by Twin City parties.

The land will be divided into 80 and 40-acre tracts and will be placed on the market immediately as the owners consider conditions very good in this county to attract dairy farmers to the Tenstrike and Hines districts on account of good lands, schools and roads.

Wisconsin Welcomes Rain.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A much needed rain fell all through this section Monday. It had not rained for over a month and the moisture was greatly needed for the pastures. Forest fires, which had started in many localities, were put out, so there will be little, if any, danger from forest fires in this section this fall.

CHISAGO COUNTY'S FAIR IN FULL SWING

Exhibits Most Complete and Various Attractions Drawing Well.

Rush City, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The forty-fourth annual Chisago county fair is in full blast here today, having started yesterday, and will conclude tomorrow. Secretary C. M. Johnson says the exhibits of all kinds, especially of products of the farm, are the most complete ever made at the county fair.

There was a fair-sized attendance yesterday for the opening today and today's attendance promises to be better, as there will be aeroplane flights and racing both today and tomorrow. There will also be a championship baseball game contest. Special trains are being run here daily from all adjacent points and interest in the fair is large.

SPELICH GIVEN CHANCE.

Copper Country Bartender, Who Robbed Employer, Is Paroled.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 14.—John Spelich, if he lives up to his parole will not serve time for the theft of about $1,000 from Mrs. John Messner, a Dodgeville widow by whom he was employed as bartender, as Judge O'Brien gave him a chance to make good by paroling him. It was charged that Spelich stole about $1,000 that Mrs. Messner received as insurance on her husband's life. He was arrested twice and brought back to stand trial. Mrs. Messner, because Spelich came to the country with her husband and had been a lifelong employe of the family, did not want to prosecute after the money was returned, but the prosecuting officer thought differently and Spelich's conviction resulted.

It cost Houghton county about $400 to get Spelich into the circuit court from the time he robbed his employer and when Judge O'Brien paroled him he imposed the condition that he pay this money back to the county, and to remain within the confines of the state of Michigan, reporting the while to County Probationer McGrath once per month.

LIVING COST AFFECTED.

North Dakotan Gets Letter From England Telling of Conditions.

Plaza, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The economic condition of Great Britain, as affecting the supply of foodstuffs because of the war, is pictured in a letter by George Acheson of London, to his sister, Miss Georgianna Acheson of this city.

"Times are very bad with most people in England. Food is very dear, and this winter promises to be a hard one," says the writer. "To give you an idea of what it means, a sovereign ($4.86) now will buy only as much food as could be bought before the war for 14s ($2.36)."

Mr. Acheson also describes a Zeppelin raid:

"When my wife was at her home, they had an air raid there, and she says the feeling is terrible. One hears a bomb explode some distance away with a crash louder than a peal of thunder. The bomb that dropped closest to her home was a mile away, but the concussion was so terrible that it shook the house to its very foundation," says Mr. Acheson.

CROMWELL MAN DIES.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Morse, aged 54, one of the pioneer residents of Carlton county, who has resided at Cromwell for the past twenty-four years, died suddenly early yesterday of heart failure. He was a prominent merchant and sawmill owner in that village and was a member of the Cloquet Masonic lodge and of the Scottish Rite Masons of Duluth. He is survived by his widow, two grown daughters and a small son. The funeral will be held at Cromwell Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Cloquet Masonic lodge, Rev. C. W. Ramshaw of this city, officiating.

"DYNAMITE" CASEY DIES.

Former Member of Superior Police Force Passes in West.

New Richmond, Wis., Sept. 14.—Bernard J. Casey, a pioneer of the town of St. Joseph, who was known all through this region a generation ago as "Dynamite" Casey because of his advocacy of the establishment of an independent government in Ireland by force, is dead at Seattle, Wash., of heart trouble, aged 77 years. About twenty-five years ago, Mr. Casey and family moved to Superior, Wis., where he was for eleven years connected with the police and other departments. Then he moved to Seattle. His wife and fourteen children survive. Three of ten surviving sons are priests: Rev. B. F. Casey of Yonkers, N. Y.; Rev. E. J. Casey of Minneapolis, and Rev. M. E. Casey of Augusta, Mont.

Gruenstein lists his entire liabilities at $1,669.83, and his total assets $51.15. The first meeting of the creditors has been set for Sept. 24.

Bismarck, N. D.—Chief of Police Downing is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. George Rafferty of Grand Rapids, Mich., who is anxious to locate her brother, Thomas Connolly. Connolly wrote his sister from this city some time ago, but neglected to give any address. Since that time the father has died.

Devils Lake, N. D.—A carload of fine wheat, classed as No. 1 hard, was sent to the flour mills, consigned by Chief Littlefish of the Devils Lake reservation, one of the oldest Indians in the Northwest. The aged redman, one of the old school, appears this fall to lead the younger generation to some extent. The car contains 1,100 bushels of wheat.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

International Falls—About seventeen stations, or 1,700 feet, of Elwell highway No. 8, at this end, remain to be completed and will be finished this month. A grader in charge of James Curran is doing the work, and he is now working about six miles from the county seat.

Plummer—Glen Richardson, who has been operator at the Soo depot for the past two years, has been made operator in the dispatcher's office at Thief River Falls.

St. Cloud—Thomas McCann is again wanted by the officials of Stearns county on the charge of desertion. For the third or fourth time he has deserted his wife and children. He was convicted on the charge once and was allowed to go on probation, which has now expired.

Mankato—W. J. Morehart of Mankato has purchased the Jesse Keene farm of 220 acres in Belgrade, Nicollet county, for $23,000. Mr. Morehart recently bought the Boetz farm in Sibley county, of 240 acres, for which he paid $18,000.

Brainerd—H. P. Dullum has returned from Mohall, S. D., where he superintended threshing operations on his farm. The wheat went 22 bushels to the acre, weighing 63 pounds to the bushel. This was an increase of 7 bushels to the acre over last year's yield.

Moorhead — County Agent P. E. Clement announces the names of the nineteen Clay county farmers that cooperated with him and the extension department of the Minnesota college of agriculture in growing seed potato plots this year. Most of the plots are in excellent condition and will make some fine yields, which Mr. Clement will announce in the near future.

Rochester—Frank Bell, a Bulgarian laborer, was struck on the head with a crowbar and left for dead in the Great Western railway yards Saturday. Bell may die. Frank Peter, a fellow-workman, also a Bulgarian, has been arrested. The assault was the climax of an old quarrel.

Crookston—Marion Lawrance of Chicago, general secretary of the International Sunday School association, will head a party of Sunday school specialists who will give a series of lectures in connection with the Polk county Sunday school convention which will be held at Crookston Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 9 and 10.

International Falls—Oliver Erickson, a Littlefork merchant, was forced into involuntary bankruptcy, this action being taken Friday by his creditors. It had been expected that the property would be sold at trustee's sale, but the bankruptcy proceedings have superseded the earlier action.

Bemidji—Fifty-six bushels of wheat to the acre was threshed on the farm of Lawrence Steinbrook, who lives in the town of Grant Valley. From his ten-acre tract of land 560 bushels of the finest marquis seen in this part of the state was threshed.

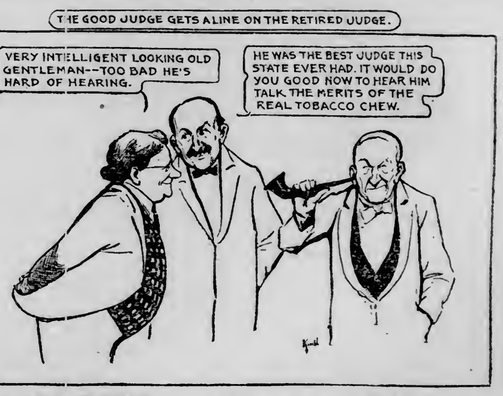

Little Falls—An ordinance providing that any prisoner found guilty in municipal court might be sentenced to hard labor in "the workhouse," or to work upon the streets or any public improvements of the city, was passed by the council and followed up by a second ordinance which specifies what kind of work they may be forced to do. The alternative is a bread-and-water diet.

Kelliher — The Crookston Lumber company machine shops have resumed operations, after being idle for five months. A crew of ten men will be employed for some time overhauling engines and other equipment used in their logging operations.

Moorhead—Seven new teachers have been added to the corps of Concordia college for this year's work which has begun: A. M. Sattre, O. J. Hanson, Miss Olga Olson, Rev. E. R. Anderson, Miss Mollie Martinson, Miss Harriet Gilbert and Herman Monson.

East Grand Forks—C. J. Smith was arraigned in municipal court Saturday for the second time in three days, and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail on a charge of drunkenness. William Smith and Earl Strand, arraigned on the same charge, were fined $5 each.

THE GOOD JUDGE GETS A LINE ON THE RETIRED JUDGE.

MAYBE you're one of these reformed grinders yourself and know how they like to meet and talk about the little chew that satisfies. When you meet a non-member puddling a big wad in his cheek don't you feel like stopping him and giving him the facts about the Real Tobacco Chew?

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW "REAL TOBACCO CHEW"—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

ERRATIC OPERATIONS IN AMERICAN WHEAT MARKETS

After Recording Bulges at Start, Prices React on Profit-Taking.

Flax Jumps With Frost Reports—Gains Lost in Closing Breaks.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 14.—The market was weak at the close, with more selling in evidence.

September wheat closed ½c up; December ¼c up, and May ¼c up. September durum closed 2c up; October 1½c up, and December 1¼c up. Oats closed ¼c up at 32¾c for on the track; rye 2c up at 91c for on the track or 90c to arrive all September, and barley unchanged at from 43c to 53c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ⅜c off at 36⅞c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at 92½c and calls at 96½c.

Trading was on the nervous order in all the American grain markets again today. At the start the quotation in the December future was advanced 2¾c as a result of urgent short-covering instigated by reports of more rains over the Northwest and consequent fears of delays in marketing. A burst of buying developed around the opening, with buyers scrambling to pick up grain to complete contracts for early loading. Receipts at Duluth were liberal there being 733 cars of wheat inspected, with 956 cars of all grains on the tracks for the day. These arrivals served to satisfy the immediate requirements, and the market thereafter lost nearly its entire gains in the distant futures.

Operators working on the short side in the market are reported to have been badly whipsawed during the last few days. On the appearance of the government crop report forecasting record yields, the rank and file of traders became too enthusiastically bearish. The recent unfavorable weather for harvesting and continued light deliveries, served to upset their calculations. Grain men generally, however, look for lower prices in the long run. To back them up in these views, they point to the enormously increased exportable surplus both in this country and Canada, and to estimates of decreased import requirements in Europe owing to larger crops and lessened consumption through the more careful handling and marketing of grain.

Duluth elevator men are making more complaints regarding the dirty condition of a large proportion of the wheat coming to hand. The presence of wild oats is leading to extra handling at the terminal elevators, and is causing delays in handling.

September wheat opened ⅞c up at 98c, gained ½c more, and then weakened ⅜c. December opened 1c up at 96c, advanced to 97¾c, and then broke to 95¼c at the noon hour. May opened ¾c up at $1, gained 1¾c more and then broke 2c.

Durum was also strong at the start, and its advances were better maintained. September durum opened ½c up at $1; sold up 3½c more and then later weakened to $1.01¾. October opened ¾c up at 98c, gained 2¼c more and then declined 1c. December opened 1¼c up at 96c, sold up 1½c more, and then weakened to the same extent.

Reaction in Flaxseed.

Flaxseed jumped 4c at the start with active buying by crushers on frost reports. Forecasts of warmer weather for tomorrow in the Canadian West then contributed to a reaction, and the bulges were all lost, moderate declines recorded in the day.

September flax closed ⅜c off at $1.67¼ nominal. October opened ½c up at $1.68½ and closed ⅜c off at $1.67¼ asked. November opened unchanged at $1.68 and closed ⅜c off at $1.67¼ asked. December opened ½c up at $1.68 and closed 1c off at $1.66½ bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed ½c off at $1.46¼ asked, and December 1¾c off at $1.46¼ bid.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 2c up at $1.21⅜ and London ¾c at $1.94½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A good elevator and Eastern millers demand for cash wheat materialized on the Duluth market again today. Grain was badly wanted to complete cargoes for immediate shipment. The premium on cash No. 1 northern was advanced ½c to 4½c over September. The bulk of the trading was done at 4c over though. To arrive Sept. 20 sold at 3c over September and to arrive all September at 1c over. Cash durum was in fair inquiry, selling at 3c over September and to arrive Sept. 18 at the same premium. The market in durum showed a draggy tendency late in the session.

Public and private elevator stocks at Chicago: Wheat, 358,000 bu, decrease 120,000 bu, last year, 4,381,000 bu; corn, 506,000 bu, increase, 58,000 bu, last year 2,364,000 bu; oats, 3,207,000 bu, increase 1,077,000 bu, last year, 10,567,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Firmness in Winnipeg yesterday and light United Kingdom arrivals with urgent millers' demand caused a firm undertone with offers light. Spot market was firm, unchanged to 1d higher, with cargo market strong, winters 1¼d higher, Manitobas 7½d higher, Argentine 3d higher and Indians at 6d to 7½d advance. India is offering nothing, there is a good millers' demand, with the United Kingdom movement light and strongly held and foreign arrivals very disappointing and stocks decreasing. Winters are sparingly offered and Manitobas are firmly held. Corn was easy with a poor spot demand and liberal offerings. Cargo market was 3d lower."

Bradstreet's world's visible: Wheat increased 329,000 bu; total, 81,029,000 bu, last year, 123,093,000 bu; oats decreased 700,000 bu; total, 2,483,000 bu, last year, 7,186,000 bu; oats decreased 2,949,000 bu; total, 11,326,000 bu, last year, 29,498,000 bu.

At Minneapolis there was a good demand for cash wheat. There was a wide range on blue stem, mills paying 7c to 8c over September for the choice and on the soft Minnesota the range was 3c to 6c over September. Demand for velvet chaff was keen, 2c to 4c over September being paid. The advance tended to moderate the flour demand. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 99c@$1.04 and No. northern at from 96c to $1.01.

W. A. Black, vice president of the Ogilvie Flour Milling company of Montreal, estimates that Canada as a whole will have a surplus of 200,000,000 bu of wheat for export.

He expressed the opinion in a recent interview that the Canadian crop will be handled and marketed successfully with profit to the farmer.

"There are elevator accommodations for at least 150,000,000 bu between the seaboard and the Northwest, and enough should be exported to make way for the amount above that which will come along later. I am greatly pleased with the progress which has been made with the harvesting. Western farmers were fortunate enough in having such splendid crop weather in July and August," he said.

Asked as to whether he thought there would be sufficient bottoms to take away the wheat sold for export during the coming year Mr. Black said that there was no doubt, in his mind that there would be plenty of tonnage offering, as at present there are many tramp steamers ready to take on cargoes and they are soliciting trade at Montreal now. "Of course their rates are high, and will remain so just so long as there is no oversupply of steamers, but that was only what one could expect, so it was only natural that owners of boats should ask all they could get."

* * *

Forty-five cars of Manitoba wheat, bought by McCabe Bros. were received at Great Northern Elevator S today. It will be held in store to be shipped out for export in bond later.

* * *

There were fifteen boats under the elevators for loads in the Duluth harbor. All kinds of grain, including flaxseed, were taken on.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wet Weather in the Northwest Causes Sharp Bulge in Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Wheat bulged sharply today on account of wet weather in the Northwest. Delays to the movement of spring crop after the all-season rain interference with the winter yield caused much more uneasiness in regard to filling contracts than would ordinarily be the case. Beside cable quotations were higher, and there were fresh advices of decreasing stocks at Liverpool. Opening prices, which ranged from a shade to 3¼c higher, with September at $1.01 to $1.03 and December at 96c to 97¼c, were followed by continued strength at a moderate reaction from the top figures reached at the start.

Free profit-taking sales led afterward to a setback in which the price gains largely disappeared. The close was unsettled at the same as last night to 1½c higher, with September at $1.01¼ and December at 95⅝c.

Prospects of cooler weather hardened corn. Selling orders were comparatively scarce. After opening ¼c to ⅜@¾c higher, the market held firm except for something of a sag in the September option.

Subsequently when wheat underwent a reaction the greater part of the advance in corn was lost. The market closed steady, ¼c off to ⅜@½c up compared with last night.

Oats were very small. Prices were bullishly affected by the less favorable weather.

Provisions developed strength in line with the hog market. Business was much improved as to volume.

ADVANCES IN WAR SHARES

Further Manipulation and Sensational Gains Scored By Some.

Standard Shares Continue to Lag and Specialties Sell Higher.

New York, Sept. 14.—New high records for Bethlehem Steel and Crucible Steel were the features of interest at the outset of today's trading and revived rumors of a consolidation of the two companies. Bethlehem opened 5 points up at 340, immediately adding another 3 points. Crucible's opening gain was only fractional, but this it seon extended to 3½ points at 94¼. General Motors made an opening advance of 3 to 263, later adding 5 more. Other specialties showed 1 to 2 points gains and American woolen at 44½ was up 2. Railroads were lower, in keeping with London's quotations for those issues.

Crucible Steel, United States Steel and Westinghouse in the foregoing order made up a large part of the first hour's trading, which was characterized by much of the preceding day's uncertainty. United States Steel fell ¾ to 75¼ and the Pacifics, St. Paul, Atchison and Baltimore & Ohio were quoted under yesterday's final. War shares lost 2 to 7 points on the usual realizing.

By midday Reading was added to the list of heavy investment shares while Steel broke through 75. Rumors affecting the Washington-Berlin situation were again current. Bonds were irregular, with varied but moderate foreign selling.

The light trading of the session was devoted almost entirely to specialties which rallied generally from early declines. Rock Island stock and bonds were the sole features of the railway list at higher quotations.

Today's market would have been dull and devoid of feature but for further manipulation of war stocks, some of which scored sensational gains.

Standard stocks continued to lag while specialties sold higher, Bethlehem Steel and Crucible Steel making new records. The closing was irregular.

BIG ADVANCE IN TAMARACK STOCK

Business in mining stocks at Boston was restricted to a few issues today.

Tamarack was the feature in point of activity, advancing $3.50 to a close of $56. Butte & Superior was also liberally traded in, selling up to $67 and closing slightly off at $66.50.

Calumet & Arizona closed 25c up at $62.50, Granby $1 up at $83.50, Greene-Cananea 50c up at $38.50, Lake 75c up at $14, Mohawk 75c up at $72, North Butte 50c up at $29.75, and Shattuck unchanged at $25.

At New York, Anaconda closed $1.12 up at $70.63.

At St. Louis lead closed at 4.50 cents and spelter at 13.00 cents.

* * *

Miami copper production for nine days of September was 1,344,500 pounds, a record for such a period.

* * *

Tennessee copper is reported to be planning to issue $2,000,000 6 per cent bonds convertible into stock at $40.

* * *

Champion declared $2 quarterly dividend today.

* * *

* * *

* * *

Butte & Superior Copper company's production for August is placed at 14,500,000 pounds of zinc in concentrates, or 1,000,000 pounds larger than the July output. The tonnage of ore treated was slighted below the previous month, but better results were obtained in treating through the efficiency of the new oil flotation process. Recoveries averaged about 93 per cent and concentrates 56 per cent against 51 and 52 per cent formerly. There is also some improvement in grade of ore treated. With regard to report of important new strike of zinc ore or copper glance, the management says there is no truth in it. There is no evidence that zinc ores are giving way to copper. Bunches of copper are found, but no importance is given to them.

EXPORTING HINGES ON CONFERENCE

Copper and Crop Disposal at Stake—Market in Former Strong.

Provided arrangements for a credit to the allies are effected as a result of the conference now being held at New York between British and French financial experts and American bankers, a remarkable quickening in export sales of copper and other products is predicted. It is, in fact, agreed by financiers that the marketing of the present season's bumper American crops largely hinges upon the result.

As it is now, the copper market is considered to be in a remarkably strong position. The largest selling agencies are holding their price at 18c a pound, but lower figures are being made by some of the smaller producers. Total sales of copper during the last week of August are placed at 60,000,000 pounds, and the aggregate production for the month is put at 125,000,000 pounds. Deliveries of copper to American manufacturers during May, June, July and August are estimated by experts at 90,000,000 pounds monthly, thereby establishing new high records. In addition there was considerable exportation of brass in various forms as well as other manufactured goods containing copper.

In the course of a recent interview, given out at Houghton, Mich., John D. Ryan, president of the Anaconda Copper company, predicted the greatest market for copper ahead that the world has ever seen. Said he:

"At present the market is showing considerable improvement. During the past week heavy sales, both of domestic and European production, were made at 18c a pound and more. Prior to that, since June, the market has been dull. It will probably be good from now on. After the war is over there will probably be a temporary dull period followed by the best copper market the world has ever known.

"The production of copper has increased and the domestic use of copper has been so greatly broadened since the war began that the United States is now consuming more copper than ever before. There is less copper now in existence than at the beginning of the war. Germany at present is not able to import any copper and is using all its available supply for the manufacture of ammunition. Trolley wire, copper vessels and copper of every description is being gathered by the government for the ammunition factories. As soon as the war is over Germany will be a heavy purchaser of the metal, as well as the countries that have been overrun by armies.

"Probably more copper has been destroyed this one year of war than was previously destroyed in all of the world's history. Copper used for the manufacture of various articles is not destroyed. It is always available for other uses. But copper used in ammunition is absolutely destroyed."

ANOTHER AIR RAID OVER ENGLAND; NO LIVES LOST

London, Sept. 14.—Another German air raid was made over the east coast of England last night but as far as appears there were no casualties and no damage was done.

A single Zeppelin was the raiding aircraft, according to the official announcement which read "A Zeppelin visited the east coast last night. Bombs were dropped. Anti-aircraft guns, fixed and mobile, were in action. "So far as can be ascertained there were no casualties and no damage was done."

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

M'MANUS DECLARES NEW JITNEY LAW IS ILLEGAL

Advises Drivers to Ignore Ordinance Just Passed By Council.

Asserts Measure Is Absolutely Worthless; Merritt Votes Against It.

Jitney drivers will ignore the new ordinance passed yesterday by the city commission.

Their attorney, A. E. McManus, said this morning that when the thirty-day period has expired and the ordinance is supposed to go into effect, he will instruct the men to keep right on driving their jitneys.

"If any of the men are arrested," Mr. McManus said, "they will go to jail and await habeas corpus proceedings, which I will start.

"The new ordinance passed yesterday is absolutely worthless and I will drive all the jitneys right through it when the time comes. According to laws and rulings everywhere in the country, where a statute has been enacted and the legislative body attempts to repeal it and pass it again either in whole or in part, that statute stands as if it had never been touched and all rights and proceedings under it and relation to it stand with equal force and effect, as if they had never been repealed.

Depends on Courts.

"The courts will unquestionably hold that an attempt to repeal is an attempt to evade the provision of the Duluth city charter and will declare the measure null and void.

"The first ordinance, or any jitney ordinance, will never go into effect, until a majority of voters ballot in favor of it."

The old jitney ordinance passed May 17, and the amendment relating to indemnity insurance passed Aug. 4, both declared inoperative two weeks ago by Judge Cant, were repealed by the council yesterday by a unanimous vote. When Commissioner Silberstein presented several amendments to the new jitney code, before its third reading yesterday, Commissioner Merritt protested against the consideration of any measure.

Merritt Opposes.

"I oppose and protest against the enactment of this ordinance for three reasons," declared Commissioner Merritt. "Passage of the same ordinance that was knocked out by referendum petition will not stand. When an ordinance is held up by a legal referendum petition, the council has just one alternative. It must put the ordinance to a vote of the people, or repeal it. You merely 'whip the devil about the stump' by repealing an ordinance and then re-enacting it.

"My second reason for opposing the present program is that jitney buses can be regulated adequately by present traffic laws.

"In the third place, the council cannot escape the onus that the new ordinance, like the former one, is class legislation almost wholly in the interest of the street railway company."

Commissioner Silberstein took exception to the charge that the ordinance was wholly in the interests of the street car company and immediately moved its adoption. At the suggestion of Mayor Prince, the measure was read, as amended, and it was passed by a 4 to 1 vote, Commissioner Merritt voting against it.

The ordinance, as passed yesterday, and which will become effective on Saturday, Oct. 16, includes taxicabs, as well as jitneys, and provides for route signs and uniform fares, and compels drivers to proceed to their termini without any additional charge. Any insurance or indemnity policy from a company permitted to operate in Minnesota will be accepted by the council. The policy must be for $5,000 to cover injuries or property damage.

HOPES FIRE HAZARDS WILL ALL BE REMOVED BY JAN. 1

State Fire Marshal's Campaign in Duluth Getting Results.

Thirteen Appeals in Fifty-One Cases—Some May Be Dropped.

Despite appeals which have been filed in some cases, R. W. Hargadine, state fire marshal, hopes to have all of the buildings condemned by his department in Duluth torn down by the first of the year.

Out of the fifty-one buildings condemned in Duluth, appeals affecting thirteen have been taken by five property owners. Of those on which the time limit has expired, all but four have been torn down. On these four nothing has been done. They are located at 1529 West Michigan street, 5528 Albion street, 20 Sixth avenue west, and 329 North Nineteenth avenue west.

"These will be allowed thirty days' grace," said Mr. Hargadine this morning, "and then some action will be taken. We have the alternative of fining the owners or of tearing down the buildings and charging the cost of it plus a penalty of 25 per cent against the property. We are not trying to persecute anybody or put anybody in jail if we can help it. We are looking for results of a different kind—the removal of dangerous and unsightly buildings, and we want to get those results with as little trouble and as little fireworks and expense as possible.

Met Half Way.

"Many Duluthians met us more than half way. Stryker, Manley & Buck for example, were agents for several buildings we condemned. They didn't wait for the time limit to expire, but got busy as soon as they received their notice and tore down the buildings. W. M. Prindle did the same with one building he represented, and many individual property owners took the same action.

"Some of those who appealed are not disposed to fight their cases. They merely want a little more time, I believe, to make their plans for improving their property.

"In St. Paul we ordered 150 buildings torn down and didn't have a contest in court. Every one was removed. We tore down two whole blocks, and the property has doubled in value as a result. Of course, I don't argue that this is a move to increase property values, but it often does have that result. In Minneapolis we had but three appeals out of eighty-five cases.

Wants Suggestions.

"We want the people of Duluth to feel that we are public servants and not public prosecutors or persecutors. We want criticism and suggestions. This work of removing old shacks is a valuable one for a community, and we have requests from all parts of the state to visit different towns and cities and clean them up. If we make mistakes we want to know it, and are willing to correct them. I am not knocking your city when I say that you have some pretty bad shacks among those condemned. One old tumbled down building decreases the value of all the property in that block, and it is also a fire menace. Our only aim is to remove buildings that are a menace to either life or property, and to make a city a better place to live. So far, we haven't had any real opposition in Duluth, and don't believe we will. On the contrary we have had a most encouraging reception, and on this visit I have been able to iron out several little misunderstandings."

DYSPEPTICS EASY PREY FOR MANY FATAL DISEASES

How to Get Rid of Dyspepsia and Be Safe.

If you have dyspepsia your food is only partly digested. Probably you can not eat as much and as many kinds of food as your system really needs. Insufficient quantity and variety of food impairs the action of the stomach, liver and intestines. When these organs are not operating normally the blood becomes impure. When the blood is allowed to remain impure for a considerable time the whole system becomes weakened. This weakening, "run down" condition comes on so gradually that most people don't realize their condition until they are in really dangerous shape. It is this "run down" condition that makes people very susceptible to sudden attacks of typhoid fever, pneumonia, pleurisy, and many other diseases. The old, old maxim about "an ounce of prevention" applies with great force to this subject. It is the simplest matter in the world to prevent or overcome ordinary dyspepsia which is caused by an excess of acid in the stomach. All that is necessary is to neutralize the excess acid. To do so simply take a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia, dissolved in a quarter of a glass of water, after each meal. People trying this simple acid neutralizer for the first time are amazed by the instant relief and the quick restoration of normal appetite and digestion. Be sure to get bisurated magnesia as other forms of magnesia are not suitable. Any druggist can supply you. Boyce Drug store, 231 West Superior street.—Advertisement.

MURDER IS CHARGE NOW

Mrs. Ida Poole Dead From Wounds Inflicted By Husband.

Edward J. Poole, Beau Brummel of Duluth negroes, will face a murder charge as soon as he returns from Missoula, Mont., with two police officers, for his wife, Ida, died yesterday at St. Luke's hospital.

On the evening of Aug. 21, Poole rode to his home on South First avenue east in a jitney and, calling his wife to the door, shot her four times, it is claimed. He then escaped in a taxicab to Spirit lake. He was traced to the Dakotas and Montana, and finally was caught at Missoula through the number of his watch, which corresponded to those found on a pawnticket in his pocket.

Police Captain A. G. Fiskett, with Detective Herman Toewe, left for the West last week, and are expected back with their prisoner today. He fought extradition.

The shooting of Mrs. Poole followed her refusal to care for her husband. Bullets pierced each wrist and entered the left breast and the back. She was expected to recover at first, but took a turn for the worse Saturday. She was 32 years old and had lived in Duluth six years. Her mother, a brother, sister and a daughter reside in Louisville, Ky.

Poole originally was charged with felonious assault, but this will be changed to murder as soon as he arrives. He was known as a "dandy" among Duluth negroes. Reports that he was employed as a porter at the Kitchi Gammi club were found to be misleading, as he worked in the club but one day.

Mrs. Poole's body was sent to the Crawford undertaking rooms, pending the arrival of friends from St. Paul.

LOCAL BANKS TAKE BONDS

Yesterday afternoon the city council authorized the issue of $100,000 in improvement certificates to help pay the contractors on the big paving jobs, and this morning Commissioner Voss, finance head, announced that most of the bonds have been contracted for by local banks.

Although the certificates will not be sold until Oct. 1, bearing 5 per cent from that date, the finance head said that the banks have arranged to take over a large share of the issue on that date. The remainder will be sold over the counter to the general public in $1,000 lots, he said.

The certificates are being sold against the permanent improvement revolving fund, so that the city will have sufficient funds with which to pay contractors on city paving jobs now nearing completion. The cost of the improvements, although assessed against the property benefited, can be paid in four annual installments, and as most of the property owners chose this alternative, the city is hard pressed for money. The city charter permits an issue of certificates equal to 75 per cent of the total aggregate sum of the assessments for street improvements.

Run Three Years.

The bonds are dated Oct. 1 of this year and are made payable Oct. 1, 1918, carrying interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable semi-annually on the first day of April and October of each year. The certificates follow the form of those sold last fall. In addition, the council yesterday authorized the city treasurer to take up the balance of $40,000 in the $100,000 issue of last year, when it was found that only $60,000 was necessary to meet the cost of street improvements completed during the summer. The money will be turned over to the sinking fund and interest paid as if the amount was held by private investors.

The aggregate amount of assessments for which the bonds are being sold follow: Paving of Twelfth street, on Minnesota Point, from Lake avenue to Minnesota avenue, and Minnesota avenue from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth street, $38,000; Highland street, from Fifty-ninth avenue west to Getchell road, $16,000; Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to the north line of Kent road, $13,000; Ninth street, from Seventh avenue east to Fourteenth avenue east, $18,000; Sixth street, from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenue east, and Sixteenth avenue east, from Sixth to Eighth street, $15,000. The total is $160,000.

DULUTH FIRE LOSSES NOMINAL

Duluth's fire losses during August this year were merely nominal, proving the efficiency of the fire department of the city. The total loss during the months was but $6,740, although seventeen fires occurred. During the same period last year there were twenty fires and the total losses were $6,045, according to the monthly report of State Fire Marshal R. W. Hargadine.

St. Paul during August, 1915, had thirty-five fires with a total loss of $28,910, and Minneapolis had thirty-one fires with a total loss of $11,320. During this period last year St. Paul had forty-two fires with a total loss of $23,700, and Minneapolis had sixty fires with a total loss of $59,570. Other cities in the state had eighty fires during last August with total losses of $121,478, and during the same period last year there were 138 fires and losses amounting to $231,447.

Throughout the whole state there were 151 fires last August; losses, $168,448; August, 1914, 260 fires; losses, $320,762.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

FOR SALE.

One of the best 40-acre tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Covered with a fine growth of clover. Land is on a good road and only six miles south of the new steel plant and fifteen miles from Duluth. All adjoining land is settled on by farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and and Illinois—men who know good land. Land just three miles north is selling for $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot and the time is not far off when this 40 can be sold in acre tracts for ten times the price asked per acre now. Farm products raised here can be shipped to the new steel city, just six miles north, when the plant is completed in November. This 40 is the best buy at the Head of the Lakes at $50 an acre, but we can sell it at once for $32.50 an acre. Call at once about this. It will not last long at above price.

McBEAN, NESBITT & CO., 218 Providence Bldg. Grand 486. Melrose 2958.

——A SNAP——

40 ACRES, WORTH $2,000, FOR $800.

A splendid 40-acre tract, absolutely stoneless, and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Excellent farming land at less than farm land prices. Only 15 miles from Duluth, on excellent auto road and good train service; six miles from new steel plant and new steel city. This steel plant will be operating in November. Consider this and think of what it means to this land. It is bound to make this land go to $100 an acre. In fact, at the present time land is being sold just three miles north, between the 40 and the steel plant, for from $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot. Let us show you this at once. If you want to buy an absolute snap at less than half what it is actually worth, you will look this up at once.
